- Paul's description of the "boundless riches of Christ" echoes the unsearchable greatness of God described in Psalm 145:3. By using similar language, Paul places Christ's attributes on the same level as those of Yahweh, implying His divine nature.

2. "The mystery hidden for ages in God" (v. 9)

- The phrase "mystery hidden for ages in God who created all things" points to a divine plan that originates in God and is fulfilled through Christ.
- Although the Father is specifically called "God" in this verse, the fact that the mystery is revealed and carried out through Christ aligns with the divine role of Jesus as the mediator of God's eternal plan (see John 1:1-3; Colossians 1:16-19).

John 1:1-3

> 1 "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. 2 He was in the beginning with God. 3 All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being."

Explanation:

1. "In the beginning was the Word":
    - The "Word" (Greek: Λόγος, Logos) refers to Jesus Christ. This term connects Jesus to the creative word of God in Genesis 1 ("And God said..."), highlighting His role in creation.
    - "In the beginning" parallels Genesis 1:1, establishing the pre-existence of the Word before creation.
2. "The Word was with God, and the Word was God":
    - "With God" (Greek: πρὸς τὸν θεόν, pros ton theon): Indicates a distinct relationship between the Word (Jesus) and God (the Father).

- "The Word was God": This is a clear affirmation of the divinity of the Word. The Greek construction emphasizes that the Word shares the very essence of God.

3. "All things came into being through him":
    - Jesus is presented as the agent of creation, through whom everything was made.
    - "Without him not one thing came into being": This underscores that Jesus is integral to the act of creation; nothing exists apart from His creative work.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8-12:

- The description of Christ's role in creation in John 1:1-3 aligns with Paul's portrayal of the "boundless riches of Christ" in Ephesians. The creative power and pre-existence of Christ point to His divine nature, which is consistent with the divine attributes Paul ascribes to Him.

Colossians 1:16-19

> 16 "For in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers—all things have been created through him and for him. 17 He himself is before all things, and in him all things hold together. 18 He is the head of the body, the church; he is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead, so that he might come to have first place in everything. 19 For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell."

Explanation:

1. "In him all things... were created" (v. 16):
    - This verse explicitly states that all things in both the physical and spiritual realms were created in, through, and for Christ. This includes every power and authority, emphasizing His sovereignty over all creation.
2. "He himself is before all things" (v. 17):
    - "Before all things" indicates Christ's pre-existence, affirming His eternal nature, a characteristic unique to God.
    - "In him all things hold together": This statement emphasizes that Jesus not only created everything but also sustains the universe. This sustaining power is a divine attribute, indicating His ongoing involvement in creation.

3. "He is the head of the body, the church" (v. 18):
    - Jesus is presented as the supreme leader of the church, showing His authority over the spiritual community of believers.
4. "The fullness of God was pleased to dwell" (v. 19):
    - This verse is a powerful declaration of Christ's divinity. "The fullness of God" (Greek: πᾶν τὸ πλήρωμα, pan to plērōma) means that the complete nature, essence, and attributes of God reside in Jesus. This makes a strong theological claim about His divine identity.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8-12:

- In Ephesians, Paul speaks of the eternal purpose fulfilled in Christ and the boundless riches found in Him. Colossians expands on this by explicitly describing Jesus as the Creator, Sustainer, and the fullness of God. This consistent portrayal across Paul's letters reinforces the idea of Jesus' divinity.

3. "Through the church the wisdom of God... made known" (v. 10)

- The church's purpose is to reveal the wisdom of God, which is manifested in Christ. Since Jesus is central to this divine wisdom, it indirectly points to His divine status (see 1 Corinthians 1:24, where Christ is called the wisdom of God).

1 Corinthians 1:24

> "But to those who are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God and the wisdom of God."

Explanation:

1. "To those who are the called":
    - This phrase refers to believers, both Jews and Greeks (Gentiles), who have responded to the gospel message and are now part of the Christian community. Paul often uses the term "called" to indicate those chosen or invited by God to salvation (see Romans 8:28-30).
2. "Christ the power of God":
    - The title "power of God" (Greek: δύναμις θεοῦ, dynamis theou) ascribed to Christ signifies that Jesus embodies God's mighty, transformative power, particularly evident in His resurrection and the salvation He brings (see Romans 1:16).

- In Jewish thought, God's power is associated with acts of creation and deliverance, roles that Jesus fulfills, showing His divine nature.

3. "And the wisdom of God":

   - Paul also calls Jesus the "wisdom of God" (Greek: σοφία θεοῦ, sophia theou). This is significant because in the Old Testament, wisdom is often personified and closely linked with God's creative activity (see Proverbs 8:22-31). By identifying Christ as God's wisdom, Paul implies that Jesus is the embodiment of divine wisdom and the ultimate revelation of God's plan.
   - The wisdom of God contrasts with human wisdom, which often fails to understand God's ways (1 Corinthians 1:18-21). In Christ, God's wisdom is fully revealed, especially through the "foolishness" of the cross, which is actually the ultimate display of divine wisdom.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8-12

In Ephesians 3:8-12, Paul speaks of the "boundless riches of Christ" and the mystery that has now been revealed through Jesus. Describing Jesus as the wisdom of God in 1 Corinthians 1:24 complements this, as it emphasizes that Christ is the ultimate expression of God's wisdom and plan, which had been hidden but is now made known through the gospel.

4. "Eternal purpose... carried out in Christ Jesus our Lord" (v. 11)

- The "eternal purpose" (πρόθεσις τῶν αἰώνων, prothesis tōn aiōnōn) being fulfilled in Christ Jesus underscores His divine role in God's redemptive plan. The use of the title "our Lord" (Greek: κυρίου ἡμῶν, kyriou hēmōn) for Jesus is significant because in the Greek Septuagint and New Testament, kyrios (Lord) is often used to refer to Yahweh (יהוה, YHWH), the divine name of God.

5. "Access to God... through faith in Him" (v. 12)

- The phrase "in whom we have access to God in boldness and confidence through faith in him" attributes to Jesus the role of providing direct access to God. In Jewish thought, only God could provide such access. For Jesus to grant this implies His divine status (see Hebrews 10:19-22).

Hebrews 10:19-22

> 19 "Therefore, my friends, since we have confidence to enter the sanctuary by the blood of Jesus, 20 by the new and living way that he opened for us through the curtain (that is, through his flesh), 21 and since we have a great priest over the house of God, 22 let us approach with a true heart in full assurance of faith, with our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience and our bodies washed with pure water."

Explanation:

1. "Confidence to enter the sanctuary by the blood of Jesus" (v. 19):
    - The term "confidence" (Greek: παρρησία, parrēsia) indicates boldness or freedom to approach God, something previously impossible under the old covenant due to the separation caused by sin.
    - The "sanctuary" refers to the holy presence of God. Under the old covenant, only the high priest could enter the Most Holy Place, and only once a year (see Leviticus 16). Through the blood of Jesus, believers now have direct access to God's presence.
    - This highlights Jesus' role as the ultimate sacrifice, whose blood atones for sin and removes the barrier between God and humanity.
2. "By the new and living way... through the curtain (that is, through his flesh)" (v. 20):
    - The "new and living way" contrasts with the old way of the Mosaic Law, which required repeated sacrifices that could never fully remove sin (see Hebrews 10:1-4). Jesus' sacrifice is once and for all, opening a permanent path to God.
    - The "curtain" refers to the veil in the temple that separated the Holy Place from the Most Holy Place (see Exodus 26:31-33). When Jesus died, the temple veil was torn in two (Matthew 27:51), symbolizing the removal of the barrier between God and humanity.
    - "Through his flesh": This signifies that Jesus' own body, sacrificed on the cross, is the means by which this access to God is made possible.
3. "We have a great priest over the house of God" (v. 21):
    - Jesus is described as the "great priest" (Greek: μέγαν ἱερέα, megan hierea), emphasizing His role as the ultimate High Priest who intercedes on behalf of believers (see Hebrews 4:14-16).

- The "house of God" refers to the community of believers (the church), over whom Jesus presides as the spiritual leader and mediator.

4. "Let us approach with a true heart in full assurance of faith" (v. 22):
    - The invitation to "approach" (Greek: προσερχώμεθα, proserchōmetha) reflects the new access believers have to God through Christ.
    - "Hearts sprinkled clean... bodies washed with pure water": This language alludes to the rituals of purification in the old covenant (see Leviticus 16:14-19) but now signifies the inner cleansing provided by Jesus' sacrifice. It may also hint at baptism, which symbolizes the believer's spiritual purification.

Connection to Ephesians 3:8-12

- In Ephesians, Paul speaks of the "boldness and confidence" believers have in approaching God through faith in Christ (Ephesians 3:12). This mirrors the language in Hebrews 10:19, where the confidence to enter God's presence is granted through the blood of Jesus.
- The idea of the "new and living way" through Jesus aligns with Paul's description of the mystery now revealed in Christ, through whom God's eternal purpose is fulfilled.

Conclusion

While Ephesians 3:8-12 does not explicitly state that "Jesus is God," it presents Him in roles and attributes consistent with divinity:

- Possessing infinite riches (v. 8).
- Central to the eternal, divine mystery (v. 9).
- The fulfillment of God's eternal purpose (v. 11).
- Providing access to God (v. 12).

These elements reflect Paul's broader Christology, which acknowledges Jesus as divine (e.g., Philippians 2:6-11, Colossians 1:15-20).

In the New Testament, there are several passages that explicitly describe Jesus as the Creator of all things. These references establish His divine role in creation and affirm His pre-existence. Let's look at key verses:

1. John 1:1-3

> 1 "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. 2 He was in the beginning with God. 3 All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being."

Explanation:

- The Word (Logos), who is identified as Jesus, was present at the beginning of creation.
- "All things came into being through him": Jesus is not a created being; rather, He is the divine agent through whom all creation was made.
- This passage aligns Jesus with the creative power of God, affirming His divine status and role as Creator.

2. Colossians 1:16-17

> 16 "For in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers—all things have been created through him and for him. 17 He himself is before all things, and in him all things hold together."

Explanation:

- "In him all things... were created": This includes everything in both the physical and spiritual realms. It highlights Jesus' comprehensive role in creation.
- "Through him and for him": Jesus is both the means and the purpose of creation, indicating His central role and divine authority.
- "He is before all things": This affirms Jesus' pre-existence, an attribute unique to God.
- "In him all things hold together": Jesus is not only the Creator but also the Sustainer of the universe.

3. Hebrews 1:2-3

> 2 "But in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom he also created the worlds. 3 He is the reflection of God's glory and the exact imprint of God's very being, and he sustains all things by his powerful word."

Explanation:

- "Through whom he also created the worlds": The phrase indicates that God the Father created the universe through the Son, affirming Jesus' active role in creation.
- "Exact imprint of God's very being": This emphasizes Jesus' divine nature, as He perfectly reflects God's essence.
- "Sustains all things by his powerful word": Jesus' sustaining power further underscores His divine authority and ongoing role in the cosmos.

4. 1 Corinthians 8:6

> "Yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist."

Explanation:

- "Through whom are all things": Paul clearly states that all things were made through Jesus Christ, distinguishing Him as the divine agent of creation.
- This verse also shows the close relationship between God the Father (the source) and Jesus Christ (the agent), emphasizing Jesus' divine role in creation.

5. Revelation 4:11 and Revelation 5:13

> 4:11 "You are worthy, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you created all things, and by your will they existed and were created."
> 5:13 "Then I heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth and in the sea, and all that is in them, singing, 'To the one seated on the throne and to the Lamb be blessing and honor and glory and might forever and ever!'"

Explanation:

- In the context of Revelation, Jesus (the Lamb) is worshiped alongside God the Father as the Creator. The acknowledgment of creation by the Lamb (Jesus) reflects His divine role and equality with God in the work of creation.

Summary

The New Testament presents Jesus as:

- Pre-existent and active before the creation of the world.
- The agent through whom God created everything.
- The sustainer of the universe, holding all things together.
- Possessing attributes unique to God, affirming His divinity.

Redeemer

Isaiah 33:22 (Hebrew)
"For YHWH is our judge, YHWH is our lawgiver, YHWH is our king; He will save us."

In Hebrew:
יְהוָה (YHWH) = Yahweh
יוֹשִׁיעֵנוּ (yōšîʿênû) = He will save us (Redeemer)
Acts 4:12 (Greek)
"And there is salvation in no one else; for there is no other name under heaven that has been given among men by which we must be saved."

In Greek:
ὀνόματι (onomati) = name
σωθῆναι (sōthēnai) = to be saved (Redeemer)

Judge

Isaiah 33:22 (Hebrew)
"For YHWH is our judge, YHWH is our lawgiver, YHWH is our king; He will save us."

In Hebrew:
שֹׁפְטֵנוּ (šōp̣ênû) = our Judge
John 5:22 (Greek)
"For not even the Father judges anyone, but He has given all judgment to the Son."

In Greek:
πατὴρ (patēr) = Father κρίνει (krinei) = judges

King

Isaiah 33:22 (Hebrew)
"For YHWH is our judge, YHWH is our lawgiver, YHWH is our king; He will save us."

In Hebrew:
מַלְכֵּנוּ (malkênû) = our King

Revelation 19:11-16 (Greek)

11 Then I saw heaven opened, and there was a white horse! Its rider is called Faithful and True (Greek: Pistos kai Alēthinos, Πιστὸς καὶ Ἀληθινός), and he judges and makes war in righteousness.
12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems; he has a name inscribed that no one knows but himself.
13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and his name is called The Word of God (Greek: ho Logos tou Theou, ὁ Λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ).
14 And the armies of heaven, wearing fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses.
15 From his mouth comes a sharp sword (Greek: romphaia, ῥομφαία) with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron; he will tread the winepress of the fury of the wrath of God (Greek: ho Theos, ὁ Θεός) the Almighty (Greek: ho Pantokratōr, ὁ Παντοκράτωρ).
16 On his robe and on his thigh he has a name inscribed, "King of kings and Lord of lords" (Greek: Basileus tōn basileuontōn kai Kyrios tōn kyriuontōn, Βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλευόντων καὶ Κύριος τῶν κυριευόντων).

In Greek:
βασιλεὺς βασιλέων (basileus basiléōn) = King of Kings

Rock

Deuteronomy 32:3-4 (Hebrew)

3 For I will proclaim the name of the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), ascribe greatness to our God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים)!
4 The Rock (Hebrew: Tzur, צוּר)—his work is perfect, and all his ways are just.
A faithful God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים), without deceit, just and upright is he.

In Hebrew:
צוּר (ṣûr) = Rock

1 Corinthians 10:4 (Greek)

"...and all drank the same spiritual drink, for they were drinking from a spiritual Rock which followed them; and the Rock was Christ."

In Greek:
πέτρα (petra) = Rock

Beginning and Ending

Isaiah 41:4 (Hebrew)
"Who has performed and done this, calling the generations from the beginning? I, YHWH, the first, and with the last; I am He."

In Hebrew:
יְהוָה (YHWH) = Yahweh
רִאשׁוֹן (rîʾšôn) = the first
אַחֲרֹנִים (ʾaḥărônîm) = the last
Revelation 1:8, 11 (Greek)
"I am the Alpha and the Omega," says the Lord God, "who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty."

In Greek:
τὸ Ἄλφα καὶ τὸ Ὦ (to Alpha kai to Ō) = the Alpha and the Omega κύριος ὁ θεὸς (kyrios ho theos) = Lord God

κύριος (kyrios):

Meaning: This word means "Lord" or "Master." In the context of the New Testament, it signifies authority, respect, and divinity. It is often used to refer to Jesus Christ, acknowledging His lordship.
Usage: In the Septuagint (the Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible), κύριος is used to translate the Hebrew יְהוָה (YHWH), the personal name of God in the Old Testament.

ὁ (ho):

Meaning: This is the definite article "the," indicating specificity. In this phrase, it emphasizes that the term is referring to a particular God.

θεὸς (theos):

Meaning: This word means "God" in Greek. It refers to the divine being, the creator, and sustainer of the universe.
Usage: In Christian theology, θεὸς often refers to the one true God, distinguishing Him from false gods or idols.

Revelation 22:13

> "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."

Who is Speaking in Revelation 22:13?

Scholars widely agree that the speaker in Revelation 22:13 is Jesus Christ, based on the context of the surrounding verses and the use of similar titles elsewhere in the book:

1. Contextual Clues:
    - In Revelation 22:12, the preceding verse, the speaker says, "See, I am coming soon; my reward is with me, to repay according to everyone's work." This aligns with Jesus' role as the judge of all people (see Revelation 1:7, John 5:22).
    - In Revelation 22:16, just a few verses later, the speaker clearly identifies themselves: "It is I, Jesus, who sent my angel to you with this testimony for the churches."
2. Use of Titles:
    - The titles "the first and the last" and "the beginning and the end" are used earlier in Revelation 1:17-18, where Jesus speaks directly to John, saying: "Do not be afraid; I am the first and the last, and the living one. I was dead, and see, I am alive forever and ever."
    - This association with Jesus' death and resurrection strongly suggests that the speaker in Revelation 22:13 is Christ.

Revelation 22:12-16

12. "See, I am coming soon; my reward is with me, to repay according to everyone's work.
13. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."
14. Blessed are those who wash their robes, so that they will have the right to the tree of life and may enter the city by the gates.
15. Outside are the dogs and sorcerers and fornicators and murderers and idolaters, and everyone who loves and practices falsehood.
16. "It is I, Jesus, who sent my angel to you with this testimony for the churches. I am the root and the descendant of David, the bright morning star."

The phrase "my reward is with me" in Revelation 22:12 is a powerful declaration made by Christ, indicating that when He returns, He will bring with Him both reward and judgment. This phrase directly echoes Old Testament passages, particularly Isaiah 40:10 and Isaiah 62:11, where God Himself is described as coming with a reward and recompense. Let’s look at how this connection helps us understand Christ's role as judge in the New Testament context.

Isaiah 40:10

> "See, the Lord God comes with might, and his arm rules for him; his reward is with him, and his recompense before him."

Isaiah 62:11

> "The Lord has proclaimed to the end of the earth: Say to daughter Zion, 'See, your salvation comes; his reward is with him, and his recompense before him.'"

Explanation

1. Divine Judgment and Reward in the Old Testament:
    - In both Isaiah 40:10 and 62:11, the context is a prophetic announcement of God's intervention and deliverance. God comes as a mighty ruler and judge, bringing reward (μισθός, misthos in Greek) and recompense (ἀνταπόδομα, antapodoma).
    - The "reward" here signifies the blessings and vindication given to the righteous, while "recompense" refers to the consequences or punishments meted out to the wicked. This dual aspect of reward and judgment reflects God’s role as both savior and just judge.
2. Christ as Judge in Revelation 22:12:
    - In Revelation 22:12, Jesus adopts this same language, saying: “See, I am coming soon; my reward is with me, to repay according to everyone’s work.”
    - By using this Old Testament phrase, Jesus identifies Himself with the Lord God of Isaiah, implying His divine authority and role as the ultimate judge of humanity. This alignment shows that Jesus is not merely a messenger of God’s judgment but the very embodiment of God’s judgment and salvation.
    - The phrase emphasizes that Christ’s return will be a moment of divine justice: He comes to reward the righteous for their faith and obedience and to recompense the wicked according to their deeds.
3. Christ’s Role in Early Christian Theology:
    - In the New Testament, Jesus is frequently depicted as the judge who will evaluate all people based on their actions. For instance:

- In Matthew 16:27, Jesus says: “For the Son of Man is to come with his angels in the glory of his Father, and then he will repay everyone for what has been done.”
- In 2 Corinthians 5:10, Paul writes: “For all of us must appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each may receive recompense for what has been done in the body, whether good or evil.”

- These passages reinforce the idea that Christ has been given the authority by God the Father to execute judgment (John 5:22-23). His coming with “reward” reflects His role as the divine judge, consistent with God’s character in the Old Testament.

Theological Significance

- The use of the phrase “my reward is with me” in Revelation underscores the continuity between the Old and New Testaments regarding the nature of divine judgment. In Isaiah, Yahweh is the one who comes with reward; in Revelation, this role is fully assumed by Jesus Christ, revealing His divine status and authority.
- It also serves as a reminder of the imminence of Christ’s return and the call for believers to live righteously, knowing that they will be held accountable for their actions.

In summary, by echoing Isaiah's language of God bringing "reward and recompense," Revelation 22:12 not only affirms Christ's role as the eschatological judge but also emphasizes His divine identity as the one who fulfills the promises and prophecies of God’s final intervention in history.

Revelation 1:17-18

17. When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he placed his right hand on me, saying, “Do not be afraid; I am the first and the last,
18. and the living one. I was dead, and see, I am alive forever and ever; and I have the keys of Death and of Hades.”

Isaiah 44:6

"Thus says the Lord, the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts:
'I am the first and I am the last; besides me there is no god.'"

Who is Jesus

1. Testimony of Prophet Isaiah

Isaiah 9:6 (Hebrew)
"For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government will be on his shoulders. And He will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."

In Hebrew:
אֵל גִּבּוֹר (El Gibbor) = Mighty God
אֲבִיעַד (Aviad) = Everlasting Father
שַׂר־שָׁלוֹם (Sar Shalom) = Prince of Peace

2. Testimony of Angels

Matthew 1:21 (Greek)
"She will bear a Son; and you shall call His name Jesus, for He will save His people from their sins."

In Greek:
Ἰησοῦν (Iēsoun) = Jesus
σώσει (sōsei) = will save λαὸν (laon) = people
ἁμαρτιῶν (hamartiōn) = sins

3. Testimony of Thomas

John 20:26-28 (Greek)
"Thomas answered and said to Him, 'My Lord and my God!'"

In Greek:
κύριός (kyrios) = Lord
θεός (theos) = God

4. Testimony of Jews

Luke 5:21 (Greek)
"The scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, 'Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?'"

In Greek:
μόνος θεὸς (monos theos) = God alone
John 10:33 (Greek)
"The Jews answered Him, 'For a good work we do not stone You, but for blasphemy; and because You, being a man, make Yourself out to be God.'"

In Greek:
θεόν (theon) = God

5. Testimony of Jesus: "I AM"

John 8:58-59 (Greek)
"Jesus said to them, 'Truly, truly, I say to you, before Abraham was born, I am.' So they picked up stones to throw at Him, but Jesus hid Himself and went out of the temple."

In Greek:
ἐγώ εἰμι (egō eimi) = I am
Exodus 3:14 (Hebrew)
"God said to Moses, 'I AM WHO I AM'; and He said, 'Thus you shall say to the sons of Israel, I AM has sent me to you.'"

In Hebrew:
אֶהְיֶה (ehyeh) = I AM

6. Testimony of the Father

Hebrews 1:7-9 (Greek)
"But of the Son He says, 'Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, and the righteous scepter is the scepter of His kingdom. You have loved righteousness and hated lawlessness; therefore God, Your God, has anointed You with the oil of gladness above Your companions.'"

In Greek:
ὁ θεός (ho theos) = O God
ὁ θεός σου (ho theos sou) = Your God
ἔχρισέν (echrisen) = has anointed You

Jesus is called the first born from the dead. Was Jesus the first person to be resurrected from the dead?
Luke 7:11-15: Jesus raised the widow's son in the town of Nain.
Luke 8:41-42, 49-55: Jesus brought Jairus' daughter back to life.
John 11:38-44: Jesus raised Lazarus from the dead.

In Psalm 89:20, 27, David is referred to as God's "firstborn," even though he was the youngest son of Jesse (1 Samuel 16:10-13). This can seem paradoxical at first glance, but the term "firstborn" in the Bible does not always refer to birth order. Instead, it often symbolizes preeminence or a position of special status and honor.

In Psalm 89:27, God says, "I will make him My firstborn, the highest of the kings of the earth." Here, "firstborn" signifies David’s elevated status as the most favored and preeminent king among all. In this sense, David's position as "firstborn" reflects his chosen status by God to be the ruler of Israel and the ancestor of the Messiah, even though he was not Jesse's firstborn son by birth.

This concept of "firstborn" carries the idea of priority in rank and privilege rather than chronological birth order, much like how Jesus is called the "firstborn from the dead" (Colossians 1:18) to emphasize His supremacy in resurrection and authority.

The Greek word "Prototokos" means first born in the sense of privilege, not chronological order. It refers to first born in the sense that Jesus has the rights, privileges, and authority of the first born. In ancient Israel the first born had the privilege of representing the Father. Jesus came to reveal God's glory (John 14:9).

In ancient Israel, the firstborn son held significant rights and responsibilities, including:

Inheritance: The firstborn typically received a double portion of the inheritance (Deuteronomy 21:17).
Representation: The firstborn had the role of representing the father, as you mentioned. This included carrying on the family name and responsibilities.

When applied to Jesus, "prototokos" signifies His unique status as the preeminent Son of God, who holds the rights and privileges of the firstborn. This is emphasized in various New Testament passages:

Colossians 1:15 states that Jesus is "the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation," indicating His supreme authority over all that exists.
Hebrews 1:2 mentions that God has spoken through His Son "whom He appointed heir of all things," further highlighting the inheritance aspect associated with being the firstborn.

Hebrews 1:6

"And again, when he bringeth in the firstbegotten into the world, he saith, And let all the angels of God worship him."

In Greek:

πρωτότοκον (prōtotokon) = firstborn

θεοῦ (theou) = God

In John 3:16, the Greek word μονογενής (monogenēs) is often translated as "only begotten" or "one and only," but it carries a deeper meaning of "one of a kind" or "unique one." This word emphasizes the uniqueness and divinity of Jesus Christ as the only Son of God, distinct from all creation.

Here's how John 3:16 reads, along with the Greek pronunciation:

John 3:16

"For God so loved the world, that He gave His one and only (μονογενῆ) Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life."

μονογενῆ (monogenē) = one of a kind / unique one υἱὸν (huion) = Son
θεὸς (theos) = God

The term monogenēs is crucial because it points to Jesus' unique role in salvation history. He is not merely one among many sons or beings but the eternal, divine Son, who reveals the Father in human form. This uniqueness sets Jesus apart from all of creation, highlighting His divine nature and role in the redemptive plan of God.

Key Points About "Monogenes":

Uniqueness: "Monogenes" indicates that Jesus is unique and unparalleled. He is not merely one among many but stands alone as the divine Son of God.

Divine Sonship: The term underscores His special and intimate relationship with the Father. As the "one of a kind" Son, Jesus embodies the fullness of God in human form (John 1:14: And the Word became flesh and lived among us, and we have seen his glory, the glory as of a father's only son, full of grace and truth.).

Revelation of the Father: In coming to earth and dwelling among humanity, Jesus reveals the nature and character of God. He perfectly demonstrates God's love, grace, and truth.

Eternal Nature: Jesus, being the eternal Word (Logos) made flesh, holds a unique position within the Trinity. His existence predates creation, affirming His divinity (John 1:1-3: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being. What has come into being)

1. Beginning of Creation (Arche)

In Revelation 3:14, Jesus is referred to as "the Amen, the Faithful and True Witness, the Beginning of the creation of God." The Greek word "arche" indeed conveys the idea of "beginning" or "origin." This indicates that Jesus is the source or initiator of all that God has created.

Implication: This does not imply that Jesus was created but rather that He is the preeminent source of creation. It emphasizes His authority and foundational role in the creative process.

2. All Things Made by Him (John 1:3)

John 1:3 states, "All things were made through Him, and without Him, nothing was made that was made."

Significance: This verse affirms that Jesus, as the Word (Logos), was instrumental in the creation of everything. Nothing exists that was not created through Him, highlighting His divine nature and active role in bringing creation into existence.

3. By Him All Things Were Created (Colossians 1:16-17; Hebrews 11:3)

Colossians 1:16-17 states: "For by Him all things were created that are in heaven and that are on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or powers. All things were created through Him and for Him. And He is before all things, and in Him all things consist."

Hebrews 11:3 states: "By faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that the things which are seen were not made of things which are visible."

Summary of Key Points:

Jesus as Creator: These passages collectively affirm that Jesus is not only present at the beginning of creation but is actively involved in the creation process itself.
Sustainer: Colossians 1:17 also emphasizes that "in Him all things consist," indicating that Jesus not only created but also sustains all of creation.
Divine Nature: This understanding of Jesus' role in creation underscores His divine nature, positioning Him as fully God and fully involved in the creative act.

The law was done away in Christ

1. Matthew 5:17-18

> "Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill. For assuredly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled."

Interpretation: Jesus clarifies that He did not come to abolish the Law but to fulfill it. His life and teachings bring the Law to completion, embodying its true purpose and intention.

2. John 14:15

> "If you love Me, keep My commandments."

Interpretation: This emphasizes the relational aspect of obedience to God's commands, shifting the focus from mere legalistic adherence to a loving relationship with Christ.

3. Romans 6:13, 14

> "And do not present your members as instruments of unrighteousness to sin, but present yourselves to God as being alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness to God. For sin shall not have dominion over you, for you are not under law but under grace."

Interpretation: Here, Paul asserts that believers are under grace rather than the Law, indicating a new covenant relationship through faith in Christ.

4. Romans 3:28-31

> "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith apart from the deeds of the law. Or is He the God of the Jews only? Is He not also the God of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also, since there is one God who will justify the circumcised by faith and the uncircumcised through faith."

Interpretation: This underscores justification by faith, not by the Law, highlighting that the Law cannot save but points to the need for faith in Christ.

5. Psalm 40:8

> "I delight to do Your will, O my God, and Your law is within my heart."

Interpretation: This verse reflects the internalization of God's Law, suggesting a shift from external adherence to a heart-centered obedience, which Jesus exemplifies.

6. Hebrews 8:10

> "For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: I will put My laws in their mind > and write them on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people."

Interpretation: This passage speaks of a new covenant where God's laws are written on believers' hearts, emphasizing a transformative relationship with God rather than mere rule-following.

7. 1 John 2:3-6

> "Now by this we know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. He who says, 'I know Him,' and does not keep His commandments is a liar, and the truth is not in him. But whoever keeps His word, truly the love of God is perfected in him. By this we know that we are in Him."

Interpretation: This emphasizes that true knowledge of God is demonstrated through obedience to His commandments, which flow from a relationship with Christ.

8. James 2:10-17

> "For whoever shall keep the whole law, and yet stumble in one point, he is guilty of all." (James 2:10)

Interpretation: James stresses the importance of genuine faith manifesting in works, indicating that true faith will naturally express itself in loving actions toward others, which fulfills the intent of the Law.

Summary

Fulfillment and Transformation: The coming of Christ fulfills the Law's requirements, transforming the relationship believers have with it. Instead of a strict adherence to a set of rules, the focus shifts to a life of love and obedience rooted in faith.
Grace Over Law: The New Testament consistently emphasizes that believers are under grace, which empowers them to live righteously, fulfilling the essence of the Law through love for God and others.

God is a Spirit

John 4:23-24

"But the hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him. God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth."
God (Greek: θεός, Theos), meaning "God" or "deity."

Acts 7:48-49

"However, the Most High does not dwell in temples made with hands, as the prophet says: 'Heaven is My throne, and earth is My footstool. What house will you build for Me? says the Lord, or what is the place of My rest?'"
Most High (Greek: ὕψιστος, Hypsistos), meaning "the highest one."
Acts 17:24-28

"God, who made the world and everything in it, since He is Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in temples made with hands. Nor is He worshiped with men's hands, as though He needed anything, since He gives to all life, breath, and all things. And He has made from one blood every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth, and has determined their pre-appointed times and the boundaries of their dwellings, so that they should seek the Lord, in the hope that they might grope for Him and find Him, though He is not far from each one of us; for in Him we live and move and have our being, as also some of your own poets have said, 'For we are also His offspring.'"
God (Greek: θεός, Theos), signifying His divine nature.
Psalm 139:7-12

"Where can I go from Your Spirit? Or where can I flee from Your presence? If I ascend into heaven, You are there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, You are there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there Your hand shall lead me, and Your right hand shall hold me. If I say, 'Surely the darkness shall fall on me,' even the night shall be light about me; indeed, the darkness shall not hide from You, but the night shines as the day; the darkness and the light are both alike to You."
Spirit (Hebrew: רוּחַ, Ruach), meaning "breath" or "spirit."
1 Kings 8:27

"But will God indeed dwell on the earth? Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. How much less this temple which I have built!"
God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Elohim), the plural form often used to denote God's majesty.
Jeremiah 23:23-24

"'Am I a God near at hand,' says the LORD, 'And not a God afar off? Can anyone hide himself in secret places, so I shall not see him?' says the LORD; 'Do I not fill heaven and earth?' says the LORD."
LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh), the covenant name of God.

There is but One God

Deuteronomy 6:4-9

"Hear, O Israel: The LORD our God, the LORD is one! You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your strength. And these words which I command you today shall be in your heart. You shall teach them diligently to your children, and shall talk of them when you sit in your house, when you walk by the way, when you lie down, and when you rise up. And you shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and they shall be as frontlets between your eyes. You shall write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates."
Mark 1:28-34

"And immediately His fame spread throughout all the region around Galilee. Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John. But Simon's wife's mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once. So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them. At evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed. And the whole city was gathered together at the door. Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him."
This passage illustrates the authority of Jesus, but it is part of the broader context affirming the oneness of God.
Mark 12:28-34

"Then one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, perceiving that He had answered them well, asked Him, 'Which is the first commandment of all?' Jesus answered him, 'The first of all the commandments is: Hear, O Israel, the LORD our God, the LORD is one. And you shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength. This is the first commandment. And the second, like it, is this: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these.'"
LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh).
Malachi 2:10

"Have we not all one Father? Has not one God created us? Why do we deal treacherously with one another by profaning the covenant of the fathers?"
God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Elohim), meaning "God" or "deity."
1 Corinthians 8:4-6

"Therefore concerning the eating of things offered to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is no other God but one. For even if there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or on earth (as there are many gods and many lords), yet for us there is one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we for Him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things, and through whom we live."

God (Greek: θεός, Theos), referring to the Father.
Ephesians 4:5-6

"One Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all."
God (Greek: θεός, Theos), indicating the unity of God.
Isaiah 43:10

"'You are My witnesses,' says the LORD, 'And My servant whom I have chosen, that you may know and believe Me, and understand that I am He. Before Me there was no God formed, nor shall there be after Me.'"
LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh).
Isaiah 44:6-8

"'Thus says the LORD, the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the LORD of hosts: "I am the First and I am the Last; besides Me there is no God. And who can proclaim as I do? Then let him declare it and set it in order for Me, since I appointed the ancient people. And the things that are coming and shall come, let them show these to them. Do not fear, nor be afraid; have I not told you from that time, and declared it? You are My witnesses. Is there a God besides Me? Indeed there is no other Rock; I know not one.'"
LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh).
Isaiah 45:2-6, 21-23

"I will go before you and make the crooked places straight; I will break in pieces the gates of bronze and cut the bars of iron. I will give you the treasures of darkness and hidden riches of secret places, that you may know that I, the LORD, who call you by your name, am the God of Israel. ... 'Tell and bring forth your case; Yes, let them take counsel together. Who has declared this from ancient time? Who has told it from that time? Have not I, the LORD? And there is no other God besides Me, a just God and a Savior; there is none besides Me. Look to Me, and be saved, all you ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other. I have sworn by Myself; the word has gone out of My mouth in righteousness and shall not return, that to Me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall take an oath.'"
LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh).
Isaiah 46:8-9

"'Remember this, and show yourselves, men; recall to mind, O you transgressors. Remember the former things of old, for I am God, and there is no other; I am God, and there is none like Me.'"
God (Hebrew: אֵל, El), meaning "God."
1 Timothy 2:5

"For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus."
God (Greek: θεός, Theos), indicating the singularity of God.
James 2:19

"You believe that there is one God. You do well. Even the demons believe—and tremble!"
God (Greek: θεός, Theos), emphasizing the truth of God's singular existence.
Revelation 4:2-3

"Immediately I was in the Spirit; and behold, a throne set in heaven, and One sat on the throne. And He who sat there was like a jasper and a sardius stone in appearance; and there was a rainbow around the throne, in appearance like an emerald."
One (Greek: ἕν, Hen), emphasizing the unity of the divine presence.

Jesus is God

Isaiah 7:14

"Therefore the Lord Himself will give you a sign: Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call His name Immanuel."
Immanuel (עִמָּנוּ אֵל, 'Immanu'el), meaning "God with us."
Isaiah 9:6

"For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government will be upon His shoulder. And His name will be called Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."
Mighty God (אֵל גִּבּוֹר, El Gibbor), meaning "God the Mighty."
Everlasting Father (אֲבִי עַד, Avi 'Ad), meaning "Father of Eternity."
Micah 5:2

"But you, Bethlehem Ephrathah, though you are little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of you shall come forth to Me the One to be Ruler in Israel, whose goings forth are from of old, from everlasting."
Bethlehem (בֵּית לֶחֶם, Beit Lechem), meaning "House of Bread."
John 1:1

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."
Word (Greek: Λόγος, Logos), meaning "Word" or "Divine Reason."
John 1:10

"He was in the world, and the world was made through Him, and the world did not know Him."
John 1:14

"And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth."
John 8:24

"Therefore I said to you that you will die in your sins; for if you do not believe that I am He, you will die in your sins."
I am He (Greek: ἐγώ εἰμι, Ego eimi), meaning "I am."
John 8:58-59

"Jesus said to them, 'Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM.' Then they took up stones to throw at Him; but Jesus hid Himself and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by."
I AM (Greek: ἐγώ εἰμι, Ego eimi), echoing the divine name revealed to Moses in Exodus 3:14.
John 10:30

"I and My Father are one."
One (Greek: ἕν, hen), indicating unity or oneness in essence.
John 14:6-11

> 6 Jesus said to him, “I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) except through me.
> 7 If you know me, you will know my Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) also. From now on you do know him and have seen him.”
> 8 Philip said to him, “Lord, show us the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ), and we will be satisfied.”
> 9 Jesus said to him, “Have I been with you all this time, Philip, and you still do not know me? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ). How can you say, ‘Show us the Father’?
> 10 Do you not believe that I am in the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) and the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) is in me? The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own, but the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) who dwells in me does his works.
> 11 Believe me that I am in the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) and the Father (Patēr, Πατήρ) is in me, but if you do not, then believe me because of the works themselves.

In this passage, the word "Father" is translated from the Greek term Patēr (Πατήρ), pronounced Pah-tehr. Jesus emphasizes His unique relationship with the Father, revealing that to know and see Him is to know and see the Father, highlighting the unity between the Father and the Son.

John 20:28

"And Thomas answered and said to Him, 'My Lord and my God!'"
Lord (Greek: κύριος, Kyrios) and God (Greek: θεός, Theos).

Philippians 2:6-8

"Who, being in the form of God, did not consider it robbery to be equal with God, but made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the likeness of men. And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the point of death, even the death of the cross."
Form of God (Greek: μορφὴ θεοῦ, morphē theou), meaning the essential nature or form of God.

1 Timothy 3:16

“Without any doubt, the mystery of our religion is great:
He was revealed in flesh,
vindicated in spirit,
seen by angels,
proclaimed among Gentiles, believed in throughout the world, taken up in glory.”

2 Corinthians 5:19

"That is, that God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, not imputing their trespasses to them, and has committed to us the word of reconciliation."

- God (Greek: θεός, Theos).

Hebrews 1:1-3

"God, who at various times and in various ways spoke in time past to the fathers by the prophets, has in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom He has appointed heir of all things, through whom also He made the worlds; who being the brightness of His glory and the express image of His person, and upholding all things by the word of His power, when He had by Himself purged our sins, sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high."

Express image (Greek: χαρακτὴρ τῆς ὑποστάσεως, charaktēr tēs hypostaseōs), meaning the exact representation of God's being.

"But to the Son He says: 'Your throne, O God, is forever and ever; A scepter of righteousness is the scepter of Your kingdom.'"
O God (Greek: ὁ θεός, ho Theos), a direct address to the Son as God, affirming His divine nature.

Jesus is Man

Isaiah 7:14

"Therefore the Lord Himself will give you a sign: Behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and shall call His name Immanuel."
Immanuel (עִמָּנוּ אֵל, 'Immanu'el), meaning "God with us."
Isaiah 9:6

"For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government will be upon His shoulder. And His name will be called Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."
Mighty God (אֵל גִּבּוֹר, El Gibbor), meaning "God the Mighty."
Everlasting Father (אֲבִי עַד, Avi 'Ad), meaning "Father of Eternity."
Luke 1:31-32

"And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name Jesus. He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David."
Jesus (Ἰησοῦς, Iēsous), derived from the Hebrew name יֵשׁוּעַ (Yeshua), meaning "The Lord saves."
Son of the Highest refers to the divine nature of Jesus, as the Son of God.
Luke 2:6-7

"So it was, that while they were there, the days were completed for her to be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn."
Acts 17:31

"Because He has appointed a day on which He will judge the world in righteousness by the Man whom He has ordained. He has given assurance of this to all by raising Him from the dead."

Refers to Jesus being ordained as the judge of the world, confirmed through His resurrection.

Galatians 4:4

But when the fullness of time had come, God (Theos, Θεός) sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the law.

Emphasizes that Jesus was born as a human under the same laws that govern mankind.

Philippians 2:7-8

"But made Himself of no reputation, taking the form of a bondservant, and coming in the likeness of men. And being found in appearance as a man, He humbled Himself and became obedient to the point of death, even the death of the cross."

Form of a bondservant (Greek: μορφὴν δούλου, morphēn doulou), showing Christ's humility in taking on human form and servant status.

1 Timothy 2:5

"For there is one God and one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus."

Mediator (Greek: μεσίτης, mesitēs), meaning one who reconciles or intercedes between two parties, specifically here between God and mankind.

Hebrews 2:14-18

14 Since, therefore, the children share flesh and blood, he himself likewise shared the same things, so that through death he might destroy the one who has the power of death, that is, the devil,
15 and free those who all their lives were held in slavery by the fear of death.
16 For it is clear that he did not come to help angels but the descendants of Abraham.
17 Therefore he had to become like his brothers and sisters in every respect, so that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God (Theos, Θεός), to make a sacrifice of atonement for the sins of the people.
18 Because he himself was tested by what he suffered, he is able to help those who are being tested.

Emphasizes Jesus' full humanity, partaking in flesh and blood, so He could experience human suffering and offer a perfect sacrifice.

Hebrews 7:24-25

24 but he (Jesus), because he continues forever, holds his priesthood permanently.
25 Consequently, he is able for all time to save those who approach God (Theos, Θεός) through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them.

Jesus is described as an eternal High Priest, continually interceding for believers.

Jesus is Coming

1 Thessalonians 3:11-13

"Now may our God and Father Himself, and our Lord Jesus Christ, direct our way to you. And may the Lord make you increase and abound in love to one another and to all, just as we do to you, so that He may establish your hearts blameless in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all His saints."

Lord (Greek: κύριος, Kyrios), meaning "Lord" or "Master."

Jesus (Greek: Ἰησοῦς, Iēsous), derived from Hebrew יְשׁוּעַ (Yeshua), meaning "The Lord saves."

Matthew 24:25-31

"See, I have told you beforehand. Therefore if they say to you, ‘Look, He is in the desert!’ do not go out; or ‘Look, He is in the inner rooms!’ do not believe it. For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be. For wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered together. Immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken. Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory. And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other."

Son of Man (Greek: υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου, huios tou anthrōpou), emphasizing Jesus' humanity and Messianic role.

"For the grace of God that brings salvation has appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly in the present age, looking for the blessed hope and glorious appearing of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ."

Savior Jesus Christ (Greek: σωτῆρος ἡμῶν Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ, sōtēros hēmōn Iēsou Christou), meaning "Savior" and "Anointed One."

Revelation 21:5-7

"Then He who sat on the throne said, 'Behold, I make all things new.' And He said to me, 'Write, for these words are true and faithful.' And He said to me, 'It is done! I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End. I will give of the fountain of the water of life freely to him who thirsts. He who overcomes shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall be My son.'"

Alpha and Omega (Greek: ἄλφα καὶ τὸ Ὦ, Alpha kai to O), meaning "the beginning and the end."

God is Coming

Zechariah 14:4-5

"And in that day His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives, which faces Jerusalem on the east. And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two, from east to west, making a very large valley; half of the mountain shall move toward the north and half of it toward the south. Then you shall flee through My mountain valley, for the mountain valley shall reach to Azal. Yes, you shall flee as you fled from the earthquake in the days of Uzziah king of Judah. Thus the LORD my God will come, and all the saints with You."

LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced Yahweh), the covenant name of God, often translated as "LORD."

1 Thessalonians 4:13-18

"But I do not want you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning those who have fallen asleep, lest you sorrow as others who have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so God will bring with Him those who sleep in Jesus. For this we say to you by the word of the Lord, that we who are alive and remain until the coming of the Lord will by no means precede those who are asleep. For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord. Therefore comfort one another with these words."

Lord (Greek: κύριος, Kyrios), referring to Jesus, the Master and sovereign Lord.

Revelation 1:7-8

"Behold, He is coming with clouds, and every eye will see Him, even they who pierced Him. And all the tribes of the earth will mourn because of Him. Even so, Amen. 'I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End,' says the Lord, 'who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty.'"

Alpha and Omega (Greek: ἄλφα καὶ τὸ Ὦ, Alpha kai to O).

The Almighty (Greek: παντοκράτωρ, Pantokratōr), meaning "All-powerful" or "Omnipotent."

Revelation 22:12-13

"And behold, I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me, to give to every one according to his work. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last."

Alpha and Omega (Greek: ἄλφα καὶ τὸ Ὦ, Alpha kai to O).

Psalm 50:1-6

"The Mighty One, God the LORD, has spoken and called the earth from the rising of the sun to its going down. Out of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God will shine forth. Our God shall come, and shall not keep silent; a fire shall devour before Him, and it shall be very tempestuous all around Him. He shall call to the heavens from above, and to the earth, that He may judge His people: 'Gather My saints together to Me, those who have made a covenant with Me by sacrifice.' Let the heavens declare His righteousness, for God Himself is Judge."

Mighty One (Hebrew: אֵל, El), meaning "God."

God the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים, YHWH Elohim), combining God's covenant name Yahweh with Elohim, meaning "God."

Revelation 19:11, 16

Verse 11:

> "Then I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse! The one sitting on it is called Faithful and True (Greek: Πιστὸς καὶ Ἀληθινός, Pronounced: Pistos kai Alēthinos), and in righteousness he judges and makes war."

Key Titles:

Faithful and True = Pistos kai Alēthinos, referring to Jesus Christ as trustworthy and embodying truth.

This description shows Jesus Christ as the one who will return to judge and wage war in righteousness.

Verse 16:

> "On his robe and on his thigh he has a name written, King of kings and Lord of lords (Greek: Βασιλεὺς βασιλέων καὶ κύριος κυρίων, Pronounced: Basileus Basilēōn kai Kyrios Kyriōn)."

Key Titles:

King of kings and Lord of lords = Basileus Basilēōn kai Kyrios Kyriōn, emphasizing Christ's supreme authority over all earthly and spiritual rulers.

Jesus the Rock

1. Deuteronomy 32:3-4

Text: "I will proclaim the name of the Lord. Oh, praise the greatness of our God! He is the Rock, his works are perfect, and all his ways are just."

God's name: In Hebrew, Yahweh (יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced "Yah-weh"), the covenant name of God, is used here.

Explanation: This passage emphasizes God's unchanging nature and perfection. The term "Rock" (in Hebrew: צוּר, Tsur, pronounced "Tsoor") signifies God as the strong foundation, foreshadowing Christ as the firm foundation for believers.

2. 1 Samuel 2:2

Text: "There is no one holy like the Lord; there is no one besides you; there is no Rock like our God."

God's name: Again, Yahweh (יְהוָה, YHWH, pronounced "Yah-weh") is used.

Explanation: Hannah praises God as her refuge and unshakable foundation. The Hebrew word for "Rock" is Tsur (צוּר, pronounced "Tsoor"). This foreshadows Christ as the ultimate source of strength.

3. Psalm 18:2, 31, 46

Verse 2:

> "The LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH) is my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri) and my fortress (Hebrew: מְצוּדָתִי, Pronounced: Metsudati) and my deliverer (Hebrew: מְפַלְטִי, Pronounced: Mefalti), my God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהַי, Pronounced: Elohai), my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), in whom I take refuge, my shield (Hebrew: מָגִנִּי, Pronounced: Maginni) and the horn of my salvation (Hebrew: קֶרֶן יִשְׁעִי, Pronounced: Keren Yish'i), my stronghold (Hebrew: מִשְׂגַּבִּי, Pronounced: Misgabbi)."

Verse 31:

> "For who is God, but the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH)? And who is a rock, except our God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵינוּ, Pronounced: Eloheinu)?"

Verse 46:

> "The LORD lives, and blessed be my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), and exalted be the God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵי, Pronounced: Elohei) of my salvation (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעִי, Pronounced: Elohei Yish'i)."

Key Names:

LORD = YHWH, representing God's covenant name.
God = Elohai, personal reference to God, and Elohei for "my God."

Explanation: The psalmist calls God Tsur (צוּר, "Tsoor"), highlighting His role as a protector. In the New Testament, Jesus becomes the fulfillment of this metaphor, embodying spiritual refuge and deliverer.

4. Isaiah 28:16

Text: "So this is what the Sovereign Lord says: 'See, I lay a stone in Zion, a tested stone, a precious cornerstone for a sure foundation; the one who trusts will never be dismayed.'"
God's name: Adonai Yahweh (אֲדֹנָי יְהוָה, pronounced "Ah-doh-nai Yah-weh"), meaning Sovereign Lord.
Explanation: This prophecy speaks of a "precious cornerstone," understood to be a reference to Christ. Jesus becomes the cornerstone of faith, as the stable foundation of the church.

5. Matthew 16:16-18

Verses 16-18:

> "Simon Peter replied, 'You are the Christ (Greek: Χριστός, Pronounced: Christos), the Son (Greek: υἱός, Pronounced: huios) of the living God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim).' And Jesus answered him, 'Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my Father (Greek: Πατήρ, Pronounced: Patēr; Hebrew: אָב, Pronounced: Av) who is in heaven. And I tell you, you are Peter (Greek: Πέτρος, Pronounced: Petros), and on this rock (Greek: πέτρα, Pronounced: petra) I will build my church (Greek: ἐκκλησία, Pronounced: ekklēsia), and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.'"

Key Names:
Christ = Christos, affirming Jesus' identity as the Messiah.
Son = huios, emphasizing the divine relationship with God.
God = Theos (Greek), Elohim (Hebrew).
Father = Patēr (Greek), Av (Hebrew).
Peter = Petros, referring to Simon Peter, and rock (petra) signifies his foundational role in the church.

6. 1 Peter 2:4-8

1 Peter 2:4-8 (Greek Pronunciation: Prost John 2:4-8)

Verses 4-5:

> "As you come to him, a living stone rejected by men but in the sight of God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) chosen and precious, you yourselves like living stones are being built up as a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) through Jesus Christ (Greek: Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, Pronounced: Iēsous Christos; Hebrew: יֵשׁוּעַ מָשִׁיחַ, Pronounced: Yeshua Mashiach)."

Key Names:
God = Theos (Greek), Elohim (Hebrew).
Jesus Christ = Iēsous Christos (Greek), Yeshua Mashiach (Hebrew).

Verses 6-8:

> "For it stands in Scripture: 'Behold, I am laying in Zion a stone, a cornerstone chosen and precious, and whoever believes in him will not be put to shame.' So the honor is for you who believe, but for those who do not believe, 'The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone,' and 'A stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense.' They stumble because they disobey the word, as they were destined to do."

This passage quotes from the Old Testament, emphasizing Jesus as the cornerstone that some reject, becoming a stumbling block for those who do not believe.

7. Acts 4:11-12

Text: "Jesus is 'the stone you builders rejected, which has become the cornerstone.' Salvation is found in no one else."
Greek context: Theos (Θεός) is used for God, and lithos (λίθος) for stone.
Explanation: Jesus is the "cornerstone" rejected by the builders but becomes essential for salvation. This cornerstone is key to the Christian faith.

8. 1 Corinthians 10:4

Text: "...and drank the same spiritual drink; for they drank from the spiritual rock that accompanied them, and that rock was Christ."
Greek context: The word for rock is petra (πέτρα).

Explanation: Paul connects the physical rock that provided water to the Israelites in the wilderness with Jesus, the spiritual "Rock" who provides life and sustenance to believers.

9. Numbers 20:1-11

Verses 1-2:

> "And the people of Israel, the whole congregation, came into the wilderness of Zin in the first month, and the people stayed in Kadesh. And Miriam died there and was buried there. Now there was no water for the congregation. And they assembled themselves together against Moses and against Aaron."

This sets the scene with the death of Miriam (sister of Moses and Aaron), and the people's complaint due to a lack of water.

Verses 3-5:

> "And the people quarreled with Moses and said, 'Would that we had perished when our brothers perished before the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH)! Why have you brought the assembly of the LORD into this wilderness, that we should die here, both we and our cattle? And why have you made us come up out of Egypt to bring us to this evil place? It is no place for grain, or figs, or vines, or pomegranates, and there is no water to drink.'"

Key Name:
LORD = YHWH, the personal name of God, used here as the people blame Moses for leading them into a desolate place.

Verses 6-8:

> "Then Moses and Aaron went from the presence of the assembly to the entrance of the tent of meeting and fell on their faces. And the glory of the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH) appeared to them, and the LORD spoke to Moses, saying, 'Take the staff, and assemble the congregation, you and Aaron your brother, and tell the rock before their eyes to yield its water. So you shall bring water out of the rock for them and give drink to the congregation and their cattle.'"

Key Name:
LORD = YHWH, who instructs Moses to speak to the rock, promising a miracle to provide water.

Verses 9-11:

> "And Moses took the staff from before the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH), as he commanded him. Then Moses and Aaron gathered the assembly together before the rock, and he said to them, 'Hear now, you rebels: shall we bring water for you out of this rock?' And Moses lifted up his hand and struck the rock with his staff twice, and water came out abundantly, and the congregation drank, and their livestock."

Instead of speaking to the rock as commanded, Moses struck the rock in frustration, but water still came out by God's mercy. This act of disobedience would later result in Moses being denied entry into the Promised Land.

10. Ephesians 2:20-22

Verses 20-22:

> "...built on the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Christ Jesus (Greek: Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς, Pronounced: Christos Iēsous; Hebrew: מָשִׁיחַ יֵשׁוּעַ, Pronounced: Mashiach Yeshua) himself being the cornerstone, in whom the whole structure, being joined together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord (Greek: κύριος, Pronounced: Kyrios; Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH). In him you also are being built together into a dwelling place for God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) by the Spirit (Greek: πνεῦμα, Pronounced: Pneuma; Hebrew: רוּחַ, Pronounced: Ruach)."

Key Names:
Christ Jesus = Christos Iēsous (Greek) or Mashiach Yeshua (Hebrew), meaning the "Anointed One, Savior."
Lord = Kyrios (Greek), corresponding to YHWH (Yahweh) in Hebrew.
God = Theos (Greek), Elohim (Hebrew), referring to God as the Creator.
Spirit = Pneuma (Greek), Ruach (Hebrew), referring to the Holy Spirit.

This passage highlights Jesus as the cornerstone of the church, with believers being built into a holy temple where God dwells by His Spirit.

Explanation: Jesus is described as the akrogoniaios, the cornerstone, meaning He is the foundational stone of the church, upon which all believers are built into a spiritual dwelling place.

God the Rock

The theme of God as the "Rock" signifies strength, stability, and a reliable refuge for His people. Let's explore each passage with references to God's name in Hebrew and Greek, along with the idea of God as the Rock.

1. Deuteronomy 32:1-4

Text: "Give ear, O heavens, and I will speak; and let the earth hear the words of my mouth. May my teaching drop as the rain, my speech distill as the dew, like gentle rain upon the tender grass, and like showers upon the herb. For I will proclaim the name of the Lord; ascribe greatness to our God! The Rock, his work is perfect, for all his ways are justice."
God's name: In Hebrew, Yahweh (יְהוָה, pronounced "Yah-weh").
Rock in Hebrew: Tsur (צוּר, pronounced "Tsoor").
Explanation: Moses speaks of Yahweh as Tsur, the perfect and just Rock, symbolizing God's unwavering faithfulness and reliability.

2. Psalm 18:2, 31, 46

Verse 2:

> "The LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH) is my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri) and my fortress (Hebrew: מְצוּדָתִי, Pronounced: Metsudati) and my deliverer (Hebrew: מְפַלְטִי, Pronounced: Mefalti), my God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהַי, Pronounced: Elohai), my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), in whom I take refuge, my shield (Hebrew: מָגִנִּי, Pronounced: Maginni) and the horn of my salvation (Hebrew: קֶרֶן יִשְׁעִי, Pronounced: Keren Yish'i), my stronghold (Hebrew: מִשְׂגַּבִּי, Pronounced: Misgabbi)."

This verse parallels 2 Samuel 22:2-3, emphasizing the same attributes of God as protector, rock, and savior.

Verse 31:

> "For who is God, but the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH)? And who is a rock, except our God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵינוּ, Pronounced: Eloheinu)?"

This verse mirrors 2 Samuel 22:32, affirming that no one else compares to God in strength and power.

Verse 46:

> “The LORD lives, and blessed be my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), and exalted be the God of my salvation (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעִי, Pronounced: Elohei Yish'i).”

Key Names:
My rock = Tzuri.
God of my salvation = Elohei Yish'i, acknowledging God as the one who brings deliverance.

3. Isaiah 44:8

Text: "Do not tremble, do not be afraid. Did I not proclaim this and foretell it long ago? You are my witnesses. Is there any God besides me? No, there is no other Rock; I know not one."
God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה).
Rock in Hebrew: Tsur (צוּר).
Explanation: God declares Himself as the only Tsur (Rock), affirming that no other gods or powers can provide the same firm foundation or security.

4. 2 Samuel 22:1-3, 32

Verses 1-3:

> “And David spoke to the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH or Yahweh) the words of this song on the day when the LORD delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. He said, ‘The LORD is my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), my fortress (Hebrew: מְצוּדָתִי, Pronounced: Metsudati), and my deliverer (Hebrew: מְפַלְטִי, Pronounced: Mefalti), my God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהַי, Pronounced: Elohai), my rock (Hebrew: צוּרִי, Pronounced: Tzuri), in whom I take refuge, my shield (Hebrew: מָגִנִּי, Pronounced: Maginni), and the horn of my salvation (Hebrew: קֶרֶן יִשְׁעִי, Pronounced: Keren Yish'i), my stronghold (Hebrew: מִשְׂגַּבִּי, Pronounced: Misgabbi) and my refuge, my savior; you save me from violence.’”

Key Names:
LORD = YHWH (Yahweh), God’s personal name.
My rock = Tzuri, a symbol of God's strength and stability.
Fortress = Metsudati, referring to God as a place of protection.
Deliverer = Mefalti, emphasizing God as one who rescues.
God = Elohai, personal reference to God.
Shield = Maginni, protector.

Horn of my salvation = Keren Yish'i, symbolizing strength and power of salvation.
Stronghold = Misgabbi, a high, safe place of defense.

Verse 32:

> "For who is God, but the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH)? And who is a rock, except our God (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵינוּ, Pronounced: Eloheinu)?"

Key Names:
LORD = YHWH.
God = Eloheinu, "our God," affirming God as the one true deity and protector

5. Psalm 31:3

Text: "Since you are my rock and my fortress, for the sake of your name lead and guide me."
God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה).
Rock in Hebrew: Tsur (צוּר).
Explanation: The psalmist looks to Yahweh as a reliable Tsur, a source of guidance and protection, calling on God to lead him for the sake of His name.

6. Psalm 78:34-35

Text: "When He slew them, they sought Him; they repented and sought God earnestly. They remembered that God was their rock, the Most High God their redeemer."
God's name: Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Eh-loh-heem") and El Elyon (אֵל עֶלְיוֹן, pronounced "El El-yon"), meaning "Most High God."
Rock in Hebrew: Tsur (צוּר).
Explanation: When the people of Israel were disciplined, they turned back to God and remembered that He is their Tsur, their unshakable source of strength, and their Redeemer.

7. Psalm 89:26

Text: "He will call out to me, 'You are my Father, my God, the Rock my Savior.'"
God's name: Elohim (אֱלֹהִים).
Rock in Hebrew: Tsur (צוּר).
Explanation: This messianic psalm speaks of a future descendant of David, likely referring to Christ, who will call upon God as His Father and Tsur (Rock), acknowledging Him as the foundation and Savior.

8. Isaiah 17:10-11

Verse 10:

> "For you have forgotten the God of your salvation (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׁעֵךְ, Pronounced: Elohei Yishe'ekh), and have not remembered the Rock of your refuge (Hebrew: צוּר מָעוּזֵךְ, Pronounced: Tzur Ma'uzek); therefore, though you plant pleasant plants and sow the vine-branch of a stranger,..."

Key Names:
God of your salvation = Elohei Yishe'ekh (from the root word Yeshua, meaning salvation).
Rock of your refuge = Tzur Ma'uzek, referring to God as the firm and secure source of protection.

Verse 11:

> "...though you make them grow on the day that you plant them, and make them blossom in the morning that you sow, yet the harvest will flee away in a day of grief and incurable pain."

This verse describes the futility of the people's efforts because they have forgotten God, their true source of security and salvation.

Summary:

In Isaiah 17:10-11, the prophet rebukes the people for forgetting God (Elohei Yishe'ekh) and the Rock of their refuge (Tzur Ma'uzek). Despite their efforts to cultivate success and prosperity, they will face failure because they have neglected their relationship with God, who alone provides lasting security and salvation.

Explanation: The prophet Isaiah laments that the people have turned away from God, their Tsur, the reliable fortress that they should depend on for security and salvation.

In these passages, the Hebrew word Tsur (Rock) is consistently used to describe God, emphasizing His unwavering strength and the security He provides. The names Yahweh, Elohim, and El Elyon further highlight His divine power and role as the protector and refuge of His people.

Jesus the Creator

The theme of Jesus as the Creator is a foundational concept in the New Testament, affirming His divine role in creating and sustaining all things. Let's explore the passages you've provided, focusing on how they reveal Jesus as the Creator.

1. John 1:3, 10

Text:
Verse 3: "Through him all things were made; without him nothing was made that has been made."
Verse 10: "He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him."
Greek context: The Greek word for "made" is ginomai (γίνομαι, pronounced "gee-no-mai"), which means "to come into being."
Explanation: John emphasizes that through Jesus (the Logos, the Word), everything in creation came into existence. Jesus is the agent of creation, yet the world failed to recognize its Creator.

2. 1 Corinthians 8:6

Text: "Yet for us there is but one God, the Father, from whom all things came and for whom we live; and there is but one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom all things came and through whom we live."
Greek context: The word "through" is dia (διὰ), indicating that Jesus is the channel or means through which creation came to be.
Explanation: Paul declares that everything was created through Jesus, and it is by His power that we live. Jesus shares in the work of creation alongside the Father.

3. Colossians 1:12-17

Verses 12-14:

> "...giving thanks to the Father (Greek: Πατήρ, Pronounced: Patēr; Hebrew: אָב, Pronounced: Av), who has qualified you to share in the inheritance of the saints in light. He has delivered us from the domain of darkness and transferred us to the kingdom of his beloved Son (Greek: υἱός, Pronounced: huios; Hebrew: בֵּן, Pronounced: Ben), in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins."

Key Names:
Father = Patēr in Greek, Av in Hebrew.
Son = huios in Greek, Ben in Hebrew, referring to Jesus.

Verses 15-17:

> "He is the image of the invisible God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim), the firstborn of all creation. For by him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or authorities—all things were created through him and for him. And he is before all things, and in him all things hold together."

Key Names:
God = Theos in Greek, Elohim in Hebrew, referring to the Creator.
Firstborn of all creation = This title emphasizes Jesus' preeminence and authority over creation.

Summary:

In Colossians 1:12-17, Paul highlights the supremacy of Jesus Christ as the image of the invisible God (Theos/Elohim) and the one through whom all things were created. The Father (Patēr/Av) has rescued believers and transferred them into the kingdom of His Son (huios/Ben), who is also the agent of creation and sustainer of the universe.

Greek context: The word for "created" is ktizo (κτίζω, pronounced "ktee-zo"), meaning to "bring forth."
Explanation: Paul states that all things in the universe were created in, through, and for Jesus. He is the preeminent force behind creation, and by His power, everything is sustained.

4. Hebrews 1:1-2

"Long ago, at many times and in many ways, God (Greek: ὁ Θεός, Pronounced: ho Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) spoke to our fathers by the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son (Greek: υἱός, Pronounced: huios), whom he appointed the heir of all things, through whom also he created the world."

Key Names:
God = ho Theos in Greek, Elohim in Hebrew.
Son = huios, referring to Jesus as the Son of God

Greek context: The word for "universe" is aiónas (αἰῶνας, pronounced "ai-own-as"), often meaning ages or the entire cosmos.
Explanation: This passage highlights that God created the universe through Jesus, showing that Jesus is the instrument of all creation and the heir of everything.

5. Revelation 4:8-11

Verses 8-9:

> “And the four living creatures, each of them with six wings, are full of eyes all around and within, and day and night they never cease to say, ‘Holy, holy, holy, is the Lord God Almighty (Greek: Κύριος ὁ Θεὸς ὁ Παντοκράτωρ, Pronounced: Kyrios ho Theos ho Pantokratōr; Hebrew: יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים צְבָאוֹת, Pronounced: YHWH Elohim Tzevaot), who was and is and is to come!’”

Key Names:
Lord God Almighty = Kyrios ho Theos ho Pantokratōr (Greek), YHWH Elohim Tzevaot (Hebrew), referring to God’s supreme authority as the ruler of all.

Verses 10-11:

> “The twenty-four elders fall down before him who is seated on the throne and worship him who lives forever and ever. They cast their crowns before the throne, saying, ‘Worthy are you, our Lord and God, to receive glory and honor and power, for you created all things, and by your will they existed and were created.’”

Key Name:
Lord and God = Kyrios kai Theos in Greek, again emphasizing God’s lordship and creative power.

Explanation: The heavenly worshipers praise Jesus as the Creator, affirming that all things owe their existence to Him. He is worthy of worship as the Creator and sustainer of the universe.

6. Revelation 14:6-7

> “Then I saw another angel flying directly overhead, with an eternal gospel to proclaim to those who dwell on earth, to every nation and tribe and language and people. And he said with a loud voice, ‘Fear God (Greek: ὁ Θεός, Pronounced: ho Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment has come, and worship him who made heaven and earth, the sea and the springs of water.’”

Key Name:
God = ho Theos (Greek) and Elohim (Hebrew).

Explanation: Jesus is proclaimed as the Creator, and the call to worship is directed at Him as the One who created the heavens, earth, and everything in them.

7. Revelation 21:5-7

> “And he who was seated on the throne said, ‘Behold, I am making all things new.’ Also he said, ‘Write this down, for these words are trustworthy and true.’ And he said to me, ‘It is done! I am the Alpha and the Omega (Greek: ἄλφα καὶ τὸ ὦ, Pronounced: Alfa kai to Ō), the beginning and the end. To the thirsty I will give from the spring of the water of life without payment. The one who conquers will have this heritage, and I will be his God (Greek: ὁ Θεός, Pronounced: ho Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim), and he will be my son (Greek: υἱός, Pronounced: huios).'”

Key Names:

Alpha and Omega (Greek): The eternal nature of God/Jesus as the beginning and the end.

God = ho Theos in Greek, Elohim in Hebrew.

Explanation: Jesus not only created all things but is also the One who re-creates and renews all things, pointing toward the new creation at the end of time.

8. Revelation 22:3

Text: "No longer will there be any curse. The throne of God and of the Lamb will be in the city, and his servants will serve him."

Explanation: The Lamb (Jesus) is central to the final renewal of creation. He rules over the redeemed creation, restoring what was lost due to sin.

9. Ephesians 3:9

Text: "...and to make plain to everyone the administration of this mystery, which for ages past was kept hidden in God, who created all things."

Greek context: The word for "created" here is ktizo.

Explanation: Paul reveals the mystery of God’s plan, emphasizing that it was through Jesus that God created everything. Jesus is at the center of God's creative and redemptive purposes.

10. Hebrews 1:8-12

Verses 8-9:

> “But of the Son (Greek: υἱός, Pronounced: huios) he says, ‘Your throne, O God (Greek: ὁ Θεός, Pronounced: ho Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim), is forever and ever, the scepter of uprightness is the scepter of your kingdom. You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions.’”

Key Names:

Son = huios, referring to Jesus as the Son of God.
God = ho Theos in Greek, Elohim in Hebrew, referring to God's eternal rule.
Anointed = Christos in Greek, meaning "the anointed one" (Messiah in Hebrew: מָשִׁיחַ, Pronounced: Mashiach).

Verses 10-12:

> "And, 'You, Lord (Greek: κύριος, Pronounced: Kyrios; Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH), laid the foundation of the earth in the beginning, and the heavens are the work of your hands; they will perish, but you remain; they will all wear out like a garment, like a robe you will roll them up, like a garment they will be changed. But you are the same, and your years will have no end.'"

Key Names:
Lord = Kyrios in Greek, often used to refer to both Jesus and God, corresponding to YHWH (Yahweh) in Hebrew.
Eternal Nature: This section emphasizes the eternal, unchanging nature of Jesus (the Son), affirming His divinity and role as Creator.

Explanation: Jesus is not only the heir of all things but also the One who laid the foundation of creation. This passage emphasizes His eternal nature and role as the Creator.

In these passages, Jesus is presented as the Creator of all things, both visible and invisible. The Greek words ktizo (create) and dia (through) highlight His role as the agent through whom God created the universe. Jesus is the beginning and the sustainer of creation, and in the book of Revelation, He is also the One who will renew and restore all things, making Him central to both the original and new creation.

God the Creator

The theme of God as the Creator is woven throughout the Bible, emphasizing His sovereign power in creating the heavens, the earth, and all living beings. Here's a look at each passage that highlights God as the Creator, along with His Hebrew name and the word for "create."

1. Genesis 1:1, 2:7

Text:
Genesis 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."
Genesis 2:7: "Then the Lord God formed man of dust from the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living being."

God's name: Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Eh-loh-heem") is used in Genesis 1:1, a plural form emphasizing the majesty of God, and Yahweh Elohim (יְהוָה אֱלֹהִים, "Yah-weh Eh-loh-heem") in Genesis 2:7, highlighting the covenantal and personal nature of God.
Hebrew word for "create": Bara (בָּרָא, pronounced "bah-rah") in Genesis 1:1, meaning to create something new and unique.
Explanation: Genesis 1:1 introduces God as the Creator of everything—space, time, and matter. In Genesis 2:7, God personally creates humanity by breathing life into Adam, showing His intimate role in creation.

2. Isaiah 42:5

Text: "This is what God the Lord says—he who created the heavens and stretched them out, who spread out the earth and all that comes out of it, who gives breath to its people, and life to those who walk on it."
God's name: El Yahweh (אֵל יְהוָה, pronounced "El Yah-weh").
Hebrew word for "create": Bara (בָּרָא).
Explanation: Isaiah declares that Yahweh is the Creator of the heavens and earth, emphasizing His power over both the physical universe and human life. He gives breath and life to all creatures, showing His ongoing sustaining power.

3. Job 33:4

Text: "The Spirit of God has made me; the breath of the Almighty gives me life."
God's name: Ruach Elohim (רוּחַ אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Roo-akh Eh-loh-heem"), meaning the Spirit of God, and Shaddai (שַׁדַּי, pronounced "Shad-dai"), referring to God as the Almighty.
Explanation: Elihu acknowledges that God's Spirit (Ruach) is responsible for giving him life, reinforcing the idea that God's creative power extends not only to forming but to sustaining life.

4. Psalm 33:6

Text: "By the word of the Lord the heavens were made, and by the breath of his mouth all their host."
God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה).
Explanation: This psalm celebrates the creative power of God's word, indicating that everything in the heavens and the earth came into existence through the spoken word of Yahweh.

5. Psalm 104:30

Text: "When you send forth your Spirit, they are created, and you renew the face of the ground."

God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה).
Hebrew word for "create": Bara (בָּרָא).
Explanation: This passage shows that God's Spirit is not only responsible for the original creation but also for renewing and sustaining life on earth.

6. Psalm 148:1-5

Verses 1-2:

> "Praise the LORD (Hebrew: הַלְלוּ יָהּ, Pronounced: Hallelu Yah). Praise the LORD from the heavens; praise him in the heights! Praise him, all his angels (Hebrew: מַלְאָכָיו, Pronounced: Mal'akav); praise him, all his hosts (Hebrew: צְבָאָיו, Pronounced: Tzeva'av)."

Key Names:
LORD = Yah (a shortened form of YHWH, often rendered as "Yahweh").
Angels = Mal'akav, meaning "messengers" or "angels."
Hosts = Tzeva'av, referring to heavenly armies or celestial beings.

Verses 3-4:

> "Praise him, sun and moon, praise him, all you shining stars! Praise him, you highest heavens, and you waters above the heavens!"

Creation: This verse calls on all elements of creation—the sun, moon, stars, and waters—to praise the LORD.

Verse 5:

> "Let them praise the name of the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH), for he commanded and they were created."

Key Name:
LORD = YHWH, God's personal name, emphasizing His authority as Creator.

Explanation: The psalmist calls for all creation—heavenly beings, stars, mountains, and more—to praise Yahweh for their existence. Everything owes its being to His command.

7. Isaiah 40:28

Text: "Do you not know? Have you not heard? The Lord is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth."
God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה) and Elohim (אֱלֹהִים).
Explanation: Isaiah emphasizes that Yahweh is the eternal Creator, whose power and understanding are beyond human comprehension. He has made everything from the "ends of the earth."

8. Isaiah 44:24

Text: "This is what the Lord says—your Redeemer, who formed you in the womb: I am the Lord, the Maker of all things, who stretches out the heavens, who spreads out the earth by myself."

God's name: Yahweh (יְהוָה).

Hebrew word for "make": Asah (עָשָׂה, pronounced "ah-sah"), meaning to fashion or make.

Explanation: Yahweh declares that He alone is the Creator, forming both individuals (in the womb) and the cosmos. No one else shares in His creative work.

9. Isaiah 45:11-18

Verses 11-12:

> "Thus says the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH or Yahweh), the Holy One of Israel (Hebrew: קְדוֹשׁ יִשְׂרָאֵל, Pronounced: Kedosh Yisrael), and the one who formed him: 'Ask me of things to come; will you command me concerning my children and the work of my hands? I made the earth and created man on it; it was my hands that stretched out the heavens, and I commanded all their host.'"

Key Names:

LORD = YHWH (Yahweh), God's personal name often translated as "The LORD."

Holy One of Israel = Kedosh Yisrael, referring to God as the sacred protector of Israel.

Verses 13-14:

> "I have stirred him up in righteousness, and I will make all his ways level; he shall build my city and set my exiles free, not for price or reward," says the LORD of hosts (Hebrew: יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת, Pronounced: YHWH Tzevaot). Thus says the LORD: 'The wealth of Egypt and the merchandise of Cush, and the Sabeans, men of stature, shall come over to you and be yours; they shall follow you; they shall come over in chains and bow down to you. They will plead with you, saying: "Surely God is with you, and there is no other, no god besides him."'"

Key Name:

LORD of hosts = YHWH Tzevaot, referring to God as the commander of heavenly armies.

Verses 15-17:

> "Truly, you are a God who hides himself, O God of Israel (Hebrew: אֱלֹהֵי יִשְׂרָאֵל, Pronounced: Elohei Yisrael), the Savior (Hebrew: מוֹשִׁיעַ, Pronounced: Moshia). All of them are put to shame and confounded; the makers of idols go in confusion together. But Israel is saved by the LORD (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH) with everlasting salvation; you shall not be put to shame or confounded to all eternity."

Key Names:
God of Israel = Elohei Yisrael, God as the protector and deity of Israel.
Savior = Moshia, the one who delivers.

Verse 18:

"For thus says the LORD, who created the heavens (he is God, Hebrew: הָאֵל, Pronounced: Ha'El), who formed the earth and made it (he established it; he did not create it empty, he formed it to be inhabited): 'I am the LORD, and there is no other.'"

Key Name:
God = Ha'El, a term for God meaning "The God" or "The Mighty One."
LORD = YHWH

Explanation: These verses highlight God's sovereignty and His exclusive role as the Creator of the heavens and the earth. Yahweh asserts His authority over the universe, having created and established everything.

10. Malachi 2:10

Text: "Do we not all have one Father? Did not one God create us?"
God's name: Elohim (אֱלֹהִים).
Hebrew word for "create": Bara (בָּרָא).
Explanation: Malachi reminds the people that they share one Creator, Elohim, the God who made all of humanity. This underscores the unity of humanity under the one Creator.

In these passages, God is portrayed as the supreme Creator who brought the universe into existence. The Hebrew words Bara (to create) and Asah (to make) reveal the distinct roles of God in both forming and creating life. God's names, especially Elohim and Yahweh, affirm His sovereignty over all creation, from the heavens to the earth, from the stars to human life.

Jesus the Redeemer and Savior

Jesus the Redeemer and Savior:

John 1:29

Text: "The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him and said, 'Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!'"

God's Name in Hebrew:

Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Eh-loh-heem"): Referring to God's majesty and sovereignty.

Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός, pronounced "Theh-os"): The Greek term for God.

Explanation: John introduces Jesus as the Lamb of God (Elohim / Theos), signifying His divine role as the sacrificial Savior who takes away the sin of the world.

1 John 4:14

Text: "And we have seen and testify that the Father has sent his Son to be the Savior of the world."

God's Name in Hebrew:

Yahweh (יְהוָה, pronounced "Yah-weh"): Referring to God's covenant relationship with His people.

Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός): Greek for God, as in "Theos," the one who sends Jesus to be the Savior.

Explanation: The Father (Yahweh / Theos) sent His Son to be the Savior of the world, emphasizing both God's covenantal love and Jesus' redemptive mission.

1 Peter 2:21-24

> "For to this you have been called, because Christ (Greek: Χριστός, Pronounced: Christos; Hebrew: מָשִׁיחַ, Pronounced: Mashiach) also suffered for you, leaving you an example, so that you might follow in his steps. He committed no sin, neither was deceit found in his mouth. When he was reviled, he did not revile in return; when he suffered, he did not threaten, but continued entrusting himself to him who judges justly. He himself bore our sins in his body on the tree, that we might die to sin and live to righteousness. By his wounds you have been healed."

Key Names: Christ = Christos in Greek, Mashiach in Hebrew; God = Theos in Greek, Elohim in Hebrew.

Explanation: Jesus fulfills the prophecy of Yahweh (Lord) bearing our sins on the cross, healing and redeeming humanity.

Acts 20:28

Text: "... Be shepherds of the church of God, which he bought with his own blood."

God's Name in Hebrew:
Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, "Eh-loh-heem"): Refers to God as the one who bought the church through Jesus' sacrifice.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): Referring to God as the one who paid for the church with His own blood.
Explanation: The church belongs to God (Elohim / Theos), purchased by the blood of Jesus Christ, highlighting the depth of His redemption.
Galatians 3:13

Text: "Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us..."
God's Name in Hebrew:
Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): Refers to the Lord who provides redemption.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): Emphasizing God's plan of salvation.
Explanation: Jesus, sent by Yahweh / Theos, redeems us from the curse of the law, becoming the substitute for humanity.
Luke 2:10-11

> "And the angel said to them, 'Fear not, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all the people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior (Greek: Σωτήρ, Pronounced: Sōtēr; Hebrew: מוֹשִׁיעַ, Pronounced: Moshia), who is Christ the Lord (Greek: Χριστός Κύριος, Pronounced: Christos Kyrios; Hebrew: מָשִׁיחַ יְהוָה, Pronounced: Mashiach Yahweh).'"

Explanation: The birth of Jesus, proclaimed by angels, reveals the long-awaited Savior (Yahweh's Messiah / Theos).
John 4:42

Text: "They said... we know that this man really is the Savior of the world."
God's Name in Hebrew:
Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): The covenant Lord who redeems.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): Declaring Jesus as the Savior sent by God.
Explanation: The Samaritans declare Jesus as the Savior of the world, fulfilling the promises of Yahweh / Theos.
1 Corinthians 1:10

Text: "... I appeal to you, brothers and sisters, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ..."
God's Name in Hebrew:

Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): The name of God that brings unity.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): God who unites believers through Christ.
Explanation: Paul calls for unity in the name of Jesus, who represents the fulfillment of Yahweh's / Theos' salvation.
Galatians 1:3-4

Galatians 1:3-4

> "Grace to you and peace from God our Father (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) and the Lord Jesus Christ (Greek: Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, Pronounced: Iēsous Christos), who gave himself for our sins to deliver us from the present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father (Greek: Θεός καὶ Πατήρ, Pronounced: Theos kai Patēr; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים וְאָב, Pronounced: Elohim ve'Av)."

Explanation: Jesus gave Himself for our sins, in accordance with the redemptive plan of Elohim / Theos, showing divine sovereignty in salvation.
Philippians 3:20

Text: "But our citizenship is in heaven. And we eagerly await a Savior from there, the Lord Jesus Christ."
God's Name in Hebrew:
Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): The Lord, from whom Jesus comes.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): The source of the awaited salvation.
Explanation: Believers eagerly await the return of Yahweh's Messiah (Jesus) to complete salvation.
1 Timothy 1:1-3, 4:10

1 Timothy 1:1-3

Text:

Verse 1: "Paul, an apostle of Christ Jesus by the command of God our Savior and of Christ Jesus our hope,"
Verse 2: "To Timothy my true son in the faith: Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord."
Verse 3: "As I urged you when I went into Macedonia, stay there in Ephesus so that you may command certain people not to teach false doctrines any longer."
God's Name in Hebrew:

Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, "Eh-loh-heem"): The word used for God as the sovereign and all-powerful Creator.
Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): Referring to God as the covenant-keeping Lord.
Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός, "Theh-os"): Refers to God in Greek.
Explanation: Paul, acting by the command of God (Elohim / Theos), declares that God is the Savior and that Jesus is our hope. He connects both God the Father (Yahweh) and Jesus Christ as essential to salvation.

1 Timothy 4:10

Text: "That is why we labor and strive, because we have put our hope in the living God, who is the Savior of all people, and especially of those who believe."

God's Name in Hebrew:

Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, "Eh-loh-heem"): The name for God used here refers to His universal power as the Creator and Savior.
Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός, "Theh-os"): The term for God in Greek.
Explanation: Paul says the reason for their labor and striving is their hope in the living God (Elohim / Theos), who is the Savior of all people, especially of believers. This underscores God’s universal and saving grace.

Revelation 1:5-6, 22:12-13

> "...and from Jesus Christ (Greek: Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, Pronounced: Iēsous Christos), the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and has freed us from our sins by his blood, and made us a kingdom, priests to his God (Greek: Θεός, Pronounced: Theos; Hebrew: אֱלֹהִים, Pronounced: Elohim) and Father (Greek: Πατήρ, Pronounced: Patēr; Hebrew: אָב, Pronounced: Av), to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen."

Explanation: Jesus, as the Redeemer, frees us from sin by His blood, fulfilling the promises of Yahweh / Theos.

Revelation 22:12-13

> “Behold, I am coming soon, bringing my recompense with me, to repay each one for what he has done. I am the Alpha and the Omega (Greek: ἄλφα καὶ τὸ ὦ, Pronounced: Alfa kai to Ō), the first and the last, the beginning and the end.”

Key Names: Alpha and Omega refer to Jesus' eternal nature in Greek, and while they don't directly have Hebrew equivalents, this concept connects to God's self-identification as the eternal "I AM" (Hebrew: יְהוָה, Pronounced: YHWH or Yahweh).

Titus 1:1-4, 2:10-11

Titus 1:1-4

Text:

Verse 1: "Paul, a servant of God and an apostle of Jesus Christ to further the faith of God's elect and their knowledge of the truth that leads to godliness—"
Verse 2: "in the hope of eternal life, which God, who does not lie, promised before the beginning of time—"
Verse 3: "and which now at his appointed season he has brought to light through the preaching entrusted to me by the command of God our Savior," Verse 4: "To Titus, my true son in our common faith: Grace and peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Savior."
God's Name in Hebrew:

Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Eh-loh-heem"): This term used for God in Hebrew is often associated with God's sovereignty and power.
Yahweh (יְהוָה, pronounced "Yah-weh"): Refers to the Lord and emphasizes His eternal, covenantal nature.
Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός, pronounced "Theh-os"): In Greek, "Theos" is the word for God, used throughout the New Testament.
Explanation: Paul begins by highlighting his mission to strengthen the faith of the elect and speaks of the eternal life promised by God (Elohim / Theos). In verse 4, Paul refers to both God the Father (Yahweh / Theos) and Christ Jesus as our Savior.

Titus 2:10-11

Text:

Verse 10: "and not to steal from them, but to show that they can be fully trusted, so that in every way they will make the teaching about God our Savior attractive."
Verse 11: "For the grace of God has appeared that offers salvation to all people."
God's Name in Hebrew:

Elohim (אֱלֹהִים, pronounced "Eh-loh-heem"): Referring to God as the all-powerful Creator.

Yahweh (יְהוָה, pronounced "Yah-weh"): The covenant name of God, representing His faithfulness and commitment to His people.
Greek for God:

Theos (Θεός, pronounced "Theh-os"): The term for God used throughout the New Testament.
Explanation: In these verses, Paul instructs believers to live in a trustworthy manner, reflecting the character of God (Elohim / Theos). The ultimate purpose of their behavior is to make the teaching of God our Savior (Yahweh / Theos) appealing to others. Verse 11 emphasizes that the grace of God has been revealed, bringing salvation to everyone, highlighting the universal offer of grace through Jesus Christ.

Jude 25

Text: "... to the only God our Savior be glory, majesty, power, and authority, through Jesus Christ our Lord..."
God's Name in Hebrew:
Yahweh (יְהוָה, "Yah-weh"): The only God, our Savior.
Greek for God:
Theos (Θεός): The one true God.
Explanation: Jude praises Yahweh / Theos as the only God and Savior through Jesus Christ.

In these passages, God's name in Hebrew (Yahweh / Elohim) and Greek (Theos) emphasize the divine nature of the Father who sends Jesus as the Redeemer and Savior. Jesus fulfills the covenant promises of Yahweh, and His sacrifice brings about the salvation planned by Elohim / Theos.

God the Redeemer and Savior

Psalm 78:34-35

34 When he slew them, they sought for him;
they repented and sought God earnestly.
35 They remembered that God was their rock, the Most High God (Hebrew: Elohim Elyon, אֱלֹהִים עֶלְיוֹן) their redeemer.

Psalm 106:21

21 They forgot God, their Savior, who had done great things in Egypt.

Isaiah 43:3-11

3 For I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) your God, the Holy One of Israel, your Savior.
I give Egypt as your ransom,
Ethiopia and Seba in exchange for you.
4 Because you are precious in my sight and honored and I love you,
I give people in return for you, nations in exchange for your life.
5 Do not fear, for I am with you;
I will bring your offspring from the east,
and from the west I will gather you;
6 I will say to the north, “Give them up,” and to the south, “Do not withhold;
bring my sons from far away and my daughters from the end of the earth—7 everyone who is called by my name, whom I created for my glory, whom I formed and made.”

8 Bring forth the people who are blind, yet have eyes, who are deaf, yet have ears!
9 Let all the nations gather together, and let the peoples assemble.
Who among them declared this and foretold to us the former things?
Let them bring their witnesses to justify them, and let them hear and say, “It is true.”
10 You are my witnesses, says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), and my servant whom I have chosen,
so that you may know and believe me
and understand that I am he.
Before me no god was formed,
nor shall there be any after me.
11 I, I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and besides me there is no savior.

Isaiah 44:6

6 Thus says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts:
I am the first and I am the last;
besides me there is no god.

Isaiah 45:21-22

21 Declare and present your case;
let them take counsel together!
Who told this long ago?
Who declared it of old?
Was it not I, the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה)?
There is no other god besides me,
a righteous God and a Savior;
there is no one besides me.
22 Turn to me and be saved,
all the ends of the earth!
For I am God, and there is no other.

Isaiah 47:4

4 Our Redeemer—the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת) is his name—is the Holy One of Israel.

Isaiah 49:26

26 I will make your oppressors eat their own flesh, and they shall be drunk with their own blood as with wine.
Then all flesh shall know that I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) your Savior and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Jacob.

Hosea 13:4

4 Yet I have been the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) your God ever since the land of Egypt;
you know no God but me,
and besides me there is no savior.

Luke 2:10-11

10 But the angel said to them, “Do not be afraid, for see—I am bringing you good news of great joy for all the people:

11 to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is the Messiah, the Lord (Greek: Kyrios, Κύριος).

Luke 1:46-47

46 And Mary said,
“My soul magnifies the Lord (Greek: Kyrios, Κύριος), 47 and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior (Greek: Theos Sōtēr, Θεός Σωτήρ),

John 4:42

42 They said to the woman, “It is no longer because of what you said that we believe, for we have heard for ourselves, and we know that this is truly the Savior of the world, the Christ (Greek: Sōtēr tou kosmou, Σωτήρ τοῦ κόσμου)."

Titus 2:10

10 not to pilfer but to show complete and perfect fidelity, so that in everything they may be an ornament to the teaching of God our Savior (Greek: Theos Sōtēr, Θεός Σωτήρ).

Titus 2:13

13 while we wait for the blessed hope and the manifestation of the glory of our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ (Greek: Theos kai Sōtēr Iēsous Christos, Θεός καὶ Σωτήρ Ἰησοῦς Χριστός).

Revelation 21:5-7

5 And the one who was seated on the throne said, “See, I am making all things new.” Also he said, “Write this, for these words are trustworthy and true.”
6 Then he said to me, “It is done! I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. To the thirsty I will give water as a gift from the spring of the water of life.
7 Those who conquer will inherit these things, and I will be their God (Greek: Theos, Θεός), and they will be my children.

Jesus the Shepherd

John 10:8-14

8 All who came before me are thieves and bandits; but the sheep did not listen to them.
9 I am the gate. Whoever enters by me will be saved, and will come in and go out and find pasture.

10 The thief comes only to steal and kill and destroy. I came that they may have life, and have it abundantly.

11 I am the good shepherd (Greek: ho poimēn ho kalos, ὁ ποιμὴν ὁ καλός). The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.
12 The hired hand, who is not the shepherd and does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away—and the wolf snatches them and scatters them.

13 The hired hand runs away because a hired hand does not care for the sheep.
14 I am the good shepherd (Greek: ho poimēn ho kalos, ὁ ποιμὴν ὁ καλός). I know my own and my own know me.

Hebrews 13:20

20 Now may the God of peace (Greek: ho Theos tēs eirēnēs, ὁ Θεὸς τῆς εἰρήνης), who brought back from the dead our Lord Jesus (Greek: Kyrios Iēsous, Κύριος Ἰησοῦς), the great shepherd of the sheep (Greek: ho poimēn tōn probatōn ho megas, ὁ ποιμὴν τῶν προβάτων ὁ μέγας), by the blood of the eternal covenant,

1 Peter 2:21-25

21 For to this you have been called, because Christ (Greek: Christos, Χριστός) also suffered for you, leaving you an example, so that you should follow in his steps.
22 “He committed no sin, and no deceit was found in his mouth.”

23 When he was abused, he did not return abuse; when he suffered, he did not threaten; but he entrusted himself to the one who judges justly.
24 He himself bore our sins in his body on the cross, so that, free from sins, we might live for righteousness; by his wounds you have been healed.
25 For you were going astray like sheep, but now you have returned to the shepherd and guardian of your souls (Greek: poimēn kai episkopos tōn psychōn hymōn, ποιμὴν καὶ ἐπίσκοπος τῶν ψυχῶν ὑμῶν).

1 Peter 5:4

4 And when the chief shepherd (Greek: archipoimēn, ἀρχιποιμήν) appears, you will win the crown of glory that never fades away.

Revelation 7:16-17

16 They will hunger no more, and thirst no more;
the sun will not strike them,
nor any scorching heat;
17 for the Lamb at the center of the throne will be their shepherd (Greek:

poimanei autous, ποιμανεῖ αὐτούς), and he will guide them to springs of the water of life, and God (Greek: ho Theos, ὁ Θεός) will wipe away every tear from their eyes.”

God the Shepherd

Psalm 23

1 The Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) is my shepherd (Hebrew: ro'i, רֹעִי);
I shall not want.
2 He makes me lie down in green pastures;
he leads me beside still waters;
3 he restores my soul.
He leads me in right paths for his name’s sake.
4 Even though I walk through the darkest valley,
I fear no evil,
for you are with me;
your rod and your staff—
they comfort me.
5 You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
you anoint my head with oil;
my cup overflows.
6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) my whole life long.

Ezekiel 34:11-12, 15-16, 31

11 For thus says the Lord God (Hebrew: Adonai YHWH, אֲדֹנָי יְהוָה): I myself will search for my sheep, and I will seek them out.
12 As shepherds seek out their flocks when they are among their scattered sheep, so I will seek out my sheep. I will rescue them from all the places to which they have been scattered on a day of clouds and thick darkness.

15 I myself will be the shepherd (Hebrew: ro'eh, רֹעֶה) of my sheep, and I will make them lie down, says the Lord God (Hebrew: Adonai YHWH, אֲדֹנָי יְהוָה).
16 I will seek the lost, and I will bring back the strayed, and I will bind up the injured, and I will strengthen the weak, but the fat and the strong I will destroy. I will feed them with justice.

31 You are my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, and I am your God, says the Lord God (Hebrew: Adonai YHWH, אֲדֹנָי יְהוִה).

Isaiah 40:10-11

10 See, the Lord God (Hebrew: Adonai YHWH, אֲדֹנָי יְהוִה) comes with might,
and his arm rules for him;
his reward is with him,
and his recompense before him.
11 He will feed his flock like a shepherd (Hebrew: ro'eh, רֹעֶה);
he will gather the lambs in his arms and carry them in his bosom and gently lead the mother sheep.

Psalm 100

1 Make a joyful noise to the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוִה), all the earth.
2 Worship the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוִה) with gladness; come into his presence with singing.
3 Know that the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוִה) is God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים).
It is he that made us, and we are his;
we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.
4 Enter his gates with thanksgiving and his courts with praise.
Give thanks to him, bless his name.
5 For the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוִה) is good;
his steadfast love endures forever, and his faithfulness to all generations.

Jesus the King

Zechariah 14:9, 16

9 And the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוִה) will become king over all the earth; on that day the Lord will be one, and his name one.

16 Then all who survive of the nations that have come against Jerusalem shall go up year after year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוִה צְבָאוֹת), and to keep the festival of booths.

1 Timothy 6:13-16

13 In the presence of God (Greek: Theos, Θεός), who gives life to all things, and of Christ Jesus (Greek: Christos Iēsous, Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς), who in his testimony before Pontius Pilate made the good confession, I charge you

14 to keep the commandment without spot or blame until the manifestation of our Lord Jesus Christ (Greek: Kyrios Iēsous Christos, Κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός),
15 which he will bring about at the right time—he who is the blessed and only Sovereign, the King of kings (Greek: ho Basileus tōn basileuontōn, ὁ Βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλευόντων) and Lord of lords (Greek: Kyrios tōn kyriuontōn, Κύριος τῶν κυριευόντων).
16 It is he alone who has immortality and dwells in unapproachable light, whom no one has ever seen or can see; to him be honor and eternal dominion. Amen.

Revelation 15:1-4

1 Then I saw another portent in heaven, great and amazing: seven angels with seven plagues, which are the last, for with them the wrath of God is ended.
2 And I saw what appeared to be a sea of glass mixed with fire, and those who had conquered the beast and its image and the number of its name standing beside the sea of glass with harps of God in their hands.
3 And they sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb:
“Great and amazing are your deeds,
Lord God the Almighty (Greek: Kyrios ho Theos ho Pantokratōr, Κύριος ὁ Θεὸς ὁ Παντοκράτωρ)!
Just and true are your ways,
King of the nations (Greek: Basileus tōn ethnōn, Βασιλεὺς τῶν ἐθνῶν)!
4 Lord, who will not fear and glorify your name?
For you alone are holy.
All nations will come and worship before you, for your judgments have been revealed.”

Revelation 17:14

14 They will make war on the Lamb, and the Lamb will conquer them, for he is Lord of lords (Greek: Kyrios kyriōn, Κύριος κυρίων) and King of kings (Greek: Basileus basileōn, Βασιλεὺς βασιλέων), and those with him are called and chosen and faithful.

Revelation 19:11-16

11 Then I saw heaven opened, and there was a white horse! Its rider is called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.
12 His eyes are like a flame of fire, and on his head are many diadems, and he has a name inscribed that no one knows but himself.
13 He is clothed in a robe dipped in blood, and his name is called The Word of God (Greek: ho Logos tou Theou, ὁ Λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ).

14 And the armies of heaven, wearing fine linen, white and pure, were following him on white horses.
15 From his mouth comes a sharp sword with which to strike down the nations, and he will rule them with a rod of iron; he will tread the wine press of the fury of the wrath of God the Almighty (Greek: ho Theos ho Pantokratōr, ὁ Θεὸς ὁ Παντοκράτωρ).
16 On his robe and on his thigh he has a name inscribed, "King of kings (Greek: Basileus basileōn, Βασιλεὺς βασιλέων) and Lord of lords (Greek: Kyrios kyriōn, Κύριος κυρίων)."

Matthew 2:1-6

1 In the time of King Herod, after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem,
2 asking, "Where is the child who has been born king of the Jews (Greek: Basileus tōn Ioudaiōn, Βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων)? For we observed his star at its rising, and have come to pay him homage."
3 When King Herod heard this, he was frightened, and all Jerusalem with him,
4 and calling together all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired of them where the Messiah was to be born.
5 They told him, "In Bethlehem of Judea; for so it has been written by the prophet:
6 'And you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, are by no means least among the rulers of Judah;
for from you shall come a ruler who is to shepherd my people Israel.'"

Luke 19:32-38

32 So those who were sent departed and found it as he had told them.
33 As they were untying the colt, its owners asked them, "Why are you untying the colt?"
34 They said, "The Lord (Greek: Kyrios, Κύριος) needs it."
35 Then they brought it to Jesus, and after throwing their cloaks on the colt, they set Jesus on it.
36 As he rode along, people kept spreading their cloaks on the road.
37 As he was now approaching the path down from the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to praise God joyfully with a loud voice for all the deeds of power that they had seen, 38 saying,
"Blessed is the king (Greek: ho Basileus, ὁ Βασιλεὺς) who comes in the name of the Lord!

Peace in heaven,
and glory in the highest heaven!”

Luke 23:3

3 Pilate asked him, “Are you the king of the Jews (Greek: ho Basileus tōn Ioudaiōn, ὁ Βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων)?” He answered, “You say so.”

John 18:37

37 Pilate asked him, “So you are a king (Greek: Basileus, Βασιλεὺς)?” Jesus answered, “You say that I am a king. For this I was born, and for this I came into the world, to testify to the truth. Everyone who belongs to the truth listens to my voice.”

John 19:21

21 Then the chief priests of the Jews said to Pilate, “Do not write, ‘The King of the Jews,’ but, ‘This man said, I am King of the Jews (Greek: Basileus tōn Ioudaiōn, Βασιλεὺς τῶν Ἰουδαίων).’”

1 Timothy 6:13-16

13 In the presence of God (Greek: Theos, Θεός), who gives life to all things, and of Christ Jesus (Greek: Christos Iēsous, Χριστὸς Ἰησοῦς), who in his testimony before Pontius Pilate made the good confession, I charge you
14 to keep the commandment without spot or blame until the manifestation of our Lord Jesus Christ (Greek: Kyrios Iēsous Christos, Κύριος Ἰησοῦς Χριστός),
15 which he will bring about at the right time—he who is the blessed and only Sovereign, the King of kings (Greek: ho Basileus tōn basileuontōn, ὁ Βασιλεὺς τῶν βασιλευόντων) and Lord of lords (Greek: Kyrios tōn kyriuontōn, Κύριος τῶν κυριευόντων).
16 It is he alone who has immortality and dwells in unapproachable light, whom no one has ever seen or can see; to him be honor and eternal dominion. Amen.

God the King

Psalm 24:7-10

7 Lift up your heads, O gates!
and be lifted up, O ancient doors, that the King of glory (Hebrew: Melekh ha-kavod, מֶלֶךְ הַכָּבוֹד) may come in.
8 Who is the King of glory?
The Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), strong and mighty, the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O gates!
and be lifted up, O ancient doors,
that the King of glory may come in.
10 Who is this King of glory?
The Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת), he is the King of glory. Selah

Psalm 44:4

4 You are my King (Hebrew: Melekî, מַלְכִּי) and my God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים); you command victories for Jacob.

Psalm 74:12

12 Yet God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים) my King (Hebrew: Melekî, מַלְכִּי) is from of old, working salvation in the earth.

Isaiah 43:10-15

10 You are my witnesses, says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and my servant whom I have chosen,
so that you may know and believe me
and understand that I am he.
Before me no god was formed,
nor shall there be any after me.
11 I, I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and besides me there is no savior.
12 I declared and saved and proclaimed, when there was no strange god among you;
and you are my witnesses, says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה).
13 I am God (Hebrew: El, אֵל), and also henceforth I am he;
there is no one who can deliver from my hand;
I work, and who can hinder it?

14 Thus says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel:
For your sake I will send to Babylon and break down all the bars, and the shouting of the Chaldeans will be turned to lamentation.

15 I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King (Hebrew: Melek, מֶלֶךְ).

Isaiah 44:6-8

6 Thus says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת):
I am the first and I am the last;
besides me there is no god.
7 Who is like me? Let them proclaim it, let them declare and set it forth before me.
Who has announced from of old the things to come?
Let them tell us what is yet to be.
8 Do not fear, or be afraid;
have I not told you from of old and declared it?
You are my witnesses!
Is there any god besides me?
There is no other rock; I know not one.

Jeremiah 10:10

10 But the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) is the true God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים);
he is the living God (Hebrew: Elohim Chayim, אֱלֹהִים חַיִּים) and the everlasting King (Hebrew: Melek Olam, מֶלֶךְ עוֹלָם).
At his wrath the earth quakes, and the nations cannot endure his indignation.

Zechariah 14:9, 16

9 And the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה) will become king over all the earth; on that day the Lord will be one, and his name one.

16 Then all who survive of the nations that have come against Jerusalem shall go up year after year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת), and to keep the festival of booths.

Jesus the First and Last

Revelation 1:8

8 “I am the Alpha and the Omega,” says the Lord God (Greek: Kyrios ho Theos, Κύριος ὁ Θεός), who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty (Greek: ho Pantokratōr, ὁ Παντοκράτωρ).

Revelation 1:11

11 saying, “Write in a book what you see and send it to the seven churches, to Ephesus, to Smyrna, to Pergamum, to Thyatira, to Sardis, to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea.”

Revelation 1:17-18

17 When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he placed his right hand on me, saying, “Do not be afraid; I am the First and the Last (Greek: ho prōtos kai ho eschatos, ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ ἔσχατος),

18 and the living one. I was dead, and see, I am alive forever and ever; and I have the keys of Death and of Hades.

Revelation 22:12-13

12 “See, I am coming soon; my reward is with me, to repay according to everyone’s work.

13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last (Greek: ho prōtos kai ho eschatos, ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ ἔσχατος), the beginning and the end.”

God the First and Last

Isaiah 41:4

4 Who has performed and done this,
calling the generations from the beginning?
I, the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), am first, and will be with the last (Hebrew: Ani rishon ve'ani acharon, אֲנִי רִאשׁוֹן וְאֲנִי אַחֲרוֹן).

Isaiah 43:10-11

10 You are my witnesses, says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and my servant whom I have chosen,
so that you may know and believe me
and understand that I am he.
Before me no god was formed,
nor shall there be any after me.
11 I, I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and besides me there is no savior.

Isaiah 44:6

6 Thus says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת):
I am the first and I am the last (Hebrew: Ani rishon ve'ani acharon, אֲנִי רִאשׁוֹן וַאֲנִי אַחֲרוֹן);
besides me there is no god.

Isaiah 44:8

8 Do not fear, or be afraid;
have I not told you from of old and declared it?
You are my witnesses!
Is there any god besides me?
There is no other rock; I know not one.

Isaiah 48:12

12 Listen to me, O Jacob,
and Israel, whom I called:
I am he; I am the first,
and I am the last (Hebrew: Ani rishon ve'ani acharon, אֲנִי רִאשׁוֹן וַאֲנִי אַחֲרוֹן).

Jesus the I Am and I Am He

John 8:24-28

24 I told you that you would die in your sins, for you will die in your sins unless you believe that I am he (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι).”
25 They said to him, “Who are you?” Jesus said to them, “Why do I speak to you at all?
26 I have much to say about you and much to condemn, but the one who sent me is true, and I declare to the world what I have heard from him.”
27 They did not understand that he was speaking to them about the Father.
28 So Jesus said, “When you have lifted up the Son of Man, then you will realize that I am he (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι), and that I do nothing on my own, but I speak these things as the Father instructed me.

John 8:58

58 Jesus said to them, “Very truly, I tell you, before Abraham was, I am (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι).”

John 13:19

19 I tell you this now, before it occurs, so that when it does occur, you may believe that I am he (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι).

John 18:5-9

5 They answered, “Jesus of Nazareth.” Jesus replied, “I am he” (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι). Judas, who betrayed him, was standing with them.
6 When Jesus said to them, “I am he” (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι), they stepped back and fell to the ground.
7 Again he asked them, “Whom are you looking for?” And they said, “Jesus of Nazareth.”
8 Jesus answered, “I told you that I am he (Greek: egō eimi, ἐγώ εἰμι). So if you are looking for me, let these men go.”
9 This was to fulfill the word that he had spoken, “I did not lose a single one of those whom you gave me.”

Revelation 1:8

8 “I am the Alpha and the Omega,” says the Lord God (Greek: Kyrios ho Theos, Κύριος ὁ Θεός), who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty (Greek: ho Pantokratōr, ὁ Παντοκράτωρ).

Revelation 1:11

11 saying, “Write in a book what you see and send it to the seven churches, to Ephesus, to Smyrna, to Pergamum, to Thyatira, to Sardis, to Philadelphia, and to Laodicea.”

Revelation 1:17-18

17 When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he placed his right hand on me, saying, “Do not be afraid; I am the First and the Last (Greek: ho prōtos kai ho eschatos, ὁ πρῶτος καὶ ὁ ἔσχατος),
18 and the living one. I was dead, and see, I am alive forever and ever; and I have the keys of Death and of Hades.

God the I Am and the I Am He

Exodus 3:14

14 God (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים) said to Moses, “I AM WHO I AM (Hebrew: Ehyeh Asher Ehyeh, אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶהְיֶה).” He said further, “Thus you shall say to the Israelites, ‘I AM (Hebrew: Ehyeh, אֶהְיֶה) has sent me to you.’”

Isaiah 41:4

4 Who has performed and done this,
calling the generations from the beginning?
I, the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), am first, and will be with the last (Hebrew: Ani Hu, אֲנִי־הוּא).

Isaiah 43:10-11

10 You are my witnesses, says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and my servant whom I have chosen,
so that you may know and believe me
and understand that I am he (Hebrew: Ani Hu, אֲנִי־הוּא).
Before me no god was formed,
nor shall there be any after me.
11 I, I am the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה),
and besides me there is no savior.

Isaiah 43:25

25 I, I am He (Hebrew: Ani Hu, אֲנִי הוּא) who blots out your transgressions for my own sake, and I will not remember your sins.

Isaiah 44:6

6 Thus says the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH, יְהוָה), the King of Israel, and his Redeemer, the Lord of hosts (Hebrew: YHWH Tseva'ot, יְהוָה צְבָאוֹת):
I am the first and I am the last (Hebrew: Ani Rishon ve'ani Acharon, אֲנִי רִאשׁוֹן וַאֲנִי אַחֲרוֹן);
besides me there is no god.

Isaiah 48:12

12 Listen to me, O Jacob,
and Israel, whom I called:
I am he (Hebrew: Ani Hu, אֲנִי־הוּא); I am the first,
and I am the last (Hebrew: Ani Rishon ve'ani Acharon, אֲנִי רִאשׁוֹן וַאֲנִי אַחֲרוֹן).

Jesus' Nature

Christ's substitutionary death on the cross stands at the heart of all other salvation truths revealed in the Bible. He took our place in suffering the penalty for sin. The demands of the law against the transgressor were fully satisfied by His voluntary acceptance of our punishment. It is this tremendous Bible truth concerning the imputed merits of Christ's atoning death that lends assurance to every born-again believer.

Genesis 3:6-7

6 Consequently the woman saw that the tree was good for food and that it was something to be longed for to the eyes, yes, the tree was desirable to look upon. So she began taking of its fruit and eating it. Afterward she gave some also to her husband when with her and he began eating it.7 Then the eyes of both of them became opened and they began to realize that they were naked. Hence they sewed fig leaves together and made loin coverings for themselves.

So for sin they became naked in their own eyes. They tried to hide that nakedness/sinfulness by making leaf garment.

Genesis 3:8-10

8 Later they heard the voice of Jehovah God walking in the garden about the breezy part of the day, and the man and his wife went into hiding from the face of Jehovah God in between the trees of the garden.9 And Jehovah God kept calling to the man and saying to him: "Where are you?"10 Finally he said: "Your voice I heard in the garden, but I was afraid because I was naked and so I hid myself."

Notice that they worn leaf garment, though they were claiming they were naked. Because tree leaf can't hide sinfulness/ nakedness.

Genesis 3:21

21 And Jehovah God proceeded to make long garments of skin for Adam and for his wife and to clothe them.

So God made a garment of skin to hide their nakedness. So God might have slaughtered an animal for the attainment of sin, but it isn't clear.

Genesis 4:3-5

3 And it came about at the expiration of some time that Cain proceeded to bring some fruits of the ground as an offering to Jehovah.4 But as for Abel, he too brought some firstlings of his flock, even their fatty pieces. Now while Jehovah was looking with favor upon Abel and his offering,5 he did not look with any favor upon Cain and upon his offering. And Cain grew hot with great anger, and his countenance began to fall.

Why do you think that God didn't like Cain's offering. If God is just there has to be a reason, like Cain would have definitely known what God likes as an offering. So we can infer that the way God cleansed their parent's sin by offering of an animal in Genesis 3:21 and making a garment out of it, the same thing both Cain and Abel would have known. Otherwise how could God did not look with any favor upon Cain and upon his offering? And the word flock here in Genesis 4:3-5 mentioned for small cattle of sheep. And you know who is the good shepherd and the firstborn of all creation.

In Christian theology, Jesus is often referred to as both a "laborer" and a "shepherd," drawing from various scriptural passages that emphasize these roles. Here are some key references:

Jesus as Shepherd

1. John 10:11-14:
    - Verse 11: "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd gives His life for the sheep."
    - Verse 14: "I am the good shepherd; and I know My sheep, and am known by My own."
    - In this passage, Jesus identifies Himself as the "good shepherd," emphasizing His care, sacrifice, and intimate relationship with His followers.
2. Psalm 23:1-3:
    - Verse 1: "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want."
    - This psalm is often interpreted as a reflection of God's shepherding role, which Jesus embodies as He provides for, guides, and protects His followers.
3. Ezekiel 34:11-16:
    - This passage speaks of God as the shepherd of His people, a role that Jesus takes on in the New Testament.
    - Verse 11: "For thus says the Lord God: 'Indeed I Myself will search for My sheep and seek them out.'"

Genesis 4:4 says Abel sacrificed firstlings. New testament tells over and over who Jesus is: (you already seen who Jesus is in the old testament in chapter 8,12, 23)

1. Colossians 1:15

"He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn over all creation."

- This verse emphasizes Christ's supremacy over all creation. The term "firstborn" signifies His preeminence and authority, not that He was created, but that He holds the highest rank over all things, being eternally existent.

Here are more verses that highlight Christ's preeminence, His role in creation, and His eternal nature:

2. John 1:1-3

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things were made through Him, and without Him nothing was made that was made."

- This passage emphasizes Christ's role as the eternal Word of God, through whom all creation came into being.

3. Hebrews 1:2-3

"But in these last days He has spoken to us by His Son, whom He appointed heir of all things, and through whom also He made the universe. The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of His being, sustaining all things by His powerful word."

- Here, the Son (Christ) is described as the one through whom God created the universe, and who sustains it by His power.

4. Revelation 3:14

"And to the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write, 'These things says the Amen, the Faithful and True Witness, the Beginning of the creation of God.'"

- Christ is referred to as "the Beginning of the creation of God," signifying His role as the originator and sovereign over all creation.

5. 1 Corinthians 8:6

"Yet for us there is one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we for Him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, through whom are all things, and through whom we live."

- This verse highlights that all things come into being through Jesus, emphasizing His central role in creation.

6. Philippians 2:9-11

"Therefore God also has highly exalted Him and given Him the name which is above every name, that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on earth, and of those under the earth, and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

- While not directly mentioning creation, this passage reflects Christ's exalted position, with authority over all creation.

Jesus was born in the town of Bethlehem, in a place where livestock are kept. In the Old Testament, the cleansing of sin was primarily achieved through the sacrificial system, which God established to atone for the sins of His people. The key concept behind sin-cleansing in the Old Testament is the idea of substitutionary atonement—offering a sacrifice in place of the sinner. Several passages provide a deeper understanding of this process, with particular emphasis on the shedding of blood for the remission of sins.

Key Verses on Sin-Cleansing in the Old Testament:

1. Leviticus 17:11

"For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you upon the altar to make atonement for your souls; for it is the blood that makes atonement for the soul."

- This verse underscores the theological foundation of sacrifice in the Old Testament. The blood of the sacrifice is central to atonement, as it represents life being given to cover the penalty of sin.

2. Leviticus 16:29-34 – The Day of Atonement (Yom Kippur)

The Day of Atonement was an annual event where the high priest would enter the Holy of Holies to offer sacrifices for the sins of the nation of Israel:

- Leviticus 16:30: "For on this day the priest shall make atonement for you, to cleanse you, that you may be clean from all your sins before the Lord."
- During this day, two goats were used: one was sacrificed, and the other (the scapegoat) was sent into the wilderness, symbolically carrying the sins of the people away (Leviticus 16:20-22).

3. Exodus 29:36-37 – Daily Offerings for Purification

"And you shall offer a bull every day as a sin offering for atonement. You shall cleanse the altar when you make atonement for it, and you shall anoint it to sanctify it."

- Daily offerings were a regular part of temple worship, symbolizing the continuous need for atonement and purification.

4. Leviticus 4:20 – Sin Offerings for Unintentional Sins

"And he shall do with the bull as he did with the bull as a sin offering; thus he shall do with it. So the priest shall make atonement for them, and it shall be forgiven them."

- This verse outlines the process for atoning for unintentional sins, highlighting that forgiveness was available through sacrificial offerings.

5. Numbers 15:28 – Atonement for Individual Sins

"So the priest shall make atonement for the person who sins unintentionally, when he sins unintentionally before the Lord, to make atonement for him; and it shall be forgiven him."

- The sacrificial system provided a way for individual sins to be cleansed, particularly those committed unknowingly.

6. Psalm 51:1-2 – Cleansing Through Repentance and God's Mercy

"Have mercy upon me, O God, according to Your lovingkindness; according to the multitude of Your tender mercies, blot out my transgressions. Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin."

- While animal sacrifices were central, the Old Testament also stressed that genuine repentance and God’s mercy were key components in receiving forgiveness and cleansing from sin. David’s prayer in Psalm 51 after his sin with Bathsheba is a classic example of seeking inner purification.

7. Isaiah 1:18 – God's Promise of Cleansing

"Come now, and let us reason together,” says the Lord, “Though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they are red like crimson, they shall be as wool."

- Here, God speaks directly about His willingness to cleanse and forgive, emphasizing His grace in the process of making people pure from sin.

8. Isaiah 53:5-6 – The Prophetic Foreshadowing of the Suffering Servant

"But He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement for our peace was upon Him, and by His stripes we are healed."

- Isaiah 53 prophetically points toward the ultimate sin-cleansing sacrifice: the suffering Messiah. While animal sacrifices provided temporary cleansing, this passage foretells a future, ultimate sacrifice that would offer permanent atonement.

9. Hebrews 9:22 – The Principle of Blood for Atonement

Although part of the New Testament, Hebrews 9:22 summarizes the sacrificial principle outlined in the Old Testament: "And according to the law almost all things are purified with blood, and without shedding of blood there is no remission."

- This verse highlights that the shedding of blood was central to the entire Old Testament system of sin-cleansing.

The Temporary Nature of Old Testament Sacrifices

The Old Testament sacrifices were a temporary provision for sin until the coming of Christ. While they provided ceremonial cleansing, they could not fully remove sin or cleanse the conscience (Hebrews 10:1-4). The sacrifices pointed forward to the need for a perfect and final sacrifice, which Christians believe was fulfilled in Jesus Christ.

It has always been Satan's purpose to obscure the simplicity of the cross in its application to our sin problem. How could He assume our guilt and accept our punishment in such a way that we can be declared righteous and uncondemned?

The Bible teaches that Christ was "manifest in the flesh" in order to accomplish certain things for the redemption of the human race. First of all, He would have to live a life of perfect obedience to redeem man's failure. Secondly, He would need to assume man's guilt for breaking the law and suffer the penalty of death demanded by the law. Those two things—His atoning death and perfect obedience—could then be credited to all who would accept Jesus as their divine Substitute. Through faith, the sinner could be counted as having paid the penalty of death and of living a life of perfect obedience. That experience, called justification by faith, is the center of all Protestant teaching about salvation. According to this beautiful Bible doctrine, the repentant sinner now stands before God as though he himself has satisfied the penalty. At the same time, his past record of failure and disobedience is covered by the imputed merits of Christ's perfect obedience, so that he can be counted as justified—as though he had never sinned.

What Kind of Humanity Was Required?

To understand the problem, we must look closely at the subject of the Incarnation. It was the Saviour's entrance into the human family that laid the foundation for the entire redemptive process. According to the Scriptures, He had to be born of a virgin, live a sinless life, and die for our sins. In what manner and form did He fulfill those requirements? To assume human nature, He had to choose between the only two kinds available—the holy, unfallen nature of Adam, or the fallen nature of all Adam's descendants. If He had taken any other kind, it would not have been human nature at all.

The religious world today is divided over this matter of which nature Jesus chose for His incarnate life. Those who believe He took Adam's unfallen nature, before the lapse into sin, are called Prelapsarians. Those who believe that Jesus assumed the nature of fallen man are called Postlapsarians. Whichever position one chooses to accept of these two groups, he is locked into the limitations of that choice.

Let us consider first the implications of believing that Jesus came in the nature of unfallen Adam. It is mind-boggling to discover where this position leads us. First of all, let's ask what kind of nature Adam had before the fall. Of course, it was a perfect, obedient nature for which sin had no appeal. But it was more than that. Adam's pre-fall nature was also one of conditional immortality, which means that he could not die except by choosing to sin.

The truth is that there was no way for unfallen Adam to ever experience death except through disobedience. THE UNFALLEN NATURE OF ADAM COULD NOT DIE. It only became subject to death after Adam sinned. If he had never sinned, Adam would have continued to have access to the tree of life. "Obedience, perfect and perpetual, was the condition of eternal happiness. On this condition he was to have access to the tree of life." (Patriarchs and Prophets, p. 49).

When God created man, He set up the condition by which he could live forever. "In the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die" (Genesis 2:17). Death and separation from the tree of life was decreed for man only on the condition of his sinning. As long as Adam and Eve obeyed God, they could eat of the tree and were immune to death. "Just as prior to his fall Adam could be certain of immortality, vouchsafed to him by the tree of life, so now, subsequent to that catastrophe, his mortality was just as certain" (SDA Bible Commentary Volume 1, p. 225).

It is very important for us to understand the reason for Jesus taking on a body of flesh when He came into this world. The Bible says, "But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death … that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man" (Hebrews 2:9).

Jesus had to come as a man in order to experience death and pay the penalty for sin. He could not die as God. He had to put on a nature that was capable of dying. But here is the startling truth: If He had taken Adam's unfallen nature, He could never have died UNLESS HE HAD SINNED! That nature was not subject to death until after it was weakened by sin. Jesus could taste death only by being born into the fallen family of Adam's descendants. As one writer has put it, "Christ did in reality unite the offending nature of man with His own sinless nature, because by this act of condescension, He would be able to pour out His blood in behalf of the fallen race" (Ellen G. White, Manuscript 166, 1898).

His Humanity Subject to Death

Paul emphasized this point when he described how Jesus "was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Philippians 2:8). Notice that it was only after He was made in fashion as a man that He could become "obedient to death." His divinity was not subject to death, therefore He could not live here and die as God. He had to assume a nature that could die. The atonement for sin would have been totally impossible had He not been born with the only nature that could be "obedient unto death," Adam's fallen nature. This is why the Scriptures also teach, "For verily he took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham" (Hebrews 2: 16).

Why did He not come with the nature of angels? Because they, like Adam, had been created with a conditional immortality, and were not subject to death unless or until they sinned. Christ could not have paid the price for sin as an angel because He could not have died. Neither could He make atonement as an unfallen Adam, because He could not have died in that nature either. He had to come as the "seed of Abraham."

The seed of Abraham consisted only and entirely of those who were subject to death because of Adam's sin. Had Christ taken the pre-fall nature of Adam, He could never have suffered the required death for our sins unless He had first sinned, and sin would have disqualified Him from being our Saviour.

Again, I say we are locked into the limitations that the pre-fall nature requires. Jesus made it very clear that He was submitting to live in this world as a man and not as God. But limiting Himself to the condition of humanity, Jesus could draw from His Father only those powers and advantages which are available to others living in the flesh. Repeatedly Christ stated that He could say nothing and do nothing that was not given Him by the Father.

In other words, Jesus did not capriciously shift back and forth between His divine and human natures in order to escape the exigencies of this earthly life. He accepted the dangers, rebuffs and sufferings imposed by His living as a man. Satan constantly sought to goad Him into using His divinity to deliver Himself from certain situations, and it must have been the Master's strongest test not to call upon His own omnipotence during those excruciating final hours of His life on earth. Had He done so, the plan of salvation would have failed. Even in His death, he had to submit to the conditions imposed by His human nature.

The Pre-fall Nature Could Not Die

Now we are brought to a dilemma. If Jesus possessed Adam's unfallen nature, it was not possible for Him to die except by sinning or by changing those rules under which He had submitted to live His earthly life. By doing either, the plan of salvation would have been thwarted. Some might suggest that by assuming man's guilt and being made sin for us, Jesus' nature was also changed so that it could experience death. But this is not the case. The vicarious assumption of our guilt for sin would not have changed His human nature. Sin did not enter His life to corrupt or defile. He only received those sins vicariously, which means He took them AS THOUGH they were His own, even though they were not.

But please mark this important distinction: When He assumed human nature, He did not do it vicariously. He did not live here AS THOUGH He were a man. He actually took human nature. He became one of us in reality.

Therefore, the vicarious assumption of man's guilt did not enter His life to corrupt that nature with actual sin. Whatever human nature He had experienced for 33 years was still with Him, and He carried it to the cross with Him. He was just as holy after assuming our guilt as He was before. The only change was in the way God looked on Him and dealt with Him judicially.

According to God's creation edict, man's conditional immortality could be lost ONLY by COMMITTING sin. It could not be lost through some vicarious ACCOUNTING of guilt. Only the defiling influence of sin entering the heart could bring a change of nature that would make man subject to death. This never happened to Jesus. His being accounted as guilty did not make Him guilty. But His human nature was not just accounted to Him: It was real. And He had to accept that reality through His entire life, even in the experience of death on the cross. The fact that He submitted to that death is proof positive that He was not acting in harmony with the requirements of a pre-fall nature.

Some claim that it does not matter what we believe on this question of Christ's incarnate nature, but the truth is that tremendous issues hinge on this question. If I choose to believe that Jesus came in the unfallen nature, there is no way for me to avoid one of the following conclusions:

- He could not die to pay the penalty for my sin, or
- He Himself sinned in order to become subject to death, or
- He had to exercise His divine power to change the human nature He had assumed, in order to escape the limitations it imposed. Only thus could He be made subject to the death required for the atonement. The unfallen nature could not die.

Anyone of those three things would have thwarted His ability to fulfill His substitutionary role as our Redeemer.

It has been claimed that those who follow the post-fall doctrine of Christ's nature thereby make Him guilty of sin. I'd like to suggest that only those who believe in the pre-fall nature project such a distorted view. In fact, theirs is the only position that makes it necessary for Christ to sin in order to accomplish the plan of salvation.

The Prelapsarians sincerely believe that to be born with Adam's fallen nature would make Jesus guilty of sin. Consequently, in an abortive attempt to remove Him from being subject to sin, they remove Him from being subject to death!

Original Sin Not Biblical

Why then have those who believe in the post-fall nature been charged with making Christ a sinner? Simply because those who make the charge believe in the doctrine of original sin. Postlapsarians do not believe that sin is imparted by nature, but rather by choice. They hold that Jesus did not assume any guilt when He was born as a man. He inherited the same weakened nature that sin imposed upon all of Adam's descendants, but He never yielded to those weaknesses in a single instance. His life was absolutely holy and sinless. Filled with the Holy Spirit from His mother's womb and trusting the daily impartation of heavenly power, He lived a life of uninterrupted victory over every sin.

That same life of continual victory is available to every other descendant of Adam through the process of conversion and sanctification. Jesus simply chose something before His birth that we are only able to choose after our birth. He chose to submit His human life totally to His Father from the moment of conception. We make that decision at the time of conversion and begin to partake of the divine nature of God—the same nature that sustained Jesus for 33 years of holy living.

We are brought to the undeniable conclusion that this subject is not one on which we can be neutral. In the doctrine of the pre-fall nature of Christ, we not only lose the encouragement of having even one example of victory over sin in the flesh, but we abolish all possibility of Christ being our divine sin-bearer. God forbid that we should dishonor His name by holding such a limited, erroneous view of His substitutionary atoning death for our sins.

Some have subscribed to the idea that Jesus did not assume either the pre-fall or post-fall nature of man, but an entirely unique nature that has never been possessed by other human beings. They propose that He had the spiritual nature of unfallen Adam and the physical nature of post-fall Adam. They feel it is necessary to do this in order to account for Jesus' sinless experience in His years of infancy and youth. But is it necessary to give Him a different nature because He had a different experience from other children? How different was His experience? It was a life of full surrender and obedience to His father. Is this accessible to other children? It is indeed, just as soon as they are old enough to make a total commitment to Christ. Because of His preexistence, Christ was able to make that commitment before He was born. If other human beings are able to appropriate the power of victory over sin at a later age, even with a fallen nature, then why couldn't Jesus do the same at an earlier age—with the same nature? We are talking only about a difference of time, not a difference of nature.

Someone might say, "Well, that gives Jesus an advantage over us." But wait a moment. What kind of advantage is it? If you accepted Christ two years before I did, then you had an advantage over me DURING THAT TWO YEARS. The truth is that Christ only had the same kind of advantage over us that we have over all others who enter the conversion experience later than we do. It is not a difference in nature except that which is common to every soul who surrenders the life unreservedly to Christ. By this I am not saying that Jesus needed or experienced conversion after His birth. He was filled with the Holy Ghost from His mother's womb, so His sinless experience was based on something that we can only experience at the time we are born again.

What are the objections to believing that Jesus had the spiritual nature of unfallen Adam and the physical nature of post-fall Adam? Three serious flaws seem to make it irreconcilable with biblical theology:

It conflicts with the wholistic Bible view of man's nature.

Where does the Bible teach that there is a dichotomy between body and spirit? Scriptural truth has always been in favor of a unified understanding of human nature, with body and spirit interacting together to produce total mental and physical health. But when we come to the nature of Christ, this wholistic concept is abandoned and some begin to talk in dualistic terms, with part of Christ's nature being sinful and part being sinless.

How could there be such a combination within Him as the unfallen spiritual nature of Adam and, at the same time, the fallen physical nature of sinful men? Are we trying to say that Christ's physical weaknesses had no impact on His spiritual nature? Would it not be true that Christ would be most prone to discouragement or irritation when His body was physically tired? If this is true, then Christ would have tendencies to sin in His moral or spiritual nature.

It suggests a hybrid nature possessed neither by Adam nor those who lived after him.

With no such combination known among human kind, this totally different nature could not be designated as "human nature" at all. It would be hopelessly at odds with the Bible requirement that Christ "also himself likewise took part of the same … in all things … made like unto his brethren" (Hebrews 2: 17). No one would contend that such a blend of unfallen and fallen natures would be in "all things" like his brethren! It would be unlike "His brethren" before the fall if He had a fallen physical nature, and it would be unlike "His brethren" after the fall if He had a sinless spiritual nature. What other "brethren" are left? Logic compels us to finally confess that if His nature was "in all things … the same" as His brethren, then it would be required that some brethren be produced who had an unfallen spiritual nature and a fallen physical nature. If no such brother could be found, then Jesus would, by necessity, have to possess a human nature "in all things … the same" as pre-fall Adam or "in all things … the same" as post-fall Adam. To do otherwise is to either deny the plain words of Scripture or deny simple logic.

It would nullify the possibility for Christ to be "in all points tempted like we are" (Hebrews 4: 15).

It seems inconceivable that Adam's holy, unfallen nature could be tempted in every way that we are tempted. He had no inward response to temptation whatsoever, and surely there is no one who will assert that our fallen natures are not strongly tempted from within. Good theology does not defy rationality. Whatever we believe on this point, it must be consistent with clear statements of the Bible. If Jesus was tempted in all points "like as we are," it could not have taken place in the physical arena alone. Most of our temptations arise from a weakened spiritual and moral nature. If this source of our strongest temptations was absent in Jesus, then He never could have been tempted in all points "like as we are." It would be a self-contradiction to even suggest such a thing.

Now let us look briefly at the biblical evidence for the post-fall view. The second chapter of Hebrews contains an abundance of material on this subject. Consider these words: "As the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he [Christ] also himself likewise took part of the same … 17 Consequently he was obliged to become like his “brothers” in all respects, that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, in order to offer propitiatory sacrifice for the sins of the people." (Hebrews 2:14-17).

This verse is one of the most emphatic and definitive to be found in the Bible. A combination of words is used that leaves absolutely no doubt about what is being said. Any one of the words would express the clear thought being presented.

For example:

He took part of the same

He also took part of the same

He Himself took part of the same

He likewise took part of the same

he was obliged to become like his “brothers” in all respects

Why did God choose to give a fivefold impact by putting all those expressions together in one Scripture setting? It almost sounds repetitive. "He also himself likewise took part of the same." Surely the reason lies in the extraordinary importance of the truth being expressed. God wanted to leave no lingering question about the nature of the Lamb who was slain. Any misunderstanding here could cast a shadow over the entire plan of salvation. It could challenge the validity of Christ's substitutionary death on the cross and the adequacy of His imputed righteousness.

How is it possible for anyone to misconstrue the precise language used in these verses? The answer is obvious. Satan hates this truth. It is a dramatic illustration of his deceptive cunning that he is able to take the most unambiguous verse in the Bible and cloud its meaning. It is also an amazing example of the power of the mind to believe what it wants to believe.

Look at that phrase carefully: "Took part of the same." What does it mean? The same as what? The previous verse gives the answer. The same as the children who are born of flesh and blood. By this illustration, the Bible writer closes every possibility for speculating about the human nature of Jesus. Nothing could be more convincing. Since no children were born into the world before Adam and Eve sinned, it is beyond question that every child who has partaken of flesh and blood by necessity partook of Adam's fallen nature. So when the author of Hebrews wrote that Jesus "took part of the same" and was "in all things … made like unto his brethren," it is an unanswerable assertion. Only by proving that some children were born of flesh and blood without a fallen nature could anyone rationally challenge the post-fall human nature of Christ. The very same verse declares that He took the same nature as all other children born in order that "he might be a merciful and faithful high priest … to make reconciliation for the sins of the people." Only thus could He have been qualified as a suitable representative of the human family before the Father.

Someone might argue that Christ could do anything He wanted to do without limitations of any kind. Indeed He could have. He could have chosen to sin, but He didn't! He could have saved Himself from the pain of the thorns and the nails, but He didn't! He could have come in a nature that could not suffer death, but He didn't! Thank God that He did none of those things, but "humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." What a Saviour!

There are several standardized Hebrew Bible versions that have been established over time, reflecting different textual traditions and historical periods. However, the two primary standardized Hebrew Bible texts are:

1. Masoretic Text (MT)

The Masoretic Text (MT) is the authoritative Hebrew text of the Old Testament used in Judaism and the primary source for most Christian translations of the Old Testament, including the King James Version and many others. It is the result of centuries of scholarly work and preservation, primarily by a group of Jewish scholars known as the Masoretes.

Key Features of the Masoretic Text:

1. Hebrew Origin: The MT is written in Hebrew (with a few parts in Aramaic, such as parts of Daniel and Ezra).
2. The Masoretes: These were Jewish scholars who worked between the 6th and 10th centuries CE, primarily in Tiberias, Babylon, and Kairouan (North Africa). They standardized the Hebrew text, preserving it for future generations.
3. Vowel Points and Accents: One of the most significant contributions of the Masoretes was the introduction of vowel points (dots and marks placed above or below consonants) and cantillation marks (accent marks to indicate how the text should be read or chanted). This was necessary because Hebrew originally used only consonants, and these additions helped ensure the correct pronunciation and interpretation of words.

4. Textual Standardization: The MT represents a final version of the Hebrew Scriptures as standardized by the Masoretes. While it is largely consistent, it reflects a particular tradition of the Hebrew text. However, there were earlier and later variations that the MT did not incorporate, which are found in other ancient Hebrew manuscripts.

5. The MT and the Septuagint (LXX): The MT is distinct from the Septuagint (LXX), a Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible produced between the 3rd and 2nd centuries BCE. The LXX sometimes reflects readings that differ from the MT, and the New Testament often quotes from the LXX rather than the MT. These differences are a key area of study for scholars comparing biblical texts.

Historical Importance:

- The MT has served as the basis for the Hebrew Bible used in Jewish tradition for over a thousand years.
- In Christian tradition, the MT is the foundation for most translations of the Old Testament, although it is supplemented by the LXX for understanding some ancient interpretations, especially in the New Testament.

In summary, the Masoretic Text is the authoritative and standardized Hebrew version of the Old Testament, preserved by Jewish scholars called the Masoretes, and it continues to serve as the basis for most modern translations of the Old Testament.

2. Septuagint (LXX)

- The Septuagint (LXX) is a Greek translation of the Hebrew Scriptures created between the 3rd and 2nd centuries BCE, primarily in Alexandria. While not originally in Hebrew, it was created as a standardized translation for Greek-speaking Jews and later became important for the early Christian church.
- Textual Variation: The LXX differs in some places from the MT and reflects some older textual traditions, which are valuable for understanding how Jewish scripture was interpreted before the MT was fully standardized.
- Influence: The LXX had a significant impact on the early Christian Bible and is the version most often quoted in the New Testament.

Other Hebrew Biblical Traditions:

While the Masoretic Text and Septuagint are the most standardized and widely recognized versions, several other Hebrew Bible manuscripts and texts have played an important role in biblical scholarship:

3. Dead Sea Scrolls (DSS)

- The Dead Sea Scrolls, discovered in the 1940s and 1950s, include copies of almost every book of the Hebrew Bible (except Esther) and date from approximately 300 BCE to 100 CE.
- The DSS include texts that reflect both Masoretic and non-Masoretic traditions, offering valuable insights into variations in the Hebrew Bible before the Masoretic Text was fully standardized.
- The scrolls also contain earlier versions of some biblical books that can be compared with both the MT and the LXX.

4. Samaritan Pentateuch (SP)

- The Samaritan Pentateuch is a version of the Torah (the first five books of the Hebrew Bible) used by the Samaritans. This text differs in some places from the MT and has its own textual tradition.
- The Samaritan Pentateuch is important for understanding early Jewish textual traditions that existed alongside the Masoretic tradition.

5. Targums

- The Targums are Aramaic translations of the Hebrew Scriptures, which were widely used by Jewish communities in the First Century CE. Targum Onkelos is the most famous for the Torah (Pentateuch), and Targum Jonathan for the Prophets.
- While these are translations, they provide insights into how the Hebrew Bible was understood in Jewish communities at the time.

6. The Peshitta

- The Peshitta is the Syriac translation of the Hebrew Scriptures and the New Testament. While it is not a Hebrew text itself, it reflects an ancient Christian textual tradition that differs from both the Masoretic Text and the Septuagint.

The entire Greek Bible, including both the Old Testament (the Septuagint, LXX) and the New Testament, was compiled over several centuries, with various stages of translation and manuscript preservation occurring throughout early Christian history.

1. Compilation of the Greek Bible:

Old Testament (Septuagint - LXX)

- The Septuagint is the Greek translation of the Hebrew Bible (Old Testament), and it began to be compiled in the 3rd century BCE in Alexandria, Egypt. The translation was initiated by Jewish scholars to provide a Greek version of their sacred scriptures for the Greek-speaking Jewish community.
- The Septuagint was completed over a period of time, and by the 2nd century BCE, large portions of the Hebrew Bible (including the Torah, Prophets, and some Writings) had been translated into Greek.
- Some books, like Daniel and Esther, were translated later, and additional books (often called the Deuterocanonical books or Apocrypha) were included in the Septuagint but are not part of the Hebrew Bible (Masoretic Text).

New Testament

- The New Testament was written in Greek during the 1st century CE. The books of the New Testament were composed by various authors between approximately 50 CE (e.g., Paul's letters) and the early 2nd century CE (e.g., the Book of Revelation).
- By the end of the 4th century CE, the New Testament canon was essentially fixed, although the process of establishing the exact list of books took time. The Council of Carthage (397 CE) and other early church councils confirmed the 27 books we now know as the New Testament.

2. Complete Greek Bible Manuscripts:

a. Codex Sinaiticus (c. 330–360 CE)

- Codex Sinaiticus is one of the most important and oldest surviving manuscripts of the complete Greek Bible. It includes the Old Testament (Septuagint) and the New Testament.
- It is written in uncial script (all capital letters), and it contains the Deuterocanonical books (the books of the Apocrypha), reflecting the Septuagint's inclusion of these texts.
- Discovered: In 1859 at St. Catherine's Monastery on Mount Sinai by Constantine von Tischendorf.
- Significance: It is one of the most valuable manuscripts for biblical scholars, particularly for the study of the New Testament and the Septuagint, as it represents an early and complete version of the Christian Bible in Greek.

b. Codex Vaticanus (c. 325–350 CE)

- Codex Vaticanus is another early manuscript of the Greek Bible, containing the Old Testament (mostly from the Septuagint) and the New Testament (missing parts of Hebrews, 1 and 2 Timothy, and Titus).
- Location: It is housed in the Vatican Library.
- Significance: Like Codex Sinaiticus, it is written in uncial script and is one of the oldest and most important manuscripts for the Greek Bible. Though it does not include the Deuterocanonical books in the Old Testament, it is critical for studying the text of the New Testament.

c. Codex Alexandrinus (c. 400–440 CE)

- Codex Alexandrinus is a Greek uncial manuscript containing both the Old Testament (the Septuagint including the Deuterocanonical books) and the New Testament.
- Discovered: In 1627 in Alexandria, Egypt, and it is now housed in the British Library.
- Significance: This manuscript is important for understanding early Christian biblical texts and is used in the reconstruction of the Septuagint and the New Testament.

d. Codex Ephraemi Rescriptus (c. 5th century CE)

- Codex Ephraemi Rescriptus is a palimpsest (a manuscript in which the original text has been erased and overwritten with a new text) that contains parts of both the Old Testament (Septuagint) and the New Testament.
- Significance: The manuscript is important because it provides an early example of biblical textual tradition, though much of it is damaged due to the palimpsest nature.

3. Other Important Manuscripts:

- Codex Bezae (c. 5th century CE): Contains a Greek text of the Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles, with a distinctive Western textual tradition.
- Codex Claromontanus (5th century CE): A Greek and Latin manuscript containing portions of the Pauline epistles.

4. Summary of Key Dates:

- 3rd–2nd centuries BC: Septuagint/LXX (Greek Old Testament) translation began.

- 1st century CE: New Testament writings completed in Greek.
- 4th century CE: Compilation of the entire Greek Bible (both Old and New Testaments) with the standardization of the Christian canon.
- 330–360 CE: Codex Sinaiticus, one of the first complete Greek Bibles.
- 325–350 CE: Codex Vaticanus, another early complete Greek Bible manuscript.

Conclusion:

Before Jewish scholars standardized the Hebrew Bible (in 6th and 10th centuries CE), the entire Greek Bible is compiled (including the old testament standardized Greek version by Jewish scholars). The term used for God in the Greek old testaments are also used for Jesus in new testament. No chance to deny the divinity of Christ. No chance for cults to write Bible translation diminishing Jesus' divinity. New word translation published by Jehovah's Witness are entirely misleading. You will find out when you check the Hebrew Greek grammar and their modification from the standardized translation. Keep away from modern day cults.

Trinity

An Amazing Fact: Science tells us that light is con- stituted of three primary rays, or groups of wave- lengths. Clearly distinct from each other, none of them without the others could be light. Each ray has its own separate function. The first originates, the second illuminates, and the third consum- mates. The first ray, often called invisible light, is neither seen nor felt. The second is both seen and felt. The third is not seen but is felt as heat.

Like light, our "One God" is revealed in the three distinct persons of the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. "For there are three that bear witness in heaven: the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit; and these three are one" (1 John 5:7).

Churches have split and wars have even been fought over the issues that surround the nature of the Godhead.

Perplexity over God's nature is not new. Since creation, man has diligently sought to understand and explain Him. In the book of Job, Zophar uttered the cry of each human heart when he declared,

Job 11:7-8 :

> "Can you find out the deep things of God?
> Can you find out the limit of the Almighty?

It is higher than heaven—what can you do?
Deeper than Sheol—what can you know?"

Explanation:

These verses are spoken by Zophar, one of Job's friends, as part of his rebuke to Job. Zophar is challenging Job, questioning whether human beings can truly understand the infinite nature of God (Hebrew: אֱלוֹהַּ, 'Eloah'). He highlights the impossibility of fully comprehending God's wisdom, power, and plans, which transcend human knowledge and experience.

- Verse 7: Zophar asks if it's possible for Job (or any person) to understand the profound mysteries of God (Eloah). The term "deep things of God" refers to God's wisdom and purpose, suggesting they are beyond human grasp.
- Verse 8: He emphasizes God's knowledge and existence as being greater than the heavens and deeper than Sheol (the underworld or the grave, Hebrew: שְׁאוֹל, (She'ol), meaning that God's ways are entirely beyond human reach or understanding.

Zophar's point is that, in light of God's vastness, humans must acknowledge their limitations. His argument serves to challenge Job's desire for answers and justification from God, implying that Job should humble himself instead of questioning the divine.

The study of God is without rival—the highest subject any mortal can ever even attempt to approach or contemplate. Because God defines Himself as everlasting and the ultimate power, presence, and knowledge, this field of study is deeper, wider, and broader than any other.
The term YHWH (יהוה) is the tetragrammaton, a four-letter name for God in the Hebrew Bible. It is considered the most sacred name of God in Jewish tradition. The letters in Hebrew are Yod (י), He (ה), Vav (ו), He (ה), and because Hebrew originally did not include written vowels, the exact pronunciation is debated. The most common scholarly reconstruction is "Yahweh", though Jewish tradition often substitutes this with "Adonai" (meaning "Lord") during readings.

The name YHWH is derived from the Hebrew verb "hayah" (היה), meaning "to be" or "to exist."

"I AM" is a key interpretation of YHWH. This understanding comes primarily from Exodus 3:14, where God reveals His name to Moses as "Ehyeh Asher Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶהְיֶה), which is often translated as "I AM WHO I AM" or "I WILL BE WHO I WILL BE."

The first-person form "Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה) means "I AM" or "I WILL BE" in Hebrew. YHWH, while not a direct translation, is closely related to the same root, hayah (היה), meaning "to be." Therefore, when God uses "I AM" (Ehyeh), He emphasizes His self-existence, eternal presence, and unchanging nature, whereas YHWH in third-person form would mean "He is" or "He will be."

“For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts” (Isaiah 55:9). Finite human minds will never be able to fully understand everything about the eternal God. Like Moses, when he came into God’s presence, we must take off our shoes, “for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground” (Exodus 3:5). By laying aside our pre-conceived ideas, opinions and sectarian training, we can go directly to God’s Word and learn what He has chosen to reveal about Himself.
Isaiah 9:6, in which the Messiah (or the promised Son) is called “The everlasting Father,” is used to provide biblical support for one person God believers (Those who believe Jesus is the Father). The Oneness doctrine, however, overlooks the fact that the Son came to earth to reveal the true character of God the Father to a world groping in spiritual blindness.

The Inaccessibility of God's Physical Presence in the Bible: A Study of Key References

Throughout the Bible, God's holiness is portrayed as something so intense and pure that humans cannot approach Him too closely without grave consequences. Various passages highlight the restrictions placed upon individuals when encountering the physical presence of God, emphasizing the vast chasm between divine holiness and human frailty. This article explores several key biblical references that illustrate this concept.

1. Mount Sinai: A Boundary Set by God (Exodus 19:12-13)

One of the most notable instances where people were physically restricted from approaching God occurs during the Israelites' journey in the wilderness. In Exodus 19:12-13, as the people gather at Mount Sinai to receive the law, God gives a direct command to Moses:

> "You shall set limits for the people all around, saying, ‘Be careful not to go up the mountain or to touch the edge of it. Any who touch the mountain shall be put to death. No hand shall touch them, but they shall be stoned or shot with arrows; whether animal or human being, they shall not live.’ When the trumpet sounds a long blast, they may go up on the mountain."

In this passage, God’s presence descends upon the mountain in fire and cloud, accompanied by thunder and lightning. However, the people are strictly forbidden from coming too close to the mountain. The boundary signifies the immense holiness of God, a holiness that no unmediated human presence could endure. Violating this boundary would result in death, either by stoning or arrows, indicating the severity of disobeying God’s command regarding His physical presence.

2. The Face of God: A Vision Too Holy to Endure (Exodus 33:20)

Another passage that stresses the danger of direct physical proximity to God comes in Exodus 33:20. After the incident of the golden calf, Moses intercedes for the people and asks God to show him His glory. God responds with a stark warning:

> "But,” he said, “you cannot see my face, for no one shall see me and live."

In this verse, God's face is synonymous with His full glory and essence. Humans, in their fallen state, cannot withstand the full revelation of God’s holiness. Even Moses, who had a uniquely close relationship with God, could not see His face. Instead, God allows Moses to see His "back" as He passes by, a veiled revelation of His presence that Moses could endure. This reinforces the idea that direct physical exposure to God’s presence is lethal to mortals, who cannot bear the fullness of His divine nature.

3. Isaiah’s Vision: Overwhelmed by God’s Holiness (Isaiah 6:5)

In Isaiah 6:1-5, the prophet Isaiah experiences a vision of God seated on a throne, with the heavenly beings around Him crying out, "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts." In response to this overwhelming vision, Isaiah cries out:

> "Woe is me! I am lost, for I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips; yet my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts!" (Isaiah 6:5)

Isaiah’s reaction reflects the typical response of human beings when confronted with the holiness of God. He is immediately aware of his sinfulness and unworthiness to stand in God’s presence. Though this is a vision and not a physical encounter, the intensity of God's holiness leaves Isaiah feeling as though he might be destroyed.

4. The Tabernacle and the Temple: Restricted Access to God's Presence

The concepts of limited physical access to God's presence are further emphasized in the structures of the Tabernacle and the Temple. In both, the Holy of Holies—the innermost part of the sanctuary where God's presence dwelled—was off-limits to everyone except the high priest, and even then, only once a year on the Day of Atonement. Leviticus 16:2 provides a warning to Aaron, the high priest:

> "The Lord said to Moses: Tell your brother Aaron not to come just at any time into the holy place inside the curtain before the mercy seat that is upon the ark, or he will die, for I appear in the cloud upon the mercy seat."

This passage underscores the idea that God's presence, symbolized by the cloud above the mercy seat, was so holy that even the high priest could not casually enter. Only through specific rituals of purification and only at the appointed time could Aaron approach God. This reflects the structured and guarded access humanity had to God's holy presence.

5. New Testament Revelation: God's Holiness in the Person of Christ

While the Old Testament passages highlight the physical separation between God and humans due to His holiness, the New Testament offers a transformative perspective. John 1:14 reveals that "the Word became flesh and lived among us," referring to Jesus Christ, who is God in human form. In Jesus, the divine became accessible in a way previously unimaginable. Yet, even in His incarnate form, God's holiness is still evident. For example, in Matthew 17:6, when the disciples witness the transfiguration of Jesus, they fall to the ground in fear upon hearing the voice of God:

> "When the disciples heard this, they fell to the ground and were overcome by fear."

Although God made Himself accessible through Christ, the awe and reverence associated with His presence persisted. Christ's incarnation bridged the gap between God and humanity, yet His divine nature still evoked the same reverence and fear.

6. Moses and the Burning Bush: Holy Ground (Exodus 3:5)

In Exodus 3, Moses encounters God in the form of a burning bush, where God calls out to him. The first thing God tells Moses is to maintain a distance and remove his sandals:

> "Then he said, ‘Come no closer! Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place on which you are standing is holy ground.’" (Exodus 3:5)

Here, the holiness of God’s presence even transforms the surrounding area, making it sacred. Moses is commanded to keep a respectful distance and acknowledge the sanctity of the moment by removing his sandals. This event reveals that when God manifests His presence, even indirectly through a burning bush, His holiness makes the place too sacred for ordinary human interaction.

7. Nadab and Abihu: The Danger of Unauthorized Access (Leviticus 10:1-2)

The deaths of Nadab and Abihu in Leviticus 10:1-2 are a dramatic example of the consequences of approaching God in an unauthorized way:

> "Now Aaron’s sons Nadab and Abihu each took his censer, put fire in it, and laid incense on it; and they offered unholy fire before the Lord, such as he had not commanded them. And fire came out from the presence of the Lord and consumed them, and they died before the Lord."

This passage shows that even priests who were permitted to serve in God’s presence had to follow strict procedures. The "unholy fire" offered by Nadab and Abihu demonstrates their failure to approach God with the appropriate reverence, resulting in their immediate death. This reinforces the idea that God’s presence is not to be taken lightly, and only those who follow His specific guidelines can safely approach Him.

8. Uzzah and the Ark of the Covenant (2 Samuel 6:6-7)

Another striking example of the physical danger of approaching God’s presence improperly is the story of Uzzah in 2 Samuel 6:6-7. As the Ark of the Covenant (which symbolized God’s presence among the Israelites) was being transported, it started to tip over, and Uzzah instinctively reached out to steady it:

> "When they came to the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah reached out his hand to the ark of God and took hold of it, for the oxen shook it. The anger of the Lord was kindled against Uzzah; and God struck him there because he reached out his hand to the ark, and he died there beside the ark of God."

Though Uzzah's act seems well-intentioned, it violated the sacredness of the Ark. This tragic incident highlights the seriousness of approaching or touching anything associated with God's presence in an unauthorized manner. Uzzah’s death illustrates the idea that God's holiness is not something humans can approach without divine permission.

9. The Transfiguration: Overwhelmed by God's Glory (Matthew 17:1-6)

In the New Testament, the Transfiguration of Jesus presents a powerful moment where God's divine glory becomes visibly manifest. In Matthew 17:1-6, Jesus takes Peter, James, and John to a high mountain, where He is transfigured before them, and His face shines like the sun. As they witness this glory, a cloud overshadows them, and a voice from the cloud says, "This is my Son, the Beloved; with him I am well pleased; listen to him!" The disciples' reaction is immediate:

> "When the disciples heard this, they fell to the ground and were overcome by fear." (Matthew 17:6)

This event mirrors the Old Testament experiences of encountering God's presence, where fear and reverence dominate the human response. Though the disciples were with Jesus, the manifestation of God’s glory left them physically overwhelmed and afraid.

10. The Call of Ezekiel: A Vision Too Overwhelming (Ezekiel 1:28)

In Ezekiel 1, the prophet Ezekiel sees an extraordinary vision of God's glory, represented by complex imagery involving wheels, living creatures, and a throne. At the climax of this vision, Ezekiel sees "the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the Lord":

> "Like the bow in a cloud on a rainy day, such was the appearance of the brightness all around. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of the Lord. When I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard the voice of someone speaking." (Ezekiel 1:28)

Ezekiel's immediate response is to fall on his face, overwhelmed by the sheer magnitude of the vision. Similar to Isaiah, Ezekiel’s reaction illustrates the unbearable weight of encountering God’s glory, even in a vision. His physical response reflects a common biblical theme: humans cannot stand in the presence of God's holiness.

11. The Death of Korah's Followers: God's Presence in Judgment (Numbers 16:35)

In Numbers 16:35, following the rebellion of Korah against Moses and Aaron, God demonstrates the danger of opposing His appointed leaders and approaching

His presence unworthily. After the ground swallows up Korah and his followers, fire from God consumes 250 men who had offered unauthorized incense:

> "And fire came out from the Lord and consumed the two hundred fifty men offering the incense." (Numbers 16:35)

This narrative reinforces the same principle seen in Leviticus 10—the holiness of God cannot be approached flippantly or in opposition to His commands. God's physical presence in judgment is seen here as a consuming fire.

12. The Throne Room of Heaven: John's Vision in Revelation (Revelation 1:17)

Finally, in the book of Revelation, the apostle John is given a vision of the glorified Christ and the heavenly throne room. In Revelation 1:17, when John sees Jesus in His full glory, he reacts with immediate fear:

> "When I saw him, I fell at his feet as though dead. But he placed his right hand on me, saying, 'Do not be afraid; I am the first and the last...'" (Revelation 1:17)

John's reaction to seeing the glorified Jesus mirrors the responses of the Old Testament prophets to their encounters with God. His falling "as though dead" signifies how overwhelming God's presence can be, even in visions. Though John is reassured by Christ, his initial response is consistent with the biblical pattern of fear and awe in the presence of the divine.

13. The Angel of the Lord at Manoah's Sacrifice (Judges 13:20-22)

In Judges 13, Manoah and his wife are visited by an angel of the Lord, who tells them that they will have a son, Samson. When Manoah offers a sacrifice to the Lord, the angel ascends in the flames of the altar. This supernatural event terrifies Manoah, prompting him to say:

> "And Manoah said to his wife, 'We shall surely die, for we have seen God.'" (Judges 13:22)

Though they did not die, Manoah's fear is rooted in the common biblical belief that no one can see God and live. His reaction reveals the deep awareness of the dangers of encountering God's holiness directly, even when mediated through an angelic figure.

14. Solomon's Dedication of the Temple: The Glory of the Lord Fills the Temple (1 Kings 8:10-11)

When King Solomon dedicates the temple in 1 Kings 8:10-11, the glory of the Lord descends upon it in a visible way:

> "And when the priests came out of the holy place, a cloud filled the house of the Lord, so that the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud; for the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord."

In this passage, the physical manifestation of God's glory is so overwhelming that the priests are unable to perform their duties. The cloud is a symbol of God's presence, and its intensity prevents even those closest to God's service from remaining in His presence. This event demonstrates that even in sacred spaces, where God's presence was expected, His glory could be too overwhelming for human beings.

15. Jacob Wrestles with God: Fear of Seeing God's Face (Genesis 32:30)

In Genesis 32:24-30, Jacob has an intense, all-night wrestling encounter with a mysterious figure, later revealed to be God. After the struggle, Jacob names the place Peniel, saying:

> "So Jacob called the place Peniel, saying, 'For I have seen God face to face, and yet my life is preserved.'" (Genesis 32:30)

Jacob's astonishment at surviving the encounter with God reinforces the idea that seeing God's face is dangerous for mortals. His naming of the place Peniel (meaning "the face of God") acknowledges the extraordinary nature of the event, while his survival is portrayed as an act of divine mercy.

16. Moses' Radiant Face: Reflecting God's Glory (Exodus 34:29-30)

After spending time in God's presence on Mount Sinai, Moses' face becomes radiant due to the glory of the Lord. In Exodus 34:29-30, this glory is so intense that the Israelites are afraid to come near him:

> "Moses came down from Mount Sinai. As he came down from the mountain with the two tablets of the covenant in his hand, Moses did not know that the skin of his face shone because he had been talking with God. When Aaron and all the Israelites saw Moses, the skin of his face was shining, and they were afraid to come near him."

This incident demonstrates that even being in close proximity to God can affect a person's physical appearance, in this case, making Moses' face shine with reflected divine glory. The people's fear at seeing Moses shows how even indirect encounters with God's holiness were overwhelming for them.

17. Mount Horeb and Elijah: God's Presence in the Gentle Whisper (1 Kings 19:11-13)

In 1 Kings 19:11-13, Elijah encounters God at Mount Horeb (Sinai). Elijah expects God in powerful manifestations—wind, earthquake, and fire—but instead, God appears in a gentle whisper. Despite the subdued manner of the encounter, Elijah's response is still one of awe and reverence:

> "Now there was a great wind, so strong that it was splitting mountains and breaking rocks in pieces before the Lord, but the Lord was not in the wind; and after the wind an earthquake, but the Lord was not in the earthquake; and after the earthquake a fire, but the Lord was not in the fire; and after the fire a sound of sheer silence. When Elijah heard it, he wrapped his face in his mantle and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave."

Elijah covers his face, an act of reverence and protection, as he senses the presence of God. Though God's manifestation is quieter than expected, Elijah's reaction emphasizes that even in a gentler encounter, God's presence is still overwhelming and must be approached with awe and respect.

18. Isaiah's Call: The Temple Filled with Smoke (Isaiah 6:4-5)

In the prophet Isaiah's call vision in Isaiah 6:1-5, he sees the Lord seated on a throne, high and exalted, and the whole temple fills with smoke. His immediate reaction is one of fear and unworthiness:

> "And the pivots on the thresholds shook at the voices of those who called, and the house filled with smoke. And I said, 'Woe is me! I am lost, for I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips; yet my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts!'" (Isaiah 6:4-5)

Isaiah's encounter with the holy God leads him to a deep awareness of his sinfulness. The smoke filling the temple adds to the dramatic effect of God's overwhelming presence, which leaves Isaiah in awe and fear. This shows that encountering God directly leads to an immediate realization of one's unworthiness in His holy presence.

19. The Earthquake at the Crucifixion (Matthew 27:51-54)

During the crucifixion of Jesus, nature responds dramatically to His death. In Matthew 27:51-54, the moment Jesus dies, the earth shakes, rocks split, and the temple veil is torn in two:

> "At that moment the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. The earth shook, and the rocks were split. The tombs also were opened, and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised. After his resurrection they came out of the tombs and entered the holy city and appeared to many. Now when the centurion and those with him, who were keeping watch over Jesus, saw the earthquake and what took place, they were terrified and said, 'Truly this man was God's Son!'"

The centurion and others are terrified, acknowledging the divine nature of what just happened. This reaction to the dramatic signs accompanying Jesus' death illustrates how even at a distance, God's intervention in physical events (such as the earthquake and the tearing of the temple curtain) creates fear and awe.

Conclusion: The Majesty and Inaccessibility of God's Presence

The biblical theme of humans being unable to physically approach God's presence reveals a consistent and profound truth about the holiness of God. Throughout both the Old and New Testaments, we encounter numerous instances in which God's overwhelming holiness and glory demand reverence, fear, and awe. From the earliest encounters like those of Moses at the burning bush and the people of Israel at Mount Sinai, to later visions experienced by prophets like Isaiah and Ezekiel, the message is clear—God's presence is not to be taken lightly.

These 19 passages demonstrate that direct access to God is fraught with danger for sinful humanity. Whether encountering God's presence through visions, fire, smoke, the Ark of the Covenant, or even through the manifestation of divine glory in the person of Jesus, the response is always the same: humans fall on their faces, shield their eyes, or express fear of death. This consistent reaction underscores the vast gulf between God's holiness and human sinfulness. Even priests, prophets, and chosen leaders could not approach God without careful preparation or divine permission, and any failure to do so resulted in severe consequences, such as the deaths of Nadab, Abihu, and Uzzah.

In each of these instances, God's physical presence serves as both a revelation of His majesty and a reminder of the limitations of humanity. Whether through the cloud filling the temple at Solomon's dedication, the smoke in Isaiah's vision, or the earthquake at Jesus' crucifixion, God's presence often overwhelms nature itself, symbolizing His supreme power. Even when God appears in a more subtle form, like the gentle whisper to Elijah, the prophet's instinctive response is still to cover his face in reverence.

God's sacred name, YHWH (יהוה), is reflective of this divine inaccessibility. The unpronounceable nature of the name itself serves as a symbol of God's holiness, further emphasizing the need for reverence and careful approach when coming before the Creator.

Despite this profound sense of inaccessibility, the New Testament brings a transformative message. Through Jesus Christ, the divine glory and presence of God come closer to humanity, but even then, awe and fear remain constant responses. Peter, James, and John fall on their faces at the transfiguration, and the centurion at the crucifixion declares, "Truly this man was God's Son!" The holiness of God, now revealed in Christ, still evokes deep reverence.

In conclusion, the Bible offers a clear and powerful portrayal of God's holiness, which is so great that human beings cannot approach it without divine mediation. These 19 references remind us that God's presence, though awe-inspiring and life-giving, is also dangerous and overwhelming due to the stark difference between His holiness and our sinfulness. The Bible's portrayal of this reality calls for humility, reverence, and worship in the presence of the Holy One.

So without The Word taking flesh it would have been difficult for us.
Jesus prayed to His Father in Gethsemane, "And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. I have manifested thy name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world" (John 17:5, 6). Jesus is the only one who could reveal the Father, because He express image of the Father.

Luke 10:22

> "All things have been handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, or who the Father is except the Son and anyone to whom the Son chooses to reveal him."

In this verse, Jesus emphasizes the unique relationship between Himself and God the Father. The Father has entrusted everything to the Son, and only the Son truly knows the Father. Likewise, the Father is the only one who fully knows the Son. Jesus highlights that access to this knowledge and understanding of God is only possible through His own revelation. This passage underlines the divine authority of Jesus and His role as the mediator between God and humanity.

Hebrews 1:3

> "He is the reflection of God’s glory and the exact imprint of God’s very being, and he sustains all things by his powerful word. When he had made purification for sins, he sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high."

This verse in Hebrews presents Jesus as the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of God's nature. It asserts that Jesus embodies the full essence of God, sustaining the universe by His word. After completing the work of purification for sins through His sacrifice, Jesus takes a position of authority, sitting at the right hand of God. This passage underscores the divinity of Christ and His central role in both creation and redemption.

Thus when the disciples asked Christ what the Father was like, He could say, “He that hath seen me hath seen the Father” (John 14:9). Jesus so mirrored the character of the Father that He perfectly reflected Him, hence the title “The Everlasting Father.” Another reason Jesus is called the Everlasting Father is because this world and everything in it was created through Christ. So in a very real sense, Jesus is our father.

Hebrews 1:2

> "but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom he also created the worlds."

This verse highlights the supremacy of Jesus, God’s Son, through whom God has spoken in the last days. Unlike the earlier times when God communicated through prophets, now He speaks directly through His Son. The verse also points to Jesus as the appointed heir of everything and the agent of creation, indicating His preeminence and divine authority over all things, including the creation of the universe.

John 1:3

> "All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being. What has come into being"

This verse in John's prologue identifies Jesus (the Word) as the divine agent through whom all things were made. Nothing in existence came into being apart from Him, affirming His role in the creation of everything. This highlights the divine nature of Jesus and His active participation in creation, underscoring His central role in the universe’s existence and order.

Isaiah 9:6 is the only place in the Bible where Jesus is called the Father. Keep in mind that Jesus also calls Himself the Son of man, our brother, our shepherd, our friend, and our priest. To build a doctrine on one Scripture is as foolish as building a house on top of a single fence post. The Bible physically separates the Father and the Son repeatedly. While Christ was on earth, He referred to His Father in heaven. “My Father which is in heaven” (Matthew 10:32). He always directed His prayers heavenward to the Father and stated that the Father had His own individual will; “Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheless not my will, but thine, be done” (Luke 22:42). “Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit” (Luke 23:46). Then after He died and rose again, He ascended to “the right hand of God” (Romans 8:34). This indicates the Father has a separate presence.

In fact, Jesus said that He wasn’t the Father more than 80 times. While always remaining one in purpose and origin, Jesus and the Father are clearly separate and distinct persons. And on more than one occasion, the Father spoke to Jesus from heaven. “And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, ‘This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased’” (Matthew 3:17).

Jesus is revealed as the Eternal Creator and not a created being (John 1:1–4). As we compare Scripture definitions for God with the Bible record of Jesus, we see the characteristics of Jehovah (יְהוָה, YHWH) are also ascribed to Jesus. Note these powerful examples:

- He is self-existent (John 1:1–4; 14:6); only God is self-existent (Psalm 90:2):
    - John 1:1–4: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being. What has come into being in him was life, and the life was the light of all people" (Ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ Λόγος, καὶ ὁ Λόγος ἦν πρὸς τὸν Θεόν, καὶ Θεὸς ἦν ὁ Λόγος).
    - John 14:6: "Jesus said to him, 'I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.'"
    - Psalm 90:2: "Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God."
- Jesus defines Himself as eternal & all-powerful .
    - Revelation 1:8: "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end, says the Lord God, who is and who was and who is to come, the Almighty" (Ἐγώ εἰμι τὸ Ἄλφα καὶ τὸ Ὦ, λέγει κύριος ὁ Θεός).

- He is, and has, eternal life (1 John 5:11, 12, 20):
    - 1 John 5:11–12: "And this is the testimony: God gave us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. Whoever has the Son has life; whoever does not have the Son of God does not have life."
    - 1 John 5:20: "And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life."
- He created all things (John 1:3):
    - John 1:3: "All things came into being through him, and without him not one thing came into being."
    - Genesis 1:1: "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth."
    - Colossians 1:16: "For in him all things in heaven and on earth were created, things visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or rulers or powers—all things have been created through him and for him."
- The Father even calls Jesus God.
    - Hebrews 1:8: "But of the Son he says, 'Your throne, O God, is forever and ever, and the righteous scepter is the scepter of your kingdom.'"
- Jesus is able to forgive sin (Luke 5:20, 21); The Bible says only God can forgive sin (Isaiah 43:25):
    - Luke 5:20–21: "When he saw their faith, he said, 'Friend, your sins are forgiven you.' Then the scribes and the Pharisees began to question, 'Who is this who is speaking blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?'"
    - Isaiah 43:25: "I, I am He who blots out your transgressions for my own sake, and I will not remember your sins."
- Jesus accepted worship that according to the Ten Commandments is reserved only for the Almighty (Matthew 14:33):
    - Matthew 14:33: "And those in the boat worshiped him, saying, 'Truly you are the Son of God.'"

    - Matthew 28:9: "Suddenly Jesus met them and said, 'Greetings!' And they came to him, took hold of his feet, and worshiped him."
    - John 20:26–29: "A week later his disciples were again in the house, and Thomas was with them. Although the doors were shut, Jesus came and stood among them and said, 'Peace be with you.' Then he said to Thomas, 'Put your finger here and see my hands. Reach out your hand and put it in my side. Do not doubt but believe.' Thomas answered him, 'My Lord and my God!'"
- Even the angels worship Jesus:
    - Hebrews 1:6: "And again, when he brings the firstborn into the world, he says, 'Let all God's angels worship him.'"
- The Scriptures also teach that only God knows the thoughts of a man's heart (1 Kings 8:39):
    - 1 Kings 8:39: "Then hear in heaven your dwelling place, forgive, act, and render to all whose hearts you know, according to all their ways (for only you know what is in every human heart)."
    - John 2:25: "and needed no one to testify about anyone; for he himself knew what was in everyone."
    - John 1:48: "Nathanael asked him, 'Where did you come to know me?' Jesus answered, 'I saw you under the fig tree before Philip called you.'"
- Through the Spirit, Jesus is omnipresent:
    - Matthew 28:20: "And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age."
    - Acts 18:10: "for I am with you, and no one will lay a hand on you to harm you, for there are many in this city who are my people."
- He has power to give life, and even resurrected Himself:
    - John 10:18: "No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it up again."
    - John 11:25: "Jesus said to her, 'I am the resurrection and the life. Those who believe in me, even though they die, will live.'"

Jesus' enemies understood and recog- nized His claim of equality with the Father God. When He boldly proclaimed, "I and my Father are one," Jewish leaders were outraged and sought to execute Him. They understood unequivocally that Jesus was claiming to be God Himself. “The Jews answered him, saying, For a good work we stone thee not; but for blasphemy; and because that thou, being a man, makest thyself God” (John 10:30, 33).

The Jews even attempted to stone Christ when He assumed the self-existent title of Jehovah used at the burning bush. Jesus said to them, “‘Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM.’ Then they took up stones to throw at Him; but Jesus hid Himself and went out of the temple, going through the midst of them, and so passed by” (John 8:58).

The Jews understood that Jesus claimed equality with God, when He said “‘My Father worketh hitherto, and I work.’ Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, ... but said also that God was his Father, making Himself equal with God” (John 5:17, 18).

In Isaiah, the Redeemer, who is identified as Jesus Christ in the New Testament (Galatians 4:4, 5), declares that the “Lord God and His Spirit” are responsible for sending Him on His mission of redemption:

- Isaiah 48:16–17 :
    - Verse 16: "Come near to Me, hear this: I have not spoken in secret from the beginning; from the time that it was, I was there. And now the Lord GOD and His Spirit have sent Me."
    - Verse 17: "Thus says the Lord, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Israel: 'I am the Lord your God, who teaches you to profit, who leads you by the way you should go.'"
- Galatians 4:4–5 :
    - Verse 4: "But when the fullness of the time had come, God sent forth His Son, born of a woman, born under the law."
    - Verse 5: "to redeem those who were under the law, that we might receive the adoption as sons."

The names for God found in Genesis and elsewhere tell us volumes about our Creator. “And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness” (Genesis 1:26). The Hebrew word here for God is Elohim. It is a plural noun that is used more than 2,700 times in the Old Testament. This means that inspired authors preferred to use Elohim about 10 times more than the singular form “El” (singular) when they described God. Even in the Old Testament book of Daniel, we see a picture of the Father and the Son as two separate persons.

“I was watching in the night visions, And behold, One like the Son of Man, Coming with the clouds of heaven! He came to the Ancient of Days, And they brought Him near before Him” (Daniel 7:13).

The Son of man, Jesus, is seen coming before the Ancient of Days—who is, obviously, God the Father.

The New Testament writings are sprinkled with this concept of one God with three united, fully divine persons. The apostle Paul wrote that there were three divine persons: “There is one body, and one Spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all” (Ephesians 4:4–6).

Paul frequently referred to the three separate persons of the Godhead. “The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all” (2 Corinthians 13:14). “How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?” (Hebrews 9:14).

Revelation opens by introducing the three persons of the Godhead. “From the seven Spirits who are before His throne, and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead, and the ruler over the kings of the earth. To Him who loved us and washed us from our sins in His own blood, and has made us kings and priests to His God and Father, to Him be glory and dominion forever and ever” (Revelation 1:4–6).

In addition, we clearly see three distinct persons at the baptism of Jesus. “And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water: and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him: And lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased” (Matthew 3:16,17).

If Jesus is the only person in the Godhead, where did the voice come from that declared, “This is my beloved Son”? Did He trisect Himself into a voice from heaven, the dove wafting down through the sky, and His body on the bank of the river? No. This was not simply a clever act of holy smoke and mirrors, but rather a regal reunion revealing the truth of the trinity. And on top of this, it is through the shared authority of these three persons that we are commissioned to baptize. “Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost” (Matthew 28:19).

Most of the confusion regarding the number of beings composing the Godhead springs from a simple misunderstanding of the word “one.” Simply put, “one” in the Bible does not always mean numerical quantity. Depending on the Scripture, “one” can often mean unity.

We see this principle established very early in Scripture. “Therefore a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and they shall become one flesh” (Genesis 2:24, emphasis added). “One flesh” here does not mean that a married couple melt into one human after their wedding, but rather they are to be united into one family.

Jesus prayed that the apostles would be one, saying, “And the glory which You gave Me I have given them, that they may be one just as We are one: I in them, and You in Me; that they may be made perfect in one” (John 17:22, 23).

We need to keep in mind that when Moses said, “The LORD is one,” Israel was surrounded with polytheistic nations that worshiped many gods that were constantly involved in petty bickering and rivalry (Deuteronomy 6:4), whereas the God who created is composed of three separate beings who are perfectly united in their mission of saving and sustaining their creatures. As the Spirit is executing the will of both the Father and Son, it is His will also.

“For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one” (1 John 5:7). Granted, it is a brain exercise to grasp that one God (“He”) is also, and equally, “They.” Like one rope with three united strands, the three persons of the Father, Son, and Spirit make up the one God.

Though there is nothing in this world that adequately illustrates God, Paul declares the “invisible things of him from the creation of the world” can help us understand “his eternal power and Godhead” (Romans 1:20). The truth that God is a “tri-unity” of two invisible persons (Father and Spirit) and one visible person (Jesus) is evident even in creation.

The universe is composed of three struc- tures: space, matter, and time. Of these three, only matter is visible. Space requires length, height, and width to constitute space. Each dimension is separate and distinct in itself, yet the three form space—if you remove height, you no longer have space. Time is also a tri- unity of past, present, and future. Two are invisible (past and future), and one visible (present). Each is separate and distinct, as well as essential for time to exist. Man is also a “tri- unity,” having physical, mental, and spiritual components (body, soul & spirit). Again, two are invisible (mental and spiritual) and one visible (physical). Cells compose the fundamental structural unit of all living organisms. All organic life is made up from cells that consist of three primary parts: the outer wall, the cytoplasm, and the nucleus. If any one is removed, the cell dies.

In each of these examples, the removal of any one component results in the demise of the whole. In like manner, the Godhead contains three distinct persons: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Each is God, yet there is one God. The removal of one person destroys the unity of the whole.

Ephesians 4:6

"one God and Father of all, who is above all and through all and in all."

- This verse is part of Paul's exhortation to the church to maintain unity. "One God" emphasizes the monotheistic belief that there is only one God, who is the Father of all. The phrase highlights God's transcendence ("above all"), immanence ("through all"), and presence ("in all"). It underscores that God is sovereign and active in all creation and in the lives of believers.

Titus 2:13

"while we wait for the blessed hope and the manifestation of the glory of our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ."

- This verse is a powerful statement about the deity of Christ. The phrase "our great God and Savior, Jesus Christ" affirms that Jesus is not just a savior but is also recognized as God Himself. In Greek, the construction of this phrase follows the Granville Sharp rule, which indicates that both "God" and "Savior" refer to the same person, Jesus Christ. This verse is a clear testament to the divinity of Jesus.

Acts 5:3-4

"Peter said, 'Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back part of the proceeds of the land? ... You did not lie to us but to God!'"

- In this passage, Peter confronts Ananias for lying about the sale of property. Peter first says that Ananias lied to the Holy Spirit (verse 3) and then says that he lied to God (verse 4). This shows that Peter equates the Holy Spirit with God, providing a strong foundation for the belief in the divinity of the Holy Spirit within the Trinity.

Even the gospel story illustrates the inter- dependency of threes. The sanctuary had three places: the Courtyard, the Holy Place, and the Most Holy Place. There are three stages of salvation: justification, sanctification, and glorification.

1. The Courtyard (Justification)

- The Courtyard represents justification, the initial stage of salvation where a believer is made right with God through Christ's sacrifice. In the Old Testament sanctuary, the animal sacrifices pointed to Jesus' atoning death.

- Justification occurs when we are declared righteous through faith in Jesus. Romans 5:1 says, "Therefore, since we are justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." This is the moment of spiritual rebirth, where we receive forgiveness and are cleansed of our sins.

- The laver, symbolizing cleansing, points to baptism, which represents the washing away of sins. Titus 3:5 states, "He saved us, not because of any works of righteousness that we had done, but according to his mercy, through the water of rebirth and renewal by the Holy Spirit."

2. The Holy Place (Sanctification)

- The Holy Place symbolizes sanctification, the ongoing process of being transformed into Christ's likeness by the Holy Spirit. This is the daily walk with God, where we grow in holiness through prayer, study, and witnessing.
- Sanctification is described in John 17:17, where Jesus prays, "Sanctify them in the truth; your word is truth." This highlights the ongoing role of God's Word in our spiritual growth, much like the table of showbread in the sanctuary represented spiritual nourishment.
- The lampstand, symbolizing the light of the believer's witness, is reflected in Matthew 5:14-16: "You are the light of the world… Let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father in heaven."
- The altar of incense, representing prayer, is tied to Revelation 8:3-4: "The smoke of the incense, with the prayers of the saints, rose before God from the hand of the angel." This signifies the power of prayer in our sanctification.
- Sanctification is a lifelong process, as Paul describes in 1 Thessalonians 4:3, "For this is the will of God, your sanctification."

3. The Most Holy Place (Glorification)

- The Most Holy Place symbolizes glorification, the final stage of salvation. This occurs when believers are transformed and fully restored at the Second Coming of Christ.
- Glorification is described in Romans 8:30, "And those whom he predestined he also called; and those whom he called he also justified; and those whom he justified he also glorified." This refers to the future state when believers will be perfected and made like Christ.
- Philippians 3:21 speaks to the transformation of our bodies: "He will transform the body of our humiliation that it may be conformed to the body of his glory, by the power that also enables him to make all things subject to himself."

- Ultimately, glorification means dwelling with God forever, as Revelation 21:3-4 promises: "See, the home of God is among mortals. He will dwell with them; they will be his peoples, and God himself will be with them; he will wipe every tear from their eyes."

In Isaiah 6:3, the angels around God's throne cry "Holy, Holy, Holy" three times—once for the Father, once for the Son, and once for the Holy Spirit.

Almost all of the Scriptures used by those who reject the trinity to portray Jesus as a "lesser god" spring from a basic failure to understand the incarnation. Jesus, God the Son, laid aside or veiled the full dimension of His divinity when He came to earth. How else could He live as God among men?

"God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh" (Romans 8:3).

"For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich" (2 Corinthians 8:9).

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: Who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God: But made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men: And being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross" (Philippians 2:5–8).

We also clearly see that before and after His incarnation, Jesus beams again with undimmed divine glory. "And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was" (John 17:5). "But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour" (Hebrews 2:9). If God the Son had not veiled His glory when He came to earth, man could not have endured His brilliant presence, much less learned from His example.

As we consider the mysteries of the Godhead, we notice that there seems to be an order of authority concerning the three persons in the trinity. Keep in mind that while all three are the same in properties and attributes, and equal in power and glory, it appears that the Father is recognized as the ultimate authority. "And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's" (1 Corinthians 3:23). "But I would have you know, that … the head of Christ is God" (1 Corinthians 11:3). The Son constantly receives His glory, power, throne, and prerogatives as Judge from the Father (John 3:35; John 5:22). Indeed, it was God the Father that "gave" the Son. In fact, while it might not be wrong, we are never told to pray to Jesus or the Spirit—but instead to the Father in the name of the Son. Yet just because the Father seems to have supreme authority, it does not in any way diminish from the divinity of Jesus and the Spirit.

The Father wants to glorify the Son. The Son lives to glorify the Father, and the Spirit lives to glorify the Father and Son.

John 17:1, 5

- John 17:1 :

  "After Jesus had spoken these words, he looked up to heaven and said, 'Father, the hour has come; glorify your Son so that the Son may glorify you.'"

  - In this verse, Jesus is beginning His "High Priestly Prayer." He asks the Father to glorify Him, meaning to reveal His divine nature through the crucifixion and resurrection, so that through this, the Son can glorify the Father by fulfilling His purpose on earth.
- John 17:5 :

  "So now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had in your presence before the world existed."

  - Here, Jesus refers to His preexistence, affirming His divine nature as the eternal Son of God. He is asking to be restored to the glory He shared with the Father before creation, emphasizing His eternal relationship with the Father.

John 16:14

- John 16:14 :

  "He will glorify me, because he will take what is mine and declare it to you."

  - In this passage, Jesus is speaking about the Holy Spirit, who will come after His departure. The Holy Spirit's role is to glorify Christ by revealing and communicating the truth about Him to the disciples, continuing His work and mission. The Spirit will draw attention to Christ and make His teachings clear to His followers.

John 13:31, 32

- John 13:31 :
  "When he had gone out, Jesus said, 'Now the Son of Man has been glorified, and God has been glorified in him.'"

- This is said just after Judas leaves to betray Jesus. Jesus declares that His impending suffering, death, and resurrection will glorify Him as the "Son of Man," and in this glorification, God the Father will also be glorified. His crucifixion will be the ultimate revelation of God's love and justice.

- John 13:32 :

  "If God has been glorified in him, God will also glorify him in himself and will glorify him at once."

  - Jesus here affirms that because God is glorified in the Son's work of salvation (through His death and resurrection), the Father will, in turn, glorify the Son. This mutual glorification between Father and Son points to their intimate relationship and shared divine purpose in the salvation of humanity.

  The Father wants to glorify the Son.

- John 17:1: "Father, the hour has come; glorify your Son so that the Son may glorify you."
- John 13:31: "Now the Son of Man has been glorified, and God has been glorified in him."

The Son lives to glorify the Father.

- John 17:5: "So now, Father, glorify me in your own presence with the glory that I had in your presence before the world existed."
- John 13:32: "If God has been glorified in him, God will also glorify him in himself and will glorify him at once."

The Spirit lives to glorify the Father and the Son.

- John 16:14: "He will glorify me, because he will take what is mine and declare it to you."

The Scriptures compare Holy Spirit to everything from wind and fire, to a dove, water, and even a defense attorney!
The Holy Spirit leads and guides. "However, when He, the Spirit of truth, has come, He will guide you into all truth" (John 16:13). It would have been very easy for Jesus to simply say, "When it comes," but Jesus called the Holy Spirit "He" more than 15 times.
The Holy Spirit also comforts. "And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever" (John 14:16). Jesus promised before His ascension that He was sending another helper; paraclete is the Greek word that signifies a multi-sided personal ministry as counselor, advocate, helper, comforter, ally, and supporter

John 14:16-17

- John 14:16 :

  "And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate, to be with you forever."

  - In this verse, Jesus promises to send the Holy Spirit (referred to here as the "Advocate," or Paraclete), who will remain with the disciples forever. This emphasizes the Spirit's ongoing presence and support in the lives of believers.
- John 14:17 :

  "This is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him, because he abides with you, and he will be in you."

  - Jesus identifies the Holy Spirit as the Spirit of truth, highlighting His role in guiding believers into truth. The world cannot receive the Spirit because it is spiritually blind, while the disciples, who have a relationship with Christ, already know Him. This points to the transformative relationship believers will have with the Holy Spirit, who will dwell within them.

John 14:26

- John 14:26 :

  "But the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything, and remind you of all that I have said to you."

  - Here, Jesus reiterates the role of the Holy Spirit as a teacher and reminder. The Spirit will help the disciples understand Jesus' teachings and recall them when needed, ensuring they remain anchored in the truth of His words even after His departure.

John 15:26-27

- John 15:26 :

"When the Advocate comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who comes from the Father, he will testify on my behalf."

- Jesus again emphasizes the Spirit's role as the Advocate who testifies about Him. This highlights the Spirit's purpose to affirm and proclaim the truth about Jesus, reinforcing the relationship between the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

- John 15:27 :

"And you also are to testify because you have been with me from the beginning."

- Jesus calls His disciples to also testify about Him, indicating that their experience with Him equips them to share His truth. This connection underscores the mission of the disciples to witness to the work and identity of Christ.

John 16:7-15

- John 16:7 :

"Nevertheless I tell you the truth: it is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Advocate will not come to you; but if I go, I will send him to you."

- Jesus explains that His departure is necessary for the coming of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit's arrival will empower and guide the disciples in ways they cannot fully comprehend while Jesus is present with them.

- John 16:8 :

"And when he comes, he will prove the world wrong about sin and righteousness and judgment."

- The Holy Spirit will convict the world concerning sin, righteousness, and judgment, acting as a moral compass that reveals God's standards and exposes wrongdoing.

- John 16:9-11 :

"About sin, because they do not believe in me; about righteousness, because I am going to the Father and you will see me no longer; about judgment, because the ruler of this world has been condemned."

- These verses elaborate on the Spirit's role in addressing the world's understanding of sin (unbelief in Christ), righteousness (Jesus' departure and exaltation), and judgment (the defeat of Satan).

- John 16:12-13 :

  "I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now. When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth; for he will not speak on his own, but will speak whatever he hears, and he will declare to you the things that are to come."

  - Jesus acknowledges that there is much more for the disciples to understand, but they are not yet ready. The Holy Spirit will guide them into all truth, ensuring they receive divine revelation and understanding of God's will.

- John 16:14-15 :

  "He will glorify me, because he will take what is mine and declare it to you. All that the Father has is mine. For this reason I said that he will take what is mine and declare it to you."

  - The Spirit's role is to glorify Jesus by revealing His truth to the disciples. The intimate relationship within the Trinity is highlighted, showing that all that belongs to the Father also belongs to the Son, and the Spirit's work is to communicate this to believers.

John 16:7, 8:
"It is to your advantage that I go away; for if I do not go away, the Helper will not come to you; but if I depart, I will send Him to you. And when He has comes, He will convict the world."
It is obvious from this text that the Holy Spirit would be more personally present after Jesus ascended. If the Holy Spirit is mere energy, there is simply no explanation or logic to why He would not come unless Jesus left.
The Holy Spirit can even be grieved (Ephesians 4:30):
And do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, with which you were marked with a seal for the day of redemption.
"Then the Spirit said to Philip, 'Go near and overtake this chariot'" (Acts 8:29).
Computer programs exist that can reproduce speech, but they cannot create inspired thought. The Holy Scriptures were inspired by the Holy Spirit (2 Peter 1:21):
Because no prophecy ever came by human will, but men and women moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God.

We also read in Revelation 1:4, 5, a prayer for grace and peace from the Father, the Spirit, and Jesus Christ.

Revelation 1:4-5

- Revelation 1:4 :

  “John to the seven churches that are in Asia: Grace to you and peace from him who is and who was and who is to come, and from the seven spirits who are before his throne.”

- Revelation 1:5 :

  “And from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and freed us from our sins by his blood,”

We must ask, would John have put the Spirit between the Father and the Son if he had not regarded the Spirit as a divine intelligence in the same sense as they are?
If the Holy Spirit is simply some divine force, then why is it even more offensive to blaspheme against the Holy Spirit, and even more fatal, than speaking against the Son?
“Therefore I say to you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men. Anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come” (Matthew 12:31, 32).
By definition, blasphemy is “a contemptuous or profane act, utterance, or writing against God.” By this simple deduction, the Holy Spirit must be God! This is also why Peter said that to lie to the Holy Spirit is to lie to God. Acts 5:3, 4:
“But Peter said, 'Ananias, why has Satan filled your heart to lie to the Holy Spirit and to keep back part of the proceeds of the land?'”“While it remained unsold, did it not remain your own? And after it was sold, were not the proceeds at your disposal? How is it that you have contrived this deed in your heart? You did not lie to us but to God!’”
The Holy Spirit can be a witness. Hebrews 10:15:
“And the Holy Spirit also testifies to us, for after saying, 'This is the covenant that I will make with them after those days, says the Lord: I will put my laws in their hearts, and I will write them on their minds,'”
In any court of the world, only living beings can be called witnesses. Finally, the Holy Spirit is said to have His own mind. Romans 8:27:

And God, who searches the heart, knows what is the mind of the Spirit, because the Spirit intercedes for the saints according to the will of God.
We can clearly see the Holy Spirit is not simply a force, but the third divine person of the Godhead. "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all" (2 Corinthians 13:14).

13 LOVE AT CALVARY
he truth of the triune God can also be found in the gospel itself. In essence, when we consider John, we read that God the Father so loved the world that He sent God the Son that we might be born of God the Spirit:

John 3:8

- Verse:
  "The wind blows where it chooses, and you hear the sound of it, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

- Explanation:
  In this verse, Jesus compares the work of the Holy Spirit to the wind. Just as the wind is invisible yet evident by its effects, so too is the work of the Spirit in the lives of believers. This highlights the mysterious and sovereign nature of the Holy Spirit's work in bringing about spiritual rebirth and transformation.

John 3:13

- Verse:
  "No one has ascended into heaven except the one who descended from heaven, the Son of Man."

- Explanation:
  Here, Jesus emphasizes His unique authority and identity as the Son of Man. He alone has come down from heaven, and therefore, He has the authority to speak about heavenly things. This statement also underscores the incarnation, affirming that Jesus, fully divine, entered into the human experience to reveal God's truth.

John 3:16

- Verse:
  "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life."

- Explanation:
  This verse is one of the most well-known passages in the Bible and encapsulates the core message of the Gospel. It reveals God's profound love for humanity and His willingness to sacrifice His only Son for their salvation. The promise of eternal life through belief in Jesus underscores the central theme of faith and redemption in Christian theology.

John 3:17

- Verse:
  "Indeed, God did not send the Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him."

- Explanation:
  Jesus clarifies His mission: He came not to condemn humanity but to provide a path to salvation. This highlights the grace and mercy of God, emphasizing that through Christ, there is an opportunity for redemption rather than judgment. It encourages believers to view Jesus as a source of hope and salvation.

Key Themes:

- The Work of the Holy Spirit: The mysterious and sovereign nature of the Spirit's work in bringing about spiritual rebirth.
- The Authority of Christ: Jesus' unique role as the one who has descended from heaven, giving Him the authority to reveal divine truth.
- God's Love and Salvation: The profound love of God demonstrated through the sacrifice of Jesus, offering eternal life to all who believe.
- Purpose of Christ's Coming: Jesus' mission was to save rather than to condemn, showcasing the grace of God in providing salvation to the world.

Before earth's creation, the triune God discussed the potential of man's rebellion and fall. And there, before man was formed, it was decided that Jesus would leave the throne of heaven and become humanity's substitute.

Revelation 13:8

- Verse:
  "And all the inhabitants of the earth will worship it, everyone whose name has not been written from the foundation of the world in the book of life of the Lamb that was slain."

- Explanation:
  This verse speaks of a future time when people will worship the beast, a symbol of opposition to God and His authority. It emphasizes the distinction between those who follow the beast and those whose names are written in the book of life—the record of those who belong to God and will receive eternal life through faith in Jesus Christ. The phrase "from the foundation of the world" indicates that God's plan for salvation was established before the creation of the world, highlighting His sovereignty and foreknowledge. The reference to "the Lamb that was slain" points to Jesus' sacrificial death, emphasizing His role in redemption.

1 Peter 1:19-20

- Verse 19:

  "But with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without defect or blemish."

- Verse 20:

  "He was destined before the foundation of the world, but was revealed at the end of the ages for your sake."

- Explanation:
  In these verses, Peter emphasizes the significance of Christ's sacrificial death. The "precious blood of Christ" signifies the value and importance of Jesus' sacrifice, which was perfect and without sin (represented by "a lamb without defect or blemish"). This imagery connects back to the sacrificial system in the Old Testament, where lambs were offered for atonement.

The phrase "destined before the foundation of the world" reaffirms the idea that God had a plan for redemption in place from the very beginning. It highlights the intentionality of Christ's coming and sacrifice, which was revealed at the right time in history ("at the end of the ages"), fulfilling God's redemptive plan for humanity.

If Jesus was merely a created super-being, then His death for man's redemption is no better than an angel dying for us. If Christ is not deity itself, then any angel or sinless created being could have served the purpose. This would have virtually sustained Satan's charge that God is selfish by demonstrating that He is only willing to sacrifice His creation and not Himself.
Sin causes separation from the Creator. Isaiah 59:2:
"But your iniquities have separated you from your God; your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear."
The iniquities of the human race were placed upon the Son of God. Isaiah 53:6:

"All we like sheep have gone astray; we have all turned to our own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all."

When Jesus hung on the cross, suffering for our sins, every fiber of His being was torn as the eternal relationship with His Father and Spirit was ripped apart. In agony He cried out, “My God [for the Father], my God [for the Spirit], why hast thou forsaken me?” (Matthew 27:46). If there had been only one person in the Godhead, there would not have been this excruciating pain of separation to wring the life out of the heart of Jesus.

The real risk in the redemption plan, besides the loss of man, was the breakup of the Godhead. Yet the Godhead was still willing to take this fragmenting risk for the salvation of man. This reveals the depth of God’s amazing love.

Standing on the shores of time, I am trying to get into this little finite mind things which are infinite. Likewise, let us be content things that we cannot yet know. If you read old testament you will understand how little Jews know today without the new testament about God.

It would be pompous and preposterous to pretend that we understand everything about God.

“O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!” (Romans 11:33).

Nevertheless, there is much about God that is revealed for our blessing.

“The secret things belong unto the LORD our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever” (Deuteronomy 29:29).

What is revealed is that this teaching of the trinity must be important to God. The ministry of Jesus both begins and ends with an emphasis on the three persons in the Godhead. The Father, Son, and Spirit are present at Jesus’ baptism and when He ascends to heaven. Jesus commanded His followers to baptize in the name of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

The testimony of Scripture indicates that the Godhead can neither be separated into three Gods nor merged into one person. This three-in-one not only created us, but they love us and devised an amazing plan to save a lost world from sin to restore us to His presence in paradise.

“The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all. Amen” (2 Corinthians 13:14).

Matthew 28:19:

"Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

Acts 2:38. According to the translation, it states:

"Peter said to them, 'Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ so that your sins may be forgiven, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

Acts 8:16 : "for as yet the Spirit had not come upon any of them; they had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus."

Acts 10:48 : "So he ordered them to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ. Then they invited him to stay for several days."

Acts 19:5 : "On hearing this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus."

Romans 6:3-4 : "Do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death? Therefore we have been buried with him by baptism into death, so that, just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, so we too might walk in newness of life."

Matthew 1:21 : "She will bear a son, and you are to name him Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins."

The name Yeshua is a shortened form of Yehoshua (יְהוֹשֻׁעַ), meaning "YHWH (the Lord) is salvation." It emphasizes God as the source of salvation, fulfilled through Jesus.

The name Yeshua (יֵשׁוּעַ), often rendered as Jesus in English, has a profound meaning rooted in Hebrew. It is derived from the Hebrew verb "yasha" (יָשַׁע), which means "to save" or "to deliver." Thus, Yeshua translates to "The Lord saves" or "Salvation of the Lord."

In Greek, the name Yeshua was transliterated as Iēsous (Ἰησοῦς), which became Jesus in English through Latin.

Isaiah 7:14

Translation:
"Therefore the Lord himself will give you a sign. Look, the young woman is with child and shall bear a son and shall name him Immanuel."

- Immanuel (עִמָּנוּ אֵל - ʿImmanu El): This Hebrew name means "God is with us."

Fulfillment:
In the New Testament, Matthew 1:23 cites this verse when referring to Jesus' birth:
"'Look, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel,' which means, 'God is with us.'"

Isaiah 9:6

Translation:
"For a child has been born for us, a son given to us; authority rests upon his shoulders, and he is named Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."

Prophetic Titles of Jesus:

1. Wonderful Counselor (פֶּלֶא יוֹעֵץ - Pele Yoetz): Reflecting His wisdom and guidance.
2. Mighty God (אֵל גִּבּוֹר - El Gibbor): Declaring His divine power and strength.
3. Everlasting Father (אֲבִי-עַד - Avi Ad): Signifying eternal care and presence.
4. Prince of Peace (שַׂר שָׁלוֹם - Sar Shalom): Emphasizing His role in bringing peace and reconciliation.

Colossians 1:15: "He is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of all creation."

John 14:9:"Jesus said to him, 'Have I been with you all this time, Philip, and you still do not know me? Whoever has seen me has seen the Father. How can you say, 'Show us the Father'?"

Hebrews 1:3: "He is the reflection of God's glory and the exact imprint of God's very being, and he sustains all things by his powerful word."

The phrase "exact imprint" (Greek: χαρακτὴρ - charaktēr), conveys that Jesus is the precise and perfect representation of God's nature.

Genesis 18:1–22

■The Promise of a Son

1 The Lord [YHWH, יְהוָה, Yahweh] appeared to Abraham by the oaks of Mamre, as he sat at the entrance of his tent in the heat of the day. 2 He looked up and saw three men standing near him. When he saw them, he ran from the tent entrance to meet them and bowed down to the ground. 3 He said, “My lord, if I find favor with you, do not pass by your servant. 4 Let a little water be brought, and wash your feet, and rest yourselves under the tree. 5 Let me bring a little bread, that you may refresh yourselves, and after that you may pass on, since you have come to your servant.” So they said, “Do as you have said.”

6 And Abraham hastened into the tent to Sarah and said, “Make ready quickly three measures of choice flour, knead it, and make cakes.” 7 Abraham ran to the herd and took a calf, tender and good, and gave it to the servant, who hastened to prepare it. 8 Then he took curds and milk and the calf that he had prepared and set it before them, and he stood by them under the tree while they ate.

9 They said to him, “Where is your wife Sarah?” And he said, “There, in the tent.” 10 Then one said, “I will surely return to you in due season, and your wife Sarah shall have a son.” And Sarah was listening at the tent entrance behind him. 11 Now Abraham and Sarah were old, advanced in age; it had ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women. 12 So Sarah laughed to herself, saying, “After I have grown old and my husband is old, shall I have pleasure?” 13 The Lord [YHWH] said to Abraham, “Why did Sarah laugh and say, ‘Shall I indeed bear a child, now that I am old?’ 14 Is anything too wonderful for the Lord [YHWH]? At the set time I will return to you, in due season, and Sarah shall have a son.” 15 But Sarah denied, saying, “I did not laugh,” for she was afraid. He said, “Oh yes, you did laugh.”

■Abraham Intercedes for Sodom

16 Then the men set out from there, and they looked toward Sodom, and Abraham went with them to set them on their way. 17 The Lord [YHWH] said, “Shall I hide from Abraham what I am about to do, 18 seeing that Abraham shall become a great and mighty nation, and all the nations of the earth shall be blessed in him? 19 No, for I have chosen him, that he may charge his children and his household after him to keep the way of the Lord [YHWH] by doing righteousness and justice, so that the Lord [YHWH] may bring about for Abraham what he has promised him." 20 Then the Lord [YHWH] said, "How great is the outcry against Sodom and Gomorrah and how very grave their sin! 21 I must go down and see whether they have done altogether according to the outcry that has come to me, and if not, I will know."

22 So the men turned from there and went toward Sodom, while Abraham remained standing before the Lord [YHWH].

Key Observations:

1. Human-like Characteristics of the Visitors:
    - They had feet to be washed and consumed physical food, appearing in human form.
    - Abraham referred to one of them as "my LORD" showing reverence.
2. Verse 21 says LORD is going to Sodom and Gomorrah next.

Key Theological Insights:

1. The Lord Appeared as a Man:
    - In Genesis 18, one of the three visitors is explicitly identified as the Lord (Hebrew: YHWH), suggesting a theophany—God appearing in human form.
    - Abraham interacted directly with the Lord, who ate food and spoke with him.

■Genesis 19:1–3 (NRSVue)

> The two angels arrived in Sodom in the evening, as Lot was sitting in the gate of Sodom. Then they said, "You may be on your way early," but Lot replied, "No, I will spend the night in the square."

In this account, two angels arrive in Sodom, and Lot, thinking they are merely men, meets them.

■Comparison: Genesis 18 vs. 19

In Genesis 18, three men appeared to Abraham, one of whom is later identified as the LORD (YHWH, יְהוָה). By Genesis 19, only two angels go to Sodom. The narrative prompts the question: Where is the third man, the LORD? LORD is with Abraham in Genesis 18, and going to Sodom and Gomorrah next.

■Genesis 18:22–25 (NRSVue)

> So the men turned from there and went toward Sodom, while Abraham remained standing before the LORD. Then Abraham came near and said, "Will you indeed sweep away the innocent along with the guilty? Suppose there are fifty innocent within the city; will you then wipe out the place and not forgive it for the sake of the fifty innocent who are in it? Far be it from you to do such a thing, to slay the righteous with the wicked, so that the righteous fare as the wicked! Far be that from you! Shall not the Judge of all the earth do what is just?"

Here, Abraham intercedes with the LORD, who is clearly identified as the Judge of all the earth.

■Genesis 18:26–33

Abraham continues his plea, reducing the count from 50 righteous people to just 10, asking the LORD to spare the city for their sake. In verse 33, it concludes:

> *"26 And the Lord [YHWH] said, "If I find at Sodom fifty righteous in the city, I will forgive the whole place for their sake." 27 Abraham answered, "Let me take it upon myself to speak to my lord, I who am but dust and ashes. 28 Suppose five of the fifty righteous are lacking? Will you destroy the whole city for lack of five?" And he said, "I will not destroy it if I find forty-five there." 29 Again he spoke to him, "Suppose forty are found there." He answered, "For the sake of forty I will not do it." 30 Then he said, "Oh, do not let my lord be angry if I speak. Suppose thirty are found there." He answered, "I will not do it if I find thirty there." 31 He said, "Let me take it upon myself to speak to my lord. Suppose twenty are found there." He answered, "For the sake of twenty I will not destroy it." 32 Then he said, "Oh, do not let my lord be angry if I speak just once more. Suppose ten are found there." He answered, "For the sake of ten I will not destroy it." 33 And the Lord [YHWH] went his way, when he had finished speaking to Abraham, and Abraham returned to his place."

The LORD, who had been present in human form, departs after the conversation. LORD departs to Sodom and Gomorrah as told in Genesis 18:21. (21 I must go down and see whether they have done altogether according to the outcry that has come to me, and if not, I will know.)

■Genesis 19:24 (NRSVue)

> “Then the LORD rained on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from the LORD out of heaven.”

This verse uniquely describes the LORD on Earth bringing down fire and brimstone from the LORD in heaven. This dual reference to "the LORD" is significant and has implications for understanding the nature of God in this narrative.

Genesis 19:25–27 (NRSVue)

> And he overthrew those cities, and all the Plain, and all the inhabitants of the cities, and what grew on the ground. But Lot’s wife, behind him, looked back, and she became a pillar of salt.
> Abraham went early in the morning to the place where he had stood before the LORD.

The Lord on Earth and in Heaven:

- In Genesis 19:24, it is written:
  “Then the Lord rained on Sodom and Gomorrah sulfur and fire from the Lord out of heaven.”
- This verse implies a distinction between the Lord present on Earth and the Lord in heaven, aligning with Trinitarian interpretations of God’s nature.

■Observations:

1. Genesis 18–19 shows the LORD appearing in human form. The LORD converses with Abraham, departs to Sodom, and is directly involved in the judgment.
2. The LORD acts both on Earth and from heaven. The text suggests a distinction in presence but unity in action, a concept that aligns with Trinitarian theology.

Salvation

The concept of salvation holds diverse meanings across cultures and belief systems. Depending on the context, salvation may refer to escaping danger, recovering from illness, or avoiding calamity. However, the focus of this study is not on physical deliverance but on the spiritual salvation of the soul—rescue from eternal damnation in hell and reconciliation with God. This salvation can be experienced during one's lifetime on earth and carries eternal significance.

■I. The Concept of ‘Salvation’ Among Different People

Even in the realm of spiritual salvation, there exist varied ideas and beliefs across cultures and religions:

1. Moksha/Mukti – Salvation Through Rebirth and Karma
    - Many believe that salvation is achieved by merging with the divine (Brahma/God) through successive cycles of rebirth.
    - In this system, sins are expiated through good works, and the soul continues to reincarnate until it attains liberation (moksha or mukti).
2. Salvation Through Judgment and the Hair-Thread Bridge
    - Another belief involves judgment after death, where each soul must traverse a fine, threadlike bridge. (Pulsirat)
    - Those deemed righteous reach the other side, while the wicked fall into hell below.
3. Union with the Almighty Through Works and Ascetic Practices
    - Some hold that salvation comes through merging with the Almighty via good deeds, meditation, self-sacrifice, and even extreme practices like fasting to the point of death.
4. National Salvation and Restoration
    - Certain groups anticipate a future national salvation in which they will be freed from oppression and their kingdom will be restored, with their deity reigning as king.
5. Salvation Through Purgatory
    - Another school of thought teaches that after death, souls are transferred to a temporary place (purgatory) to be purified of their sins.

- Through prayers and rituals performed by loved ones on earth, these souls are eventually promoted to heaven.

The Bible presents a radically different perspective on salvation compared to the concepts mentioned above.

For example, a person who believes in reincarnation may struggle to understand the concept of being “born again” as described in John 3:3–7.

3 In answer Jesus said to him: “Most truly I say to you, Unless anyone is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.”4 Nic·o·de'mus said to him: “How can a man be born when he is old? He cannot enter into the womb of his mother a second time and be born, can he?”5 Jesus answered: “Most truly I say to you, Unless anyone is born from water and spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.6 What has been born from the flesh is flesh, and what has been born from the spirit is spirit.7 Do not marvel because I told you, YOU people must be born again.

This study aims to explore the doctrine of salvation as revealed in Scripture, beginning with its foundation in the Old Testament and tracing its fulfillment in the New Testament. Biblical salvation is unique, transformative, and rooted in God’s grace and redemptive plan for humanity.

SALVATION IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

In the Old Testament, God’s work of salvation for humanity begins unfolding from the book of Genesis. As we examine the Scriptures, we see that the concept of salvation develops and transforms throughout Israel’s history, reflecting the progression of God’s redemptive plan.

■The Words Used

■The Hebrew Concept of "Yesa" and Its Variations

The Hebrew word "yesa" (יֵשַׁע) and its variations, such as "yesuah" (יְשׁוּעָה), convey rich meanings related to salvation. These terms encompass ideas like:

- "To save"
- "To keep safe and sound"
- "To rescue from danger or destruction"

Additionally, they imply "bringing into a special environment", emphasizing the relational and transformative aspects of salvation.

Scriptural Examples

1. Genesis 28:21
    - Jacob vows that God would bring him safely back:
      "So that I come again to my father's house in peace, then the LORD shall be my God."

2. Psalm 18:36
    - God enlarges the path to ensure safety:
      "You gave me a wide place for my steps under me, and my feet did not slip."

3. Psalm 66:12
    - Deliverance leads to abundance:
      "You let people ride over our heads; we went through fire and through water, yet you have brought us out to a spacious place."

■Salvation in the King James Version (KJV)

In the King James Version, the term "salvation" appears 113 times in the Old Testament and encompasses several nuanced meanings:

- Deliverance:
    - Exodus 14:15: "And the LORD said unto Moses, Wherefore criest thou unto me? speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward."
    - Psalm 3:8: "Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people."
    - Psalm 9:14: "That I may shew forth all thy praise in the gates of the daughter of Zion: I will rejoice in thy salvation."
- Victory:
    - 1 Samuel 14:15: "And there was trembling in the host, in the field, and among all the people: the garrison, and the spoilers, they also trembled, and the earth quaked: so it was a very great trembling."
- Prosperity:

- Psalm 118:25: "Save now, I beseech thee, O LORD: O LORD, I beseech thee, send now prosperity."

■The National and Individual Dimensions of Salvation

For Israel, salvation often referred to:

- Deliverance from dangers (e.g., enemies or natural calamities).
- Preservation leading to safety, health, or freedom.

This salvation frequently had national implications, reflecting the collective longing for deliverance alongside individual rescue. Israel's view of salvation intertwined with its identity as God's chosen people, seeking freedom and restoration both spiritually and materially.

■God's Saving Activity in the Old Testament

The Old Testament is abundant with accounts of God's saving actions, which illustrate His power, faithfulness, and ongoing involvement in the lives of His people.

Examples of Deliverance

1. Noah Delivered from the Flood
    - Genesis 9: After the flood, God establishes a covenant with Noah, signifying His saving grace and protection.
2. Lot Rescued from Sodom
    - Genesis 19: Lot is saved from the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, showcasing God's intervention on behalf of the righteous.
3. Focus on Israel
    - Following Abraham's call, God's saving work became particularly centered on Israel, His chosen people.

The Deliverance from Egypt: A Defining Moment

One of the most pivotal acts of salvation in the Old Testament is the Exodus from Egypt:

- Exodus 14:15
  "Stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord." (KJV)

This event shaped Israel's identity and was annually commemorated in the Passover feast:

- Deuteronomy 16:1: "Observe the month of Abib and keep the Passover to the LORD your God."
- Psalm 66:13–20: "I will come into your house with burnt offerings; I will pay you my vows."

God's Continuing Salvation for Israel

God's saving acts extended beyond Egypt to address various crises faced by Israel:

1. Battles
   - Numbers 10:9: "If you go to war in your land against the enemy that oppresses you, then you shall sound an alarm with the trumpets; and you shall be remembered before the LORD your God, and you shall be saved from your enemies."
2. Victory
   - Deuteronomy 20:4: "For the LORD your God is he who goes with you, to fight for you against your enemies, to give you the victory."
3. Deliverance from Trouble
   - Isaiah 33:2: "O LORD, be gracious to us; we wait for you. Be our arm every morning, our salvation in the time of trouble."

Personal Salvation

Salvation was not only collective but also deeply personal, as God delivered individuals from a variety of perils:

- Sickness: Healing from physical ailments.
- Imprisonment: Freedom from captivity.
- Hostility: Protection from enemies.
- Danger: Rescue from life-threatening situations.

God's saving activity demonstrates His role as both a communal Savior for His people and a personal deliverer for individuals in need.

■The Reason for God’s Salvation

God’s saving acts in the Old Testament were deeply rooted in His covenant with Abraham, highlighting His faithfulness rather than Israel’s goodness or merit.

Covenant Promises

God’s intervention was a direct result of His promises to Abraham:

1. The Promise to Abraham
    - Genesis 12:7: "Then the LORD appeared to Abram and said, 'To your offspring I will give this land.'"
    - Genesis 15:13–16: "Know this for certain, that your offspring shall be aliens in a land that is not theirs, and shall be slaves there, and they shall be oppressed for four hundred years; but I will bring judgment on the nation that they serve, and afterward they shall come out with great possessions."
2. God’s Response to Israel’s Cries
    - Exodus 2:23–24: "The Israelites groaned under their slavery, and cried out. Out of the slavery their cry for help rose up to God. God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob."

The Ark of the Covenant

The Ark of the Covenant symbolized God’s presence among His people, serving as a tangible assurance of His deliverance:

1. Symbol of Divine Presence
    - Exodus 25:22: "There I will meet with you, and from above the mercy seat, from between the two cherubim that are on the ark of the covenant, I will deliver to you all my commands for the Israelites."
2. Role in the Conquest of Jericho
    - Joshua 6:9: "The armed men went before the priests who blew the trumpets, and the rear guard came after the ark, while the trumpets blew continually."

However, when Israel treated the Ark as a mere ritual object and disobeyed God, salvation was withheld:

- 1 Samuel 4:1–11: The Ark was captured by the Philistines as Israel presumed upon God's favor without obedience. This event demonstrated that salvation depended on a faithful relationship with God, not on external symbols.

■God's Mercy in Salvation

Despite Israel's repeated disobedience, God's grace and mercy were evident whenever they cried out to Him.

Examples of Mercy

1. God's Compassion
    - Isaiah 33:2: "O LORD, be gracious to us; we wait for you. Be our arm every morning, our salvation in the time of trouble."
2. Raising Deliverers
    - Judges 3:9: "But when the Israelites cried out to the LORD, the LORD raised up a deliverer for the Israelites, who delivered them."
    - Judges 3:15: "But when the Israelites cried out to the LORD, the LORD raised up for them a deliverer, Ehud son of Gera."

The Pattern in Judges

The book of Judges illustrates a recurring cycle in Israel's history:

1. God saves His people from their enemies.
2. Israel forgets God and falls into sin.
3. God allows oppression to come upon them.
4. Israel cries out, and God mercifully raises a deliverer.

For example:

- Judges 6:14: "Then the LORD turned to him and said, 'Go in this might of yours and deliver Israel from the hand of Midian; I hereby commission you.'"
- Judges 3:9: "The LORD raised up a deliverer for the Israelites."

This cycle underscores God’s enduring faithfulness despite human failure.

The Old Testament provides a rich and multifaceted understanding of salvation, emphasizing God’s covenantal love, His saving power, and His ongoing work of deliverance for His people. Through both national and personal acts of salvation, God’s redemptive plan was revealed, preparing the way for the ultimate salvation through Christ in the New Testament.

In the Old Testament, salvation initially referred to deliverance in a broad sense, encompassing individual and national rescue from enemies, famine, or sickness. However, as history unfolded, particularly from the Psalms onwards, the concept of salvation evolved to include spiritual and moral dimensions.

■Spiritual Salvation in the Old Testament

Initially, salvation in the Old Testament focused on deliverance from external threats and physical hardships. However, as the writings of Isaiah and the later prophets developed, the concept of salvation expanded to include inward transformation, emphasizing righteousness and a restored relationship with God.

Salvation and Sin

Salvation came to be understood as not merely external rescue but also deliverance from sin, which acts as a barrier to experiencing God’s presence:

1. Sin as a Barrier
    - Isaiah 59:1: "See, the LORD's hand is not too short to save, nor his ear too dull to hear; but your iniquities have been barriers between you and your God."
2. Salvation as a Gift of Righteousness
    - Isaiah 61:10: "I will greatly rejoice in the LORD, my whole being shall exult in my God; for he has clothed me with the garments of salvation, he has covered me with the robe of righteousness."
3. Healing and Salvation as God’s Work
    - Jeremiah 17:14: "Heal me, O LORD, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved, for you are my praise."

The Exclusion of the Wicked

The wicked were excluded from salvation, highlighting the moral and spiritual requirements of deliverance:

1. The Barrier of Wickedness
    - Psalm 119:155: "Salvation is far from the wicked, for they do not seek your statutes."
2. Salvation for the Meek and Godly
    - Isaiah 12:3: "With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation."
    - Psalm 85:9: "Surely his salvation is near to those who fear him, that his glory may dwell in our land."
    - Psalm 86:2: "Preserve my life, for I am devoted to you; save your servant who trusts in you."
    - Psalm 149:4: "For the LORD takes pleasure in his people; he adorns the humble with victory."

■Recipients of Spiritual Salvation

Salvation became increasingly associated with inward qualities, such as humility, obedience, and devotion to God. Only the meek, godly, and repentant were considered worthy of receiving God's gift of salvation. This deeper understanding laid the foundation for the later emphasis on spiritual salvation in the New Testament.

■Why This Change in Understanding of Salvation?

Israel's history, particularly their repeated bondage under foreign nations—culminating in the Babylonian captivity—brought a profound realization: departing from God's ways resulted in suffering. This experience cultivated a longing for inward salvation, a transformation of the heart and spirit that would sustain their relationship with God.

God's Promise of Inner Renewal

The prophets revealed God's plan to address the root cause of Israel's suffering—their sinful hearts—through divine cleansing and renewal:

1. God’s Promise to Cleanse Hearts
    - Ezekiel 36:29: "I will save you from all your uncleanness."
    - Jeremiah 31:33: "But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the LORD: I will put my law within them, and I will write it on their hearts; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people."
2. David’s Prayer for Inner Renewal
    - Psalm 51:6: "You desire truth in the inward being; therefore teach me wisdom in my secret heart."

The Universality of Salvation

Isaiah introduced the idea that God’s salvation was not limited to Israel but extended to the Gentiles, making it universal:

1. Salvation for All Nations
    - Isaiah 49:6: "I will give you as a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth."
    - Isaiah 45:22: "Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other."
2. Echoed by Other Prophets
    - Micah 5:4: "And he shall stand and feed his flock in the strength of the LORD, in the majesty of the name of the LORD his God. And they shall live secure, for now he shall be great to the ends of the earth."
    - Psalm 67:7: "May God continue to bless us; let all the ends of the earth revere him."
    - Psalm 98:3: "He has remembered his steadfast love and faithfulness to the house of Israel. All the ends of the earth have seen the victory of our God."

■Significance of the Change

This shift toward inward renewal and universal salvation reflects God’s desire for a holistic transformation—spiritual, moral, and relational—that would not only restore Israel but also invite all nations to experience His salvation. This understanding laid the groundwork for the New Testament message of salvation through Jesus Christ, who fulfills these promises and extends them universally.

■The Method of Salvation

Isaiah laid out the method of spiritual salvation, emphasizing that it was centered on the suffering Servant of the Lord, the Messiah:

- Isaiah 53: This chapter prophetically describes the Servant who bears humanity's sins and brings salvation through His suffering and death.

Salvation was entirely God's work, initiated and accomplished for His purposes and glory:

1. Salvation by God's Initiative
    - Hosea 1:7: "I will save them by the LORD their God; I will not save them by bow, or by sword, or by war, or by horses, or by horsemen."
    - Jeremiah 30:10: "Then fear not, O Jacob my servant, declares the LORD, nor be dismayed, O Israel; for behold, I will save you from far away."
2. Salvation Reveals God's Righteousness
    - Isaiah 45:21: "There is no other god besides me, a righteous God and a Savior; there is no one besides me."
3. Salvation Demonstrates God's Power and Faithfulness
    - Deuteronomy 20:4: "For the LORD your God is he who goes with you, to fight for you against your enemies, to give you the victory."
    - Psalm 20:6: "Now I know that the LORD saves his anointed; he will answer him from his holy heaven with the saving power of his right hand."

Salvation was not earned but was an act of God's sovereign will:

- Isaiah 56:1: "Thus says the LORD: Maintain justice, and do what is right, for soon my salvation will come, and my deliverance will be revealed."
- Isaiah 45:8: "Shower, O heavens, from above, and let the skies rain down righteousness; let the earth open, that salvation may spring up, and let it cause righteousness to sprout up also."

■Conditions for Salvation

While salvation was God’s sovereign act, it was extended only to those who demonstrated the proper heart attitude, marked by trust, reliance, and obedience to God. Self-sufficiency and pride excluded individuals from receiving it.

1. The Poor and Humble
    - Joshua 5:15: "The commander of the LORD's army said to Joshua, 'Remove the sandals from your feet, for the place where you stand is holy.'"
    - Psalm 7:10: "My shield is with God, who saves the upright in heart."
    - Psalm 37:39: "The salvation of the righteous is from the LORD; he is their refuge in the time of trouble."
2. The Afflicted and Contrite
    - 2 Samuel 22:28: "You deliver a humble people, but your eyes are upon the haughty to bring them down."
    - Psalm 18:27: "For you deliver a humble people, but the haughty eyes you bring down."
    - Isaiah 57:15: "For thus says the high and lofty one who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: I dwell in the high and holy place, and also with those who are contrite and humble in spirit."
    - Isaiah 66:2: "This is the one to whom I will look: to the humble and contrite in spirit, who trembles at my word."
3. Those Who Confessed Their Need
    - Psalm 34:6: "This poor soul cried, and was heard by the LORD, and was saved from every trouble."
    - Isaiah 45:22: "Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other."
4. Those Who Feared God
    - Psalm 85:9: "Surely his salvation is at hand for those who fear him."
    - Isaiah 12:3: "With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation."

The Role of the Heart in Salvation

The attitude of the heart was critical for receiving God's salvation. A heart marked by humility, repentance, and submission to God's will opened the way to deliverance:

- Psalm 51:17: "The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart, O God, you will not despise."

■The Expectation from the Redeemed

God's act of salvation in the Old Testament required a response from those He redeemed. This response was expressed in worship, faithfulness, and moral responsibility, emphasizing the importance of honoring God for His deliverance.

Worship and Service by the Redeemed

The redeemed were called to worship God and dedicate their lives to His service:

- 1 Chronicles 16:23: "Sing to the LORD, all the earth. Proclaim his salvation from day to day."
- Isaiah 43:11–12: "I, I am the LORD, and besides me there is no savior. I declared and saved and proclaimed."

The redeemed were also expected to live in surrendered obedience, honoring God's purpose for their lives:

- Isaiah 49:6–7: "I will make you as a light to the nations, that my salvation may reach to the ends of the earth."
- Zechariah 8:13: "As you have been a byword of cursing among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so I will save you, and you shall be a blessing."

Recollection of Deliverance

The frequent recollection of God's deliverance, especially from Egypt, was central to Israel's identity. These reminders emphasized God's undeserved favor and called Israel to remain faithful:

- Deuteronomy 6:20–24: "When your children ask you in time to come, 'What is the meaning of the decrees and the statutes and the ordinances that the LORD our God has commanded you?' then you shall say, 'We were Pharaoh's slaves in Egypt, but the LORD brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand.'"

- Joshua 24:2–3: "Thus says the LORD, the God of Israel: Long ago, your ancestors lived beyond the Euphrates, but I took your father Abraham from beyond the river and led him through all the land of Canaan."

■The Progressive Unfolding of Salvation

The doctrine of salvation in the Old Testament unfolded gradually, moving from physical deliverance to a deeper spiritual understanding:

1. Early Emphasis on External Deliverance
   Initially, salvation focused on rescue from external threats, such as enemies, famine, or slavery.
2. Shift to Spiritual Transformation
   Over time, the concept of salvation expanded to address sin as the root cause of suffering, emphasizing inward renewal and transformation:
   - Isaiah 1:18–19: "Come now, let us argue it out, says the LORD: though your sins are like scarlet, they shall be like snow; though they are red like crimson, they shall become like wool."
3. Inclusivity of Salvation
   A growing awareness emerged that salvation was not only for the righteous but also extended to the undeserving, emphasizing God's grace.

■Fulfillment in the New Testament

While the seeds of the doctrine of salvation were planted in the Old Testament, they reached full development in the New Testament through Jesus Christ. The prophets foretold this salvation, though they did not fully grasp its scope or significance:

- 1 Peter 1:12: "It was revealed to them that they were serving not themselves but you, in regard to the things that have now been announced to you through those who brought the good news by the Holy Spirit sent from heaven."

This progression from physical deliverance to spiritual redemption highlights the continuity of God's plan, culminating in the person and work of Christ.

■Salvation in the New Testament

Salvation is a central theme of the New Testament, presenting the fulfillment of the truths progressively revealed in the Old Testament. As stated in Hebrews 1:1–2, "Long ago, God spoke to our ancestors in many and various ways by the prophets, but in these last days, he has spoken to us by a Son." Every aspect of salvation finds its completion in Jesus Christ, who is the full revelation of God's redemptive plan.

■The Words Used in the New Testament

1. Greek Terms

- Soteria (σωτηρία)
  This term encompasses meanings such as “to restore to health,” “to make whole,” or “deliverance.” It highlights the comprehensive nature of salvation.
    - Examples:
        - Jude 1:25: "To the only God our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, power, and authority."
        - Acts 7:25: "He supposed that his kinfolk would understand that God through him was rescuing them, but they did not understand."
        - Acts 27:20, 34: Paul assures the crew of deliverance during a storm, emphasizing both physical and divine salvation.
- Sozein (σῴζειν)
  This verb means “to save” and is used frequently to describe both physical and spiritual salvation.
    - Examples:
        - Matthew 8:25: "And they went and woke him up, saying, 'Lord, save us! We are perishing!'"
        - Matthew 14:30: Peter cried out, “Lord, save me!” when sinking into the water.
        - Matthew 9:22: Jesus tells the woman healed of a hemorrhage, “Your faith has made you well.”
        - Luke 7:50: Jesus declares to a forgiven sinner, “Your faith has saved you; go in peace.”
        - Luke 18:42: Jesus restores sight, saying, “Your faith has saved you.”

2. English Usage

The English word "salvation" translates these Greek terms to mean “to save,” “to deliver,” or “to heal.” The Gospel of Luke, in particular, frequently emphasizes the holistic nature of salvation, connecting it with:

- Healing: Physical restoration to health.
- Forgiveness: Spiritual reconciliation with God.
- Wholeness: Emotional and social restoration.
- New Life: A renewed relationship with God through Christ.

---

3. Spiritual Significance

In many New Testament passages, the word sozo transcends its physical implications to convey eternal life and spiritual transformation:

- Matthew 9:16ff: Jesus heals a paralyzed man, declaring his sins forgiven, demonstrating that salvation is both spiritual and physical.
- Mark 10:17ff / Luke 18:18ff: The rich young ruler seeks eternal life, illustrating that salvation addresses humanity's deepest spiritual needs.

This broad understanding of salvation in the New Testament reveals its dual dimensions: deliverance from physical harm and restoration to a right relationship with God through faith in Jesus Christ.

■The Rich Young Ruler

The story of the rich young ruler (cf. Matthew 19:16–25; Mark 10:17–27; Luke 18:18–27) provides profound insight into the spiritual depth of salvation. This narrative reveals that salvation transcends material possessions and human effort, requiring instead complete surrender and reliance on God’s grace.

Key Moments in the Narrative

1. The Ruler’s Question
   The rich young ruler approached Jesus, asking:
   “What must I do to inherit eternal life?” (Luke 18:18).
   His inquiry demonstrated a desire for spiritual salvation, yet it also revealed a misunderstanding—that eternal life could be earned through works or possessions.

2. Jesus' Challenge
   Jesus acknowledged the ruler's adherence to the commandments but highlighted the deeper issue of attachment to wealth. He said:
   "Sell all that you own and distribute the money to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; then come, follow me" (Luke 18:22).
   This statement emphasized the necessity of:
   - Humility: Recognizing human inadequacy to secure salvation.
   - Faith and Surrender: Trusting fully in God rather than material wealth.
3. The Ruler's Response
   Unable to part with his riches, the ruler left sorrowful, illustrating the difficulty of relinquishing worldly security for spiritual dependency on God.
4. The Disciples' Question
   The disciples, astonished, asked:
   "Who then can be saved?" (Luke 18:26).
   Jesus responded:
   "What is impossible for mortals is possible for God" (Luke 18:27).
   This pivotal statement underscores that salvation is not achievable by human effort but is a gift of God's grace and power.

Theological Implications

The story interconnects key terms—entering the kingdom of heaven, being saved, and receiving eternal life—all expressing the same reality:

- Salvation is holistic: It transforms every aspect of a person's life.
- Salvation is God's work: Human effort or possessions cannot secure it.
- Salvation demands surrender: Following Christ requires letting go of anything that competes with devotion to God.

■Three Noteworthy Aspects of Salvation in the New Testament

1. Comprehensive Nature
   Salvation encompasses physical healing, spiritual renewal, forgiveness of sins, and eternal life. It is holistic, addressing the whole person.

2. Divine Initiative
   Salvation is entirely God's work, accomplished through Jesus Christ. It is not earned but received by grace through faith:

   "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God—not the result of works, so that no one may boast." (Ephesians 2:8–9,)

3. Present and Future Reality
   Salvation has a present impact on a believer's life—bringing transformation, peace, and purpose—while also offering the hope of eternal life in the kingdom of heaven:

   "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life." (John 3:16,)
   "I am confident of this, that the one who began a good work among you will bring it to completion by the day of Jesus Christ." (Philippians 1:6,)

Through these elements, the New Testament fully unveils God's ultimate plan for humanity's redemption, fulfilling the partial revelations of the Old Testament and demonstrating the depth of His love and grace.

Salvation was central to our Lord's ministry, as clearly shown in the New Testament. The narrative begins with the story of Christ's birth, where the angels declared His mission to save humanity from sin:

- "She will bear a son, and you are to name him Jesus, for he will save his people from their sins." (Matthew 1:21,)
- "Look, the virgin shall conceive and bear a son, and they shall name him Emmanuel," which means, "God is with us." (Matthew 1:23,)
- "My spirit rejoices in God my Savior." (Luke 1:47,)
- "To you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is the Messiah, the Lord." (Luke 2:11,)

Even His enemies recognized His role in this mission:

- "He saved others; he cannot save himself. He is the King of Israel; let him come down from the cross now, and we will believe in him." (Matthew 27:42,)

■Christ's Ministry and the Purpose of Salvation

Christ's ministry was rooted in the Old Testament concept of salvation, yet He brought a deeper, spiritual, and universal application. Through His person and work, He embodied "God's salvation":

- "For my eyes have seen your salvation." (Luke 2:30,)
- "And all flesh shall see the salvation of God." (Luke 3:6,)
- "He has raised up a mighty savior for us in the house of his servant David." (Luke 1:69,)
- "To give knowledge of salvation to his people by the forgiveness of their sins." (Luke 1:77,)
- "Today salvation has come to this house, because he too is a son of Abraham." (Luke 19:9,)

Christ clarified that salvation transcends physical and environmental deliverance, focusing on the restoration of the soul. He came "to seek and save the lost," akin to a physician bringing healing:

- "For the Son of Man came to save the lost." (Matthew 18:11–13,)
- "One day, while he was teaching, Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting nearby... and the power of the Lord was with him to heal." (Luke 5:17,)
- "Who will not receive a hundredfold now in this age—houses, brothers, sisters, mothers, children, and fields, with persecutions—and in the age to come, eternal life." (Mark 10:30,)

■The Nature of Salvation

Salvation, as presented by Christ, leads individuals into the kingdom of heaven, offering security and peace in this life and the world to come. This deeper understanding of salvation—eternal fellowship with God—was so compelling that His disciples endured persecution for its sake:

- "And you, Capernaum, will you be exalted to heaven? No, you will be brought down to Hades." (Luke 10:15,)
- "I tell you, my friends, do not fear those who kill the body, and after that can do nothing more." (Luke 12:4,)

■Salvation as Eternal Life

In the Gospel of John, salvation is described as “eternal life,” defined by personal and intimate knowledge of Christ:

- "And this is eternal life, that they may know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom you have sent." (John 17:3,)
- "That whoever believes in him may have eternal life." (John 3:15,)
- "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life." (John 3:16,)
- "Indeed, God did not send the Son into the world to condemn the world but in order that the world might be saved through him." (John 3:17,)
- "I give them eternal life, and they will never perish. No one will snatch them out of my hand." (John 10:28,)

This eternal life is not merely endless existence but a new, divine quality of life that belongs to God Himself. In contrast, separation from God leads to eternal destruction for the soul.

■Summary

Salvation in the New Testament is more than deliverance; it is the gift of eternal, abundant life with God. Christ’s purpose was to bring this salvation to humanity, revealing its profound and transformative nature through His teachings and sacrifice.

■Salvation: The Central Message of the Early Church

Salvation was the central message of the early Church’s witness. This is evident throughout the New Testament, where it is emphasized as the primary focus of their preaching and teaching:

- "For the promise is for you, for your children, and for all who are far away, everyone whom the Lord our God calls to him." (Acts 2:39,)
- "She followed Paul and us and cried out, 'These men are slaves of the Most High God, who proclaim to you a way of salvation.'" (Acts 16:17,)
- "Then they said, 'Believe in the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household.'" (Acts 16:30–31,)
- "And Jesus came and said to them, 'All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, and teaching them to obey everything that I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age.'" (Matthew 28:18–20,)

- "There is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among mortals by which we must be saved." (Acts 4:12,)

The early Christians recognized that the purpose of the Church's existence on earth was solely to proclaim the gospel of salvation.

■A Zealous Proclamation

The apostles and early believers preached with great zeal and faithfulness because they understood the eternal consequences of rejecting the salvation provided by God through Jesus Christ's sufferings and sacrifice. The Church firmly believed that without experiencing this salvation, people would face eternal condemnation.

This conviction is reflected in their unwavering commitment to proclaim Christ as the only path to salvation:

- "For everyone who calls on the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10:13,)
- "For the message about the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." (1 Corinthians 1:18,)

■The Cost of Proclaiming Salvation

The apostles and early believers were fully aware that there was no other path to salvation apart from Christ. This understanding drove them to endure persecution and hardships, even to the point of death, as they sought to share the message of salvation. Their willingness to suffer underscores the value they placed on this mission:

- "Then they left the council rejoicing because they had been considered worthy to suffer dishonor for the sake of the name." (Acts 5:41,)
- "For to me, living is Christ and dying is gain." (Philippians 1:21,)
- "Indeed, all who want to live a godly life in Christ Jesus will be persecuted." (2 Timothy 3:12,)

The early Church's unwavering dedication highlights the importance of salvation as the heart of the gospel message and the urgency of sharing it with the world.

■Salvation in Apostolic Teaching

Salvation was a central theme in the apostolic teaching of the New Testament. The apostle Paul, in particular, provided an extensive explanation of the doctrine of salvation. He emphasized that salvation cannot be obtained through the law:

- "For no human being will be justified in his sight by deeds prescribed by the law, for through the law comes the knowledge of sin." (Romans 3:20,)
- "Yet we know that a person is justified not by the works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ. And we have come to believe in Christ Jesus, so that we might be justified by faith in Christ, and not by doing the works of the law, because no one will be justified by the works of the law." (Galatians 2:16,)

Instead, the gospel of Christ presents salvation as a free gift from God, justifying those who have faith in Jesus:

- "They are now justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." (Romans 3:24,)

Paul viewed the gospel as the power of God for salvation, delivering from sin and leading to a life marked by holiness:

- "For I am not ashamed of the gospel; it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who has faith, to the Jew first and also to the Greek." (Romans 1:16,)

■The Conditions and Uniqueness of Salvation

The conditions for initial salvation include repentance, renouncing sin, and trusting in God’s grace demonstrated in Christ. The salvation offered through the gospel is unique and distinct:

- "There is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among mortals by which we must be saved." (Acts 4:12,)
- "The saying is sure and worthy of full acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners—of whom I am the foremost." (1 Timothy 1:15,)

The entire work of salvation is completed in Christ, as humans can contribute nothing to it—it is entirely a gift from God.

■Salvation in Hebrews

The writer of Hebrews highlights several aspects of salvation:

- "How can we escape if we neglect so great a salvation? It was declared at first through the Lord, and it was attested to us by those who heard him." (Hebrews 2:3,)
- Christ is the author and captain of salvation:
    - "It was fitting that God, for whom and through whom all things exist, in bringing many children to glory, should make the pioneer of their salvation perfect through sufferings." (Hebrews 2:10,)
    - "And having been made perfect, he became the source of eternal salvation for all who obey him." (Hebrews 5:9,)
- He saves completely:
    - "Consequently he is able for all time to save those who approach God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them." (Hebrews 7:25,)
- Angels serve those who will inherit salvation:
    - "Are not all angels spirits in the divine service, sent to serve for the sake of those who are to inherit salvation?" (Hebrews 1:14,)

■Salvation in Peter’s Writings

Peter connects salvation to the understanding of Old Testament believers:

- "Concerning this salvation, the prophets who prophesied of the grace that was to be yours made careful search and inquiry." (1 Peter 1:10,)
- He underscores the incomparable cost of salvation:
    - "You know that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your ancestors, not with perishable things like silver or gold." (1 Peter 1:18,)
- Despite its significance, the Jewish people rejected their Messiah:
    - "Come to him, a living stone, though rejected by mortals yet chosen and precious in God’s sight." (1 Peter 2:4,)

■Salvation in John and Jude

John highlights salvation’s centrality:

- "And we have seen and do testify that the Father has sent his Son as the Savior of the world." (1 John 4:14,)
- Jesus' role in salvation includes:
    - Taking away sins ("You know that he was revealed to take away sins, and in him there is no sin." 1 John 3:5,)
    - Defeating the devil ("The Son of God was revealed for this purpose, to destroy the works of the devil." 1 John 3:8,)
    - Bringing eternal life ("He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world." 1 John 2:2,)

Jude underscores Christ's sustaining power:

- "Now to him who is able to keep you from falling, and to make you stand without blemish in the presence of his glory with rejoicing." (Jude 1:24,)

■Salvation in Revelation

The theme of salvation is celebrated in heavenly worship:

- "Salvation belongs to our God who is seated on the throne, and to the Lamb!" (Revelation 7:10,)
- "They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." (Revelation 7:14,)
- "After this I heard what seemed to be the loud voice of a great multitude in heaven, saying, 'Hallelujah! Salvation and glory and power to our God.'" (Revelation 19:1,)

Salvation is indeed the central theme of both the Old and New Testaments. Like many biblical doctrines, the full understanding of salvation is progressively revealed throughout Scripture. In the early parts of the Old Testament, salvation primarily refers to physical deliverance and protection from danger. However, as the biblical narrative unfolds, particularly in the writings of the prophets and later in the New Testament, the concept deepens to include spiritual salvation—deliverance from sin, Satan, and eternal punishment.

The New Testament emphasizes that salvation is found solely in Jesus Christ. His life, death, and resurrection are the fulfillment of God's plan for redemption, providing humanity with a way to be saved. The Bible consistently affirms that there is no other path to salvation except through Jesus. This truth is clear and unambiguous, making salvation through Christ the cornerstone of Christian faith and teaching.

The need for salvation

We have seen already that most people on the earth do long for a salvation. But their concept or ideology is different. They do know that they need to be saved, but no clear picture of the basic reason or the method. In fact in Christ's time the pagan world was desperately seeking for peace and security in the midst of uncertainty of life and even the terror of death. It was this search that resulted in various religions.

But the word of God sets forth a complete picture of salvation. We have considered a panoramic view of the doctrine of salvation revealed both in the Old Testament as well as the New Testament.

The Bible reveals the basic need of man and the kind of salvation he is in need of. His need is not just salvation from enemy or disease. His need is spiritual salvation and internal change. That's what Christ offers through His work of salvation.

What is the need for such a salvation? -- HE IS IN DANGER.

The Bible very clearly says that as far as His spiritual life is concerned, man is in a dangerous condition. He may not be aware of it. Even he / she may not feel much about this perilous state. Notice that often a patient is not aware of some of the serious sicknesses he is having in his body. Experts may notice it from certain symptoms. A thorough investigation alone will reveal the true state of his health.

Similarly we may feel good in the normal sense but close examination will show certain symptoms. Bible not only refers to the symptoms of man's dangerous spiritual state but it reveals the true estate of man as well.

■Indwelling Sin Nature in Humanity

Sin's Rule in the Mortal Body

The Bible asserts that sin reigns in the mortal body of man, enslaving him to its power. The Apostle Paul writes:

- "Therefore, do not let sin exercise dominion in your mortal bodies, to make you obey their passions." (Romans 6:12,)
- "But in fact it is no longer I that do it, but sin that dwells within me. For I know that nothing good dwells within me, that is, in my flesh. I can will what is right, but I cannot do it. For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want is what I do." (Romans 7:17–20,)

Paul describes a constant struggle within man, where he desires to do good but finds himself unable to overcome the force of sin working within him. This inherited sin nature stems from Adam:

- "Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death came through sin, and so death spread to all because all have sinned." (Romans 5:12,)

Modern Denial of Sin: Fact or Fiction?

Many today find it convenient to deny the existence of sin, relegating it to mere habits, weaknesses, or circumstances. Some even romanticize sin, referring to it as an art. However, to deny sin is to reject undeniable realities:

1. Scriptural Statements
    - The Bible is explicit about humanity's sinful state: "All have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." (Romans 3:23,)
2. Religious Belief
    - Most religions acknowledge the problem of human sinfulness and its need for redemption.
3. Personal Failures
    - Our daily experiences of moral failures testify to the reality of sin.
4. Present-Day Crimes
    - Crimes and injustices are outward manifestations of humanity's inward sinful nature.
5. Precautionary Measures
    - The very existence of locks, security systems, and police highlights the acknowledgment of sin's effects.

Though man may trivialize sin, God takes it seriously. Sin is destructive, affecting both this life and the life to come.

■The Entrance of Sin

The Mystery of Sin's Origin

The origin of sin remains a profound mystery. Moses hints at this mystery:

- "The secret things belong to the Lord our God, but the revealed things belong to us and to our children forever, to observe all the words of this law." (Deuteronomy 29:29,)

Sin is first manifested in Satan:

- "How you are fallen from heaven, O Day Star, son of Dawn! How you are cut down to the ground, you who laid the nations low!" (Isaiah 14:12,)
- "You were blameless in your ways from the day that you were created, until iniquity was found in you." (Ezekiel 28:15,)
- "And the angels who did not keep their own position but left their proper dwelling, he has kept in eternal chains in deepest darkness for the judgment of the great day." (Jude 1:6,)

From Satan, sin entered humanity through Adam's disobedience:

- "Now the serpent was more crafty than any other wild animal that the Lord God had made. He said to the woman, 'Did God say, "You shall not eat from any tree in the garden"?' The woman said to the serpent, 'We may eat of the fruit of the trees in the garden; but God said, "You shall not eat of the fruit of the tree that is in the middle of the garden, nor shall you touch it, or you shall die."' But the serpent said to the woman, 'You will not die; for God knows that when you eat of it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil.' So when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise, she took of its fruit and ate; and she also gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate." (Genesis 3:1–6,)

Through Adam's sin, all humanity inherited a sinful nature:

- "Indeed, I was born guilty, a sinner when my mother conceived me." (Psalm 51:5,)
- "But in fact it is no longer I that do it, but sin that dwells within me." (Romans 7:17,)

Sin is an undeniable reality, ruling the hearts of men and wreaking havoc in every aspect of life. While humanity may seek to deny or diminish its seriousness, God knows that sin's consequences are both immediate and eternal. It is only through Christ that the power of sin can be broken, offering hope and redemption to a fallen world.

That means one is not a sinner because he has committed a certain sin. He is a sinner primarily because he is born in Adam's race. Sin is primarily a nature with which we are born.

That's why we don't need to teach our children to commit sin. In spite of all our effort to teach them the right path, they do deviate somewhere because of the indwelling sin nature, inherited from forefathers. It is in their blood.

So this is the most serious state of man. He is a sinner by birth. Sin rules in his heart. That is the number one problem man is facing today. This leads to further terrifying situations in life as mentioned below:

■2. Separation from God

Sin's Consequence: Separation

Sin creates a chasm between humanity and God. The Bible emphasizes that sin separates man from a holy God, making it impossible for a sinful heart to approach Him. This separation began in the Garden of Eden:

- "They heard the sound of the Lord God walking in the garden at the time of the evening breeze, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden." (Genesis 3:8,)
- "But the Lord God called to the man, and said to him, 'Where are you?'" (Genesis 3:9,)

Isaiah reiterates this truth:

- "Rather, your iniquities have been barriers between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear." (Isaiah 59:2,)

Humanity as Lost Sheep

The Bible compares the state of sinful humanity to lost sheep, highlighting their helplessness and need for a shepherd:

- "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have all turned to our own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all." (Isaiah 53:6,)
- "For you were going astray like sheep, but now you have returned to the shepherd and guardian of your souls." (1 Peter 2:25,)

Like sheep, humans are vulnerable and defenseless without their shepherd. They wander, endangering themselves, and remain unable to return to safety without divine intervention.

The Lost State of Humanity

In Luke 15, Jesus uses three parables to illustrate humanity's lost condition and God's pursuit to restore them:

1. The Lost Sheep
    - "And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep that was lost.'" (Luke 15:6,) 2. The Lost Coin
    - "When she has found it, she calls together her friends and neighbors, saying, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found the coin that I had lost.'" (Luke 15:9,)
3. The Prodigal Son
    - "For this son of mine was dead and is alive again; he was lost and is found!" (Luke 15:24,)

In each example, the lost item (sheep, coin, son) remains lost until actively sought and restored by the shepherd, owner, or father. This mirrors humanity's inability to return to God on their own.

Effects of Being Away from God

Man, separated from God, experiences difficulty and danger:

- Emotionally, physically, and socially
    - Weakness, exploitation, and isolation are common.
- Spiritually
    - Humanity is sick and straying, losing sight of God's presence and guidance.
- Hopelessness
    - Some wander so far from God that they seem beyond reach, as described in:
        - "He lays it on his shoulders and rejoices." (Luke 15:6,)
        - "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." (John 10:11,)

The Eternal Consequence

Being away from God not only brings earthly difficulties but also leads to eternal damnation without hope:

- "There is no one who is righteous, not even one; there is no one who has understanding, there is no one who seeks God. All have turned aside; together they have become worthless; there is no one who shows kindness, there is not even one." (Romans 3:10–12,)
- "Remember that you were at that time without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and without God in the world. But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ." (Ephesians 2:12–13,)

■Conclusion

Man’s separation from God is a devastating result of sin, rendering humanity lost and incapable of finding their way back. It is only through salvation, offered by Jesus Christ, that the chasm between God and man can be bridged, restoring hope, security, and eternal life.

■3. Inability to Understand the Things of God

The Darkened State of Human Intelligence

Sin has profoundly affected human understanding, particularly in matters related to God and spirituality. While humanity has achieved great advancements in technology and knowledge, there remains an inherent inability to grasp the things of God. This is evident in moral and spiritual issues, where human wisdom often falls short.

Paul describes this condition in Romans:

- "For though they knew God, they did not honor him as God or give thanks to him, but they became futile in their thinking, and their senseless minds were darkened. Claiming to be wise, they became fools." (Romans 1:21–22,)

The Conflict Between Knowledge and Conduct

Despite an awareness of what is good and a desire for a pure, right, and peaceful life, humanity fails to live according to these principles. Paul highlights this internal struggle:

- "I do not understand my own actions. For I do not do what I want, but I do the very thing I hate." (Romans 7:15,)
- "For I delight in the law of God in my inmost self, but I see in my members another law at war with the law of my mind, making me captive to the law of sin that dwells in my members. Wretched man that I am! Who will rescue me from this body of death? Thanks be to God through Jesus Christ our Lord!" (Romans 7:22–25,)

This reveals the deep conflict between human understanding and human behavior, a result of sin's corrupting influence on the mind.

A Corrupt and Darkened Mind

Paul identifies the root cause of this issue: a corrupt and darkened intelligence incapable of comprehending divine truths.

- "Those who are unspiritual do not receive the gifts of God's Spirit, for they are foolishness to them, and they are unable to understand them because they are spiritually discerned." (1 Corinthians 2:14,)

Although man has some awareness of God and His laws, the sinful mind opposes and rejects divine truths:

- "To set the mind on the flesh is death, but to set the mind on the Spirit is life and peace. For this reason the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God; it does not submit to God's law—indeed it cannot." (Romans 8:6–7,)

This corruption prevents humanity from appreciating, enjoying, or discerning the things of God.

A Hostile Mindset

The Bible further explains that the mind governed by the flesh is not only incapable of understanding God but actively opposes Him:

- "Enmities, strife, jealousy, anger, quarrels, dissensions, factions." (Galatians 5:20,)

- "For he is our peace; in his flesh he has made both groups into one and has broken down the dividing wall, that is, the hostility between us." (Ephesians 2:14,)
- "Do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Therefore, whoever wishes to be a friend of the world becomes an enemy of God." (James 4:4,)

Characteristics of a Fleshly Mind

The mind set on the flesh exhibits the following traits:

- Pride and Arrogance: Elevating oneself above others and rejecting God's authority.
- Selfishness and Competitiveness: Focusing solely on personal gain at the expense of others.
- Active Opposition to God: Resisting His purposes and rejecting His truth.

The inability to understand the things of God stems from the corrupt and darkened nature of humanity's intelligence due to sin. Without divine intervention, humanity remains in this state, unable to appreciate or discern spiritual truths. Salvation, brought about by the Spirit of God, is the only solution to this spiritual blindness and hostility.

It is from such reprobate and corrupt mind man needs deliverance. More than the wisdom of this world he needs the wisdom of God. He needs the light of God shown in to his darkened heart so that he can see things properly. That makes salvation very important and essential.

■4. Lost the Life of God

Dead in Sins and Trespasses

The Bible portrays humanity's condition as being "dead" in sins and trespasses, which may seem paradoxical since humans are physically alive. This spiritual death signifies the loss of divine life and the ability to relate with God.

Paul describes this state clearly:

- "You were dead through the trespasses and sins in which you once lived, following the course of this world, following the ruler of the power of the air, the spirit that is now at work among those who are disobedient." (Ephesians 2:1–2,)

- "When you were dead in trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, God made you alive together with him, when he forgave us all our trespasses." (Colossians 2:13,)

Death in the Garden of Eden

This spiritual death originated in the Garden of Eden. God warned Adam and Eve of the consequences of disobedience:

- "But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat of it you shall die." (Genesis 2:17,)

When they ate the forbidden fruit, they did not die physically but experienced spiritual death. This resulted in:

1. Separation from God: They lost divine life and fellowship with their Creator.
2. Awareness of Sin: "Then the eyes of both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together and made loincloths for themselves." (Genesis 3:7,)

The Implications of Spiritual Death

Being spiritually dead is far more severe than being lost or intellectually blinded. It means there is no innate ability or resource within humanity to restore the connection with God.

1. Dead Yet Walking
   Despite being spiritually dead, humans are active in their sinfulness. This is because:

- "The ruler of the power of the air" (Ephesians 2:2) energizes them to follow the ways of the world.
- They are alive to sin and uncleanness but dead to God and holiness.

2. A Condition Beyond Repair
   If humanity were merely lost, like sheep, or intellectually misguided, there might be hope for self-repair or recovery. However, spiritual death leaves no room for self-improvement.

A Spiritually Darkened State

Though spiritually dead, humans retain a "spirit part," indicating that they are more than physical beings. However, this spirit is:

- Darkened: Unable to perceive or connect with divine truths.
- Disconnected: Lacking the life and holiness of God.
- Corrupted: Active in rebellion and uncleanness.

Paul summarizes this state:

- "For the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God; it does not submit to God's law—indeed it cannot." (Romans 8:7,)

The Need for Divine Intervention

In this state of spiritual death, humanity's only hope lies in God's intervention. As Paul proclaims:

- "But God, who is rich in mercy, out of the great love with which he loved us even when we were dead through our trespasses, made us alive together with Christ—by grace you have been saved." (Ephesians 2:4–5,)

Humanity's spiritual death highlights the severity of sin's consequences. It is only through the grace of God, manifested in Christ's redemptive work, that this dead state can be transformed into new life.

To escape the bondage from Devil, and relate with God, he needs the life of God. He must be quickened and brought to a spiritual life again. That's what salvation through Christ happens to a sinner. This dead state of man makes salvation through Christ very important as well as essential.

■5. Awaiting Eternal Judgment

The Reality of Judgment

The Bible unequivocally declares that every person faces judgment after death:

- "And just as it is appointed for mortals to die once, and after that the judgment." (Hebrews 9:27,)

This judgment is eternal and leads to one of two destinies: eternal life or eternal separation from God in hell. Sin, when unrepented and unredeemed, results in condemnation:

- "Now the works of the flesh are obvious: fornication, impurity, licentiousness… those who do such things will not inherit the kingdom of God." (Galatians 5:19, 21,)

John's Revelation paints a vivid picture of the final judgment:

- "Then I saw a great white throne and the one who sat on it… and the dead were judged according to their works." (Revelation 20:11–12,)
- "But as for the cowardly, the faithless, the polluted, the murderers, the fornicators, the sorcerers, the idolaters, and all liars, their place will be in the lake that burns with fire and sulfur, which is the second death." (Revelation 21:8,)

The Danger of Eternal Separation

The most perilous consequence of sin is eternal separation from God. Ezekiel reinforces this principle:

- "The person who sins shall die." (Ezekiel 18:20,)

This spiritual death culminates in eternal punishment:

1. The Finality of Judgment:
   There is no second chance or opportunity for repentance after death. The decision about one’s eternal destiny is determined in this life.
2. Hell as a Reality:
   The Bible describes hell as a place of unending torment and separation from God, emphasizing the gravity of sin’s consequences.

The Urgency of Salvation

Given the inevitability of death and judgment, it is vital to seek salvation while there is still time:

- "How can we escape if we neglect so great a salvation?" (Hebrews 2:3,)

This salvation, offered through Christ, is the only remedy for sin’s consequences. Jesus’ sacrifice is God's provision to rescue humanity from eternal judgment:

- "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life." (John 3:16,)

God's Perspective Versus Human Denial

Many people fail to acknowledge their need for salvation, either because they are unaware of their fallen state or unwilling to admit their sin. Humanity often evaluates itself optimistically, but God's assessment reveals the truth:

- "God looks down from heaven on humankind to see if there are any who are wise, who seek after God." (Psalm 53:2,)

It is not human opinion but divine evaluation that matters, for all must one day stand before God and give an account of their lives.

The Wisdom of Seeking Salvation

Understanding humanity's true condition and its eternal implications leads to the recognition of the necessity of salvation. The Bible calls it "so great a salvation" because of its immeasurable worth and eternal significance.
So, man needs salvation because of these five reasons:-

i. Indwelling sin and its consequences. (He is a sinner)
ii. He lost divine presence. (He is lost)
iii. He lost the ability to understand the things of God. (He is blind)
iv. He lost the very life of God. (He is dead)
v. He will have to stand before the judgment (He is guilty)

Conclusion

We can definitely elaborate the dangerous state of man in more ways. The basic issue is his sin. All the other things are the consequences of it. Due to sin he lost the glory of God, fellowship with God, lost his freedom. He is under bondage. Much of the mental, physical disorder is due to sin. He is guilty and condemned. He is dead spiritually and facing physical death and eternal death as well.

If a person fails to accept salvation during their earthly life, they face eternal separation from God. The consequences of sin are both immediate and eternal. The Bible highlights the severity of this loss:

- "Now we know that whatever the law says, it speaks to those who are under the law, so that every mouth may be silenced, and the whole world may be held accountable to God; for no human being will be justified in his sight by deeds prescribed by the law, for through the law comes the knowledge of sin." (Romans 3:19–20,)

Sin separates humanity from God, and without salvation, the consequences are devastating:

- "But your iniquities have made a separation between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear." (Isaiah 59:2,)

Without deliverance, sin leads to eternal condemnation:

- "You are to deliver this man to Satan for the destruction of the flesh, so that his spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord." (1 Corinthians 5:5,)
- "He has rescued us from the power of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of his beloved Son." (Colossians 1:13,)
- "And you were dead in the trespasses and sins." (Ephesians 2:1,)
- "Therefore, just as sin came into the world through one man, and death came through sin, and so death spread to all because all have sinned." (Romans 5:12,)

The eternal result of sin, without salvation, is an unchangeable fate:

- "The soul who sins shall die." (Ezekiel 18:20,)
- "But as for the cowardly, the faithless, the polluted, the murderers, the fornicators, the sorcerers, the idolaters, and all liars, their place will be in the lake that burns with fire and sulfur, which is the second death." (Revelation 21:8,)

The story of the rich man and Lazarus underscores this irreversible loss:

- "In Hades, where he was being tormented, he looked up and saw Abraham far away with Lazarus by his side. He called out, 'Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am in agony in these flames.'" (Luke 16:23–24,)

THE WAY OF SALVATION

Introduction

We have seen the natural condition of man that necessitates salvation. By birth he is blind, lost and dead. He needs light and life. He needs to be sought after and brought back to God His creator.

Man made ways

As man face the consequences of his sin and living in a perilous state, he has sought ways to be saved from this hopeless condition. Each religion is the result of this effort. Even today man do try to escape from the havoc sin has brought about in his life. Notice three main methods.

1. Self- reform.

As Adam did, trying to cover up his sin. Gensis 3:7.

Genesis 3:7 :

“Then the eyes of both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves loincloths.”

Some try to laugh away his pain, others depend upon tranquilizers. Many think education can save them from sin and misery. But the truth is that education may make man more civilized and advanced in life, but that does not make him happy or clean. On the contrary, educated and technologically advanced men commit evil in a more advanced manner and try his best to cover it up!

Some others try to feel good about everything. They just think and hope that every thing is right, they are also right. Experts counsel them to believe in themselves and hope the best. Plenty of such self-help books are available today, which guides the readers to attain salvation or peace of mind through their own efforts.

But all such efforts are vain, because he is only dealing with the fruits of his sin nature. The root remains. Job 9:30, 31.

Job 9:30-31 :

“If I wash myself with snow, and cleanse my hands with lye, then you will plunge me into a pit, and my own clothes will abhor me.”

An adjustment can not improve him, nor bring him close to God.

2. Self-righteousness.

Some consider that they are better than many others around them. May be true, they are decent, good, behaves well with others, above that as much as possible doing charitable services like, helping the poor and needy. So, they think they are God's favoured ones and already qualified to attain salvation.

These groups of people are sincere no doubt but they are ignorant of the divine standard. They measure them with their own standard. We may be better in the sight of our fellow being, not God, who carefully watches all our motives and thoughts. Whether we commit one sin or hundred sin God looks at each one of us as condemned sinner. In many cases man's effort to present himself as a pure man is because of his fear of society or law.

Bible says that such good works are just like filthy rags before the eyes of God. Isaiah 64:6.

Isaiah 64:6 :

“We have all become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous deeds are like a filthy cloth. We all fade like a leaf, and our iniquities, like the wind, take us away.”

Holy God who knows every secret of man can not be influenced by our good works. As it comes from a dirty heart and hand, He can not even look at it.

3. Religious rituals – offerings. Heb 10:4

Hebrews 10:4 :

“For it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.”

Think of the hardship and the cost man is willing to take in order to fulfill a religious ritual in the hope that such a service will give peace and prosperity to him and his household. Man is willing to do anything, however difficult it may be.

Look at certain pilgrim centers around the world and the money they collect. Religious centers and spiritual gurus are flourishing. Because man is searching for salvation and he is ready to pay any amount for it.

But the Bible says that such religious ceremonies also fail to bring true and lasting peace of mind to man. That's why week after week, year after year he takes a pilgrimage, offer sacrifices and follow the various rites of his / her respective religion.

How sad, man knows how to go to the best hospital for better result, he is also keen to send his children to the best institution for better education, but man is bound to certain rituals and religious services and just hope good may come any time.

External vs Internal

Notice, detergents may remove the filth of the body, but who can cleanse a guilty conscience? Cosmetics may improve external beauty, but internal beauty and peaceful heart comes from God. External inducement like friendship, entertainment, and sightseeing, traveling, reading and mind stimulating activities may give a feel-good experience, but just for a brief period. Yet with all such external stimuli's, man is not permanently happy and peaceful internally.

All these man made efforts are proved to be worthless as far salvation is concerned. Those who follow such rituals and practices keep on following them but never save themselves, or others.

Reports from around the world testify to it. Increased rate of suicide, crime, broken families, drug abuse and other mental and social problems point to one truth that man by all his efforts, expertise and economical & technological advancement, does not progress, but deteriorated.

Then only answer is that till he comes back to his creator the only one and true God, man can not be delivered from sin and its consequences or enjoy lasting peace.

God's Way of Salvation

When man failed in his own efforts to save himself from the consequences of sin, God took the initiative and accomplished the work of salvation. This is beautifully illustrated in the Garden of Eden, where Adam and Eve, after failing to cover themselves, were provided with garments by God.

- "And they heard the sound of the Lord God walking in the garden at the time of the evening breeze, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden. But the Lord God called to the man, and said to him, 'Where are you?'" (Genesis 3:8–9,)
- "And the Lord God made garments of skins for the man and for his wife, and clothed them." (Genesis 3:21,)

(Heb 10:4, 11—14, 18; 1:3; 2:14 , 15; 2Cor 5:21 ; 1Jn 3:5; Jn 1:29 ; Isa 53:5.)

This act foreshadowed the ultimate provision of salvation through Jesus Christ, where God would one day cover humanity's sin.

■God's Initiative in Salvation

Salvation is always of God. It is He alone who can save, as no one else is sinless or capable of offering salvation:

- "Salvation belongs to the Lord; may your blessing be on your people!" (Psalm 3:8,)

- “For the mountains may depart and the hills be removed, but my steadfast love shall not depart from you, and my covenant of peace shall not be removed,” says the Lord, who has compassion on you.” (Isaiah 54:10,)

When all humans are guilty of sin and deserving of punishment, no human being can serve as our Savior. Only God, through His grace, can save humanity.

■The Gospel of Salvation

The New Testament reveals God’s plan for salvation: for one to be delivered from sin and its consequences, they must see themselves as God sees them and accept the divine principles and ways. This is the message of the New Testament, encapsulated in John 3:16:

- “For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life.” (John 3:16,)
  This is the gospel, the good news: God loves sinful, guilty, and condemned humanity and has made a way to save and transform us. The work necessary for salvation has been completed by God, both judicially and legally. There is nothing more for us to do to earn salvation—no amount of money, no works can achieve it. Salvation is freely given by God's grace.

Belief in the Savior

The only requirement is faith: to believe and trust in Jesus Christ, the Savior who died for our sins and rose again to give us eternal life:

- “Now I would remind you, brothers and sisters, of the good news that I proclaimed to you, which you in turn received, in which also you stand, through which also you are being saved, if you hold firmly to the message that I proclaimed to you—unless you have come to believe in vain. For I handed on to you as of first importance what I in turn had received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures, and that he was buried, and that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures.” (1 Corinthians 15:1–4,)

Conclusion

Salvation is God’s work alone, and it is available to all who trust in Christ. Through the death and resurrection of Jesus, God offers forgiveness and eternal life as a free gift. All that remains for us to do is to accept this gift through faith.

THE BASIS OF SALVATION

Introduction:-

How can a holy God save sinful man? Is it not contradictory to God's justice, holiness, and immutability?

Yes, God cannot simply overlook sin. Cf. Habakkuk 1:13 ("Your eyes are too pure to look on evil; you cannot tolerate wrongdoing.")
Romans 1:18 ("For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and wickedness of those who by their wickedness suppress the truth.")
Romans 2:5 ("But by your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath, when God's righteous judgment will be revealed.")
(We have seen already that man cannot save himself either. Cf. Isaiah 16:1-7 ("Send the lamb to the ruler of the land, from Sela, by the way of the desert, to the mount of the daughter of Zion."); Isaiah 47:11 ("But evil shall come upon you, which you will not know how to charm away; disaster shall fall upon you, for which you cannot atone; and ruin shall come upon you suddenly, of which you know nothing."); Psalm 14:3 ("They have all gone astray; they are all alike perverse; there is no one who does good, no, not one."); Isaiah 59:2 ("But your iniquities have made a separation between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear."); Romans 1:18; Romans 3:20 ("For no human being will be justified in his sight by deeds prescribed by the law, for through the law comes the knowledge of sin."); Romans 3:23 ("Since all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God."))

God's attributes are consistent and unified. He cannot lay aside one for another.
(We are not so; some changes in our mood and principles are possible.)
God's holiness demands that sin must be punished. God's love moves Him to save the sinner. Upholding His holiness and justice, God demonstrated His love for guilty sinners. This is the work of salvation accomplished through the cross of Christ. Cf. Romans 3:24-25 ("They are now justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. He did this to show his righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over the sins previously committed."); Colossians 1:20-21 ("and through him God was pleased to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross. And you who were once estranged and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds, he has now reconciled"); Galatians 3:13 ("Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us—for it is written, 'Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree'"); 1 Corinthians 1:18 ("For the message about the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God.")

In short, we can see that the death of Christ on the cross of Calvary is the only basis for salvation.

Acts 4:12 ("There is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among mortals by which we must be saved."); Isaiah 53:5-6 ("But he was wounded for our transgressions, crushed for our iniquities; upon him was the punishment that made us whole, and by his bruises we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have all turned to our own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all.")

However, what exactly happened on the cross? What are the things involved in the sufferings of Christ that procured our salvation? Five things are noteworthy.

What happened on the cross?

1. Atonement.

In the Old Testament this word found around 38 times but in the New Testament according to KJV it is not there. But the idea is very much found there.

'Atonement' = 'to cover'

Cf. Genesis 6:14 ("Make yourself an ark of cypress wood; make rooms in the ark, and cover it inside and out with pitch."); Numbers 8:19 ("I have given the Levites as a gift to Aaron and his sons from among the Israelites, to do the work for the Israelites at the tent of meeting and to make atonement for the Israelites, so that no plague will strike the Israelites when they go near the sanctuary.") – "make atonement for the people."

Sin is a challenge to God. As long as sin is there, God cannot deal with man. So, it must be covered. Cf. Numbers 8:19; Numbers 12.

Levitical sacrifices were given by God as atonement in a temporary arrangement.

Cf. Leviticus 17:11 ("For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it for you on the altar to make atonement for your souls; for it is the blood that makes atonement by reason of the life."); Exodus 32:30-31 ("The next day Moses said to the people, 'You have sinned a great sin; but now I will go up to the Lord; perhaps I can make atonement for your sin.'")

Psalm 65:3 ("When deeds of iniquity overwhelm us, you forgive our transgressions.")

The blood of an innocent substitute covered the guilty sinner.

In the New Testament, the terms ἱλασμός (hillasmos) and ἱλαστήριον (hilasterion) are closely related, both stemming from the root idea of atonement, propitiation, or reconciliation. Here's a breakdown of their occurrences:

1. ἱλασμός (hillasmos):
    - Found in 1 John 2:2 and 1 John 4:10.
        - 1 John 2:2 : "and he is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world."
        - 1 John 4:10 : "In this is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the atoning sacrifice for our sins."

This word conveys the idea of an atonement or expiation, focusing on Christ as the means by which sins are forgiven.

2. ἱλαστήριον (hilasterion):
    - Found in Romans 3:25 and Hebrews 9:5.
        - Romans 3:25 : "whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. He did this to demonstrate his righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over the sins previously committed."
        - Hebrews 9:5 : "Above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the mercy seat. Of these things we cannot speak now in detail."

This term is often rendered as "mercy seat" or "propitiatory," referring either to the place of atonement (e.g., the cover of the Ark of the Covenant) or to Christ as the ultimate means of reconciliation.

In both cases, these terms emphasize Christ's role in dealing with sin and bringing reconciliation between humanity and God.
In the book of Hebrews, 'hilasterion' is translated as 'mercy seat'. That exactly is the idea of atonement. We know that inside the Ark of the Covenant there were symbols of Israel's sin and rebellion – the broken Law, etc. A holy God could meet with them as long as their sins were covered. So, the mercy seat covered the broken law, etc. It was here on the mercy seat that blood was sprinkled while the cherubim looked on from both sides.

Apart from the individual atoning sacrifices in the Old Testament, there was a Day of Atonement every year, when the sins of Israel as a nation would be cleansed or covered. Cf. Leviticus 16:2ff. ("The Lord said to Moses: 'Tell Aaron your brother not to come at any time into the holy place inside the curtain before the mercy seat that is upon the ark, or he will die; for I appear in the cloud upon the mercy seat.'") Two goats were separated. One was sacrificed first; the high priest would go and sprinkle the blood on the mercy seat, which covered the Ark. Then the high priest would put his hands on the living goat and confess the sins of Israel. The goat would then be taken out into the wilderness and set free. Cf. Leviticus 16:8-10 ("Aaron shall cast lots for two goats, one lot for the Lord and the other lot for Azazel. Aaron shall present the goat on which the lot fell for the Lord and offer it as a sin offering...but the goat on which the lot fell for Azazel shall be presented alive before the Lord to make atonement over it, so that it may be sent away into the wilderness to Azazel."); Leviticus 16:20-22, 34 ("When Aaron has finished making atonement for the holy place, and the tent of meeting, and the altar, he shall present the live goat... The goat shall bear on itself all their iniquities to a barren region, and the goat shall be set free in the wilderness.")

It was the Day of Atonement when Israel's sins were covered, and God could deal with or meet with them judicially.

Such atoning sacrifices never brought any perfection in the heart of the offerer. Cf. Hebrews 8, 9, 10 (Hebrews 9:6-16; Hebrews 10:1). That's why they had to offer them repeatedly. It was only a temporary covering, not a way of salvation. God intended, through these atoning sacrifices, to demonstrate a shadow of the ultimate atoning sacrifice of His Son, Jesus Christ.

On the cross of Calvary, Christ died as a perfect atoning sacrifice for all. His sacrifice is much better than the Old Testament sacrifices. His blood covers our sins, and God can show mercy on us legitimately. The writer of the book of Hebrews elaborates this truth in chapters 8-10. Cf. Hebrews 1:2 ("But in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom also he created the worlds."); Hebrews 9:8, 11-14, 28 ("The Holy Spirit indicating this, that the way into the holy places is not yet opened as long as the first tent is still standing... But when Christ appeared as a high priest of the good things that have come, then through the greater and more perfect tent not made with hands... he entered once for all into the holy places, not by means of the blood of goats and calves but by means of his own blood, thus securing an eternal redemption... so Christ, having been offered once to bear the sins of many, will appear a second time, not to deal with sin but to save those who are eagerly waiting for him."); Hebrews 10:11-12 ("And every priest stands daily at his service, offering repeatedly the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins. But when Christ had offered for all time a single sacrifice for sins, he sat down at the right hand of God.")

He completed the work. No wonder John the Baptist declared, “Behold the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world.” John 1:29-30 ("The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him and declared, 'Here is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world! This is he of whom I said, 'After me comes a man who ranks ahead of me.'")

2. Propitiation Rom 3:25; 1Jn 2:2

Romans 3:25:"Whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. He did this to show his righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over the sins previously committed."

1 John 2:2:"And he is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world."

According to the New Testament translations we may feel atonement and propitiation are same. But both are different. As we have seen, atonement has to do with the covering of our sins so that God may have mercy on us with out violating His holiness or justice.

‘Propitiation' is satisfying the demands of God's justice and holiness so that He will not have to punish people for their sin. The word ‘propitiation' means ‘to turn away a person's anger by giving him an offering'.

■The Wrath of God

God's anger is not like the anger of man. Holy God is angry against sin and evil:

- Deuteronomy 11:16–17: "Take care, or you will be seduced into turning away, serving other gods and worshiping them, for then the anger of the Lord will be kindled against you, and he will shut up the heavens, so that there will be no rain, and the land will yield no fruit; then you will perish quickly off the good land that the Lord is giving you."
- John 3:36: "Whoever believes in the Son has eternal life; whoever disobeys the Son will not see life, but must endure God’s wrath."
- Ephesians 5:6: "Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things the wrath of God comes on those who are disobedient."

In the Old Testament alone, there are more than 500 references to God's wrath and judgment. This anger is not a bad temper but holy indignation. God cannot treat evil as if it does not matter:

- Habakkuk 1:13: "Your eyes are too pure to behold evil, and you cannot look on wrongdoing; why do you look on the treacherous and are silent when the wicked swallow those more righteous than they?"
- Romans 1:18: "For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and wickedness of those who by their wickedness suppress the truth."
- Romans 2:5: "But by your hard and impenitent heart you are storing up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath, when God's righteous judgment will be revealed."
- Hebrews 1:9: "You have loved righteousness and hated wickedness; therefore God, your God, has anointed you with the oil of gladness beyond your companions."
- Revelation 14:8–11: "Another angel, a second, followed, saying, 'Fallen, fallen is Babylon the great! She has made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.' [...] The smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever. There is no rest day or night for those who worship the beast and its image and for anyone who receives the mark of its name."
- Revelation 19:1–12: (Summary: Describes God's judgment and wrath as just and holy in the defeat of evil.)

Man is under the wrath of God because of his sin, unable to please God or approach Him:

- Isaiah 59:2: "Rather, your iniquities have been barriers between you and your God, and your sins have hidden his face from you so that he does not hear."
- Romans 8:7–8: "For this reason the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God; it does not submit to God's law—indeed, it cannot, and those who are in the flesh cannot please God."
- Ephesians 2:3: "All of us once lived among them in the passions of our flesh, following the desires of flesh and senses, and we were by nature children of wrath, like everyone else."
- Colossians 1:21: "And you who were once estranged and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds."

He can do nothing to propitiate—pacify—God. None of his efforts could accomplish this:

- Exodus 32:30–32: "On the next day Moses said to the people, 'You have sinned a great sin, but now I will go up to the Lord; perhaps I can make atonement for your sin.' So Moses returned to the Lord and said, 'Alas, this people has sinned a great sin; they have made for themselves gods of gold. But now, if you will only forgive their sin, but if not, blot me out of the book that you have written.'"

- Proverbs 6:34–35: "For jealousy arouses a husband's fury, and he shows no restraint when he takes revenge. He will accept no compensation and refuses a bribe no matter how great."
- Isaiah 47:11: "But evil shall come upon you, which you cannot charm away; disaster shall fall upon you, which you will not be able to ward off; and ruin shall come on you suddenly, of which you know nothing."

Propitiation does not mean appeasing God's anger or turning His wrath into love. His wrath and judgment are holy because He loves holiness and hates sin.

God takes no pleasure in punishing humanity for sin:

- Ezekiel 18:23, 32: "Have I any pleasure in the death of the wicked, says the Lord God, and not rather that they should turn from their ways and live? [...] For I have no pleasure in the death of anyone, says the Lord God. Turn, then, and live."

His displeasure at sin is connected to His concern for humanity's good:

- Psalm 78:38: "Yet he, being compassionate, forgave their iniquity and did not destroy them; often he restrained his anger and did not stir up all his wrath."
- Romans 2:2–4: "We know that God's judgment on those who do such things is in accordance with truth. [...] Do you not realize that God's kindness is meant to lead you to repentance?"
- 2 Peter 3:9: "The Lord is not slow about his promise, as some think of slowness, but is patient with you, not wanting any to perish but all to come to repentance."

God provided a way to address His holy wrath, demonstrated through the sacrificial system of Israel:

- Leviticus 17:11: "For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you for making atonement for your lives on the altar; for, as life, it is the blood that makes atonement."
- Leviticus 16:1ff: (Summary: Details the Day of Atonement rituals, demonstrating God's provision for atonement and His righteousness.)

■Limitations of the Levitical Sacrifices

The Old Testament sacrifices were insufficient. The daily sacrifices, the yearly Day of Atonement, and all the associated rituals did not provide permanent relief from sin (cf. Leviticus 16). These sacrifices served to teach the people the seriousness of sin and how to approach a holy God. However, God did not take pleasure in these sacrifices:

- Hebrews 9:22: "Indeed, under the law almost everything is purified with blood, and without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sins."
- Hebrews 10:4: "For it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins."
- Romans 3:25–26: "whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. [...] so that he might be righteous and justify the one who has faith in Jesus."
- Psalm 40:6: "Sacrifice and offering you do not desire, but you have given me an open ear. Burnt offering and sin offering you have not required."

■The Perfect Sacrifice

The climax of God's plan of salvation was reached through Christ:

- 2 Corinthians 5:19: "That is, in Christ God was reconciling the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting the message of reconciliation to us."
- 1 John 4:10: "In this is love, not that we loved God but that he loved us and sent his Son to be the atoning sacrifice for our sins."

Christ died as a substitute:

- Isaiah 53:6: "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have all turned to our own way, and the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all."
- John 1:29: "Here is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!"
- 2 Corinthians 5:14: "For the love of Christ urges us on, because we are convinced that one has died for all; therefore all have died."
- 1 John 2:2: "He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world."
- Hebrews 2:9: "but we do see Jesus, who for a little while was made lower than the angels, now crowned with glory and honor because of the suffering of death, so that by the grace of God he might taste death for everyone."

His death was neither mere martyrdom nor simply an example of courageous grace. He died as a substitute for all, ensuring that we might live.

■Propitiation and the Mercy Seat

In the New Testament, references to "propitiation" often point to the mercy seat, where God and sinful humanity could meet:

- Hebrews 9:5: "Above it were the cherubim of glory overshadowing the mercy seat. Of these things we cannot speak now in detail."

The blood sprinkled on the mercy seat in the Old Testament covered the broken law. It was the dwelling place of God's Shekinah glory, symbolizing a place of propitiation.

Likewise, the blood shed on the cross became the covering for our sins. Through the cross, guilty sinners can meet God. In the New Testament, propitiation refers to Christ’s work on the cross, satisfying God’s holiness so that He could extend mercy to lost sinners:

- Romans 3:25–26: "whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. [...] so that he might be righteous and justify the one who has faith in Jesus."

By His life and death, Christ satisfied the demands of the law. Propitiation describes the God-ward work of Christ on the cross, where He bore the judgment of the guilty sinner and satisfied the law's penalty.

■The Eternal Plan of Salvation

Propitiation underscores that:

1. Sin is an offense that must be removed.
2. God was offended at our sin and must be satisfied.
3. We, who offended God, must be pardoned.

All these were accomplished through the sacrifice of Jesus Christ. Importantly, this does not mean the Father was angry and the Son sought to pacify Him. Rather, it was the eternal plan of the Triune God.

- Luke 18:9–14: "But the tax collector, standing far off, would not even look up to heaven, but was beating his breast and saying, ‘God, be merciful to me, a sinner!’"

Here, the sinner was justified on the basis of divinely provided propitiation. Today, God can forgive sin and remain just in doing so:

- Hebrews 2:17: "Therefore he had to become like his brothers and sisters in every respect, so that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make a sacrifice of atonement for the sins of the people."
- 1 John 2:2: "He is the atoning sacrifice for our sins, and not for ours only but also for the sins of the whole world."

Because, God has dealt with the sins of every man, legally settled the sin question of the whole mankind whether past, present or even of the future.

So, this is the second thing that happened on the cross when Christ died for our sins. He atoned for our sins, covered it and became a proportion, satisfied the demands of God and pacified the righteous law. God saves us on the basis of these wonderful works accomplished on the cross.

■3. Reconciliation

Another significant aspect of Christ's sacrifice on the cross is reconciliation. Humanity is not only under the wrath of God because of sin but has also made itself an enemy of God. Reconciliation is necessary to restore the relationship between humanity and God:

- Romans 1:18: "For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and wickedness of those who by their wickedness suppress the truth."
- Romans 8:7–8: "For this reason the mind that is set on the flesh is hostile to God; it does not submit to God's law—indeed, it cannot, and those who are in the flesh cannot please God."
- Ephesians 2:3: "All of us once lived among them in the passions of our flesh, following the desires of flesh and senses, and we were by nature children of wrath, like everyone else."
- Colossians 1:21: "And you who were once estranged and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds."

To remove this enmity and bring humanity into a right relationship with God, the cause of hostility—sin—must be addressed. Even though humanity is at fault, reconciliation is God's work.

Humanity is:

1. Separated from God.
2. Unable to find its way back to God.

3. Guilty of sin against God.

Though all fault lies with humanity, it is God alone who takes the necessary steps for reconciliation.

■God's Initiative in Reconciliation

The process of reconciliation was initiated by God and achieved through the blood of Christ:

- Romans 5:10: "For if while we were enemies, we were reconciled to God through the death of his Son, much more surely, having been reconciled, will we be saved by his life."
- Romans 5:6–11: (Summary: Christ's death reconciles us to God, demonstrating God's love for us even while we were sinners.)
- 2 Corinthians 5:18–19, 21: "All this is from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and has given us the ministry of reconciliation; that is, in Christ God was reconciling the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them. [...] For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God."
- Ephesians 2:12–16: (Summary: Christ's blood breaks down the dividing wall of hostility, making peace between God and humanity.)
- Colossians 1:20, 22: "and through him God was pleased to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross. [...] He has now reconciled in his fleshly body through death, so as to present you holy and blameless and irreproachable before him."

Because of Christ's atoning death on the cross, God can welcome any repentant sinner back into fellowship with Him. The fear of judgment is removed through reconciliation.

■Definition of Reconciliation

Reconciliation is an act of God's grace in which humanity's hostility toward God is transformed into a new, right relationship. This reconciliation comes at the cost of Christ's death. It is God's gracious initiative, providing a way for humanity to be restored to fellowship with Him.

■4. Redemption

Another crucial aspect of the salvation accomplished through the cross of Calvary is redemption—the payment of a ransom to liberate us. The Lord Jesus made it clear that He came to give His life as a ransom:

- Matthew 20:28: "just as the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many."
- Mark 10:45: "For the Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many."

Ransom refers to the price paid to redeem an individual who has sold themselves into bondage:

- Leviticus 25:47–49: (Summary: The law allows for redemption of someone who becomes poor and sells themselves to a foreigner.)

■The Condition of Humanity

While reconciliation addresses humanity's hostility toward God, redemption addresses humanity's bondage. Humanity is:

1. Separated from God.
2. Hostile toward God.
3. Enslaved by sin to fulfill its desires.

- Romans 8:34: "Who is to condemn? It is Christ Jesus, who died, yes, who was raised, who is at the right hand of God, who indeed intercedes for us."
- Romans 6:16, 23: "Do you not know that if you present yourselves to anyone as obedient slaves, you are slaves of the one whom you obey, either of sin, which leads to death, or of obedience, which leads to righteousness? [...] For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord."
- 1 John 5:19: "We know that we are God’s children, and that the whole world lies under the power of the evil one."
- Psalm 13:8 (likely Psalm 130:8): "It is he who will redeem Israel from all its iniquities."

■The Work of Redemption

Humanity is enslaved to sin and incapable of liberating itself. The only escape was death. Yet Christ gave His life as a ransom and died in the place of those under the sentence of death:

- Isaiah 53:5: "But he was wounded for our transgressions, crushed for our iniquities; upon him was the punishment that made us whole, and by his bruises we are healed."
- 2 Corinthians 5:21: "For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God."
- Romans 3:21–26: (Summary: Christ's atoning death satisfies God's justice, justifying those who have faith in Him.)

In the Old Testament, redemption is vividly illustrated in the deliverance of Israel from Egypt. They were slaves in Egypt, and during the final plague, the firstborn sons of Israel were redeemed by the blood of the lamb, which died in their place:

- Exodus 12:13: "The blood shall be a sign for you on the houses where you live: when I see the blood, I will pass over you, and no plague shall destroy you when I strike the land of Egypt."
- Exodus 13:15: "When Pharaoh stubbornly refused to let us go, the Lord killed all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from human firstborn to the firstborn of animals. Therefore I sacrifice to the Lord every male that first opens the womb, but all the firstborn of my sons I redeem."
- 1 Peter 1:18–19: "You know that you were ransomed from the futile ways inherited from your ancestors, not with perishable things like silver or gold, but with the precious blood of Christ, like that of a lamb without defect or blemish."

■Redemption Through Christ

Christ fully paid the price on our behalf, removing the debt that stood against us:

- Colossians 2:13–15: "And when you were dead in trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, God made you alive together with him, when he forgave us all our trespasses, erasing the record that stood against us with its legal demands. He set this aside, nailing it to the cross. He disarmed the rulers and authorities and made a public example of them, triumphing over them in it."

God could not overlook the debt owed. Redemption is free for us, but it came at a great cost—the precious blood of Christ:

- Galatians 3:13: "Christ redeemed us from the curse of the law by becoming a curse for us—for it is written, 'Cursed is everyone who hangs on a tree.'"
- Ephesians 1:7: "In him we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of our trespasses, according to the riches of his grace."
- Colossians 1:14: "in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins."
- 1 Timothy 2:6: "who gave himself a ransom for all—this was attested at the right time."
- Revelation 1:5: "and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn of the dead, and the ruler of the kings of the earth. To him who loves us and freed us from our sins by his blood."

■Conclusion

Through Christ's sacrifice, any sinner can be freed from the bondage of sin and Satan. The ransom has already been paid. Redemption, though freely given, is costly, purchased by the precious blood of Christ, the Lamb of God.

■5. New Way

Finally, the cross of Christ opened a new way for humanity to enter into the presence of God with boldness. Because of the fourfold work of Christ—propitiation, reconciliation, redemption, and justification—this new way is now available to all.

The tearing of the curtain in the temple from top to bottom at the moment of Christ's death is a powerful symbol of this truth:

- Matthew 27:51: "At that moment the curtain of the temple was torn in two, from top to bottom. The earth shook, and the rocks were split."

Through Christ, salvation is available to all who were once slaves to sin, alienated from God, and hostile toward Him.

- Hebrews 10:19–20: "Therefore, my friends, since we have confidence to enter the sanctuary by the blood of Jesus, by the new and living way that he opened for us through the curtain (that is, through his flesh)."

- Ephesians 2:18: "for through him both of us have access in one Spirit to the Father."

■No Longer Standing Afar Off

Now, there is no need to stand far away from God or rely on a human mediator. Through Christ, we can freely and boldly come into the presence of God:

- Ephesians 2:13: "But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far off have been brought near by the blood of Christ."
- Ephesians 2:18: "for through him both of us have access in one Spirit to the Father."

The new way, made possible by Christ's finished work on the cross, offers direct access to God. Through Jesus Christ, anyone—regardless of their past—can confidently draw near to God.

Conclusion

What exactly happened on the cross? We cannot fully understand it. Especially during the three hours of darkness, when God the Father dealt with His Son as our substitute. The word of God reveals few things that took place by the death of Christ. These five truths – atonement, propitiation, reconciliation, redemption and new way – make the truth of salvation clear to us. Salvation through Christ is not just a wishful thinking but something that God does legally and righteously. Thus cross of Christ becomes the basis for our salvation.

THE CHANNEL OF SALVATION

Summary: - The only condition for salvation is by faith. True saving faith involves conviction, confession and conversion.

Introduction:- By the death and resurrection of Christ, the work of salvation is complete, yet not all are saved automatically. How can an individual experience salvation? There are certain conditions to be fulfilled.

■Faith

Salvation rests on one essential condition: faith.

- Ephesians 2:8: "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God."

- Acts 16:30–31: "Then he brought them outside and said, 'Sirs, what must I do to be saved?' They answered, 'Believe on the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household.'"
- Romans 10:10: "For one believes with the heart and so is justified, and one confesses with the mouth and so is saved."

Salvation is entirely God's work for humanity, not humanity's work for God. No amount of good deeds or self-improvement can bring salvation.

■Humanity's Helpless State

As previously mentioned, humanity is blind, dead in sin, hostile toward God, and destined for eternal separation from Him. Humanity is utterly incapable of performing any work to save itself. Salvation must come from God alone, who has provided it and calls upon everyone to believe:

- John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life."
- Mark 16:16: "The one who believes and is baptized will be saved; but the one who does not believe will be condemned."
- Acts 8:13: (Summary: Even Simon the magician believed and was baptized, showing the necessity of faith for salvation.)

■Condemnation for Unbelief

The unsaved person is condemned not because they are unsavable but because they refuse to believe the gospel, the sole condition for salvation:

- John 3:18: "Those who believe in him are not condemned; but those who do not believe are condemned already, because they have not believed in the name of the only Son of God."

God condemns sinners primarily based on their response to the work of Christ on the cross:

- 2 Corinthians 5:14: "For the love of Christ urges us on, because we are convinced that one has died for all; therefore all have died."
- 2 Corinthians 5:19: "that is, in Christ God was reconciling the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting the message of reconciliation to us."

■Divine Estimate of Salvation

The facts and conditions of salvation are established by God's divine estimate, not by human standards or efforts. Therefore, there is nothing more humanity can or needs to do—salvation is by faith alone.

However, a close study of the New Testament teaches us that there are certain things involved in faith. Not all faith saves. Faith is one of the most commonly misunderstood biblical terms. There are different ideas behind this same word. If we are not sure about the true faith that saves us, we may end up in deception.

■Faith

Faith encompasses several aspects, but not all forms of faith are saving faith. Below are four distinct ideas:

---

a. The Creed

Faith can refer to a creed—a body of truth or doctrine revealed in the Bible.

- Jude 3: "Beloved, while eagerly preparing to write to you about the salvation we share, I found it necessary to write and appeal to you to contend for the faith that was once for all entrusted to the saints."
- Jude 20: "But you, beloved, build yourselves up on your most holy faith; pray in the Holy Spirit."
- 2 Peter 1:1: "To those who have received a faith as precious as ours through the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ."

However, simply assenting to a creed or belief system does not transform anyone—it is not saving faith.

---

b. Intellectual Belief

Mere intellectual belief—mental knowledge of facts about Christ—has no regenerative power. Many people know the story of Christ and even acknowledge its truth, but this alone does not constitute saving faith.

- James 2:19: "You believe that God is one; you do well. Even the demons believe—and shudder."
- John 2:22: "After he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this; and they believed the scripture and the word that Jesus had spoken."

- John 3:12: "If I have told you about earthly things and you do not believe, how can you believe if I tell you about heavenly things?"
- John 6:69: "We have come to believe and know that you are the Holy One of God."
- John 8:24–25: "I told you that you would die in your sins, for you will die in your sins unless you believe that I am he."
- 1 John 5:20: "And we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding so that we may know him who is true; and we are in him who is true, in his Son Jesus Christ. He is the true God and eternal life."
- Hebrews 11:6b: "For whoever would approach him must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who seek him."

James makes it clear that faith without a corresponding impact on life is dead:

- James 2:26: "For just as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is also dead."

Illustration: Watching a tightrope walker cross Niagara Falls, the audience may believe he can perform feats such as carrying a chair across, but few would sit in the chair themselves. This demonstrates intellectual belief, not true faith that engages the will and heart.

---

c. Secular Faith

Everyday life requires secular faith, such as trusting a doctor to perform surgery or a driver to take one to their destination. However, such faith is temporary and unrelated to salvation.

- John 2:23–25: "When he was in Jerusalem during the Passover festival, many believed in his name because they saw the signs that he was doing. But Jesus on his part would not entrust himself to them, because he knew all people and needed no one to testify about anyone; for he himself knew what was in everyone."

The Lord knows the limitations of this kind of faith. Though some people may claim to believe, their faith is not genuine or spiritual. Over time, their true nature will become evident, or the Lord will reveal it.

- 1 Thessalonians 3:2: (Summary: Paul commends Timothy for strengthening and encouraging the Thessalonians in their faith.)

- 1 John 2:19: "They went out from us, but they did not belong to us; for if they had belonged to us, they would have remained with us. But by going out they made it plain that none of them belongs to us."
- Matthew 7:22–23: "On that day many will say to me, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and cast out demons in your name, and do many deeds of power in your name?' Then I will declare to them, 'I never knew you; go away from me, you evildoers.'"

■d. Spiritual / Saving Faith

What is true, biblical faith? It is the God-given ability to trust God's word as true and yield fully to His will. Faith is a gift from God, implanted in us by the Lord:

- Ephesians 2:8: "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God."
- Romans 12:3: "For by the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think of themselves more highly than they ought to think, but to think with sober judgment, each according to the measure of faith that God has assigned."
- Hebrews 12:1: "Therefore, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us also lay aside every weight and the sin that clings so closely, and let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of our faith."

It is this faith that saves us. By this supernatural faith, we perceive things that are unseen by the normal human mind. Faith substantiates the invisible things as true:

- Hebrews 11:1: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen."

By faith, we accept all that is said about the Lord Jesus Christ and embrace the salvation and other blessings He offers.

Clarification:
Faith itself has no merit; it is not an effort of our own. Salvation is not a reward for our faith. God gives salvation freely, and we receive it by faith:

- Ephesians 2:8: "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God."
- Romans 3:25: "Whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith. He did this to show his righteousness, because in his divine forbearance he had passed over the sins previously committed."

- John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, so that everyone who believes in him may not perish but may have eternal life."
- John 3:18: "Those who believe in him are not condemned; but those who do not believe are condemned already, because they have not believed in the name of the only Son of God."
- John 7:31: "Yet many in the crowd believed in him and were saying, 'When the Messiah comes, will he do more signs than this man has done?'"
- Acts 20:21: "Testifying both to Jews and to Greeks of repentance toward God and of faith in our Lord Jesus."
- 1 John 5:12–13: "Whoever has the Son has life; whoever does not have the Son of God does not have life. I write these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know that you have eternal life."

Illustration:
If someone gives a gift, receiving it by faith is not a work. The gift is not a reward for the recipient's faith, but a free gift. Similarly, when a person on a sinking ship jumps to a lifeboat, the merit doesn't go to their faith in jumping but to the lifeboat, which is the object of their faith, that takes them to safety.

Saving faith is not our doing but relying and trusting on what Christ has done:

- Acts 16:30–31: "Then he brought them outside and said, 'Sirs, what must I do to be saved?' They answered, 'Believe on the Lord Jesus, and you will be saved, you and your household.'"
- Galatians 2:16: "Yet we know that a person is justified not by the works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ. And we have come to believe in Christ Jesus, so that we might be justified by faith and not by doing the works of the law, because no one will be justified by the works of the law."
- Hebrews 11:6a: "And without faith it is impossible to please him, for whoever would approach him must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who seek him."

This faith is wholly committing to Christ in complete dependence:

- John 14:6: "Jesus said to him, 'I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.'"
- John 5:24: "Very truly I tell you, anyone who hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life and will not be judged but has crossed over from death to life."

- 1 John 2:23: "No one who denies the Son has the Father; everyone who confesses the Son has the Father also."

■What to Believe?

Here is what we must believe in saving faith:

- The existence of God:
    - Hebrews 11:6: "And without faith it is impossible to please him, for whoever would approach him must believe that he exists and that he rewards those who seek him."
- God's promises:
    - John 5:24: "Very truly I tell you, anyone who hears my word and believes him who sent me has eternal life and will not be judged but has crossed over from death to life."
- The Son:
    - John 6:40: "This is indeed the will of my Father, that all who see the Son and believe in him may have eternal life; and I will raise them up on the last day."
- The uniqueness of Christ in saving:
    - Acts 4:12: "There is salvation in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given among mortals by which we must be saved."
- His name:
    - John 1:12: "But to all who received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God."
- God's power to save:
    - Colossians 2:12: "When you were buried with him in baptism, you were also raised with him through faith in the power of God, who raised him from the dead."

In short, we must believe all that the Bible says about Christ and His finished work on the cross. Even a small amount of faith is precious.

- 2 Peter 1:11: "For in this way, entry into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ will be richly provided for you."

- Ephesians 1:19: "And what is the immeasurable greatness of his power for us who believe, according to the working of his great power."

■Living by Faith

Such trust in the finished work of Christ is needed not only for salvation but also for our everyday life:

- 2 Corinthians 5:6-7: "So we are always confident, even though we know that while we are at home in the body we are away from the Lord— for we walk by faith, not by sight."
- Hebrews 10:38: "But my righteous one will live by faith. And I take no pleasure in the one who shrinks back."
- Colossians 1:23: "provided that you continue securely established and steadfast in the faith, without shifting from the hope promised by the gospel that you heard, which has been proclaimed to every creature under heaven."
- Colossians 2:7: "rooted and built up in him and established in the faith, just as you were taught, abounding in thanksgiving."
- Hebrews 11:1: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen."

Faith that saves us also sustains us. We must continue to trust and take God at His word. We need to grow in our faith and keep it till the end:

- 2 Timothy 4:7: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith."
- Romans 8:24: "For in hope we were saved. Now hope that is seen is not hope. For who hopes for what is seen?"

Faith is closely related to hope—trusting Christ for the work He will do in the future. Only by continuing to trust in His power can we experience peace, joy, and victory that salvation has brought into our lives:

- Galatians 2:20: "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but it is Christ who lives in me. And the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me."
- Galatians 5:6: "For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision counts for anything; the only thing that counts is faith working through love."
- Ephesians 1:19: "and what is the immeasurable greatness of his power for us who believe, according to the working of his great power."

Our spiritual strength and effectiveness depend upon our continuous relationship with Christ in trusting and abiding in Him:

- Romans 14:1: "Welcome those who are weak in faith, but not for the purpose of quarrelling over opinions."
- 2 Thessalonians 1:3: "We must always give thanks to God for you, brothers and sisters, as is right, because your faith is growing abundantly, and the love of every one of you for one another is increasing."
- 2 Peter 1:5–8: "For this very reason, you must make every effort to support your faith with goodness, and goodness with knowledge, and knowledge with self-control, and self-control with endurance, and endurance with godliness, and godliness with mutual affection, and mutual affection with love."
- 2 Peter 3:18: "But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be the glory both now and to the day of eternity. Amen."
- Galatians 5:6: "For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision nor uncircumcision counts for anything; the only thing that counts is faith working through love."
- 1 Thessalonians 5:8: "But since we belong to the day, let us be sober, and put on the breastplate of faith and love, and for a helmet the hope of salvation."
- James 5:18-26: "The prayer of the righteous is powerful and effective."

Three things involved in saving faith

Even though the only condition for salvation is faith; a close study of the New Testament teaches us that true saving faith consists of at least three important elements. With out the involvement of these three, salvation is not possible; such faith can not be saving faith. It is very hard to say which comes first, we classify in to three just to make it easy for us to understand. In true saving faith all these elements are found.

■1. Conviction

John 16:8

> "And when he comes, he will prove the world wrong about sin and righteousness and judgment."

Acts 2:37

> "Now when they heard this, they were cut to the heart and said to Peter and to the other apostles, 'Brothers, what should we do?'"

Conviction is the result of hearing the Word of God.
Cf. Ephesians 1:13; Romans 10:17.
As an individual listens to the message of salvation, the Spirit of God convinces them of sin, righteousness, and judgment. They begin to understand very firmly their sin and how the Lord views it. They will see the ugliness of sin and how it deserves to be dealt with.

Observe: The term 'conviction' is translated into Hindi as 'niruthar'—which means "to make speechless!" This, indeed, is the work of the Holy Spirit.

Cf. Acts 8:35–38; Galatians 3:2.
Notice the role of the Word of God—reading, hearing, etc.—in bringing conviction to the hearts of people through the Holy Spirit.

■2. Confession

Acts 2:37

> "Now when they heard this, they were cut to the heart and said to Peter and to the other apostles, 'Brothers, what should we do?'"

1 John 1:9

> "If we confess our sins, he who is faithful and just will forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

Recognition of Sin

Recognizing our sin, God's view of it, and His provision for salvation should lead us to the next logical step. Should we ignore it? Hide it? Many choose to do so!

Proverbs 28:13

> "No one who conceals transgressions will prosper, but one who confesses and forsakes them will obtain mercy."

Psalm 32:3–4

> "While I kept silent, my body wasted away through my groaning all day long. For day and night your hand was heavy upon me; my strength was dried up as by the heat of summer. Selah."

Hiding or ignoring the truth is futile. The burden of sin only grows, and sins accumulate. Consider a person ignoring a severe illness like tuberculosis or cancer—what will their condition be?

The Lord knows exactly our state. Sin will be found and punished. However, confession brings relief. Notice the Psalmist's experience:

Psalm 32:5

> "Then I acknowledged my sin to you, and I did not hide my iniquity; I said, 'I will confess my transgressions to the Lord,' and you forgave the guilt of my sin. Selah."

Covering sin worsens the condition, leading to dryness, weakness, and groaning. In contrast, confession brings peace of mind through forgiveness. True conviction always leads to confession.

■What is Confession?

Confession means "to say the same thing" as God says. It involves agreeing with God—saying Amen to His judgment of our sins and acknowledging His righteousness.

Confession by an Unbeliever vs. a Christian

We should not expect an unbeliever's confession to be a doctrinal statement in every aspect. It is often the voice of a newborn child. While an unbeliever convicted of sin may not articulate their confession like a mature Christian, it remains genuine and heartfelt.

Notice the confessions in Acts 2:37; Acts 8:37; Acts 16:30—and observe the differences.

Confession for Christians

Every Christian should confess sins whenever they come into God's presence. For those who are backslidden or in broken fellowship, confession is the way to restoration. While salvation remains secure, the joy of fellowship and peace of heart depend on confessing sins.

John's epistle addresses believers in this regard:
Cf. 1 John 1:9.

Confession for Sinners

A sinner must openly confess with their mouth to be saved, even if their confession is not doctrinally perfect.

Cf. Romans 10:9

> "Because if you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved."

The Lord cannot forgive someone who refuses to confess their sins. They must recognize their sins as rebellion against God and confess them as deserving of His punishment.

Cf. Psalm 32:5

> "Then I acknowledged my sin to you, and I did not hide my iniquity; I said, 'I will confess my transgressions to the Lord,' and you forgave the guilt of my sin. Selah."

Cf. Psalm 51:3–4

> "For I know my transgressions, and my sin is ever before me. Against you, you alone, have I sinned and done what is evil in your sight, so that you are justified in your sentence and blameless when you pass judgment."

Cf. Psalm 66:18

> "If I had cherished iniquity in my heart, the Lord would not have listened."

■3. Conversion / Repentance

Acts 2:38

> "Peter said to them, 'Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ so that your sins may be forgiven; and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

Acts 11:18

> "When they heard this, they were silenced. And they praised God, saying, 'Then God has given even to the Gentiles the repentance that leads to life.'"

Acts 17:30

"While God has overlooked the times of human ignorance, now he commands all people everywhere to repent."

Necessity of Repentance

Conviction and confession without conversion are not part of saving faith. Merely being aware of sin and speaking about it does not bring salvation. A person must consciously and purposely choose to turn from evil to God.

Cf. Luke 16:30; Ezekiel 18:32; Zechariah 1:3; Acts 20:21; 1 Thessalonians 1:9. Without repentance, there can be no salvation.

Matthew 3:2

"Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near."

Luke 13:3

"No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all perish as they did."

Luke 24:47

"And that repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem."

In fact, repentance is a commandment:
Cf. Isaiah 45:22; Acts 17:30.

Repentance is not only essential for saving faith but also for sustaining faith:
2 Corinthians 7:9

"Now I rejoice, not because you were grieved but because your grief led to repentance; for you felt a godly grief so that you were not harmed in any way by us."

The Lord calls upon local churches to repent:
Cf. Revelation 2:5, 16; 3:3, 19.

■What is Repentance?

a. Negative: What It Is Not

1. Not Regret:
   Mere remorse over the outcome of sin is not true repentance. Conscience or fear of punishment may cause someone to feel sorry, but such "repentance" is not linked to saving faith and often leads back to the same sin.

Cf. Matthew 12:43–45:

> "When the unclean spirit has gone out of a person, it wanders through waterless regions looking for a resting place but finds none. Then it says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' When it comes, it finds it empty, swept, and put in order. Then it goes and brings along seven other spirits more evil than itself, and they enter and live there; and the last state of that person is worse than the first. So will it be also with this evil generation."

The remorse of Judas Iscariot had no positive effect on his life:
Matthew 27:3

> "When Judas, his betrayer, saw that Jesus was condemned, he repented and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and the elders."

Such sorrow may even lead to self-pity and despair.

Disciples of John the Baptist had a form of repentance, but some of them were ultimately unworthy and destined for the "baptism of fire":
Matthew 3:1–2

> "In those days John the Baptist appeared in the wilderness of Judea, proclaiming, 'Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near.'"

Luke 3:3–17

> "He went into all the region around the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins, as it is written in the book of the words of the prophet Isaiah:
> 'The voice of one crying out in the wilderness:
> “Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.'"'

Some of them were saved later:
Acts 19:1–7.

Although repentance begins with sorrow, it must be sorrow produced by the work of God:
2 Corinthians 7:9–10

> "Now I rejoice, not because you were grieved but because your grief led to repentance; for you felt a godly grief so that you were not harmed in any way by us. For godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation and brings no regret, but worldly grief produces death."

2. Not Penance:
   Repentance is not an act of rendering payment or performing penance for sin. The gospel message does not contain such requirements.

Mark 1:15

> "And saying, 'The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God has come near; repent, and believe in the good news.'"

Acts 2:38 (quoted above).

Acts 17:30 (quoted above).
If penance were required, salvation would no longer be free.

3. Not Reformation:
   Repentance is not self-reformation or attempting to change through self-effort. Such actions often lead to self-glory.

Matthew 12:43–45 (quoted above).
Salvation is not about exchanging one bad habit for another less harmful one.

■b. Positive: What It Is?

Repentance is evidenced through a threefold change:

i. Intellectual Element – Change of Mind

The individual recognizes the character of sin as God sees it and understands that it deserves God's judgment.

Psalm 51:1–17 (Excerpt)

> "Have mercy on me, O God, according to your steadfast love; according to your abundant mercy blot out my transgressions." (Psalm 51:1)

Job 42:5–6

> "I had heard of you by the hearing of the ear, but now my eye sees you; therefore I despise myself, and repent in dust and ashes."

Luke 18:13

> "But the tax collector, standing far off, would not even look up to heaven but was beating his breast and saying, 'God, be merciful to me, a sinner!'"

---

ii. Emotional Element – Change of Heart

The individual feels sorry for their sin and begins to hate it as God hates it.

2 Corinthians 7:9–10

> "Now I rejoice, not because you were grieved but because your grief led to repentance; for you felt a godly grief so that you were not harmed in any way by us. For godly grief produces a repentance that leads to salvation and brings no regret, but worldly grief produces death."

Luke 10:13

> "Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the deeds of power done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes."

Luke 18:13 (Quoted above)

Joel 2:13

> "Rend your hearts and not your clothing. Return to the Lord, your God, for he is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and abounding in steadfast love, and relents from punishing."

---

iii. Volitional Element – Change of Will

The individual determines to turn to God for forgiveness and to turn away from evil.

1 Thessalonians 1:9

> "For the people of those regions report about us what kind of welcome we had among you and how you turned to God from idols, to serve a living and true God."

Proverbs 28:13

> "No one who conceals transgressions will prosper, but one who confesses and forsakes them will obtain mercy."

Isaiah 55:7

> "Let the wicked forsake their way and the unrighteous their thoughts; let them return to the Lord, that he may have mercy on them, and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon."

Matthew 3:8

> "Bear fruit worthy of repentance."

Matthew 12:41

> "The people of Nineveh will rise up at the judgment with this generation and condemn it because they repented at the proclamation of Jonah, and see, something greater than Jonah is here!"

Illustration: The Prodigal Son

The parable of the prodigal son demonstrates the threefold change in repentance:

- "He came to himself" – Intellectual (Luke 15:17).
- "I have sinned" – Emotional (Luke 15:18).
- "I will arise and go" – Volitional (Luke 15:18).

Notice that these three changes are interconnected. No one can be saved without experiencing this transformation.

■Definition of Repentance

Repentance is a change of mind, heart, and will:

1. Mind – Changes perception of sin, God, etc.
2. Heart – Finds no joy in sin but joy in God.
3. Will – Chooses a new path, turning to God.

Repentance for salvation involves turning to God by faith while hearing the gospel:
1 Thessalonians 1:9 (Quoted above).

■True Repentance and Saving Faith

Saving faith is impossible while a person clings to sin. Unless one turns from sin, they cannot be forgiven:
Cf. Acts 11:21; Acts 20:21; Acts 26:18.
True repentance involves a complete transformation of mind, will, and behavior:

Luke 3:8–14

"Bear fruits worthy of repentance. Do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our ancestor,’ for I tell you, God is able from these stones to raise up children to Abraham..."

Luke 19:8

"Zacchaeus stood there and said to the Lord, 'Look, half of my possessions, Lord, I will give to the poor; and if I have defrauded anyone of anything, I will pay back four times as much.'"

2 Corinthians 5:17

"So if anyone is in Christ, there is a new creation: everything old has passed away; see, everything has become new!"

1 John 2:4–6

"Whoever says, 'I have come to know him' but does not obey his commandments is a liar, and in such a person the truth does not exist; but whoever obeys his word, truly in this person the love of God has reached perfection. By this we may be sure that we are in him: whoever says, 'I abide in him' ought to walk just as he walked."

Matthew 21:28–32 (Excerpt)

"...'Truly I tell you, the tax collectors and the prostitutes are going into the kingdom of God ahead of you.'"

■Repentance and Salvation

Many who repent will end up in hell, but no truly saved individual will. Without repentance, no saving faith can occur:

Cf. Mark 1:5; Acts 20:21; Luke 13:5.
Faith and repentance are distinct but inseparable, much like preparing land to sow seed.

Repentance involves turning from sin, while faith involves turning to Christ.

Acts 10:43

"All the prophets testify about him that everyone who believes in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name."

Acts 13:38–39

"Let it be known to you therefore, my brothers, that through this man forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you; by this Jesus everyone who believes is set free from all those sins from which you could not be freed by the law of Moses."

Luke 24:47

"And that repentance and forgiveness of sins is to be proclaimed in his name to all nations, beginning from Jerusalem."

Acts 3:19

"Repent therefore, and turn to God so that your sins may be wiped out, so that times of refreshing may come from the presence of the Lord."

Acts 3:26

"When God raised up his servant, he sent him first to you, to bless you by turning each of you from your wicked ways."

■Summary

“Repentance is faith in action, and faith is repentance at rest.” True repentance involves the whole person—mind, heart, and will—leading to a life fully transformed by God.

■Who Should Repent?

Repentance is required not only from unbelievers but also from others, as highlighted below:

1. The Lost – Sinners

Matthew 9:13

"Go and learn what this means, ‘I desire mercy, not sacrifice.’ For I have come to call not the righteous but sinners."

Luke 13:3, 5

"No, I tell you; but unless you repent, you will all perish as they did."

---

2. The Religious

Hebrews 6:1

"Therefore let us go on toward perfection, leaving behind the basic teaching about Christ and not laying again the foundation: repentance from dead works and faith toward God."

Matthew 5:16

"In the same way, let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father in heaven."

Colossians 1:20–21

"...and through him God was pleased to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross. And you who were once estranged and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds..."

---

3. Believers

Romans 12:2

"Do not be conformed to this age, but be transformed by the renewing of your minds, so that you may discern what is the will of God—what is good and acceptable and perfect."

---

4. Backslidden Believers

2 Corinthians 7:9

"Now I rejoice, not because you were grieved but because your grief led to repentance; for you felt a godly grief so that you were not harmed in any way by us."

Luke 17:3–4

"Be on your guard! If another disciple sins, you must rebuke the offender, and if there is repentance, you must forgive. And if the same person sins against you seven times a day and turns back to you seven times and says, ‘I repent,’ you must forgive."

---

5. Local Churches

Revelation 2:5, 16

"Remember then from what you have fallen; repent, and do the works you did at first. If not, I will come to you and remove your lampstand from its place, unless you repent." (Revelation 2:5)
"Repent then. If not, I will come to you soon and wage war against them with the sword of my mouth." (Revelation 2:16)

Revelation 3:3, 19

"Remember then what you received and heard; obey it, and repent. If you do not wake up, I will come like a thief, and you will not know at what hour I will come to you." (Revelation 3:3)
"I reprove and discipline those whom I love. Be earnest, therefore, and repent." (Revelation 3:19)

■Summary of Repentance

- Lost – Repent or perish.
- Religious (Legalist) – Repent or perish.
- Backslidden – Repent or be disciplined.
- Local Churches – Repent or be removed.

■The Evidence of Repentance

Repentance is demonstrated by a total change in mind, heart, and will. Specifically:

1. Turning from transgression
   Ezekiel 18:30

   "Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, all of you according to your ways, says the Lord God. Repent and turn from all your transgressions; otherwise, iniquity will be your ruin."

2. Turning to God
   Acts 26:20

   "...but declared first to those in Damascus, then in Jerusalem and throughout the countryside of Judea, and also to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God and do deeds consistent with repentance."

Acts 20:21

"As I testified to both Jews and Greeks about repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus."

1 Thessalonians 1:9

> "For the people of those regions report about us what kind of welcome we had among you and how you turned to God from idols, to serve a living and true God."

3. Changed Life and Work
   Acts 26:20 (Quoted above)
   Matthew 3:8

"Bear fruit worthy of repentance."

■Scholarly Debate on Repentance and Faith

Some Bible scholars argue that turning from sin or confession is not a requirement for salvation, emphasizing faith alone. They contend that salvation by turning from evil would imply self-effort, suggesting instead that turning to God enables one to turn from sin.

However, it is difficult to separate these actions sequentially. Repentance and faith are both initiated by God:

Acts 5:31

> "God exalted him at his right hand as Leader and Savior that he might give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins."

Acts 11:18

> "When they heard this, they were silenced. And they praised God, saying, 'Then God has given even to the Gentiles the repentance that leads to life.'"

John 6:65

> "And he said, 'For this reason I have told you that no one can come to me unless it is granted by the Father.'"

John 16:7–11 (Excerpt)

> "When he comes, he will prove the world wrong about sin and righteousness and judgment..."

■The Results of Repentance and Faith

1. Salvation
   Acts 2:41

"So those who welcomed his message were baptized, and that day about three thousand persons were added."

2. Joy in Heaven
   Luke 15:7, 10

"Just so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance." (Luke 15:7)
"Just so, I tell you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents." (Luke 15:10)

3. The Spirit Begins to Dwell and Work
   Acts 2:38

"Peter said to them, 'Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ so that your sins may be forgiven; and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.'"

Conclusion: - God has graciously accomplished the work of salvation for our souls thought the Lord Jesus Christ. Only one thing He demands us, 'believe and be saved'. We have seen the meaning of true saving faith.

What does it hinder you to come to Him by faith and receive this salvation as a free gift. If you are convinced of it, delay not, confess it and be converted to Christ. The moment we call upon Him by faith, the blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us from all sin and we shall begin to experience the new life in Jesus Christ.

Salvation in different ages

Since salvation is based on based on the work of Christ, what happened to those who lived prior to Christ? To clear this question we need to consider God's plan of salvation in various ages.

A dispensation or age is a period of time in which God dealt with man in a particular manner. Generally we classify the time from eternity to eternity in to seven dispensations. Here in connection with salvation we will divide into five dispensations.

■The Age of Conscience: From Adam to Moses

The Age of Conscience, spanning from Adam to Moses, refers to a period in which humanity relied on the internal witness of conscience and other forms of divine revelation for moral and spiritual guidance. This period is characterized by God's communication with humanity in various ways, revealing His demands for righteousness and His overarching plan for redemption through Christ.

- The Age of Adam:

In the age of Adam, salvation was based on deeds, not grace through faith. Salvation depended solely on works. Why? Because Adam walked with God and spent most of his time in God's presence (Genesis 3:8).

Genesis 3:8:

"They heard the sound of the Lord God [YHWH Elohim] walking in the garden at the time of the evening breeze, and the man and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God among the trees of the garden."

Where God is present, the question of faith does not arise. Faith comes into question only when something is unseen. For instance, we cannot see Jesus now, so we must believe in Him through faith.

What is the definition of faith?
"Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1).
This means that faith concerns things that are unseen, things beyond our perception.

God created the first humans, Adam and Eve, and placed them in the Garden of Eden (a state of innocence), where there was no strife, criticism, lack, or complaint. There were no strict rules or regulations except for one command:
"And the LORD God commanded the man, 'You may freely eat of every tree of the garden; but of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil you shall not eat, for in the day that you eat of it you shall die'" (Genesis 2:16-17).

However, Adam failed to keep this one command of God.
"When the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was a delight to the eyes, and that the tree was to be desired to make one wise, she took of its fruit and ate; and she also gave some to her husband, who was with her, and he ate" (Genesis 3:6).

As a result of this disobedience, God expelled Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden:
"Therefore the LORD God sent him forth from the garden of Eden, to till the ground from which he was taken" (Genesis 3:23).

Consider this deeply: Imagine you tell your only child, "I bought chocolate for you, and it's in the fridge, but don't eat it now." If your child gives in to temptation and secretly eats the chocolate, would you expel your child from your house for life for this offense? Even if your child disobeyed you by indulging in something harmful like alcohol, would you throw them out permanently?

Therefore, in Adam's age, salvation depended on personal ability or deeds. It can thus be said that "salvation by grace" was absent in Adam's age. If grace had existed, Adam would not have lost salvation over a single act of disobedience. God would not have expelled him for such a small offense.

- The Age of Noah:

In Noah's time, salvation required both faith and works (faith + works).
God commanded Noah to build an ark. Unlike Adam, who was forbidden from eating a specific fruit, Noah was instructed to construct an ark. Even though Genesis 6:8 states:
"But Noah found favor in the sight of the LORD,"
just five verses later, God gave Noah the command to build the ark:
"Make yourself an ark of cypress wood; make rooms in the ark, and cover it inside and out with pitch" (Genesis 6:14).

If Noah had disobeyed and not built the ark, would Noah and his family have survived? Certainly not. Thus, in Noah's era, salvation also required both faith and deeds.

Some people accept only their congregation's teachings and reject other interpretations, even when the Bible clearly shows otherwise. They argue that since God is love, salvation has always been the same in every age. These individuals understand God's love but fail to recognize His terrifying power. Scripture declares:
"It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Hebrews 10:31).
"Who considers the power of your anger? Your wrath is as great as the fear that is due you" (Psalm 90:11).

In 2000, the floods in West Bengal, especially in Nadia and Murshidabad, created a dire situation for seven days. Now consider Noah's flood—countless men, women, children, and the elderly perished. The wrath of God was terrifying. Imagine thousands of infants drowning, mothers desperately trying to save their children but failing, and spouses witnessing each other's death.

This horrifying scene unfolded before the eyes of the loving God of heaven. At that time, God made a promise:
"And when the LORD smelled the pleasing odor, the LORD said in his heart, 'I will never again curse the ground because of humankind, for the inclination of the human heart is evil from youth; nor will I ever again destroy every living creature as I have done'" (Genesis 8:21).

Thus, you cannot dismiss God as only loving. He is both loving and just, capable of both love and discipline. Therefore, in "the highest age," salvation required more than just God's grace—it also involved works.

- Abraham's Era: "Salvation by Grace Through Faith" (Romans 4:2–4) If we compare Romans 4:2–4 with James 2:17–24, it may appear contradictory at first glance. To clarify this, you can watch the video: "Was Abraham saved by faith or works?" by Dr. Gene Kim. However, I will attempt to explain this through writing.

When interpreting the Bible, the first step is to "rightly divide the word of truth" (2 Timothy 2:15, KJV only). Proper division of Scripture is necessary, just as the Bible is divided into the Old Testament and the New Testament.

Dividing Scripture Properly:

For example, think of medicine. If a sleep aid is taken in excess, it can lead to death, while too little might have no effect. Doctors prescribe the correct dosage for efficacy. Similarly, the Bible must be "rightly divided" for proper understanding.

Not all biblical instructions apply universally to everyone at all times. As stated in Mark 12:24, "Is not this the reason you are wrong, that you know neither the scriptures nor the power of God?"

Scripture is not contradictory; it is consistent, like mathematics. When correctly applied, everything aligns. Errors arise when philosophical ideas are imposed on Scripture, leading to incorrect interpretations. As warned in Colossians 2:8, "See to it that no one takes you captive through philosophy and empty deceit, according to human tradition, according to the elemental spirits of the universe, and not according to Christ."

The Holy Spirit will guide us in understanding.

Understanding Context:

When reading Scripture, consider the following:

Who is speaking?
To whom is it addressed?
For what purpose and time?

For instance, in Isaiah 66:3, it states, "The one who slaughters an ox is like one who kills a human being." If someone applies this personally today, they may wrongly conclude that Christians cannot eat beef.

Similarly, understanding the context of Romans 4:2–4 is essential. Paul states: "If Abraham was justified by works, he has something to boast about, but not before God. For what does the scripture say? 'Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.'"

Here, Paul speaks to the church age believers, emphasizing salvation by faith alone, without adding works.

In contrast, James 2:17–24 states:
"Was not our ancestor Abraham justified by works when he offered his son Isaac on the altar? You see that faith was active along with his works, and faith was brought to completion by the works."

This apparent contradiction is resolved by recognizing the audience and context. James speaks to the twelve tribes of Israel (James 1:1) and addresses a time of great tribulation, where salvation involves both faith and works (Revelation 14:12; 15:3).

Abraham's Salvation:

Abraham was justified by faith long before offering Isaac. Genesis 15:6 states, "And he believed the LORD; and the LORD reckoned it to him as righteousness."

Much later, when Abraham offered Isaac, his faith was "perfected" or demonstrated by his obedience (James 2:22). Thus, faith preceded the works.

To illustrate, consider a father taking his child to an examination hall. Even before the child takes the test, they remain the father’s child. The test simply demonstrates or refines their abilities. Similarly, Abraham’s faith was the foundation of his justification, while his works evidenced and matured it.

- Moses’ Era: Faith + Works = Salvation
  During Moses' time, salvation required adherence to the Law (works) combined with faith.

Ezekiel 18:4: "The person who sins shall die."

Ezekiel 18:21: "But if the wicked turn away from all their sins that they have committed and keep all my statutes and do what is lawful and right, they shall surely live; they shall not die."
Ezekiel 18:24: "But when the righteous turn away from their righteousness and commit iniquity and do the same abominable things that the wicked do, shall they live? None of the righteous deeds that they have done shall be remembered; for the treachery of which they are guilty and the sin they have committed, they shall die."

Moses' era emphasized obedience to God's commandments. Exodus 32:33 says: "Whoever has sinned against me, I will blot out of my book."

In Moses' time, obedience to the Law demonstrated faith, making works inseparable from salvation.

Key Biblical Foundations

1. Humanity's State Under Conscience

Romans 5:14

> "Yet death exercised dominion from Adam to Moses, even over those whose sins were not like the transgression of Adam, who is a type of the one who was to come."

Romans 2:12–16

> "All who have sinned apart from the law will also perish apart from the law, and all who have sinned under the law will be judged by the law. For it is not the hearers of the law who are righteous in God's sight, but the doers of the law who will be justified. When Gentiles, who do not possess the law, do instinctively what the law requires, these, though not having the law, are a law to themselves. They show that what the law requires is written on their hearts, to which their own conscience also bears witness; and their conflicting thoughts will accuse or perhaps excuse them on the day when, according to my gospel, God through Christ Jesus judges the secret thoughts of all."

This passage highlights that Gentiles, though without the written law, acted according to conscience, which bore witness to their moral understanding.

God's Revelation Came Through Four Primary Methods

■1. Direct Communication with Adam and Eve

Genesis 3:15

> "I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will strike your head, and you will strike his heel."

This verse, often referred to as the protoevangelium (first gospel), reveals God's promise of salvation, where the seed of the woman would crush the serpent.

Genesis 3:21

> "And the Lord God made garments of skins for the man and for his wife and clothed them."

Here, God's act of clothing Adam and Eve with garments of skin symbolizes the necessity of sacrifice for atonement. This aligns with Hebrews 9:22, which states:

> "...without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sins."

Hebrews 11:4

> "By faith Abel offered to God a more acceptable sacrifice than Cain’s. Through this he received approval as righteous, God himself giving approval to his gifts; he died, but through his faith he still speaks."

Abel's faith-driven sacrifice reflects his understanding of God's demand for atonement. Adam, having received direct revelations from God, transmitted these truths to his descendants, explaining Abel's alignment with divine expectations.

■2. The Spirit's Testimony to the Human Spirit

Genesis 6:3

> "Then the Lord said, 'My spirit shall not abide in mortals forever, for they are flesh; their days shall be one hundred twenty years.'"

This verse reveals God's interaction with humanity through His Spirit, striving to lead them toward righteousness.

Romans 8:16

> "It is that very Spirit bearing witness with our spirit that we are children of God."

The Spirit’s testimony provided an inner guidance, calling people to align with God's truth.

■3. Revelation Through Nature

Romans 1:19–20

> "For what can be known about God is plain to them, because God has shown it to them. Ever since the creation of the world his eternal power and divine nature, invisible though they are, have been understood and seen through the things he has made. So they are without excuse."

Creation served as a revelation of God's invisible attributes, displaying His eternal power and divine nature, leaving humanity without excuse for failing to recognize Him.

Acts 17:26–27

> "From one ancestor he made all peoples to inhabit the whole earth, and he allotted the times of their existence and the boundaries of the places where they would live, so that they would search for God and perhaps grope for him and find him—though indeed he is not far from each one of us."

Paul emphasizes that God determined humanity’s existence and surroundings to encourage them to seek Him. Nature continuously bore witness to God's presence and power, drawing people toward Him.

■4. Revelation Through Conscience

Romans 2:14–16

> "When Gentiles, who do not possess the law, do instinctively what the law requires, these, though not having the law, are a law to themselves. They show that what the law requires is written on their hearts, to which their own conscience also bears witness; and their conflicting thoughts will accuse or perhaps excuse them on the day when, according to my gospel, God through Christ Jesus judges the secret thoughts of all."

Conscience functioned as an internal law, reflecting God's righteous standards. Even without written laws, individuals experienced the moral demands of God imprinted on their hearts, providing an internal witness of divine truth.

■Foreshadowing of Christ's Work

The sacrificial practices during this age pointed forward to Christ's ultimate sacrifice:

- 2 Timothy 1:9–10

  "He has saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works but according to his own purpose and grace. This grace was given to us in Christ Jesus before the ages began, but it has now been revealed through the appearing of our Savior Christ Jesus, who abolished death and brought life and immortality to light through the gospel."

- Revelation 13:8

  "All the inhabitants of the earth will worship it, everyone whose name has not been written from the foundation of the world in the book of life of the Lamb that was slaughtered."

- John 1:1, 9–10

  "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God... The true light, which enlightens everyone, was coming into the world. He was in the world, and the world came into being through him; yet the world did not know him."

- 2 Corinthians 5:19

  "That is, in Christ God was reconciling the world to himself, not counting their trespasses against them, and entrusting the message of reconciliation to us."

■Faith in Christ Before His Coming

Believers during this period, such as Abel, Noah, Abraham, and Job, were saved by faith in God’s promises, which pointed to Christ:

- John 8:56

  "Your ancestor Abraham rejoiced that he would see my day; he saw it and was glad."

- Job 19:25–27

"For I know that my Redeemer lives, and that at the last he will stand upon the earth; and after my skin has been thus destroyed, then in my flesh I shall see God, whom I shall see on my side, and my eyes shall behold, and not another. My heart faints within me!"

■Divine Sovereignty in Salvation

God's sovereign grace was evident in His leading of those who truly sought Him:

- Psalm 12:5

  "Because the poor are despoiled, because the needy groan, I will now rise up," says the Lord; "I will place them in the safety for which they long."

- Psalm 50:5

  "Gather to me my faithful ones, who made a covenant with me by sacrifice."

- Hebrews 4:4

  "For in one place it speaks about the seventh day as follows: 'And God rested on the seventh day from all his works.'"

- Job 1:5

  "When the days of the feast had run their course, Job would send and sanctify them, and he would rise early in the morning and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job said, 'It may be that my children have sinned, and cursed God in their hearts.' This is what Job always did."

- Genesis 11:7

  "Come, let us go down, and confuse their language there, so that they will not understand one another's speech."

■Conclusion

The Age of Conscience highlights humanity's reliance on God's multifaceted revelations. These revelations not only revealed His moral demands but also pointed toward the ultimate fulfillment of His redemptive plan in Christ. Believers like Abel, Noah, Abraham, and Job demonstrate that salvation has always been by grace through faith in God’s promises, culminating in the work of Christ, planned before the foundation of the world.

■The Age of Law: From Sinai to Calvary

The Age of Law, spanning from Moses receiving the law at Mount Sinai to Christ's sacrifice at Calvary, marks a period where God's moral and ceremonial laws governed His people. These laws revealed humanity’s need for a Savior and pointed to the coming of Christ as the ultimate fulfillment of the law.

■Key Biblical Foundations

1. The Purpose of the Law

- Matthew 11:12–13

  "From the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven has suffered violence, and the violent take it by force. For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John."

- Luke 16:16

  "The law and the prophets were in effect until John; since then the good news of the kingdom of God is proclaimed..."

The law was designed to guide God's people and prepare them for the Messiah's arrival by revealing God’s standards and prophetic purposes.

The Law's Role in Revealing the Need for a Savior

The law was not intended to save humanity but to expose sinfulness and the need for divine intervention:

- Romans 10:5 (cf. Leviticus 18:5)

  "For Moses writes about the righteousness that comes from the law, that the person who does these things will live by them."

- Galatians 3:12

  "The law does not rest on faith; on the contrary, 'Whoever does the works of the law will live by them.'"

The law served as a "discliplinarian" to bring humanity to Christ:

- Galatians 3:23–24

  "Now before faith came, we were imprisoned and guarded under the law until faith would be revealed. Therefore the law was our disciplinarian until Christ came, so that we might be justified by faith."

The Law as a Shadow of Christ

The sacrificial system and ceremonial laws foreshadowed the ultimate sacrifice of Jesus Christ:

- Hebrews 10:1

  "Since the law has only a shadow of the good things to come and not the true form of these realities, it can never, by the same sacrifices that are continually offered year after year, make perfect those who approach."

- Hebrews 11:26

  "[Moses] considered abuse suffered for the Christ to be greater wealth than the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking ahead to the reward."

These laws pointed forward to Christ as the fulfillment of their symbols and ceremonies.

Salvation by Faith in the Age of Law

Even under the law, salvation was by faith, not by works:

- Galatians 2:16

  "Yet we know that a person is justified not by the works of the law but through faith in Jesus Christ."

David's Testimony of Faith and Grace

David's writings highlight the necessity of repentance and faith for salvation:

- Psalm 51:5

  "Indeed, I was born guilty, a sinner when my mother conceived me."

- Psalm 51:11

"Do not cast me away from your presence, and do not take your holy spirit from me."

- Psalm 51:17

  "The sacrifice acceptable to God is a broken spirit; a broken and contrite heart, O God, you will not despise."

- Psalm 32:1

  "Happy are those whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered."

David understood salvation as a gift of God's mercy, not something earned by adherence to the law.

The Sacrificial System and the Cross

Every sacrifice under the law pointed to the ultimate sacrifice of Christ:

- Hebrews 11:26

  "[Moses] considered abuse suffered for the Christ to be greater wealth than the treasures of Egypt, for he was looking ahead to the reward."

- John 1:29

  "The next day he saw Jesus coming toward him and declared, 'Here is the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!'"

■Conclusion

The Age of Law underscores:

1. The insufficiency of human efforts: The law exposed humanity's inability to meet God's perfect standards.
2. The necessity of divine intervention: The sacrificial system pointed forward to Christ's perfect atonement.
3. Salvation by grace through faith: Individuals like Moses and David were saved not by the works of the law but by their faith in God’s promises, which culminated in Jesus Christ.

As a "schoolteacher" (Galatians 3:24), the law prepared the way for Christ, showing that salvation has always been part of God's eternal plan of grace and redemption.

■The Age of Grace: The Present Dispensation

The Age of Grace, also called the Church Age, spans from the day of Pentecost to the rapture, when Christ will return to take His Church to Himself. This period is characterized by salvation through faith in the finished work of Christ, apart from works, emphasizing God's unmerited favor.

■Key Biblical Foundations

1. Grace as the Basis of Salvation
    - Ephesians 2:8–9: "For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God—not the result of works, so that no one may boast."
    - John 1:16: "From his fullness we have all received, grace upon grace."

Grace, unearned and freely given, is the hallmark of this dispensation, contrasting with the works-based emphasis of prior ages.

2. The Timeline of the Age of Grace
    - It began at Pentecost with the outpouring of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:1–4) and will continue until the rapture.
    - 1 Thessalonians 4:16–17: “For the Lord himself, with a cry of command, with the archangel’s call and with the sound of God’s trumpet, will descend from heaven, and the dead in Christ will rise first. Then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up in the clouds together with them to meet the Lord in the air; and so we will be with the Lord forever.”

■Salvation Through Faith in Christ’s Finished Work

Salvation during this dispensation is grounded entirely in the finished work of Christ:

- Ephesians 2:8–9: Emphasizes that salvation is a gift, received through faith, not earned by human effort.

- Titus 3:5–7: "He saved us, not because of any works of righteousness that we had done, but according to his mercy..."

The death, resurrection, and ascension of Christ have secured eternal life for all who believe:

- John 19:30: Jesus declared, “It is finished,” signifying the completion of His atoning work.
- Romans 10:9: “If you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved.”

■The Role of the Holy Spirit in the Age of Grace

- The Holy Spirit indwells believers, guiding and empowering them for godly living:
    - John 14:16–17: Jesus promised the Spirit to abide with His followers forever.
    - Acts 1:8: "You will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be my witnesses..."
- The Spirit seals believers, guaranteeing their inheritance:
    - Ephesians 1:13–14: "In him you also...were marked with the seal of the promised Holy Spirit; this is the pledge of our inheritance..."

■The Emphasis on Grace in Study and Practice

This study highlights the centrality of grace in the believer’s life:

- Romans 6:14: "For sin will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace."
- Galatians 2:20–21: "I have been crucified with Christ; and it is no longer I who live, but it is Christ who lives in me... I do not nullify the grace of God; for if justification comes through the law, then Christ died for nothing."

Grace is not merely a doctrine but the foundation of the believer's relationship with God and the motivation for godly living.

■The Hope of the Rapture

The Age of Grace culminates in the rapture, when Christ will return for His Church:

- 1 Corinthians 15:51–52: “Listen, I will tell you a mystery! We will not all die, but we will all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet...”
- John 14:3: Jesus assured His disciples, “I will come again and will take you to myself, so that where I am, there you may be also.”

This hope defines the believer's perspective during the Age of Grace, looking forward to eternal fellowship with Christ.

■Conclusion

The Age of Grace is marked by God’s extraordinary favor, offering salvation to all who place their faith in Christ’s completed work. It emphasizes freedom from the law and empowerment by the Holy Spirit, preparing believers for the glorious return of Christ at the rapture. This dispensation reminds us that salvation is a gift, not earned, and that grace governs our relationship with God as we await His coming.

■The Age of Great Tribulation: From the Rapture to Christ's Glorious Appearance

The Age of Great Tribulation begins immediately after the rapture of the Church and concludes with the glorious return of Christ. This period, marked by unprecedented suffering and judgment, is also a time when God continues His redemptive work, reaching out to humanity through extraordinary means.

■Key Biblical Foundations

1. The Tribulation Timeline
    - The rapture, when Christ takes the Church to Himself, precedes the Great Tribulation (1 Thessalonians 4:16–17).
    - The tribulation culminates with Christ’s glorious appearance, when His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives (Zechariah 14:4).

- Jesus described this time as unparalleled in history: Matthew 24:21: “For at that time there will be great suffering, such as has not been from the beginning of the world until now, no, and never will be.”

2. Persecution and Witnessing
    - Mark 13:9: “As for yourselves, beware; for they will hand you over to councils, and you will be beaten in synagogues; and you will stand before governors and kings because of me, as a testimony to them.”

■The Role of the Holy Spirit

During this period, the Holy Spirit will work in ways similar to the pre-Age of Grace era:

- Genesis 6:3: "My spirit shall not abide in mortals forever, for they are flesh."
- John 16:8: The Spirit will "prove the world wrong about sin and righteousness and judgment."
- Isaiah 63:11: God’s Spirit guided His people in the past, and He will do so again.
- Haggai 2:5 and Nehemiah 9:20: These passages highlight the Spirit’s sustaining and instructive role, which will continue during the tribulation.

■The Two Witnesses and Their Ministry

During the last three and a half years of the tribulation, two witnesses will testify:

- Revelation 11:3–13: These witnesses will prophesy for 1,260 days, perform miracles, and be martyred, but God will resurrect them and bring them to heaven.
- Malachi 4:6: Their ministry will turn hearts back to God, fulfilling prophecy.

■The 144,000 and the Great Multitude

The testimony of the two witnesses will lead to the salvation of 144,000 Jews:

- Revelation 7:1–8: This group, sealed by God, represents the faithful remnant of Israel.
  Their ministry will, in turn, bring many others to faith:
- Revelation 7:9–17: A great multitude from every nation will stand before God, clothed in white robes, having washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb (Revelation 7:14).

■The Message of the Gospel

The gospel during the tribulation is referred to as:

1. The Eternal Gospel
    - Revelation 14:6–7: “Then I saw another angel flying in midheaven, with an eternal gospel to proclaim to those who live on the earth—to every nation and tribe and language and people.” This gospel calls humanity to fear God and give Him glory.
2. The Gospel of the Kingdom
    - Matthew 24:14: “And this good news of the kingdom will be proclaimed throughout the world, as a testimony to all the nations; and then the end will come.”

This contrasts with today’s message of the gospel of the grace of God (Acts 20:24), yet all forms of the gospel are centered on Christ’s redemptive work.

■The Global Reach of the Gospel

While the gospel today has yet to reach many places, during the tribulation it will be proclaimed universally:

- Matthew 24:14: This proclamation will occur even in the most remote areas, ensuring all have the opportunity to hear.

■Salvation During the Great Tribulation

Even during this period, the basis of salvation remains Christ’s sacrifice:

- Revelation 7:14: "They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb."

- Revelation 7:17: The Lamb will guide the saved to springs of living water, comforting them in their suffering.

However, those saved during the tribulation must endure suffering and remain faithful to the end:

- Revelation 14:9–13: They must refuse the mark of the beast, even at the cost of their lives, demonstrating perseverance in faith.

■Conclusion

The Age of Great Tribulation is a time of intense judgment and unparalleled suffering, yet it is also marked by God's mercy and grace. Through the ministry of the two witnesses, the sealing of the 144,000, and the global proclamation of the eternal gospel, many will come to salvation. The period underscores that the foundation of salvation remains the sacrifice of Christ, and it calls for steadfast endurance among those who believe. This age ultimately prepares for the glorious return of Christ and the establishment of His kingdom on earth.

■The Age of the Millennium: Christ's 1,000-Year Reign

The Age of the Millennium marks a unique era in God's redemptive plan, characterized by the literal 1,000-year reign of Christ on earth. It begins with Christ's return in glory following the tribulation and culminates in the establishment of His Kingdom, bringing peace, righteousness, and salvation to many.

■Key Biblical Foundations

1. The Thousand-Year Reign
    - Revelation 20:4–6: "They came to life and reigned with Christ for a thousand years... Blessed and holy are those who share in the first resurrection."
    - This reign of Christ is marked by justice, peace, and the fulfillment of God's promises to Israel and the nations.
2. The Return of Christ in Glory
    - Seven years after the rapture, Christ will return with His saints:
        - Zechariah 14:1–5: "Then the Lord my God will come, and all the holy ones with him."

- Revelation 19:11–21: Christ, riding a white horse, will defeat His enemies and establish His rule.

■The Salvation of Israel

The millennium fulfills God's covenantal promises to Israel:

- Romans 11:25–26: "...And so all Israel will be saved; as it is written, 'Out of Zion will come the Deliverer; he will banish ungodliness from Jacob.'"
- Isaiah 4:3–4: The remnant of Israel will be called holy, purified by God.
- Isaiah 60:21: "Your people shall all be righteous; they shall possess the land forever."
- Daniel 12:1: A time of deliverance is promised for Israel, particularly for those written in the book.

This mass salvation of Israel highlights God's faithfulness to His promises.

■The Salvation of the Nations

Christ's reign will extend to all nations, bringing salvation to many:

- Isaiah 19:21–25: Egypt, Assyria, and Israel will worship together, united under Christ's rule.
- Zephaniah 3:9: God will purify the speech of the nations so they may call upon Him with one accord.
- Isaiah 17:7–8: People will turn from idols to worship the true God.

The millennium is a time of unprecedented global worship, as people witness Christ's glory and respond to His rule.

■The Rule of Christ and the Law

During the millennium, Christ will reign with perfect justice, and His law will guide the nations:

- Isaiah 32:1: "See, a king will reign in righteousness, and princes will rule with justice."
- Luke 19:17–19: Christ will reward His faithful servants with authority to rule over cities in His Kingdom.

In this age, people will personally see and hear the Messiah:

- Isaiah 33:17: “Your eyes will see the king in his beauty...”

■Salvation During the Millennium

Although the millennium is a time of peace and righteousness, people will still need to place their faith in Christ for salvation. The visible presence of the Messiah and the reign of His law will lead many to salvation:

- Isaiah 2:3: “Many peoples shall come and say, ‘Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord... that he may teach us his ways and that we may walk in his paths.’”
- Isaiah 60:3: “Nations shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your dawn.”

The Age of the Millennium is a glorious fulfillment of God’s promises to Israel and the nations. It is a time when Christ’s righteous reign will bring peace, justice, and salvation to countless individuals. As people follow the law, see the Messiah, and hear His words, many will turn to Him in faith. This era demonstrates God’s sovereignty, faithfulness, and ultimate plan to redeem humanity and establish His Kingdom on earth.

Bible prophecy about end days: Eschatology from Christian and Islamic perspective

Prophet of Islam said that the day of judgment shall not come to pass until the tribes of Islam defeat the tribes of Israel in Jerusalem and the surrounding nations (Sahih Muslim, Book 41, Hadith 6985). There is also mentioned in Hadith: the trees and stones will cry out a Jew is hiding behind me, come all Muslims, come and kill him (Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 56, Hadith 791). This is the solution to the Jewish problem from an Islamic eschatological view, that is the world will end when the Islamic nations surrounding Israel attack Israel and destroy all the men (of course the women will be taken as concubines). However, in Zechariah chapter 12 and chapters 14 it says:

Zechariah 12:2

> "I am going to make Jerusalem a cup that sends all the surrounding peoples reeling. Judah will be besieged as well as Jerusalem."

Zechariah 14:2

> "I will gather all the nations to Jerusalem to fight against it; the city will be captured, the houses ransacked, and the women raped. Half of the city will go into exile, but the rest of the people will not be taken from the city."

Then it talks about the continuation of the story- the outcome of this battle will be the victory of Israel through the Messiah who will come and aid the Jewish people and destroy the surrounding nations. These nations are Islamic nations coming against Israel.

Zechariah 14:12-16

This is the plague with which the LORD will strike all the nations that fought against Jerusalem: Their flesh will rot while they are still standing on their feet, their eyes will rot in their sockets, and their tongues will rot in their mouths.
On that day people will be stricken by the LORD with great panic. They will seize each other by the hand and attack one another.
Judah too will fight at Jerusalem. The wealth of all the surrounding nations will be collected—great quantities of gold and silver and clothing.
A similar plague will strike the horses and mules, the camels and donkeys, and all the animals in those camps.
Then the survivors from all the nations that have attacked Jerusalem will go up year after year to worship the King, the LORD Almighty, and to celebrate the Festival of Tabernacles.

How in the world did Islam have the same story in Islamic eschatology that was written in the Bible? Yet Muhammad talked about the battle's outcome as the victory of Islam. Once you begin to parallel all the different stories in the Bible regarding the ends of times (Zachariah, Amos, Joel), you will find parallels of these same stories in Islamic eschatology with the outcome of the battle giving the victory to Islam. Joel chapter 3 says clearly regarding the judgment of the nations coming against Israel.

Joel 3:2

> "I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. There I will put them on trial for what they did to my inheritance, my people Israel, because they scattered my people among the nations and divided up my land."

That's the Messiah, that's God Almighty coming in the flesh to judge the surrounding nations. Division of the land of Israel is mentioned in eschatological references in the Bible- the land which was given to the Israelites:

Genesis 12:1-3: God's Promise to Abram:
"The LORD had said to Abram, 'Go from your country, your people and your father's household to the land I will show you. I will make you into a great nation, and I will bless you; I will make your name great, and you will be a blessing. I will bless those who bless you, and whoever curses you I will curse; and all peoples on earth will be blessed through you.'"

Genesis 15:18-21: Covenant with Abram:
"On that day the LORD made a covenant with Abram and said, 'To your descendants I give this land, from the Wadi of Egypt to the great river, the Euphrates—the land of the Kenites, Kenizzites, Kadmonites, Hittites, Perizzites, Rephaites, Amorites, Canaanites, Girgashites and Jebusites.'"

Genesis 17:7-8: Everlasting Covenant:
"I will establish my covenant as an everlasting covenant between me and you and your descendants after you for the generations to come, to be your God and the God of your descendants after you. The whole land of Canaan, where you now reside as a foreigner, I will give as an everlasting possession to you and your descendants after you; and I will be their God."

Exodus 3:7-8: Promise to Deliver the Israelites:
"The LORD said, 'I have indeed seen the misery of my people in Egypt. I have heard them crying out because of their slave drivers, and I am concerned about their suffering. So I have come down to rescue them from the hand of the Egyptians and to bring them up out of that land into a good and spacious land, a land flowing with milk and honey—the home of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites.'"

Numbers 34:1-12: Boundaries of Canaan:
"The LORD said to Moses, 'Command the Israelites and say to them: "When you enter Canaan, the land that will be allotted to you as an inheritance is to have these boundaries:

Your southern side will include some of the Desert of Zin along the border of Edom. Your southern boundary will start in the east from the southern end of the Dead Sea, cross south of Scorpion Pass, continue on to Zin and go south of Kadesh Barnea. Then it will go to Hazar Addar and over to Azmon, where it will turn, join the Wadi of Egypt and end at the Mediterranean Sea.

Your western boundary will be the coast of the Mediterranean Sea. This will be your boundary on the west.

For your northern boundary, run a line from the Mediterranean Sea to Mount Hor and from Mount Hor to Lebo Hamath. Then the boundary will go to Zedad, continue to Ziphron and end at Hazar Enan. This will be your boundary on the north.
For your eastern boundary, run a line from Hazar Enan to Shepham. The boundary will go down from Shepham to Riblah on the east side of Ain and continue along the slopes east of the Sea of Galilee. Then the boundary will go down along the Jordan and end at the Dead Sea.
'This will be your land, with its boundaries on every side.'"
Deuteronomy 1:8: Possessing the Land:
"See, I have given you this land. Go in and take possession of the land the LORD swore he would give to your fathers—to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob—and to their descendants after them."
Joshua 1:3-4: Territory Promised to Joshua:
"I will give you every place where you set your foot, as I promised Moses. Your territory will extend from the desert to Lebanon, and from the great river, the Euphrates—all the Hittite country—to the Mediterranean Sea in the west."

The rights of Israel versus the nations that wanted to condemn and destroy Israel. When you compare these with eschatological Islamic views you will find that the Prophet of Islam even declared that at some point in time, there would be a war with the Muslim world coming against Israel that comes from the area of Khorasan (this is the Arabic word for Persia) and coming alongside with Turkey in an alliance of Islamic nations coming against Israel to destroy Israel.
Sunan Ibn Majah, Book 36, Hadith 4084:
"It was narrated from Thawban that the Messenger of Allah said: 'Three will fight for your treasure, each one of them the son of a Caliph, but none of them will gain it. Then black banners will come out of the east, and they will slaughter you in an unprecedented manner.' Then he said something I do not remember, then said: 'When you see him, then pledge your allegiance to him even if you have to crawl over snow, for that is the Caliph of Allah, the Mahdi.'"

The Prophet of Islam says every Muslim must join this battle even if they have to crawl on snow! While these Islamic references regarding a culmination of a battle of Muslim nations coming on Israel might seem to be strange to many in the modern West. When we examine the Bible we will find that the majority of the Bible when it comes to nations being referenced in the Bible in literal form, we will find out that all of them are today Muslim fundamentalists. I have created challenges to examine to see whether I am right or wrong:
First Challenge

By what right did Martin Luther who wrote about Islam being the body embodiment of the beast system? Sure Martin Luther did teach that the Catholic Church was the harlot of Babylon but he also said that the physical Beast of the Bible regarding the Antichrist is the body of Islam, it is the congregation of Islamic nations, it's a culmination of Islamic unity coming against Israel. All of the traditional interpreters of the Bible included Islam being part of the Antichrist and even the Beast himself. If we examine even John Calvin thought that Islam was the advent of Antichrist. If we examine Sir Robert Anderson who unlocked the seventy weeks of Daniel in his fantastic book 'The Coming Prince' he even said that when we examine the revival of the Roman Empire we must concentrate on the eastern part of the Roman Empire that is Egypt and Turkey- not Rome. But it wasn't only Martin Luther or John Calvin or Sir Robert Anderson who taught an Islam-centric view regarding Antichrist. You have others like Hosea Leah who said that the majority of Protestant teachers agree that Islam was the advent of the coming of the Antichrist- it was the system of the Beast. There are even many others like Foxe's Book of Martyrs said that Islam is the Antichrist system. The martyrs of Cordova, why do they call them the martyrs of Cordova? Well, they chose to be martyred in Spain. When they were taken to the Islamic court system, because they were interpreting in the Bible that the Antichrist was Muslim, the Muslim judge gave them a choice of recounting their interpretation or being beheaded for what they had done. They chose to be beheaded to preserve their interpretation so you now can know the truth regarding Islam being the Antichrist of what the Bible said. This is something not new. It is something that died out when the Ottoman Empire was wounded the Islamic Sharia/Caliphate system collapsed in 1924. Modern interpreters began to look to other places forgetting that the Bible warned that the Beast has one of his heads being wounded. In other words, one of its empires has been wounded and it will revive itself at the end of times. It is written in detail in the book 'God's War on Terror: Islam, Prophesy and the Bible' by Walid Shoebat.

Second Challenge

When we look at all the literal references in the Bible, in other words all the nations that God destroyed in the Bible in the ends of times: the burden against Arabia, Damascus will be destroyed in one day- those kinds of things, in all the references in the Bible in which the literal names of the nations that God shows in which they are destroyed in the ends of times, did you know that every single one of them is Muslim?

Isaiah 21:13-17

13 A prophecy against Arabia:
You caravans of Dedanites, who camp in the thickets of Arabia,
14 bring water for the thirsty; you who live in Tema, bring food for the fugitives.
15 They flee from the sword, from the drawn sword, from the bent bow and from the heat of battle.

16 This is what the Lord says to me: "Within one year, as a servant bound by contract would count it, all the splendor of Kedar will come to an end.
17 The survivors of the archers, the warriors of Kedar, will be few." The Lord, the God of Israel, has spoken.

Isaiah 17:1-3

1 A prophecy against Damascus:
“See, Damascus will no longer be a city but will become a heap of ruins.
2 The cities of Aroer will be deserted and left to flocks, which will lie down, with no one to make them afraid.
3 The fortified city will disappear from Ephraim, and royal power from Damascus; the remnant of Aram will be like the glory of the Israelites,” declares the Lord Almighty.

Jeremiah 49:23-27

23 Concerning Damascus:
“Hamath and Arpad are dismayed, for they have heard bad news.
They are disheartened,
troubled like the restless sea.
24 Damascus has become feeble,
she has turned to flee
and panic has gripped her;
anguish and pain have seized her,
pain like that of a woman in labor.
25 Why has the city of renown not been abandoned, the town in which I delight?
26 Surely, her young men will fall in the streets;
all her soldiers will be silenced in that day,” declares the Lord

I know what you're thinking about- what about the king of the east? Isn't China that comes against Israel at the end of times, they will lead 200 million man army?

Revelation 9:13-19

13 The sixth angel sounded his trumpet, and I heard a voice coming from the four horns of the golden altar that is before God.
14 It said to the sixth angel who had the trumpet, “Release the four angels who are bound at the great river Euphrates.”
15 And the four angels who had been kept ready for this very hour and day and month and year were released to kill a third of mankind.
16 The number of the mounted troops was twice ten thousand times ten thousand. I heard their number.
17 The horses and riders I saw in my vision looked like this: Their breastplates were fiery red, dark blue, and yellow as sulfur. The heads of the horses resembled the heads of lions, and out of their mouths came fire, smoke and sulfur.

18 A third of mankind was killed by the three plagues of fire, smoke and sulfur that came out of their mouths.
19 The power of the horses was in their mouths and in their tails; for their tails were like snakes, having heads with which they inflict injury.

Yet if you examine the text in the Bible nowhere does it say the word China at all. It simply says Kings from the east.

Revelation 16:12-16

12 The sixth angel poured out his bowl on the great river Euphrates, and its water was dried up to prepare the way for the kings from the East.
13 Then I saw three impure spirits that looked like frogs; they came out of the mouth of the dragon, out of the mouth of the beast and out of the mouth of the false prophet.
14 They are demonic spirits that perform signs, and they go out to the kings of the whole world, to gather them for the battle on the great day of God Almighty.
15 “Look, I come like a thief! Blessed is the one who stays awake and remains clothed, so as not to go naked and be shamefully exposed.”
16 Then they gathered the kings together to the place that in Hebrew is called Armageddon.

If you want to apply a hermeneutical perspective/method of interpreting scripture, that is we must look at other parts of the Bible, in which it talked about wise men from the east or kings from the east, who came to worship the King in our village in Bethlehem. They came and brought incense, frankincense, and myrrh (Matthew 2:1-12). All scholars agree that these came from the regions of Babylonia and Persia- today are Muslim countries. So why would the kings of the East here be Babylonia and Persia and the kings of the East there be China? By what right do we have this interpretation, by what hermeneutical method did we use to interpret kings of the east to be China? Second of all, it is plural kings and not one King. China is but one leader. This is talking about several nations with several leaders coming east of the Euphrates to attack Israel.
Now if we look each of the Euphrates what do we find? We find Iraq. Today it’s the stronghold of ISIS. Then Turkic Azarbizan sent 150,000 Christians to Armenia, previously committed Assyrian genocide. Iran funding Hezbollah, Hamas, and Houthis. East of that we will find Afghanistan, the collapser of the World Trade Center and then you will find Pakistan which gave birth to the Taliban. Then you will find Indonesia which has slaughtered West Papua’s Christians. All Muslim regions and likely to come against Israel. And they seem to fit the bill of being east of the Euphrates and can be called Kings from the east. There is no other nation mentioned in the Bible as destruction that is a non-Muslim nation including Rome. Rome, many think there is the nation of Italy or Rome coming against Israel at the end of times. Did you know that Rome is mentioned 16 times in the Bible, with not one reference to destruction? Did God forget to mention the destruction of Rome, indeed if what the Bible was talking about was Rome. I know what you're thinking about- you're saying well what about these seven hills of Rome? Isn't that in the Bible- the Seven Hills- the Seven Mountains?

Revelation 17:1-9

1 One of the seven angels who had the seven bowls came and said to me, "Come, I will show you the punishment of the great prostitute, who sits by many waters.
2 With her the kings of the earth committed adultery, and the inhabitants of the earth were intoxicated with the wine of her adulteries."
3 Then the angel carried me away in the Spirit into a wilderness. There I saw a woman sitting on a scarlet beast that was covered with blasphemous names and had seven heads and ten horns.
4 The woman was dressed in purple and scarlet, and was glittering with gold, precious stones and pearls. She held a golden cup in her hand, filled with abominable things and the filth of her adulteries.
5 The name written on her forehead was a mystery:
Babylon the great
the mother of prostitutes and of the abominations of the earth.
6 I saw that the woman was drunk with the blood of God’s holy people, the blood of those who bore testimony to Jesus. When I saw her, I was greatly astonished.
7 Then the angel said to me: "Why are you astonished? I will explain to you the mystery of the woman and of the beast she rides, which has the seven heads and ten horns.
8 The beast, which you saw, once was, now is not, and yet will come up out of the Abyss and go to its destruction. The inhabitants of the earth whose names have not been written in the book of life from the creation of the world will be astonished when they see the beast, because it once was, now is not, and yet will come.
9 “This calls for a mind with wisdom. The seven heads are seven hills on which the woman sits.
10 They are also seven kings. Five have fallen, one is, the other has not yet come; but when he does come, he must remain for only a little while."
11 The beast who once was, and now is not, is an eighth king. He belongs to the seven and is going to his destruction.

The problem with many of these Western modernistic views is that they don't look at the entire text of Revelation 13 or Revelation 17 regarding the woman riding on a scarlet beast with seven heads and there are also seven mountains. Remember they're not the seven mountains but they are seven heads and there are also seven kings. Kings don't rule mountains, kings rule kingdoms. They are seven kingdoms or empires which were ruled by seven kings. John was saying five have fallen one is and the other has not yet come. Sure from John's perspective the kingdoms that fell in the past are well known. John was sitting in the sixth kingdom which is the Roman Empire and he's saying five have fallen. Well simply put y Egypt, Assyria, Babylonia, Persia (+ Medo Persia) and the Grecian Empire. The fifth Empire fell and he was sitting on the Roman and the other had not yet come. So who was the seventh nation or empire that came after the Roman Empire? Now if you examine history the Roman Empire seized to exist in Rome and continued to exist in its eastern parts in Constantinople. It was called the Byzantine Empire. The Byzantine Empire existed for hundreds of years afterward and still was called the Roman Empire. It fell on the hands of the Muslims, the Ottoman Empire. Mohammed II in 1453 took until from the Roman Empire. He was the seventh King- this was the seventh Kingdom that the Bible talked about. In fact that interpretation is not a private interpretation. It was very commonly known in ancient times. In fact the Bible continues to say- the one that was yet not (the number seven) is himself also the eighth. Aha. Number seven/ seventh head that that is or the seventh mountain that is was wounded in the head and its wound was healed, it revives again.

Revelation 13:3

One of the heads of the beast seemed to have had a fatal wound, but the fatal wound had been healed. The whole world was filled with wonder and followed the beast.

The Islamic empire will come again in the ends of times and this seems to be collaborated with all the literal text mentioned in scripture. Every single reference in the Bible that mentions the name of the nations that God destroyed in the end of times, every single one is Muslim.

Revelation 13:1-10 The Beast from the Sea:

1 The dragon stood on the shore of the sea. And I saw a beast coming out of the sea. It had ten horns and seven heads, with ten crowns on its horns, and on each head a blasphemous name.

2 The beast I saw resembled a leopard, but had feet like those of a bear and a mouth like that of a lion. The dragon gave the beast his power and his throne and great authority.

3 One of the heads of the beast seemed to have had a fatal wound, but the fatal wound had been healed. The whole world was filled with wonder and followed the beast.

4 People worshiped the dragon because he had given authority to the beast, and they also worshiped the beast and asked, “Who is like the beast? Who can wage war against it?”

5 The beast was given a mouth to utter proud words and blasphemies and to exercise its authority for forty-two months.

6 It opened its mouth to blaspheme God, and to slander his name and his dwelling place and those who live in heaven.

7 It was given power to wage war against God’s holy people and to conquer them. And it was given authority over every tribe, people, language and nation.
8 All inhabitants of the earth will worship the beast—all whose names have not been written in the Lamb’s book of life, the Lamb who was slain from the creation of the world.
9 Whoever has ears, let them hear.
10 “If anyone is to go into captivity, into captivity they will go. If anyone is to be killed with the sword, with the sword they will be killed.” This calls for patient endurance and faithfulness on the part of God’s people.
Revelation 13:11-18 The Beast from the Earth:
11 Then I saw a second beast, coming out of the earth. It had two horns like a lamb, but it spoke like a dragon.
12 It exercised all the authority of the first beast on its behalf, and made the earth and its inhabitants worship the first beast, whose fatal wound had been healed.
13 And it performed great signs, even causing fire to come down from heaven to the earth in full view of the people.
14 Because of the signs it was given power to perform on behalf of the first beast, it deceived the inhabitants of the earth. It ordered them to set up an image in honor of the beast who was wounded by the sword and yet lived.
15 The second beast was given power to give breath to the image of the first beast, so that the image could speak and cause all who refused to worship the image to be killed.
16 It also forced all people, great and small, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on their right hands or on their foreheads,
17 so that they could not buy or sell unless they had the mark, which is the name of the beast or the number of its name.
18 This calls for wisdom. Let the person who has insight calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man. That number is 666.

Third Challenge
Of all the different references that nations are mentioned in which the Messiah himself is fighting and that nation is mentioned those nations are all Muslim. Even if you look at the references in the Bible regarding the coming Messiah on the day of the Lord in which he fights these nations, you will find Him fighting none other than Islamic countries. In the day of the Lord and the Bible is clear that the Messiah is there fighting.
Ezekiel 30:3

> "For the day is near, the day of the Lord is near— a day of clouds, a time of doom for the nations."

Ezekiel 30:4

> "A sword will come against Egypt, and anguish will come upon Cush. When the slain fall in Egypt, her wealth will be carried away and her foundations torn down."

Ezekiel 30:5

> "Cush and Libya, Lydia and all Arabia, Kub and the people of the covenant land will fall by the sword along with Egypt."

Verse 3 talks about the day of the Lord, that is the Messiah being on earth. If the day of the Lord is in Ezekiel chapter 30 verse 3 why is it in verses 4 and 5 he is fighting Muslim countries? He's fighting Lydia which is the Eastern Roman Empire. He is fighting Libya which today is North Africa, which composes Algeria, Tunisia, Morocco, Libya. All these nations are Western Roman Empire, nations that was were part of the Western Roman Empire. So if you want to revive the Roman Empire you must not forget North Africa, it is mentioned in the Bible. You must not also forget Turkey (Eastern Roman Empire), which is mentioned literally in the Bible. All these nations are literally referred to in the Bible. There is no reference to any European country that God destroys in the ends of times. Jesus comes to fight Edom in Isaiah 63. Many think Edom is Jordan because if you look up a Bible reference or a Bible dictionary it will say Edom is Jordan. But Ezekiel 25 tells us that Edom is not simply Jordan. Ezekiel 25:13 tells us that Edom stems from the region of Teman which is Yemen to the Dedan which is the heart of the Arab world (northwestern part of the Arabian Peninsula that is Saudi Arabia, research: Ezekiel 27:15, Jeremiah 49:8, Genesis 10:7) 13 therefore this is what the Sovereign Lord says: I will stretch out my hand against Edom and kill both man and beast. I will lay it waste, and from Teman to Dedan they will fall by the sword.

Ezekiel 25:13

Arabia is mentioned in destruction by the hand of the Messiah himself in Isaiah 63 when he gives even the references that his garments is sprinkled with blood that he treads the winepress.

Isaiah 63:1-6

1 Who is this coming from Edom, from Bozrah, with his garments stained crimson? Who is this, robed in splendor, striding forward in the greatness of his strength?
2 “It is I, proclaiming victory, mighty to save.”
3 Why are your garments red, like those of one treading the winepress?
4 “I have trodden the winepress alone; from the nations no one was with me. I trampled them in my anger and trod them down in my wrath; their blood spattered my garments, and I stained all my clothing.

5 For the day of vengeance was in my heart, and the year of my redemption has come.
6 I looked, but there was no one to help, I was appalled that no one gave support; so my own arm achieved salvation for me, and my own wrath sustained me.

Exactly the same references that are mentioned in Revelation with the Messiah treading the winepress. Yet in Isaiah 63 he treads the winepress that is an Edom, which is the heart of the Arab world and the Muslim nations and where Islam even came out off. In Habakkuk chapter 3 he fights the region of Midian. Now Midian was the brother of Ishmael- this is the heart of the Arab world.

Habakkuk 3:2-7

2 Lord, I have heard of your fame;
I stand in awe of your deeds, Lord.
Repeat them in our day,
in our time make them known;
in wrath remember mercy.
3 God came from Teman,
the Holy One from Mount Paran.[b]
His glory covered the heavens and his praise filled the earth.
4 His splendor was like the sunrise;
rays flashed from his hand,
where his power was hidden.
5 Plague went before him;
pestilence followed his steps.
6 He stood, and shook the earth;
he looked, and made the nations tremble.
The ancient mountains crumbled and the age-old hills collapsed—but he marches on forever.
7 I saw the tents of Cushan in distress, the dwellings of Midian in anguish.

Even in the judgment of the nations, in Joel 3, the Messiah is on earth in the valley of Jehoshaphat. That is Armageddon, he is fighting the surrounding nations and he's judging the surrounding nations. In the judgment, if you continue in Joel 3, he says it very clearly, he's challenging two entities. One he calls Tyre which is Lebanon, other is Philistia, which is Gaza.

Joel 3:1-8

1 “In those days and at that time, when I restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem,

2 I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. There I will put them on trial for what they did to my inheritance, my people Israel, because they scattered my people among the nations and divided up my land.

3 They cast lots for my people and traded boys for prostitutes; they sold girls for wine to drink.

4 Now what have you against me, Tyre and Sidon and all you regions of Philistia? Are you repaying me for something I have done? If you are paying me back, I will swiftly and speedily return on your own heads what you have done.

5 For you took my silver and my gold and carried off my finest treasures to your temples.

6 You sold the people of Judah and Jerusalem to the Greeks, that you might send them far from their homeland.

7 "See, I am going to rouse them out of the places to which you sold them, and I will return on your own heads what you have done.

8 I will sell your sons and daughters to the people of Judah, and they will sell them to the Sabeans, a nation far away." The Lord has spoken."

He is fighting with Lebanon which is almost totally ruled by Hezbollah and he's fighting Gaza which is ruled by Hamas. Why is the Messiah fighting Gaza and fighting Lebanon if the Antichrist is supposed to be coming from Italy? We see in the Bible that tells us and we saw the martyrs that were beheaded in the name of Jesus. Are Italians beheading Christians or are the Muslim fundamentalists beheading Christians? Now the Mahdi in accordance to Islam is signified as a man who brings seven years of peace.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 36, Hadith 4273:

"Narrated Abu Sa'id al-Khudri: The Prophet said: The Mahdi will be of my stock, and will have a broad forehead [and] a prominent nose. He will fill the earth with equity and justice as it was filled with oppression and tyranny, and he will rule for seven years."

In Daniel 9 it talks about the Antichrist that he brings seven years of peace or he confirms a covenant for seven years. And he will break that covenant right in the middle and position himself in the Temple Mount declaring himself to be God.

Daniel 9:27

27 He will confirm a covenant with many for one ‘seven.’ In the middle of the ‘seven’ he will put an end to sacrifice and offering. And at the temple he will set up an abomination that causes desolation, until the end that is decreed is poured out on him.

The Bible is the manuscript that defines what is a form of worship. If we look at the Bible it says man can worship money. Yet if we go to a rich man and tell him you worship money he will say- no way I don't worship money. Yet he could very possibly worship money, because warship is who you glorify the most or what you glorify the most. Muslims don't only worship Muhammad, they will also worship the Mahdi. They also worship the black stone. Regardless if you ask them do you worship the black stone- they will deny that. They don't even think that they worship the black stone deep down in their hearts. They don't believe they even worship Muhammad, yet they do. How? Well, let's think of the name Muhammad itself. The name Muhammad means the praised one. I've never heard of anybody in the West or even biblically of any man named 'the praised one' unless it's a claim of deity. He is called the glorious one. You can never call a mere man the glorious one, even if you examine the creed of salvation in Islam. The Islamic salvation creed goes as follows: I declare there is no God but Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger. That seems to be odd. Christians are not saved because they believe there is no God but Allah and Ezekiel is his messenger. If Muslims claim that Muhammad is a mere prophet, why is it mandatory to say there is no God but Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger? You can't say there's no God but Yahweh and Joel is His Messenger; that puts Joel in such a high status of deification. See Islam does believe that Muhammad can be the intercessor for Muslims. He sits on the right-hand side of Allah and he intercedes for the Muslims. This seems to be positioning Muhammad in the same way Christians position Jesus Christ, who we believe is God. Muslims also inadvertently worship the black stone. Because in Islam the Muslim gets his sin omitted or cleaned out when he goes to the pilgrimage in Mecca. You go around the black stone seven times and Allah forgives your sins. In fact Islam teaches that the black stone is black because it sucked up the sins of the Muslims when they go on the pilgrimage. That seems to be giving the black stone more deity than it deserves. Because only God can forgive sins. Why do 1.8 billion Muslims pray and bow down to the black stone, indeed if the black stone doesn't mean that much to Islam? That's a whole different subject- how Lucifer wanted to be worshiped. Now again all the nations that God prophesied in the Bible are all Muslim. If you go to Isaiah chapter 21, Revelation 14:8 and Revelation 18:2 which says Babylon is fallen is fallen.

Isaiah 21:9

Look, here comes a man in a chariot with a team of horses. And he gives back the answer: 'Babylon has fallen, has fallen! All the images of its gods lie shattered on the ground!'

Revelation 14:8

A second angel followed and said, 'Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great,' which made all the nations drink the maddening wine of her adulteries.

Revelation 18:2
With a mighty voice he shouted: 'Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great! She has become a dwelling for demons and a haunt for every impure spirit, a haunt for every unclean bird, a haunt for every unclean and detestable animal.'

You seem to be waiting for a Mystery Babylon, yet there is a reference to this Babylon- Babylon is fallen is fallen, is the same reference in Revelation regarding Mystery Babylon and its destruction, when in Revelation it says Babylon is fallen is fallen. But yet you continue in the text of Isaiah 21 which talks about the region that is fallen, the burden against Duma. What is Duma?

Isaiah 21:11-12

> 11 "A prophecy against Dumah: Someone calls to me from Seir, > ‘Watchman, what is left of the night? Watchman, what is left of the > night?’ 12 The watchman replies, ‘Morning is coming, but also the > night. If you would ask, then ask; and come back yet again.’"

Use the Bible dictionary. Duma is Duma of Arabia. It is located in the heart of the Arab world and if you continue on it says the burden against Arabia. God destroys Arabia and Isaiah 21, full destruction of Arabia. Even culminates in Isaiah chapter 34 with the oil mentioned literally in the Bible and its destruction. And God focuses on the subject that He will destroy Edom that the streams will be filled with pitch.

Isaiah 34:8-10

> 8 "For the Lord has a day of vengeance, a year of retribution, to uphold > Zion’s cause. 9 Edom’s streams will be turned into pitch, her dust into > burning sulfur; her land will become blazing pitch! 10 It will not be > quenched night or day; its smoke will rise forever. From generation to > generation it will lie desolate; no one will ever pass through it again."

When we look at the word streams it doesn't mean water streams. Because the Hebrew Nahal means underground tunnels, mines, and wells. Its Wells, it's mines will be filled with pitch. Pitched hebrew Zefat which literally means tar oil. And it will burn, it's flames will ascend forever from generation to generation. That seems to have never been fulfilled in the past. It's talking about the destruction of the oil in Arabia. Because remember Edom is Dedan in Ezekiel 25, that is the heart of the Arab world. We need to read the Bible in balance and interpret the entire Word of God. Even including the very things like the mark of the beast and these issues are things that are taught in Islam as good things to do for Muslims. If you examine the Quran, the Quran talks about Dabbat Al Ard that is beast of the earth. Did you know that Dabbat Al Ard is the beast of the earth that is mentioned in the Quran? The job of the beasts of the earth will be to mark all Muslims on the forehead to be identified from non-muslims, that's your mark of the beast.

Surah An-Naml (27:82-83):

And when the word befalls them, We will bring forth for them a creature from the earth speaking to them, [saying] that the people were, of Our verses, not certain [in faith].

This passage mentions a creature or beast that will emerge from the earth as a sign before the Day of Judgment. It will speak to people, emphasizing the certainty of divine signs and warnings.

Musnad Ahmad, Hadith 22691:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

The Prophet said, "There are three who will not enter Paradise: one who is addicted to wine, one who breaks ties of relationship, and one who believes in magic. And there will be three who will not taste death until they see Dabbat Al-Ard: one who will be in the east, one who will be in the west, and one who will be in the Arabian Peninsula. And Dabbat Al-Ard will emerge to the people and it will mark them in their noses and they will be differentiated on account of that, and it will mark the believer whereupon his face will become bright with light, and it will mark the disbeliever whereupon his nose will drop to his face and it will appear like a slit, and when the people stand in need of a thing in which they have no means (to obtain it), they will be shown, `Go to those who took the mark on their noses.' That is because Allah has forbidden the earth to swallow the bodies of those two (the Dajjal and Dabbat Al-Ard) together."

Why are Muslims being taught that they need to take mark from the beasts on their foreheads? You see Muslims walking around all over the place in the Muslim world with badges on their forehead that says "there is no god but Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger". So you might object well that doesn't say 666, it seems to say "There is no God but Allah Muhammad is His Messenger". Did the Bible teach that we would have such declarations of faith in Islam being on the forehead of the followers of Antichrist? That doesn't seem to square well with what you read in the Bible. However, the problem is you didn't look very well into the text. It talks about three things, not just one flavor of 666. The mark of the beast, the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

Revelation 13:17-18

> "so that they could not buy or sell unless they had the mark, which is the name of the beast or the number of its name. This calls for wisdom. Let the person who has insight calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man. That number is 666."

What is this or-or-or if everyone is supposed to get a standard emblem with 666 on it? Maybe if Hillary Clinton is the Antichrist it will say Hillary Clinton on the forehead. No no no. That is not what the Bible is implying. When it comes to the word name or name of the beast, or how we use name hermeneutically we must go to all the parts in the Bible where the usage of allegoric name is used to see how the Bible is using the word name in allegoric fashion. And then we can conclude what the Bible intends to show us about these things that are in the forehead. Now if we go on the Bible there are many places that talk about the name, and these are the holy things like you know His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. Well, these are not names, these are simply titles. His name shall be called Emmanuel, which means God with us. Aha. His name shall be called Emmanuel. Emmanuel means God with us. Is Emmanuel the name of Jesus? No. If you want to make literal reference to Emmanuel being the name then maybe the Messiah comes from Mexico. Because the name Emanuelle is very common in Mexico. Well we can't do that either. Emanuelle has a meaning. His name shall be called Emmanuel, which is God with us. So in the same essence Emmanuel is our Creed, it is our statement of faith. All believers believe that God came to us, God with us. That's a Creed. In the same sense in the Revelation when it talks about the name of the beast, it is the Creed of the Antichrist that will be on the foreheads of the followers of Antichrist. It is a declaration of faith. That's what takes people to heaven or to hell. If you want to go to heaven you must believe in God with us that God came down, and he was martyred for the sins of mankind. And by you believing in that you could enter paradise. However Islamic declaration rejects the Trinity. In fact, in 1st John 2:22 it says:

22 Who is the liar? It is whoever denies that Jesus is the Christ. Such a person is the antichrist—denying the Father and the Son.

Wait a minute here. He is an Antichrist who denies the Father and the Son. If Antichrist is Catholic how could he come from Rome? He must deny the Father and the Son. That seems to fit more towards Islam than it would fit to us a Roman Catholic. The Bible tells us the spirit of Antichrist must deny the Father, must deny the Son, must be anti Trinity. But what is this Islam? Islam is ‘Dean Al Tawhid’ in Arabic ‘the religion of Unitarianism’. It is a very unitary faith that rejects the Father, that rejects the Son. In fact if you don't believe me ask any Muslim why do you reject Christianity. The first thing they will tell you is that we reject that God is our Father, we rejected Jesus Christ as the Son of God, God had no Son. It's in the Quran: He neither begets, nor He has been begotten never did he has a Son Surah Al-Ikhlas (Chapter 112) verse 1-4. This is written on the Dome of the Rock, this is written everywhere. Muslims believe it. They recite it every day in their prayers. So what is blasphemous in Christianity, is the most holy thing in Islam. And what is the most holy thing in Islam (unitarianism/arianism) is the most blasphemous thing in Christianity. And the Mahdi of Islam bringing seven years of peace (Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 36, Hadith 4273) is one of the most holy thing in Islam, that Mahdi will come and he would have the essence of Mohammed. Mohammed says he will have my spirit in him, is the most blasphemous man in the Bible. And the most holy thing in the Bible- Jesus dying for our sins and him being the Son of his Father is the most blasphemous thing in Islam. And on the forehead of the woman riding the beast is names of blasphemy (Revelation 17:3-5)- declarations are a blasphemous. Once we understand the allegoric name or the meaning of the word mountain then we can unlock the rest of the Bible. The interpretation of mountain in the Bible is very clear. If you go to other examples in the Bible like maybe Daniel chapter 2 it talks about a colossus, a colossus of gold, chest of silver, belly of bronze, legs of iron and feet of iron and clay (Daniel 2:31-45). And then it talks about a stone that was cut without hands, smote the image at the feet and then the gold and the silver and the bronze and the iron and the clay were crushed together. And then the stone, which is the Messiah, grew to become a great mountain. Aha. How could the Messiah become a great mountain. The mountain is the kingdom of Christ. So in this case he will establish his Mountain, he will rule from His hill, from his mountain, from his kingdom. When Jesus said if you have faith of a mustard seed you can move their mountains. Now Jesus was not saying things that doesn't make sense. Everything Jesus says makes sense. He's saying if we have faith of a mustard seed you can move kingdoms. Exactly what the disciples did. And this is why the Christians in the west can move this nation and can change this nation if they so believed what Messiah said when he said if you have faith of a mustard seed you can move the mountains. Now if you understand name being creed or declaration of faith that is and mountain being kingdom you can unlock all the allegories of the Bible that you need to know. Seven mountains are seven kingdoms; the seven heads are seven kingdoms. There are also seven kings. Kingdoms- some of them fell, one was number six which was a town of John and the number seven came which is Islamic, and it will revive again as number eight, which will rise again from the eastern parts of the Roman Empire. Just as Sir Robert Anderson thought and the traditionalist Bible interpreters taught of their time. We have to have five in the east and five in the west. We have to go back to the Colossus in Daniel, they have to be ten toes.

Daniel 2:41-43

Just as you saw that the feet and toes were partly of baked clay and partly of iron, so this will be a divided kingdom; yet it will have some of the strength of iron in it, even as you saw iron mixed with clay. As the toes were partly iron and partly clay, so this kingdom will be partly strong and partly brittle. And just as you saw the iron mixed with baked clay, so the people will be a mixture and will not remain united, any more than iron mixes with clay.

Daniel 7:24
The ten horns are ten kings who will come from this kingdom. After them another king will arise, different from the earlier ones; he will subdue three kings.
Revelation 17:12-13
The ten horns you saw are ten kings who have not yet received a kingdom, but who for one hour will receive authority as kings along with the beast. They have one purpose and will give their power and authority to the beast.

We must look at all the names of the nations. Even if you go to Revelation and you see the beast being captured with him- the false prophet, those being cast into the lake of fire in Revelation, is also explained in a way in Ezekiel's chapters 28, 29, 30, 31, and 32.
Revelation 19:20
But the beast was captured, and with it the false prophet who had performed the signs on its behalf. With these signs, he had deluded those who had received the mark of the beast and worshiped its image. The two of them were thrown alive into the fiery lake of burning sulfur.
Revelation 20:10
And the devil, who deceived them, was thrown into the lake of burning sulfur, where the beast and the false prophet had been thrown. They will be tormented day and night for ever and ever.
Ezekiel 28:2
Son of man, say to the ruler of Tyre, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: In the pride of your heart you say, "I am a god; I sit on the throne of a god in the heart of the seas." But you are a mere mortal and not a god, though you think you are as wise as a god.

The Prince of Tyre's pride and claim to divinity parallels the blasphemous arrogance of the beast and false prophet in Revelation.
Ezekiel 28:17-19
Your heart became proud on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom because of your splendor. So I threw you to the earth; I made a spectacle of you before kings. By your many sins and dishonest trade you have desecrated your sanctuaries. So I made a fire come out from you, and it consumed you, and I reduced you to ashes on the ground in the sight of all who were watching. All the nations who knew you are appalled at you; you have come to a horrible end and will be no more.

The imagery of being consumed by fire and reduced to ashes resonates with the lake of fire in Revelation.

Ezekiel 29:3-5

Speak to him and say: 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: "I am against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt, you great monster lying among your streams. You say, 'The Nile belongs to me; I made it for myself.' But I will put hooks in your jaws and make the fish of your streams stick to your scales. I will pull you out from among your streams, with all the fish sticking to your scales. I will leave you in the desert, you and all the fish of your streams. You will fall on the open field and not be gathered or picked up. I will give you as food to the beasts of the earth and the birds of the sky.

The "great monster" and the imagery of judgment echo the fate of the beast in Revelation.

Ezekiel 31:14

Therefore no other trees by the waters are ever to tower proudly on high, lifting their tops above the thick foliage. No other trees so well-watered are ever to reach such a height; they are all destined for death, for the earth below, among mortals who go down to the realm of the dead.

The imagery of trees being brought low and cast into the realm of the dead parallels the casting of the false prophet into the lake of fire.

Ezekiel 32:7-8

When I snuff you out, I will cover the heavens and darken their stars; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon will not give its light. All the shining lights in the heavens I will darken over you; I will bring darkness over your land, declares the Sovereign LORD.

The cosmic disturbances and darkness align with the apocalyptic imagery in Revelation.

Did you know that the Bible tells us even the literal references of the names of the nations that are cast into the lake of fire? If you read the bulk of Ezekiel 28, 29 there is the Prince of Tyre, he is the Antichrist, he was the cherub in the Garden of God, and he is captured he's thrown into the pit. And why is Antichrist called the Prince of Tyre? Where is Tyre today? Today Tyre is in the country of Lebanon. The Antichrist is ruling in Lebanon.

Ezekiel 28:1-19 - The Prince and King of Tyre:

Ezekiel 28:1-2

The word of the Lord came to me: 'Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre, This is what the Sovereign Lord says: In the pride of your heart you say, "I am a god; I sit on the throne of a god in the heart of the seas." But you are a mere mortal and not a god, though you think you are as wise as a god.'

The Prince of Tyre is rebuked for his pride and self-deification. This could be seen as a type of foreshadowing of the Antichrist, who is also described in the Bible as exalting himself above God (2 Thessalonians 2:4).

Ezekiel 28:12-15

Son of man, take up a lament concerning the king of Tyre and say to him: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: You were the seal of perfection, full of wisdom and perfect in beauty. You were in Eden, the garden of God; every precious stone adorned you... You were anointed as a guardian cherub, for so I ordained you. You were on the holy mount of God; you walked among the fiery stones. You were blameless in your ways from the day you were created till wickedness was found in you.'

This passage transitions to a lament over the "king of Tyre," who is depicted with imagery suggesting a high-ranking spiritual being, possibly Satan. The reference to Eden and being a guardian cherub connects this figure to the fall of a powerful spiritual being.

Ezekiel 28:16-17

Through your widespread trade you were filled with violence, and you sinned. So I drove you in disgrace from the mount of God, and I expelled you, guardian cherub, from among the fiery stones. Your heart became proud on account of your beauty, and you corrupted your wisdom because of your splendor. So I threw you to the earth; I made a spectacle of you before kings.

The imagery here is often associated with the fall of Satan, reflecting pride and subsequent expulsion from God's presence. This passage can be linked to the Antichrist through the theme of pride and rebellion against God.

Ezekiel 28:18-19

By your many sins and dishonest trade you have desecrated your sanctuaries. So I made a fire come out from you, and it consumed you, and I reduced you to ashes on the ground in the sight of all who were watching. All the nations who knew you are appalled at you; you have come to a horrible end and will be no more.

This ultimate destruction mirrors the fate of the Antichrist as described in Revelation.

Ezekiel 29:1-21 - Prophecy Against Egypt:

Ezekiel 29:3-5

Speak to him and say: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: I am against you, Pharaoh king of Egypt, you great monster lying among your streams. You say, "The Nile belongs to me; I made it for myself." But I will put hooks in your jaws and make the fish of your streams stick to your scales. I will pull you out from among your streams, with all the fish sticking to your scales. I will leave you in the desert, you and all the fish of your streams. You will fall on the open field and not be gathered or picked up. I will give you as food to the beasts of the earth and the birds of the sky.'

This prophecy against Egypt symbolizes God's judgment against nations that exalt themselves. The imagery of the great monster (often interpreted as a crocodile, symbolizing Pharaoh) pulled from the river and left to die could be seen as analogous to the ultimate defeat of the Antichrist.

Interpretative Summary:

Prince of Tyre: Represents human pride and self-exaltation, akin to the Antichrist.

King of Tyre: Described in terms that many see as reflective of Satan's fall, drawing a parallel to the Antichrist's rebellion and ultimate defeat.

Why is the Antichrist called the Assyrian as Syria? Assyria seems to exist in Iraq, Syria, and parts of Turkey.

Isaiah 10:5-12 refers to the Assyrians as an instrument of God's wrath against a godless nation (Israel) but also highlights the eventual punishment of the Assyrians for their pride and arrogance.

Isaiah 10:5-7

Woe to the Assyrian, the rod of my anger, in whose hand is the club of my wrath! I send him against a godless nation, I dispatch him against a people who anger me, to seize loot and snatch plunder, and to trample them down like mud in the streets. But this is not what he intends, this is not what he has in mind; his purpose is to destroy, to put an end to many nations.

Isaiah 10:12

When the Lord has finished all his work against Mount Zion and Jerusalem, he will say, 'I will punish the king of Assyria for the willful pride of his heart and the haughty look in his eyes.'

Isaiah 14:24-27 includes a prophecy about the fall of the Assyrians, which some interpret as a foreshadowing of the defeat of the Antichrist.

Isaiah 14:25

I will crush the Assyrian in my land; on my mountains I will trample him down. His yoke will be taken from my people, and his burden removed from their shoulders.

Micah 5:5-6 refers to the future deliverance of Israel from the Assyrians when he invades their land.

Micah 5:5-6

And he will be our peace when the Assyrian invades our land and marches through our fortresses. We will raise against him seven shepherds, even eight commanders, who will rule the land of Assyria with the sword, the land of Nimrod with drawn sword. He will deliver us from the Assyrian when he invades our land and marches into our borders.

Why is the Antichrist called Pharaoh of Egypt, he is the king of Egypt (Ezekiel 29:3-5 & Ezekiel 31:2-9)? He is called many titles like these of regions that exists today in Muslim countries. So the Bible did not forget to tell us about the threat of Islam. Perhaps it is we who did not look into the Bible to see what the Bible had to say about the threat of the rise of fundamental Islam. And these are not nations like Nazi Germany, one nation. We are talking about several nations. Because it talks about ten toes (Daniel 2:41-42). The Old Testament, talks about the destruction of Iran- Persia or Elam and all her multitude into the pit into the lake of fire.

Jeremiah 49:34-39

This is the word of the Lord that came to Jeremiah the prophet concerning Elam, early in the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah:

This is what the Lord Almighty says: “See, I will break the bow of Elam, the mainstay of their might.

I will bring against Elam the four winds from the four quarters of heaven; I will scatter them to the four winds, and there will not be a nation where Elam’s exiles do not go.

I will shatter Elam before their foes, before those who want to kill them; I will bring disaster on them, even my fierce anger,” declares the Lord. “I will pursue them with the sword until I have made an end of them.

I will set my throne in Elam and destroy her king and officials,” declares the Lord.

“Yet I will restore the fortunes of Elam in days to come,” declares the Lord.

There is Lydia- Turkey and all her multitude into the pit, into the lake of fire, mentioned literally in the Bible. Even on the day of the Lord. If you look at Joel or Amos or Isaiah or Ezekiel or even the Psalms. You find all the nations that are mentioned are all Islamic today. Psalms 81, 82, and 83 are very interesting because you look at Psalm 81, it says the haters of the Lord pretend submission to Him.

Psalm 81:15

The haters of the Lord would pretend submission to Him, But their fate would endure forever.

The ones who hate God think in their mind that they submit and worship God. How could somebody think they submit to God when in reality God is saying that: they don't submit to Me, they don’t worship Me, I don't know them. In fact it continues on in Psalm 82 verse 8 which says:

Rise up, O God, judge the earth, for all the nations are your inheritance.

Wow, this is God arising from his throne, judging the world. In fact this caller collaborates with Joel 3 and he will inherit all nations.

Joel 3:1-2

"In those days and at that time, when I restore the fortunes of Judah and Jerusalem,

I will gather all nations and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat. There I will put them on trial for what they did to my inheritance, my people Israel, because they scattered my people among the nations and divided up my land."

This seems to be that the Messiah is coming down to fight these nations. And then Psalm 83 it says for the ones who hate you who hate God.

Psalm 83:1-5

O God, do not remain silent; do not turn a deaf ear, do not stand aloof, O God.
See how your enemies growl, how your foes rear their heads.
With cunning they conspire against your people; they plot against those you cherish.
“Come,” they say, “let us destroy them as a nation, so that Israel’s name is remembered no more.”
With one mind they plot together; they form an alliance against you—

Who are these? The ones who think they submit to God. Islam means submission. Even Muslims don’t deny it, it doesn't mean peace. It means submitting to the will of Allah. The ones who hate you, they have lifted their head, they have said come and let us cut them off from being a nation that the name of Israel be remembered no more. What did Muhammad say?

Sahih Muslim, Book 41, Hadith 6985:

> "The last hour would not come unless the Muslims will fight against the Jews and the Muslims would kill them until the Jews would hide themselves behind a stone or a tree and a stone or a tree would say: Muslim, or the servant of Allah, there is a Jew behind me; come and kill him; but the tree Gharqad would not say, for it is the tree of the Jews."

It seems to correlate with Islam's prophecy, yet Islam seems to predict that the outcome of the battle is the destruction of the Jews. The Bible says no that's not true. The Bible even gives you the names of these nations: the tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites. Now does anybody need to interpret what is the Ishmaelites? I've explained Edom before which is from Teman which is Yemen to the Dedan which is the heart of the Arab world (northwestern part of the Arabian Peninsula that is Saudi Arabia, research: Ezekiel 27:15, Jeremiah 49:8, Genesis 10:7). Ezekiel 25:13.

Ezekiel 25:12-14

This is what the Sovereign LORD says: “Because Edom took revenge on Judah and became very guilty by doing so, therefore this is what the Sovereign LORD says: I will stretch out my hand against Edom and kill both man and beast. I will lay it waste, and from Teman to Dedan they will fall by the sword.

I will take vengeance on Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they will deal with Edom in accordance with my anger and my wrath; they will know my vengeance, declares the Sovereign LORD."

Assyria is also with them: Syria, Iraq Turkey. All these regions coming with them in this coalition. It says they form a confederacy against you, a confederacy of Nations, a unity of many nations. And all of them are 10 in number. Then it talks about other nations joining them. You know besides Edom you have Philistia/Gaza/ the Palestinians joining them in this battle. And they come against Israel. And what does God say? Pursue them with your tempest and a frighten them with thy storm, that God will put fear in the hearts of the enemies of Israel. And then it says fill their faces with shame that they may seek your name Oh Lord.

Psalm 83:13-18

Make them like tumbleweed, my God, like chaff before the wind.
As fire consumes the forest or a flame sets the mountains ablaze, so pursue them with your tempest and terrify them with your storm.
Cover their faces with shame, Lord, so that they will seek your name.
May they ever be ashamed and dismayed; may they perish in disgrace.
Let them know that you, whose name is the Lord— that you alone are the Most High over all the earth.

What name? Aha. The Emmanuel, the Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace. The true essence of who God is, that he is God with us. He has made that declaration very well in the Bible. Showing these Islamic nations the belief system, showing that they don't like the name of God, showing that they are blaspheme to God and these people hate the true God. This is why in Revelation it says when the mountains mountains fall on us they still blaspheme God. Why? Why would the people in Revelation, even though they see all these calamities, still blaspheme God? Because they are praising Allah and denying the essence of who the true God is. By that, they continue to blaspheme God. They didn't seem to get it. Yet God loves the Muslims, in fact He says one-sixth of the armies that comes against Israel, that God will redeem them and they will come from year to year to Jerusalem to worship the king in Jerusalem.

Ezekiel 39:2

> "And I will turn thee back, and leave but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the north parts, and will bring thee upon the mountains of Israel:"

So why don't you worship the King right now instead of worshiping the blackstone? Instead of dying and blowing yourself. When you read the words of Jesus he said: offer your body as a living sacrifice. I don't have to die for God. God already died for me. Islam is a reversal, in which the funeral of a martyr becomes a wedding.

Sahih al-Bukhari, Book 52, Hadith 53:

> Narrated Sahl bin Sa'd: Allah's Messenger said, "The believer who is killed in Allah's Cause is a martyr, and will be married to seventy-two wives of the maidens with large dark eyes of Paradise, and will have intercession for seventy of his relatives."

And sometimes a wedding becomes a funeral because somebody uses a musical instrument. Everything is in reverse. He did not want the essence of holiness to be in the outside appearance, but he wanted the essence of holiness to be on the inside of a man. Islam has legalized many things that the Bible prohibits. They don't call it rape, they call it concubinage. So you cloak things in different verbiage to make what is evil holy- killing innocent people is jihad. Occupying countries like Spain is liberation or openings. You have opened these nations for the will of Allah. It's blasphemy to say the Bible has been changed. How could God allow His Word to be changed? There is a corruption of the Bible and that is the creation of the Quran. It took certain verses from the Bible and took some Apocrypha and concocted a new manuscript, that is a corruption of the Bible, that denies the very essence of who God is in the Bible. Look towards Arianism, which was considered an Antichrist religion from the beginning of the advent of Christianity. The New Testament warned about Arianism, about denying God as our Father. What's wrong with calling God our Father? He adopts us. Why can't you take their allegoric references of us being the children of God allegorically? He loves us as he is our Father, he is a loving God. He has come down, sent his son, and died on the cross for you. If you choose to believe it you will have everlasting life. You don't have to die for Allah. God sent his son to die for you. That's the message of salvation. If we all worship the same God how come when people convert to Islam they have to say “There is no God but Allah and Muhammad is His Messenger”. If you ask them what is the name Allah, they will tell you well Allah simply means God. So then you say- well okay there is no god but God is saying is okay? No no no no no no. They will say- you gotta say there is no God but Allah. But you told me Allah simply means God, why can't I say there is no god but God. They will insist that you identify with the name of a deity named Allah. In fact most westerners don't know that you cannot in Islam worship Allah unless you worship him in the Arabic language. Even Iranian Muslims, Indonesian Muslims, Persian Muslims, and Turkish Muslims don't speak the Arabic language. But when they go to the mosque they must worship him in Arabic language. They must read the Quran in the Arabic language, not in the English. The Quran and Islam say you cannot worship Allah unless you recite it in the Arabic language. The Quran cannot be used unless you worship Allah in the Arabic language. Why? The persistence of using one language, one religion, one government- Sharia law, because there was someone who was bruised when God changed the system of the world when the world wanted to get together in Babel.

Genesis 11:1-9

Now the whole world had one language and a common speech.
As people moved eastward, they found a plain in Shinar and settled there.
They said to each other, "Come, let's make bricks and bake them thoroughly." They used brick instead of stone, and tar for mortar.
Then they said, "Come, let us build ourselves a city, with a tower that reaches to the heavens, so that we may make a name for ourselves; otherwise we will be scattered over the face of the whole earth."
But the Lord came down to see the city and the tower the people were building.
The Lord said, "If as one people speaking the same language they have begun to do this, then nothing they plan to do will be impossible for them.
Come, let us go down and confuse their language so they will not understand each other."
So the Lord scattered them from there over all the earth, and they stopped building the city.
That is why it was called Babel—because there the Lord confused the language of the whole world. From there the Lord scattered them over the face of the whole earth.

What did they say in Babel? The story of Babel is significant because in Babel they got together and they said let us build a name for ourselves, let us take all what we have. So they took bricks and tar (petroleum) and they began to build as Shinar to the heavens, and they wanted to reach upwards to God. And God was angered because God reached downwords to mankind and it went contrary to God's plan. Islam seems to want to reverse what happened in Babel, so they want to establish a one-world government- Islam, and a one-world language Arabic. They insist you can't go to heaven unless you worship God in Arabic and they seem to want to use the tar (the oil) to build a name for themselves and to advance the cause of Allah using the oil, just exactly as Babel did before. Daniel says that the Antichrist will advance the glory of his God through war.

Daniel 11:36-39

> 36 "The king will do as he pleases. He will exalt and magnify himself above every god and will say unheard-of things against the God of gods. He will be successful until the time of wrath is completed, for what has been determined must take place. 37 He will show no regard for the gods of his ancestors or for the one desired by women, nor will he regard any god, but will exalt himself above them all. 38 Instead of them, he will honor a god of fortresses; a god unknown to his ancestors he will honor with gold and silver, with precious stones and costly gifts. 39 He will attack the mightiest fortresses with the help of a > foreign god and will greatly honor those who acknowledge him. He will make them rulers over many people and will distribute the land at a price.

Wait a minute, Antichrist declares himself as God, but yet he say here he advances the glory of his God. He worships a singular God, that is a God of War. He honors a God of fortresses in Daniel- a God of War. Who honors a God of War? He doesn't honor the desires of women. It doesn't say he doesn't desire women. It says he does not honor the desire of women. Now who doesn't honor the desire of women? Who doesn't care about women's rights? In Islam woman has half the ability to testify in court- her testimony is half the testimony of a male (Quran 2:282).

Sahih al-Bukhari 2658:

> Narrated Abu Sa'id Al-Khudri: The Prophet said, "Isn't the witness of a woman equal to half of that of a man?" The women said, "Yes." He said, "This is because of the deficiency of a woman's mind."

Her inheritance is half the inheritance of a male (Quran 4:11). She doesn't have a right to divorce, but the husband has the only right to divorce. All these other things, women are secondary to men. Women are being abused and beaten(Sahih Muslim 4:2127, Sahih Al-Bukhari, Book 72, Hadith 715). He doesn't honor the desire of a woman, just what the Bible says. Why? Why would Antichrist not honor the desire woman? It's very simple. Because in the Bible states:

Genesis 3:15

I will put enmity between you and the woman, and between your offspring and hers; he will crush your head, and you will strike his heel.

The devil hates the woman because the woman was the vessel that brought forth the child Messiah- the seed of the woman, just as the Bible said. This is why Satan hates that seed of the woman. The virgin birth Jesus Christ, who comes to die for the sins of mankind. This is why Islam hates the idea of God sending his Son. This is why Islam hates the woman and puts it as a second-class citizen. Even on moderate websites, if you go about treating women, in the moderate view when it says in the Quran beat them (Surah An-Nisa4:34). The modern interpreters will say- well this means beat them slightly without leaving marks. Don't leave marks when you beat them, don't leave bruises. Does that seem to be the right way of dealing with your wife? They explode in anger, you better say Islam is a peaceful religion and stop drawing Muhammad or we will kill you. That doesn't seem to mean that Islam is peaceful at all. It seems to me that this is a system that gives a facade of peace: can use peaceful verses- peaceful parts of the Quran to claim peace. When the other parts of the Quran seems to say kill the Jews and kill the Christians.

Surah Al-Baqarah (2:191)
"And kill them wherever you find them and expel them from wherever they have expelled you, and fitnah is worse than killing. But if they fight you, then kill them. Such is the recompense of the disbelievers."

Surah At-Tawbah (9:5)
"And when the sacred months have passed, then kill the polytheists wherever you find them and capture them and besiege them and sit in wait for them at every place of ambush. But if they should repent, establish prayer, and give zakah, let them [go] on their way. Indeed, Allah is Forgiving and Merciful."

Surah At-Tawbah (9:29)
"Fight those who do not believe in Allah or in the Last Day and who do not consider unlawful what Allah and His Messenger have made unlawful and who do not adopt the religion of truth from those who were given the Scripture - [fight] until they give the jizyah willingly while they are humbled."

Aha. The Bible does say bye peace he will deceive many. The spirit of the Antichrist, by peace, will deceive many.
Daniel 8:25
He will cause deceit to prosper, and he will consider himself superior. When they feel secure, he will destroy many and take his stand against the Prince of princes. Yet he will be destroyed, but not by human power.
Daniel 11:21-24
The next to come to power will be a despicable man who is not in line for royal succession. He will slip in when least expected and take over the kingdom by flattery and intrigue. Before him great armies will be swept away, including a covenant prince. With deceitful promises, he will make various alliances. He will become strong despite having only a handful of followers. Without warning he will enter the richest areas of the land. Then he will distribute among his followers the plunder and wealth of the rich—something his predecessors had never done. He will plot the overthrow of strongholds, but this will last for only a short while.

2 Thessalonians 2:9-10
This man will come to do the work of Satan with counterfeit power and signs and miracles. He will use every kind of evil deception to fool those on their way to destruction, because they refuse to love and accept the truth that would save them.

Islam is a peaceful religion, you must say. Islam is being propagated as a peaceful system when in reality it's not. The spirit of Antichrist is as such that if you fight against it you could lose your head literally, not allegoric.
Revelation 20:4
"I saw thrones on which were seated those who had been given authority to judge. And I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded because of their testimony about Jesus and because of the word of God. They had not worshiped the beast or its image and had not received its mark on their foreheads or their hands. They came to life and reigned with Christ a thousand years."

We see the martyrs who were beheaded in the name of Jesus. What part of baring do you not understand? Noah was right and everybody else was wrong. Truth is found in a narrow gate, it's not a big wide gate. Joel is right, Moses is right, Ezekiel is right, Isaiah is right all these prophets were right that they warned us about the rise and the threat of Islam. It wasn't that God did not warn us, it's that we did not go and read the Bible and compare it with the Quran.

Isaiah 46:9-10

9 Remember the former things, those of long ago; I am God, and there is no other;
I am God, and there is none like me. 10 I make known the end from the beginning, from ancient times, what is still to come. I say, 'My purpose will stand, and I will do all that I please.'

How could somebody foretell the end from the beginning? You have 8,362 verses in the Bible of prophetic nature. Why did God give us so much volume of information? Because God is love, and He loves us and he cares about us, and he wants our destiny to be with Him. Islam is a very old system that was wounded by the west, that wants to revive itself. Jesus himself said if you have faith of a mustard seed you can move the mountains/nations (Matthew 17:20). You must be as serpents and as innocent as doves to have serpentine wisdom (Matthew 10:16), that means you need to understand how the devil thinks. You need to understand how the devil functions. That was the commandment from Jesus himself. Jesus himself said, be as wise as a serpent and as innocent as doves. Understand how the devil thinks. He also said: if you are my followers I send you as sheep amongst wolves (Matthew 10:16). So if you have no wolves in your life, perhaps you're not sheep. And if you're not sheep perhaps I can show you how to be sheep. It's very simple just buy a Bible and read it. He shows you how to be sheep. Follow Him, trust Him, and invite Him in your heart. You will never regret it.

Imam Mahdi in the 7 years of tribulation as leader/hero

Just before Jesus comes there are 7 years of tribulation. The primary scriptural references associated with the idea of a tribulation period include:

1. Daniel 9:27 - “Then he shall confirm a covenant with many for one week; But in the middle of the week he shall bring an end to sacrifice and offering. And on the wing of abominations shall be one who makes desolate, even until the consummation, which is determined, is poured out on the desolate.”

    - This verse speaks of a covenant being made for one "week" (often interpreted as seven years) and then broken halfway through, leading to desolation.

2. Matthew 24:21 - “For then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be.”

    - Jesus describes a time of great tribulation, "such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be."

3. Revelation 11:2 - “But leave out the court which is outside the temple, and do not measure it, for it has been given to the Gentiles. And they will tread the holy city underfoot for forty-two months.”

    - Refers to the holy city being trampled for "forty-two months," which is often interpreted as three and a half years, suggesting a period of tribulation within a seven-year framework.

4. Revelation 12:6 - “Then the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared by God, that they should feed her there one thousand two hundred and sixty days.”

    - Talks about the woman fleeing into the wilderness for "one thousand two hundred and sixty days," also equivalent to three and a half years.

5. Revelation 13:5 - “And he was given a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies, and he was given authority to continue for forty-two months.”

    - Describes the beast being given authority to act for "forty-two months," reinforcing the three and a half-year period.

6. Revelation 16:19 - “Now the great city was divided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell. And great Babylon was remembered before God, to give her the cup of the wine of the fierceness of His wrath.”

    - Mentions the great city being divided into three parts during the end-time events.

7. Revelation 20:4 - “And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.”

    - Describes a period of "a thousand years" where Christ reigns, which is a different concept but often discussed in the context of end-times chronology.

By combining these references, the 7-year tribulation is often interpreted as consisting of two periods of 3.5 years:

- The first 3.5 years, during which the covenant is made and broken, leading to the tribulation.
- The second 3.5 years, the time of the beast's authority which involves intensified suffering and persecution of the faithful

In Islam Just before Jesus comes Imam Mahdi takes control and rules over for 7 years and dies. Same story of Bible's Antichrist before millennium.

Sunan Ibn Majah 4083 or book 36 hadith 158 or vol 5 book 36 hadith 4083:

It was narrated from Abu Sa'eed Al-Khudri that the Prophet (ﷺ) said:

"The Mahdi will be among my nation. If he lives for a short period, it will be seven, and if he lives for a long period, it will be nine, during which my nation will enjoy a time of ease such as it has never enjoyed. The land will bring forth its yield and will not hold back anything, and wealth at that time will be piled up. A man will stand up and say: 'O Mahdi, give me!' He will say: 'Take.'"

Sunan Abi Dawud 4282 or Book 38 hadith 4 or book 37 hadith 4269:

Narrated Abdullah ibn Mas'ud:

The Prophet (ﷺ) said: If only one day of this world remained. Allah would lengthen that day (according to the version of Za'idah), till He raised up in it a man who belongs to me or to my family whose father's name is the same as my father's, who will fill the earth with equity and justice as it has been filled with oppression and tyranny (according to the version of Fitr). Sufyan's version says: The world will not pass away before the Arabs are ruled by a man of my family whose name will be the same as mine.

Abu Dawud said: The version of 'Umar and Abu Bakr is the same as that of Sufyan.

Sunan Ibn Majah 4085 or book 36 hadith 160 or vol 5 book 36 hadith 4085:

It was narrated from 'Ali that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said:

"Mahdi is one of us, the people of the Household. Allah will rectify him in a single night."

Hadith from Sahih Muslim:

Sahih Muslim 2937 / book 44 hadith 134/ book 41 hadith 7015:

An-Nawwas b. Sam`an reported that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) made a mention of the Dajjal one day in the morning. He (ﷺ) sometimes described him to be insignificant and sometimes described (his turmoil) as very significant (and we felt) as if he were in the cluster of the date-palm trees. When we went to him (to the Holy Prophet) in the evening and he read (the signs of fear) in our faces, he (ﷺ) said:

What is the matter with you? We said: Allah's Messenger, you made a mention of the Dajjal in the morning (sometimes describing him) to be insignificant and sometimes very important, until we began to think as if he were present in some (near) part of the cluster of the date-palm trees. Thereupon he (ﷺ) said: I harbor fear in regard to you in so many other things besides the Dajjal. If he comes forth while I am among you, I shall contend with him on your behalf, but if he comes forth while I am not amongst you, a man must contend on his own behalf and Allah would take care of every Muslim on my behalf (and safeguard him against his evil). He (Dajjal) would be a young man with twisted, contracted hair, and a blind eye. I compare him to `Abd-ul-`Uzza b. Qatan. He who amongst you would survive to see him should recite over him the opening verses of Sura Kahf (xviii). He would appear on the way between Syria and Iraq and would spread mischief right and left. O servant of Allah! adhere (to the path of Truth). We said: Allah's Messenger, how long would he stay on the earth? He (ﷺ) said: For forty days, one day like a year and one day like a month and one day like a week and the rest of the days would be like your days. We said: Allah's Messenger, would one day's prayer suffice for the prayers of day equal to one year? Thereupon he (ﷺ) said: No, but you must make an estimate of time (and then observe prayer). We said: Allah's Messenger, how quickly would he walk upon the earth? Thereupon he (ﷺ) said: Like cloud driven by the wind. He would come to the people and invite them (to a wrong religion) and they would affirm their faith in him and respond to him. He would then give command to the sky and there would be rainfall upon the earth and it would grow crops. Then in the evening, their pasturing animals would come to them with their humps very high and their udders full of milk and their flanks stretched. He would then come to another people and invite them. But they would reject him and he would go away from them and there would be drought for them and nothing would be left with them in the form of wealth. He would then walk through the waste land and say to it: Bring forth your treasures, and the treasures would come out and collect (themselves) before him like the swarm of bees. He would then call a person brimming with youth and strike him with the sword and cut him into two pieces and (make these pieces lie at a distance which is generally) between the archer and his target. He would then call (that young man) and he will come forward laughing with his face gleaming (with happiness) and it would be at this very time that Allah would send Jesus, son of Mary, and he will descend at the white minaret in the eastern side of Damascus wearing two garments lightly dyed with saffron and placing his hands on the wings of two Angels. When he would lower his head, there would fall beads of perspiration from his head, and when he would raise it up, beads like pearls would scatter from it. Every non-believer who would smell the odor of his self would die and his breath would reach as far as he would be able to see. He would then search for him (Dajjal) until he would catch hold of him at the gate of Ludd and would kill him. Then a people whom Allah had protected would come to Jesus, son of Mary, and he would wipe their faces and would inform them of their ranks in Paradise and it would be under such conditions that Allah would reveal to Jesus these words: I have brought forth from amongst My servants such people against whom none would be able to fight; you take these people safely to Tur. And then Allah would send Gog and Magog and they would swarm down from every slope. The first of them would pass the lake of Tiberias and drink out of it. And when the last of them would pass, he would say: There was once water there. Jesus and his companions would then be besieged here (at Tur, and they would be so much hard pressed) that the head of the ox would be dearer to them than one hundred dinars and Allah's Apostle, Jesus, and his companions would supplicate Allah, Who would send to them insects (which would attack their necks) and in the morning they would perish like one single person. Allah's Apostle, Jesus, and his companions would then come down to the earth and they would not find in the earth as much space as a single span which is not filled with their putrefaction and stench. Allah's Apostle, Jesus, and his companions would then again beseech Allah, Who would send birds whose necks would be like those of Bactrian camels and they would carry them and throw them where God would will. Then Allah would send rain which no house of clay or (the tent of) camels' hairs would keep out and it would wash away the earth until it could appear to be a mirror. Then the earth would be told to bring forth its fruit and restore its blessing and, as a result thereof, there would grow (such a big) pomegranate that a group of persons would be able to eat that, and seek shelter under its skin and milch cow would give so much milk that a whole party would be able to drink it. And the milch camel would give such (a large quantity of) milk that the whole tribe would be able to drink out of that and the milch sheep would give so much milk that the whole family would be able to drink out of that and at that time Allah would send a pleasant wind which would soothe (people) even under their armpits, and would take the life of every Muslim and only the wicked would survive who would commit adultery like asses and the Last Hour would come to them.

So there are no separate battle with Gog and Magog in Islam. In Islam there is no thousand year reign of Jesus after the tribulation period. Instead he dies after living 40 years in earth.

Sunan Abi Dawud 4324 or book 39 hadith 34 or book 38 hadith 4310:

Narrated Abu Hurayrah:

The Prophet (ﷺ) said: There is no prophet between me and him, that is, Jesus (ﷺ). He will descent (to the earth). When you see him, recognise him: a man of medium height, reddish fair, wearing two light yellow garments, looking as if drops were falling down from his head though it will not be wet. He will fight the people for the cause of Islam. He will break the cross, kill swine, and abolish jizyah. Allah will perish all religions except Islam. He will destroy the Antichrist and will live on the earth for forty years and then he will die. The Muslims will pray over him.

Armageddon with Muslim Nations

- Ezekiel exclusive event is named Battle of Armageddon
- Book of Revelation exclusive event is named Battle of Gog and Magog

The prophecy given to Ezekiel concerning Gog and Magog speak about the Battle of Armageddon that happens before Jesus' millennial reign on earth. It is mentioned in Ezekiel 38-39 and Revelation 6-19. Whereas Revelation 20:7-9 onward mentions that the Battle of Gog and Magog which will happen after Jesus' thousand year reign.

The Battle

This battle will take place in the last days, right before Jesus returns. Ezekiel 38 was written over 2,500 years ago by Ezekiel, who was forced out of his homeland in Israel as a small child and taken to Babylon with the rest of the Hebrew captives. It was in captivity at age 13 that God started speaking directly to Ezekiel and telling him to write down messages that predicted the future. One of these God-given prophecies is about a bunch of nations coming together to attack and destroy Israel.

Ezekiel 38:1-6

1. The word of the Lord came to me:

2. "Son of man, set your face against Gog, of the land of Magog, the chief prince of Rosh, Meshek, and Tubal; prophesy against him
3. and say: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: I am against you, Gog, chief prince of Rosh, Meshek, and Tubal.
4. I will turn you around, put hooks in your jaws and bring you out with your whole army—your horses, your horsemen fully armed, and a great horde with large and small shields, all of them brandishing their swords.
5. Persia, Cush, and Put will be with them, all with shields and helmets,
6. also Gomer with all its troops, and Beth Togarmah from the far north with all its troops—the many nations with you.'"

Identifying the Nations: Every name mentioned in Ezekiel 38 was a well-known nation in the 6th century BC except for the name Gog. Let's see if we can use history and archaeology to locate where each of these ancient nations were located on a map of the world in Ezekiel's time.

- Magog: The text itself says that Magog is located in the farthest parts north of Israel. When you draw a line from Israel to the country furthest north, you end up in what today is called Russia. In fact, the capital of Russia, Moscow, is almost exactly north of the capital of Israel, Jerusalem. Still skeptical: who were the ancient people living in the land we call Russia today, and did anybody at the time know them as Magog? Ancient mummies, like the Siberian Ice Princess found in the 1940s, were discovered fully preserved in southern Russia. Even their tattoos were preserved. Archaeologists believe that shortly after their burial, the tombs were flooded with rain that froze over, preserving the bodies along with many other artifacts all belonging to one ancient people group living in the land we know as Russia today. These artifacts are dated at 2,500 years ago, which is the same time Ezekiel wrote his prophecy about Magog invading from the north. What's amazing is that artifacts like these have been found all across Russia. You can go today to The Hermitage Museum of St. Petersburg and find over 20,000 gold objects all pointing back to the same ancient people living in the land we know as Russia. So who were these ancient people? They were called the Scythians, and many scholars believe that the Slavic tribes who later became the Russians were descendants of the Scythians. The other name the Scythians were known by can be found in historian Flavius Josephus' writings: “Magog founded the Magogians… but who were by the Greeks called Scythians.” Many other historians also affirm this connection between the name Magog and the Scythians. With all of this evidence, we can confidently place Magog in Russia.

- Rosh: A 10-sided cylinder found in the ancient city of Nineveh, called the Rassam Cylinder, was inscribed for an Assyrian King who lived 100 years before Ezekiel, named King Ashurbanipal. On it, the names of many nations are mentioned, including Rosh. Other records, including Egyptian inscriptions, describe a place called Rosh located above the Black Sea in what is now modern-day Russia. Now, before we get to these other nations mentioned, we need to talk about this military leader the Bible calls Gog. The Bible calls this person the prince of Rosh from the land of Magog. So based on what we just learned, Gog must be a powerful dictator over this land with a large military at his disposal. An important thing to know is that Gog is the title of a person, not a location. Just like we would use the word Zar or Sultan, Gog is a title that means ruler. So now that we know who's leading this great army from the north, who are his allies?

- Meshech and Tubal: These people were known as Mushki and Tabal by the Assyrians and Muscoy and Tibero by the Greeks. The Assyrian inscriptions and Greek writings both place these people in the land of modern-day Turkey.

- Persia: In 1971, Iran celebrated her 2,500th birthday as a nation/state/monarchy. Iran is the country that had been called Persia up until 1935. A clay engraving found in ancient Persia from 513 BC, right after the time that Ezekiel lived, depicts the Persians at war with the Scythians. These kingdoms were each other's arch-enemies and were constantly at war with one another. Fast forward 2,500 years, and here we are—the Russians, who are the descendants of the Scythians, and the Iranians, who are the descendants of the Persians, are close allies today.

- Cush and Put: Cush: They were known as the Kusu in Assyrian and Kas in Egyptian, and these ancient records place them directly south of Egypt, extending down to modern-day Sudan. Put: Ancient writings, including Babylonian inscriptions and multiple verses in the Hebrew Bible, place these people in the land we call Libya today.

- Gomer and Beth Togarmah: Gomer is a reference to the Cimmerians, who were known as the Chians at the time of Ezekiel's writings. Records show that the Cimmerian people occupied parts of modern-day Turkey. Now, Togarmah was a well-known city established by the Hittites on the border of Tubal, which is in modern-day Turkey. In Ezekiel's day, all of these groups were at war with one another and had limited communication.

The Invasion

> Ezekiel 38:9: "You will ascend, coming like a storm, covering the land like a cloud, you and all your troops and many peoples with you."
> Ezekiel 38:12: "to take plunder and to take booty, to stretch out your hand against the waste places that are again inhabited, and against a people gathered from the nations, who have acquired livestock and goods, who dwell in the midst of the land."

So the nation being attacked is one that had long been desolate but was regathered from every nation. What is the only nation on earth that has ceased being a nation, whose people were scattered across the entire world and then miraculously, after 2,000 years, regathered back into her homeland? The prophecy also states that this nation will be a wealthy nation that other nations will want to plunder. When Ezekiel 38 was written, the Israelites were literal slaves living in captivity in Babylon. Who could have predicted that Israel, a country the size of New Jersey, would become one of the wealthiest nations in the entire region?

> Ezekiel 38:13: "Sheba, Dedan, the merchants of Tarshish, and all their young lions will say to you, 'Have you come to take plunder? Have you gathered your army to take booty, to carry away silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods, to take great plunder?'"

In other words, whoever Sheba, Dedan, and Tarshish are, they're going to question the Russian-led coalition, but ultimately won't do anything to help Israel. Many scholars place Sheba and Dedan in the land we know today as Saudi Arabia. The merchants of Tarshish and their young lions are the last nation we need to place. We know from the Bible that Tarshish was a sea trading land in the far north. We know from history that the ancient Wessex people enjoyed trade from the Eastern Mediterranean as early as 1500 BC. I think it's safe to place Tarshish on the island of Britain. This would make the young lions the various colonies that Britain has planted, which could be a veiled reference for the United States. Twice the prophecy states that it will happen in the last days. If you have not given your life to Jesus Christ, then do not delay one second more because it is clear that we are living in the end time.

The Prophecy of Ezekiel 38-39:

In the last days, the leader of Russia will make war against the nation of Israel in an epic battle that takes place on Israel's northern hills:

- Ezekiel 38:8: "After many days you will be called to arms. In future years you will invade a land that has recovered from war, whose people were gathered from many nations to the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate; they had been brought out from the nations, and now all of them live in safety."

- Ezekiel 38:15: "You will come from your place in the far north, you and many nations with you, all of them riding on horses, a great horde, a mighty army."

Iran, Turkey, Libya, and Sudan will join forces with Russia in an effort to destroy the nation of Israel once and for all:

- Ezekiel 38:5: "Persia, Cush, and Put will be with them, all with shields and helmets."
- Ezekiel 38:6: "also Gomer with all its troops, and Beth Togarmah from the far north with all its troops—the many nations with you."

UK and Saudi Arabia will question Russia and her allies, but their protest will fall on deaf ears. No nation on earth will come to Israel's aid:

- Ezekiel 38:13: "Sheba and Dedan and the merchants of Tarshish and all her villages will say to you, 'Have you come to plunder? Have you gathered your hordes to loot, to carry off silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods, to seize much plunder?'"

But when it seems like Israel is totally helpless against her enemies, God will intervene:

- Ezekiel 38:14-16: "Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog: 'This is what the Sovereign Lord says: In that day, when My people Israel are living in safety, will you not take notice of it? You will come from your place in the far north, you and many nations with you, all of them riding on horses, a great horde, a mighty army. You will advance against My people Israel like a cloud that covers the land. In days to come, Gog, I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may know Me when I am proved holy through you before their eyes.'"

He will send a massive earthquake in the land of Israel:

- Ezekiel 38:19: "In my zeal and fiery wrath I declare that at that time there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel."

Then He will send them a terrible disease and cause confusion among them, so that they start destroying each other instead of Israel. Finally, He will devastate Israel's enemies with rain, hailstones, fire, and brimstone:

- Ezekiel 38:22: "I will execute judgment on him with plague and bloodshed; I will pour down torrents of rain, hailstones and burning sulfur on him and on his troops and on the many nations with him."

Then many who are apathetic about God will know the power of the one true God who defends and protects His holy nation Israel.

- Ezekiel 39:21: "I will display My glory among the nations, and all the nations will see the punishment I inflict and the hand I lay on them."
- Ezekiel 39:29: "I will no longer hide My face from them, for I will pour out My Spirit on the people of Israel, declares the Sovereign Lord."

Ezekiel 38-39 Overview

- Ezekiel 38:
    - Verses 1-6: Introduction of Gog, the leader from the land of Magog, and the nations allied with him, including Meshech, Tubal, Persia, Cush, Put, Gomer, and Beth Togarmah.
    - Verses 7-16: Description of the invasion plan, where Gog and his allies will advance like a storm against Israel, which is described as a peaceful and prosperous land.
    - Verses 17-23: God's response to the invasion, stating that He will intervene in a dramatic manner to defend Israel, using natural disasters (like earthquakes) and causing confusion among the invading forces.
- Ezekiel 39:
    - Verses 1-8: Continuation of God's judgment against Gog and his armies, detailing their defeat.
    - Verses 9-16: The aftermath of the battle, where Israel will spend a significant amount of time cleansing the land from the devastation and burying the invaders.
    - Verses 17-20: A call to the birds and beasts to feast on the fallen armies of Gog, symbolizing the totality of God's victory.
    - Verses 21-29: God's declaration of His purpose in this event—to demonstrate His glory and holiness among the nations, and to restore Israel fully, not just physically but spiritually as well.

Ezekiel 38:

1. Now the word of the Lord came to me, saying,
2. "Son of man, set your face against Gog, of the land of Magog, the prince of

Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesy against him,
3. and say, ‘Thus says the Lord God: “Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal.

4. I will turn you around, put hooks into your jaws, and lead you out, with all your army, horses, and horsemen, all splendidly clothed, a great company with bucklers and shields, all of them handling swords.

5. Persia, Ethiopia, and Libya are with them, all of them with shield and helmet;
6. Gomer and all its troops; the house of Togarmah from the far north and all its troops—many people are with you.

7. “Prepare yourself and be ready, you and all your companies that are gathered about you; and be a guard for them.

8. After many days you will be visited. In the latter years, you will come into the land of those brought back from the sword and gathered from many people on the mountains of Israel, which had long been desolate; they were brought out of the nations, and now all of them dwell safely.

9. You will ascend, coming like a storm, covering the land like a cloud, you and all your troops and many peoples with you.”

10. ‘Thus says the Lord God: “On that day it shall come to pass that thoughts will arise in your mind, and you will make an evil plan:

11. You will say, ‘I will go up against a land of unwalled villages; I will go to a peaceful people, who dwell safely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates’—

12. to take plunder and to take booty, to stretch out your hand against the waste places that are again inhabited, and against a people gathered from the nations, who have acquired livestock and goods, who dwell in the midst of the land.
13. Sheba, Dedan, the merchants of Tarshish, and all their young lions will say to you, ‘Have you come to take plunder? Have you gathered your army to take booty, to carry away silver and gold, to take away livestock and goods, to take great plunder?’ ” ’

14. “Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog, ‘Thus says the Lord God: “On that day when My people Israel dwell safely, will you not know it?
15. Then you will come from your place out of the far north, you and many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great company and a mighty army.
16. You will come up against My people Israel like a cloud, to cover the land. It will be in the latter days that I will bring you against My land, so that the nations may know Me, when I am hallowed in you, O Gog, before their eyes."

17. Thus says the Lord God: "Are you he of whom I have spoken in former days by My servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied for years in those days that I would bring you against them?

18. And it will come to pass at the same time, when Gog comes against the land of Israel," says the Lord God, "that My fury will show in My face.
19. For in My jealousy and in the fire of My wrath I have spoken: 'Surely in that day there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel,
20. so that the fish of the sea, the birds of the heavens, the beasts of the field, all creeping things that creep on the earth, and all men who are on the face of the earth shall shake at My presence. The mountains shall be thrown down, the steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.'

21. I will call for a sword against Gog throughout all My mountains," says the Lord God. "Every man's sword will be against his brother.
22. And I will bring him to judgment with pestilence and bloodshed; I will rain down on him, on his troops, and on the many peoples who are with him, flooding rain, great hailstones, fire, and brimstone.

23. Thus I will magnify Myself and sanctify Myself, and I will be known in the eyes of many nations. Then they shall know that I am the Lord." '

Ezekiel 39:

1. "And you, son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, 'Thus says the Lord God: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal;
2. and I will turn you around and lead you on, bringing you up from the far north, and bring you against the mountains of Israel.

3. Then I will knock the bow out of your left hand, and cause the arrows to fall out of your right hand.

4. You shall fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your troops and the peoples who are with you; I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured.

5. You shall fall on the open field; for I have spoken," says the Lord God.

6. "And I will send fire on Magog and on those who live in security in the coastlands. Then they shall know that I am the Lord.

7. So I will make My holy name known in the midst of My people Israel, and I will not let them profane My holy name anymore. Then the nations shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy One in Israel.

8. Surely it is coming, and it shall be done," says the Lord God. "This is the day of which I have spoken.

9. "Then those who dwell in the cities of Israel will go out and set on fire and burn the weapons, both the shields and bucklers, the bows and arrows, the javelins and spears; and they will make fires with them for seven years.
10. They will not take wood from the field nor cut down any from the forests, because they will make fires with the weapons; and they will plunder those who plundered them and pillage those who pillaged them," says the Lord God.

11. "It will come to pass in that day that I will give Gog a burial place there in Israel, the valley of those who pass by east of the sea; and it will obstruct travelers, because there they will bury Gog and all his multitude. Therefore they will call it the Valley of Hamon Gog.

12. For seven months the house of Israel will be burying them, in order to cleanse the land.

13. Indeed all the people of the land will be burying, and they will gain renown for it on the day that I am glorified," says the Lord God.
14. "They will set apart men regularly employed, with the help of a search party, to pass through the land and bury those bodies remaining on the ground, in order to cleanse it. At the end of seven months they will make a search.
15. The search party will pass through the land; and when anyone sees a man's bone, he shall set up a marker by it, till the buriers have buried it in the Valley of Hamon Gog.
16. The name of the city will also be Hamonah. Thus they shall cleanse the land." '

17. "And as for you, son of man, thus says the Lord God, 'Speak to every sort of bird and to every beast of the field: "Assemble yourselves and come; gather together from all sides to My sacrificial meal which I am sacrificing for you, a great sacrificial meal on the mountains of Israel, that you may eat flesh and drink blood.

18. You shall eat the flesh of the mighty, drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams and lambs, of goats and bulls, all of them fatlings of Bashan.
19. You shall eat fat till you are full, and drink blood till you are drunk, at My sacrificial meal which I am sacrificing for you.

20. You shall be filled at My table with horses and riders, with mighty men and with all the men of war," says the Lord God.

21. "I will set My glory among the nations; all the nations shall see My judgment which I have executed, and My hand which I have laid on them.
22. So the house of Israel shall know that I am the Lord their God from that day forward.
23. The Gentiles shall know that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity; because they were unfaithful to Me, therefore I hid My face from them. I gave them into the hand of their enemies, and they all fell by the sword.
24. According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions I have dealt with them, and hidden My face from them." '

25. "Therefore thus says the Lord God: 'Now I will bring back the captives of Jacob, and have mercy on the whole house of Israel; and I will be jealous for My holy name—

26. after they have borne their shame, and all their unfaithfulness in which they were unfaithful to Me, when they dwelt safely in their own land and no one made them afraid.

27. When I have brought them back from the peoples and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and I am hallowed in them in the sight of many nations,
28. then they shall know that I am the Lord their God, who sent them into captivity among the nations, but also brought them back to their land, and left none of them captive any longer.

29. And I will not hide My face from them anymore; for I shall have poured out My Spirit on the house of Israel,' says the Lord God."

The same event is described in book of Revelation:

Revelation 6:2:

> 2 And I saw, and behold a white horse: and he that sat on him had a bow; and a crown was given unto him: and he went forth conquering, and to conquer.

Explanation:

- "A white horse": The white horse is the first of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, which are introduced as the first four seals of a scroll are opened. The color white in this context represent deception or a false sense of peace.

- "He that sat on him had a bow": The rider on the white horse carries a bow, a weapon of war, indicating a military or conquering force. Notably, no mention is made of arrows, which some interpret as a symbol of conquest without war, suggesting a form of deception.
- "A crown was given unto him": The crown represents authority or rulership, indicating that this rider is permitted to exercise power. The fact that it is "given" suggests that this authority is allowed or granted by Satan as part of his deception.
- "He went forth conquering, and to conquer": The rider is on a mission of conquest, continually seeking to expand his influence and control. This phrase emphasizes both the act of conquering and the ongoing desire or intention to continue doing so.

Interpretation:

This verse is commonly interpreted as a depiction of the Antichrist or a spirit of conquest and deception that will emerge during the end times, initiating a period of conflict and turmoil. The rider on the white horse is often seen as a counterfeit or anti Christ, appearing in a form that resembles righteousness (white horse) but whose true purpose is to deceive and dominate.

Ezekiel 39:1-5:

1. "And you, son of man, prophesy against Gog, and say, ‘Thus says the Lord GOD: “Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the prince of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal;
2. and I will turn you around and lead you on, bringing you up from the far north, and bring you against the mountains of Israel.
3. Then I will knock the bow out of your left hand, and cause the arrows to fall out of your right hand.
4. You shall fall upon the mountains of Israel, you and all your troops and the peoples who are with you; I will give you to birds of prey of every sort and to the beasts of the field to be devoured.
5. You shall fall on the open field; for I have spoken,” says the Lord GOD.'"

Revelation 16:14: "For they are spirits of demons, performing signs, which go out to the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty."

Revelation 19:17-18: 17. "Then I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the birds that fly in the midst of heaven, 'Come and gather together for the supper of the great God, 18. that you may eat the flesh of kings, the flesh of captains, the flesh of mighty men, the flesh of horses and of those who sit on them, and the flesh of all people, free and slave, both small and great.'"

After the Battle of Armageddon Satan shall be bound with chains in the bottomless pit of thousand years- during the time of Jesus' millennial reign upon earth.
Revelation 20:1-4:

1. "Then I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having the key to the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.
2. He laid hold of the dragon, that serpent of old, who is the Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years;
3. and he cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal on him, so that he should deceive the nations no more till the thousand years were finished. But after these things he must be released for a little while.
4. And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years."

Context and Interpretation:

This passage describes several key events:

- Binding of Satan: An angel descends from heaven with a key and a chain to bind Satan, referred to as the "dragon" or "old serpent," for a thousand years. During this period, Satan is imprisoned in the "bottomless pit" to prevent him from deceiving the nations.

- The Thousand-Year Reign: After Satan is bound, those who remained faithful to Jesus, particularly those who were martyred or persecuted for their faith, are seen reigning with Christ for a thousand years. This period is often referred to as the "Millennium."

- Judgment and Authority: The passage speaks of judgment given to those who sit on thrones, often interpreted as the saints or faithful believers who share in Christ's authority during this millennial reign.

Sahih Muslim 2934a or book 54 hadith 128 or book 41 hadith 7010:

Hudhaifa reported that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said:

Dajjal is blind of left eye with thick hair and there would be a garden and fire with him and his fire would be a garden and his garden would be fire.

Sahih Muslim 169e or Book 54 Hadith 123 or book 41 hadith 7005:

Ibn Umar reported that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ). made a mention of Dajjal in the presence of the people and said:

Allah is not one-eyed and behold that Dajjal is blind of the right eye and his eye would be like a floating grape.

Sunan Ibn Majah 4071 or book 36 hadith 146 or vol. 5 book 36 hadith 4071:

It was narrated that Hudhaifah said:

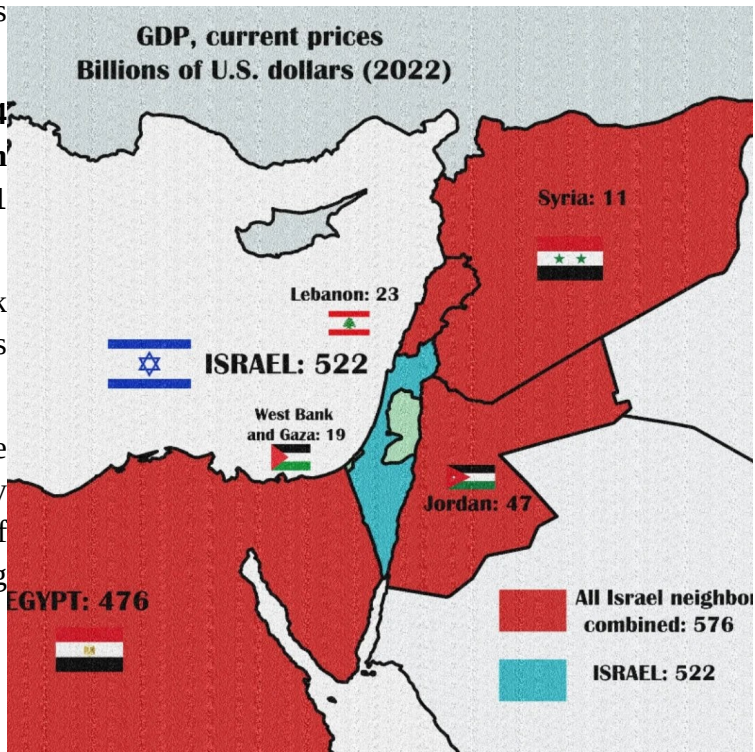
"The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said: 'The Dajjal (False Christ) is blind in his left eye and has abundant hair. With him will be a Paradise and a Hell, but his Hell is Paradise and his Paradise is Hell.'"

Sahih al-Bukhari 7407 or book 97 hadith 36 or vol. 9 book 93 hadith 504:

Narrated `Abdullah:

Ad-Dajjal was mentioned in the presence of the Prophet. The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Allah is not hidden from you; He is not one-eyed," and pointed with his hand towards his eye, adding, "While Al-Masih Ad- Dajjal is blind in the right eye and his eye looks like a protruding grape."

There are 1000 Jews in Isfahan today but:



Sahih Muslim 2944 or Book 54 hadith 154 or book 41 hadith 7034:

Anas b. Malik reported that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said:

The Dajjal would be followed by seventy thousand Jews of Isfahan wearing Persian shawls.

Prophets acknowledged millennial reign of Christ whereas Islam considers only 40 years

Jesus' main job according to it is kill pigs and abolish ransom to Muslims:
Sahih al-Bukhari 2476 or book 46 hadith 37:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "The Hour will not be established until the son of Mary (i.e. Jesus) descends amongst you as a just ruler, he will break the cross, kill the pigs, and abolish the Jizya tax. Money will be in abundance so that nobody will accept it (as charitable gifts).

Jesus lives only 40 years in his second coming:

Sunan Abi Dawud 4324 or book 39 hadith 34 or book 38 hadith 4310:

Narrated Abu Hurayrah:

The Prophet (ﷺ) said: There is no prophet between me and him, that is, Jesus (ﷺ). He will descent (to the earth). When you see him, recognise him: a man of medium height, reddish fair, wearing two light yellow garments, looking as if drops were falling down from his head though it will not be wet. He will fight the people for the cause of Islam. He will break the cross, kill swine, and abolish jizyah. Allah will perish all religions except Islam. He will destroy the Antichrist and will live on the earth for forty years and then he will die. The Muslims will pray over him.

But all the prophets say a different story:

Isaiah 2:2-4:

> Now it shall come to pass in the latter days
> That the mountain of the Lord's house
> Shall be established on the top of the mountains,
> And shall be exalted above the hills;
> And all nations shall flow to it.
> Many people shall come and say,
> "Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord,
> To the house of the God of Jacob;
> He will teach us His ways,
> And we shall walk in His paths."
> For out of Zion shall go forth the law,
> And the word of the Lord from Jerusalem.

He shall judge between the nations,
And rebuke many people;
They shall beat their swords into plowshares,
And their spears into pruning hooks;
Nation shall not lift up sword against nation,
Neither shall they learn war anymore.

Interpretation:
This passage prophesies a future time, often referred to as the "latter days," when God's Kingdom will be established on earth, centered on Jerusalem ("the mountain of the Lord's house"). In this time, all nations will come to Jerusalem to learn God's ways, and there will be universal peace — symbolized by the transformation of weapons of war into tools for agriculture ("swords into plowshares" and "spears into pruning hooks"). This prophecy highlights the idea of a coming age of peace and righteousness where God's teachings are universally accepted, and war will be no more. "And the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. He shall judge between the nations,", from John 1:1 we know "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God." that is Jesus. Also Islam acknowledges Jesus as Kalimatullah, meaning the word of God. So a point of time "That the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills;" and Jesus will rule.

Isaiah 11:1-10:

There shall come forth a Rod from the stem of Jesse,
And a Branch shall grow out of his roots.
The Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon Him,
The Spirit of wisdom and understanding,
The Spirit of counsel and might,
The Spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord.
His delight is in the fear of the Lord,
And He shall not judge by the sight of His eyes,
Nor decide by the hearing of His ears;
But with righteousness He shall judge the poor,
And decide with equity for the meek of the earth;
He shall strike the earth with the rod of His mouth,
And with the breath of His lips He shall slay the wicked.
Righteousness shall be the belt of His loins,
And faithfulness the belt of His waist.
The wolf also shall dwell with the lamb,
The leopard shall lie down with the young goat,
The calf and the young lion and the fatling together;
And a little child shall lead them.

The cow and the bear shall graze;
Their young ones shall lie down together;
And the lion shall eat straw like the ox.
The nursing child shall play by the cobra’s hole,
And the weaned child shall put his hand in the viper’s den.
They shall not hurt nor destroy in all My holy mountain,
For the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord
As the waters cover the sea.
“And in that day there shall be a Root of Jesse,
Who shall stand as a banner to the people;
For the Gentiles shall seek Him,
And His resting place shall be glorious.”

Interpretation:
This passage prophesies the coming of a ruler from the line of Jesse (the father of King David), often understood as the Messiah, at his second coming. This ruler will possess the Spirit of the Lord, characterized by wisdom, understanding, counsel, might, knowledge, and fear of the Lord. He will rule with righteousness and justice, especially defending the poor and the meek. The imagery of natural enemies living in harmony (like the wolf dwelling with the lamb) represents a time of peace and restoration. The "Root of Jesse" will serve as a banner for all people, including Gentiles, signaling the universal nature of His reign.

Ezekiel 37:24-28:

David My servant shall be king over them, and they shall all have one shepherd; they shall also walk in My judgments and observe My statutes, and do them.
Then they shall dwell in the land that I have given to Jacob My servant, where your fathers dwelt; and they shall dwell there, they, their children, and their children’s children, forever; and My servant David shall be their prince forever.
Moreover, I will make a covenant of peace with them, and it shall be an everlasting covenant with them; I will establish them and multiply them, and I will set My sanctuary in their midst forevermore.
My tabernacle also shall be with them; indeed, I will be their God, and they shall be My people.
The nations also will know that I, the Lord, sanctify Israel, when My sanctuary is in their midst forevermore.

Interpretation:
This passage is part of Ezekiel's prophecy about the restoration of Israel. It foretells a time when David (or a descendant of David, often interpreted as the Messiah) will rule as a single shepherd over a reunited Israel. God's people will live according to His commandments and statutes. An everlasting "covenant of peace" will be established, with God's sanctuary (His divine presence) dwelling in their midst forever. This reflects both the physical and spiritual restoration of Israel, and God's permanent dwelling with His people.

Zechariah 14:9-11:

> And the Lord shall be King over all the earth.
> In that day it shall be—
> “The Lord is one,”
> And His name one.
> All the land shall be turned into a plain from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. Jerusalem shall be raised up and inhabited in her place from Benjamin’s Gate to the place of the First Gate and the Corner Gate, > and from the Tower of Hananel to the king’s winepresses.
> The people shall dwell in it;
> And no longer shall there be utter destruction,
> But Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

Interpretation:
This passage describes a future day when the Lord will be recognized as the King over all the earth, and His name will be the only one worshiped. It depicts a time when Jerusalem will be transformed and elevated, and it will be secure, free from destruction and danger. This prophecy focuses on the ultimate victory of God, the establishment of His Kingdom, and the final defeat of all opposition.

Luke 1:32-33:

He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David.

And He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of His kingdom there will be no end.

Interpretation:
This passage is part of the angel Gabriel's announcement to Mary about the birth of Jesus. It emphasizes the greatness of Jesus, who will be called the "Son of the Highest," meaning the Son of God. Gabriel announces that Jesus will inherit the throne of His ancestor David, fulfilling Old Testament prophecies about a Messiah who would come from David's lineage. His reign will be eternal, signifying a kingdom that will have no end. This points to Jesus as the long-awaited Messiah who establishes God's everlasting kingdom.

Matthew 19:28:

> So Jesus said to them, “Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, you who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel."

Zombies of the Battle of Gog and Magog

New nations will be born at Jesus’ thousand year reign:
Isaiah 66:8:

> "Who has heard such a thing?
> Who has seen such things?
> Shall the earth be made to give birth in one day?
> Or shall a nation be born at once?

For as soon as Zion was in labor,
She gave birth to her children."

So the name Gog and Magog after millennial rain might not be the same as mentioned in Ezekiel.
On the millennial rain you might evaluate God's judgment, to see the fault of the people who are not with you. If your sins are not under the blood of the lamb, they are going to be available for public access.

Revelation 15:4:

"Who shall not fear You, O Lord, and glorify Your name?
For You alone are holy.
For all nations shall come and worship before You,
For Your judgments have been manifested."

Luke 12:3:

"Therefore whatever you have spoken in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken in the ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops."

So you might have feeling on Millennium. But it will be wiped out later.
Revelation 21:3-4:

3. "And I heard a loud voice from heaven saying, 'Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people. God Himself will be with them and be their God.'
4. 'And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes; there shall be no more death, nor sorrow, nor crying. There shall be no more pain, for the former things have passed away.'"

Isaiah 25:8:

"He will swallow up death forever,
And the Lord God will wipe away tears from all faces;
The rebuke of His people
He will take away from all the earth;
For the Lord has spoken."

Exodus 33:20:

"But He said, 'You cannot see My face; for no man shall see Me, and live.'"

So our sins are washed away, we are perfect in His site. That's why we will be able to see Him.

Matthew 5:8:

"Blessed are the pure in heart,
For they shall see God."

Dead in Christ rise first- in the millennial rain with glorified new body. Rest rise after the millennial rain:

Revelation 20:4-7:

4. And I saw thrones, and they sat on them, and judgment was committed to them. Then I saw the souls of those who had been beheaded for their witness to Jesus and for the word of God, who had not worshiped the beast or his image, and had not received his mark on their foreheads or on their hands. And they lived and reigned with Christ for a thousand years.

5. But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.

6. Blessed and holy is he who has part in the first resurrection. Over such the second death has no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with Him a thousand years.

7. Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison.

This event is also described in rapture (the event before tribulation) terms:

1 Thessalonians 4:16-17:

16. For the Lord Himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of an archangel, and with the trumpet of God. And the dead in Christ will rise first.

17. Then we who are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air. And thus we shall always be with the Lord.

New Jerusalem coming down from heaven to the new earth, before it settles Christ comes from the city and his feet touches the earth. Instantly it brings to life all the wicked people that couldn't rise at he first resurrection, without glorified new body like. They might be like zombies:

Revelation 21:1-2:

1. Now I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth had passed away. Also there was no more sea.

2. Then I, John, saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

2 Peter 3:13-14:

13. Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth in which righteousness dwells.

14. Therefore, beloved, looking forward to these things, be diligent to be found by Him in peace, without spot and blameless.

Isaiah 65:17:

17 "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered or come to mind."

The dimensions of the New Jerusalem are described in Revelation 21:16:

16 "The city is laid out as a square; its length is as great as its breadth. And he measured the city with the reed: twelve thousand furlongs. Its length, breadth, and height are equal."

Here, the city is described as a perfect cube, with its length, breadth, and height all measuring twelve thousand furlongs (approximately 1,400 miles or 2,200 kilometers).

Matthew 7:13-14:

13. "Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it.

14. Because narrow is the gate and difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it."

Matthew 25:31-32:

31. "When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the holy angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory.

32. All the nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats."

Philippians 2:10-11:

10. "That at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of those in heaven, and of those on earth, and of those under the earth,

11. and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

Matthew 7:22-23:

22. “Many will say to Me in that day, ‘Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?’

23. And then I will declare to them, ‘I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!’”

Revelation 20:7-9 mentions that the Battle of Gog and Magog shall happen after Jesus’ thousand year reign.

Revelation 20:7-10:

7. “Now when the thousand years have expired, Satan will be released from his prison

8. and will go out to deceive the nations which are in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle, whose number is as the sand of the sea.

9. They went up on the breadth of the earth and surrounded the camp of the saints and the beloved city. And fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them.

10. The devil, who deceived them, was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where the beast and the false prophet are. And they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.”

Explanation:

- Verse 7: After the thousand years (Millennial Reign of Christ) have ended, Satan is released from his confinement in the "bottomless pit." This release is part of God's divine plan, allowing a final test of humanity.

- Verse 8: Satan resumes his role as the deceiver and goes out to mislead the nations "in the four quarters of the earth," which means people from all over the world. "Gog and Magog" are mentioned here symbolically, representing Satan and the nations that are hostile to God. The names "Gog and Magog" are associated with forces that oppose God’s people, as referenced in Ezekiel 38-39, but can be different nation. Satan gathers these nations for a final battle against God, and their numbers are vast, "as the sand of the sea."

- Verse 9: These gathered forces surround "the camp of the saints" and "the beloved city," which is typically interpreted as Jerusalem, where God's people are located. However, before they can launch an attack, divine intervention occurs: "fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them." This signifies a swift and total destruction of the rebellious forces by God's direct action, before possibly any harm.

Therefore, Gog gather together his forces to battle and have compassed Jerusalem in that day fire shall come down from God and devour them. In short there shall be no battle of Gog and Magog, for God shall send down fire out of heaven and devour them before they engage in battle.

Zechariah 12:9:

“It shall be in that day that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Jerusalem.”

But Islam has different idea of the hour, that is judgment day. Jesus’ main job according to it is kill pigs and abolish ransom:

Sahih al-Bukhari 2476 or book 46 hadith 37:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "The Hour will not be established until the son of Mary (i.e. Jesus) descends amongst you as a just ruler, he will break the cross, kill the pigs, and abolish the Jizya tax. Money will be in abundance so that nobody will accept it (as charitable gifts).

Islamic View about Gog and Magog (Yajuj and Majuj):

Surah Al-Kahf (18:94-99) describes the story of Dhul-Qarnayn and his encounter with the people who feared the destructive force of Yajuj and Majuj (Gog and Magog):

> They said, 'O Dhul-Qarnayn, indeed Gog and Magog are [great] corrupters in the land. So may we assign for you an expenditure that you might make between us and them a barrier?' He said, 'That in which my Lord has established me is better [than what you offer], but assist me with strength; I will make between you and them a dam.'
> Bring me sheets of iron'—until, when he had leveled [them] between the two mountain walls, he said, 'Blow [with bellows],' until when he had made it [like] fire, he said, 'Bring me, that I may pour over it molten copper.'
> So they [Yajuj and Majuj] were unable to pass over it, nor were they able [to effect] in it any penetration.

[Dhul-Qarnayn] said, 'This is a mercy from my Lord; but when the promise of my Lord comes, He will make it level, and ever is the promise of my Lord true.'

And We will leave them that day surging over each other, and [then] the Horn will be blown, and We will assemble them in [one] assembly.

Surah Al-Anbiya (21:96) refers to the release of Gog and Magog before the Day of Judgment, indicating that their release is a sign of the Last Hour:

"Until, when Gog and Magog are let loose, and they, from every elevation, descend."

Sahih Muslim 2901, Book 54 Hadith 51:

- Hudhaifa b. Usaid al-Ghifari reported:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) came to us all of a sudden as we were (busy in a discussion). He said: What do you discuss about? They (the Companions) said. We are discussing about the Last Hour. Thereupon he said: It will not come until you see ten signs before and (in this connection) he made a mention of the smoke, Dajjal, the beast, the rising of the sun from the west, the descent of Jesus son of Mary (Allah be pleased with him), the Gog and Magog, and land-slides in three places, one in the east, one in the west and one in Arabia at the end of which fire would burn forth from the Yemen, and would drive people to the place of their assembly.

Hadith from Sahih al-Bukhari:

Sahih al-Bukhari, 7135 or Book 92, Hadith 82:

- Narrated by Zainab bint Jahsh :

That one day Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) entered upon her in a state of fear and said, "None has the right to be worshipped but Allah! Woe to the Arabs from the Great evil that has approached (them). Today a hole has been opened in the dam of Gog and Magog like this." The Prophet (ﷺ) made a circle with his index finger and thumb. Zainab bint Jahsh added: I said, "O Alllah's Apostle! Shall we be destroyed though there will be righteous people among us?" The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Yes, if the (number) of evil (persons) increased."

Sahih al-Bukhari 2928 or Book 56 Hadith 141:

- Narrated by Abu Huraira :

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "The Hour will not be established until you fight with the Turks; people with small eyes, red faces, and flat noses. Their faces will look like shields coated with leather. The Hour will not be established till you fight with people whose shoes are made of hair."

Who was taken for sacrifice: Isaac or Ismail?- Claiming wrong prophetic lineage

The Muslim world is propagating the belief that "Ishmael was the son of the promised good news, and it was him whom Abraham took to sacrifice." In contrast, Jews and Christians have long believed that "Isaac was the son of the promised good news, and it was him whom Abraham took to sacrifice."

The question arises: why do Muslims consider Ishmael to be the son of the promised good news? The reasoning lies in the fact that if Ishmael is not that son, the entire foundation of Islam becomes weak. Muslims believe that “Muhammad came from the tribe of Ishmael, and that was prophesied in the Bible.” If it is proven that "Isaac, not Ishmael, was the son of the promised good news, and it was him whom Abraham took to sacrifice," then the validity of Prophet Muhammad's prophethood, his teachings, and beliefs could all be called into question.

It is important to note that both beliefs cannot be true simultaneously. In the Qur'an and Hadith, there is no explicit evidence that supports the idea that Ishmael was the son Abraham took to sacrifice. Many companions of Prophet Muhammad and scholars of Tafsir (interpretation of the Qur'an) have ruled in favor of Isaac. Conversely, some individuals have ruled in favor of Ishmael, indicating ongoing confusion within the matter.

Who was the promised son?

The Holy Bible and the Qur'an nowhere mention that Ishmael was the son of the promised good news of Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God]. In Genesis 15:3-4, it is written:
"Abram said, 'You have given me no children, so a servant in my household will be my heir.' Then the word of the Lord came to him: 'This man will not be your heir, but a son who is your own flesh and blood will be your heir.'"
When Abraham [Abram] prayed for a son, he had only one wife at that time, and Hagar was not yet his wife. Therefore, this prayer was heard by Yahweh Elohim, and He promised him a son, making this promise for Abraham and his wife Sarah. It was not applicable to the Egyptian maid Hagar and her son Ishmael. This is why Isaac is called Abraham's "only son," because Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God] had promised a son through whom He would bless the whole world.

Many Muslim preachers claim that since the Holy Bible mentions the "only son," they say that Ishmael was Abraham's "only" son. But what they fail to mention is that according to Genesis 17:13-21:

"Even after Ishmael's birth, Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God] announced to Abraham that the son who would be the result of His promise would not be Ishmael but rather Isaac."

This is why the scripture clearly states:

"For it is through Isaac that your offspring will be reckoned" [Genesis 21:12].

This means that not all those descended from Israel are Israel, nor because they are his descendants are they all Abraham's children; on the contrary, "It is through Isaac that your offspring will be reckoned" [Genesis 21:12].

This means that not all who are Abraham's descendants are considered children of God. Iin John 1:12-13 it is stated that unlike Abraham’s chosen son now everyone can become children of God:

"But to all who received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God, who were born, not of blood or of the will of the flesh or of the will of man, but of God."

Only the children of the promise are counted as Abraham's true offspring, as noted in Romans 9:6-8:

"But it is not as though the word of God has failed. For not all Israelites truly belong to Israel, and not all of Abraham's children are his true descendants; but 'It is through Isaac that your offspring shall be named.'"

Abraham had many children, but not all were regarded as his true descendants—only Isaac was considered his true heir. Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God] did not make any promises regarding Ishmael, as Ishmael's birth was a result of Sarah's decision to give her maid to produce children. Since that son was Abraham's child, Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God] did not abandon him and also blessed him, but He did not confer the right of prophethood on anyone except Isaac [Genesis 17:13-21]. Ishmael was not the child of the promise because Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God] did not make any promises to Abraham regarding Ishmael. Since He promised only one son, this is why Isaac is referred to as the "only son."

Who was the son of the good news?

God's Covenant with Abram:
After that event, the word of the Lord came to Abram in a vision, saying,
"Do not be afraid, Abram, I am your shield, your very great reward."
But Abram said,
"Sovereign Lord, what can you give me, since I remain childless, and the one who will inherit my estate is Eliezer of Damascus?"
And Abram said,
"You have given me no children; so a servant in my household will be my heir."
Then the word of the Lord came to him,
"This man will not be your heir, but a son who is your own flesh and blood will be your heir."
He took him outside and said,
"Look up at the sky and count the stars—if indeed you can count them."
Then He said to him,
"So shall your offspring be."
Abram believed the Lord, and He credited it to him as righteousness.
He also said to him,
"I am the Lord, who brought you out of Ur of the Chaldeans to give you this land to take possession of it."
— [Genesis 15:1-7].

The Holy Bible clearly mentions that Isaac was the son of the good news, not Ishmael.
In Genesis 18:18-20, it is written,
"Abraham will surely become a great and powerful nation, and all nations on earth will be blessed through him [even though Ishmael was already born at that time]. For I have chosen him, so that he will direct his children [Isaac and his son Jacob] and his household after him to keep the way of the Lord by doing what is right and just, so that the Lord will bring about for Abraham what He has promised him."

Then God said to Abraham,
"As for Sarai your wife, you are no longer to call her Sarai; her name will be Sarah [which means 'princess']."
I will bless her and will surely give you a son by her.
I will bless her so that she will be the mother of nations; kings of peoples will come from her."
— [Genesis 17:15-16].
From Hagar's son Ishmael, only a few kings came, but after Abraham's death, Yahweh Elohim blessed Isaac, not Ishmael [Genesis 25:11].
In the Tanakh [Old Testament], there is clear documentation on this: Isaac is the child of blessing from Yahweh Elohim [the Lord God]. Ishmael too was blessed, and God said a great nation would come from his descendants as well, but!!! Isaac alone was the heir to the covenant.

God told Abraham,

"I will give your wife Sarai a new name; her new name will be Sarah, meaning 'princess.'
I will bless her, and she will bear you a son, and you will be the father of that son. Sarah will be the mother of many nations, and kings will come from her, not from Hagar."

To express his reverence to God, Abraham bowed down to the ground.
But in his heart, he laughed and said,
"I am 100 years old; how can I have a child now?
And Sarah is 90; she cannot bear children."
Then Abraham said to God,
"I hope Ishmael will live in your service."
God replied,
"No! I told you that your wife Sarah will bear you a son, and you will name him Isaac.
I will establish my covenant with him, and that covenant will be everlasting with his descendants."
"As for Ishmael, I have heard you. I will bless him; he will have many descendants.
He will be the father of twelve rulers, and I will make him into a great nation.
But I will establish my covenant with Isaac, whom Sarah will bear to you by this time next year."
— [Genesis 17:13-21].

Here, it is noteworthy that Abraham thought Yahweh Elohim would not be able to give him a child at his old age.
That's why he said,
"I hope Ishmael will live in your service."
Abraham thought,
"Ishmael is the promised child."
But Yahweh Elohim replied,
"No! I told you that your wife Sarah will bear a son, and you will name him Isaac. I will establish my covenant with him, and that covenant will be everlasting with his descendants."
In other words, the covenant with Yahweh Elohim would be fulfilled with Isaac, not with Ishmael.

Both Ishmael and Isaac were blessed, and great nations would come from them, but this does not prove that Ishmael was the promised child of the good news because Isaac received the same blessing.
The main thing that Isaac received, which Ishmael did not, was the sole partnership in the covenant with Yahweh Elohim.
Yahweh Elohim and His two angels personally came to announce the good news of Isaac's birth [Genesis 18:1-10].
Therefore, we see that Isaac was the promised son of the good news, not Ishmael.

Moreover, Yahweh Elohim explicitly said,
"It is through Isaac that your offspring will be reckoned, not Ishmael."
— [Genesis 21:8-13].
Therefore, Isaac is referred to as Abraham's "one and only" son.
Although many nations came through Abraham, only the Jewish nation is called Abraham's promised lineage: [Genesis 15:13-14; Romans 9:5-9]

Genesis 15:13-14:
Then the Lord said to Abram,
"Know this for certain, that your offspring shall be aliens in a land that is not theirs, and they shall be enslaved and oppressed for four hundred years.
But I will bring judgment on the nation that they serve, and afterward they shall come out with great possessions."

Romans 9:5-9:
To them belong the patriarchs, and from them, according to the flesh, comes the Messiah, who is over all, God blessed forever. Amen.

But it is not as though the word of God has failed.
For not all Israelites truly belong to Israel, and not all of Abraham's children are his true descendants;
but "It is through Isaac that descendants shall be named for you."
This means that it is not the children of the flesh who are the children of God, but the children of the promise are counted as descendants.
For this is what the promise said:
"About this time I will return, and Sarah will have a son."

The Qur'an also clearly states that Isaac, not Ishmael, was the promised and the son of good news:

1. Evidence from the Qur'an:
In Surah 51: Al-Dhariyat, Ayat 28, it says:
"Then they [the angels] gave him [Abraham] the glad tidings of a learned son [Isaac]."

2. Further References:
Additionally, it is mentioned in:

Surah 11: Hud, Ayat 69-71:
69. "And verily, Our messengers came to Abraham with glad tidings. They said, 'Peace!' He answered, 'Peace, you are a people unknown.'
70. Then he went to his family and came with a roasted calf.
71. And placed it near them; he saw that their hands did not reach for it. He felt from them a fear. They said, 'Fear not,' and gave him the glad tidings of a learned boy."

Surah 15: Al-Hijr, Ayat 51-54:
51. "And inform them of the guests of Abraham."
52. "When they entered upon him and said, '[We greet you with] peace.' He answered, '[And upon you] peace, you are a people unknown.'"
53. "Then he went to his family and came with a fat [roasted] calf."
54. "And placed it near them; he saw that their hands did not reach for it. He felt from them apprehension. They said, 'Fear not,' and they gave him good tidings of a learned boy."

Surah 19: Maryam, Ayat 49:
"And We granted him Isaac and Jacob, and We made each of them a prophet"

3. Exclusion of Ishmael:
Prophet Yusuf said,
"I follow the faith of my forefathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob" (Surah 12: Yusuf, Ayat 38),

Surah 11: Hud, Ayat 69-71 states:
"And certainly, Our messengers came to Abraham with glad tidings. They said: 'Peace.' He answered: 'Peace.' Then he hastened to bring them a roasted calf. But when he saw their hands not reaching towards it, he mistrusted them and became apprehensive of them. They said, 'Do not fear; we have been sent to the people of Lot.' His wife, standing by, laughed. Then We gave her glad tidings of Isaac, and after Isaac, Jacob."
This passage indicates that the good news of Isaac's birth was given to Abraham, with Jacob also mentioned, highlighting that the prophethood would continue through Isaac's lineage.
When Abraham prayed for Ishmael in the Qur'an, Allah did not grant that prayer in the way that Ishmael would be the promised one, similar to the account in the Bible (Genesis 17:18-19).

Allah made it clear that His covenant would be with Isaac and his descendants, not with Ishmael.

Surah 2: Al-Baqarah, Ayat 124 states:
"And when Abraham's Lord tested him with certain commands, and he fulfilled them, He said, 'Indeed, I will make you a leader for the people.' Abraham said, 'And of my descendants?' He said, 'My covenant does not include the wrongdoers.'"
Thus, it is evident that while Abraham thought Ishmael might be chosen for leadership and prophethood, Allah did not grant that request and instead gave the blessing of leadership and prophethood to Isaac and his descendants.

Surah 21: Al-Anbiya, Ayat 71-72 says:
"And We gave Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as a gift, and each of them We made righteous. And We made them leaders, guiding by Our command. And We inspired them to do good deeds, establish prayer, and give zakah. And they were worshippers of Us alone."
Surah 38: Sad, Ayat 45-46 states:
"And remember Our servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—those of strength and vision."
Here, Ishmael's name is not mentioned, indicating his exclusion from this lineage.

Surah 29: Al-Ankabut, Ayat 27 declares:
"And We granted him Isaac and Jacob, and placed in his descendants prophethood and scripture, and We gave him his reward in this world, and indeed, in the Hereafter, he will be among the righteous."
The topic of prophethood and scripture pertains entirely to Isaac and his lineage, not to Ishmael.

Nowhere in the Qur'an is it mentioned that Allah granted prophethood to Ishmael or his descendants.
If that were the case, it would have stated, "We gave prophethood and the Book to Abraham, Ishmael, and his sons," but there is no such statement.
Surah As-Saffat 37:100-101 states:
"O my Lord! Grant me a righteous child. So We gave him glad tidings of a forbearing son."
Again, the glad tidings were specifically for Isaac, further emphasizing the covenant.

It is essential to note that when Abraham made the prayer [37:100], he had only one wife, Sarah, as the previous verses describe Abraham's separation from his father [37:83-99].
He met Hagar (Hajira) later in Egypt, indicating that this prayer could not have been for Ishmael.

Isaac's birth was miraculous by Yahweh Elohim, as Sarah was barren and old, making it "glad tidings" for her.
For a barren woman, there could be no greater good news. Similarly, it was good news for Abraham because his first wife, who was barren, would give birth in her old age.
On the other hand, Ishmael’s birth was not miraculous; it occurred naturally, leading to the conclusion that he cannot be considered the son of glad tidings by any reasoning.
The Qur'an also testifies that Isaac was the promised son of good news.

Although the same event is described in a different way in another Surah: Surah 51: Al-Dhariyat, Ayat 24-29: "Has the story reached you of the honored guests of Abraham? When they entered upon him and said: 'Peace,' he answered: 'Peace,' [saying to himself]: 'These are a people unknown to me.' Then he went to his family and came with a fat [roasted] calf. And placed it near them; he said, 'Will you not eat?' And he felt from them apprehension. They said, 'Fear not,' and gave him glad tidings of a learned boy. And his wife approached with a cry [of alarm] and struck her face and said, 'I am a barren old woman.'"

Surah 51: Al-Dhariyat, Ayat 24-29 states: "Has the story of Ibrahim's honored guests reached you? When they came to him and greeted him with peace, he responded, 'Peace.' Then he said, 'You are unknown people.' Then he went to his household and brought out a roasted fat calf. He placed it before them and said, 'Will you not eat?' Then he felt a fear of them. They said, 'Do not fear.' And they gave him glad tidings of a knowledgeable son. Then his wife came forward, crying, and struck her face, saying, 'I am an old barren woman.'"

Surah 11: Hud, Ayat 69-72 states: "Certainly, our messengers came to Ibrahim with glad tidings and said, 'Peace.' He answered, 'Peace.' In no time, he brought a roasted calf. But when he saw their hands did not reach for it, he became suspicious of them and felt fear. They said, 'Do not fear; we have been sent to the people of Lut.' His wife, who was standing nearby, laughed. Then We gave her glad tidings of Isaac and after Isaac, Jacob. She said, 'How can I bear a child when I am an old woman, and my husband is old? Indeed, this is a strange thing.'"

In Surah Hud, the angels are mentioned, but in Surah Al-Dhariyat, they are called "honored guests." In Surah Hud, it says a roasted calf was brought before the angels, but in Surah Al-Dhariyat, it mentions "a fat calf cooked in butter." Now, the question is, would anyone eat "a fat calf cooked in butter" without cooking it first?

In Surah Hud, it says Sarah laughed when she heard the news of Isaac's birth, while in Surah Al-Dhariyat, it says, "She cried and struck her face, saying: I am an old barren woman."

According to the Quran, Isaac was the promised son for whom the angels came to Ibrahim's house with the good news of Isaac's and then Jacob's birth. However, is there any place in the entire Quran where it says the angels gave the good news of Ishmael's birth? No, such a verse doesn't exist. Some claim it's mentioned in Hadith, but those who think this should know that there's no Hadith that supports it either. And without clear evidence, such claims cannot be accepted.

Whom did Abraham take for sacrifice?

In the Qur'an, Surah 37: As-Saffat 99-112 states:

He said: "I will go to my Lord; He will guide me." (Abraham prayed) "O my Lord! Grant me a righteous son." So, We gave him the glad tidings of a forbearing boy. When the boy reached the age to work with him, Abraham said to him: "O my son, I have seen in a dream that I am sacrificing you. So, see what you think." He (the son) said: "O my father, do what you are commanded. You will find me, InshaAllah, one of the patient." So, when they had both submitted (to Allah's Will), and Abraham had laid him down on his forehead (for sacrifice), We called out to him: "O Abraham! You have fulfilled the vision!" Indeed, We thus reward the doers of good. Surely, this was a clear trial. And We ransomed him with a great sacrifice. We left for him (favorable mention) among later generations: "Peace be upon Abraham." Thus do We reward the doers of good. Indeed, he was one of Our believing servants. And We gave him good tidings of Isaac, a prophet from among the righteous.

In verse 99, Abraham prayed, and his prayer was answered, and he was told of the "son of glad tidings" [verse 100], who is Isaac, not Ishmael. In verse 112, it clearly states that the son of glad tidings was Isaac. Muslims argue this was referring to later events, but when reading the verse, it becomes evident that the statement is announcing the past, not future events. Therefore, their argument is quite weak.

In Surah 37 As-Saffat, verse 102, Dr. Kamal Omar translates:

"So when he attained (reached the age of), ‘striving and effort along with him’, he (the father) said: 'O my little son! I do see during the sleep that I will offer you in sacrifice (to some Cause of Allah), so look what you think.' He said: 'O my dear father! Implement what you have been ordered; soon you would find me, in-shaa-Allaho [if Allah (so) willed] out of those who patiently persevere.'"

Muhammad Taqi Usmani translates:

"Thereafter, when he (the boy) reached an age in which he could work with him, he (Ibrahim) said, 'O my little son, I have seen in a dream that I am slaughtering you, so consider, what is your opinion?' He said, 'O my dear father, do what you have been ordered to do. You will find me, insha‘allah, (if Allah wills) one of those who endure patiently.'"

Muslims have tried to cover up the true event in Surah 37:102. In the English translation, they have translated it as "O my son," but the original Arabic word used is يَا بُنَيَّ (yā bunayya), which means "my little son." You can check any Arabic dictionary in the world to verify this.

[Reference: https://www.almaany.com/en/dict/ar-en/يا-بني/]

But Muslims have falsely translated it here, trying to hide the truth. Because in Surah 12:5, the word بُنَيَّ (bunayya) is also used to refer to Prophet Yusuf (Joseph).

Malik Quran Translation states:

He replied: "My dear little son! Do not say anything about this dream to your brothers, lest they plot an evil scheme against you; for Shaitan is an open enemy to human beings."

Yusuf Ali Quran Translation also notes:

Said (the father): "My (dear) little son! Relate not thy vision to thy brothers lest they concoct a plot against thee: for Satan is to man an avowed enemy!"

"My (dear) little son!" Yosuf Ali, Malik Famous Qur'an translations have also rendered it as "My (Dear) little son." Therefore, the meaning of the term يَا بُنَيَّ (yā bunayya) is not "dear son" but rather "little son." This clearly proves that Isaac was the promised son of glad tidings, and it was him whom Abraham took for the sacrifice.

Interpretations by Leading Islamic Scholars

The top Islamic scholars in their Tafsir (Qur'anic exegesis) have explicitly mentioned that Isaac was the one whom Abraham took for the sacrifice.

Abu Ja'far Muhammad ibn Jarir al-Tabari (Persian: محمد بن جریر طبری, Arabic: أبو جعفر محمد بن جرير بن يزيد الطبري) (224–310 Hijri; 839–923 CE) was a renowned and influential Persian scholar, historian, and commentator from Tabaristan, located in present-day Mazandaran, Iran. He is still highly regarded for his knowledge of Islamic studies and history.

He also wrote on poetry, lexicography, grammar, ethics, mathematics, and medicine. His most notable and well-known works are Tafsir al-Tabari and his historical book Tarikh al-Rusul wal-Muluk (known in English as "The History of the Prophets and Kings" or Tarikh al-Tabari). He also established his own school of thought, often referred to as Jariri after his name.

In his interpretation of this Qur'anic verse, he clearly stated that Abraham took Isaac, not Ishmael, for the sacrifice, and he also mentioned that many are confused on this matter. According to the Qur'an and the teachings of Prophet Muhammad, it was Isaac who was that son:

"The earliest sages of our Prophet's nation disagree about which of Abraham's two sons it was that he was commanded to sacrifice. Some say it was Isaac, while others say it was Ishmael. Both views are supported by statements related on the authority of the Messenger of God. If both groups of statements were equally sound, then - since they both came from the Prophet - only the Quran could serve as proof that the account naming Isaac is clearly the more truthful of the two." (2: p. 82). [Al-Tabari, Volume 2, Page 82]

It is explicitly mentioned here that Abraham took Isaac, not Ishmael, for the sacrifice.

The Musnad of Ahmad ibn Hanbal (Arabic: مسند احمد ابن حنبل) is a vast collection of Hadith compiled by the Islamic scholar Ahmad ibn Hanbal, the founder of the Hanbali school of thought. According to Maktaba Shamila, it is the largest book of Hadith in Islamic history, containing over 27,000 Hadiths. Unlike topical collections, this compilation is organized by the Hadiths narrated by each companion (Sahabi). It begins with the Hadiths of the 'Asharah Mubasharah ("the ten who were promised Paradise") to acknowledge their status and efforts in receiving Hadith from the Prophet.

Some scholars claim that Ibn Hanbal made a comment regarding his book, stating: "I have included only those Hadiths in this book which other scholars have used as evidence."

However, certain Hanbali scholars, like Abu'l-Faraj Ibn al-Jawzi, have argued that the Musnad contains some Hadiths where narrators might have added extra details. Some say there are nine such Hadiths, while others say fifteen. Despite these differences, scholars agree that the Hadiths in question are not entirely fabricated but rather contain minor additions in the narrations.

Musnad Ahmad, Number 2658,

The messenger of God said that Gabriel took Abraham to Jamra al-Aqabah (the upper Jamrah, the pillar or place for stoning) and then Satan appeared to him. Then he stoned Satan with seven stones so he fainted him to faint. Then he came to the middle Jamrah, and Satan again appeared to him. He again stoned him with seven stones causing Satan to faint. He then came to the lower Jamrah, and Satan again appeared to him. Again he stoned Satan, causing him to faint once again. Now when Abraham wanted to slaughter his son Isaac, he said his father, "Father, tie me so I don't get afraid and my blood splash all over you when you slaughter me." So he took him and he tied him up, and then he took the knife. And when he wanted to slay him a voice called from behind him, "O Abraham, the vision has been fulfilled."

It is explicitly mentioned here that Abraham took Isaac for the sacrifice, not Ishmael. Al-Baidawi: He is a famous Islamic commentator. He also acknowledges that Abraham took his son Isaac for the sacrifice:

> "As He perfected it formerly on thy fathers: by appointing them as messengers. Some say (that God perfected his blessing) on Abraham by taking him as a 'friend' (khalil) and by saving him from the fire (into which the unbelievers had cast him), and (he perfected it) on Isaac by delivering him from the sacrifice and by ransoming him with a great victim (for the sacrifice) ..."
> (Helmut Gätje, The Qur'an and Its Exegesis [Oneworld Publications, Oxford 1996], p. 107; bold italic emphasis ours)

According to ancient Islamic documents, "Isaac was the son whom Abraham took for the sacrifice."

Ibn Abbas: He is a famous Islamic commentator, but he himself did not know which son of Abraham was taken for the sacrifice. In his commentary, he mentions both Ishmael and Isaac, to whom Abraham had spoken about his dream.

37:102 Abbas - Tanwîr al-Miqbâs min Tafsîr Ibn ‘Abbâs

(And when (his son) was old enough to walk with him) when his son was old enough to strive for Allah and obey Him; it is also said that this means: when his son was old enough to walk with him in the mountains, ((Abraham) said) to his son Ishmael; and it is also said: to his son Isaac: (O my dear son, I have seen in a dream that I must sacrifice thee) I am commanded in a dream vision to sacrifice you. (So look, what thinkest thou) what do you say? (He said: O my father! Do that which thou art commanded) of sacrificing me. (Allah willing, thou shalt find me of the steadfast) in the face of this sacrifice. Source Tafsir al-Jalalayn: He also had doubts about which son of Abraham was taken for the sacrifice, for which he mentioned the names of both Ishmael and Isaac.

37:107 Jalal – Al-Jalalayn

Then We ransomed him, the one whom he had been commanded to sacrifice, namely, Ishmael or Isaac — two different opinions — with a mighty sacrifice, [a mighty] ram from Paradise, the same one that Abel had offered as a sacrifice: Gabriel, brought it, and the lord Abraham sacrificed it as he cried, Allāhu akbar, ‘God is Great’.

However, some commentaries arise that claim regarding Ishmael. If they do not receive support from ancient commentators, their erroneous teachings remain prevalent in Muslim society today. Now, consider how difficult it might be to discover the truth from those who themselves do not agree on this matter!

The Testimony of the Companions of Muhammad:

Mufti Muhammad Shafi's book Maariful Quran, pages 466-467, mentions that Abraham took Isaac for the sacrifice, not Ishmael, and he listed numerous individuals among the followers of Hazrat Muhammad who mostly supported Isaac, while only a few supported Ishmael.

> "Which son was to be slaughtered? Was it Sayyidna Isma'il? Or, was it Sayyidna Ishaq? The Tafsir of the verses cited above has been described on the assumption that the son who was to be slaughtered was Sayyidna Isma'il. But, the truth of the matter is that there is a severe difference of opinion among commentators and historians about it. That this son was Sayyidna Ishaq has been reported from among the Sahabah by Sayyidna 'Umar, Sayyidna 'Ali, Sayyidna 'Abdullah Ibn > Mas'ud, Sayyidna 'Abbas, Sayyidna 'Abdullah Ibn 'Abbas, and Sayyidna Ka'b al-Ahbār, and from among the Tabi'in by Sa'id Ibn Jubayr, Qatadah, Masriq, 'Ikrimah, 'Ata', Muqatil, Zuhri, and Suddiyy; Counter to this are the narrations from Sayyidna 'Ali, Sayyidna Ibn 'Abbas, Sayyidna 'Abdullah Ibn 'Umar, Sayyidna Abu Hurairah, and Sayyidna Abu al-Tufayl from among the Sahabah, and Sa'id Ibn Musaiyyab, Sa'id Ibn Jubayr, Hasan al-Basri, Mujahid, 'Umar Ibn 'Abd-ul-'Aziz, Sha'bi, Muhammad Ibn Ka'b al-Qurazi from among the Tabi'in, from whom it has been reported that this son was Sayyidna Isma'il. It is to be noted that the names of Sayyidna 'Ali, Ibn 'Abbas, and Sa'id Ibn Jubayr appear in both groups. This is because reports of both views are attributed to them."

Additionally, the book Journeys in Holy Lands: The Evolution of the Abraham-Ishmael Legends in Islamic Exegesis mentions that the majority of Hazrat Muhammad's companions believed that Isaac was the son whom he took for the sacrifice.

> "Most reports treating the sacrifice directly or indirectly relate to the issue of who was the intended victim, and the intensity of interest in this matter is reflected in the great amount of space devoted to it. Exegetes cite traditions supporting both Isaac and Ishmael, and many even cite full lists of the early traditionists, such as Ibn ‘Abbas, Sa‘id b. Jubayr, al-Suddi, Mujahid, al-Hasan al-Basri, and ‘Ali, are cited in support of both, with some reports giving their opinion that it was Isaac and others claiming that it was Ishmael. When all the traditions are collated, we find a surprisingly close count. One hundred thirty authoritative statements consider Isaac to be the intended victim; one hundred thirty consider it to have been Ishmael."
> (Firestone, Journeys in Holy Lands: The Evolution of the Abraham-Ishmael Legends in Islamic Exegesis [State University of New York Press (SUNY), Albany 1990], Chapter 16: Isaac or Ishmael?, p. 135)

The majority of Hazrat Muhammad's companions supported Isaac, and they were in agreement on this matter. However, later some of his followers began to support Ishmael, resulting in conflicting comments on this issue in Islam. Even though Ishmael was the elder son, the majority of Hazrat Muhammad's companions had initially supported Isaac. Subsequently, some individuals distorted the incident and began to advocate for Ishmael, despite lacking solid evidence, apart from assumptions. Those who supported Isaac are included among the ancient companions. Now, whom will you believe: the ancient companions or the later companions whose testimonies are not reliable?

Was Ishmael a Prophet and Did He Ever Go to Makkah?

Now we will see whether Ishmael was a prophet and if he ever went to Makkah. The Quran clearly states that no prophet came to the Arabs before Hazrat Muhammad.

1st Evidence:

Surah 28: Al-Qasas, Ayah 46:

> "When I called Musa, you were not on the side of the Mount, but this is a mercy from your Lord, so that you may warn a people to whom no warner had come before you, so that they may remember."

2nd Evidence:

Surah 32: As-Sajdah, Ayah 3:

> "Do they say, ‘He has invented it’? Rather, it is the truth from your Lord, that you may warn a people to whom no warner has come before you. Perhaps they will be guided."

3rd Evidence:

Surah 34: Saba, Ayah 44:

> "I did not give them any Book that they might study, nor did I send to them before you any warner."

4th Evidence:

Surah 35: Fatir, Ayah 42:

> "They swore vehemently that if a warner came to them, they would be more guided than any other nation. But when a warner came to them, it only increased their hatred."

In each verse, it is clearly stated that no prophet came to the Arabs before Hazrat Muhammad. This implies that Ishmael did not go to Arabia, and even his father Abraham and his maid Hagar did not either. The stories people believe about them, such as the Well of Zamzam and the construction of the Kaaba, are all baseless.

If it is mentioned elsewhere in the Quran that Abraham, Ishmael, and Hagar went to Arabia, then it would be contradictory. If someone claims that Ishmael went to Arabia, then according to the Quran, he is not a prophet. And if he is not a prophet, then he did not go to Arabia, meaning his claim will not hold any weight.

Some Islamic scholars claim that this refers to the Quraysh tribe of Arabia, but this is incorrect because in Surah 28: Al-Qasas, Ayah 46, the term "nation" (qawm) is used, which in many places in the Quran refers to nations, not tribes. Therefore, their argument is very weak. They believe that Ishmael is the ancestor of the Arabs, but according to their argument, is Ishmael just the father of the Quraysh?

It is Proven by Hadith that Abraham Took Isaac for Sacrifice:

Along with the Quran, it is also clearly described in authentic Hadith that Prophet Abraham took Prophet Isaac for sacrifice. In Surah 2: Al-Baqarah, Ayah 124, it is written:

> "And remember when Abraham was tried by his Lord with certain words."

This indicates that the issue of sacrifice is mentioned, and according to Surah 2: Al-Baqarah, Ayahs 125-127, after Abraham’s trial, he built the Kaaba with Ishmael, not before.

According to authentic Hadith, Abraham met Ishmael for the second time when Ishmael was married and living with his family. Therefore, the son whom Abraham prepared to sacrifice could not have been Ishmael, as when this sacrificial incident occurred, Ishmael was not with Abraham. After Abraham expelled Ishmael and his mother, he did not return until after Ishmael's marriage. Thus, Ishmael was not with Abraham at the time of the sacrifice, and many years after the incident of the sacrifice, Abraham went to meet Ishmael.

Hadith 3363:

> Narrated from Ibn ‘Abbas : Anasari said that Ibn Jurayj narrated that Qasir Ibn Qasir said that he and 'Uthman Ibn Abu Sulaiman were sitting with Sa'id Ibn Jubayr . He said, Ibn 'Abbas did not tell me this but rather he said that Ibrahim , Isma'il , and his mother came. The mother was then breastfeeding him, and she had a water skin with her. This part was not narrated in marfu' form. Link

The narrator of this Hadith has created a big problem: when Abraham expelled Hagar, Ishmael was supposedly a child. If he was a child, then why would Abraham expel him? The Holy Bible clearly states why Abraham expelled them, although the reason is not mentioned in the Hadith. Ishmael was not expelled before Isaac's birth.

When Isaac was born, Ishmael stopped breastfeeding from his mother, and on that day, Abraham organized a big feast. On that day, Ishmael mocked Isaac, which was seen by Abraham's first wife, Sarah, causing Ishmael and his mother to be expelled.

[Genesis 21:8-12] states:

> "The child grew and was weaned, and Abraham made a great feast on the day that Isaac was weaned. But Sarah saw the son of Hagar the Egyptian, whom she had borne to Abraham, laughing. So she said to Abraham, 'Cast out this slave woman with her son, for the son of this slave woman shall not be heir with my son Isaac.' And the thing was very displeasing to Abraham on account of his son. But God said to Abraham, 'Be not displeased because of the boy and because of your slave woman. Whatever Sarah says to you, do as she tells you, for through Isaac shall your offspring be named.'"

Thus, we see that the narrator of the Hadith was historically weak because this event is known by Jews, Christians, and Muslims: that Ishmael was expelled after Isaac's birth, not before. If they claim that Ishmael was expelled before Isaac's birth, they have no clear evidence for that; if they do, let them present it!

Sahih Bukhari 3364:

Narrated by Sa'id Ibn Jubair :

> Ibn 'Abbas said that the women first learned to make waistbands from the mother of Ishmael . Hagar used to wear a waistband to conceal her status from Sarah . Then Ibrahim set out with Hagar and her infant son Ishmael , during which Hagar was breastfeeding the child. Eventually, Ibrahim brought them to the place where the Kaaba is located and placed them under a large tree above the Zamzam well in the elevated area of the mosque. At that time, there were no people in Makkah, nor was there any provision of water. He then left them there, and besides them, he left a bag containing some dates and a water skin with a small amount of water. After that, Ibrahim turned back.

Then Ishmael 's mother followed him and began to say, "O Ibrahim! Where are you going? You are leaving us in a valley where there is no helper and no provision." She repeated this to him several times, but Ibrahim did not look at her. Then Hagar said to him, "Has Allah commanded you to do this?" He said, "Yes." Hagar said, "Then Allah will not destroy us." Then he turned back, and Ibrahim also continued on his way. When he reached the bend of the mountain where his wife and child could no longer see him, he turned to face the Kaaba. Then he raised his hands and prayed, saying:

> "O my Lord! I have settled some of my descendants in a barren valley near Your Sacred House, so that they may establish prayer..." (Ibrahim 37).

And Ishmael's mother used to breastfeed Ishmael and drink from the water skin. Eventually, the water skin ran out, and she became thirsty, and her infant son also began to cry from thirst. She looked at her child, whose chest was heaving with thirst, or as the narrator says, he was rolling on the ground in distress. Unable to bear the sight of her child's pitiable condition, she moved away and found the mountain Safa to be the closest mountain to her. Then she climbed it and looked out towards the valley to see if there was anyone. But she could not see anyone. Then she descended from Safa. Even when she reached the low valley, she raised the edge of her garment and ran like a weary person. Eventually, she crossed the valley and came to the mountain of Marwah, where she climbed up and looked around to see if she could find anyone. But she saw no one. Thus, she ran back and forth seven times.

Ibn 'Abbas reported that the Prophet said:

> "That is why people perform Sa'i between these two mountains."

After Hagar ascended Marwah, she heard a sound and said to herself, "Wait a moment." She listened carefully and then said, "You have made your voice heard. If you have a helper..." Suddenly, where the Zamzam well is located, she saw an angel. That angel struck the ground with his heel, or he said, with his wing. As a result, water began to flow.

Hagar then used her hands to contain the water and fill her water skin. The water kept overflowing. Ibn 'Abbas further mentioned that the Prophet said:

> "May Allah have mercy on the mother of Ishmael. If she had not contained the Zamzam like this, or if she had not filled her water skin, Zamzam would have become a flowing stream instead of a well."

The narrator states that then Hagar drank water and fed her infant son, at which point the angel said to her:

> "Do not fear destruction, for here is Allah's House. This child and his father will build a house here, and Allah does not destroy His beloved."

At that time, the place of Allah's House was elevated above the ground like a hill, and it was collapsing due to the floods on its sides. Hagar continued to live in that way. Eventually, a group from the Jurhum tribe was passing by them.

The narrator says that some of the Jurhum family was coming along the elevated land called Kuda. They descended into Makkah's low land and saw a flock of birds flying in circles. They said, "Surely these birds are flying over water. We have crossed this valley many times, but there was no water here."

Then they sent one or two men to investigate. When they went there, they found water. They returned and informed everyone about the water. Upon hearing the news, everyone proceeded in that direction. The narrator mentions that Ishmael's mother was near the water. They said to her:

> "We want to settle near you. Will you permit us?"

She replied, "Yes, but you will have no right to the water." They agreed and expressed their willingness.
Ibn 'Abbas reported that the Prophet said that this incident provided Ishmael's mother, Hagar , with an opportunity. She desired companionship with people. Consequently, they settled there and sent news to their families and relatives. Eventually, several families came and began to live with them. Ishmael also grew up and learned the Arabic language from them. As he reached adulthood, he became more attractive and beloved to them. When he attained full maturity, they married him to one of their own women.

In the meantime, Ishmael's mother Hagar passed away. After Ishmael's marriage, Ibrahim came to check on the state of his abandoned relatives. However, he did not find Ishmael . He asked his wife about him. She said, "He has gone out in search of our livelihood." Then he asked the daughter-in-law about their life and situation. She said, "We are in a very difficult state, in great distress and hardship." She complained to Ibrahim about their suffering.

Ibrahim said, "When your husband comes home, convey my greetings to him and tell him that he should change the threshold of his door."

When Ishmael came home, he seemed to sense something. He asked his wife, "Did anyone come to you?" She said, "Yes. A very handsome old man came and inquired about you. I informed him about you. He asked me about our way of life, and I told him that we are in great hardship and poverty."

Ishmael asked, "Did he give you any advice?" His wife replied, "Yes. He instructed me to convey his greetings to you and also told me that you should change the threshold of your door."

Ishmael said, "He is my father. By that, he has instructed me to divorce you. So, go back to your people." Saying this, Ishmael divorced her and married another woman from those people.

Then Ibrahim stayed away from them for as long as Allah wished. After that, he came to see them again, but this time he did not find Ishmael . He approached the daughter-in-law and asked her about Ishmael . She said, "He has gone out to seek our food."

Ibrahim inquired, "How are you?" and asked about their way of life and situation. She replied, "We are fine and in a prosperous state." She also praised Allah. Ibrahim asked, "What is your main food?" She said, "Meat." He asked again, "What is your drink?" She replied, "Water."

Ibrahim prayed:

> "O Allah! Grant them blessings in their meat and water."

The Prophet said, "At that time, they had no grains produced there. If they did, Ibrahim would have prayed for that as well."

The narrator noted that no one else can survive solely on meat and water except in Makkah, because only meat and water are not sufficient for a sustainable life.

Ibrahim said, "When your husband returns, convey my greetings to him and command him that he should keep the threshold of his house intact."
When Ishmael returned, he asked, "Did anyone come to you?" She replied, "Yes. A handsome old man came and praised you. He inquired about you, and I informed him about you." Then he asked me about our way of life. I told him that we are doing well.

Ishmael asked, "Did he command you to do anything else?" She said, "Yes. He conveyed his greetings to you and instructed that you should keep the threshold of your house intact."

Ishmael said, "He is my father. And you are the threshold of my house." By this statement, he instructed me to keep you as my wife.

Then Ibrahim stayed away from them for as long as Allah wished. Afterward, he came again and saw Ishmael sitting under a large tree near the Zamzam well, repairing one of his arrows. When he saw his father, he stood up and went to him. They greeted each other as a father and son would when they meet.

Ibrahim said, "O Ishmael! Allah has commanded me to do something." Ishmael responded, "O my Lord! Whatever You have commanded, do it."

Ibrahim asked, "Will you help me?" Ishmael replied, "I will help you."

Ibrahim said, "Allah has commanded me to build a house here." Saying this, he pointed to a high rock and instructed Ishmael to encircle it.

Then both of them started raising the walls of the Kaaba. Ishmael would bring the stones while Ibrahim constructed. Finally, when the walls became high, Ishmael brought the stone (known as Maqam Ibrahim) and placed it at its designated spot for Ibrahim to stand on while building. Ishmael continued to provide him with stones.

They both kept praying:

> "O our Lord! Accept this from us. Indeed, You are All-Hearing and All-Knowing."

They continued to build the Kaaba and went around it, praying:

> "O our Lord! Accept this from us. Indeed, You are All-Hearing and All-Knowing."

Sahih Bukhari 3365
Narrated from Ibn 'Abbas :
He said that when what was to happen between Ibrahim and his wife (Sarah) occurred, Ibrahim set out with (his infant son) Ishmael and his mother. They had a pouch with them containing water. Ishmael's mother would drink from the water skin. As a result, her breast would produce milk for the infant. Eventually, Ibrahim arrived in Makkah and made arrangements for Hagar to stay under a large tree. Then Ibrahim returned to his family (Sarah). At that time, Ishmael's mother followed him for a short distance. When she reached a place called Kada, she called out from behind, "O Ibrahim! To whom are you leaving us?"

Ibrahim replied, "To Allah."

Hagar said, "I am satisfied with Allah."

The narrator states that then Hagar returned; she would drink from the water skin, and her milk would increase for her child. Eventually, when the water ran out, Ishmael's mother said, "I wish I could go and look around! Perhaps I would see someone." The narrator mentions that Hagar then went and climbed the hill of Safa, looking around to see if she could spot anyone. But she did not see anyone.

Then she hurried to Marwah and continued this way several times. Again she thought, "If I went to see what the child is doing." So she went and saw that he was in distress, seemingly about to die. Her heart was not at ease with this.

Then she said, "I wish I could go there and look around! Perhaps I would see someone." So she went, climbed the hill of Safa, and looked around deeply, but she did not see anyone. She completed seven rounds.

Suddenly, she heard a sound. Then she thought, "If you have any help to provide, then help me." Suddenly, she saw Jibril . The narrator explains that he (Jibril) struck the ground with his heel, meaning he struck the earth with his heel. As a result, water sprang forth.

Seeing this, Ishmael's mother became agitated and began to dig a hole. The narrator mentions that in this regard, Abu al-Qasim (the Messenger of Allah) said that if Hagar had left it as it was, the water would have spread widely.

The narrator continues that then Hagar began to drink the water, and her milk would increase for her child. Shortly afterward, a group from the tribe of Jurhum was passing through the low land of the valley. They suddenly saw some birds flying and could hardly believe it, saying, "These birds cannot be here without water."

So they sent one of them as a scout. He went there and saw that there was water. He then returned to his people and informed them. After that, they came to Hagar and said, "O mother of Ishmael! Will you allow us to dwell with you?"

Hagar allowed them to stay, and thus many days passed. After that, her son grew up, and Ishmael married a woman from the tribe of Jurhum.

The narrator states that then Ibrahim remembered and said to his wife (Sarah), "I want to inquire about my abandoned relatives." The narrator mentions that then he came and greeted them, asking, "Where is Ishmael?"

Ishmael's wife said, "He has gone hunting." Ibrahim said, "When he comes, you will tell him my command: 'You should change the threshold of your door.'"

When Ishmael came, his wife informed him of the news. He said to his wife, "You are the threshold. So, go back to your parents."

The narrator states that then Ibrahim remembered again and said to his wife (Sarah), "I want to inquire about my abandoned relatives." After that, he came there and asked, "Where is Ishmael?"

Ishmael’s wife said, "He has gone hunting." The daughter-in-law asked him, "Will you not stay here? Will you not have something to eat or drink?"

Then Ibrahim asked, "What is your food and drink?" The wife replied, "Our food is meat, and our drink is water."

Then Ibrahim prayed, "O Allah! Grant them blessings in their food and drink." The narrator states that Abu al-Qasim said that the blessings came because of Ibrahim’s prayer.

The narrator continues that after some time, Ibrahim remembered his abandoned relatives again. He came back and found Ishmael sitting behind the Zamzam well, repairing one of his arrows.

When Ibrahim called out, "O Ishmael! Your Lord has commanded me to build a house for Him," Ishmael said, "Obey your Lord’s command."

Ibrahim continued, "He has also commanded me that you should help me in this matter." Ishmael said, "Then I will do that," or he said something similar.

Then both of them stood up. Ibrahim began to build, and Ishmael began to bring him stones, and they both kept praying,

> "O our Lord! Accept this work from us. Indeed, You are All-Hearing and All-Knowing."

The narrator states that during this time, the wall became high, and the old Ibrahim became weak from climbing. Then he stood on the stone (known as Maqam Ibrahim). Ishmael would bring him stones, and both kept saying this prayer:

> "O our Lord! Accept this work from us. Indeed, You are All-Hearing and All-Knowing."

(Al-Baqarah: 127)
http://ihadis.com/books/bukhari/hadis/3365

According to the narration of the hadith, when Ishmael first got married and was living his family life, Abraham came to see him but did not find him. After some days, he came again to see Ishmael when he had taken a second wife and divorced the first one, but even then he did not meet Ishmael . Rather, he met him for the first time—after he had sent him away—many days later, and after that, he built the Kaaba.

However, according to the Qur'an, Ibrahim took the son he was to sacrifice at a much younger age. Surah 37:102 states:

> "Then when he reached the age to work with him, he said, 'O my son, indeed I have seen in a dream that I must sacrifice you; so what do you think?' He said, 'O my father, do as you are commanded. You will find me, if Allah wills, among the patient.'"

According to the Qur'an, that boy had just learned to walk, and it was that child he was sacrificing in the dream. The hadith states that Ibrahim first met Ishmael after sending him away, following Ishmael's second marriage. Therefore, the one Ibrahim was sacrificing in the dream was not Ishmael but rather Isaac .

Additionally, in another hadith, it is explicitly stated that it was Isaac who was taken for sacrifice:

Muhammad b. al-Muntashir told of a man who vowed to sacrifice himself if God rescued him from his enemy. He consulted Ibn ‘Abbas , who told him to consult Masruq , and when he consulted him, he replied:

> “Do not sacrifice yourself, for if you are a believer, you will kill a believing soul, and if you are an infidel, you will hasten to hell; but buy a ram and sacrifice it for the poor, for Isaac was better than you and he was ransomed with a ram.”

He told Ibn ‘Abbas , and he replied, “This is the decision I wanted to give you.” Razin transmitted it. This agrees with the story in the Old Testament, which says that Abraham was preparing to sacrifice Isaac , whereas the usual Muslim version is that it was Ishmael .

Source: Mishkat al-Masabih, Hadith 3445

3445-[20] Narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Muntasir : A certain person made a vow that if Allah, the Exalted, protected him from his enemy, he would sacrifice himself. When Ibn Abbas was asked about this, he said, “Ask Masruq .” When the person asked Masruq , he said:

> “Do not sacrifice yourself. If you are a believer, then you would be like killing a believer. And if you are an infidel, then you are advancing towards Hell. Instead, buy a lamb and sacrifice it for the needy. Indeed, Isaac was a better man than you, yet it was sufficient for him to sacrifice a lamb in exchange.”

When this was reported to Ibn Abbas , he said, “I intended to give a similar fatwa.”

Authenticity of the Hadith: Sahih
Narrator: Muhammad ibn al-Muntasir , Mishkat al-Masabih, Part 15: Oaths and Vows (كتاب الأيمان والنذور)

In comparing some translations of this hadith in English and Bengali, we see a discrepancy. The English hadith includes the statement, “Razin transmitted it. This agrees with the story in the Old Testament which says that Abraham was preparing to sacrifice Isaac.” Here it is stated that this hadith aligns with the Old Testament, as both mention that Abraham was going to sacrifice Isaac . Therefore, it is confirmed that Abraham took Isaac to be sacrificed.

There is no hadith that mentions that Abraham took Ishmael to sacrifice, but from where did they derive such teachings? In the hadith related to Ishmael , there is no mention that Abraham returned after sending him away and was preparing him for sacrifice in the Arabian land; this is nothing but a false assumption.

Conclusion

Abraham took Isaac to be sacrificed, which is substantiated by historical evidence and is beyond doubt. In the Qur'an, Ibrahim mentions his beloved younger son whom he was sacrificing in the dream. Most of the companions of Prophet Muhammad also believed that it was Isaac who was taken for sacrifice, and this has been corroborated by ancient commentators and hadiths on the matter.

What Is a Human? Exploring the Dimensions of Body, Soul, and Spirit

To understand the essence of being human, we must delve into the interplay between the body, soul, and spirit. Each of these dimensions contributes to our overall existence, shaping who we are and how we relate to the world and to God.

The Body: Our Physical Form- returns to earth

The body is the tangible, physical aspect of our humanity. Genesis 2:7 tells us, "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living being." This verse highlights the body as a creation from the earth, crafted by God and animated by His divine breath. It is through our bodies that we experience the physical world, engage with others, and perform our daily activities.

Hebrews 4:12:

"For the word of God is living and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the division of soul and spirit, and of joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart."

Here joints and marrow is the term to symbolize body.

1 Thessalonians 5:23 reveals, "Now may the God of peace Himself sanctify you completely; and may your whole spirit, soul, and body be preserved blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

The Soul: The Seat of Emotions and Morality- goes to heaven or hell

The soul represents the core of our emotional and moral life. It is where our desires, decisions, and values reside. Job 12:10 underscores the soul's importance: "In whose hand is the life of every living thing, and the breath of all mankind." The soul is intertwined with the breath of life, making it crucial for our identity and existence.

The soul also reflects our spiritual state and moral choices. Proverbs 20:27 states, "The spirit of a man is the lamp of the Lord, searching all the inner depths of his heart." This suggests that the soul, in conjunction with the spirit, plays a role in divine introspection and moral discernment.

James 1:21 emphasizes the importance of nurturing the soul: "Therefore lay aside all filthiness and overflow of wickedness, and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls." The soul must be cleansed and aligned with God's teachings to be truly fulfilled and saved.

Psalm 49:7-9:

> 7 None of them can by any means redeem his brother, nor give to God a ransom for him—
> 8 For the redemption of their souls is costly, and it shall cease forever —
> 9 That he should continue to live eternally, and not see the Pit.

In this context, verse 8 underscores the idea that human wealth and efforts are insufficient to pay the price required to redeem a soul from death. The "costliness" of redemption suggests that it is beyond any earthly means or value, and that no amount of money or human effort can secure one's soul. The psalmist implies that the only hope lies in God, who alone can provide true redemption and eternal life.

Revelation 6:9-11:

9 When He opened the fifth seal, I saw under the altar the souls of those who had been slain for the word of God and for the testimony which they held.

10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, “How long, O Lord, holy and true, until You judge and avenge our blood on those who dwell on the earth?”

11 Then a white robe was given to each of them; and it was said to them that they should rest a little while longer, until both the number of their fellow servants and their brethren, who would be killed as they were, was completed.

Verse 9 says the souls of people who were killed for bearing testimony of Christ was under the alter. They have feelings, has voice and can talk says verse 10. Verse 11 describes soul have a figure.

James 1:21:

"Therefore lay aside all filthiness and overflow of wickedness, and receive with meekness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls."

Isaiah 55:3:

"Incline your ear, and come to Me. Hear, and your soul shall live; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you—the sure mercies of David."

The verse says to pay attention so that the soul shall live.

Ezekiel 4:14:

"Then said I, Ah Lord GOD! behold, my soul hath not been polluted: for from my youth up even till now have I not eaten of that which dieth of itself, or is torn in pieces; neither came there abominable flesh into my mouth."

So, Ezekiel said his soul has not been polluted.

Luke 16:19-31
19 "There was a certain rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and fared sumptuously every day.
20 But there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, full of sores, who was laid at his gate, 21 desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich man’s table.
Moreover the dogs came and licked his sores.
22 So it was that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels to Abraham’s bosom. The rich man also died and was buried.

23 And being in torments in Hades, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.
24 Then he cried and said, ‘Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame.’
25 But Abraham said, ‘Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented.
26 And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us.’
27 Then he said, ‘I beg you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father’s house,
28 for I have five brothers, that he may testify to them, lest they also come to this place of torment.’
29 Abraham said to him, ‘They have Moses and the Prophets; let them hear them.’
30 And he said, ‘No, father Abraham; but if one goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’
31 But he said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead.’"
So, soul has bosom says verse 22. Soul has eyes says verse 23. Verse 24 says soul has voice and lips.
Therefore, we can infer from above evidence that soul is just like us and soul needs salvation.

The Spirit: The Divine Connection- returns to God after death

The spirit is the most profound aspect of our being, connecting us to the divine. The spirit represents our innermost connection to God and is integral to our spiritual health.

The body is essential, but it is also transient. Ecclesiastes 12:7 reminds us, "Then the dust will return to the earth as it was, and the spirit will return to God who gave it." The physical form will eventually return to the earth, but it serves a vital purpose in our earthly journey.

Luke 23:46 captures this interplay when Jesus commits His spirit to God, saying, "Father, ‘into Your hands I commit My spirit.’ Having said this, He breathed His last." This moment signifies the transition of the spirit from the earthly realm to its eternal home with God, while the body remains behind.

John 1:4-9 speaks of Christ as "the true Light which gives light to every man coming into the world." This light illuminates the spirit, guiding us towards spiritual enlightenment and truth.

John 1:4-9:

4 "In Him was life, and the life was the light of men.
5 And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it.
6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.
7 This man came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all through him might believe.

8 He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.
9 That was the true Light which gives light to every man coming into the world."

The spirit is also seen as a means through which God examines and refines us, as noted in Proverbs 20:27, "The spirit of a man is the lamp of the Lord, searching all the inner depths of his heart."

The Interplay of Body, Soul, and Spirit

Understanding humanity requires recognizing how these three dimensions interact. The body provides the vessel for our earthly experiences, while the soul encompasses our emotional and moral life. The spirit connects us to the divine and guides our spiritual journey.

Revelation 6:9-11 further illustrates the role of the spirit and soul in the afterlife. The souls of the martyrs cry out for justice, demonstrating their ongoing consciousness and connection to divine justice even after death.

In essence, a human is a complex interplay of body, soul, and spirit. Each dimension plays a crucial role in our overall existence, influencing how we experience life, relate to others, and connect with the divine. By understanding and nurturing these aspects, we can achieve a more holistic and meaningful existence, aligning ourselves with God's purpose and experiencing the fullness of our humanity.

But, Islam has no such thing as spirit. Instead there are questioning of the deceased by angels in the grave and the punishment or reward that follows until the Day of Judgment. Two angels, Munkar and Nakir, are believed to visit the deceased and ask questions about their faith, their belief in God, and the Prophet Muhammad. Based on the answers, the soul may experience comfort or punishment in the grave (referred to as "Barzakh"). Even Muhammad sicked refuge from this punishement:

Sahih Muslim 588g or book 5 hadith 169 or book 4 hadith 1224:

Abu Huraira reported that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) used to seek refuge from the torment of the grave, torment of Hell and the trial of Dajjal.

Sahih al-Bukhari 1372 or book 23 hadith 124 or vol.2 book 23 hadith 454:

Narrated Masruq:
`Aisha said that a Jewess came to her and mentioned the punishment in the grave, saying to her, "May Allah protect you from the punishment of the grave." `Aisha then asked Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) about the punishment of the grave. He said, "Yes, (there is) punishment in the grave." `Aisha added, "After that I never saw Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) but seeking refuge with Allah from the punishment in the grave in every prayer he prayed."
Sahih Muslim 2868 or book 53 hadith 83 or hook 40 hadith 6860:
Anas reported Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) as saying:
If you were not (to abandon) the burying of the dead (in the grave), I would have certainly supplicated Allah that He should make you listen the torment of the grave.
Sahih al-Bukhari 1338 or book 23 hadith 93 or vol.2 book 23 hadith 422:
Narrated Anas:
The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "When a human being is laid in his grave and his companions return and he even hears their foot steps, two angels come to him and make him sit and ask him: What did you use to say about this man, Muhammad ? He will say: I testify that he is Allah's slave and His Apostle. Then it will be said to him, 'Look at your place in the Hell-Fire. Allah has given you a place in Paradise instead of it.' " The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "The dead person will see both his places. But a non-believer or a hypocrite will say to the angels, 'I do not know, but I used to say what the people used to say! It will be said to him, 'Neither did you know nor did you take the guidance (by reciting the Qur'an).' Then he will be hit with an iron hammer between his two ears, and he will cry and that cry will be heard by whatever approaches him except human beings and jinns."
But these peophe are exempted from grave punishment:
Sahih al-Bukhari 2829 or book 56 hadith 45 or vol. 4 book 52 hadith 82
Narrated Abu Huraira:
Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "Five are regarded as martyrs: They are those who die because of plague, Abdominal disease, drowning or a falling building etc., and the martyrs in Allah's Cause."

Was John the Baptist- Elijah and when will he return again?

Now that you know the difference between spirit and soul, let's check if Elijah who was taken alive in heaven was John the Baptist. Elijah taken alive into heaven reference:

2 Kings 2:11: "Then it happened, as they continued on and talked, that suddenly a chariot of fire appeared with horses of fire, and separated the two of them; and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven."

Moses died in Deuteronomy 34:5-6
Deuteronomy 34:5-7: "So Moses the servant of the Lord died there in the land of Moab, according to the word of the Lord. And He buried him in a valley in the land of Moab, opposite Beth Peor; but no one knows his grave to this day. Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died. His eyes were not dim nor his natural vigor diminished."
In Jewish tradition, there is a reference to Moses being resurrected in some non-canonical texts, such as the Assumption of Moses (also known as the Testament of Moses). This is an ancient Jewish apocryphal work that is not part of the canonical Hebrew Bible but is preserved in fragments and references in other texts.

Additionally, there is a reference in the Book of Jude in the New Testament that alludes to a dispute over the body of Moses:

- Jude 1:9: "Yet Michael the archangel, in contending with the devil, when he disputed about the body of Moses, dared not bring against him a reviling accusation, but said, 'The Lord rebuke you!'"

This passage reflects a tradition, likely from a Jewish non-canonical source. In this reference, Michael the Archangel/Jesus disputes with the devil over Moses' body, implying some form of divine intervention concerning Moses' death, which may suggest special treatment of Moses after his death. Unfortunately, due to the incomplete nature of the Assumption of Moses, there is no direct verse to quote regarding Moses' resurrection.

There are prophesies that Elijah will be sent before Christ

Malachi 4:5-6

5. Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet
   Before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord.
6. And he will turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,
   And the hearts of the children to their fathers,
   Lest I come and strike the earth with a curse.

Malachi 3:1-6

1. “Behold, I send My messenger,
   And he will prepare the way before Me.
   And the Lord, whom you seek,
   Will suddenly come to His temple,
   Even the Messenger of the covenant,
   In whom you delight.
   Behold, He is coming,”
   Says the Lord of hosts.

2. “But who can endure the day of His coming?
   And who can stand when He appears?
   For He is like a refiner's fire
   And like launderers' soap.

3. He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver;
   He will purify the sons of Levi,
   And purge them as gold and silver,
   That they may offer to the Lord
   An offering in righteousness.

4. Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem
   Will be pleasant to the Lord,
   As in the days of old,
   As in former years.

5. And I will come near you for judgment;
   I will be a swift witness
   Against sorcerers,

Against adulterers,
Against perjurers,
Against those who exploit wage earners and widows and orphans,
And against those who turn away an alien—
Because they do not fear Me,”
Says the Lord of hosts.

6. “For I am the Lord, I do not change;
Therefore you are not consumed, O sons of Jacob."

Isaiah 40:3

The Voice in the Wilderness

3. The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
"Prepare the way of the Lord;
Make straight in the desert
A highway for our God."

John acknowledged that he is the voice crying in the wilderness:

Matthew 3:1-3

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

1. In those days John the Baptist came preaching in the wilderness of Judea,
2. and saying, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!"
3. For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah, saying:
"The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare the way of the Lord;
Make His paths straight.' "

Mark 1:2-3

The Beginning of the Gospel

2. As it is written in the Prophets:
"Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
Who will prepare Your way before You."
3. "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare the way of the Lord;
Make His paths straight.' "

Luke 3:2-6

John the Baptist Prepares the Way

2. While Annas and Caiaphas were high priests, the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.
3. And he went into all the region around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins,
4. as it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, saying:
   "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
   'Prepare the way of the Lord;
   Make His paths straight.
5. Every valley shall be filled
   And every mountain and hill brought low;
   The crooked places shall be made straight
   And the rough ways smooth;
6. And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.' "

John 1:23

He said: "I am
'The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
"Make straight the way of the Lord," '
as the prophet Isaiah said."

But when Jewish leaders from Sanhedrin sent people to ask him who he is, he replied it dramatically:

John 1:19-28

A Voice in the Wilderness

19. Now this is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?"
20. He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, "I am not the Christ."
21. And they asked him, "What then? Are you Elijah?"
    He said, "I am not."
    "Are you the Prophet?"
    And he answered, "No."
22. Then they said to him, "Who are you, that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say about yourself?"
23. He said: "I am
    'The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
    "Make straight the way of the Lord," '
    as the prophet Isaiah said."
24. Now those who were sent were from the Pharisees.

25. And they asked him, saying, "Why then do you baptize if you are not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?"
26. John answered them, saying, "I baptize with water, but there stands One among you whom you do not know.
27. It is He who, coming after me, is preferred before me, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose."
28. These things were done in Bethabara beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

But the voice crying in the wilderness to prepare the way for the lord and Elijah has to be the same person. Then is there a controversy?- No:

Luke 1:13-17

The Birth of John the Baptist Foretold

13. But the angel said to him, “Do not be afraid, Zacharias, for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John.

14. And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth.

15. For he will be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother’s womb.

16. And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God.

17. He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, ‘to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,’ and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, ‘to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.’”

It was prophesied to John the Baptist’s father by Angel of the Lord/ Jesus that “He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah”. So as you saw the definition of spirit, spirit returns to God. So God sent Elijah’s spirit, not the body and soul that was taken up. Also notice in verse 15 that “ He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother’s womb”. Therefore, Elijah’s spirit came in the form of John the Baptist.

Matthew 11:7-14

Jesus’ Testimony about John

7. As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?

8. But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who wear soft clothing are in kings' houses.

9. But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.

10. For this is he of whom it is written:
'Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
Who will prepare Your way before You.'

11. Assuredly, I say to you, among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

12. And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.

13. For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John.

14. And if you are willing to receive it, he is Elijah who is to come.

Jesus quoted in verse 10 that prophets wrote about Elijah’s coming. He tells it’s John the Baptist. Remember Matthew 11:14.
Then when will Elijah’s taken body (+soul +spirit) come as well as Moses’ resurrected body?
John the baptist died in Matthew 14:1-12

Matthew 14:1-12

John the Baptist Beheaded

1. At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the report about Jesus

2. and said to his servants, "This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him."

3. For Herod had laid hold of John and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife.

4. Because John had said to him, "It is not lawful for you to have her."

5. And although he wanted to put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.

6. But when Herod's birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod.
7. Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.
8. So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, "Give me John the Baptist's head here on a platter."
9. And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him at the table, he commanded it to be given her.
10. So he sent and had John beheaded in prison.
11. And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother.
12. Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it; and went and told Jesus.

Mountain of transfiguration Elijah and Moses comes in Matthew 17:1-13

Matthew 17:1-13

The Transfiguration

1. Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves;
2. and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light.
3. And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him.
4. Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here; if You wish, let us make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."
5. While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them; and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!"
6. And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid.
7. But Jesus came and touched them and said, "Arise, and do not be afraid."
8. When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.
9. Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, "Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead."
10. And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Why then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"

11. Jesus answered and said to them, "Indeed, Elijah is coming first and will restore all things.
12. But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they did not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise the Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands."
13. Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

Here disciples understood Elijah was John the Baptist. But recall Matthew 11:14: "And if you are willing to receive it, he is Elijah who is to come."

Jesus's ministry was first to the Jews. But Jews didn't except him even after his resurrection.

Acts 7:55-60

The Stoning of Stephen

55. But he, being full of the Holy Spirit, gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God,

56. and said, "Look! I see the heavens opened and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God!"

57. Then they cried out with a loud voice, stopped their ears, and ran at him with one accord;

58. and they cast him out of the city and stoned him. And the witnesses laid down their clothes at the feet of a young man named Saul.

59. And they stoned Stephen as he was calling on God and saying, "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit."

Then he knelt down and cried out with a loud voice, "Lord, do not charge them with this sin." And when he had said this, he fell asleep.

This was the 7th time denial by Jews. This was the time when if Jews accepted Jesus, Jesus' thousand year ruling would have started and Jesus might have came down from heaven. But Jews stoned Stephen to death. So salvation went from Jews to gentiles through faith and the church age began. Then when will Elijah make the path again?

Revelation 11:3-6

The Two Witnesses

3. And I will give power to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy one thousand two hundred and sixty days, clothed in sackcloth.
4. These are the two olive trees and the two lampstands standing before the God of the earth.
5. And if anyone wants to harm them, fire proceeds from their mouth and devours their enemies. And if anyone wants to harm them, he must be killed in this manner.
6. These have power to shut heaven, so that no rain falls in the days of their prophecy; and they have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to strike the earth with all plagues, as often as they desire.

Interpretation:
These verses are part of the vision given to John concerning the "Two Witnesses." The passage states that God will grant authority to these two witnesses, who will prophesy for 1,260 days (approximately 3.5 years), clothed in sackcloth, a traditional sign of mourning and repentance. These are be the 2 witness appeared in Matthew 17:1-13 on the mountain. Proof-

1. The Two Witnesses: The identity of the two witnesses is not explicitly given, but they are often associated with the prophetic figures of Moses and Elijah or figures who come in their spirit and power. They are described as having the power to shut heaven so that no rain falls during their prophecy, turn waters to blood, and strike the earth with plagues — powers similar to those demonstrated by Elijah (who stopped rain) and Moses (who turned water to blood and brought plagues upon Egypt).

1 Kings 17:1

"And Elijah the Tishbite, of the inhabitants of Gilead, said to Ahab, 'As the Lord God of Israel lives, before whom I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, except at my word.'"

Exodus 7:14-24

The First Plague: Water Turned to Blood

1. So the Lord said to Moses: "Pharaoh's heart is hard; he refuses to let the people go.
2. Go to Pharaoh in the morning, when he goes out to the water, and you shall stand by the river's bank to meet him; and the rod which was turned to a serpent you shall take in your hand.

3. And you shall say to him, 'The Lord God of the Hebrews has sent me to you, saying, "Let My people go, that they may serve Me in the wilderness"; but indeed, until now you would not hear!
4. Thus says the Lord: "By this you shall know that I am the Lord. Behold, I will strike the waters which are in the river with the rod that is in my hand, and they shall be turned to blood.
5. And the fish that are in the river shall die, the river shall stink, and the Egyptians will loathe to drink the water of the river.'" "
6. Then the Lord spoke to Moses, "Say to Aaron, 'Take your rod and stretch out your hand over the waters of Egypt, over their streams, over their rivers, over their ponds, and over all their pools of water, that they may become blood. And there shall be blood throughout all the land of Egypt, both in buckets of wood and pitchers of stone.' "
7. And Moses and Aaron did so, just as the Lord commanded. So he lifted up the rod and struck the waters that were in the river, in the sight of Pharaoh and in the sight of his servants. And all the waters that were in the river were turned to blood.
8. The fish that were in the river died, the river stank, and the Egyptians could not drink the water of the river. So there was blood throughout all the land of Egypt.
9. Then the magicians of Egypt did so with their enchantments; and Pharaoh's heart grew hard, and he did not heed them, as the Lord had said.
10. And Pharaoh turned and went into his house. Neither was his heart moved by this.
11. So all the Egyptians dug all around the river for water to drink, because they could not drink the water of the river.

2. Divine Protection and Authority: The two witnesses are given authority and are protected during their ministry; anyone attempting to harm them is destroyed by fire proceeding from their mouths. This symbolizes the power and protection God gives to His servants to accomplish His purposes.

3. Call to Repentance: The witnesses' prophesying in sackcloth symbolizes a call to repentance, mourning, and a warning of impending judgment. Their actions and words are intended to turn people back to God.

4. Symbol of End-Time Prophecy: The 1,260 days of prophecy aligns with the time frame mentioned elsewhere in Revelation, often associated with periods of persecution, tribulation, and divine intervention. The witnesses represent God's continued effort to reach humanity and call for repentance before the final judgment.

So, during the beginning of 7 years of tribulation they will return. After 7 years Jesus will start his millennial reign.

One more thing, in John 1:19-28 Jews were questioning John the Baptist if he is Christ or Elijah or the prophet. Those Jews separated Christ and the prophet mistakenly.

John 1:21

And they asked him, "What then? Are you Elijah?"
He said, "I am not."
"Are you the Prophet?"
And he answered, "No."

But the prophet and Messiah/Christ are same person. If you read reference Bible it will be more clear than ever.

Deuteronomy 18:15

15. "The Lord your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your midst, from your brethren. Him you shall hear."

John 6:14

14. Then those men, when they had seen the sign that Jesus did, said, "This is truly the Prophet who is to come into the world."

John 7:40

40. Therefore many from the crowd, when they heard this saying, said, "Truly this is the Prophet."

Acts 3:22

22. For Moses truly said to the fathers, 'The Lord your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your brethren. Him you shall hear in all things, whatever He says to you.'

Jesus is also called by king David. If you check Jewish commentary of Deuteronomy 18:15, Hosea 3:4-5 and Jeremiah 23:5-6, it talks about the same person, Messiah.

Hosea 3:4-5

4. For the children of Israel shall abide many days without king or prince, without sacrifice or sacred pillar, without ephod or household gods.

5. Afterward the children of Israel shall return and seek the Lord their God and David their king. They shall fear the Lord and His goodness in the latter days.

Jeremiah 23:5-6

5. "Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord,
   "That I will raise to David a Branch of righteousness;
   A King shall reign and prosper,
   And execute judgment and righteousness in the earth.
6. In His days Judah will be saved,
   And Israel will dwell safely;
   Now this is His name by which He will be called:
   THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS."

Muslims debaters say when in John 1:21 Jews asked if John the Baptist is Elijah or the prophet and John denied, then Muhammad is the prophet and thus by definition Muhammad is Christ/Messiah which they again don't claim.

Those who accepted Messiah they can feel that He brought peace. Those who accepted Elijah their hearts was reconciled to their to their fathers and vice-versa. Those who haven't accepted, they can't feel it was accomplished. If the old body Elijah that was alive and was taken to heaven is was about to come with the same body as adult before Jesus came then it would have not written Messenger:

Malachi 3:1-6

7. "Behold, I send My messenger,
   And he will prepare the way before Me.
   And the Lord, whom you seek,
   Will suddenly come to His temple,
   Even the Messenger of the covenant,
   In whom you delight.
   Behold, He is coming,"
   Says the Lord of hosts.

It would have written Elijah directly.

And again notice the Lord was about to come and it seems like it is speaking as if the Messenger of the covenant / the angel of the Lord was about to come alongside or they are the same. So who is He the messenger of the covenant / the angel of the Lord who brought the covenant to Abraham?

Those who seek will surely find, as even I (the author) was an extremist pagan black stone worshiper also found out.

Muhammad in the Bible Claimed in Quran

Surah 61 (As-Saff), verse 6 claims that the name "Ahmed" is mentioned in the New Testament of the Bible. Surah 7 (Al-A'raf), verse 157 states that the prophecy of an illiterate prophet (Ummi) is found in the Torah and the Gospel (specifically the Gospel). Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah), verse 146 claims that Jews and Christians can recognize Muhammad as a prophet just as they recognize their own children, implying that there is lots and lots of evidence in the Bible to identify Muhammad as a prophet, more than any prophet. Because he didn’t have any Mujiza/miracle and Quran is the only Mujiza/miracle Muhammad had. So the only way to validify him as a prophet is through Quran and through his claims in the Quran. Therefore, for the Quran to be true and him to be a prophet, the validity of these claims needs to be verified.

Many self-proclaimed knowledgeable individuals try to show from parts of various religious scriptures, including the Bible, that Muhammad was foretold. They haven't spared Hindu books too. Muslims continue to do this, no matter how many lies or false arguments are needed. If the Quran were complete, Muhammad wouldn't need the Bible or any other religious book for validation. After all, Muhammad himself claimed that the Quran is his only miracle he had. Muslims frequently change their claims. What they assert now will change in a while.

Surah 61 (As-Saff), Verse 6:

"And [mention] when Jesus, the son of Mary, said, 'O children of Israel, indeed I am the messenger of Allah to you confirming what came before me of the Torah and bringing good tidings of a messenger to come after me, whose name is Ahmad.' But when he came to them with clear evidences, they said, 'This is obvious magic.'"

Surah 7 (Al-A'raf), Verse 157:

"Those who follow the Messenger, the unlettered prophet, whom they find written in what they have of the Torah and the Gospel, who enjoins upon them what is right and forbids them what is wrong and makes lawful for them the good things and prohibits for them the evil and relieves them of their burden and the shackles which were upon them. So they who have believed in him, honored him, supported him and followed the light which was sent down with him - it is those who will be the successful."

Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah), Verse 146:

"Those to whom We gave the Scripture know him as they know their own sons. But indeed, a party of them conceal the truth while they know [it]."

Surah 48 (Surah Al-Fath), Verse 29:

"Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah; and those with him are forceful against the disbelievers, merciful among themselves. You see them bowing and prostrating [in prayer], seeking bounty from Allah and [His] pleasure. Their mark is on their faces from the trace of prostration. That is their description in the Torah. And their description in the Gospel is as a plant which produces its offshoots and strengthens them so they grow firm and stand upon their stalks, delighting the sowers—so that He may enrage by them the disbelievers. Allah has promised those who believe and do righteous deeds among them forgiveness and a great reward."

Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah) Verse 101:

"And when a messenger from God came to them confirming that which was with them, a party of those who had been given the Scripture threw the Scripture of God behind their backs as if they did not know."

Surah 26 (Ash-Shu'ara) Verse 192–197:

192. And indeed, it [the Qur'an] is the revelation of the Lord of the worlds, 193. The Trustworthy Spirit [Gabriel] has brought it down 194. Upon your heart, [O Muhammad]—that you may be of the warners— 195. In a clear Arabic language. 196. And indeed, it is [mentioned] in the scriptures of former peoples. 197. And has it not been a sign to them that it is recognized by the scholars of the Children of Israel?

Surah 5 (Al-Ma'idah) Verse 15:

"O People of the Scripture, there has come to you Our Messenger making clear to you much of what you used to conceal of the Scripture and overlooking much. There has come to you from Allah a light and a clear Book."

Surah 5 (Al-Ma'idah) Verse 19:

"O People of the Scripture, Our Messenger has come to you to make things clear to you after an interval [of cessation] of messengers, lest you say, 'There came not to us any bringer of good tidings or a warner.' But there has come to you a bringer of good tidings and a warner. And Allah is over all things competent."

Surah 61 (As-Saff), verse 6 claims that the name "Ahmed" is mentioned in the New Testament of the Bible.

Surah 7 (Al-A'raf), verse 157 states that the prophecy of an illiterate prophet (Ummi) is found in the Torah and the Gospel (specifically the Gospel).

Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah), verse 146 claims that Jews and Christians can recognize Muhammad as a prophet just as they recognize their own children, implying that there is lots and lots of evidence in the Bible to identify Muhammad as a prophet, more than any prophet.

Surah 48 (Surah Al-Fath), verse 29 says how you can identify Muslims from Torah:

“Those who are with prophet are forceful against the disbelievers, merciful among themselves. They bow and prostrate [in prayer], seeking bounty from God and [His] pleasure. Their mark is on their faces from the trace of prostration.”

And Muslim’s description in the Gospel is:

“As a plant which produces its offshoots and strengthens them so they grow firm and stand upon their stalks, delighting the sowers—so that He may enrage by them the disbelievers.”

Surah 2 (Al-Baqarah) verse 101 refers to the Children of Israel and their interactions with the revelations brought by the prophets, specifically mentioning their relationship with Prophet Muhammad and previous messengers. The verse highlights that when Prophet Muhammad came confirming the previous scriptures, some of the people who had been given the earlier revelations, such as the Torah (given to the Jews), rejected him and disregarded the divine message, despite the fact that it confirmed what they already knew.

In essence, the verse criticizes a group from among the Jews who, despite having knowledge of earlier scriptures, did not accept Prophet Muhammad as the final messenger, even though his message aligned with what had already been revealed to them.

Surah 26 (Ash-Shu'ara) verse 192–197 emphasizes the divine origin of the Qur'an and points out that the revelation is consistent with previous scriptures, implying that those familiar with earlier revelations should recognize its truth. He asserts that knowledgeable individuals among the Children of Israel (the Jews) should have recognized its truth, as they were familiar with the signs of prophethood and divine messages in their own texts. These verses address the rejection of the Prophet Muhammad by some of the People of the Book and others, despite the clear signs of his prophethood.

Surah 5 (Al-Ma'idah) verse 15 addresses the People of the Scripture (Jews and Christians), indicating that the Prophet Muhammad was sent to reveal parts of their scripture that Jews and Christians concealed.

Surah 5 (Al-Ma'idah) Verse 19 states that after a period without a bringer of good tidings and a warner following Jesus, Muhammad is sent as a bringer of good tidings and a warner.

Because Muhammad didn’t have any Mujiza/miracle and Quran is the only Mujiza/miracle Muhammad had. So the only way to validify him as a prophet is through Quran and through his claims in the Quran. Therefore, for the Quran to be true and him to be a prophet, the validity of these claims needs to be verified.

Muhammad in the Bible

"Muhammad" is not a name—it's just a title. The name "Muhammad" (مُحَمَّد) is of Arabic origin and means "the one who is praised" or "the praiseworthy." It is derived from the root word "ḥ-m-d" (حَمَدَ), which means "to praise" or "to thank." In contrast, the Allah mentions Muhammad only four times, while mentioning Jesus seventy-two times.

In the Bible God is the praised one:

- Psalm 18:3 :

  "I call upon the LORD, who is worthy to be praised (Hebrew: יְהוָה, pronounced 'YHWH'), and I am saved from my enemies."

- 1 Chronicles 16:25 :

"For great is the LORD, and greatly to be praised (Hebrew: יְהוָה, pronounced 'YHWH'); he is to be revered above all gods."

- Revelation 5:12 :

"Singing with full voice, 'Worthy is the Lamb that was slaughtered to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!'"

So the person claimed to be Muhammad has certainly claimed to be false God. "Sallallahu alayhi wa sallam" (صلى الله عليه وسلم) is a phrase used by Muslims to offer blessings and peace upon the Prophet Muhammad. Muhammad receive more respect and praise than Allah himself.

Five times a day after hearing call for prayer from Mosque, Muslims remind Allah to praise Muhammad:

"O Allah, Lord of this perfect call and the established prayer, grant Muhammad the means and the excellence, and raise him to the praised station which You promised him." (Dua to recite after Adhan)

Muhammad made a jump, from someone who did not have faith and did not know the scriptures, to someone who became a prophet of God overnight, as shown in the following verse.

Qur'an 42:52, Muhammad Pickthall translation:

And thus have We inspired in thee (Muhammad) a spirit of Our command. Thou knowest not what the scripture was, nor what the faith. But We have made it a light whereby We guide whom We will of Our bondmen. And lo! Thou verily dost guide unto a right path.

How can Muslims claim that Muhammad was a follower of Abraham when he did not know "what the Scriptures were, nor what the faith" is? This shows us that Muhammad himself was a kafir (infidel). How can an infidel who did not know what faith meant and had never heard of the Scriptures, as revealed to us in the verse, suddenly chooses to be a prophet and place himself as God?

Well, Muhammad used the name of God to make himself God. Muhammad's real name is Qathem (مثق). Muhammad changed his name when he was 30 years old, and he did so at the instigation of his wife, Khadija, and her Waraqah Ibn Nawfal. At that time, Khadija and her Waraqah Ibn Nawfal worked out a plan to make Muhammad the ruler of all tribes in Arabia. They knew that it was easy for Muhammad to control and dictate authority over the people, if he claimed that his authority came from God—so they proclaimed to him, "By the name of God, you are God!"

Muhammad takes the place of God:

24 The Chapters on Jihad

(39)Chapter: Obedience to the ruler

It was narrated from Abu Hurairah that the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said:

"Whoever obeys me, obeys Allah, And whoever disobeys me, disobeys Allah. Whoever obeys the ruler, obeys me, and whoever disobeys the ruler, disobeys me."

Grade: Sahih (Darussalam)

Qur'an 4:80:

He who abides by the Apostle, he indeed obeys God. However, [those] whom obey him not, Allah is watching him (as a threat), We have not sent [one] to watch over them.

As we see in the above verse, there is a written approval in the Qur'an for Muhammad to take the place of God. This then means that the laws of Islam have two sources: Muhammad and the Qur'an (which comes from Muhammad anyway!).

The fact is that the main sources of the Islamic law are solely from the actions and speeches of Muhammad.

14. Muhammad's recitations (Qur'an);
15. Muhammad's speeches and orders (Sunnah);

16. Muhammad's actions (even the simplest or silly ones, like how to pee) (Sunnah).

Clearly, Muhammad and God became one. The word of Muhammad is the word of God, and the order of Muhammad is the order of God.

Muhammad takes precedence over God (Qur'an 4:80):

Whoever obeys the Prophet, he indeed obeyed Allah; and whoever did not obey, we send not a protector over them.

It is more important to obey Muhammad than to obey God. This is why we notice that there is a huge interest on the part of God to satisfy the sexual desires of Muhammad, and whatever Muhammad wished became law.

FROM QATHEM TO MUHAMMAD

All of this was not enough for Muhammad. Something was missing and that was the title. I do not mean the title of "Prophet"—he got that already by his sword.

When he was born, he was given the name Qathem, not Muhammad. Why change his name to Muhammad and what is that name all about?

Let's look at the following biblical figures and their titles:

Abraham - Father of Prophet-hood;
Moses - One who spoke to God (Kalem Allah | ميلك);
Jesus - The Messiah.

So, the new man in the theater, Qathem (Muhammad), needed a new name. The following verse explains why Muhammad chose his many names and titles:

61 Virtues and Merits of the Prophet (pbuh) and his Companions

(17)Chapter: The names of Allah's Messenger (saws)

Narrated Jubair bin Mut`im:

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "I have five names: I am Muhammad and Ahmad; I am Al-Mahi (Eraser) through whom Allah will eliminate infidelity; I am Al-Hashir (Collector) (Al-Hashir, means mankind will be gathered in front of him) who will be the first to be resurrected, the people being resurrected there after; and I am also Al-`Aqib (The Last) (i.e. There will be no prophet after me).

Let us take a closer look at these names:

The Name/Titles	The Meaning of the Names/Titles	Equivalent Names of Allah
Muhammad	The All Praiseworthy	Al-Hamīd (#56)
Ahmad	The Praised One	Al-Hamīd (#56)
Eraser (Al-Mahi)	The one through whom Christianity will be erased	Al-Mahi (As Allah, in Qur'an 22:52, does "yansakh" {erase} what Satan casts, Muhammad assumes the attribute for himself to erase other religions). (See Sahih Al-Bukhari, Book 56, Hadith 732)
Collector (Al-Hashir)	The one through whom Allah will collect all humanity on Judgment Day	Al-Muhsi (#57)
The Last (Al-Aqib)	No one comes after me	Al-Akhir (#74)

I’m not sure how you feel or think about these names, but I feel Satan’s words are in them. Notice that Muhammad chose “The Praised One,” which, not surprisingly, is one of the 99 names of Allah. He declared himself as God, so that Muslims would follow him without question. They approve what he approved, and forbid what he forbade, even if what he said contradicts the orders of Allah in the Qur'an. The Muslims continue to follow Muhammad over Allah.

MUHAMMAD (THE ALL PRAISEWORTHY)

AHMAD (THE PRAISED ONE)

Qur'an 61:6, Muhammad Pickthall translation:

And when Jesus son of Mary said, O Children of Israel! Lo! I am the messenger of Allah unto you, confirming that which was (revealed) before me in the Torah, and bringing good tidings of a messenger who cometh after me, whose name is the Praised One. Yet when he hath come unto them with clear proofs, they say: This is mere magic.

Throughout the Qur'an, "The Praised One" is used for Allah, except in Chapter 61:6, where Muhammad is given the privilege to share Allah's name.
Muhammad is also The Praised One.

The root word is "Ham'd". The following words all come from the root word "Ham'd", and all of them mean the same, "The Praised One".

Name	Meaning
ʿHam'd	Praise
Hameed	The praised one
Muʿhammad	The praised one
Aʿhmad	The praised one
Hamdan	Praise

Text Below the Table: "The first name, 'Ham'd,' is the name of Allah, exactly as we see in the following verses:

- سورة البروج …… Al-Burooj, Qur'an 85:8
- سورة الممتحنة …… Al-Mumtahana, Qur'an 60:6
- سورة الحديد …… Al-Hadid, Qur'an 57:24
- سورة الشورى …… Al-Shura, Qur'an 42:28
- سورة فاطر …… Fater, Qur'an 35:15

- سورة لقمان …… Luq'man, Qur'an 31:26
- سورة الحج …… Al-Hajj, Qur'an 22:64
- سورة الحج …… Al-Hajj, Qur'an 22:24
- سورة ابراهيم …… Ibrahim, Qur'an 14:1"

If Muhammad was a slave of God, why then did he hijack God's name? The answer is easy. Muhammad knew that he was a false prophet, and knew exactly what he could achieve by proclaiming himself "The Praised One." He wanted absolute obedience, absolute control, and absolute deception. By proclaiming himself as "The Praised One," he made sure that no one would dare to question him.

The hadiths point to one conclusion; Muhammad is God:

Now think about it, ablution water is the wash water, and in case you don't know, this is the water Muhammad used to wash such parts as his penis and testicles. So how and why did these Muslims think that the water Muhammad used to wash his private parts was holy water for blessing?

References of how Muslims used to be blessed by Muhammad:

Abdullah. the freed slave of Asma' (the daughter of Abu Bakr). the maternal uncle of the son of 'Ata, reported:

Asma' sent me to 'Abdullah b. 'Umar saying: The news has reached me that you prohibit the use of three things: the striped robe. saddle cloth made of red silk. and the fasting in the holy month of Rajab. 'Abdullah said to me: So far as what you say about fasting in the month of Rajab, how about one who observes continuous fasting? -and so far as what you say about the striped garment, I heard Umar b. Khatab say that he had heard from Allah's Messenger (ﷺ): He who wears silk garment has no share for him (in the Hereafter), and I am afraid it may not be that striped garment; and so far as the red saddle clotb is concerned that is the saddle cloth of Abdullah and it is red. I went back to Asma' and informed her. whereupon she said: Here is the cloak of Allah's Messenger (ﷺ). and she brought out to me that cloak (UNDERWEAR) made of Persian cloth with a hem of brocade, and its sleeves bordered with brocade and said: This wall Allah's Messenger's cloak (UNDERWEAR) with 'A'isha until she died, and when she died. I got possession of it. The Apostle of Allah (ﷺ) used to wear that, and we waslied it for the sick and sought cure thereby.

MUHAMMAD SELLING LANDS IN HEAVEN

Pay for a place in Heaven with a farmland:

Qur'an 64:17, Muhammad Pickthall translation:

If ye lend unto Allah a goodly loan, He will double it for you and will forgive you, for Allah is Responsive, Clement.

TheBook of Al-Qur'tubi interprets Qur'an 64:17 as follows:

Abu Al-Da'hda'h said "'O messenger of Allah you're saying that Allah wants us to give him a loan?' He said (Muhammad) 'Yes Abu Al-Da'hda'h.' Therefore, Abu Al-Da'hda'h said 'Give me your hand I am giving Allah a loan, a farm has 600 palm trees' and he went to his wife in the farm so he called her 'O mother of Al-Da'hda'h', she said 'I'm here for you', he said 'Come out I lent my God Allah the Almighty the farm which has 600 palm trees', and it is narrated by Zaed Ibn 'Aslam he said 'When the verse was revealed "who lent Allah a loan?", Abu Al- Da'hda'h said "I scarifice my father and mother for your sake O messenger of Allah, but does Allah need a loan as he is rich?" The messenger replied 'Yes by that loan He (Allah) wanted to make you enter heaven', Abu Al-Da'hda'h replied 'So if I lend Allah a loan, am I granted by it my part of heaven, me and my children's in Paradise?', The messenger replied 'Yes'"

The Prophet said: "Abu Al-Dahdah has entered Paradise!"

Allah and Muhammad share same attribute/name:

31 Divine Names Shared Between Allah and Muhammad

In the Islamic text Al-Khasa'is Al-Kubra by the respected scholar Jalal al-Din Al-Suyuti (Volume 1, p. 133), we read something truly startling. In a section titled "Muhammad Was Given the Names of Allah," it is documented that Muhammad was given 31 of the 99 Names of Allah.

Let's pause here for a moment. Islam teaches that associating partners with Allah (shirk) is the greatest and most unforgivable sin. So if Muhammad shares divine names with Allah, we're left with two options:

1. Muhammad is Allah.
2. Muslims worship two gods—Allah and Muhammad.

Either way, this violates the very heart of Islamic monotheism.

What the Scholars Say

According to the classical scholar Al-Qadi Iyad, Allah distinguished His prophet by giving him around 30 of His own names. These are not mere titles—they are sacred names associated with the divine attributes of Allah.

Below is the list of names, all of which are found among the 99 Names of Allah and are also attributed to Muhammad:

1. Al-Ikraam – The Honor
2. Al-Awwal – The First
3. Al-Akhir – The Last
4. Al-Jabbar – The Mighty
5. Al-Haqq – The Truth
6. Al-Khabeer – The Acquainted
7. Al-Ra'oof – The Most Kind
8. Al-Raheem – The Merciful
9. Al-Shaheed – The Observer/Witness
10. Al-Shakur – The Grateful
11. Al-Azim – The Magnificent/Supreme
12. Al-'Afuww – The Pardoner

13. Al-‘Aziz – The Mighty
14. Al-Fattah – The Opener
15. Al-Karim – The Generous
16. Al-Mu’min – The Giver of Faith/ The Believer
17. Al-Muhaymin – The Guardian/ Overseer
18. Al-Walee – The Guardian
19. Al-Nurr – The Light
20. Al-Ahad – The One/ The One Of
21. Al-Baatin – The Hidden
22. Al-Barr – The Beneficent
23. Al-Hafeedh – The Preserver
24. Al-Haseeb – The Reckoner
25. Al-Hakeem – The Wise
26. Al-Haleem – The Forbearer
27. Al-Hayy – The Living
28. Al-Salam – The Peace
29. Al-Alee – The High (found on page 134)
30. Al-Ghafoor – The Forgiver (found on page 134)
31. Al-Ghaniyy – The Wealthy (found on page 134)

Let’s Pause Again

The name Al-Wahid—The One—has always been reserved for Allah alone. And yet, it is attributed to Muhammad as well. Isn’t this the very definition of shirk?

■Muslims Are Not Told the Whole Truth

Most Muslims are unaware of this overlap. Many believe that Muhammad is simply a prophet and a servant of Allah. But if that’s the case, why does he share divine attributes with the God of Islam?

Islam condemns shirk—associating others with Allah. And yet, within its own core beliefs and revered scholarship, Muhammad is elevated to a god-like status. If Muslims truly believe that no one shares in Allah's divinity, why does their prophet bear His names?

And Muhammad means The Praised One which is also Allah.

> Note that Muhammad was taking the land as his own. He did not make the exchange to donate to the poor.

Best claim of Islamic Polemicist Zakir Nayek, Ahmed Deedat and others so far are refuted below:

Genesis

Circumcision Prophesy

Modern Muslim prophesy finders claim that Muhammad would come from a great nation. When it becomes impossible to prove this with the Quran, Muslims try to show certain things from the Bible. Initially, Muslims claimed that the promised child would be Ishmael, but later they claimed it would be Isaac. To solve this contradiction, Muslims turn to the Bible and refer to Genesis 17:7-10. By showing this part of the Bible, Muslims claim that Allah made a covenant with Abraham. Then, they refer to verse 10. Muslims claim that those who practice circumcision will be the great nation, as circumcision is a sign of this great nation.

Genesis 17:7-10
7 I will establish my covenant between me and you, and your offspring after you throughout their generations, for an everlasting covenant, to be God to you and to your offspring after you.

8 And I will give to you, and to your offspring after you, the land where you are now an alien, all the land of Canaan, for a perpetual holding; and I will be their God.
9 God said to Abraham, "As for you, you shall keep my covenant, you and your offspring after you throughout their generations.

10 This is my covenant, which you shall keep, between me and you and your offspring after you: Every male among you shall be circumcised.

Muslims show this part of the Bible and say that Jews practice circumcision somewhat, and Christians do not practice it at all, while Muslims do. Since Muhammad descended from Ishmael (as Islamist claim), they claim the promised nation or the great nation is Ishmael's descendants because they practice circumcision. Therefore, Muslims argue that Muhammad's coming was foretold in the Bible, and those who do not practice circumcision will be punished by God.

Let's first look at Genesis 17:1. It says, "The Lord appeared to him." Who is this Lord? As mentioned before, the personal name of the God of the Bible is Jehovah in English. So, it is clear that the "Lord" here is Jehovah according to the original manuscripts of the Bible.

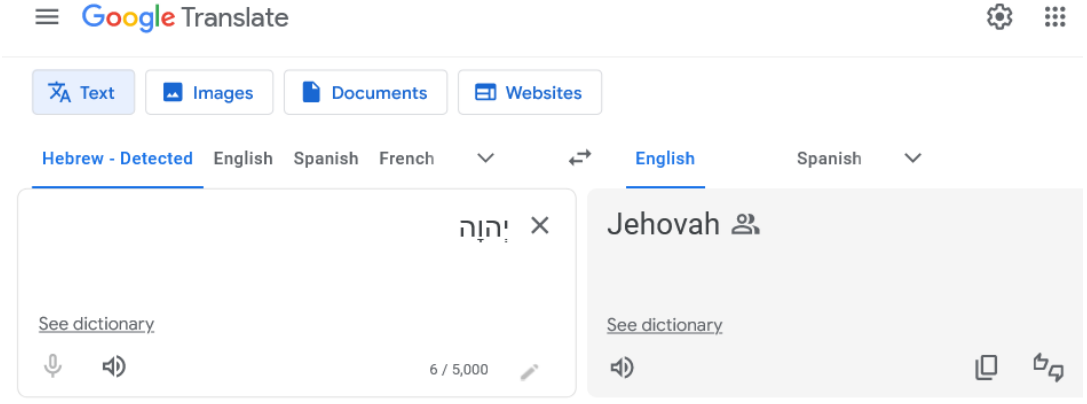
The divine name in the ancient Hebrew letters used before the Babylonian exile

Many Bible translations do not directly use the name Jehovah but use "Lord" or "GOD" instead. However, this does not cause any confusion because we know who is meant by "Lord" or "GOD."

יהוה

The divine name in the Hebrew letters used after the Babylonian exile

Look at the image. This is the name of the God of the Bible, which is so holy that it is not pronounced and altered with other word. As Jews believe pronouncing God's name in vain is a sin.



You see, it says Jehovah made a covenant with Abraham.

Now you can surely understand that the God of the Bible, Jehovah, made a covenant with Abraham, meaning Abraham worshiped Jehovah and not the god of Meccan Kaaba- Allah. And this is important because Jehovah did not make any covenant or agreement with the Kaaba worshiping Muhammad of Mecca. (read more on the covenants God made in the Bible and how it's made from online)

Let's proceed further; there is more to the story. Genesis 17:10 mentions that Abraham's future descendants will observe the covenant of circumcision. So, which descendants were chosen by Jehovah to follow this covenant? Was it Abraham who chose, or did Jehovah choose?

Genesis Chapter 17 בְּרֵאשִׁית
א וַיְהִי אַבְרָם, בֶּן-תִּשְׁעִים שָׁנָה וְתֵשַׁע שָׁנִים; וַיֵּרָא יְהוָה אֶל-אַבְרָם, וַיֹּאמֶר אֵלָיו אֲנִי-אֵל שַׁדַּי--הִתְהַלֵּךְ לְפָנַי, וֶהְיֵה תָמִים.
1 And when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the LORD appeared to Abram, and said unto him: 'I am God Almighty; walk before Me, and be thou wholehearted.

We find the answer in Leviticus 12:1-2.

Leviticus 1:1-2

1 The Lord called to Moses and spoke to him from the tent of meeting, saying: 2 “Speak to the people of Israel and say to them: When any of you brings an offering to the Lord, you shall bring your offering from the animals: from the herd or from the flock.

It is clearly stated that Jehovah gave this covenant to the children of Israel. Now, you can surely understand that the covenant of circumcision was given only to the children of Israel by the God of the Bible, Jehovah. Among Abraham’s two sons, Ishmael and Isaac, Jehovah chose the descendants of Isaac (chapter-25 of this book). Jehovah did not give the covenant of circumcision to any descendants of Ishmael. Jehovah did not say whether Ishmael’s descendants or Muhammad would practice circumcision. So, whether Muslims practice circumcision or not is their own matter.

The biblical narrative depicts various conflicts between the descendants of Ishmael and the Israelites, reflecting tensions that can be interpreted as differences in faith and cultural identities:

Genesis 16:11-12: In this passage, God tells Hagar about Ishmael's future:

- 11 "The angel of the Lord said to her, 'Now you have conceived and shall bear a son; you shall call him Ishmael, for the Lord has given heed to your affliction.'
- 12 'He shall be a wild ass of a man; with his hand against everyone, and everyone's hand against him; and he shall live at odds with all his kin.'"

This prophecy indicates a contentious nature for Ishmael and suggests future conflict with his relatives, which can imply differing practices and beliefs.

Exodus 17:8-16: The Amalekites, descendants of Esau (Ishmael's cousin through Abraham), engage in battle with the Israelites shortly after their exodus from Egypt. This conflict is depicted as a struggle between different nations:

- 8 "Then Amalek came and fought with Israel at Rephidim."
- 14 "Then the Lord said to Moses, 'Write this as a reminder in a book and recite it in the hearing of Joshua; I will utterly blot out the remembrance of Amalek from under heaven.'"

This battle symbolizes ongoing hostility between the descendants of Abraham through different lines.

1 Chronicles 5:19-22: This passage describes the conflict between the descendants of Ishmael and the Israelites:

- 19 "They made war on the Hagrites, Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab."
- 22 "For many fell slain, because the war was of God. And they settled in their place until the exile."

The mention of war and conflict here highlights the continuing strife between the groups.

Psalm 83:5-8: This psalm lists various nations and groups that are in opposition to Israel, including those associated with Ishmael:

- 6 "The tents of Edom and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Hagrites..." This shows a collective hostility toward Israel, representing the descendants of Ishmael as part of broader opposition.

We saw in the Hebrew-English Bible what is stated. Here, too, the name of Jehovah (YHWH) is mentioned. It is clear that this rule is given by the God of the Bible, Jehovah, to the children of Israel.

The Tetragrammaton (YHWH) appears in the Hebrew Bible (Old Testament) approximately 6,828 times. This name refers to God and is often translated as "LORD" in English versions of the Bible, typically written in all capital letters to signify its significance.

So, should Christians practice circumcision? Jehovah has not prohibited Christians from being circumcised, but He has not given any rule that they must do so. Christians are free because they are not of the Israelite nation covanent. Therefore, Christians may choose to be circumcised or not.

Muslims should also remember that many Christians are indeed practicing circumcision. Moreover, Muslims should recognize that they are a religiously and mentally enslaved nation, whereas Christians are free in all respects. Thus, Muslims should not judge people of other faiths based on their incomplete Quran or the Hafs or Warsh recitations of the Quran.

Let’s see from the Bible whether Christians should practice circumcision. We read Acts 16:3. Many Muslims claim that Paul is not a good person and corrupted Jesus’s teachings. Paul forbids circumcision. But here’s what it says:

Acts 16:3: "Paul wanted Timothy to accompany him, and he took him and had him circumcised because of the Jews who were in those places, for they all knew that his father was a Greek."

Paul had a person named Timothy circumcised. Paul did not forbid Christians from being circumcised, but he helped them understand whether this circumcision was necessary or not. Because at that time, many Christians believed they should still observe the laws of Moses.

Paul tells these Christians that it is no longer necessary to burden themselves with the observance of Moses’ laws. Through the sacrificial death of Jesus, the previous arrangements made by Moses were abolished. And God established a new, independent system through Jesus.

However, when the new Christian community was formed, Jehovah made it clear through His Holy Spirit that there is no rule requiring circumcision. It is a matter of personal choice.

■The Council at Jerusalem

Acts 15:6-11

6 The apostles and the elders met together to consider this matter.
7 After there had been much debate, Peter stood up and said to them, "My brothers, you know that in the early days God made a choice among you, that I should be the one through whom the Gentiles would hear the message of the good news and become believers.

8 And God, who knows the human heart, testified to them by giving them the Holy Spirit, just as he did to us,

9 and in cleansing their hearts by faith he has made no distinction between them and us.
10 Now therefore why are you putting God to the test by placing on the neck of the disciples a yoke that neither our ancestors nor we have been able to bear?
11 On the contrary, we believe that we will be saved through the grace of the Lord Jesus, just as they will."

■Testimonies and Decision

Acts 15:12-18

12 The whole assembly kept silence and listened to Barnabas and Paul as they told of all the signs and wonders that God had done through them among the Gentiles.
13 After they finished speaking, James replied, "My brothers, listen to me.
14 Simeon has related how God first looked favorably on the Gentiles, to take from among them a people for his name.

15 This agrees with the words of the prophets, as it is written, 16 'After this I will return, and I will rebuild the dwelling of David, which has fallen; from its ruins I will rebuild it, and I will set it up,

17 so that all other peoples may seek the Lord— even all the Gentiles over whom my name has been called. Thus says the Lord, who has been making these things 18 known from long ago.'"

■The Letter to the Gentiles

Acts 15:19-29

19 "Therefore I have reached the decision that we should not trouble those Gentiles who are turning to God,

20 but we should write to them to abstain only from things polluted by idols and from sexual immorality and from whatever has been strangled and from blood.
21 For in every city, for generations past, Moses has had those who proclaim him, for he has been read aloud every sabbath in the synagogues."
22 Then the apostles and the elders, with the consent of the whole church, decided to choose men from among their members and to send them to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas. They sent Judas called Barsabbas, and Silas, leaders among the brothers,
23 with the following letter: "The brothers, both the apostles and the elders, to the believers of Gentile origin in Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greetings.
24 Since we have heard that certain persons who have gone out from us, though with no instructions from us, have said things to disturb you and have unsettled your minds,

25 we have decided unanimously to choose representatives and send them to you, along with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

26 who have risked their lives for the sake of our Lord Jesus Christ. 27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, who themselves will tell you the same things by word of mouth.

28 For it has seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to impose on you no further burden than these essentials:

29 that you abstain from what has been sacrificed to idols and from blood and from what is strangled and from sexual immorality. If you keep yourselves from these, you will do well. Farewell."

This letter established a clear direction for the Gentile believers (those who are not from the tribe of Issac), freeing them from the requirement to follow the full Jewish law while emphasizing key ethical standards.
So, we clearly understand that there is no obligation for Christians to be circumcised. Christians can choose to undergo circumcision or not; it is a personal matter for each individual. Since Ishmael was young, he stayed with Abraham, which is why Abraham circumcised Ishmael.

Genesis 17:13: Every man born in your house and every man purchased with money of yours must without fail get circumcised; and my covenant in the flesh of YOU men must serve as a covenant to time indefinite.

Genesis 17:25: And his son Ishmael was thirteen years old when he was circumcised in the flesh of his foreskin.

At that time, Ishmael had not married and separated. However, there is no record of whether Ishmael circumcised his sons or instructed his descendants to do so. It was mentioned earlier that the law was established with the discernment of Isaac. And earlier I shown that tribe of Ismail went many war with Israel, meaning they were pagan.

Moreover, in the most complete Quran of Muslims, meaning Uthman's Quran, there is no mention of this topic either. The most important point is that God did not make any covenant or rule with Ishmael. Therefore, it is clear that the Muslims' claim is completely false.

Genesis 17:12: "Throughout your generations, every male among you shall be circumcised when he is eight days old, including the slave born in your house and the one bought with your money from any foreigner who is not of your offspring."

Muslims don’t perform 8th day circumcision or any pagan of Mecca did.

Luke 2:21 : "When the eighth day came, it was time to circumcise the child, and he was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before he was conceived in the womb."

Another important question is: Did Muhammad undergo circumcision when he was eight days old? Because we have seen that God clearly gives rules for the Israelite nation in the book of Leviticus, stating that every male child among you shall be circumcised on the eighth day.

Muslims claim that Muhammad was circumcised. However, such an important matter is not mentioned in Uthman's complete Quran.

So, whether Muhammad was circumcised or not did not seem important enough to Uthman and the authors of his Quran. Uthman and the compilers of the Quran were hastily trying to write a complete Quran to establish Islam.

The problem began later when Jews and Christians started asking questions about this. Then some Muslims began writing some Hadiths, creating a new stories. In those Hadiths, they say that Muhammad was born in a state of circumcision (ready-made). Another Hadith states that Abu Talib circumcised Muhammad. This is not necessarily true; there are fabricated Hadiths among Muslims, and the issue of Muhammad's circumcision is one of them.

Muslims strongly assert that during the time of the Prophet Muhammad, circumcision was practiced by most men and some women in the idol-worshiping Arab tribes.

The astonishing thing is that upon reading many Hadiths, it becomes clear that these are human-made stories. There is no description of why Abu Talib or Muhammad’s father Abdullah or the Quraysh tribe would have practiced circumcision, or how they learned to practice it.

Moreover, it is essential to note that the God of Meccan Kaaba did not command the Quraysh tribe to circumcise, nor did He establish any teaching for them to do so, as with the covenant in the Bible.

Again, one Hadith presents one description, while another Hadith offers a different account. It is also important to remember that the Hadiths were not revealed by Muhammad’s The Lah, nor did He instruct anyone to write them. Most so-called authentic Hadiths were written nearly three hundred years after Muhammad’s death.

Still, let's assume that some people in Arabia practiced circumcision; there is no problem with that. They can do so. Because it is also noted in the Bible that some nations surrounding the Israelites practiced circumcision. It can be reasonably inferred that those nations learned circumcision from the Israelites.

If the Arabs or the Quraysh tribe practiced circumcision, they might have learned the practice from other nations. Keep in mind that the God of Meccan Kaaba did not teach the Quraysh to circumcise. However, the main issue is that this covenant of circumcision was given solely to the Israelite nation by God. It does not concern God whether others practiced circumcision or not. The God of the Bible made no rules or covenants with the idol-worshiping Quraysh tribe or the Black stone & Kaaba worshiping Muhammad.

Prostrating & Praying for Deceased Prophesy

Genesis 17:2-3

2 and I shall make a great nation out of you and I shall bless you and I will make your name great; and prove yourself a blessing. 3 And I will bless those who bless you, and him that calls down evil upon you I shall curse, and all the families of the ground will certainly bless themselves by means of you."

They point to Genesis chapter 17, verses 2 and 3, and say that the great influential group prays or recites blessings (durood) for Ibrahim (Abraham). Christians and Jews do not do this, only Muslims pray for Ibrahim(Abraham)- they say.

In the Bible, there is no explicit instruction or example where anyone prays for a deceased prophet. The focus is more on honoring the legacy and teachings of prophets and learning from their lives. Prayer in the Bible is generally directed towards God for the living and for those in need.

Some references that clarify the role of prayer in relation to the dead include:

- Deuteronomy 18:9-14 : God strictly forbids any form of communication with the dead, including necromancy, which would encompass praying to or for the dead.

  "When you come into the land that the Lord your God is giving you, you must not learn to imitate the abhorrent practices of those nations. ... or who consults ghosts or spirits, or who seeks oracles from the dead."

- Hebrews 9:27 :

  "And just as it is appointed for mortals to die once, and after that the judgment..."

Luke 16:19-31

In the parable of the rich man and Lazarus, the rich man asks for mercy after his death, but the story emphasizes that after death, the fate of individuals is sealed and cannot be altered through prayer or requests:

> "26 Between you and us a great chasm has been fixed, so that those who might want to pass from here to you cannot do so, and no one can cross from there to us."

These passage emphasizes that after death comes judgment, implying that prayers are not for the dead but are for the living to align with God's will.

■Instances of Yahweh Making Abraham's Name Great

1. Genesis 12:2-3 - Yahweh promises to make Abraham's name great and to bless all nations through him, setting the foundation for Abraham's legacy.

2. Genesis 13:14-17 - Yahweh reiterates His promise to give Abraham's descendants the land as far as he can see, underscoring Abraham's significant role as the patriarch of Israel.

5. Genesis 18:18 - Yahweh declares that Abraham will "surely become a great and mighty nation," further elevating Abraham's reputation.

6. Genesis 22:15-18 - After Abraham's act of faith in offering Isaac, Yahweh promises to multiply his descendants and to bless all nations through him, enhancing Abraham's renown as an example of faith.

7. Genesis 25:8-9 - Abraham's burial by both Isaac and Ishmael shows his legacy of peace and respect, honored by his sons at the end of his life.

8. Genesis 26:4-5 - Yahweh renews the promise to Isaac that his father Abraham's descendants will bless all nations, continuing Abraham's legacy.

9. Genesis 28:13-14 - Yahweh appears to Jacob and reaffirms the Abrahamic covenant, promising to make his family great and a blessing, thereby magnifying Abraham's name through his descendants.

10. Genesis 49:8-12 - Jacob blesses Judah with leadership, securing a royal line through David and ultimately Jesus, all linked to Abraham's promise of greatness.

11. Exodus 6:2-8 - Yahweh reassures Moses by invoking the covenant made with Abraham, making Abraham's name central to Israel's identity and freedom.

12. Joshua 24:2-3 - Joshua recounts Yahweh's calling of Abraham, underscoring Abraham's role as the founder of Israel's journey in faith.

13. 1 Chronicles 16:16-18 - David acknowledges Yahweh's covenant with Abraham in his praise, lifting Abraham as the patriarch of Israel's faith and identity.

14. Psalm 105:9-10 - The psalmist celebrates Yahweh's everlasting covenant with Abraham, recognizing him as a central figure in Yahweh's plan for Israel.

15. Isaiah 41:8 - Yahweh calls Israel the "offspring of Abraham, my friend," further honoring Abraham's name as a spiritual father to the nation.

16. Isaiah 51:2 - Yahweh instructs Israel to "look to Abraham" as their forefather, cementing Abraham's importance as an example of faith and trust in Yahweh.

17. Ezekiel 33:24 - Israelites refer to themselves as descendants of Abraham, using his name to claim their identity and rights to the promised land.

18. Matthew 1:1 - The Gospel of Matthew opens with "the genealogy of Jesus Christ, son of David, son of Abraham," connecting Abraham's name to the Messiah and affirming his role in salvation history.

19. Luke 1:68-73 - Zechariah prophesies that Yahweh has remembered His promise to Abraham, acknowledging the covenant as pivotal to Israel's redemption.

20. Luke 3:34 - Luke's genealogy of Jesus traces back to Abraham, solidifying Abraham's name within the lineage of faith leading to the Messiah.

21. John 8:56-58 - Jesus proclaims that Abraham "rejoiced to see My day," emphasizing Abraham's role as a patriarch whose faith reached forward to the coming of the Messiah.

22. Acts 3:13 - Peter calls Yahweh the "God of Abraham" when preaching to the Jews, underscoring Abraham's revered status in the Jewish faith.

23. Acts 7:2-8 - In Stephen's speech, he recounts Abraham's story, affirming his status as the founding figure in Israel's history and Yahweh's covenant with him.

24. Romans 4:1-5 - Paul uses Abraham as an example of righteousness by faith, lifting him as a model for both Jews and Gentiles.

25. Romans 9:6-8 - Paul explains that true descendants of Abraham are those who live by faith, honoring Abraham's role as "father of many nations."

26. Galatians 3:6-9 - Paul declares that those with faith are "blessed along with Abraham, the man of faith," demonstrating Abraham's continued spiritual influence.

27. Galatians 3:29 - Believers in Christ are called “heirs according to the promise,” cementing Abraham’s legacy as the spiritual father of believers.

28. Hebrews 6:13-15 - Abraham’s patience and faith are cited as an example for believers, with Yahweh’s oath to him as proof of His faithfulness.

29. Hebrews 11:8-12 - The “Hall of Faith” recognizes Abraham’s obedience and faith, lauding him as a central figure in faith history.

30. James 2:21-24 - James calls Abraham “Yahweh’s friend,” underscoring his unique and honored status as a model of faith and action.

31. Jewish Prayers and Blessings - Jewish liturgies regularly refer to “the God of Abraham,” perpetuating Abraham’s name in worship and tradition.

32. Christian Eucharistic Prayers - In various Christian liturgies, Abraham is honored as a patriarch of faith, emphasizing his role in salvation history.

33. Modern Jewish Customs - Many Jewish families name their children after Abraham, further perpetuating his name and legacy within the Jewish community.

34. Messianic Prophecies - The Jewish and Christian teachings about the Messiah are traced to Abraham’s promise, showing Abraham’s name as foundational to the hope for a Savior.

■Instances of Those Who Blessed Abraham Being Blessed

1. Genesis 14:18-20 - Melchizedek, king of Salem and priest of God Most High, blesses Abraham, and in turn, Abraham gives him a tenth of everything. Melchizedek’s blessing aligns him with Yahweh’s favor and helps establish his legacy in Scripture.

2. Genesis 20:17-18 - After mistakenly taking Sarah, Abimelech returns her to Abraham and blesses him with gifts. Yahweh then heals Abimelech’s household, lifting a temporary infertility curse, demonstrating Yahweh’s blessings on those who honor Abraham.

3. Genesis 23:6 - The Hittites call Abraham a “mighty prince,” offering him the best land for Sarah’s burial. Their respectful treatment of Abraham earns them peace and fair dealings with him.

4. Genesis 24:31, 50-51 - Laban and Bethuel bless Abraham's servant as he seeks a wife for Isaac, showing goodwill toward Abraham's family. They are blessed through the marriage of Rebekah into Abraham's lineage.

5. Genesis 26:28-29 - King Abimelech, seeing Isaac's prosperity, seeks a treaty with him. By honoring Abraham's son, Abimelech secures peace for his people and a prosperous relationship.

6. Genesis 30:27 - Laban acknowledges that Yahweh has blessed him because of Jacob, Abraham's grandson. By keeping Jacob in his household, Laban experiences prosperity and increase in wealth.

7. Genesis 39:2-5 - Joseph, Abraham's great-grandson, brings blessings to Potiphar's household in Egypt. Potiphar recognizes Yahweh's blessing on all that Joseph does, and his house prospers because of it.

8. Genesis 41:39-40 - Pharaoh elevates Joseph to a position of power, entrusting him with Egypt's governance. This leads Egypt through a famine, blessing the nation and Pharaoh's rule for honoring Joseph, Abraham's descendant.

9. Genesis 47:7-10 - Jacob blesses Pharaoh upon their meeting, and Egypt continues to benefit from Jacob's descendants' presence during a time of famine.

10. Genesis 50:25-26 - The Israelites honor Joseph's request to carry his bones out of Egypt, ensuring a future link to the promised land. Their faithfulness to Joseph, a descendant of Abraham, maintains Yahweh's blessing over Israel.

11. Exodus 12:31-36 - The Egyptians give gold, silver, and clothing to the Israelites as they depart Egypt, fulfilling Yahweh's promise to bless those who bless Israel. Egypt's favor grants Israel resources for their journey.

12. Numbers 23:11-12 - Despite Balak's request to curse Israel, Balaam blesses them three times. Balaam's obedience brings Yahweh's approval, and Balaam benefits by maintaining Yahweh's favor.

13. Deuteronomy 7:12-13 - Yahweh promises blessings to Israel if they keep His commandments. Their obedience to the covenant brings prosperity and protection, in line with the blessing promise to Abraham.

14. 2 Chronicles 20:29-30 - Nations surrounding Judah are at peace with them due to Yahweh's blessing on Jehoshaphat, Abraham's descendant. His faithfulness brings prosperity to Judah and peaceful relations with neighboring lands.

15. Ezra 1:1-4 - King Cyrus of Persia supports Israel's return to their land and the rebuilding of the Temple. Yahweh blesses Persia as they bless Abraham's descendants.

16. Nehemiah 2:7-9 - King Artaxerxes supports Nehemiah's efforts to rebuild Jerusalem, granting him supplies and protection. The king's favor aligns with Yahweh's blessings for those who assist Israel.

17. Matthew 1:1-17 - The genealogy of Jesus through Abraham brings blessings to both Israel and the Gentiles, fulfilling the Abrahamic promise of a blessing to all nations through his line.

18. Matthew 8:11 - Jesus speaks of people from all nations joining "Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob" in the Kingdom of Heaven, illustrating the blessing of faith available to all who align with Abraham's legacy.

19. Luke 1:68-73 - Zechariah's song of praise blesses Yahweh for fulfilling His oath to Abraham, confirming the blessing of salvation extended to Israel.

20. Luke 13:16 - Jesus heals a woman and calls her a "daughter of Abraham," affirming that Yahweh's blessings of healing and compassion are available to his descendants.

21. Luke 19:9 - Jesus blesses Zacchaeus, calling him "a son of Abraham." Zacchaeus's repentance brings blessings, connecting him to Abraham's promise.

22. Acts 3:25-26 - Peter proclaims that the blessings given to Abraham extend through the Good News to all, showing the promise's fulfillment in the early church.

23. Acts 10:44-45 - The Gentiles receive the Holy Spirit through Peter's ministry, sharing in the blessing of the Abrahamic promise, as the Gospel spreads to the nations.

24. Romans 4:13 - Paul explains that Abraham's promise as "heir to the world" applies to all who live by faith, demonstrating the blessing's reach to both Jews and Gentiles.

25. Galatians 3:7 - Paul declares that “those who have faith are children of Abraham,” broadening the blessing to include all who follow Yahweh in faith.

26. Galatians 3:29 - Believers in Christ are “heirs according to the promise,” confirming that blessings promised to Abraham extend beyond Israel.

27. Hebrews 6:13-14 - Yahweh’s oath to Abraham to “bless and multiply” him is cited as a foundation of faith for believers, signifying the blessings on all who share his faith.

28. Jewish Tradition in Blessing Prayers - Many Jewish prayers reference Abraham, invoking blessings on those who follow his example, thus perpetuating his blessing.

■Instances of Those Who Cursed Abraham Being Cursed

1. Genesis 12:17 - Pharaoh takes Sarah into his palace, thinking she is Abraham’s sister, but Yahweh sends plagues upon Pharaoh’s household until he releases her, protecting Abraham and his family.

2. Genesis 19:24-25 - Sodom and Gomorrah are destroyed for their wickedness, which included hostility toward Abraham’s nephew, Lot. Yahweh’s judgment upon these cities reflects His protection over Abraham’s kin.

3. Genesis 20:3-18 - King Abimelech of Gerar takes Sarah, but Yahweh warns him in a dream, and his household is cursed with infertility until he returns her. This shows Yahweh’s immediate defense of Abraham’s family.

4. Genesis 27:29 - Isaac blesses Jacob (Abraham’s grandson) with the words, “May those who curse you be cursed.” This blessing, passed to Jacob, continues the protective covenant over Abraham’s descendants.

5. Genesis 31:24 - Yahweh warns Laban not to harm Jacob (Abraham’s grandson) as he leaves with his family. Laban’s ill intentions are restrained, showing Yahweh’s protective intervention.

6. Exodus 1:11-12 - The Egyptians oppress the Israelites (descendants of Abraham), but the more they are oppressed, the more they multiply. Pharaoh’s harshness backfires, showing Yahweh’s protection over His people.

7. Exodus 7-12 - The Egyptians refuse to release the Israelites, so Yahweh sends ten plagues, devastating Egypt and showcasing His curse upon them for cursing and enslaving Abraham's descendants.

8. Exodus 14:23-28 - The Egyptian army pursues Israel into the Red Sea, only to be drowned as the waters return. This demonstrates Yahweh's ultimate judgment upon those who harm His people.

9. Numbers 16:1-35 - Korah and his followers rebel against Moses and Aaron, descendants of Abraham, and are swallowed by the earth. This is Yahweh's curse upon those who oppose His chosen family line.

10. Numbers 21:5-7 - The Israelites' grumbling is met with fiery serpents. Though this affects the descendants directly, it's a reminder that rebellion even within Abraham's line brings Yahweh's discipline.

11. Numbers 22-24 - Balaam is hired to curse Israel, but Yahweh repeatedly stops him, even causing Balaam to bless Israel instead, thus thwarting curses intended for Abraham's descendants.

12. Joshua 6:26; 1 Kings 16:34 - Joshua curses anyone who would rebuild Jericho. Centuries later, Hiel rebuilds it, suffering the deaths of his sons, showing Yahweh's continued defense of Israel's victories.

13. 2 Samuel 16:5-13; 19:18-23 - Shimei curses David (a descendant of Abraham), but David is later vindicated and Shimei is punished, demonstrating Yahweh's protection over David's line.

14. 2 Kings 2:23-24 - Elisha (descendant of Abraham) is mocked by youths, and bears emerge to attack them. This event reinforces Yahweh's defense of Abraham's descendants, even against disrespect.

15. 2 Kings 19:35-37 - When the Assyrians threaten Judah, Yahweh sends an angel who strikes down 185,000 Assyrian soldiers, preserving His people and punishing their enemies.

16. Esther 3-9 - Haman's plot to annihilate the Jewish people (descendants of Abraham) results in his own downfall and death, showing Yahweh's protection over His people even in exile.

17. Psalm 105:15 - Yahweh's declaration "Do not touch My anointed ones; do My prophets no harm" is seen as a protective decree over Abraham's lineage, cautioning nations against cursing or harming them.

18. Isaiah 37:33-36 - Assyrian King Sennacherib threatens Jerusalem, but Yahweh sends an angel who decimates his forces, protecting the people of Israel from their enemies.

19. Jeremiah 25:15-29 - Yahweh declares judgment upon Babylon and other nations for their hostility toward Israel, reinforcing His promise to curse those who curse Abraham's descendants.

20. Joel 3:1-21 - Yahweh promises to judge nations that harmed Israel, declaring retribution on those who have oppressed His people.

21. Obadiah 1:10-15 - The nation of Edom faces ruin for mistreating Judah, fulfilling the covenant curse upon those who oppose Abraham's family.

22. Ezekiel 25-32 - Yahweh pronounces judgments on nations like Ammon, Moab, and Tyre for their antagonism toward Israel, showing His continued curse on those who curse Abraham's descendants.

23. Zechariah 2:8 - Yahweh says, "He who touches you touches the apple of My eye," indicating His protective commitment to Israel and judgment on those who harm them.

24. Zechariah 12:3 - Yahweh warns that all who come against Jerusalem will be injured, reinforcing His curse on those who oppose His people.

25. Matthew 27:25 - The crowd calls down a curse, saying, "His blood be on us and on our children!" Many see this as indicative of judgment that came upon Jerusalem in 70 CE.

26. Acts 5:1-11 - Ananias and Sapphira's deceit against the early church (descendants of Abraham by faith) results in their deaths, showing Yahweh's protection over His spiritual descendants.

27. Revelation 12:13-17 - The dragon's attack on Israel is thwarted as Yahweh provides a place of safety, symbolizing His ongoing protection over Abraham's descendants.

28. Jewish Expulsions in Medieval Europe - Many Jewish historians view expulsions and persecutions as cycles where nations that cursed Israel suffered declines or internal unrest, interpreted as divine retribution.

29. World War II and the Holocaust - Post-Holocaust reflections have led some to believe that nations involved in persecuting Jews faced subsequent social, political, or economic consequences, viewed as the fulfillment of Yahweh's protective covenant.

30. Modern Anti-Semitism - Various incidents of curses or harms against Jewish communities often lead to condemnation or crisis, seen as part of Yahweh's continued defense of Abraham's lineage.

But in Genesis 17:2-3, it says that Abraham fell face down, and Yahweh (יְהוָה, YHWH - Hebrew pronunciation) continued speaking to him. There's nothing more said beyond this.

Muslims try to imply that they also prostrate (sujood) to Allah, and they also pray for Ibrahim (Abraham). But, there's no mention of that here. Abraham fell face down, but that doesn't mean that everyone on earth has to do the same. Yahweh (Jehovah) of the Bible did not command that or a specific direction.

The issue is that Muslims want to enforce their own rules, or whatever is written in their Quran and Hadiths, on everyone. There are a few instances in the Bible where individuals prostrated before Yahweh, but it's not something that everyone does. And there is no command in the Bible that says everyone must prostrate or bow down in this manner. Nor does the Bible say that everyone must follow this specific act.

For example, just like Abraham,

- Joseph bowing before his father:
- Genesis 48:12 :

"Then Joseph removed them from his father's knees, and he bowed himself with his face to the earth."

- Elijah prostrating before Yahweh:
- 1 Kings 18:42 :

"So Ahab went up to eat and to drink. Elijah went up to the top of Carmel; there he bowed himself down upon the earth and put his face between his knees."

- King Solomon kneeling in prayer:
- 1 Kings 8:54 :

"Now when Solomon finished offering all this prayer and this plea to the Lord, he arose from facing the altar of the Lord, where he had knelt with hands outstretched toward heaven."

- Daniel kneeling in prayer three times a day:
- Daniel 6:10 :

  "Although Daniel knew that the document had been signed, he continued to go to his house, which had windows in its upper room open toward Jerusalem, and to get down on his knees three times a day to pray to his God and praise him, just as he had done previously."

- Jesus praying while kneeling:
- Luke 22:41 :

  "Then he withdrew from them about a stone's throw, knelt down, and prayed..."

So, we can understand that these individuals didn't follow a specific posture. It wasn't that Yahweh commanded them to pray in a certain way, and that's why they did it. That's not the case. Whether it's the prophet Elijah, King Solomon, or Jesus, each prayed to Yahweh in their own way. Each one independently showed respect and prayed in their own manner. The God of the Bible never accused anyone for doing so.
However, this is not like Muhammad, where one must face Mecca. From ancient times, idol worshipers always prostrated before their idols. Muhammad transferred this same practice from the idol-worshiping religion into his new religion, Islam. In other words, Muhammad took the practices of idol worship that he observed during his childhood and incorporated them into Islam.
So, you can understand now that Muslims like Abraham only for their own interests. To prove that Islam is an Abrahamic religion, they pray for Abraham. In reality, Muslims worship the Kaaba and the eight black stone pieces.

Wild Ass Having Hand Against Everyone Prophesy

■Genesis 17:20

20 As for Ishmael, I have heard you; I will bless him and make him fruitful and exceedingly numerous; he shall be the father of twelve princes, and I will make him a great nation.

■Genesis 21:13-20

13 But I will make a nation of the son of the slave woman also, because he is your offspring.
14 So Abraham rose early in the morning, and took bread and a skin of water, and gave it to Hagar, putting it on her shoulder, along with the child, and sent her away. And she departed and wandered about in the wilderness of Beer-sheba.

15 When the water in the skin was gone, she cast the child under one of the bushes.
16 Then she went and sat down opposite him, a good way off, about the distance of a bowshot; for she said, “Do not let me look on the death of the child.” And as she sat opposite him, she lifted up her voice and wept.

17 And God heard the voice of the boy; and the angel of God called to Hagar from heaven and said to her, “What troubles you, Hagar? Do not be afraid; for God has heard the voice of the boy where he is.

18 Come, lift up the boy and hold him fast with your hand, for I will make a great nation of him.”

19 Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. She went and filled the skin with water, and gave the boy a drink.

20 God was with the boy, and he grew up; he lived in the wilderness and became an expert with the bow.

1 And when Abram was ninety years old and nine, the LORD appeared to Abram, and said unto him: 'I am God Almighty; walk before Me, and be thou wholehearted.

It is claimed that a great nation will come from Ishmael and that’s Muslims. An angel tells Hagar that God will make Ishmael a great nation. They argue that if Muhammad and the Muslim nation are excluded, then this prophecy would be false.

Muslims further claim that Christians say Muhammad is a false prophet and did not descend from Abraham. But if that were true, this prophecy would be false, because there wouldn't be a single Muslim who isn't descended from Ishmael.

This is the claim of Muslims. To understand this part of the Bible, you need to read from an earlier point. Let's first examine which God is speaking in chapter 17. Look at the reference. The name Jehovah is there. This means the God of the Bible, Jehovah, is speaking to Abraham, not the God of Mecca- Allah. Let's first look at Genesis chapter 17, verses 17 and 18. Here, it says that Abraham thought to himself that both he and Sarah were too old to have children. Then Abraham said to Jehovah God, asking that Ishmael may live before Him. Yes, this was Abraham’s request to Jehovah. So, Jehovah agreed to do something for Ishmael. But it’s not that the God of the Bible, Jehovah, Himself told Abraham that He would bring a prophet from Ishmael. No, that was not said.

The truth is that at the time, Abraham found it hard to believe that his first wife Sarah could have a child. Abraham wondered how Sarah could give birth, as she was already ninety years old.

Now let’s look at the most important part, which Muslims ignore. In verse 19, Jehovah says, “Sarah will indeed bear a son, and his name will be Isaac.” And the God of the Bible, Jehovah, would establish an everlasting covenant with Isaac and his future descendants.

Here, we clearly understand that Jehovah told Abraham what He would do. The God of the Bible, Jehovah, would establish His everlasting covenant with Isaac alone.

After Jehovah made this promise to Abraham, in verse 20, Jehovah gave Abraham assurance about Ishmael, saying that Ishmael’s descendants would also be made great by the God of the Bible, Jehovah. Twelve princes would come from Ishmael, and his nation would become large.

But note that it’s only twelve princes who would come from his lineage, nothing more. No matter how large Ishmael’s nation becomes, Jehovah would not give him more than twelve princes. This implies that Ishmael’s lineage has a limit.

The "twelve princes" or "twelve rulers" refer to the twelve sons of Ishmael, who are listed in Genesis 25:12-16. These sons became the leaders or princes of their own tribes, fulfilling God's promise to make Ishmael the father of a great nation. The twelve sons (princes) of Ishmael are:

1. Nebaioth
2. Kedar

3. Adbeel
4. Mibsam
5. Mishma
6. Dumah
7. Massa
8. Hadad
9. Tema
10. Jetur
11. Naphish
12. Kedemah

However, Muslims skip over the next verse, verse 21. Here it says that finally or ultimately, Jehovah would establish His covenant with Isaac. No matter how large Ishmael's nation becomes, it wouldn't matter. Jehovah would still make His covenant with Isaac. This is the final decision.

So, we can now clearly understand that while Jehovah would make Ishmael a great nation, this doesn't mean that Jehovah would bring a prophet from Mecca. The God of the Bible, Jehovah, never said anywhere that He would use Ishmael's lineage to bring a stone-worshipping idolater from the Quraysh tribe of Mecca, such as Muhammad, as a prophet. Jehovah never said that.

Also, note that Jehovah blessed Ishmael with only twelve princes. Were those twelve princes immortal? According to the Bible, Ishmael lived for 137 years (Genesis 25:17), and if we assume that his twelve sons lived another hundred years after Ishmael died, they would have all passed away within around 200 years. So, how did Muhammad come from any of Ishmael's sons, given that they all died long ago?

Furthermore, the Israelites kept genealogies, but the descendants of Ishmael did not. Similarly, the Quraysh tribe didn't maintain genealogies either. These kinds of people might remember the names of their ancestors from a few generations back, but that was up to them. As a nation, there is no detailed description of the descendants of Ishmael.

For this reason, you will find that neither the complete Qur'an nor any other versions, like Hafs or Warsh, contain any genealogies. There's no accurate description in the Qur'an of where Ishmael traveled. In the Qur'an, there's no detailed account of how Ishmael's twelve sons ruled or where they ruled. You won't find any descriptions of how those twelve sons conducted trade or whom they married, either in the Qur'an or in any historical records.

When the people of the Quraysh tribe and the caliphs were compiling the complete Qur'an, these things didn't cross their minds. They thought they could steal some stories from the Bible to create a Qur'an and then establish a new religion, Islam, with it. They assumed there wouldn't be any problems. But it didn't turn out that way.

On the other hand, think about this: in Islam, even Allah did not know that Muhammad would descend from Ishmael. Since Allah lacked this knowledge, He could not provide a complete genealogy of Ishmael in the Quran. This suggests that Allah lacked omniscience.

The issue arose many years after Muhammad's death, when Jewish and Christian critics began questioning his lineage. In response, some Muslim Hadith authors crafted fabricated stories, claiming Ishmael married a second wife from the Arab Banu Jurhum tribe, though the wife's name is inconsistently reported—some say Aisha, others say Fatima.

I'll show you how various Hadiths contradict one another on this issue, all of which can be found on Google, including some in Bukhari's collection. The contradictions reveal these are man-made stories. Bukhari himself wrote these Hadiths about three hundred years after Muhammad's death. How did he obtain such stories? These Hadiths claim that Ishmael divorced his first wife and later married a woman from the Jurhum tribe.

…….She saw an angel at the place of Zamzam, digging the earth with his heel (or his wing), till water flowed from that place. She started to make something like a basin around it, using her hand in this way, and started filling her water-skin with water with her hands, and the water was flowing out after she had scooped some of it." The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "May Allah bestow Mercy on Ishmael's mother! Had she let the Zamzam (flow without trying to control it) (or had she not scooped from that water) (to fill her water-skin), Zamzam would have been a stream flowing on the surface of the earth." The Prophet (ﷺ) further added, "Then she drank (water) and suckled her child. The angel said to her, 'Don't be afraid of being neglected, for this is the House of Allah which will be built by this boy and his father, and Allah never neglects His people.' The House (i.e. Ka`ba) at that time was on a high place resembling a hillock, and when torrents came, they flowed to its right and left. She lived in that way till some people from the tribe of Jurhum or a family from Jurhum passed by her and her child, as they (i.e. the Jurhum people) were coming through the way of Kada'. They landed in the lower part of Mecca where they saw a bird that had the habit of flying around water and not leaving it. They said, 'This bird must be flying around water, though we know that there is no water in this valley.' They sent one or two messengers who discovered the source of water, and returned to inform them of the water. So, they all came (towards the water)." The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "Ishmael's mother was sitting near the water. They asked her, 'Do you allow us to stay with you?" She replied, 'Yes, but you will have no right to possess the water.' They agreed to that." The Prophet (ﷺ) further said, "Ishmael's mother was pleased with the whole situation as she used to love to enjoy the company of the people. So, they settled there, and later on they sent for their families who came and settled with them so that some families became permanent residents there. The child (i.e. Ishmael) grew up and learnt Arabic from them and (his virtues) caused them to love and admire him as he grew up, and when he reached the age of puberty they made him marry a woman from amongst them. After Ishmael's mother had died, Abraham came after Ishmael's marriage in order to see his family that he had left before, but he did not find Ishmael there. When he asked Ishmael's wife about him, she replied, 'He has gone in search of our livelihood.' Then he asked her about their way of living and their condition, and she replied, 'We are living in misery; we are living in hardship and destitution,' complaining to him. He said, 'When your husband returns, convey my salutation to him and tell him to change the threshold of the gate (of his house).' When Ishmael came, he seemed to have felt something unusual, so he asked his wife, 'Has anyone visited you?' She replied, 'Yes, an old man of so-and-so description came and asked me about you and I informed him, and he asked about our state of living, and I told him that we were living in a hardship and poverty.' On that Ishmael said, 'Did he advise you anything?' She replied, 'Yes, he told me to convey his salutation to you and to tell you to change the threshold of your gate.' Ishmael said, 'It was my father, and he has ordered me to divorce you. Go back to your family.' So, Ishmael divorced her and married another woman from amongst them (i.e. Jurhum). …..…

…… Abraham said, 'O Ishmael! Allah has given me an order.' Ishmael said, 'Do what your Lord has ordered you to do.' Abraham asked, 'Will you help me?' Ishmael said, 'I will help you.' Abraham said, Allah has ordered me to build a house here,' pointing to a hillock higher than the land surrounding it." The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "Then they raised the foundations of the House

(i.e. the Ka`ba). Ishmael brought the stones and Abraham was building, and when the walls became high, Ishmael brought this stone and put it for Abraham who stood over it and carried on building, while Ishmael was handing him the stones, and both of them were saying, 'O our Lord! Accept (this service) from us, Verily, You are the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing.' The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "Then both of them went on building and going round the Ka`ba saying: O our Lord ! Accept (this service) from us, Verily, You are the All-Hearing, the All-Knowing."

Muslims also claim that Ishmael learned Arabic and that the Arab people descended from his second wife. However, this poses a problem. If Ishmael married an Arab woman, this would imply Arabs existed long before him—otherwise, how did he find an Arab bride?

Furthermore, Ishmael's father, Abraham, was Hebrew, and his mother was Egyptian. This raises the question: which nation would Ishmael belong to? Would his children by his Arab wife be considered Hebrew or Arab?

According to the Bible and historical accounts, Ishmael's descendants eventually intermingled with nearby tribes. For instance, passages depict Midianites and Ishmaelites as merged groups, as seen in Judges 8. There, Israel is said to have fought Midian, but verse 24 refers to the enemies as Ishmaelites, indicating a blending of the two groups, who collectively became adversaries of Israel.

Jacob's eldest son, Esau, even married Mahalat, the sister of Nebaioth, an Ishmaelite, as noted in Genesis 28:9. This again shows Ishmael's descendants intermingled with surrounding tribes, as historical accounts support.

What can we conclude? First, there's no strong evidence that Muhammad descended from Ishmael, as Ishmael's lineage merged with various other nations, leaving no clear lineage. Thus, it's inaccurate to claim that Muhammad descended from Ishmael since the origins of the Quraysh tribe are not well-documented.

A second, important point is that the God of the Bible, Jehovah, would not send a prophet from Ishmael's lineage, which is made clear in scripture. In Genesis 25, we read that Abraham took another wife, Keturah, and gave everything to Isaac while sending other children away from him. After Abraham's death, Jehovah blessed Isaac, signifying that Isaac alone was chosen.

Genesis 25:1 — Abraham took another wife, named Keturah. Genesis 25:5-6 — Abraham gave all he had to Isaac and sent the sons of his concubines away from Isaac to the eastern country.

Genesis 25:11 — After Abraham’s death, God blessed Isaac, who settled near Beer-lahai-roi.

The crucial point here is that the Meccan god Allah Hubal made no promises to Ishmael or Abraham, unlike Jehovah, who blessed only Isaac.

Remember, Jehovah agreed to make Ishmael into a great nation to satisfy Abraham, but even at Ishmael’s birth, Jehovah foretold that he would grow up to be a “wild donkey of a man” (Genesis 16:11-12).

Genesis 16:11-12 — The Lord’s angel said to her, “You are now pregnant and will give birth to a son. You shall name him Ishmael, for the Lord has heard of your misery. He will be a wild donkey of a man; his hand will be against everyone, and everyone’s hand against him, and he will live in hostility toward all his brothers.”

But Ishmael’s this character perfectly fits with Arabs and Muslim Ummah’s claim.

From this, it’s clear that Jehovah would not use Ishmael, his descendants, or his nation for His purposes. Additionally, there’s no firm or substantial basis for claiming that Muhammad descended from Ishmael.

These accounts are based on people’s assumptions and the fabricated Hadiths about Ishmael by some Muslims. It is evident that Muslims' claims regarding Ishmael are baseless.

Occupying Land Prophesy

Genesis 15:18: On that day, the Lord (YHWH, יְהוָה) made a covenant with Abram, saying, “To your descendants, I give this land, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the Euphrates River.”

Now, we will look at another claim often made by Muslims. It’s astonishing how some of them distort the scriptures of other religions. Without hearing what they say, you might not even believe it. Now, I’ll explain what they argue. As I have said before, Muhammad didn’t know much about the Bible, nor did he understand it. He couldn’t point to anything in the Bible of his time to prove he was a prophet. Yet today’s Muslims are quite wise; even without Bible, they believe Islam would be just fine. Contemporary preachers seem to be proving that Muhammad himself isn’t essential in Islam.

■Detailed Breakdown

1. The Covenant Relationship:

- “The Lord made a covenant with Abram”: The term "covenant" (Hebrew: berith, בְּרִית) signifies a solemn agreement, similar to a binding contract. In this case, it is a one-sided covenant in which God takes on all responsibilities without requiring Abram to fulfill any conditions in return.
- Covenant Ritual: Earlier in Genesis 15, God instructs Abram to prepare a sacrifice by cutting animals in half. Abram then falls into a deep sleep, and in a vision, he sees a “smoking fire pot” and “flaming torch” (symbolic of God's presence) passing between the divided animals, signifying that God alone is responsible for fulfilling this promise (Genesis 15:17). This was a customary way of sealing covenants in the ancient Near East.

2. To Whom the Land is Promised:

- “To your descendants”: The Hebrew word zera (זֶרַע) meaning “offspring” or “seed” refers to Abram’s descendants. At this point, Abram has no children, but God promises him countless offspring (Genesis 15:5). This is later understood to be Isaac and Jacob’s descendants, ultimately the nation of Israel.

3. Extent of the Promised Land:

- “From the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Euphrates”: This description marks the boundaries of the land God promised.
    - River of Egypt: The smaller river at Egypt's northeastern border, Wadi el-Arish.
    - The Euphrates: A major river in the ancient Near East that runs through what is now modern-day Iraq and Syria.
- Implied Territory: This extensive territory encompasses parts of what are today multiple Middle Eastern countries, covering a large area that goes beyond modern Israel. This is often referred to as the “Promised Land” for the descendants of Abraham through Isaac and Jacob.

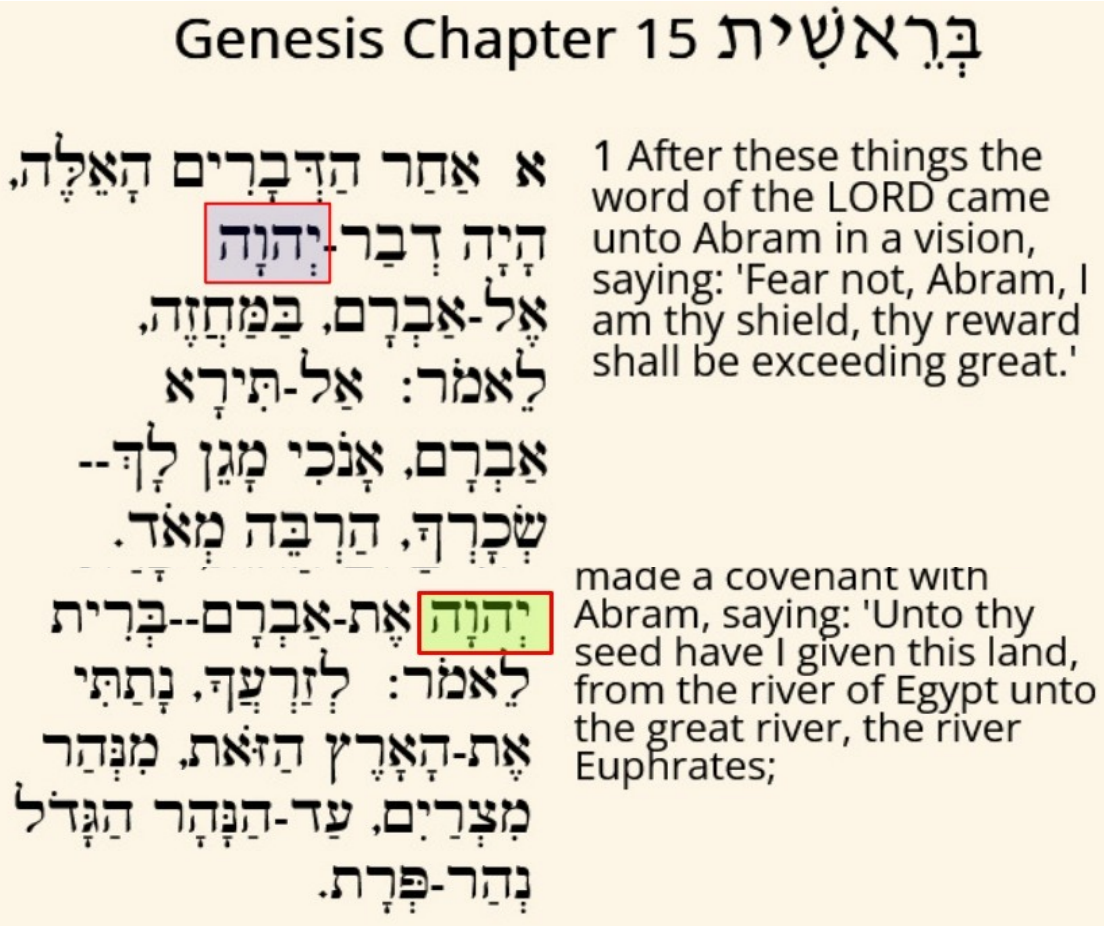
4. Duration and Conditions of the Promise:

- For How Long? The promise itself is perpetual; God’s covenant with Abraham and his descendants is unconditional and long-lasting. The verse doesn’t specify a time limit, implying that this promise of land is an eternal inheritance.

- Conditions of Occupancy: Though the land is promised to Abram's descendants, later passages in the Torah (specifically in Deuteronomy and Joshua) reveal that retaining control over the land is contingent upon their obedience to God's laws. If they stray, they are warned of exile (as seen in the Babylonian and Assyrian captivities).

Muslims often use Genesis 15:18 to claim that the "great nation" will control the land between the river of Egypt and Euphrates rivers. They argue that Muslims currently control or occupy this territory, whereas Jews or Christians have never fully taken it. King David did briefly control the Euphrates, but it was later seized by others.

So, let's closely examine what this verse actually says. A careful reading reveals exactly what the Bible's God, Jehovah (YHWH, יְהוָה), was promising Abraham. Notice that this passage does not mention Ishmael or the Muslim people. And we know that the descendants will come from Isaac, not Ishmael. There's also no instruction here about conquering rivers or territories.



Genesis Chapter 15 בְּרֵאשִׁית

1 After these things the word of the LORD came unto Abram in a vision, saying: 'Fear not, Abram, I am thy shield, thy reward shall be exceeding great.'
made a covenant with Abram, saying: 'Unto thy seed have I given this land, from the river of Egypt unto the great river, the river Euphrates;

Let's now look at the Hebrew Bible. Here, you'll see the name of Jehovah (YHWH, יְהוָה) explicitly. I'm showing this so that there's no doubt. In some English Bibles, you'll also find this name, LORD or Jehovah. I've included a Hebrew translation here to help clarify the relationship between Jehovah and Abraham. Abraham neither knew nor worshipped the Allah of Mecca.

Despite this, Muslims may argue that Abraham was told by Allah that his descendants (Muslims) would control the land between the river of Egypt and the Euphrates. To address this, I'll show you another command from Jehovah in the Bible. This will help clarify who Jehovah promised this land to and who would ultimately inherit it.

To understand the extent of the promised land, look at what Jehovah said. For instance, you can read Numbers, chapter 34, verses 1–12, where Jehovah tells Moses about the boundaries of Israel's new land.

■Breakdown of the verses:

I. Verses 1–2: God speaks to Moses, commanding him to give the Israelites these instructions. He tells them that once they enter Canaan, it will be divided among the tribes as their inheritance.

II. Verses 3–5: The southern boundary is described. It starts from the wilderness of Zin along the border of Edom and extends to the eastern side of the Salt Sea (Dead Sea). From there, it moves south of the ascent of Akrabbim, goes to Zin, and extends to Kadesh-barnea, then to Hazar-addar and to Azmon. The boundary turns from Azmon to the Brook of Egypt (likely the Wadi El-Arish) and ends at the Mediterranean Sea.

III. Verses 6: The western boundary is the coastline of the Great Sea, referring to the Mediterranean Sea.

IV. Verses 7–9: The northern boundary starts at the Mediterranean Sea and goes to Mount Hor (not to be confused with the other Mount Hor where Aaron died). It then stretches to Lebo-hamath, Zedad, and continues to Ziphron and Hazar-enan.

V. Verses 10–12: The eastern boundary runs from Hazar-enan to Shepham, then descends to Riblah on the east side of Ain. It goes down along the eastern side of the Sea of Chinnereth (the Sea of Galilee), and further along the Jordan River, ending at the Salt Sea (Dead Sea).

This detailed description outlines the specific land the Israelites will inherit, forming a covenant promise.

Notice here that Jehovah instructed Moses to tell the children of Israel about the specific boundaries of their new land. This is directly from the Bible.

Was Moses standing in front of the decaying black pebbles of Mecca?

From this, we can clearly see that the promise Jehovah made to Abraham in Genesis 15:18 was fulfilled through the nation of Israel. To associate this promise with Muslims is simply foolish and ignorant.

One thing we must understand is that Jehovah did not instruct Abraham's descendants through Isaac or Jacob to conquer the whole world or even all territories. Jehovah did not give Jacob the kind of conquest mandate that Muslims later claimed for themselves.

Now Muslims are trying to establish their violent Islam as an Abrahamic religion. To do so, they manipulate Bible verses to present Islam as if it has Abrahamic roots.

So how did Muslims take the Euphrates? Again, the answer is simple: according to history, Muslims seized control of the area between the Nile and the Euphrates long after Muhammad's death by poisoning. Many different nations and religions inhabited the area. Were they all descendants of Ishmael? No, not at all. Muslims conquered, killed, and oppressed them, forcing those who survived to convert to Islam out of fear for their lives. Since then, their descendants have practiced Islam.

Now, the question arises, did Israel actually take or maintain control of the entire promised land? To understand, we need to look at Jehovah's terms for Israel. You can read Deuteronomy 11:16–28 for this.

Deuteronomy 11:16–28

16 Take care, or you will be seduced into turning away, serving other gods and worshiping them,
17 for then the anger of the Lord (YHWH in Hebrew, pronounced Yahweh) will be kindled against you, and he will shut up the heavens, so that there will be no rain, and the land will yield no fruit; then you will perish quickly from the good land that the Lord is giving you.

18 You shall put these words of mine in your heart and soul, and you shall bind them as a sign on your hand, and fix them as an emblem on your forehead.
19 Teach them to your children, talking about them when you are at home and when you are away, when you lie down and when you rise.
20 Write them on the doorposts of your house and on your gates, 21 so that your days and the days of your children may be multiplied in the land that the Lord swore to your ancestors to give them, as long as the heavens are above the earth.

22 If you will diligently observe this entire commandment that I am commanding you, loving the Lord your God, walking in all his ways, and holding fast to him,
23 then the Lord will drive out all these nations before you, and you will dispossess nations larger and mightier than yourselves.
24 Every place on which you set foot shall be yours; your territory shall extend from the wilderness to the Lebanon and from the River, the river Euphrates, to the Western Sea.
25 No one will be able to stand against you; the Lord your God will put the fear and dread of you on all the land on which you set foot, as he promised you.

26 See, I am setting before you today a blessing and a curse:
27 the blessing, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your God that I am commanding you today,
28 and the curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the Lord your God but turn from the way that I am commanding you today, to follow other gods that you have not known.

In Deuteronomy 11:16–28, Moses continues to instruct the Israelites about the consequences of obedience and disobedience to God's commandments as they prepare to enter the Promised Land.

■Breakdown of the verses:

I. Verses 16–17: Moses warns the Israelites to be careful not to turn away from God (Yahweh, pronounced YHWH in Hebrew) and serve other gods. If they do, God's anger will be kindled, and He will shut up the heavens, causing no rain to fall and the ground to fail in producing crops. This would lead to their destruction from the land that God is giving them.

II. Verses 18–20: The people are commanded to internalize God's words, to bind them on their hearts and minds, and to teach them diligently to their children. They are also to write them on the doorposts of their houses and on their gates. This emphasizes the importance of keeping God's commandments constantly in their thoughts and in their daily lives.

III. Verses 21–22: By obeying God's commandments and loving Him, walking in His ways, and holding fast to Him, they will prolong their days in the land that God promised to their ancestors.

IV. Verses 23–25: God promises that if the Israelites are faithful to His commandments, He will drive out all the nations before them and give them dominion over a vast land—from the wilderness to Lebanon, and from the Euphrates River to the Mediterranean Sea. No one will be able to stand against them, and God will instill fear and dread of them throughout the land.

V. Verses 26–28: Moses presents a choice: a blessing or a curse. The blessing will come if they obey God's commandments, and the curse will follow if they disobey and turn away to follow other gods. This choice sets the tone for the conditional nature of God's covenant with Israel.

These verses emphasize the stark contrast between the rewards of obedience and the consequences of disobedience, highlighting the seriousness of Israel's covenant relationship with God.

In Deuteronomy 11:16–28, we learn that if Israel were obedient and followed all of Jehovah's commands diligently, they would have been able to fully possess and retain the promised land. But Israel did not remain faithful to Jehovah. Only King David was able to establish control from the Nile to the Euphrates because he was obedient to Jehovah. King David did not worship the decaying black stone of Mecca; therefore, he achieved success with Jehovah's support. Solomon was faithful early in life, but later turned to idol worship, so he could not retain control. Subsequent kings of Israel also failed to hold various territories, as Jehovah's blessings and support were not with those who did not follow him.

So, we can see that the claims made by Muslims are completely false and misleading. To establish Islam as an Abrahamic religion, they bring out selective and incorrect interpretations from the Bible.

Meccan Pagans Equally Blessed as Children of Israel Prophesy

■Genesis 16:12

"He shall be a wild ass of a man, with his hand against everyone, and everyone’s hand against him, and he shall live at odds with all his kin.”

In this verse, God is speaking about Ishmael, the son of Hagar and Abraham. Ishmael is described as a "wild ass of a man," symbolizing someone who will live a life of independence, but also conflict, especially with his kin.

■Genesis 25:18

"They settled from Havilah to Shur, which is opposite Egypt in the direction of Assyria; he settled down alongside all his people."

This verse describes the descendants of Ishmael, noting that they lived in a broad area stretching from Havilah to Shur, which is near Egypt. It suggests that Ishmael's people were spread out across this region, coexisting with the other nations.

Genesis 16:12 mentions Ishmael, the son of Abraham (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm), Strong's number G-251. In Genesis 25:18, it is stated that Ishmael's descendants are the brothers (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm) of the children of Israel, also referenced with Strong's number G-251. Muslims claim that distant relatives can be considered "brothers" (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm) in Hebrew.

Muslims point to Genesis 16:12, claiming that here the sons of Ishmael are referred to as brothers of the Israelites. The Hebrew word for "brothers" (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm) aligns with the Strong’s number G-251. Thus, they argue that God acknowledges a brotherly relationship between Ishmael and Israel, suggesting that a prophets (Muhammad) would come from Ishmael's lineage and both are blessed equally.

However, this is just a baseless argument used by Muslims. It’s as though someone who spends their day eating nonsense would come up with such logic. Why do I say this? Because you already know that in the Bible, God clearly told Abraham that the nation coming from his son Isaac would be His chosen people, and that Yahweh would bring prophets from Isaac’s lineage.

Therefore, it doesn't matter where Ishmael is, whether he's far or near—we don't need to concern ourselves with that. Yes, Ishmael is indeed Abraham's son, and thus related to the Israelites. But that's not a problem. Abraham had other children too because he married a woman named Keturah. So, those children are also brothers and sisters to Ishmael and Isaac. You can find it in Genesis 25:1-4. It says that Abraham had more children. So, the children from Abraham's wife Keturah are also brothers and sisters to the Israelites. There's no need to single out Ishmael here.

Genesis 25:1-4

1 Abraham took another wife, whose name was Keturah.

2 She bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah.

3 Jokshan became the father of Sheba and Dedan. The sons of Dedan were Asshurim, Letushim, and Leummim.

4 The sons of Midian were Ephah, Epher, Hanoch, Abida, and Eldaah. All these were the children of Keturah.

The reason is simple: all the children of Abraham's three wives would naturally be considered brothers and sisters to each other. However, the main point to remember is that the God of the Bible, Yahweh, clearly told Abraham that His covenant would be with Isaac. There is no evidence that the Quraysh/Meccans are descendants of Ishmael, were part of this covenant. Therefore, we can say that the Muslim claim is entirely false.

Picnic in Meccan Desert Prophesy

Genesis 21:20-21

20 And God continued to be with the boy, and he kept growing and dwelling in the wilderness; and he became an archer. 21 And he took up dwelling in the wilderness of Pa′ran, and his mother proceeded to take a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

We will look at another false claim made by Muslims. They refer to Genesis 21:21, claiming that it states Ishmael will dwell in the wilderness of Paran. They assert that this Paran is located in Mecca.

The reason for this claim is that if it can somehow be conveyed to people that the Paran where in Mecca and Ishmael lived around Kaaba, then the doubts about the fabricated stories or false history of Islam will be somewhat reduced. This way, the Kaaba can be presented adjacent to the well of Zamzam, associated with Ishmael and Hagar. The Kaaba can be portrayed as the house built by Ishmael and Abraham.

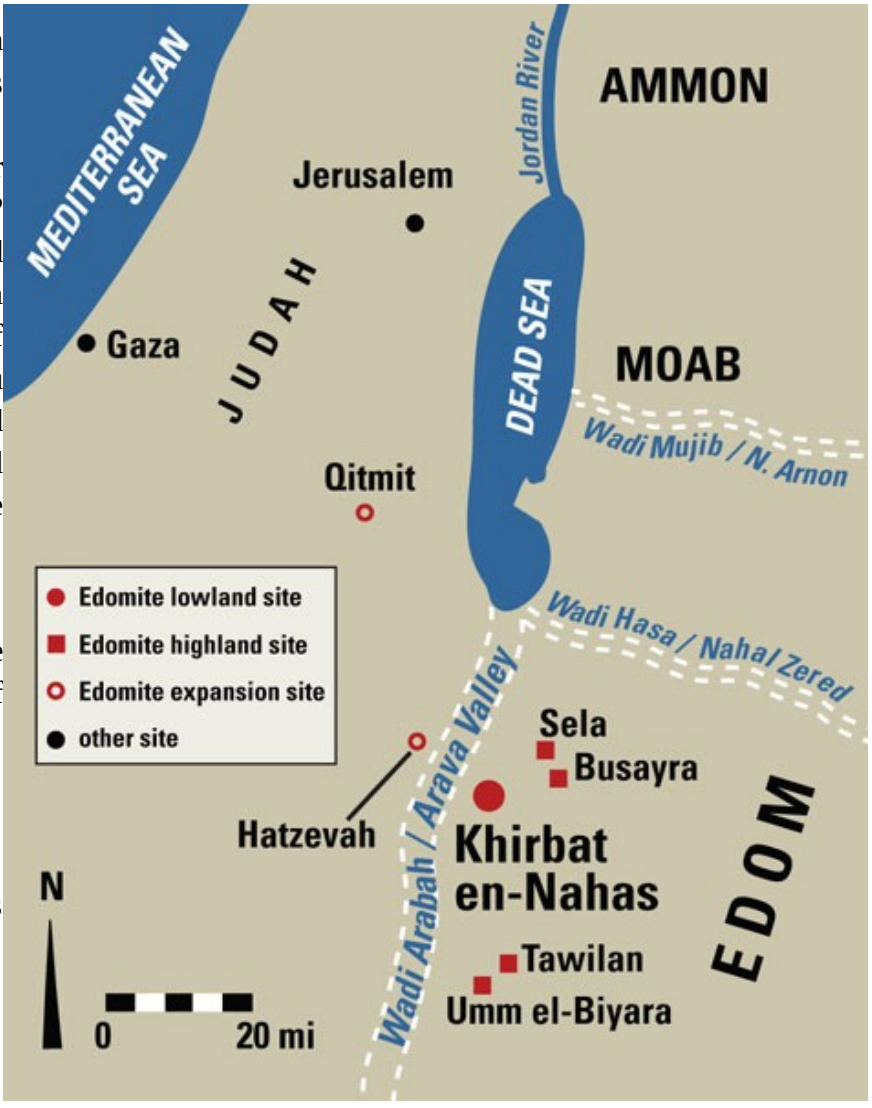
Genesis 21:19

"Then God opened her eyes, and she saw a well of water. She went, and filled the skin with water, and gave the boy a drink."

Now, the interesting thing is that in the complete Qur'an of Uthman and in all the Hafs or Warsh Qur'ans available in this world, you will find no mention of whether the Paran wilderness is in Mecca or elsewhere.



So the question is, where is this Paran wilderness or desert located? To understand this, the Qur'an will not be of any help. You will need to read the history and events from the Bible.

PARAN (פָּארָן, paran). The region of wilderness south of Israel and west of Edom (Genesis 21:21; Numbers 10:12; 12:16; 13:26; Deuteronomy 1:1; 1 Samuel 25:1).

Paran and Kadesh are often listed in parallel. For example, in Numbers 13:26 the Israelite spies return to “Paran, at Kadesh”. Deuteronomy 1:1 contrasts with Deuteronomy 1:2 by alternately using Paran and Kadesh, which suggests that the two names refer to the same location.

Deuteronomy 1:1-2

1 These are the words that Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan—in the wilderness, on the plain opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab. 2 By the way of Mount Seir, it takes eleven days to reach Kadesh-barnea from Horeb.

Numbers 13:26

"They came to Moses and Aaron and to all the congregation of the Israelites in the wilderness of Paran, at Kadesh; they brought back word to them and to all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land."

Genesis 21:21

"He lived in the wilderness of Paran, and his mother got a wife for him from the land of Egypt."

If Paran is in Mecca, a servant Hagar brought her son a wife from 100km sea rout from Egypt. With all her life's savings it won't be possible.

Numbers 10:12

"So they set out from the wilderness of Sinai, and the cloud settled down in the wilderness of Paran."

Since the Bible states that the nation of Israel went from Sinai to Paran, if Paran is Mecca, then the nation of Israel must had a tour in Meccan desert thousands of miles apart from their destination, probably for a picnic.

Numbers 12:16

"After that the people set out from Hazeroth, and camped in the wilderness of Paran."

We all know that the Israelites journeyed from Egypt to the wilderness of Sinai, which resembles a desert.

Numbers 33:17

17 "They set out from Kibroth-hattaavah and camped at Hazeroth."

Numbers 13:3

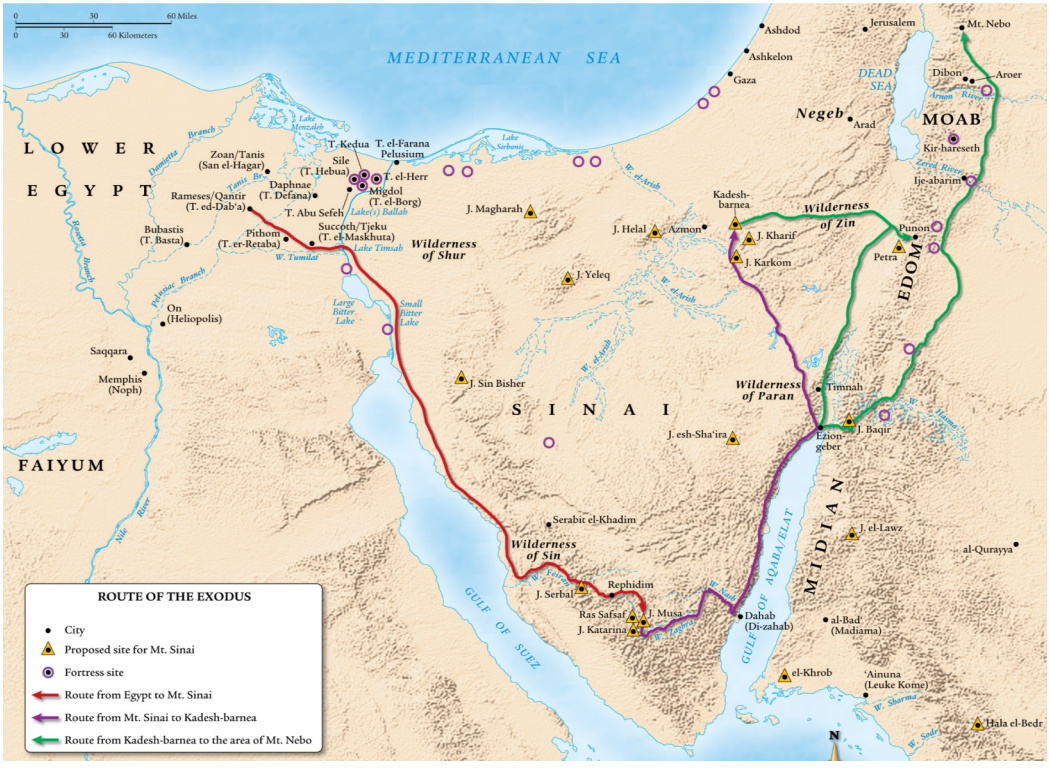
"So Moses sent them from the wilderness of Paran, according to the command of the Lord, all of them leading men among the Israelites."

Deuteronomy 1:1

"These are the words that Moses spoke to all Israel beyond the Jordan—in the wilderness, on the plain opposite Suph, between Paran and Tophel, Laban, Hazeroth, and Dizahab."

1 Samuel 25:1

"Now Samuel died, and all Israel assembled and mourned for him; they buried him at his home in Ramah. Then David got up and went down to the wilderness of Paran."



1 Kings 11:17-18

17 "Hadad fled to Egypt, along with some Edomites who were servants of his father. He was a young boy at that time.
18 They set out from Midian and came to Paran. They took people with them from Paran and came to Egypt, to Pharaoh king of Egypt, who gave him a house, assigned him an allowance of food, and gave him land."

Here, it says that they went from Midian to Paran, and from Paran to Egypt. Look at the map. I've marked the location of Midian. There was a route from Midian, through Paran, to Egypt. People traveled through Paran to reach Egypt, and the Israelites also traveled through Paran from Egypt.

If Paran was Mecca than it would have been set out from Paran and came to Midian and then went to Egypt.

Genesis 14:6

"and the Horites in their hill country of Seir as far as El-paran, on the edge of the wilderness."

Keep in mind that Paran, the wilderness, or desert is not a specific place or region. It is quite a large area. And it is not precisely known which specific location the ancient people referred to as the wilderness of Paran.

This is because the people of that time did not use modern maps like we do today; it was not possible. There were no signboards stating, "This is this area and that is that area." However, we find descriptions of Paran and its surrounding areas in several biblical accounts. By examining these descriptions, we can understand where the area of Paran might be located.

Now, take a good look at the map. In which direction is the promised land that God, known as Yahweh, has set for the Israelites? So, in which direction do you think the Israelites would travel? Will they head toward present-day Mecca, or will they go where the promised land lies?

Look at the map again. Muslims claim that Mecca is Paran, meaning that present-day Mecca was once called Paran. So, if the Israelites were to go to the promised land, in which direction would they go?

If the Muslim claim were true, the Israelites would have to travel thousands of miles through the desert to first reach Mecca, and then go back in the opposite direction to the promised land.

According to the Muslim claim, it seems as though the Israelites made a detour to Mecca-Paran for a sort of picnic, only to later head out again to the promised land. Is this a reasonable claim?

When the Israelites could have easily reached the promised land, why would they turn toward Mecca? Why would the God of the Bible take them to Mecca?

Actually, Muslims are the most deluded people on earth, which is why they entertain such absurd thoughts.

We will now examine some biblical history, along with other historical records. Based on the Bible and history, we can be certain that Sinai and Paran are adjacent. On the other hand, we know that the Israelites set out from Egypt.

First, let's place Egypt, Sinai, and Edom on the map. Take a look. Edom is an ancient country, with Mount Seir located next to it. The ancient city of Petra is situated here. To the west of Edom lies Wadi Araba.

Deuteronomy 33:2

2 "The Lord came from Sinai,
and dawned upon them from Seir;
he shone forth from Mount Paran.
With him were myriads of holy ones;
at his right, a host of his own."

Here, three places are mentioned: Sinai, then Seir, and Mount Paran. These three places are actually next to each other. Remember, where there is the wilderness of Paran, Mount Paran is also located. Look at the map. Here, Paran is situated to the south of Edom because we know the locations of Sinai and Edom.

Genesis 14:5-6

5 "In the fourteenth year, King Chedorlaomer and the kings who were with him came and subdued the Rephaim in Ashteroth-karnaim, the Zuzim in Ham, the Emim in Shaveh-kiriathaim,
6 and the Horites in their hill country of Seir as far as El-paran, on the edge of the wilderness."

This is an event from Abraham's time. Notice, El-Paran and Mount Seir are mentioned. El-Paran is a part of Paran wilderness. Look at the map. I've marked the location of El-Paran as identified by researchers.

Next, let’s examine what Thomas Artsruni says. Thomas Artsruni was an Armenian writer who wrote before his death in 887 CE. Artsruni tells us: "At that time, in a place of Petrea Arabia Pharan, named Makka - The Mecca - he showed himself to bandits, warriors and band chiefs, worshiping in a temple..."

According to Thomas Artsruni, the temple in the city of Petra was a place where many types of people worshipped. This city of Petra was also known as Mecca. Paran and Faran are the same place. So we understand that the city of Petra was once called Mecca. This Petra is located in present-day Jordan.

Now we understand clearly that according to the Bible and history, the wilderness of Paran was a region between Sinai, Edom, and Midian. And the Muslim claim is completely false.

Jewish Jew Executioner Prophesy

Genesis 49:10
"The scepter will not turn aside from Judah, neither the commander’s staff from between his feet, until Shiloh comes; and to him the obedience of the peoples will belong."

Claim: Shiloh is a prophet, which evangelical Bible scholars claim to be Muhammad, who is coming for the gentiles (non-Jews). Claim: This is why Muhammad gained power by expelling the Jews from Arabia.

Many people can make such claims after hearing 72 eternal virgins are waiting for them all day.

Muslims claim that when Jacob told his children, Shiloh will come and the Jews will have nothing left it meant Muhammad. Muhammad expelled the Jews from Arabia and gained power.

Let’s try to clarify this matter by looking at Genesis 49:10:

> "The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor the ruler’s staff from between his feet, until tribute comes to him; and the obedience of the peoples is his."

Look, it clearly says that the scepter will not depart from Judah. It then says, until Shiloh comes. So, the scepter will remain wherever Shiloh comes from. If the scepter stays in Judah, then Shiloh cannot be Muhammad, because Muhammad would have to be a descendant of Judah.

Also, notice that Jacob did not say that when Shiloh comes, the Jews will have nothing left. The blessing Jacob gave was enjoyed by the people of Israel as long as they obeyed Jehovah. But when Israel disobeyed, Jehovah punished them.

Now let’s look at the meaning of Shiloh. The word “Shiloh” means “He to whom it belongs.” So, the question is: Who has the right? Who is the person who can lawfully claim this right?

Muslims say it’s Muhammad. But Muslims cannot show any law or covenant for this. Who made a covenant with Muhammad’s descendants that he would be Shiloh?

On the other hand, Muhammad is not from the line of Jacob or Judah. Muhammad never followed Moses' law. He ate camel and did a lot of thing. Muhammad never knew Jehovah. Therefore, Muhammad can never be Shiloh.

So who is Shiloh, or the person to whom the right belongs? To understand this, we need to know what God’s purpose was. God chose David as the first king from the tribe of Judah.

This can be found in 1 Samuel, chapter 16, verses 1-13. In verse 12, Jehovah directs Samuel. And in verse 13, Samuel anoints David as per Jehovah’s command.

■1 Samuel 16:1-13

1. The Lord said to Samuel, “How long will you grieve over Saul? I have rejected him from being king over Israel. Fill your horn with oil and set out; I will send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have provided for myself a king among his sons.”
2. Samuel said, “How can I go? If Saul hears of it, he will kill me.” And the Lord said, “Take a heifer with you, and say, ‘I have come to sacrifice to the Lord.’
3. Invite Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will show you what you shall do; and you shall anoint for me the one whom I name to you.”
4. Samuel did what the Lord commanded and came to Bethlehem. The elders of the city came to meet him trembling and said, “Do you come peaceably?”
5. He said, “Peaceably; I have come to sacrifice to the Lord; sanctify yourselves and come with me to the sacrifice.” And he sanctified Jesse and his sons and invited them to the sacrifice.
6. When they came, he looked on Eliab and thought, “Surely the Lord’s anointed is now before the Lord.”
7. But the Lord said to Samuel, “Do not look on his appearance or on the height of his stature, because I have rejected him; for the Lord does not see as mortals see; they look on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart.”
8. Then Jesse called Abinadab and made him pass before Samuel. He said, “Neither has the Lord chosen this one.”
9. Jesse made seven of his sons pass before Samuel. And Samuel said to Jesse, “The Lord has not chosen any of these.”

10. Samuel said to Jesse, “Are all your sons here?” And he said, “There remains yet the youngest, but he is keeping the sheep.” And Samuel said to Jesse, “Send and bring him; for we will not sit down until he comes here.”

11. He sent and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and had beautiful eyes, and was handsome. The Lord said, “Rise and anoint him; for this is the one.”

12. Then Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the presence of his brothers; and the Spirit of the Lord came mightily upon David from that day forward. Samuel then set out and went to Ramah.

13. The word of the Lord came to Samuel, saying, “How long will you grieve over Saul? I have rejected him from being king over Israel. Fill your horn with oil and go; I will send you to Jesse the Bethlehemite, for I have provided for myself a king among his sons.”

Many years later, when David became king, Jehovah promised David that his royal lineage would last forever. Look at 2 Samuel 7:12-13. It says that after David’s death, Jehovah would make his son king, and his kingdom would last forever.

■2 Samuel 7:12-13

12. When your days are fulfilled and you lie down with your ancestors, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall come forth from your body, and I will establish his kingdom.

13. He shall build a house for my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom forever.

In this way, a royal dynasty began through David, where the kings were anointed with holy oil by the high priest. These kings were referred to as the Messiah (Anointed One). The kings of Israel ruled on behalf of Jehovah over Israel. Therefore, Judah’s kingdom represented God’s kingdom and was an aspect of Jehovah’s sovereignty.

Many centuries later, the angel Gabriel was sent to a virgin named Mary in the city of Nazareth, in the region of Galilee, in northern Palestine. You can find this in Luke 1:31-33. It says that Jehovah, the God of the Bible, will give Jesus the throne of David, and his kingdom will last forever, and his reign will have no end.

■Luke 1:31-33

31. And now, you will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you will name him Jesus.

32. He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Most High; and the Lord God will give to him the throne of his ancestor David.

33. He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of his kingdom there will be no end.

So, we understand that Jehovah, the God of the Bible, promised that Jesus would be the Messiah, the rightful heir. Since Jesus holds the right, he is Shiloh, because Jesus is a descendant of David.

Look at Galatians 4:4. It says that God sent his son under the law. What law? God's law. So it's clear that Jesus is the promised Messiah, certainly not Muhammad, because Muhammad was not under Jehovah's law.

> But when the fullness of time had come, God sent his Son, born of a woman, born under the law.

Muslims claim that Muhammad expelled the Jews from Arabia because Allah made him a prophet. But the truth is that the God of the Bible, Jehovah, never chose Muhammad as a prophet. Muhammad expelled the Jews from Arabia out of personal interest and hatred.

From various Islamic histories, we know that when Jews questioned Muhammad, he could never give a proper answer. Muhammad never proved himself to be a true prophet. Even the people of the pagan Quraysh tribe did not believe Muhammad was a prophet.

Therefore, Muhammad started the sacrifices of jihad and terrorism. First, Muhammad expelled the Jews from Arabia, then Christians. Jesus Christ is the rightful Shiloh, the one who has the right.

Psalm 89:3

3"I have concluded a covenant toward my chosen one; I have sworn to David my servant,

Revelation 5:5

5 But one of the elders says to me: "Stop weeping. Look! The Lion that is of the tribe of Judah, the root of David, has conquered so as to open the scroll and its seven seals."

Isiah 11:10

10And it must occur in that day that there will be the root of Jes′se that will be standing up as a signal for the peoples. To him even the nations will turn inquiringly, and his resting-place must become glorious.

Romans 15:12

12And again Isaiah says: “There will be the root of Jes′se, and there will be one arising to rule nations; on him nations will rest their hope.”

Numbers 24:17

I shall see him, but not now; I shall behold him, but not near. A star will certainly step forth out of Jacob, And a scepter will indeed rise out of Israel. And he will certainly break apart the temples of Mo′ab’s [head] And the cranium of all the sons of tumult of war.

A prophetic reference to a star that will rise out of Jacob, often associated with the Messianic promise.

■Micah 5:2

> "But you, O Bethlehem of Ephrathah, who are one of the little clans of Judah, from you shall come forth for me one who is to rule in Israel, whose origin is from of old, from ancient days."

Remark: This verse prophesies the birthplace of the future ruler, connecting it to the tribe of Judah. It emphasizes that the coming ruler, traditionally understood as the Messiah, will emerge from a seemingly insignificant town, Bethlehem, reinforcing the theme of humility in God's plans.

■Revelation 5:5

> "Then one of the elders said to me, 'Do not weep. See, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered, so that he can open the scroll and its seven seals.'"

Remark: This verse refers to Jesus as the "Lion of the tribe of Judah," symbolizing His royal authority and power. It affirms His role in fulfilling the Messianic prophecies and signifies His victory over sin and death, establishing Him as the rightful ruler.

■Hebrews 7:14

> "For it is evident that our Lord was descended from Judah, and in connection with that tribe Moses said nothing about priests."

Remark: This verse highlights the significance of Jesus' lineage from the tribe of Judah, which is important because it differentiates His priestly role from the Levitical priesthood. It affirms that Jesus fulfills the prophetic promise of a king and a priest, establishing a new covenant.

■Matthew 1:2-3

> "Abraham was the father of Isaac, and Isaac the father of Jacob, and Jacob the father of Judah and his brothers; Judah the father of Perez and Zerah by Tamar, and Perez the father of Hezron, and Hezron the father of Ram."

Remark: This passage provides the genealogy of Jesus, explicitly linking Him to Judah and, by extension, to David. It underscores the fulfillment of the Old Testament prophecies about the royal line from which the Messiah would come, establishing Jesus' legitimate claim to the throne of Israel.

■Messianic Prophecy

Genesis 49:10 serves as a significant prophetic statement concerning the coming Messiah, who would arise from the line of Judah. This is emphasized in the following way:

Remark: The verse foretells that the scepter will not depart from Judah until the arrival of the one to whom it belongs, often interpreted as the Messiah. This prophecy connects to God's covenant with Israel, highlighting His plan to establish a king who will bring salvation and reign over His people. It reinforces the hope of a future ruler who fulfills the divine promise of restoration and leadership.

■Royal Lineage

The phrase "the scepter shall not depart from Judah" indicates that Judah will be recognized as a royal tribe:

Remark: The "scepter" symbolizes authority and kingship, establishing Judah as the tribe from which kings would come. This royal lineage is further developed in the books of 1 Samuel and 2 Samuel, where the establishment of the monarchy in Israel is described, particularly through the anointing of David from the tribe of Judah. Additionally, the genealogies in the Gospels (especially in Matthew 1) trace Jesus’ lineage back to Judah and David, affirming His rightful claim to kingship and His fulfillment of the prophecies made in the Old Testament.

Deuteronomy

Purpose of the book of Deuteronomy

God of Bible never told Moses that He would bring a severe peacedealer named Muhammad from the Quraysh tribe as a prophet. God never told that Ishmael would be a prophet or that his descendants would be prophets either. Prophecy comes from God. Ordinary people cannot make prophecies. That's why false prophets can't make prophesy and do miracles.

Keep in mind that the Torah, Psalms (Zabur), and the Gospel are the books of Jehovah God. The Allah of Mecca, Hubal/Baal, never wrote or revealed the Torah, Psalms, or the Gospel. The Torah, Psalms, and the Gospel were written by inspiration of the Holly Spirit.

Now think, is there any evidence that Moses pray facing Mecca? Is there any evidence that Moses went to Mecca for Hajj, circulating 7 times, afterwards became bald, wearing a single robe garment without underwear, kissing and sucking black stone? Is there any evidence Moses offered sacrifices on Eid? Is there any evidence that Moses performed all infidel/polytheist sacrifice (jihad) after pagan holy month is over? Is there any evidence that Moses demanded life ransom tax (Jizya) from people of the former scripture? Is there any evidence that Moses robbed infidel caravan like of Quraysh? Muslims perform human sacrifices for their God, Allah, Hubal/Baal, saying Al-lah-u Akbar (The Lah is the biggest) before blowing up or beheading. Is there any evidence Moses did that? Is there any evidence anyone of the Bible did these and recommended for their followers to follow till judgment day?

Moses was a worshiper of Jehovah God and a member of the Hebrew nation. God told Moses to build a temple in the wilderness so that the people of Israel could worship Jehovah there.

Similarly, Abraham, the ancestor of Moses, worshipped Jehovah. Isaac, the son of Abraham, worshipped the God of the Bible, Jehovah. Likewise, Jacob and his descendants all worshipped Jehovah. Even when Jesus was on earth, the people of Israel worshipped Jehovah. Think about it: Jesus was a Jew. His parents and relatives were all members of the Jewish nation following Jewish customs.

For example, Moses was a member of the Levite tribe, the third son of Jacob. On the other hand, Jesus was a member of the tribe of Judah. Their ancestor was Jacob. Jacob's name was later changed to Israel. Jehovah gave Jacob the name Israel.

Jesus was ethnically a Hebrew. Jesus worshipped his father (God) in the temple in Jerusalem.

Remember, in the Quran of The Lah, there is no mention of Ishmael's genealogy anywhere. But how do Muslims falsely claim that Muhammad is a descendant of Ishmael?

Remember, there are thirty-two complete versions of the Quran in the world today. Not just 7 Ahruf. Muhammad didn't even could command to write it down, because Muhammad has already passed away after eating poison by the Jewish women who's family he murdered. All Muslims wealth are invested on war to get wealth and woman, but not a single written Quran. Whereas we have complete New Testament manuscript from 4rd century today. No Jesus' subsequent followers had sex slaves, did captive women sex, entertainment marriage of few hours (Nikah Mutah), polygamy. None waged war to die fast and reach to 72 eternal virgins in the river of wine. By the way Nikah means sex in Arabic, nothing called marriage in Islam.

Now, we need to understand what the book of Deuteronomy is, and for whom it was written. Muslims need to understand the purpose of the book of Deuteronomy, written by Moses, and to whom it was addressed.

The book of Deuteronomy is essentially Moses' second speech. Just before the people of Israel were about to enter the land of Canaan, Jehovah (יְהוָה, Yahwéh) instructed Moses to relay some important messages to all the Israelites. This address is what we now call Deuteronomy.

Let's look at Deuteronomy 1:3:

In the fortieth year, on the first day of the eleventh month, Moses spoke to the Israelites just as the Lord (Yahweh, יְהוָה) had commanded him to speak to them.

It says clearly that Moses spoke to the Israelites according to all that the Lord (Yahweh) had commanded him to tell them. Yes, the God of the Bible, Yahweh, instructed Moses on what to tell the Israelites.

If you refer to the interlinear Bible (https://biblehub.com/text/deuteronomy/1-3.htm), you will see the personal identification term of the God of the Bible clearly mentioned. Muhammad/Allah never introduced the Divine entity of Quran by the name "To Be" or "I AM" that is "YHWH" in Hebrew.

The Book of Deuteronomy, the fifth book of the Torah and the Old Testament, was written with several key purposes:

1. Reaffirmation of the Covenant: Deuteronomy serves to remind the Israelites of the covenant they made with God at Mount Sinai. It emphasizes the laws, commandments, and statutes that they must follow in order to remain in a proper relationship with God (Hebrew: YHWH, pronounced Yahweh).
2. Preparation for the Promised Land: The book is set just before the Israelites are about to enter the land of Canaan. Moses, the central figure, gives a series of speeches to prepare the people for life in the Promised Land, warning them of the dangers of disobedience and urging them to be faithful to God.
3. Recapitulation of the Law: Deuteronomy is essentially a "second law" (from the Greek Deuteronomion, meaning "second law"), in which Moses reiterates much of the legal code that was given earlier in the Torah. It serves as a summary and clarification of God's laws as they were presented in earlier books like Exodus and Leviticus.
4. Moses' Final Instructions and Farewell: The book records Moses' final words to the people before his death. He encourages them to remain faithful to God, outlines blessings for obedience, and warns of curses for disobedience.
5. Establishing Israel's Identity and Ethics: Deuteronomy helps to solidify the identity of the Israelites as God's chosen people and gives them ethical and moral guidelines to distinguish them from surrounding nations. It stresses the importance of justice, care for the poor, and love for God.

Therefore, the contents of the book of Deuteronomy are entirely for the people of Israel, not for the Quraysh tribe.
Muhammad never claimed to be an Israelite. You won't find anything about the pagan cube and stone worshiping Quraysh tribe in the Bible because it's not there. Muslims think they can establish Islam globally through false interpretations.

Jewish & Israelite Muhammad Resembles Moses Prophesy

Deuteronomy 18:15-19

15 The Lord your God [Yahweh, יְהוָה, YHWH] will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your own people; you shall heed such a prophet.

16 This is what you requested of the Lord your God at Horeb on the day of the assembly when you said, "If I hear the voice of the Lord my God any more or ever again see this great fire, I will die."

17 Then the Lord replied to me: "They are right in what they have said.

18 I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their own people; I will put my words in the mouth of the prophet, who shall speak to them everything that I command.

19 Anyone who does not heed the words that the prophet shall speak in my name, I myself will hold accountable.”

Muslims claim that Deuteronomy 18:15-19 in the Bible refers to Muhammad as the prophet through whom God would speak (God will put His words in the mouth of that prophet), asserting that the Quran is the word of Allah and that Muhammad is indeed that prophet.

Now let’s see what they claim. Look, they say:

1. The prophet who will come will be like Moses.
2. That prophet will come from the lineage of Ishmael. This is because the term “brothers” is used here, and Isaac was the brother of Ishmael.
3. Allah will proclaim his messages through that prophet, and so they conclude that this prophet is Muhammad.

Conditions of verse 15 & 18:

1. For them.
2. From among their own people/brothers.
3. A prophet like Moses.

First Condition: "For you"

"The LORD your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your fellow Israelites. You must listen to him." (Deuteronomy 18:15)

Muslim scholars, suggest that it could extend to Moses’ broader descendants, thereby including Ishmael's line. However, examining both the historical and textual context indicates that this is not the case. Moses was a descendant of Jacob, belonging to the Israelite tribe of Levi, and addressing Israelites specifically. The time gap between Moses and Ishmael is roughly 600 years. Ishmael was born to Abraham around 1900 BCE, while Moses was born around 1300 BCE. Therefore, it would be unlikely for Moses to mention an outsider as a prophet intended specifically for his people, Israel. Moses' address was directly to the Israelite community, his “brethren.”

The description of Ishmael in Genesis 16:12 also provides context for this exclusion:

> "He shall be a wild donkey of a man, with his hand against everyone, and everyone's hand against him; and he shall live at odds with all his kin."

Such a portrayal would not align with Moses envisioning Ishmael's line as providing a prophet for Israel. Furthermore, while both Jesus and Muhammad claimed their messages had universal reach, Jesus' mission initially began within the Israelite community, which aligns more closely with this passage's intended audience, while Muhammad's mission began among the Arabs:

Matthew 15:24:"He answered, 'I was sent only to the lost sheep of Israel.'" This verse highlights that Jesus' mission during His ministry was focused on the Israelites.

Matthew 10:5-6:

"These twelve Jesus sent out, instructing them, 'Go nowhere among the Gentiles and enter no town of the Samaritans, but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.'"
Jesus instructed His disciples to specifically minister to the Israelites, avoiding Gentile and Samaritan regions.

Luke 4:16-17:

"He went to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and on the Sabbath day he went into the synagogue, as was his custom. He stood up to read, and the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling it, he found the place where it is written…"
Jesus' activities were centered in Jewish communities and synagogues, underscoring His primary audience of Israelites.

The initial preaching of Prophet Muhammad was mainly centered around the Arabs.

Second Condition: "From among their fellow Israelites"

"The LORD your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your fellow Israelites. You must listen to him." (Deuteronomy 18:15)

Another baseless claim made by Muslims is that Moses was referring to the descendants of Ishmael here, interpreting the phrase "from among their brothers" as a reference to Ishmaelites, whom they regard as brothers of the Israelites. Muslims argue that the Hebrew word *'ă-ḥê-hem (אֲחֵיהֶם)*can mean "distant relatives" or "brothers." Its Strong's Concordance number is 251. The claim is based on the belief that since Ishmael's descendants are distant kin to the Israelites, the prophet foretold by Moses would be from the line of Ishmael. However, in the context of Deuteronomy, it refers specifically to Israel's own people. Muslims argue that this makes Muhammad the prophet Moses spoke about in these verses.

Where was Moses standing, and to whom was he speaking? Moses was not in Mecca or in front of the Kaaba; he was addressing the Israelites in the desert. Muslims claim that Moses spoke of the Ishmaelites, but Moses was clearly speaking to his fellow Israelites about an Israelite prophet.

Imagine this: who would inherit your legacy? Your own children or someone unrelated? When you speak of family matters, you naturally refer to your family members. Similarly, Moses was addressing his Israelite brothers, not the Ishmaelites. Muhammad did not even know Yahweh, thank God, Jews don't pronounce the personal name of God and Christians say LORD. It is evident that he was unfamiliar with Moses's lineage, the nature of Yahweh, and the specific teachings of the Bible.

Now pay close attention. "For them"—"them" here means the Israelites. "For them" doesn't mean the Quraysh tribe. Next, "from among them"—this means from within the Israelite nation, certainly not from the Quraysh tribe of Mecca, because Yahweh is speaking to Moses. Moses was an Israelite, and Moses was relaying this message to the Israelite nation.

Then see, Yahweh says, "I will tell him what to say." This means Yahweh will instruct the prophet on what to convey to the people. "He will tell them everything I command him." This means that Yahweh will tell the prophet or messenger what to communicate, and he will share these matters with the Israelite nation of that time.

Still, Muslims often try to shout and insist that "these people" means that Moses referred to Ishmael and his descendants. Or that in the previous verse, "brothers" refers to Ishmael and his descendants.

But the question is, did Muhammad come from Ishmael? The simple answer is no, he did not. In the Quran, you won't find any genealogical list of Ishmael. Without miracle, without genealogy.

The surprising fact is that, in the history of the world, a complete and accurate genealogy of Ishmael has never been found anywhere, which Muslims could use to prove that Muhammad is a descendant of Ishmael. The reason is that the descendants of Ishmael did not keep any form of genealogical record.

History tells us that long after Muhammad passed away by ingesting poison, some Muslim writers, realizing the need to prove Muhammad as a descendant of Abraham, much like the genealogical records of Jesus in Bible (Jesus' genealogy from His mother's side, his father's side and kingly perspective is given in the Gospels) began creating a false genealogy of Ishmael.

The genealogy of Jesus in the Gospels is presented primarily in two accounts—those of Matthew and Luke—while Mark and John take distinct approaches to Jesus' origins and mission:

■1. Matthew's Perspective (Matthew 1:1-17)

- Focus: Legal and Royal Lineage
- Audience: Primarily Jewish
- Structure: Matthew traces Jesus' lineage through Joseph, Jesus' legal father, connecting Him to King David and Abraham, emphasizing Jesus' identity as the Messiah and rightful heir to the throne of Israel.
- Key Points: Matthew's genealogy is arranged in three sets of fourteen generations each (Abraham to David, David to the exile, exile to Jesus). This structure highlights Israel's historical journey and the fulfillment of messianic prophecy.

■2. Luke's Perspective (Luke 3:23-38)

- Focus: Human and Universal Lineage
- Audience: Gentile readers
- Structure: Luke's genealogy is traced through Mary, positioning Jesus as the "Son of God" and as descendant of Adam. Unlike Matthew, Luke traces Jesus' ancestry back to Adam, underscoring His connection to all humanity.
- Key Points: Luke places the genealogy after Jesus' baptism, signaling the start of His public ministry and highlighting His mission to humanity at large. It also reflects Jesus' divine filiation and universal role as the Savior.

■3. Mark's Perspective

- Focus: Servanthood and Ministry
- Audience: Romans and those focused on action-oriented accounts
- Structure: Mark does not include a genealogy; instead, he begins with John the Baptist's proclamation and Jesus' baptism, immediately establishing Jesus' role as the Servant of God.

- Key Points: By omitting the genealogy, Mark emphasizes Jesus' actions and His authority in ministry, focusing on His role as the humble servant rather than on lineage.

■4. John's Perspective (John 1:1-18)

- Focus: Divine Origin and Preexistence
- Audience: Broad, universal
- Structure: John doesn't provide a genealogy but opens with a theological prologue, emphasizing Jesus as the Logos (λόγος) or "Word" that existed with God and was God from the beginning.
- Key Points: John's approach underscores Jesus' divine nature and preexistence, presenting Him as the eternal Word made flesh, sent to reveal God to humanity.

You can watch this video: Muhammad's Genealogy is a FAKE! by Rob Christian. You can read the article Is Mohammed a Descendant of Ishmael? These resources will help you understand why the genealogy of Ishmael is completely fabricated.

All non-Muslim researchers, upon studying Islamic version of Ishmael's genealogy discovered numerous mistakes and falsehoods. As far as history reveals, the lineage of Ishmael vanished around or perhaps before the fifth century B.C., before the birth of Jesus, because they were pagans. Unlike Israelite Ishmaelites never kept genealogy. So, where did Islamic writers get their genealogy? Did these Muslim writers produced a new genealogy of Ishmael with the help of Satan?

Muslims claim that the descendants of Ishmael were under the Assyrian Empire. But there is also an issue with that. Assyrian records from the 9th to 7th centuries B.C. indicate that Ishmael's tribes lived as nomads in Sinai and the Fertile Crescent. But none of these records mention Ishmael's name. No inscription shows that they called any individual by that name.

This proves to us that they had no knowledge of their lineage from Ishmael. Otherwise, they would have certainly been proud of their descent from him and would have recorded Ishmael in each successive generation, just as the Israelites, as part of their religious tradition, recorded Isaac in every ancient book they wrote. Ishmael or his descendants did not keep any form of genealogy, let alone the greater pagan Quraysh tribe.

On the other hand, the people of Israel preserved genealogies according to Jehovah's instruction, as found in the Bible. Therefore, we can ascertain the family and lineage to which Jesus belonged. You can ask a Jew how long do you have genealogy till this day and they maintained it firmly till 70 AD. Christians know that no new messages are coming, everyone is supposed to preach the same good news- Gospel, so they don't keep genealogy at all.

Numbers 1:2:

> "Take a census of the whole congregation of Israelites, in their clans, by ancestral houses, according to the number of names, every male individually"

Muslim websites themselves provide explanations. These are not based on any Quran or Hadith. All these explanations are interpretations created by Muslims according to their own desires. This is because you won't find any list in the flawed and incomplete Qur'an where Muhammad could demonstrate which parts of the Bible refer to him or mention anything about him. Not a single reference exists within the Qur'an, unlike Jesus' in the New Testament.

Various Hadith and Sirah (biographical texts) reveal that when the Jews questioned Muhammad to test him, he couldn't provide any accurate answers. Thus, it should be clear that Muhammad is not the last prophet. Because those who claim today that Muhammad is mentioned in the Bible are themselves the final prophets of Islam. Remember, Islam has no shortage of last prophets.

The phrase "from among your people" has also been interpreted by Muslims as distant Semitic relatives. However, the Hebrew word used here (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm) suggests a close kinship, commonly referring to those within the same tribe or nation, rather than distant family connections. After freeing them from the Egyptians, Moses led the Israelites through the desert for forty years. Here Moses mentioned "from among your people", he was clearly addressed the Israelites, who were then in Moab with him, nobody else.

A supporting verse is found in Deuteronomy 17:15:

> "you may indeed set over you a king whom the Lord your God will choose. One of your own community you may set as king over you; you are not permitted to put a foreigner over you, who is not of your own community."

Here, "from among your people" is clarified to mean an Israelite, rather than any distant Semitic relative like the Arabs. The term "people/brothers" here is specific to the twelve tribes of Israel, rather than any wider kinship. Notably, this view is supported by respected Quranic translator Muhammad Hamidullah, who agrees that the Arabic cognate for (אַחִים, ʾāḥîm) denotes a close sibling or clan member, underscoring the Israelite lineage implied.

Additionally, other Semitic groups, such as the Moabites or Edomites, while sharing common ancestry with the Israelites, were not considered “brothers” in this intimate sense and were, in fact, often viewed as separate and distinct nations. This emphasizes that the prophet in question would come from the Israelites themselves, a lineage separate from the distant kinship of Ishmael.

Just as Bengalis and Afghans may share Aryan ancestry, yet “brothers of the group” could never refer to an Afghan as a Bengali’s brother.

At the time of this prophecy, the Israelites had been a distinct nation from Ishmael’s descendants for nearly five hundred years. They had lived on separate continents for four centuries, and many believe that by Moses’ time, they even spoke different languages.

We cannot stretch "from among your people" to mean anyone outside the twelve tribes of Israel. Since Muhammad was not an Israelite, he does not fit the prophecy here.

4. Distinct Lineages in Genesis:

    - Genesis 16:15:

      “So Hagar bore Abram a son, and Abram gave the name Ishmael to the son she had borne.”

      This verse establishes that Ishmael is the son of Hagar and Abram (Abraham), and the progenitor of the Ishmaelites.

    - Genesis 25:12-16:

      “This is the account of the family line of Abraham’s son Ishmael, whom Sarah’s slave Hagar the Egyptian bore to Abraham. These are the names of the sons of Ishmael, listed in the order of their birth: Nebaioth the firstborn of Ishmael, Kedar, Adbeel, Mibsam, Mishma, Dumah, Massa, Hadad, Tema, Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. These are the sons of Ishmael, and these are the names of the twelve tribal rulers according to their settlements and camps.” This passage shows the twelve sons of Ishmael and their tribal divisions, highlighting their distinct role as the progenitors of the Ishmaelite tribes.

5. Arab Descendants:

    - Genesis 25:1-2:

“Abraham had taken another wife, whose name was Keturah. She bore him Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. Jokshan was the father of Sheba and Dedan. The descendants of Dedan were the Asshurites, the Letushites, and the Leummites.” Keturah’s children were distinct from the children of Hagar, which shows a different lineage leading to various groups, including the Midianites.

6. The Term "Arabs" in the Bible:

   - 1 Chronicles 5:19:
     “They were helped against them, and the Hagrites and all their allies were delivered into their hands because they cried out to God in the battle. He answered their prayers, because they trusted in him.”
     The term "Arabs" here refers to tribes or groups residing in the region of Arabia but not directly linked to the Ishmaelite lineage.

7. Historical and Geographic Context:

   - The term "Arab" historically referred to various tribes and people in the Arabian Peninsula, and in biblical times, Arabs were generally seen as distinct from the specific lineages of the Ishmaelites.

Contemporary Views of the Quraysh Tribe:

- In Al-Ma'rifa wa Al-Tarikh (Volume 1, Page 269), Al-Abbas, Muhammad's uncle, reportedly said, "Muhammad is like a date fallen from a date palm tree to the ground," implying an insult and suggesting that Muhammad's lineage was not highly regarded among some Quraysh members.
- Al-Fa'iq Fi Gharib Al-Hadith (Volume 3, Page 242) by Al-Zamakhshari interprets the word "Kabwah" (كبوة) as "Al-Mazbala," meaning dirt or a heap of dirt, reflecting the low regard in which some contemporaries held Muhammad.

Genealogical Discrepancies:

- Al-Imta' Al-Isma' (Volume 3, Pages 204-205) by Taqi Al-Din Ahmed bin Ali Al-Maqrizi records similar derogatory views from the Quraysh about Muhammad, further questioning the widely accepted narrative of his noble lineage.
- Al-Sira Al-Nabawiyya by Ibn Kathir (Volume 1, Page 51) includes commentary from Al-Suhayli and others that casts doubt on the genealogical link between Adnan (an ancestor of Muhammad) and Ishmael. Notably, Ibn 'Abbas said, "Between ‘Adnan and Ishmael there were 30 ancestors who are unknown." Ibn 'Abbas also mentioned, "The genealogists have lied. Twice or thrice," highlighting inconsistencies in the genealogy.

- Umar bin Al-Khattab, the second Caliph of Islam, stated, “We carry back the genealogy only as far as 'Adnan," acknowledging the lack of verifiable lineage beyond Adnan.

In summary, the Bible distinguishes between the descendants of Ishmael and other groups that later came to be known as Arabs. While the Ishmaelites are a specific lineage from Abraham and Hagar, the term "Arab" encompasses a broader range of tribes and regions. The genealogical details and tribal distinctions in the Bible suggest that Arabs, as a general category, are not directly synonymous with the Ishmaelites.

Third Condition: A Prophet Like Moses

"The LORD your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among you, from your fellow Israelites. You must listen to him." (Deuteronomy 18:15)

The third condition, "a prophet like Moses," further narrows the scope of this prophecy. To be a prophet "like Moses" would imply not only a common ancestry but also a similar role and mission. Moses led Israel in delivering the Law and was closely tied to the community and covenant of Israel. Jesus, likewise, shared this heritage and initiated his ministry within Israel. By contrast, Muhammad's mission centered on the Quraysh tribe in Arabia rather than on the descendants of Israel. Furthermore, the Bible’s genealogy connects Moses and subsequent Israelite prophets directly to Jacob, establishing a line distinct from Ishmael.

To prove that this prophecy refers to Prophet Muhammad (and not to Prophet Jesus), Naik and Deedat have compiled a list of various similarities between Muhammad and Prophet Moses:

- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses established a Sharia (law); Jesus did not.
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses were born through natural birth; Jesus had no earthly father.
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses were married; Jesus was not.
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses were political leaders among their people; Jesus was not.
- Both prophets started counting months from their time.

- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses fled from enemies and found refuge with their fathers-in-law.
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses died natural deaths.

Other debaters have also shown some similarities that turned out to be incorrect:

- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses ruled a specific area (incorrect: Moses died just before entering Canaan, which was later conquered by Joshua).
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses took refuge in a place called Midian, later known as Yathrib and then Medina (incorrect: Midian is 400 miles away from Medina).
- Both Prophet Muhammad and Moses preached in Medina/Midian for 10 years (incorrect: Moses worked as a shepherd in the wilderness of Midian for 40 years before being called to preach by God).

Thus, we see that there are seven similarities between Muhammad and Moses. Note how these similarities (natural birth, marriage and death, political leadership, lawmaking, and land conquest) can be fulfilled by almost any leader.

Similarly, we can easily find nine common similarities between Prophet David and Moses:

- Political leadership
- Natural birth
- Polygamy
- Natural death
- Fatherhood
- Descendant of Israelites
- Conquering Canaanite land
- Receiving divine scripture
- Special covenant from God

Similarly, there are eight superficial similarities between Prophet Solomon and Moses:

- Political leadership
- Natural birth
- Polygamy
- Natural death
- Fatherhood
- Descendant of Israelites

- Conquering Canaanite land
- Receiving divine scripture

Even Donald Trump can be found to have many similarities with Prophet Moses, such as natural birth, marriage, fatherhood, being a leader among his people, etc. This way, we see that such general “similarities” do not actually prove anything.

To identify the prophet "like Moses," we need to look at the core works and unique characteristics of Moses, not these superficial similarities. If we read the entire account of Moses from the Torah, we see that some unique characteristics of Moses are fully realized only in the life of Jesus—not in David, Solomon, or Muhammad.

Unique Characteristics of Moses and Their Fulfillment in Jesus

First Unique Feature: A Savior

Prophet Moses led the Israelites out of earthly slavery in Egypt to the Promised Land, as ordained by God. This was the main task of Prophet Moses. Similarly, the primary mission of Jesus was to provide salvation for God's servants so that they could be freed from the slavery of sin and enter a spiritual land of peace and happiness (i.e., heaven).

Second Unique Feature: A Mediator

Prophet Moses was indeed a unique mediator between God and His people, often interceding on their behalf to save them from God's wrath. Here are the relevant verses with the text:

1. Numbers 21:7 :
    - "The people came to Moses and said, 'We sinned when we spoke against the LORD and against you. Pray that the LORD will take the snakes away from us.' So Moses prayed for the people."
2. Numbers 16:42-50 :
    - "But when the assembly gathered in opposition to Moses and Aaron and turned toward the tent of meeting, suddenly the cloud covered it and the glory of the LORD appeared. Then Moses and Aaron went to the front of the tent of meeting, and the LORD said to Moses, 'Get away from this assembly so I can put an end to them at once.' And they fell facedown. Then Moses said to Aaron, 'Take your censer and put incense in it, along with burning coals from the altar, and hurry to the assembly to make atonement for them. Wrath has come out from the LORD; the plague has started.' So Aaron did as Moses said, and ran into the midst of the assembly. The plague had already started among the people, but Aaron offered the incense and made atonement for them. He stood between the living and the dead, and the plague stopped. But 14,700 people died from the plague, in addition to those who had died because of Korah. Then Aaron returned to Moses at the entrance to the tent of meeting, for the plague had stopped."

3. Exodus 15:23-25 :
    - "When they came to Marah, they could not drink its water because it was bitter. (That is why the place is called Marah.) So the people grumbled against Moses, saying, 'What are we to drink?' Then Moses cried out to the LORD, and the LORD showed him a piece of wood. He threw it into the water, and the water became fit to drink."
4. Exodus 19 :
    - This chapter describes the preparations and events at Mount Sinai where God gives the Ten Commandments. Moses acts as the mediator between God and the people throughout this chapter.

In the New Testament, Jesus is described as the ultimate mediator between God and humans:

1. 1 Timothy 2:5 :
    - "For there is one God and one mediator between God and mankind, the man Christ Jesus."
2. Hebrews 7:25 :
    - "Therefore he is able to save completely those who come to God through him, because he always lives to intercede for them."

These verses highlight the unique roles of Moses and Jesus as mediators between God and His people. Moses' mediation involved direct intercession to prevent God's wrath from consuming the Israelites, while Jesus' mediation is described as eternal and ultimate, providing salvation and continual intercession for humanity.

Third Unique Feature: A New Covenant

Moses brought a new covenant for the Israelites. Both Moses and Jesus are the prophets who established a new covenant or agreement between God and humans. The prophet Jeremiah spoke about this new covenant given by Jesus:

> “The days are coming,” declares the Lord, “when I will make a new covenant with the people of Israel and with the people of Judah. It will not be like the covenant I made with their ancestors when I took them by the hand to lead them out of Egypt, because they broke my covenant, though I was a husband to them,” declares the Lord. “This is the covenant I will make with the people of Israel after that time,” declares the Lord. “I will put my law in their minds and write it on their hearts. I will be their God, and they will be my people.” (Jeremiah 31:31-33)

Jesus Christ's "new covenant" is highlighted in the New Testament, particularly in Luke 22:20 and the teachings found in Matthew 5-7. Muhammad's mission, according to Islamic tradition, was to restore the monotheistic faith of Abraham among the Arabs, rather than introducing a new covenant.

Jesus Christ's New Covenant

1. Luke 22:20 :
    - "In the same way, after the supper he took the cup, saying, 'This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you.'"
2. Matthew 5-7 :
    - Matthew 5:3-12 (The Beatitudes):
        - "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted..."
    - Matthew 5:17-18:
        - "Do not think that I have come to abolish the Law or the Prophets; I have not come to abolish them but to fulfill them. For truly I tell you, until heaven and earth disappear, not the smallest letter, not the least stroke of a pen, will by any means disappear from the Law until everything is accomplished."
    - Matthew 6:9-13 (The Lord's Prayer):

        - "This, then, is how you should pray: 'Our Father in heaven, hallowed be your name, your kingdom come, your will be done, on earth as it is in heaven...'"
    - Matthew 7:12 (The Golden Rule):
        - "So in everything, do to others what you would have them do to you, for this sums up the Law and the Prophets."

Muhammad and the Covenant of Abraham

In Islamic tradition, Muhammad is seen as a prophet who restored the monotheistic faith of Abraham among the Arabs, rather than bringing a new covenant. This idea is supported by various passages in the Quran.

1. Quran 2:136:
    - "Say, 'We have believed in Allah and what has been revealed to us and what has been revealed to Abraham and Ishmael and Isaac and Jacob and the Descendants and what was given to Moses and Jesus and what was given to the prophets from their Lord. We make no distinction between any of them, and we are Muslims [in submission] to Him.'"
2. Quran 3:84:
    - "Say, 'We have believed in Allah and in what was revealed to us and what was revealed to Abraham, Ishmael, Isaac, Jacob, and the Descendants, and in what was given to Moses, Jesus, and the prophets from their Lord. We make no distinction between any of them, and we are Muslims [in submission] to Him.'"

These references illustrate the teachings of Jesus concerning the new covenant, focusing on internal righteousness and the fulfillment of the Law, and highlight Muhammad's mission to restore the faith of Abraham among the Arabs, emphasizing continuity rather than novelty.

Further Unique Characteristics of Moses

The special characteristics of Prophet Moses are clearly described in both the Torah and the Quran:

> “Since then, no prophet has risen in Israel like Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, who did all those signs and wonders the Lord sent him to do in Egypt—to Pharaoh and to all his officials and to his whole land.” (Deuteronomy 34:10-11)

> “When a prophet of the Lord is among you, I reveal myself to him in visions, I speak to him in dreams. But this is not true of my servant Moses; he is faithful in all my house. With him I speak face to face, clearly and not in riddles; he sees the form of the Lord.” (Numbers 12:6-8)

> “The Lord would speak to Moses face to face, as one speaks to a friend.” (Exodus 33:11)

From these verses, we can add two more "unique features" to our list for Prophet Moses:

Fourth Unique Feature: Hearing God's Voice Directly Without Visions or Angels

Prophet Moses heard God’s voice directly without the help of visions or angels (Numbers 12:6-8, Exodus 33:11). The Quran also states:

> “And Allah spoke to Moses with direct speech.” (Surah An-Nisa 4:164)

According to Surah Al-Baqara 2:97, Prophet Muhammad received revelations through an angel.

> "Say, 'Whoever is an enemy to Gabriel - it is [none but] he who has brought the Qur'an down upon your heart, [O Muhammad], by permission of Allah, confirming that which was before it and as guidance and good tidings for the believers.'"

According to the Gospel, Jesus Christ heard God's voice directly like Moses. In the accounts of Matthew 17, Mark 9, and Luke 9, when Jesus' face shone on the mountain, God spoke to him directly, just as He did with Moses.

Matthew 17:5

- "While he was still speaking, a bright cloud covered them, and a voice from the cloud said, 'This is my Son, whom I love; with him I am well pleased. Listen to him!'"

Mark 9:7

- "Then a cloud appeared and covered them, and a voice came from the cloud: 'This is my Son, whom I love. Listen to him!'"

Luke 9:35

- "A voice came from the cloud, saying, 'This is my Son, whom I have chosen; listen to him.'"

The Gospel clearly states that Jesus heard God's voice without the mediation of an angel.

Fifth Unique Feature: Performing Many Signs, Miracles, and Wonders

According to the Quran, Jesus performed many miraculous works (3:49, 2:253), whereas the Quran mentions that Prophet Muhammad's (PBUH) only miracle was the Quran itself (29:48-51), implying he performed no other miracles.

Miracles of Jesus

Surah Al-Imran 3:49 (Sahih International)

- "And [make him] a messenger to the Children of Israel, who will say, 'Indeed I have come to you with a sign from your Lord in that I design for you from clay [that which is] like the form of a bird, then I breathe into it and it becomes a bird by permission of Allah. And I cure the blind and the leper, and I give life to the dead - by permission of Allah. And I inform you of what you eat and what you store in your houses. Indeed in that is a sign for you, if you are believers.'"

Surah Al-Baqara 2:253 (Sahih International)

- "Those messengers - some of them We caused to exceed others. Among them were those to whom Allah spoke, and He raised some of them in degree. And We gave Jesus, the son of Mary, clear proofs, and We supported him with the Pure Spirit…"

The Torah and the Gospel describe many miraculous works performed by both Moses and Jesus.

Similarities Between Moses and Jesus

If we look for some common external similarities between Moses and Jesus, we will find even more parallels between Moses and Jesus compared to the similarities proposed between Muhammad and Moses by Dr. Naik and Ahmed Deedat:

1. Both Moses and Jesus were of Israelite descent, but Muhammad was not from the Israelite lineage.

2. Both Moses and Jesus were born into poor and unprivileged families, whereas Muhammad was born into a prominent family in Mecca.
3. Both Jesus and Moses were raised by their own mothers, while Muhammad was raised by his Bedouin nurse Halimah.
4. Immediately after their births, there were plots to kill Moses and Jesus ordered by the rulers of their countries.
5. Both Moses and Jesus were protected from death through divine intervention right after their births.
6. Both Moses and Jesus traveled from Egypt to Palestine.
7. Both Moses and Jesus spoke directly with God on a mountain (Exodus 33:11, Matthew 17:3), after which their faces shone with radiance (Exodus 34:29, Matthew 17:2).
8. Both Moses and Jesus demonstrated miraculous powers over water; Moses parted the Red Sea, and Jesus calmed the storm on the Sea of Galilee.
9. Both Moses and Jesus spent time in solitary desert regions for preparation before starting their ministries; Moses for forty years (Exodus 7:7), and Jesus for forty days (Matthew 4:1, Acts 7:23).
10. Both Moses and Jesus prophesied events that later came to pass (Deuteronomy 18:15-22; Matthew 24).
11. Both are described as “faithful servants” in their respective scriptures.

Critics may argue that since Deuteronomy 34:10-12 states that no prophet like Moses will arise among the Israelites, the prophet must necessarily be from outside the Israelite lineage. Actually, this verse only states that until the end of the revelation of the Torah ("until today"), that is, before 1400 BC, no prophet like Moses had come among the Israelites. If it were referring to an indefinite future, the phrase "until today" would not be there; instead, it would simply say, "No prophet like Moses will be born among the Israelites."

What Does the Divine Scripture Say?

The Holy Bible specifically states that the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18 was fulfilled in Jesus Christ. The apostle Peter testified:

> “God has glorified his servant Jesus by doing this among us, as he had foretold through the holy prophets long ago... Moses said, ‘The Lord your God will raise up for you a prophet like me from among your own people…’ All the prophets who have spoken, from Samuel on, have foretold these days.” (Deuteronomy 34:10-11; see Hebrews 3:1-3)

Jesus Christ himself said:

“If you believed Moses, you would believe me, for he wrote about me.” (John 5:46)

Conclusion

Thus, while there are superficial similarities between Prophet Muhammad and Moses, the unique characteristics that truly define the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18:15-19 are more closely fulfilled in the life and mission of Jesus. The core works of Moses as a savior, mediator, and the bringer of a new covenant find their true parallel in Jesus Christ.

The Bible explicitly states that the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18 refers to Jesus Christ. However, the Quran only vaguely mentions that somewhere in the previous scriptures there is mention of an unlettered prophet. The Quran does not explicitly state that Deuteronomy 18 refers to Muhammad in the same way that the Bible clearly states that the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18 refers to Jesus Christ.

Muslims apply this prophecy to Muhammad. But let us analyze the words of Deuteronomy 18:18 carefully. God said:

> I will raise up for them from among their brothers a prophet like you.

Notice the following vital facts:

> One: God was speaking to the Israelites through Moses.*
>
> Two: Therefore, the expression, “I will raise up for them” clearly indicates that the prophet will be raised up for the Israelites.*
> Three: By testifying that the prophet will be raised up “from among their brothers,” the prophecy clearly confirms that the prophet would be raised up from among the Israelites. He would be a natural Israelite.*

While Muslims often quote Deuteronomy 18:18, it must be noted that it is in Deuteronomy 18:15 where the prophecy of the coming of the prophet like Moses is first introduced in the Scriptures. It is important to consider Deuteronomy 18:15 because it interprets the meaning of Deuteronomy 18:18 in clear terms for us:

> Deuteronomy 18:15: Jehovah your God will raise up for you from among your brothers a prophet like me. You must listen to him.

In Deuteronomy 18:15 God informs the Israelites through Moses that a prophet will be raised up "from among your brothers." Since God is speaking to the Israelites, the expression "from among your brothers" can only mean from among the Israelites. Supporting evidence to confirm the absolute accuracy of this conclusion can be found by comparing a similar expression used in the Bible just a few verses earlier:

> Deuteronomy 17:15: In that case, you should without fail appoint a king whom Jehovah your God chooses. You should appoint a king from among your brothers*. You are forbidden to appoint over yourself a foreigner who is not your brother.*

We now have solid evidence to prove that the phrase "from among your brothers" simply means from among their fellow-Israelites. In keeping in line with the command to "appoint a king from among your brothers," God chose Saul from among the Israelite tribes as the first king over Israel. (1 Samuel 9:15-10:24) And every subsequent king thereafter came from the sons of Israel. They were all chosen exclusively from the nation of Israel. From Saul (the first king) to Zedekiah (the last king), they were all natural Israelites. As it can be seen, the term "brothers" clearly refers to the Israelites. Why would God now raise up a prophet from among the Arabs in violation of his own prophetic pronouncement? As such, Muhammad does not qualify. He was not an Israelite and neither was he sent to the Israelites.

In fact, we do not have to guess as to who God had in mind to fulfill the prophecy of Deuteronomy 18:18. Centuries before Muhammad was even born, the Bible specifically applied this prophecy to Jesus when he came to the earth as the Messiah:

> Acts 3:19-23: "Repent, therefore, and turn around so as to get your sins blotted out, so that seasons of refreshing may come from Jehovah himself and he may send the Messiah appointed for you, Jesus. Heaven must hold this one within itself until the times of restoration of all things of which God spoke through the mouth of his holy prophets of old. In fact, Moses said: 'Jehovah your God will raise up for you from among your brothers a prophet like me. You must listen to whatever he tells you. Indeed, anyone who does not listen to that Prophet will be completely destroyed from among the people.'

And Jesus himself stated:

> John 5:46: In fact, if you believed Moses*, you would believe me,* for he wrote about me*.*

Carefully consider how Jesus Christ perfectly fulfilled the essential details of this prophecy in Deuteronomy 18:18. Jesus was an Israelite. He was born into the very nation that was given the prophecy of Deuteronomy 18:18 under the Law Covenant*:*

> Galatians 4:4: But when the full limit of the time arrived, God sent his Son, who was born of a woman and who was under Law.

In Deuteronomy 18:18 God also stated: "I will put my words in his mouth." Thus, the prophet will not speak on own originality but only the words that God will command him to speak. Jesus fulfilled this prophecy to the letter:

John 5:30: I cannot do a single thing of my own initiative. Just as I hear, I judge*, and my judgment is righteous because I seek, not my own will, but the will of him who sent me.*

John 7:16: *Jesus, in turn, answered them and said: "What I teach is not mine, but belongs to him that sent me."*
John 8:28: Jesus then said: "After you have lifted up the Son of man, then you will know that I am he and that I do nothing of my own initiative; but just as the Father taught me, I speak these things.

John 12:49: For I have not spoken of my own initiative, but the Father who sent me has himself given me a commandment about what to say and what to speak.

Clearly, Jehovah God spoke through the mouth of Jesus. As the Scriptures reveal, Jesus did not speak on his own initiative. He spoke the divine message of God just as the Father taught him. Even when he was challenged by Satan, rather than speaking on his own originality to answer those challenges, Jesus quoted the inspired Word of God. (Matthew 4:1-10) But there is more! For Jesus to be a prophet like Moses there should be similarities between them. When we look at the similarities between Moses and Jesus, they are truly remarkable. In addition to the fact that both Moses and Jesus were Hebrews, there are many outstanding similarities between them which will truly astound an honest seeker of truth. We will now look at some of these similarities:

1. *In infancy both Moses and Jesus were delivered from death and escaped the indiscriminate slaughter ordered by the respective rulers of their time. (Exodus 1:22; 2:1-10; Matthew 2:13-18)*
2. *Both Moses and Jesus fasted for 40 days and 40 nights at the start of their careers as the representatives of Jehovah. (Exodus 34:28; Matthew 4:2)*

3. God commanded Moses to slaughter the Passover Lamb for the salvation of Israel's firstborn. (Exodus 12:1-13) Jesus became the sacrificial Passover Lamb for the salvation of mankind. (1 Corinthians 5:7; John 1:29-30, 35)
4. Moses turned water into blood. (Exodus 7:14-20) Jesus turned water into wine. (John 2:1-11)
5. Both Moses and Jesus were involved when Israel was fed miraculously. During Moses' career as the prophet of God, Jehovah miraculously provided food for the Israelites. (Exodus 16:11-36) Similarly, on two occasions, Jesus miraculously fed multitudes with food. (Matthew 14:14-21; 15:32-38)
6. Both Moses and Jesus exercised control over the seas. Moses controlled the waters of the Red Sea by parting the waters. (Exodus 14:21-29) Jesus controlled the waters of the Sea of Galilee by calming the violent waves. (Mark 4:35-41)
7. Both came in the name of Jehovah. Jesus' name itself means "Jehovah Is Salvation." (Exodus 3:13-16; Matthew 1:21; John 5:43)
8. Both Moses and Jesus "declared the name of Jehovah." (Deuteronomy 32:3; John 17:6, 26)
9. Both displayed exceptional meekness and humility. (Numbers 12:3; Matthew 11:28-30)
10. Both Moses and Jesus mediated covenants. Moses was mediator of the Law covenant. Jesus was Mediator of the New covenant. (Exodus 19:3-9; Luke 22:20; Hebrews 8:6; 9:15)
11. Judging was committed to both Moses and Jesus Christ. Moses served as judge and lawgiver to Israel. (Exodus 18:13; Malachi 4:4) Jesus also serves as judge and provided laws and commandments. (John 13:34;15:10-12; Galatians 6:2) Jesus himself said: "The Father judges no one at all, but he has committed all the judging to the Son, in order that all may honor the Son just as they honor the Father. He that does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent him." (John 5:22-23)
12. Both had the most convincing credentials to show that they were sent by God. Both were empowered with many astounding miracles. (Exodus 14:21-31; Psalms 78:12-54; Matthew 11:5; Mark 5:38-43; Luke 7:11-15, 18-23) Miracles served a special purpose in connection with Jesus. God foretold that the promised

Messiah would be "a prophet like Moses." Since Moses performed miracles to prove that God was backing him up, the Jews expected that the Messiah would do likewise. As a result, when persons saw the signs Jesus performed, they began to say: "This is for a certainty the prophet that was to come into the world." (John 6:14)

There are still many more similarities but the above examples are sufficient to prove our point. There is no question that God faithfully carried out his promise to raise up a prophet like Moses. The words of Deuteronomy 18:18 were accurately fulfilled in the life and experiences of Jesus Christ. Muhammad simply does not fit the equation. In harmony with the Bible, the Qur'an also acknowledges that both Moses and Jesus performed many outstanding miracles. (Surah 7:113-122; Surah 17:101; Surah 3:49; Surah 2:87) Yet, the Qur'an admits that Muhammad did not and could not perform a single miracle:

Surah 10:20: They (unbelievers) say, "Why has his Lord not given him some miracles to support his claim of being His Messenger?" Say "The knowledge of the unseen certainly belongs to God. Wait and I too shall be waiting with you. (M. Sarwar)

Surah 13:7: The unbelievers say, "Why has God not sent him, (Muhammad), some miracles." Muhammad, you are only a warner. For every nation there is a guide. (M. Sarwar)

> Surah 29:50: And they say: Why are not signs sent down upon him from his Lord? Say: The signs are only with Allah, and I am only a plain warner. (Shakir)

Additionally, the Qur'an makes a very insightful proclamation which Muslims in particular should take note of. It proclaims that to know about the miracles of God, one should go to the Holy Bible:

> Surah 20:133: "They say: 'Why does he not bring us a sign (proof) from his Lord?' Has there not come to them the proof of that which is written in the former Scriptures, i.e. the Torah and Gospel." (Hilali-Khan)

This is a clear admission in the Qur'an that Muhammad could not perform a single miracle. Otherwise, Allah would not evade the demands of the unbelievers for Muhammad to perform a miracle and direct them to the miracles recorded in the Holy Bible. We can quote many more verses from the Qur'an to prove Muhammad's inability to perform miracles. Can Muhammad truly qualify as a prophet like Moses when he could not perform miracles like Moses? Moreover, both Moses and Jesus had power over the demons. Moses overpowered the demonic powers of the sorcerers of Pharaoh. (Exodus 7:8-12; Exodus 8:16-19; See also Surah 7:113-122) And Jesus also exercised great power over the demons by casting them out. (Mark 5:1-13) However, Islamic sources themselves testify that Muhammad came under the spell of sorcery.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 490:

> Narrated By 'Aisha: Magic was worked on the Prophet so that he began to fancy that he was doing a thing which he was not actually doing. *One day he invoked (Allah) for a long period and then said, "I feel that Allah has inspired me as how to cure myself. Two persons came to me (in my dream) and sat, one by my head and the other by my feet. One of them asked the other, '*What is the ailment of this man?' *The other replied, '*He has been bewitched.' *The first asked, '*Who has bewitched him?' *The other replied, '*Lubaid bin Al-A'sam.' The first one asked, 'What material has he used?' The other replied, 'A comb, the hair gathered on it, and the outer skin of the pollen of the male date-palm.' The first asked, 'Where is that?' The other replied, 'It is in the well of Dharwan.'
> So, the Prophet went out towards the well and then returned and said to me on his return, "Its date-palms (the date-palms near the well) are like the heads of the devils." I asked, "Did you take out those things with which the magic was worked?" He said, "No, for I have been cured by Allah and I am afraid that this action may spread evil amongst the people." Later on the well was filled up with earth.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 71, Number 660:

Narrated By 'Aisha: Magic was worked on Allah's Apostle so that he used to think that he had sexual relations with his wives while he actually had not (Sufyan said: That is the hardest kind of magic as it has such an effect)."

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Number 89:

Narrated By 'Aisha: The Prophet continued for such-and-such period imagining that he has slept (had sexual relations) with his wives, and in fact he did not. *One day he said, to me, "O 'Aisha! Allah has instructed me regarding a matter about which I had asked Him. There came to me two men, one of them sat near my feet and the other near my head. The one near my feet, asked the one near my head (pointing at me), 'What is wrong with this man? The latter replied, '*He is under the effect of magic.'

Asbab Al-Nuzul by Ali ibn Ahmad Al-Wahidi, Q. 113-114:

The Messenger of Allah*, Allah bless him and give him peace,* fell ill for a period of six month, during which the hair of his head fell off; he imagined that he slept with his wives when he did not, and was withering away without knowing the reason. As he was one day sleeping, he saw two angels coming to him. One of them sat at his head and the other at his feet. The angel who sat at his head asked: 'What is wrong with the man?' The second angel responded: 'A spell of black magic was cast on him'. (Source: Altafsir.com) (Only the relevant quote is cited here)

Understanding the damaging effect that this affair has on Islam, Muslims try to do some damage-control by saying that Allah cured Muhammad from the Jewish spell. Do they really have any reason for optimism? A true prophet of God is not even supposed to fall victim to sorcery in the first place. No prophets of the true God ever came under the spell of sorcery. The Bible clearly says that the servants of the true God will not come under demonic control such as sorcery or magic because of the protection of Jehovah over them:

Numbers 23:23: "There is no sorcery against Jacob. Nor any magic that can harm Israel."

While both Moses and Jesus had power over the demons, Muhammad fell victim to sorcery. Muhammad could not defeat what both Moses and Jesus defeated. How can Muhammad then be a prophet like Moses?

If you are a Muslim, we encourage you to read the following segment of this article carefully. It may save you from the path leading to destruction. For Muhammad to be a prophet like Moses his teachings must be in harmony with the teachings of Moses. The teachings of Muhammad should not contradict any of the divine truths which God revealed to Moses. We understand perfectly well that needs and exigencies do indeed change with time. And God would wisely provide guidance for his people according to the needs and exigencies of the time they live in. Therefore, the progressive revelations of God would reflect those changes. But this would have absolutely no bearing on the teachings that involve the divine nature and attributes of God. God remains the same. And the inter-relationship between God and his faithful worshippers would also remain the same.

Malachi 3:6: "For I am Jehovah; I do not change."

This is where the teachings of Muhammad disqualify him. Now consider how the God of Moses reveals his relationship with the Jews and the Christians to whom he gave the Torah and the Gospel.

> Deuteronomy 14:1: "You are sons of Jehovah your God.

Of course, no Jews would understand this to mean that they are sons in a physical carnal sense in their relationship with God. They are his sons in a purely spiritual sense. Jehovah's relationship with the Israelites during the time of Moses is further highlighted in the following verses:

> Exodus 4:22-23: *You must say to Pharaoh, 'This is what Jehovah says: "Israel is my son, my firstborn. I say to you, send* my son away so that he may serve me.

Even the Jews at the time of Jesus viewed God as their Father:

> John 8:39-41: Jesus said to them: "If you were Abraham's children, you would be doing the works of Abraham. But now you are seeking to kill me, a man who has told you the truth that I heard from God. Abraham did not do this. You are doing the works of your father." They said to him: "We were not born from immorality; we have one Father, God."

Now, let's look at the Christian's position on this issue. How was the relationship between the Christians and their God defined in the Bible?

> Romans 1:7: May you have undeserved kindness and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

> Romans 8:14-16: For all who are led by God's spirit are indeed God's sons*. For you did not receive a spirit of slavery causing fear again, but you received* a spirit of adoption as sons*, by which spirit we cry out: "*Abba, Father!" The spirit itself bears witness with our spirit that we are God's children*.*

In all the above verses, we could see that God is a Father to his worshippers–the Jews and the Christians. In fact, he is a Father to all those who turn to him in true worship. Contradicting these profound teachings of the God of Moses, Muhammad was inspired to deny God as a Father to anyone:

> Surah 5:18: And both the Jews and the Christians *say, "We are God's children, and His beloved ones." Say: "Why, then, does He cause you to suffer for your sins? Nay, you are but human beings of His creating." (Asad)*

In violation to the teachings of the God of Moses, the Qur'an wrongly assumes that humans cannot become the children of God through an intimate spiritual relationship with Him. Can Allah then be the God of Moses? Can Muhammad then be a prophet like Moses when he contradicts the teachings of Moses? The teachings of the Qur'an are so base and animalistic in its nature that it dares to raise questions such as absurd as this:

> Surah 6:101: "How can He have a son when He hath no consort?"

The Qur'an asks how God can have a son when he has no consort. Observe carefully how Islam attributes the carnal and physical traits of humans to God in this Qur'anic verse. No consideration whatsoever is given for the divinely infinite nature of the holiness of God. Just because men on earth cannot have sons unless they cohabit with their wives, so the Qur'an blasphemously concludes that God, too, cannot have a son unless he cohabits with a wife. Try to comprehend for a moment the absurdity of the question which is raised in the above Qur'anic verse. According to the absurd logic of the Qur'an, even though God Almighty was able to create the vast universe and every living being in it out of nothing, he is unable to produce a son for himself without a wife. Furthermore, how is it possible for Mary to have a son without a husband? Is it not through outworking of the limitless power of God?

Muhammad could not see beyond the carnal. He could not see beyond the temporal or the physical. The reason for Muhammad's utter failure to see the blasphemous nature of this verse in the Qur'an is explained for us in the Holy Bible:

> 1 Corinthians 2:14: But a physical man does not receive the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; and he cannot get to know them, because they are examined spiritually.

It may surprise you to learn that the words "spiritual" and "spirituality" cannot be found in the entire Qur'an. Can a book that does not contain the word "spiritual" or "spirituality" comprehend the deep "spiritual" things of God? Can such a book lead you to salvation?

In contrast to Muhammad, the true Prophet whose coming was foretold in Deuteronomy 18:18 always addresses God as his Father. Unlike Muhammad, Jesus taught his followers to address God as their Father:

> Matthew 6:9-13: *"You must pray, then, this way: "'*Our Father in the heavens, let your name be sanctified. Let your Kingdom come. Let your will take place, as in heaven, also on earth. Give us today our bread for this day; and forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors. And let us not be put into temptation, but deliver us from the wicked one.'

Muhammad simply cannot be a prophet like Moses. His teachings contradict the teachings of Moses. There are many more reasons why Muhammad does not qualify as the prophet whose coming is prophesied in Deuteronomy 18:18. The important fact that Muslims fail to realize is that this prophecy has already been fulfilled by Jesus Christ when he was sent to mankind by his Father, Jehovah God.

When God established the Law Covenant with the nation of Israel through Moses as the mediator, the family roots of this chosen mediator were already grounded in true worship of the God of Abraham. The same divine standard was established when Jesus was chosen as the mediator of the New Covenant. Jesus, too, came from a devout family who were already worshippers of the true God. Both the families of Moses and Jesus were all worshippers of the God of Abraham. But as for Muhammad, his parents and grand-parents and all his relatives were pagans.

From infancy, both Moses and Jesus knew the true God. But, as for Muhammad, he grew up as a pagan. And he remained a pagan until his alleged calling as a prophet of Allah at the age of forty. Until then, he belonged to the pagan religion of his parents and his parents' parents. This fact is substantiated by the following Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 12:3: We narrate to you the best of narratives, by Our revealing to you this Qur'an, though before this you were certainly one of those who did not know*. (Shakir)*

> Surah 42:52: "And thus have We, by Our Command, sent inspiration to thee: thou knewest not before what was Revelation, and what was Faith*; but We have made the Qur'an a Light, wherewith We guide such of Our servants as We will; and verily thou dost guide (men) to the Straight Way." (Yusuf Ali)*

Muslims will find it extremely difficult to acknowledge the fact that Muhammad was a pagan. However, the great scholars of Islam recognize this fact regarding Muhammad's pagan origin. Renowned Arab scholar and historian, Hisham ibn al-Kalbi (737 C.E. – 819 C.E.) disclosed this truth about Muhammad on page 17 of his esteemed work known as "Kitab al-Asnam" (The Book of Idols).

> 'We have been told that the Apostle of Allah once mentioned al-Uzza *saying, "*I have offered a white sheep to al-'Uzza, while I was a follower of the religion of my people."'

Al-'Uzza was one of the female deities worshipped by the Quraysh pagans. Muhammad who belonged to this tribe was once a worshipper of this pagan idol. And he made sacrifices to this pagan idol. Muhammad's roots began in paganism. Muslims should ponder deeply on these vital evidences regarding their Prophet. The evidences presented here from sources of Islam itself prove that Muhammad cannot be a prophet of the true God. God would not choose his final prophet from a pagan source. And this would automatically disqualify Islam as a religion of the true God.

It is absolutely important for Muslims to know that the Qur'an itself disqualifies Muhammad as a prophet of the true God. The Qur'an clearly teaches that the Prophetic line will be established through Isaac. In others words, all prophets of the true God will be through the lineage of Isaac.

Surah 29:27: And (as for Abraham*), We bestowed upon him* Isaac and (Isaac's son) Jacob*,* and caused Prophethood and Revelation to continue among his offspring*. (Asad)*
And We bestowed on him Isaac and Jacob*, and* We established the Prophethood and the Scripture among his seed. (Pickthall)
It is vital for Muslims to take note of the fact that with the establishment of the "Prophethood" with Abraham, Surah 29:27 goes on to state that the Prophethood will thereafter continue through the "lineage" of Isaac and Jacob. Therefore, the Prophethood will be established uniquely through the seeds of Isaac and Jacob. In other words, the office of the Prophethood would be entrusted only to Isaac, Jacob and their Descendants. This means that anyone claiming to be a Prophet of the true God must be born in the "Prophetic Race." They must be born in the lineage of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

If Allah intended to include Ishmael, his name would be placed before Isaac as he was older than Isaac by about fourteen years. But as it can be noted, Surah 29:27 completely omits any reference to Ishmael. This raises some vital questions: Why was the name of Ishmael left out completely at the most significant time when the lineage of the Prophethood was revealed in the Qur'an? Why was Ishmael totally ignored if he was as important as Muslims claim him to be? Thus, the Qur'an clearly teaches that the Prophethood will be established exclusively through the lineage of Isaac– not Ishmael. Since Muslims claim that Muhammad was a descendant of Ishmael, this automatically disqualifies him as a prophet of the true God. Therefore, Muhammad cannot be the prophet prophesied in Deuteronomy 18:18. For an in-depth discussion on this subject, please click the following link: THE QUR'AN DISQUALIFIES THE PROPHETHOOD OF MUHAMMAD

It is vital for Muslims to note that nowhere does the Qur'an state that the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18:18 applies to Muhammad. However, the New Testament Scriptures of the Holy Bible state explicitly that the prophecy in Deuteronomy 18:18 refers to Jesus Christ:

> Acts 3:19-23: "Repent, therefore, and turn around so as to get your sins blotted out, so that seasons of refreshing may come from Jehovah himself and he may send the Messiah appointed for you, Jesus. *Heaven must hold this one within itself until the times of restoration of all things of which God spoke through the mouth of his holy prophets of old. In fact, Moses said: '*Jehovah your God will raise up for you from among your brothers a prophet like me. You must listen to whatever he tells you. Indeed, anyone who does not listen to that Prophet will be completely destroyed from among the people.'

John 1:20-21 Prophesy About Muhammad?

Claim: According to John 1:20-21, the Jews expected both their promised Messiah (Jesus) and the Prophet (Muhammad) to be two different individuals. When questioned by Jewish priests and Levites, John the Baptist denied being the Christ, Elijah, or the Prophet, which some interpret as a prophecy about Muhammad.

Scriptural Analysis

John 1:20-21: "He [John the Baptist] did not fail to confess, but confessed freely, 'I am not the Christ.' They asked him, 'Then who are you? Are you Elijah?' He said, 'I am not.' 'Are you the Prophet?' He answered, 'No.'"

1. John the Baptist's Knowledge:
    - John the Baptist's responses indicate that he was not claiming to be the Christ, Elijah, or the Prophet mentioned in Deuteronomy 18:15-18. However, his understanding of his role is clear when he later identifies Jesus as the Lamb of God.
    - In John 1:29, John states, "Look, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world!" Additionally, he testified, "I have seen and I testify that this is God's Chosen One" (John 1:34). John's reference to Jesus as the Lamb of God and the Son of God underscores his recognition of Jesus' unique and divine role.
2. Jewish Expectations:
    - According to the Holy Scriptures, the Jews were eagerly awaiting the Messiah. Luke 3:15-16 notes that people were in a state of expectation and were questioning whether John might be the Christ.

Luke 3:15-16: "The people were waiting expectantly and were all wondering in their hearts if John might possibly be the Messiah. John answered them all, 'I baptize you with water. But one who is more powerful than I will come, the straps of whose sandals I am not worthy to untie. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.'"

The Messiah was expected to have three key qualities: being a king (1 Samuel 15:1), a priest (Exodus 28:41), and a prophet (1 Kings 19:16).

King:

1 Samuel 15:1: "Samuel said to Saul, 'I am the one the Lord sent to anoint you king over his people Israel; so listen now to the message from the Lord.'"

Jesus as King: Luke 1:30-33 speaks of Jesus' eternal kingship, and Revelation 19:16 refers to Him as the King of kings:

Luke 1:30-33:

30: "But the angel said to her, 'Do not be afraid, Mary; you have found favor with God.'"

31: "'You will conceive and give birth to a son, and you are to call him Jesus.'"

32: "'He will be great and will be called the Son of the Most High. The Lord God will give him the throne of his father David,'"

33: "'and he will reign over Jacob's descendants forever; his kingdom will never end.'"

Revelation 19:16:

"On his robe and on his thigh he has this name written: king of kings and lord of lords."

Priest:

Exodus 28:41: "After you put these clothes on your brother Aaron and his sons, anoint and ordain them. Consecrate them so they may serve me as priests."

Jesus as Priest: Hebrews 4:14 and 7:22-28 describe Jesus as the great high priest, fulfilling the role of a mediator between God and humanity.

Hebrews 4:14:

"Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has ascended into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess."
Hebrews 7:22-28:

22: "Because of this oath, Jesus has become the guarantor of a better covenant."
23: "Now there have been many of those priests, since death prevented them from continuing in office;"

24: "but because Jesus lives forever, he has a permanent priesthood."
25: "Therefore he is able to save completely those who come to God through him, because he always lives to intercede for them."

26: "Such a high priest truly meets our need—one who is holy, blameless, pure, set apart from sinners, exalted above the heavens."

27: "Unlike the other high priests, he does not need to offer sacrifices day after day, first for his own sins, and then for the sins of the people. He sacrificed for their sins once for all when he offered himself."

28: "For the law appoints as high priests men in all their weakness; but the oath, which came after the law, appointed the Son, who has been made perfect forever."

Prophet:

1 Kings 19:16: "Also, anoint Jehu son of Nimshi king over Israel, and anoint Elisha son of Shaphat from Abel Meholah to succeed you as prophet."

Jesus as Prophet: Jesus is identified as the Prophet in John 6:14: "So when the people saw the sign that He had done, they began to say, 'This is indeed the prophet who is to come into the world.'" This directly links Jesus to the prophetic expectations mentioned in Deuteronomy.

3. Jesus as the Messiah:

- The combination of these three roles—prophet, priest, and king—defines the Messiah. Jesus fulfills all these roles, confirming His identity as the Messiah. John the Baptist's role was to prepare the way for Jesus, as he declared in John 1:23, "I am the voice of one calling in the wilderness, 'Make straight the way for the Lord.'"

- Matthew 21:11 records the crowd's recognition of Jesus as "the prophet from Nazareth in Galilee."

- Luke 7:16 shows the people's acknowledgment of Jesus as a great prophet.

Luke 7:16 states:

"They were all filled with awe and praised God. ‘A great prophet has appeared among us,’ they said. ‘God has come to help his people.’"

These references affirm that Jesus, being the Messiah, inherently fulfills the role of the Prophet expected by the Jews.

Conclusion

The claim that John 1:20-21 predicts Muhammad is based on a misinterpretation of the text. The biblical context and the testimony of John the Baptist clearly point to Jesus as the prophesied Messiah who fulfills the roles of prophet, priest, and king. Therefore, the references in John 1:20-21 do not support the claim that the prophecy was about Muhammad but instead affirm the identity and mission of Jesus Christ as the awaited Messiah.

LORD’s Majestic Appearance

Deuteronomy 33:2 (The translation Muslims chose)

“The Lord came from Sinai,
and dawned from Seir upon us;
he shone forth from Mount Paran.
With him were myriads of holy ones;
at his right hand was a fiery law for them.”

He shone forth	הוֹפִ֣יעַ (ho·v·fi·a')	3313: to shine out or forth, to send out beams, cause to shine	a prim. root from Mount	מֵהַ֔ר (me·har)	2022: mountain, hill, hill country	of uncertain derivation
Paran,	פָּארָ֑ן (pa·ran,)	6290: a place in Sinai	from the same as porah
And He came	וְאָתָ֗ה (ve·'a·tah)	857: to come	a prim. root from the midst of ten thousand	מֵרִבְבֹ֣ת (me·riv·vot)	7233: multitude, myriad, ten thousand	from rabab holy ones;	קֹ֭דֶשׁ (ko·desh;)	6944: apartness, sacredness	from an unused word
At His right hand	מִימִינ֣וֹ (mi·mi·nov)	3225: right hand	from an unused word there was flashing lightning	(דָּ֑ת (dat)	799: fire of a law	from esh and dath for them.

In this verse, Moses speaks of God’s majestic appearance, describing God’s arrival from different locations associated with the Israelites' journey. Sinai is where Moses received the Law, Seir is often associated with Edom, and Mount Paran is believed to be in the Sinai region. This poetic language highlights God’s glory and presence among His people, accompanied by a multitude of "holy ones" (often understood as angels).

Some translations explicitly say "ten thousand holy ones," suggesting a vast host of angels or divine beings with God.

■1. Sinai

- Significance: Sinai is the mountain where God revealed Himself to Moses and gave the Law (the Ten Commandments) to the Israelites. This is a central event in the Torah, representing God's covenant with Israel and His authority as their lawgiver and protector.
- Symbolism: Sinai symbolizes the establishment of the covenant relationship between God and Israel. It represents God's holiness, power, and the foundation of Israel’s religious and ethical identity.

■2. Seir

- Significance: Seir is a mountainous region associated with the descendants of Esau, the Edomites, located south of the Dead Sea. It is east of the Promised Land and often represented the journeying area surrounding Israel.

- Symbolism: Mentioning Seir in relation to God's appearance suggests that God's presence and influence extend beyond Israel to neighboring regions. It reinforces the idea that God's power and authority are not confined and highlights the inclusive reach of His protection and guidance.
- The association of Seir with divine protection is reflected in passages where God's presence and care for Israel are emphasized, especially in their wilderness journeys. Judges 5:4-5 gives a poetic account that also connects Seir with God's powerful presence and protection:

"Lord, when you went out from Seir, when you marched from the region of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens poured, the clouds indeed poured water. The mountains quaked before the Lord, the One of Sinai, before the Lord, the God of Israel."

In this passage, God is depicted as a divine warrior marching from Seir, causing nature itself to tremble. This imagery highlights God's protection over Israel as He moves powerfully in the regions surrounding Israel, showing that His presence extends beyond Israel's boundaries and brings protection even in foreign lands.

Similarly, Deuteronomy 1:2 mentions Seir as a place Israel passed on their journey to the Promised Land, and Deuteronomy 2:1-5 recounts how God instructed Israel not to engage in battle with the Edomites in Seir. Instead, God guided and protected Israel, showing that He had already prepared a safe passage through the region.

Seir and Edom are closely related and often refer to the same region in the Bible. However, they are not entirely synonymous, as Seir specifically denotes a mountainous region within the land of Edom.

Here's a breakdown:

1. Edom: This is the broader territory inhabited by the descendants of Esau (Jacob's brother), who is also called Edom (Genesis 36:1). The land of Edom is generally situated to the southeast of Israel, stretching from the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Aqaba. It encompasses a wider region that includes the wilderness areas surrounding Mount Seir.
2. Seir: This term often refers to the specific mountainous area within Edom. The "Mountains of Seir" or simply "Seir" is where Esau's descendants settled (Genesis 36:8-9).

In several passages, the names are used interchangeably to refer to the land of Edom, with Seir representing the rugged mountainous terrain central to Edom. For example:

- Genesis 32:3 refers to “the land of Seir, the country of Edom,” linking the two names.
- Deuteronomy 2:4-5 describes how God instructs the Israelites to pass peacefully through Seir, the territory of their “brothers, the descendants of Esau,” connecting it to Edom.
- Ezekiel 35:15 mentions Mount Seir as synonymous with the land of Edom and a target of judgment.

Thus, Seir is part of Edom, specifically referring to the mountainous area within this territory where the Edomites primarily dwelled.

■3. Mount Paran

- Significance: Mount Paran is associated with the wilderness region south of Judah, often identified with the northern part of the Sinai Peninsula. This is where the Israelites spent time during their wilderness wanderings.
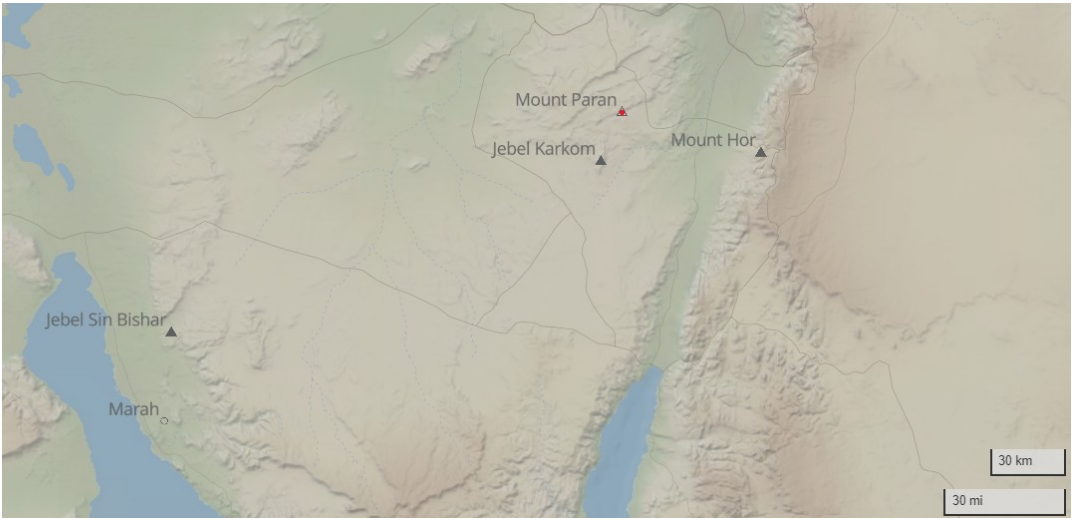
- Symbolism: Paran represents the transition from slavery in Egypt to freedom and the eventual arrival in the Promised Land. It underscores the journey of transformation and God's guidance through difficult times. The reference to God “shining forth” from Paran further symbolizes His illuminating and guiding presence, even in the wilderness.



Combined Significance

- Together, these regions—Sinai, Seir, and Paran—emphasize God’s covenant, protection, and guidance through Israel’s journey from captivity in Egypt to their establishment as a nation. The passage suggests that God was with Israel at each stage of their journey, whether delivering the law (Sinai), providing protection (Seir), or leading them through the wilderness (Paran).
- The mention of “myriads of holy ones” and the “host at his right” portrays God as a divine warrior accompanied by heavenly forces, reinforcing the strength and sanctity of His covenant with Israel.

Muslim claim:

I. Moses is came from Sinai Jesus is came from the hill near Seir: Jerusalem. The light that came forth from Mount Paran is Muhammad because he revealed it in the cave of Hera which they claim is Mount Paran.
II. Muhammad had 10,000 soldiers during his conquest of Mecca.
III. The Fiery Sharia the Quran was from Muhammad on the day of the conquest of Mecca. The strong number of Shariah mentioned here is g-799 But the strong number of Torah is h-8451. So in this verse it is talking about Quran

Bermuda Triangle Prophesy

First Claim: Moses is came from Sinai Jesus is came from the hill near Seir: Jerusalem. The light that came forth from Mount Paran is Muhammad because he revealed it in the cave of Hera which they claim is Mount Paran.

Cave Hira and Mount Paran are 500 KM apart. But who knows there might have been a magic carpet or Burak or flying winged gene through which this 2 mountains are connected. Miracles have no explanation. We will keep it as it is.

Numerous Means Exact Number Prophesy

Second Claim: Muhammad had 10,000 soldiers during his conquest of Mecca.

Deuteronomy 33:2

> "The Lord came from Sinai, and dawned from Seir upon us; he shone forth from Mount Paran. With him were myriads of holy ones, at his right, a host of his own."

■The term "myriads" is often interpreted as "ten thousand" or "tens of thousands," depending on the translation. The Hebrew word used, רִבְבָה (rivvah), commonly means "ten thousand" but can also imply an innumerable multitude. Many translations render it as "ten thousand holy ones" or "myriads of holy ones," symbolizing a vast, divine assembly accompanying God.

Strong's Exhaustive Concordance: 7233 rebabah many, million, multiply, ten thousand

From rabab; abundance (in number), i.e. (specifically) a myriad (whether definite or indefinite) -- many, million, X multiply, ten thousand.

Therefore it is just the term like “millions of millions” we use today. It’s not specific number, just to represent a lot.

■1. Psalm 68:17

> "The chariots of God are twice ten thousand, thousands upon thousands; the Lord is among them; Sinai is now in the sanctuary."
> This verse emphasizes the multitude of God’s heavenly army and His presence in the sacred space.

■2. Revelation 5:11-12

> "Then I looked, and I heard around the throne and the living creatures and the elders the voice of many angels, numbering myriads of myriads and thousands of thousands, saying with a loud voice, 'Worthy is the Lamb who was slain, to receive power and wealth and wisdom and might and honor and glory and blessing!'"
> This verse captures a similar vision of countless angels surrounding God's throne, praising Him.

■3. Daniel 7:10

> "A stream of fire issued and came out from before him; a thousand thousands served him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him; the court sat in judgment, and the books were opened."
> Daniel’s vision depicts a vast assembly of heavenly beings before God's throne, highlighting His authority and majesty.

■4. Luke 2:13-14

> "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, 'Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among those with whom he is pleased!'"
> At the announcement of Jesus' birth, a multitude of angels appears, praising God and proclaiming peace.

So you have seen this term is to represent numerous angels, not humans. If Muslims forge a hadith to say on the day of Mecca conquest 10,000 people were with him then it can be said that it’s a deliberate forgery without knowing the meaning of the term. In those days it was ten thousands to mention a lot. Today we mention Million a lot, in future a quadrillion can be used to mention “a lot”. Whenever you hear those terms, remember that it is prophesying the number of soldier of Mecca conquest mentioned in the Hadith.

Sharia Law Prophesy

Third Claim: The Fiery Sharia the Quran was from Muhammad on the day of the conquest of Mecca. The strong number of Shariah mentioned here is g-799 But the strong number of Torah is h-8451. So in this verse it is talking about Quran.
But Quran was never compiled during the time of Muhammad. How come he has it in his right hand because the Quran was not complete by then. After the conquest of Mecca, which took place in 8 AH (630 CE), around 22 chapters (surahs) of the Quran were revealed.
In the Hebrew text, the word typically translated as "law" is "שָׁרַף" (sharaf, pronounced /sha-RAHF/) in some Jewish interpretive traditions, which can imply "fiery law" or "burning judgment." The term Torah (h8451) refers to divine law or teaching, whereas "fiery law" in this verse does not specifically use the term Torah. Strong's Concordance number G799, however, is actually Greek, and Deuteronomy was originally written in Hebrew, where no Greek Strong's numbers would apply.
The Strong's number for the Hebrew word Torah is H8451. The word תּוֹרָה (pronounced to-RAH) is typically translated as "law," "instruction," or "teaching." It refers to divine guidance or instruction, especially the teachings given by God to Moses on Mount Sinai, encompassing both legal and ethical commands.

The term אֵשׁ (’esh) is the Hebrew word for "fire," while דָּת (dath), meaning "law" or "decree," appears only in a few places in the Bible and is notable for its use in Deuteronomy 33:2, where "fiery law" is mentioned.

Here’s an overview of their appearances:

■אֵשׁ (’esh) – Strong’s H784

The word אֵשׁ, meaning “fire,” appears extensively throughout the Old Testament and often symbolizes God’s presence, purification, judgment, and holiness. Here are key themes and examples:

1. Divine Presence: God’s presence is depicted through fire, such as at the burning bush (Exodus 3:2) and the pillar of fire during the Exodus (Exodus 13:21-22).
2. Sacrifice and Worship: Fire from heaven indicates God’s acceptance of sacrifices, as seen in Leviticus 9:24, 1 Kings 18:38, and 1 Chronicles 21:26.
3. Judgment: Fire often represents judgment, as in Genesis 19:24 (destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah) and Amos 1:4 (judgment against Israel’s enemies).
4. Purification: Fire also has a cleansing aspect, such as the "refiner’s fire" in Malachi 3:2.

דָּת (dath) – Strong’s H1881

The word דָּת (dath) appears less frequently and is generally used in reference to laws, decrees, or statutes in contexts that are sometimes legal or judicial. Notable occurrences include:

1. Deuteronomy 33:2:

   “The Lord came from Sinai and dawned from Seir upon us; he shone forth from Mount Paran; he came with myriads of holy ones, with flaming fire at his right hand [a fiery law (אֵשׁ דָּת, esh dath)].”

This passage uses "fiery law" to symbolize God’s powerful and awe-inspiring commandments given to Israel.

2. Book of Esther: The term דָּת (dath) is used multiple times, referring to legal decrees, as in Esther 1:13, Esther 2:8, and Esther 3:8.

In Deuteronomy 33:2, the phrase אֵשׁ דָּת (esh dath) is unique, describing God’s law as “fiery” and emphasizing its intense, divine nature as revealed to Israel at Sinai. The concept of "fiery law" signifies God’s word as both powerful and purifying, given with the authority of divine fire.

Here are some occurrences of G799 (astrapé) in the New Testament:

- Matthew 24:27 — "For as the lightning (αστραπή, astrapé) comes from the east and flashes as far as the west, so will be the coming of the Son of Man."
- Luke 17:24 — "For as the lightning (αστραπή, astrapé) flashes and lights up the sky from one side to the other, so will the Son of Man be in his day."
- Matthew 28:3

  "His appearance was like lightning (αστραπή, astrapé), and his clothing white as snow."

Here, "lightning" describes the appearance of the angel at Jesus' tomb, symbolizing power and divine glory.

- Luke 9:29

  "And while he was praying, the appearance of his face changed, and his clothes became dazzling white, like a flash of lightning (αστραπή, astrapé)."

This passage describes Jesus' transfiguration, with His clothes becoming as bright as a flash of lightning, symbolizing divine revelation and glory.

- Revelation 4:5

  "Coming from the throne are flashes of lightning (αστραπή, astrapé), and rumblings and peals of thunder, and in front of the throne burn seven flaming torches, which are the seven spirits of God."

Here, lightning is associated with God’s throne, representing divine power and majesty.

- Revelation 8:5

  "Then the angel took the censer, filled it with fire from the altar, and threw it on the earth; and there were peals of thunder, rumblings, flashes of lightning (αστραπή, astrapé), and an earthquake."

Lightning here is part of a vision symbolizing God’s judgment on the earth.

- Revelation 11:19

"Then God’s temple in heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen within his temple; and there were flashes of lightning (αστραπή, astrapé), rumblings, peals of thunder, an earthquake, and heavy hail."

In this verse, lightning accompanies the opening of God’s heavenly temple, indicating divine power and awe.

- Revelation 16:18

  "And there came flashes of lightning (αστραπή, astrapé), rumblings, peals of thunder, and a violent earthquake, such as had not occurred since people were upon the earth, so violent was that earthquake."

Here, lightning is part of the imagery depicting the final, dramatic judgments on earth.

Let’s explore some fire:

- Matthew 3:11

  "I baptize you with water for repentance, but one who is more powerful than I is coming after me; I am not worthy to carry his sandals. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire."

Here, John the Baptist describes Jesus as the one who will baptize with the Holy Spirit and fire, signifying purification and divine empowerment.

- Luke 3:16

  "John answered all of them by saying, 'I baptize you with water; but one who is more powerful than I is coming; I am not worthy to untie the thong of his sandals. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.'"

This parallel verse in Luke also points to Jesus bringing the power of the Spirit and the purifying fire.

- Luke 12:49

  "I came to bring fire to the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled!"

Jesus here speaks of bringing a fire to the earth, often interpreted as judgment, transformation, or the radical change of God’s kingdom.

- Revelation 1:14

"His head and his hair were white as white wool, white as snow; his eyes were like a flame of fire."

In this vision of the glorified Christ, His eyes are described as "a flame of fire," symbolizing piercing insight, judgment, and divine knowledge.

- Revelation 2:18

  "And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write: These are the words of the Son of God, who has eyes like a flame of fire, and whose feet are like burnished bronze."

Here again, Jesus is depicted with "eyes like a flame of fire," indicating his role as a judge who discerns the hearts and actions of humanity.

- Hebrews 12:29

  "for indeed our God is a consuming fire."

Though this verse directly refers to God, it applies to Jesus as well, emphasizing the purifying and consuming nature of His holiness and judgment.

From the old testament:

- Exodus 3:2 – The Burning Bush

  "There the angel of the Lord appeared to him in flames of fire from within a bush. Moses saw that though the bush was on fire, it did not burn up."

The angel of the Lord appears to Moses in a bush that burns without being consumed, signifying God’s holy presence and His call to Moses. This flame represents divine holiness and purity.

- Exodus 13:21-22 – Pillar of Fire

  "The Lord went in front of them in a pillar of cloud by day, to lead them along the way, and in a pillar of fire by night, to give them light, so that they might travel by day and by night."

God guides the Israelites in the form of a pillar of fire, symbolizing His presence, guidance, and protection.

- Deuteronomy 4:24 – The Consuming Fire

  "For the Lord your God is a devouring fire, a jealous God."

Here, God is described metaphorically as a “devouring fire,” emphasizing His holiness, purity, and the consuming nature of His judgment.

- Daniel 7:9-10 – The Vision of the Ancient of Days

  "As I looked, thrones were set in place, and the Ancient of Days took his seat; his clothing was as white as snow; the hair of his head was white like wool. His throne was flaming with fire, and its wheels were all ablaze. A river of fire was flowing, coming out from before him."

In this vision, God’s throne is depicted as fiery, symbolizing His glory, majesty, and judgment.

- Ezekiel 1:4-5, 13-14 – The Vision of the Cherubim

  "I looked, and I saw a windstorm coming out of the north—an immense cloud with flashing lightning and surrounded by brilliant light. The center of the fire looked like glowing metal... The creatures looked like burning coals of fire or like torches; fire moved back and forth among the creatures; it was bright, and lightning flashed out of it."

Ezekiel sees the cherubim surrounded by fiery imagery, symbolizing God’s holiness and the powerful, mysterious nature of His heavenly beings.

- Psalm 104:4 – Angels as Flames of Fire

  "He makes winds his messengers, flames of fire his servants."

This verse poetically refers to angels as flames of fire, signifying their power, purity, and the swiftness with which they carry out God’s commands.

- Genesis 15:17 – The Flaming Torch in God’s Covenant with Abraham

  "When the sun had gone down and it was dark, a smoking fire pot and a flaming torch passed between these pieces."

This scene represents God’s presence as a flaming torch passing through the sacrificial pieces, symbolizing the binding nature of His covenant with Abraham.

- Exodus 19:18 – Fire on Mount Sinai

  "Now Mount Sinai was wrapped in smoke because the Lord had descended upon it in fire; the smoke went up like the smoke of a kiln, while the whole mountain shook violently."

When God descended on Mount Sinai, He appeared in fire, which symbolizes His holy and awe-inspiring presence as He delivered the law to Israel.

- 2 Kings 2:11 – Elijah Taken to Heaven in a Chariot of Fire

  "As they continued walking and talking, a chariot of fire and horses of fire separated the two of them, and Elijah ascended in a whirlwind into heaven."

The fiery chariot and horses, often interpreted as angelic beings, take Elijah up to heaven, symbolizing God's power and the supernatural nature of Elijah's departure.

- Isaiah 6:6-7 – The Seraphim with a Burning Coal

  "Then one of the seraphs flew to me, holding a live coal that had been taken from the altar with a pair of tongs. The seraph touched my mouth with it and said: 'Now that this has touched your lips, your guilt has departed and your sin is blotted out.'"

The seraphim (heavenly beings) use a burning coal to purify Isaiah, symbolizing divine cleansing and purification through fire.

- Ezekiel 10:2 – Coals of Fire in the Vision of God's Throne

  "He said to the man clothed in linen, 'Go in among the wheels beneath the cherubim; fill your hands with burning coals from among the cherubim, and scatter them over the city.' He went in as I looked on."

In this vision, coals of fire from the presence of the cherubim are used to symbolize judgment on Jerusalem, underscoring fire's role in divine purification and judgment.

- Isaiah 33:14 – Everlasting Burnings

  "The sinners in Zion are afraid; trembling has seized the godless: 'Who among us can live with the devouring fire? Who among us can live with everlasting burnings?'"

This verse highlights God as a "devouring fire" with "everlasting burnings," representing His holiness and the impossibility of sinful humans standing before His purity.

- Malachi 3:2-3 – The Refiner's Fire

"But who can endure the day of his coming, and who can stand when he appears? For he is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap; he will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver."

Here, God's coming is compared to a refiner's fire, symbolizing purification and the removal of impurities, foreshadowing the work of the Messiah.

- Judges 13:20 – The Angel of the Lord Ascending in the Flame

  "When the flame went up toward heaven from the altar, the angel of the Lord ascended in the flame of the altar while Manoah and his wife looked on; and they fell on their faces to the ground."

Here, the angel of the Lord is taken up in a flame, signifying the divine nature of this messenger and the supernatural presence of God.

- Isaiah 10:17 – The Light of Israel as a Fire

  "The light of Israel will become a fire, and his Holy One a flame; and it will burn and devour his thorns and briers in one day."

In this passage, God is described as a fire that will purify and consume, representing His holiness and judgment against wickedness.

- Psalm 97:3 – Fire Going Before God

  "Fire goes before him, and consumes his adversaries on every side."

This psalm describes God's majesty and judgment, with fire preceding Him as a sign of His might and His consuming power over His enemies.

- Habakkuk 3:4-5 – Fire in the Theophany of God

  "His brightness was like the light; rays came forth from his hand, where his power lay hidden. Before him went pestilence, and plague followed close behind."

In Habakkuk's vision, radiant light and fiery imagery describe the power and glory of God's presence, as He brings both judgment and salvation.

- 2 Samuel 22:13 – Fire from God's Presence

  "Out of the brightness before him coals of fire flamed forth."

This verse, part of David's song of deliverance, describes God's approach in judgment with blazing coals of fire, symbolizing His holy and powerful presence.

- Isaiah 30:27-30 – The Lord’s Anger in Flames

  "See, the name of the Lord comes from far away, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke; his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is like a devouring fire... The Lord will cause his majestic voice to be heard and the descending blow of his arm to be seen, in furious anger and a flame of devouring fire, with a cloudburst and tempest and hailstones."

This passage emphasizes God’s anger and the fiery aspects of His judgment, underscoring the consuming nature of His presence when responding to wickedness.

- Exodus 24:17 – The Appearance of God

  "Now the appearance of the glory of the Lord was like a devouring fire on the top of the mountain in the sight of the people of Israel."

In this passage, God's glory is depicted as a consuming fire, representing His holiness and majesty as He meets with Moses on Mount Sinai.

- 1 Kings 18:38 – Fire from Heaven in Elijah's Contest

  "Then the fire of the Lord fell and consumed the burnt offering, the wood, the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench."

Here, God answers Elijah's prayer with fire from heaven, demonstrating His sovereignty over Baal and reaffirming His power and presence among His people.

- 2 Chronicles 7:1 – Fire Consuming Solomon's Sacrifice

  "As soon as Solomon finished his prayer, fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices; and the glory of the Lord filled the temple."

This event marks the dedication of the temple, where God's approval and presence are signified by the fire consuming the sacrifices.

- Ezekiel 1:13 – Fire Among the Living Creatures

  "In the center of the living creatures there was something that looked like burning coals of fire, like torches moving back and forth among the living creatures. The fire was bright, and lightning flashed out of it."

This description emphasizes the intense, divine nature of the heavenly beings and their connection to God's presence.

- Zechariah 2:5 – The Lord as a Wall of Fire

  "And I will be to her a wall of fire all around, says the Lord, and I will be the glory in her midst."

In this prophecy, God promises to be a protective wall of fire around His people, symbolizing His presence and defense against enemies.

- Psalm 66:12 – Going Through Fire

  "You let people ride over our heads; we went through fire and through water; yet you have brought us out to a spacious place."

While not directly describing God as fire, this verse uses the imagery of fire to represent trials and purification that lead to deliverance.

- Lamentations 2:4 – The Lord as an Enemy

  "He bent his bow like an enemy, with his right hand set like a foe; and he killed all in whom was delight; in the tent of daughter Judah he poured out his fury like fire."

This verse describes God's judgment, using the imagery of fire to depict the intensity of His wrath against sin.

- Exodus 19:16 – The Thunder and Lightning at Sinai

  "On the morning of the third day there was thunder and lightning, as well as a thick cloud on the mountain and a blast of a trumpet so loud that all the people who were in the camp trembled."

The vivid imagery of lightning and thunder at Mount Sinai underscores the awesome presence of God as He prepares to give the law to Israel.

- Leviticus 9:24 – Fire from the Lord

  "Fire came out from the presence of the Lord and consumed the burnt offering and the fat portions on the altar. And when all the people saw it, they shouted for joy and fell face down."

This event signifies God's acceptance of the offerings and His divine presence among the Israelites.

- Deuteronomy 5:24 – The Fire and the Voice of God

"And you said, 'The Lord our God has shown us his glory and greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the fire. Today we have seen that a person can live even if God speaks with them.'"

The people of Israel recognize God's voice coming from the fire, highlighting His powerful and living presence.

- Ezekiel 10:6-7 – The Fire Among the Cherubim

"When he commanded the man in linen, 'Take fire from between the whirling wheels, from between the cherubim,' he went in and stood beside a wheel. Then the cherubim stretched out their hand from between the cherubim to the fire that was between the cherubim, and took some of it and put it into the hands of the man in linen, who took it and went out."

This passage describes a heavenly scene where fire is actively present among the cherubim, symbolizing divine judgment and action.

- Amos 1:4 – Fire in Judgment

"So I will send a fire upon the house of Hazael, and it shall devour the strongholds of Ben-hadad."

Fire is used as a metaphor for judgment against the enemies of Israel, representing God's authority over nations.

- Malachi 4:1 – The Coming Day of Judgment

"For behold, the day is coming, burning like an oven, when all the arrogant and all evildoers will be stubble; the day that comes shall burn them up, says the Lord of hosts, so that it will leave them neither root nor branch."

This verse uses the imagery of burning fire to describe the impending judgment of God on the wicked.

- 1 Chronicles 21:26 – Fire from Heaven on the Altar

"And David built there an altar to the Lord and presented burnt offerings and peace offerings, and called on the Lord, and he answered him with fire from heaven on the altar of burnt offering."

God responds to David's offerings with fire from heaven, demonstrating His presence and acceptance.

Did Muhammad know where Sinai, Seir and Paran was? I've provided the Surah numbers, you can check Arabic:

■Surah 28:22

> "And when he [Moses] directed himself toward Midian, he said, 'Perhaps my Lord will guide me to the sound way.'"

■Surah 28:23

> "And when he came to the well of Midian, he found there a crowd of people watering [their flocks], and he found aside from them two women keeping back [their flocks]. He said, 'What is your circumstance?' They said, 'We do not water until the shepherds dispatch [their flocks]; and our father is an old man.'"

■Surah 28:29

> "And when Moses had completed the term and was traveling with his family, he perceived a fire on the side of the mountain. He said to his family, 'Stay here; indeed, I have perceived a fire. Perhaps I will bring you from there information or a burning wood from the fire that you may warm yourselves.'"

■Surah 28:30

> "But when he came to it, he was called from the right side of the valley in a blessed spot - from the tree: 'O Moses, indeed I am Allah, Lord of the worlds.'"

The place where Hazrat Musa was called is never described in the Quran with the Arabic term "jabal" (mountain). The Quran uses the word "tur" (2.63; 2.93; 4.154; 19:52; 20:80; 23:20; 28:29; 28:46; 52:1; 95:2). Quran verses:

2:63

"And when We took your covenant and raised above you the Mount, [saying], 'Take what We have given you with strength, and remember what is in it that you may become righteous.'"

Refers to the moment when the mountain (often interpreted as Sinai) was lifted as a sign to the Israelites regarding the seriousness of their covenant.

2:93

"And when We took your covenant and raised above you the Mount, [saying], 'Take what We have given you with strength and listen.' They said, 'We hear and disobey,' and their hearts absorbed [the worship of] the calf due to their disbelief. Say, 'Wretched is that which your belief enjoins upon you, if you should be believers.'"

Again mentioning the Mount, with the Israelites responding to God's commands while struggling with faithfulness.

4:154

"And We raised above them the Mount for [the breaking of] their covenant, and We said to them, 'Enter the gate bowing humbly'; and We said to them, 'Do not transgress in the matter of the Sabbath,' and We took from them a solemn covenant."

Another reminder of the covenant with the Israelites under the Mount, emphasizing obedience.

19:52

"And We called him from the right side of the Mount, and We brought him near, confiding."

God calls to Moses from the right side of Mount, where He confides in him.

20:80

"O Children of Israel, We saved you from your enemy, and We made an appointment with you on the right side of the Mount, and We sent down to you manna and quails."

Refers to God's provisions for the Israelites in the wilderness and the appointment with them at the Mount.

23:20

"And [We brought forth] a tree issuing from Mount Sinai, producing oil and [as a relish] for those who eat."

Describes an olive tree originating from Mount Sinai, symbolizing sustenance.

طُورِ (ṭūr) – This term means "mountain" in Arabic. In Quranic context, طُور is used to refer to a significant mountain, often understood as Mount Sinai, where God spoke to Moses.

سَيْنَآءَ (saynā’) – This is the Arabic term for "Sinai," used here to specify the mountain's location. It is a name associated with the Sinai Peninsula, the area traditionally believed to be where Mount Sinai is located.

28:29

"And when Moses had completed the term and was traveling with his family, he perceived from the side of the Mount [Tur] a fire. He said to his family, 'Stay here; indeed, I have perceived a fire. Perhaps I can bring you from it some news or a burning brand from the fire that you may warm yourselves.'"

Here, "the Mount" (Tur) is mentioned as the location where Moses sees the fire.

28:46

"And you were not on the western side when We decreed to Moses the command, nor were you among the witnesses."

God addresses the Prophet Muhammad, reminding him of not being physically present at the Mountain when Moses received the command.

52:1

"By the Mount [Tur]."

An oath taken by God, swearing by "the Mount" (Tur), which traditionally refers to Mount Sinai.

95:2

The phrase وَطُورِ سِينِينَ appears in Quran 95:2 and is typically translated as "by Mount Sinai." Here’s a word-by-word breakdown:

1. وَ (wa) – This is the Arabic conjunction meaning "and" or used as an oath, meaning "by," especially in Quranic Arabic when God is swearing by something.
2. طُورِ (ṭūr) – This term means "mountain" and specifically refers to a significant mountain. In Islamic tradition, it is often associated with Mount Sinai, the mountain where Moses received revelation.
3. سِينِينَ (sīnīn) – This is a unique term, and in this context, it is understood as a descriptive name referring to the region of "Sinai." The word سِينِينَ is thought to be a variation of سَيْنَاء (saynā'), which also means "Sinai" in Arabic.

Another oath, specifically mentioning "Mount Sinai," emphasizing its sacred importance.

Many English translators insert words like "Mount, mountain, Sinai" in their translations, although these are clearly absent from the Arabic text.

The reason is that Tur was never described as a mountain in the Quran. Actually, Muhammad did not know where or what the biblical Sinai was.

Muhammad had no knowledge of geography. He just copied some incidents from the Bible into the Quran, where he made mistakes.

The Arabic word for mountain is "jabal," and it appears in the Quran generally when referring to mountains (Q 2:260, 7:74, etc.).

However, when the Quran specifically refers to Mount Sinai, it uses the word "tur," not just in Tur Saina (Q 23:20; cf. Q 95:2).

But in general, it says “The Mount” as Al-Tur (Q 4:154; 19:15; 20:80; possibly 52:1, by the oath of Al-Tur).

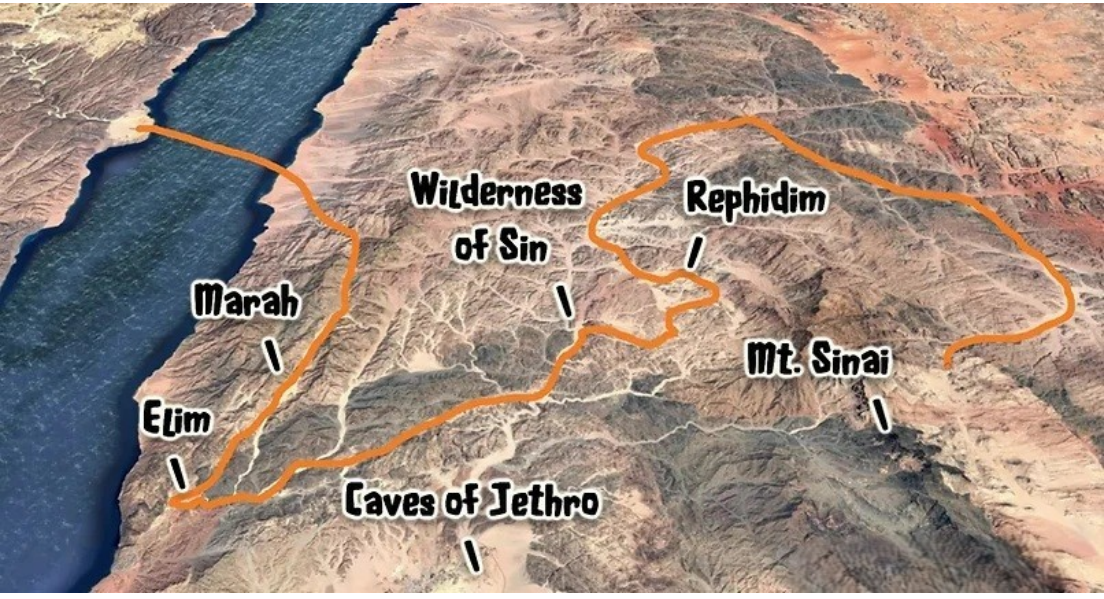
This is interesting because the Arabic root t-w-r is not related to a mountain but to a "height" or "state," “degree” or “state.”

It is possible that the Quran derived the word "tur" from Syriac "tura." This word appears as Tur Saina in Q 23:20, close to the Hebrew "shur" (ṣūr), which means "stone."

In this way, the Quran refers to Sinai specifically as "tur" rather than "jabal," a term associated with the holy mountain tradition from Christian (and possibly Jewish) tradition.

Thus, we understand that the word "tur" in the Quran came from the Syriac word "tura." Or, it could have been borrowed from the Hebrew word "shur," which refers to a rock.

Some earlier researchers believed the biblical Sinai was located near Egypt. However, recent research alternative theory says that Moses and the Israelites crossed the sea from there and entered Midian:



In Midian, Yahweh first appeared to Moses. The mountain near where Moses/Musa and the Israelites stayed in Midian is called Horeb. Mount Sinai is located near Mount Horeb. Researchers have found various types of evidence of the Israelites’ presence there.

Moses, when he brought the nation of Israel to Mount Sinai, which is also called Mount Horeb, was given the Ten Commandments and the laws of the Torah by Jehovah. Moses would write them down and later convey them to the people of Israel.

Foolish Gypsy Nation Prophesy

Deuteronomy 32:21:

"They made me jealous with what is no god; they provoked me with their idols. So I will make them jealous with those who are no people; I will provoke them with a foolish nation."

By showing this verse from the Bible, Muslims claim that Allah said here that he would use another nation to discipline the Israelites.

They have provoked	כִּעֲסוּנִי (ki·'a·su·ni)	3707: to be vexed or angry
Me to anger	:אַכְעִיסֵם (ach·'i·sem.)	3707: to be vexed or angry with their idols.	בְּהַבְלֵיהֶם (be·hav·lei·hem;)	1892: vapor, breath
So I will make them jealous		7065: to be jealous or zealous with [those who] are not a people;	עַם (am,)	5971a: people
I will provoke them to anger		3707: to be vexed or angry with a foolish	נָבָל (na·val)	5036: foolish, senseless
nation,	בְּגֹוי (be·go·vy)	1471: nation, people

Muslims claim “No people” & “Foolish nation” term only goes with them in this verse.

punishment referenced in Deuteronomy 32:21:

1. The Babylonian Exile (586 B.C.E.): Israel’s persistent idolatry led to their conquest by Babylon. This is illustrated in 2 Kings 25:8-10:

   "In the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, that was the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. He burned the house of the Lord, the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem; every great house he burned down."

Additionally, Jeremiah 25:8-11 states:

> "Therefore thus says the Lord of hosts: Because you have not obeyed my words, I am going to send for all the tribes of the north, says the Lord, and for King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon, my servant, and I will bring them against this land and its inhabitants, and against all these nations around. They shall utterly destroy them and make them an object of horror and of hissing, and an everlasting desolation."

2. The Rise of Gentile Nations: God used foreign nations to execute judgment on Israel. For example, in Isaiah 10:5-6, it states:

   "Ah, Assyria, the rod of my anger—the club in their hands is my fury! Against a godless nation I send him, and against the people of my wrath I commission him, to take spoil and seize plunder, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets."

Similarly, Jeremiah 50:17-18 highlights this theme:

> "Israel is a hunted sheep driven away by lions. First the king of Assyria devoured him, and now at the end, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon has gnawed his bones. Therefore, thus says the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: I am bringing punishment on the king of Babylon and his land, as I punished the king of Assyria."

3. The Ministry of Jesus and Early Church: In the New Testament, Jesus indicates that the kingdom will be taken from Israel in Matthew 21:43:

   "Therefore I tell you, the kingdom of God will be taken away from you and given to a people that produces the fruits of the kingdom."

4. Paul's Letter to the Romans: Paul discusses the Gentiles being grafted into God’s promises and Israel’s unbelief in Romans 11:11-12:

   "So I ask, have they stumbled so as to fall? By no means! But through their stumbling salvation has come to the Gentiles, so as to make Israel jealous. Now if their stumbling means riches for the world, and if their defeat means riches for Gentiles, how much more will their full inclusion mean!"

We clearly see from Bible it is gentile nation. Even Hitler was a Gentile, believed racial (Aryan supremacy) superiority like Romans. Muslims though believe racial superiority than people of the former scripture, but Jews have never become Jealous of Arabs when in the timeline of the verse’s intention.

The phrase "not a people" refers to a group of people of little worth. Muslims claim this refers to the Arab people. During Muhammad’s time, the Arab people were not considered highly valuable.

And "nation that has no understanding" refers to an uneducated people.

Muslims claim that this refers to Muhammad or the Arab people. Since Muhammad was illiterate, he is considered uneducated or ignorant.

Mecca’s Allah used Muhammad to expel three Jewish tribes from Arabia. But was at that time Jews doing something wrong like worshiping idols? Muhammad couldn’t prove that, that’s why he blamed them of worshiping Ezra as God’s son, even which he couldn't prove Jews were doing. So why punish them, for what reason?

This problem began from the time of Moses. Even after the death of Moses, the nation of Israel disobeyed Yahweh many times.

If you read the Book of Judges in the Bible, you will see that every time the nation of Israel disobeyed Yahweh, Yahweh used other nations to punish the Israelites.

- Judges 2:11-19: This passage summarizes the cycle Israel goes through:

  "Then the Israelites did what was evil in the sight of the Lord and worshiped the Baals; and they abandoned the Lord, the God of their ancestors, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt; they followed other gods, from among the gods of the peoples who were all around them, and bowed down to them; and they provoked the Lord to anger" (Judges 2:11-12,).

  "Whenever the Lord raised up judges for them, the Lord was with the judge, and he delivered them from the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge; for the Lord would be moved to pity by their groaning because of those who persecuted and oppressed them" (Judges 2:18,).

- Judges 3:7-11: When Israel does evil, Yahweh allows them to fall under the oppression of Cushan-Rishathaim, king of Mesopotamia, until He raises up Othniel as a deliverer:

  "The Israelites did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, forgetting the Lord their God and worshiping the Baals and the Asherahs. Therefore, the anger of the Lord was kindled against Israel, and he sold them into the hand of King Cushan-rishathaim of Aram-naharaim; and the Israelites served Cushan-rishathaim eight years" (Judges 3:7-8,).

  "But when the Israelites cried out to the Lord, the Lord raised up a deliverer for the Israelites, who delivered them, Othniel son of Kenaz, Caleb's younger brother" (Judges 3:9,).

- Judges 4:1-3: Another instance of Israel's disobedience and resulting oppression, this time under King Jabin:

  "The Israelites again did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, after Ehud died. So the Lord sold them into the hand of King Jabin of Canaan, who reigned in Hazor; the commander of his army was Sisera, who lived in Harosheth-ha-goiim. Then the Israelites cried out to the Lord for help, for he had nine hundred chariots of iron and had oppressed the Israelites cruelly twenty years" (Judges 4:1-3,).

Many years later, during the time of the prophet Jeremiah, Jerusalem was captured by Babylon. From that time until the time of Jesus, the nation of Israel remained under the control of other nations. Yahweh used several nations to punish the Israelites. That doesn't mean Yahweh will use Muhammad to discipline the Israelites.

After Muhammad declared himself a prophet, he killed all the men of the Banu Qurayza, and most of Banu Qaynuqa, Banu Nadir tribe. One by one, the men were captured and beheaded in the name of the god of Mecca, Allah. This act doesn't proves that Muhammad was a prophet. Previous punished nations were not prophetic either.

Deuteronomy 33 contains Moses' final blessings for the tribes of Israel before his death. In this chapter, Moses, acting as the prophet and leader, speaks directly to each tribe, offering words of encouragement, promises, and blessings tailored to their future roles and challenges. The chapter emphasizes God's (Hebrew: Elohim, אֱלֹהִים) enduring love and guidance for Israel and His divine protection over His people.

■Key Points:

1. Introduction and Praise for God (verses 1-5):
    - Moses praises God's majesty, describing how He came from Sinai and appeared in splendor to His people, demonstrating His care and protection. Israel is declared to be the people God cherishes and whom He has chosen.
2. Blessings for Each Tribe:
    - Reuben (verse 6): Moses prays that Reuben, though small, would live and not perish.
    - Judah (verse 7): He asks for strength and help for Judah in conflicts.
    - Levi (verses 8-11): Levi receives blessings due to their faithfulness and dedication to God's covenant, with a role in teaching Israel the law and maintaining the sanctuary.
    - Benjamin (verse 12): Benjamin is described as beloved by the Lord and given security.
    - Joseph (verses 13-17): Moses grants abundant blessings to Joseph, particularly prosperity in the land. Ephraim and Manasseh are blessed with growth and strength.
    - Zebulun and Issachar (verses 18-19): These tribes are blessed with joy, prosperity in their territories, and rewards for following God.
    - Gad (verses 20-21): Moses speaks of Gad's courage and strength, commending their readiness for battle.
    - Dan (verse 22): Dan is likened to a lion's cub, symbolizing strength and vigor.

- Naphtali (verse 23): Naphtali is blessed with satisfaction and favor, inheriting fertile land.
- Asher (verses 24-25): Moses blesses Asher with abundance, strength, and favor from others.

3. Final Blessing and Praise (verses 26-29):

    - Moses ends with a broader blessing for all Israel, emphasizing God as Israel's protector and deliverer. Israel is depicted as blessed above all nations, secure, and upheld by God's eternal arms.

Deuteronomy 33 serves as a farewell, reminding Israel of God's steadfast love and guidance and encouraging them to stay faithful to Him. It's a powerful tribute to God's enduring promises and the unique destiny of each tribe.

Before entering promised land Moses died. If you want to go from Egypt to Israel, which way would you go? Would you go toward Mecca? Of course not.

Research shows that the area Moses crossed through, which is likely the Gulf of Aqaba, was the route to the Sinai mountain where Jehovah first appeared to Moses. Jehovah first appeared to Moses in Midian. In Midian, there is the mountain of Sinai, also known as Mount Horeb. When Moses came to Sinai, his father-in-law Jethro came to meet him because Jethro lived in Midian. So, the three-day journey from this Sinai leads to Paran.

So, why would Moses go to Mecca? Moses was going to the land of Canaan. Jehovah spoke to Moses about Canaan, not Mecca.

Then it says, "comes from Sinai." Jehovah God will come from Sinai. We saw on the map that Sinai, Paran, and Seir are close to each other.

Deuteronomy 33:2 (The translation Muslims chose)

"The Lord came from Sinai,
and dawned from Seir upon us;
he shone forth from Mount Paran.
With him were myriads of holy ones;
at his right hand was a fiery law for them."

If Muslims are interpreting this verse replacing God with Muhammad and holy ones (angels) with Mecca invaders then they are doing just blasphemy.

Since Jesus spoke many times about the kingdom of Jehovah in the Bible, this Sinai refers to Jehovah's kingdom and its law. The king of Jehovah's kingdom is Jesus, and so, through Jesus, this verse in the Bible will be fulfilled.

Solomon’s Bride Prophesy

The Song of Solomon, also known as the "Song of Songs," is a canonical book in the Old Testament. It deals with pure love and relationships between a man and a woman. It is a biblical book that showcases the art and poetic styles of that era. In these poems, Solomon describes the physical beauty and desires of his beloved. Later, many Christian priests have compared it to the relationship between God and His church. The main idea of this book is the love story between a husband (who represents King Solomon) and his wife. Its purpose is to reaffirm the sanctity of marriage and compare it to God's love for His people and His church. Let’s read some parts from the Song of Solomon to understand its content.

Song of Solomon, Chapter 1, Verse 1-17:

1 The Song of Songs, which is Solomon’s.
2 Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth! For your love is better than wine,
3 your anointing oils are fragrant; your name is perfume poured out; therefore the maidens love you.
4 Draw me after you; let us make haste. The king has brought me into his chambers. We will exult and rejoice in you; we will extol your love more than wine; rightly do they love you.

5 I am black and beautiful, O daughters of Jerusalem, like the tents of Kedar, like the curtains of Solomon.
6 Do not gaze at me because I am dark, because the sun has gazed on me. My mother’s sons were angry with me; they made me keeper of the vineyards, but my own vineyard I have not kept!

7 Tell me, you whom my soul loves, where you pasture your flock, where you make it lie down at noon; for why should I be like one who is veiled beside the flocks of your companions?

8 If you do not know, O fairest among women, follow the tracks of the flock, and pasture your kids beside the shepherds’ tents.

9 I compare you, my love, to a mare among Pharaoh’s chariots.
10 Your cheeks are comely with ornaments, your neck with strings of jewels.
11 We will make you ornaments of gold, studded with silver.

12 While the king was on his couch, my nard gave forth its fragrance.
13 My beloved is to me a bag of myrrh that lies between my breasts.
14 My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blossoms in the vineyards of En-gedi.

15 Ah, you are beautiful, my love; ah, you are beautiful; your eyes are doves.
16 Ah, you are beautiful, my beloved, truly lovely. Our couch is green;
17 the beams of our house are cedar, our rafters are pine.

Overview: The chapter introduces the love and longing between a young woman (the Shulammite) and her beloved. It is filled with poetic expressions of admiration and desire.

Excerpts and Analysis:

1. Verses 1-4: The song begins with the declaration of Solomon's song, followed by the Shulammite expressing her desire for her lover's kiss and love, which she finds more delightful than wine.
    - "Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth— for your love is more delightful than wine."

She speaks of the fragrance of his perfume and how others adore him.

2. Verses 5-6: The Shulammite describes herself as dark but lovely, comparing her complexion to the tents of Kedar and the curtains of Solomon. She explains her appearance is due to her hard work under the sun, forced by her brothers.
    - "Do not stare at me because I am dark, because I am darkened by the sun. My mother's sons were angry with me and made me take care of the vineyards; my own vineyard I had to neglect."
3. Verses 7-8: She asks her beloved where he pastures his flock, expressing her desire to be near him and not appear as a veiled woman among his companions.
    - "Tell me, you whom I love, where you graze your flock and where you rest your sheep at midday. Why should I be like a veiled woman beside the flocks of your friends?"
4. Verses 9-11: The lover responds, comparing her beauty to a mare among Pharaoh's chariot horses, and promises to adorn her with gold and silver jewelry.
    - "I liken you, my darling, to a mare among Pharaoh's chariot horses. Your cheeks are beautiful with earrings, your neck with strings of jewels. We will make you earrings of gold, studded with silver."
5. Verses 12-14: The Shulammite describes her beloved as a sachet of myrrh resting between her breasts and likens him to a cluster of henna blossoms.

- "My beloved is to me a sachet of myrrh resting between my breasts. My beloved is to me a cluster of henna blossoms from the vineyards of En Gedi."

6. Verses 15-17: Both lovers exchange compliments, praising each other's beauty and expressing their mutual admiration.
    - Lover: "How beautiful you are, my darling! Oh, how beautiful! Your eyes are doves."
    - Beloved: "How handsome you are, my beloved! Oh, how charming! And our bed is verdant."

Is Muhammad Then Solomon's Bride?

Those who have read the Song of Solomon will understand that claiming it as a prophecy about Prophet Muhammad is utterly ridiculous! The Song of Solomon is a short poetic book about the loving, physical, or sexual relationship between Solomon and his bride. Some Muslims claim that this book cannot be the word of God because Solomon and his wife describe each other’s bodies in sexually appealing language. For example, in Song of Solomon Chapter 7, Verses 1-3, Solomon says to his wife:

1 How graceful are your feet in sandals, O queenly maiden! Your rounded thighs are like jewels, the work of a master hand.

2 Your navel is a rounded bowl that never lacks mixed wine. Your belly is a heap of wheat, encircled with lilies.

3 Your two breasts are like two fawns, twins of a gazelle.

The most absurd and laughable thing is that the Song of Solomon describes King Solomon’s sexual desire and admiration for his beautiful wife’s physical beauty, and yet some Islamists are searching for a prophecy about Muhammad in this book!

Examining the So-Called Prophecy

Let's shed light on the so-called prophecy about Prophet Muhammad. In Chapter 5, Verse 8, Solomon's wife tells her friends:

"Daughters of Jerusalem, I charge you— if you find my beloved, what will you tell him? Tell him I am faint with love."

Her friends ask her in Verse 9:

"How is your beloved better than others, most beautiful of women? How is your beloved better than others, that you so charge us?"

Then Solomon's wife responds in Verses 10 to 16. Read these verses and see if we can find a prophecy about Prophet Muhammad:

"My beloved is radiant and ruddy, outstanding among ten thousand. His head is purest gold; his hair is wavy and black as a raven. His eyes are like doves by the water streams, washed in milk, mounted like jewels. His cheeks are like beds of spice yielding perfume. His lips are like lilies dripping with myrrh. His arms are rods of gold set with topaz. His body is like polished ivory decorated with lapis lazuli. His legs are pillars of marble set on bases of pure gold. His appearance is like Lebanon, choice as its cedars. His mouth is sweetness itself; he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, this is my friend, daughters of Jerusalem."

Muslims have found their Prophet Muhammad in this last verse. Why should we interpret this verse as a prophecy about Muhammad? Islamists argue that since the Hebrew word "machamadim" has been translated here as “altogether lovely” and the word "machamadim" bears some resemblance to the name "Muhammad," it actually refers to Muhammad. Therefore, they claim that the translation of Song of Solomon 5:16 should be:

"His mouth is sweetness itself; he is Muhammad. This is my beloved, this is my friend, daughters of Jerusalem."

Now, let’s look at the transliteration (Hebrew pronunciation) of Song of Solomon 5:16:

"chiko mamtakim vekhulo machamadim ze dodi veze rei benot yerushalaim"

Hebrew for “lovely” is מחמד (MHMD, Arabic محمد)

This verse is part of a chapter describing a new bride’s detailed description of her husband. Notice a few points here. Firstly, Solomon's wife is describing the physical beauty of a man. It makes perfect sense if she is talking about her husband. But our Muslim friends insist that Solomon’s wife is talking about Prophet Muhammad, thus accusing Solomon’s wife of longing for another man.

Secondly, if 5:16 is about Prophet Muhammad, then Solomon’s wife calls Prophet Muhammad her “beloved.” But in Chapter 7, Verse 10, she says:

"I belong to my beloved, and his desire is for me."

So she declares that she belongs to Muhammad and Muhammad desires her. How does Solomon's bride desire Prophet Muhammad? Why would Prophet Muhammad desire a woman from fifteen centuries before his time? Either the Song of Solomon is a highly troubling story of a time-traveling adulterous relationship between Solomon's wife and Prophet Muhammad, or the book has no connection to Muhammad.

The Word "Machmad" in the Old Testament

The word "machmad" is used in many places in the Old Testament. If "machmad" indeed means "Muhammad," then we must say that wherever "machmad" is used, it refers to Muhammad. Let's consider two more verses where the word "machmad" appears and see what happens if we translate the word as "Muhammad."

In Ezekiel 24:16, Ezekiel's wife is called "machmad" (Hebrew pronunciation):

"ben-adam hineni lokeyach mimekha et-machmad enekha bemagefa velo tispod velo tivke velo tavo dimatekha"

Let's understand the meaning of this verse:

"Son of man, with one blow I am about to take away from you the delight of your eyes. Yet do not lament or weep or let your tears flow."

If "machmad" means "Muhammad," then Muhammad must be Ezekiel's wife! Does any Muslim believe this?

Let's pay attention to Ezekiel 24:21:

"Say to the house of Israel, 'This is what the Sovereign LORD says: I am about to desecrate my sanctuary—the stronghold in which you take pride, the delight of your eyes, the object of your affection. The sons and daughters you left behind will fall by the sword.'"

Let's see the transliteration:

"emor levet yisrael ko-amar adonai ELOHIM hineni mechalel et-mikdashi geon uzekhem machmad enekhem umachmal nafshekhem uvnekhem uvnotekhem asher azavtem bacherev yipolu"

Here, if we assume "machmad" means "Muhammad," it would imply that Allah is promising to destroy Muhammad! Would Muslims or even Zakir Naik accept this?

Before and after Muhammad, two other non-Islamic prophets named Mani and Mirza Husayn Ali ('Bahaullah) each claimed to be a prophet with a scripture claiming to be the next in the line of all the other prophets. Using Naik's dubious methodology, we find Bahaullah (חסין) prophesied by name in Psalm 89:8 and Mani (מני) named specifically in eighteen places!

1. Genesis 36:35 - Refers to Husham, who died, and Hadad the son of Bedad succeeded him as king.
2. Deuteronomy 33:6 - Part of Moses' blessing for the tribe of Reuben, asking for the tribe to live and not die out.
3. Joshua 6:13 - Describes the seven priests carrying seven trumpets of rams' horns before the Ark of the Lord.
4. Judges 5:11 - From the song of Deborah, referring to the righteous acts of the Lord and His warriors.
5. 1 Samuel 7:14 - Refers to cities that were taken from Israel being restored, from Ekron to Gath.
6. 2 Samuel 15:27 - David speaking to Zadok the priest, telling him to return to the city with his son Ahimaaz.
7. 1 Kings 10:12 - Describes the almug trees brought by the ships of Hiram and used by Solomon.
8. 2 Kings 16:7 - King Ahaz of Judah sends messengers to Tiglath-Pileser of Assyria for help.
9. 1 Chronicles 1:46 - Reference to Husham's death and Hadad's succession.
10. 1 Chronicles 5:20 - The Reubenites, Gadites, and half-tribe of Manasseh cried out to God in battle, and He granted their plea because they trusted in Him.
11. 2 Chronicles 9:10 - Reference to the almug trees and precious stones brought by the servants of Huram.
12. Ezra 8:16 - Ezra sends for leading men and those with understanding to bring ministers for the house of God.
13. Nehemiah 2:8 - Nehemiah requests timber for the gates of the citadel by the temple, the city wall, and the house he will occupy.
14. Job 21:16 - Job speaks of the wicked, saying their prosperity is not in their own hands.
15. Psalms 45:17 - A promise to perpetuate the memory of the bride in all generations.
16. Psalms 71:5 - The psalmist declares the Lord as his hope and trust from his youth.
17. Proverbs 8:21 - Wisdom speaks of endowing wealth to those who love her.
18. Isaiah 44:12 - Describes the blacksmith who works with coals and hammers metal into an idol, working with the strength of his arms.

Are we to believe that those references are actually prophecies of these two false prophets?

The fatwa from the IslamQA website provides a thorough response to the claim that the word "mahammadim" in Song of Solomon 5:16 refers to Prophet Muhammad:

Fatwa of Saudi Arabia's Highest Scholars on the Interpretation of "Mahammadim" in Song of Solomon Question: I am from India. My doubt concerns the Bible verse Song of Solomon 5:16. In the Hebrew Bible, the word "muhammadim" appears. However, my friend who knows Hebrew says that "muhammad" is not a complete word. It is a combination of two Hebrew words: "Ma" (a question tag) and "Amad" (a root word). "Ma" means how much or more, and "Amad" means lovely. It is a question verb, and question verbs (e.g., how much, what, why, when, how) are not used as names. Additionally, the Song of Solomon was written in 900 BC, while Muhammad came in 600 CE. My friend suggests that Muhammad copied this name from the Song of Solomon, so this verse is not talking about Prophet Muhammad. Could you provide an elaborate explanation, and do you know Hebrew?

Answer:

The Hebrew text referred to is Song of Solomon 5:16, which reads:

חִכּוֹ מַמְתַקִּים וְכֻלּוֹ מַחֲמַדִּים זֶה דוֹדִי וְזֶה רֵעִי בְּנוֹת יְרוּשָׁלָם׃

Transliteration: Hik.ko ma m.taq.qim we.kul.low ma.ha.mad.dim zeh do.w.di we.zeh re.‘i be.no.wt ye.ru.sha.lim

Translations:

King James Version: “His mouth is most sweet: yea, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jerusalem.”

Douay-Rheims Bible: “His throat most sweet, and he is all lovely: such is my beloved, and he is my friend, O ye daughters of Jerusalem.”
American Standard Version: “His mouth is most sweet; Yea, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jerusalem.”
New International Version: “His mouth is sweetness itself; he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, this is my friend, daughters of Jerusalem.”
Jewish Publication Society: “His mouth is most sweet; Yea, he is altogether lovely. This is my beloved, and this is my friend, O daughters of Jerusalem.”
Expert Opinion:

We also referred to some experts in the Hebrew language, who confirmed the soundness of these translations and confirmed that the word mahammadim is not a proper noun or name. Rather, it signifies beauty and desire, and it is mentioned in many places in the Old Testament with such meanings.
Furthermore, the context here rules out any interpretation of the word as referring to Muhammad. The entire book of the Song of Solomon is a love poem between a man and a woman, with erotic phrases. The context is far removed from referring to the Prophet who would come at the end of time, namely Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him).

As for the English translation of this word (mahammadim), scholars have suggested words such as "loveliness," "charm," "desire," and "delight," which do not approach the meanings of names like Ahmad or Muhammad.

Nevertheless, the fact that there is foretelling of Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him) in earlier books is proven and established, as Allah, may He be glorified and exalted, says (interpretation of the meaning):

> "Those who follow the Messenger, the Prophet who can neither read nor write (i.e., Muhammad (blessings and peace of Allah be upon him)), whom they find written with them in the Taurat (Torah) (Deuteronomy 18:15) and the Injeel (Gospel) (John 14:16)"
> — [al-A'raaf 7:157]

Proving this does not require altering the meaning of any words in a way contrary to their Hebrew sense or the context in which they appear. Scholars have written books dealing with this topic, compiling the prophecies mentioned in the Old Testament, the New Testament, and even the books of other religions. These books include:

1. Al-Bashaarah bi Nabi al-Islam fi't-Tawraat wa'l-Injeel by Dr. Ahmad Hijaazi as-Saqa
2. Diraasaat fi'l-Yahoodiyyah wa'l-Maseehiyyah wa Adyaan al-Hind by Dr. Muhammad Diya' ar-Rahmaan al-A'zami

And Allah knows best.

Conclusion: When observing the horrifying attempts to propagate Islam through countless lies and deceptions, it becomes clear how fundamentally weak and trivial this religion is, as they require falsehoods for their promotion. It is unlikely that Zakir Naik is unaware of what he is saying. It is very clear that Zakir Naik knows he is lying, yet he continues to do so to propagate Islam. A song sung by a lover to enjoy sexual pleasure and love with her beloved is being interpreted by Islamists to find Muhammad in it. Even when these falsehoods are pointed out, these liars show no shame whatsoever. They will continue to say the same thing shamelessly. Such actions are extremely vile and of the lowest order. Readers are urged to scrutinize these propagandas and evaluate them with logic, facts, and evidence.

Matthew 12:18-20

This passage is a quotation of Isaiah 42:1-4 in the New Testament, where Jesus' role is described in a prophetic sense.

> "Here is my servant, whom I have chosen, my beloved, with whom my soul is well pleased. I will put my Spirit upon him, and he will proclaim justice to the Gentiles. He will not wrangle or cry aloud, nor will anyone hear his voice in the streets. He will not break a bruised reed or quench a smoldering wick until he brings justice to victory."
> (Matthew 12:18-20,)

In the Greek, the word for "servant" is pais (G3816), which can imply a servant, child, or chosen one. Jesus is shown as embodying humility, quiet strength, and a commitment to justice.

■Isaiah 42:1-2

This passage, referenced in Matthew, presents God's chosen servant.

> "Here is my servant, whom I uphold, my chosen, in whom my soul delights; I have put my spirit upon him; he will bring forth justice to the nations. He will not cry or lift up his voice or make it heard in the street."
> (Isaiah 42:1-2,)

In Hebrew, "servant" here is ʿebed (עֶבֶד), and "my soul delights" uses the term nephesh (נֶפֶשׁ) for soul or life.

■Song of Solomon 5:16

In this verse, the beloved is described with poetic admiration.

> "His speech is most sweet, and he is altogether desirable. This is my beloved and this is my friend, O daughters of Jerusalem."
> (Song of Solomon 5:16,)

The word translated as "altogether desirable" is machmadim (מַחֲמַדִּים), highlighting beauty and delight.

Illiterates Can’t Read Prophesy

Zakir Naik likes to quote, in his words, “the book of Isaiah, it is chapter 29, verse 12!) as a prophecy of Muhammad in the Bible. As Dr Naik quotes it, it seems an impressive prophecy:

> “the book is given to a prophet who is not learned”

However, if we actually open any Bible and look at this verse ourselves, we see first of all that Naik has deceptively inserted the word “prophet” which doesn’t appear in the original Hebrew text:

> “…give the book to one who cannot read, saying, “Read this,” he says, ‘I cannot read'” (Isaiah 29:12)

Immediate Context of Isaiah 29:11-13

Isaiah 29:11-13 describes how the Israelites make excuses for ignoring Isaiah's revelation:

> “And the vision of all this has become to you like the words of a book that is sealed. When men give it to the one who can read, saying, ‘Read this,’ he says, ‘I cannot, for it is sealed.’ And when they give the book to one who cannot read, saying, ‘Read this,’ he says, ‘I cannot read.’ The Lord says: ‘These people come near to me with their mouth and honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me.’” (Isaiah 29:11-13)

This passage critiques the Israelites for their superficial and insincere approach to God’s message. It highlights how both literate and illiterate individuals offer excuses for not engaging with Isaiah’s prophecies.

Misinterpretation of Isaiah 29:11-13 as a Prophecy of Muhammad

Dr. Zakir Naik has cited Isaiah 29:11-12 as a prophecy of Muhammad, suggesting that it describes an “illiterate prophet”:

> “...the book is given to a prophet who is not learned”

However, a closer examination of the context reveals that this interpretation is misleading. The verses do not describe a prophet but rather criticize people who make excuses for not accepting the divine message. The passage uses the scenario of giving a book to both literate and illiterate individuals to illustrate the excuses people make.

Contextual Analysis

If these verses were interpreted as a prophecy, they would be applicable to every literate and illiterate person throughout history, making the prophecy too broad and unspecific to be meaningful. The actual message of the passage is about the insincerity and excuses of those who refuse to heed Isaiah's revelation.

This interpretation of Isaiah 29:11-13 reflects poorly on Naik's integrity. By using these verses to support his claim about Muhammad, he overlooks the context and intent of the scripture, thereby misrepresenting the text to his audience.

Did Muhammad Read and Write?

The question of whether Prophet Muhammad (ﷺ) was literate has been a subject of debate among scholars and historians. Muhammad was employed by his first wife Khadija to travel as a merchant. It's hard to do trade business without being able to write. Besides this implicit indication to his ability to write, we have explicit hadiths talking about Muhammad writing.

The first revelation: The first sura was the sura 96. Quran 96:1-5:

Read (اقرا, iqra) in the name of your Lord who created -
Created man from a clinging substance.
Recite, and your Lord is the most Generous -
Who taught by the pen (بالقلم, bil-qalam) -
Taught man that which he knew not.

The word iqra is sometimes translated as "recite", but "recitation" in Arabic is تِلاَوَة (tilawa) and the Quran uses form of that word for "recitation" [https://corpus.quran.com/qurandictionary.jsp?q=tlw].
There are two versions of the story of the first revelation. In the Sirat Rasul Allah by Ibn Ishaq it goes as follows:

Sirat Rasul Allah by Ibn Ishaq

When it was the night on which God honored him with his mission and showed mercy on His servants thereby, Gabriel brought him the command of God. "He came to me," said the apostle of God, "while I was asleep, with a coverlet of brocade whereon was some writing, and said, 'Read!' I said, 'What shall I read?' (وما اقرأ) He pressed me with it so tightly that I thought it was death; then he let me go and said, 'Read!' I said, 'What shall I read?' He pressed me with it again so that I thought it was death; then he let me go and said ‘Read!’ I said, ‘What shall I read?’ He pressed me with it the third time so that I thought it was death and said ‘Read!’ I said, ‘What then shall I read?’—and this I said only to deliver myself from him, lest he should do the same to me again. He said:

‘Read in the name of thy Lord who created, Who created man of blood coagulated. Read! Thy Lord is the most beneficent, Who taught by the pen, Taught that which they knew not unto men.’
So I read it, and he departed from me. And I awoke from my sleep, and it was as though these words were written on my heart.

It says وما اقرأ "and what (should I) read?". So in this story Muhammad can read, he just asks what should he read.
Ibn Ishaq died in 761. But in the 9th century, Bukhari recorded the narration differently:
Sahih Bukhari 1:1:3
He used to take with him the journey food for the stay and then come back to (his wife) Khadija to take his food likewise again till suddenly the Truth descended upon him while he was in the cave of Hira. The angel came to him and asked him to read. The Prophet (ﷺ) replied, "I do not know how to read. (مَا أَنَا بِقَارِئٍ)" The Prophet (ﷺ) added, "The angel caught me (forcefully) and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read and I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Thereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read but again I replied, 'I do not know how to read (or what shall I read)?' Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me, and then released me and said, 'Read in the name of your Lord, who has created (all that exists), created man from a clot. Read! And your Lord is the Most Generous." (96.1, 96.2, 96.3)

If the iqra in 96:1 meant "recite" as some translators translated it, then here Muhammad says "I don't know how to recite".
This shift from "and what shall I read" (وما اقرأ) to "I don't know how to read" (مَا أَنَا بِقَارِئٍ) seems to indicate that Muhammad's illiteracy was a later invention.

Muhammad's Ability to Read

The Quran addresses allegations from disbelievers that Muhammad (ﷺ) had learned the Quran from prior scriptures. However, the Meccans, who knew him as "unlettered" (Ummi), questioned how he could have read or written anything.

- Surah Al-An'am, Ayat 105: "In this way, I explain My signs in various ways so that they may not say, 'You have learned this,' and so that I may clarify it for people who know."

This verse suggests that the Quran's signs were explained in different ways to counter the disbelievers' claims that Muhammad (ﷺ) learned them from previous texts.

Accusation of Writing

Despite knowing Muhammad's (ﷺ) illiteracy, some disbelievers accused him of writing down ancient tales.

- Surah Al-Furqan, Ayat 5: "And they say, 'These are tales of the ancients, which he has had written down, and they are dictated to him morning and evening.'"

Muhammad as a Listener

The disbelievers mocked Muhammad (ﷺ) as a "listener," suggesting he was attentive to others' words. This term was used pejoratively, implying he was merely repeating what he heard.

- Surah At-Tawba, Ayat 61: "And among them are those who hurt the Prophet and say, 'He is an ear.' Say, 'An ear that is good for you; he believes in Allah and has faith in the believers, and is a mercy to those of you who believe.' But those who hurt the Messenger will have a painful punishment."

Hadith References

Incident of Hudaybiyyah: A hadith narrates an event where Muhammad (ﷺ) instructed Ali to erase the phrase "Messenger of Allah" from a treaty. When Ali refused, Muhammad (ﷺ) erased it himself.

- Sahih al-Bukhari 2698 or Vol. 3, Book 49, Hadith 862: "Narrated Al-Bara bin Azib: When Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) concluded a peace treaty with the people of Hudaibiya, Ali bin Abu Talib wrote the document and he mentioned in it, 'Muhammad, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) .' The pagans said, 'Don't write: "Muhammad, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)", for if you were an apostle we would not fight with you.' Allah's Apostle asked Ali to rub it out, but Ali said, 'I will not be the person to rub it out.' Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) rubbed it out…."

Another hadith suggests that Muhammad (ﷺ) wrote the treaty himself, implying literacy.

- Sahih al-Bukhari 2699 or Vol. 3, Book 49, Hadith 863: "Narrated Al-Bara: When the Prophet (ﷺ) intended to perform Umra in the month of Dhul-Qada, the people of Mecca did not let him enter Mecca till he settled the matter with them by promising to stay in it for three days only. When the document of treaty was written, the following was mentioned: 'These are the terms on which Muhammad, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) agreed (to make peace).' They said, 'We will not agree to this, for if we believed that you are Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) we would not prevent you, but you are Muhammad bin Abdullah.' The Prophet (ﷺ) said, 'I am Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and also Muhammad bin Abdullah.' Then he said to Ali, 'Rub off (the words) "Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)" ', but Ali said, 'No, by Allah, I will never rub off your name.' So, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) took the document and wrote, 'This is what Muhammad bin Abdullah has agreed upon…"

Writing Letters: Another hadith recounts Muhammad (ﷺ) writing a letter or having the intention to write one. [كتب (kataba) means "he wrote"] [وكتب (wa-kataba) means "and he wrote"] [فكتب (fa-kataba) means "then he wrote"]

- Sahih al-Bukhari 65 / Sahih al-Bukhari 2938 / Sunan an-Nasa'i 5278 / Sunan an-Nasa'i 5201 / Sahih al-Bukhari 7162 / Sahih al-Bukhari 5875 / Sahih al-Bukhari 5872 / Sunan Abi Dawud 4214: "Narrated Anas bin Malik: Once the Prophet (ﷺ) wrote (كَتَبَ) a letter or had an idea of writing a letter. The Prophet (ﷺ) was told that they (rulers) would not read letters unless they were sealed. So the Prophet (ﷺ) got a silver ring made with "Muhammad Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)" engraved on it. As if I were just observing its white glitter in the hand of the Prophet.

- Sunan Abu Dawud 42:5117
  Narrated Abdullah ibn Abbas:
  The Prophet (ﷺ) wrote (كَتَبَ) a letter to Heraclius: "From Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah, to Hiraql (Heraclius), Chief of the Byzantines. Peace be to those who follow the guidance." Ibn Yahya reported on the authority of Ibn Abbas that AbuSufyan said to him: We then came to see Hiraql (Heraclius) who seated us before him. He then called for the letter from the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ). Its contents were: "In the name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful, from Muhammad the Messenger of Allah, to Hiraql, chief of Byzantines. Peace be to those who follow the guidance. To proceed."

- Sunan Abu Dawud 18:2921 (sahih)

Narrated Umar ibn al-Khattab:
Sa'id said: Umar ibn al-Khattab said: Blood-money is meant for the clan of the slain, and she will not inherit from the blood-money of her husband.
Ad-Dahhak ibn Sufyan said: The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) wrote (كَتَبَ) to me that I should give a share to the wife of Ashyam ad-Dubabi from the blood-money of her husband. So Umar withdrew his opinion.
Ahmad ibn Salih said: AbdurRazzaq transmitted this tradition to us from Ma'mar, from az-Zuhri on the authority of Sa'id. In this version he said: The Prophet (ﷺ) made him governor over the bedouins.

- Sunan Abu Dawud 19:2993

Narrated Yazid ibn Abdullah:
We were at Mirbad. A man with dishevelled hair and holding a piece of red skin in his hand came.
We said: You appear to be a bedouin. He said: Yes. We said: Give us this piece of skin in your hand. He then gave it to us and we read it. It contained the text: "From Muhammad, Messenger of Allah (ﷺ), to Banu Zuhayr ibn Uqaysh. If you bear witness that there is no god but Allah, and that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah, offer prayer, pay zakat, pay the fifth from the booty, and the portion of the Prophet (ﷺ) and his special portion (safi), you will be under by the protection of Allah and His Apostle."
We then asked: Who wrote (كَتَبَ) this document for you? He replied: The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ).

- Sahih Bukhari 4:53:387

Narrated Abu Humaid As-Saidi:
We accompanied the Prophet (ﷺ) in the Ghazwa of Tabuk and the king of 'Aila presented a white mule and a cloak as a gift to the Prophet. And the Prophet (ﷺ) wrote (وَكَتَبَ) to him a peace treaty allowing him to keep authority over his country.

- Sahih Bukhari 9:89:302

Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) said, "The Jews should either pay the blood money of your (deceased) companion or be ready for war." After that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) wrote (فَكَتَبَ) a letter to the Jews in that respect, and they wrote that they had not killed him.

- Sahih Bukhari 3:49:863

Narrated Al-Bara:
When the Prophet (ﷺ) intended to perform `Umra in the month of Dhul-Qada, the people of Mecca did not let him enter Mecca till he settled the matter with them by promising to stay in it for three days only. When the document of treaty was written, the following was mentioned: 'These are the terms on which Muhammad, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) agreed (to make peace).' They said, "We will not agree to this, for if we believed that you are Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) we would not prevent you, but you are Muhammad bin `Abdullah." The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "I am Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and also Muhammad bin `Abdullah." Then he said to `Ali, "Rub off (the words) 'Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)' ", but `Ali said, "No, by Allah, I will never rub off your name." So, Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) took the document and wrote (فَكَتَبَ), 'This is what Muhammad bin `Abdullah has agreed upon: No arms will be brought into Mecca except in their cases, and nobody from the people of Mecca will be allowed to go with him (i.e. the Prophet (ﷺ)) even if he wished to follow him and he (the Prophet (ﷺ)) will not prevent any of his companions from staying in Mecca if the latter wants to stay.'

Contract Written by the Messenger of Allah: A hadith from Jami` at-Tirmidhi mentions a letter written by Muhammad (ﷺ) for a sale contract.

- Jami` at-Tirmidhi 1216 or Vol. 3, Book 12, Hadith 1216: "Narrated 'Abbad bin Laith Al-Karabisi [Al-Basri]: 'Abdul Majid bin Wahb narrated to us, he said: 'Al-'Adda' bin Khalid bin Hawdhah said to me: 'Shall I not read to you a letter that was written for me from the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) ?' He said: 'I said: 'Of course.' So he took out a letter for me: 'This is what Al-'Adda' bin Khalid bin Hawdhah purchased from Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ): He purchased from him a slave' - or - 'a female slave, having no ailments, nor being a runaway, nor having any malicious behavior. Sold by a Muslim to a Muslim.'"

Deathbed Incident: Another hadith recounts Muhammad (ﷺ) asking for writing materials on his deathbed to write something that would prevent his followers from going astray, but Umar objected, leading to a dispute.

- Sahih al-Bukhari 114 / Sahih al-Bukhari 5669: "Narrated 'Ubaidullah bin Abdullah: Ibn Abbas said, 'When the ailment of the Prophet (ﷺ) became worse, he said, 'Bring for me (writing) paper and I will write for you a statement after which you will not go astray.' But Umar said, 'The Prophet is seriously ill, and we have got Allah's Book with us and that is sufficient for us.' But the companions of the Prophet (ﷺ) differed about this and there was a hue and cry. On that the Prophet (ﷺ) said to them, 'Go away (and leave me alone). It is not right that you should quarrel in front of me.' Ibn Abbas came out saying, 'It was most unfortunate (a great disaster) that Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) was prevented from writing that statement for them because of their disagreement and noise.'"

Conclusion

While there are claims made by some scholars about the presence of Prophet Muhammad in biblical prophecies, a closer examination of the texts often shows that these claims are based on misinterpretations or decontextualized readings of the scripture. While the Quran and Hadith provide evidence suggesting that Muhammad (ﷺ) was illiterate, there are instances implying he may have had some ability to read or write. Readers must examine the references and decide for themselves the plausibility of these accounts.

Holy Ghost Prophesy

Introduction

The passage in John 14:16-17 is a significant text in Christian theology, predicting the coming of the Holy Spirit. Some interpretations, particularly among certain Islamic scholars, suggest that the "Counselor" or "Comforter" (Greek: paraklētos) mentioned in these verses refers to Muhammad (pbuh). To address this claim, we will analyze the text's description of the 'Counselor' and examine interpretations from both Christian and Islamic perspectives.

Scriptural Context

The relevant passages from the Gospel of John state:

John 14:15-18: 15 “If you love me, you will keep my commandments. 16 And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate [Greek: Paraklētos (παράκλητος)], to be with you forever. 17 This is the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it neither sees him nor knows him. You know him because he abides with you, and he will be in you. 18 I will not leave you orphaned; I am coming to you."
John 14:25-26: 25 “I have said these things to you while I am still with you. 26 But the Advocate [Greek: Paraklētos (παράκλητος)], the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I have said to you."
John 15:26-27: 26 “When the Advocate [Greek: Paraklētos (παράκλητος)] comes, whom I will send to you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who comes from the Father, he will testify on my behalf. 27 You also are to testify because you have been with me from the beginning."

Analyzing the 'Counselor'

Another Counselor: The Greek word paraklētos can be translated as 'counselor,' 'comforter,' 'helper,' or 'advocate.' Some Islamic scholars suggest it refers to Muhammad. However, no Greek manuscripts use the word periklutos (meaning 'one worthy of praise'), which would be rendered 'Ahmad' in Arabic. The phrase "he will give you another Ahmad to be with you forever" would be nonsensical in Greek. Thus, 'another counselor' fits the Holy Spirit's role since Jesus' ascension.

Forever: The prophecy indicates that the Counselor will be with the disciples forever, which is difficult to interpret as Muhammad, who was mortal. The Holy Spirit, however, fits this description as it is eternal.

A Spirit of Truth: Referring to Muhammad as a 'Spirit' is inconsistent with his human nature. The Holy Spirit, by definition, is a Spirit and fits this description.

Unseen by the World: Muhammad was a visible historical figure. The Holy Spirit, being invisible, fits this description as the world cannot see it.

Unaccepted by the World, Known to the Disciples: The disciples never saw Muhammad, but they dramatically received the Holy Spirit as recorded in Acts 2. The Holy Spirit fits this description.

Dwell with You and Be in You: It is difficult to imagine Muhammad dwelling within each believer. However, the Holy Spirit is described as indwelling believers in the New Testament.

Is the Holy Spirit: Some suggest that Muhammad was the "Holy Spirit," which contradicts the teachings of both the Qur'ān and Islam. The Qur'ān identifies Gabriel as the Holy Spirit, not Muhammad.

Sent by Jesus: It is challenging to describe Muhammad as sent by Jesus, but this fits exactly what Jesus said about the Holy Spirit.

Common Objections and Responses

Objection 1: The Holy Spirit had already come at Jesus' baptism.

Response: While the Holy Spirit had occasionally manifested before, it began to indwell believers only after Jesus' death, as dramatically inaugurated at Pentecost.

Objection 2: The pronoun 'he' is used for the predicted Comforter, which fits a human (Muhammad) but not an impersonal Spirit.

Response: Greek grammar uses pronoun gender based on each word's particular gender, not the indicated word. Since paraklētos is masculine, the masculine pronoun ‘he’ is used. Additionally, the text uses both ‘he’ and ‘it,’ indicating the predicted one could be a Spirit.

Islamic Perspective

When asked about the Holy Spirit, Prophet Muhammad himself could not provide a detailed explanation. In Sahih Muslim, a group of Jews asked Muhammad about the Spirit. Muhammad remained silent until revelation descended upon him, which stated: “They ask you concerning the Spirit; say: The Spirit is by the command of my Lord, and of knowledge, you have been given only a little.” (Surah Al-Isra 17:85).

Further Examination of Key Points

Sent by Jesus:

Text: "But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father..." (John 15:26).
Analysis: Jesus states that he will send the Comforter from the Father. This fits well with the Christian doctrine of the Holy Spirit being sent by Jesus after his ascension, as described in Acts 2 during Pentecost. There is no record in Islamic tradition that Muhammad was sent by Jesus or in the manner described here.

Teaching and Reminding:

Text: "But the Comforter, which is the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whatsoever I have said unto you." (John 14:26).
Analysis: The role of the Holy Spirit includes teaching and reminding the disciples of everything Jesus had said. This ongoing spiritual guidance and instruction are integral to the Holy Spirit's role in the lives of believers, as described in Christian theology. Muhammad's teachings in the Quran and Hadith do not specifically claim to remind followers of Jesus' words in this particular manner.

The Comforter as a Spirit:

Text: "Even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you." (John 14:17).
Analysis: The Comforter is explicitly described as the Spirit of truth, who dwells with and in believers. This spiritual indwelling is a key aspect of the Holy Spirit's presence. Muhammad, as a human prophet, did not claim to indwell believers, making this description incongruent with his person.

Understanding Greek Terms

The Greek term paraklētos (παράκλητος) used in these passages translates to various roles such as advocate, helper, or comforter. The attempt to reinterpret paraklētos as periklutos (meaning 'praised one') to fit the name Ahmad (one of Muhammad's names) is not supported by any historical Greek manuscript evidence. This reinterpretation does not hold up to scholarly scrutiny and lacks textual basis.

Comparative Theological Perspective

The Holy Spirit in Christianity

Role: The Holy Spirit, according to Christian belief, is the third person of the Trinity, who acts as a comforter, guide, and teacher for believers. The Holy Spirit is eternal, omnipresent, and indwells believers, providing spiritual gifts and producing fruit in their lives.
Biblical Basis: The Holy Spirit's coming is recorded in Acts 2, where the disciples are filled with the Spirit and begin to speak in various tongues, proclaiming the gospel boldly. This event marks the beginning of the Holy Spirit's indwelling ministry in the Church.

The Prophet Muhammad in Islam

Role: Muhammad is the final prophet in Islam, delivering the message of the Quran, which Muslims believe to be the final revelation from God. His role is that of a human messenger who guides through his teachings and example (Sunnah).
Quranic Basis: Muhammad is not referred to as the Holy Spirit in the Quran. The Quran describes the Holy Spirit (Ruh al-Qudus) as aiding prophets, including Jesus, and is often interpreted by Islamic scholars as the Angel Gabriel.

Conclusion

The analysis of the scriptural texts from John 14-16 indicates that the descriptions of the paraklētos fit the role and nature of the Holy Spirit as understood in Christian theology. The claim that these passages refer to Muhammad is not supported by the linguistic, historical, or theological context of the New Testament.

The role of the Holy Spirit as described in these passages includes being a spiritual guide, teacher, and indwelling presence among believers, which aligns with the Christian understanding of the Holy Spirit's ongoing work since Pentecost. Muhammad, while a significant prophet in Islam, does not fit the specific descriptions and roles attributed to the paraklētos in these verses.

Thus, it is more coherent to interpret the paraklētos as referring to the Holy Spirit rather than the Prophet Muhammad. This understanding is consistent with the overall narrative and theological framework of the New Testament and early Christian experience as recorded in Acts and the Epistles.

Is Prophet Muhammad is a descendant of Abraham and his son Ishmael?

Claim: Most, or rather, all of our Muslim brothers and sisters claim that Prophet Muhammad is a descendant of Prophet Ibrahim (Abraham) and his son Ishmael. This claim is based on Prophet Muhammad's assertions during his lifetime. Refuting this claim is crucial because proving Muhammad's descent from Ishmael is also an attempt by Muslims to demonstrate that there is a prophecy about Muhammad in the Bible.

Response:

1. Muhammad’s Genealogy According to Islamic Tradition:
    - The well-known claim within the Muslim community is that Prophet Muhammad belonged to the Quraysh tribe, one of the most prestigious tribes in Arabia. This genealogy is often traced back to Abraham through Ishmael.
    - However, historical and Islamic sources reveal that the Quraysh tribe itself, particularly some contemporary members, held conflicting views about Muhammad’s lineage.
2. Contemporary Views of the Quraysh Tribe:
    - In Al-Ma'rifa wa Al-Tarikh (Volume 1, Page 269), Al-Abbas, Muhammad's uncle, reportedly said, "Muhammad is like a date fallen from a date palm tree to the ground," implying an insult and suggesting that Muhammad's lineage was not highly regarded among some Quraysh members.
    - Al-Fa'iq Fi Gharib Al-Hadith (Volume 3, Page 242) by Al-Zamakhshari interprets the word "Kabwah" (كبوة) as "Al-Mazbala," meaning dirt or a heap of dirt, reflecting the low regard in which some contemporaries held Muhammad.
3. Genealogical Discrepancies:
    - Al-Imta' Al-Isma' (Volume 3, Pages 204-205) by Taqi Al-Din Ahmed bin Ali Al-Maqrizi records similar derogatory views from the Quraysh about Muhammad, further questioning the widely accepted narrative of his noble lineage.

- Al-Sira Al-Nabawiyya by Ibn Kathir (Volume 1, Page 51) includes commentary from Al-Suhayli and others that casts doubt on the genealogical link between Adnan (an ancestor of Muhammad) and Ishmael. Notably, Ibn 'Abbas said, "Between ‘Adnan and Ishmael there were 30 ancestors who are unknown." Ibn 'Abbas also mentioned, "The genealogists have lied. Twice or thrice," highlighting inconsistencies in the genealogy.
- Umar bin Al-Khattab, the second Caliph of Islam, stated, “We carry back the genealogy only as far as 'Adnan," acknowledging the lack of verifiable lineage beyond Adnan.

4. Implications of Genealogical Uncertainty:

    - The claims that Muhammad is a descendant of Ishmael hinge on an unbroken and accurate genealogical record, which historical and Islamic texts do not support conclusively. The absence of verified names for 30 ancestors between Adnan and Ishmael significantly undermines the claim.
    - Islamic scholars like Ibn Kathir and others have acknowledged these gaps, which suggests that the widely accepted narrative may be based more on tradition than on verifiable historical records.

Conclusion: The genealogical claim that Prophet Muhammad is a direct descendant of Abraham and Ishmael lacks substantial historical evidence and faces challenges even within Islamic texts. Therefore, the assertion that Muhammad’s lineage fulfills a biblical prophecy remains debatable. It is crucial for those making such claims to critically examine their own sources and address the inconsistencies and gaps in the genealogical records.

Is Muhammad removed from Jewish and Christian scriptures?

Claim: Critics argue that Christians or Jews have maliciously removed prophecies about Muhammad from their scriptures. This claim is highly improbable for several reasons:

1. Jewish and Christian Scripture Consistency:

    - Judaism does not accept Jesus as a prophet or the Messiah, leading to centuries of conflict between Jews and Christians. Despite this, Jewish scriptures contain many clear prophecies about Jesus. If Jews were in the habit of removing prophecies, they would have removed those about Jesus, whom they oppose. However, the Jewish scriptures (Torah, Psalms, and other Prophetic books) and the Christian Old Testament are identical and contain the same prophecies. If Jews did not remove prophecies about Jesus, it is unlikely they would remove prophecies about Muhammad.

2. Historical Manuscript Evidence:

    - Any references to Muhammad would have been removed after his lifetime. However, there are thousands of Greek and Hebrew manuscripts from centuries before Muhammad's time with no significant differences from our current Torah, Psalms, and Injil, and no prophecies about Muhammad. This suggests that no such prophecies existed in the first place. Manuscripts from the Dead Sea Scrolls to early Christian writings show remarkable consistency with current texts.

3. The Qur'an's View on God's Word:

    - The Qur'an teaches that "there is no changing of God's Word" (Al-An'am 6:34) and that "Ye have no ground to stand upon unless ye stand fast by the Law, the Gospel, and all the revelation that has come to you from your Lord" (Maidah 5:68). These verses imply that God's Word, as revealed in the Torah, Psalms, and Gospel, cannot be altered. If the Qur'an itself asserts the incorruptibility of previous scriptures, it contradicts the claim that these scriptures were altered to remove prophecies about Muhammad.

4. Analogy with the Bahai Faith:

    - The Bahai faith, the seventh-largest religion in the world, teaches that the prophet Baha'u'llah follows in the line of Abraham, Moses, Jesus, and Muhammad. If Bahais claimed that the Qur'an originally contained prophecies about Baha'u'llah which were later erased, Muslims would dismiss this as baseless and argue that pious people would not deliberately alter their scriptures. This reasoning applies similarly to the claim that Jewish and Christian scriptures were altered to remove prophecies about Muhammad.

Conclusion: The idea that prophecies about Muhammad were removed from Jewish and Christian scriptures is highly unlikely. The consistency of Jewish and Christian manuscripts over centuries, the theological stance of the Qur'an regarding the incorruptibility of God's Word, and the historical precedent of scriptural integrity all support the conclusion that such prophecies never existed in these texts. Therefore, claims of deliberate removal lack historical and theological foundation.

Jami` at-Tirmidhi 2653: Narrated Jubair bin Nufair:

from Abu Ad-Darda who said: "We were with the Prophet (ﷺ) when he raised his sight to the sky, then he said: 'This is the time when knowledge is to be taken from the people, until what remains of it shall not amount to anything." So Ziyad bin Labid Al-Ansari said: 'How will it be taken from us while we recite the Qur'an. By Allah we recite it, and our women and children recite it?' He (ﷺ) said: 'May you be bereaved of your mother O Ziyad! I used to consider you among the Fuqaha of the people of Al-Madinah. The Tawrah and Injil are with the Jews and Christians, but what do they avail of them?'" Jubair said: "So I met 'Ubadah bin As-Samit and said to him: 'Have you not heard what your brother Abu Ad-Darda said?' Then I informed him of what Abu Ad-Darda said. He said: 'Abu Ad-Darda spoke the truth. If you wish, we shall narrated to you about the first knowledge to be removed from the people: It is Khushu', soon you will enter the congregational Masjid, but not see any man in it with Khushu'.'"

Tarikh al-Islam's quoted parts are from following reliable transmitter:

Nabi Asli
Ata ibn Abi Rabah was a prominent early Muslim jurist and hadith transmitter who served as the Mufti of Mecca in the late 7th - early 8th AD.
Amr ibn Dinar was a hadith transmitter from the tabi'un, and he was the Mufti of Mecca in the 8th AD, after the death of Ata ibn Abi Rabah.

Muslims returned (8 pebbles) around 5% of the original black stone after it was destroyed and refitted gluing it in black resin so that nobody would know the story. If they ask Catholics then they will surely help Muslims for a new statue and Image of baby Jesus and mother Mary and they can just say it was hidden under the basement as Islamic Taqiya. Have you got the idea why Ababil birds saved kaaba before Muhammad when it had 360 idols but not after Muhammad's death when it had the so called Allah's hand stone was fitted there. Haha

DID MUHAMMAD KNOW WHO JESUS WAS ?

Arabic-speaking Muslims refer to Jesus as Isa (Arabic: عيسى,)

Arabic-speaking Christians refer to Jesus as Yasu (Arabic: يَسُوعَ)

How can Muhammad convince that the two names are the same ?

The two names are different, pronunciations are different and meaning is different. How can we accept Islamic version of Jesus while that Arabic Speaking Christians used to refer Jesus as Yasu for 540 years before Muhammad was born and Muhammad spent 40 years of his life before he found Islam yet Muhammad never knew the correct name of Jesus in Arabic?Muhammad's translation of Yeshua as Isa or Eisa is absolutely invalid. The reason why Muhammad got so many things about the Christian faith and Bible so wrong is because he probably never dealt with Christians. He only encountered Nasrani people, a cult/heresy, who had weird beliefs which shaped the religion of Muhammad.

Muhammad learned the name from unbelieving Jews in Medina. In their supposed hatred for the Christians, the Jews called Jesus Esau, the son of Isaac who lost his blessing to his brother Jacob (Gen. 27). Muhammad picked up the name without carrying with it the derogatory meaning the Jews intended. Isa name was mentioned 25 times in the Quran to legitimize Islam!

Why is Allah Inferior to God of Bible?

Muslims claim to worship the same god as Abraham did. They claim that Allah is a continuity of the God of the Bible. Is their claim true?

When men swear, they do so to establish an oath. They swear to give their oath the power of a greater source. Thus, the act of swearing involves the invoking of something greater than the one swearing. The Holy Bible substantiates this universally recognized truth:

Hebrews 6:16: "For men verily swear by the greater, and in every dispute of theirs the oath is final for confirmation"

The swearing of a divine oath is an invocation to God to witness the genuineness of the sworn statement. The underlying principle of an oath is to invoke God to witness the truthfulness of the one swearing the oath. That is why it is universal for the one swearing an oath to raise his or her hand towards the heavens in recognition of God's heavenly position.

Well, what about God? How does God swear? Since God is the Supreme Being, there is no one above or greater than him. Neither is anyone equal to him. Therefore, each time God swears in the Bible, he swears by himself since there is none greater for him to swear by. For example, when God promised Abraham to bless the nations of the earth through his offspring, he guaranteed it with an oath. Since there is no one higher or greater than God, he swore by himself:

Genesis 22:16-18: "'By myself I swear,' declares LORD*…And by means of your offspring all nations of the earth will obtain a blessing for themselves because you have listened to my voice.'"*

Centuries later, when recounting the above account in the Christian Greek Scriptures, God maintained this same divine standard. Proving that he does not change his divine principles with the passing of time, the Holy Bible states:

Hebrews 6:13: "For when God made a promise to Abraham, since there was no one greater for Him to swear by, He swore by Himself."

An oath is basically an appeal to a Supreme Being to act as a witness to the truth of the sworn statement. In view of the fact that Almighty God cannot swear by another. Doing so would nullify the very basis for swearing an oath since everything else is inferior to Him. When we understand this fundamental truth, we can see why it is logically consistent for God to swear only by himself:
Isaiah 45:23: "By myself I have sworn. The word has gone out of my mouth in righteousness."

Jeremiah 22:5: "By myself I do swear," declares LORD.

It is unthinkable for the Almighty to swear by anyone or anything. The fact that God swears by himself proves he is above all others. This makes perfect sense since it will be blasphemous for the Creator to appeal to his creation to certify the validity of his promises. Having established this basic truth, let us now compare Allah with God of the Bible. We will begin by considering an important teaching in Islam that is vital to our discussion.

THE SIN OF SHIRK

According to the Qur'an, the worst sin that a Muslim can ever commit is the sin of "shirk." In Islamic terminology, "shirk" means associating partners with Allah. Associating partners with Allah is viewed as idolatry and polytheism in the teachings of Islam. It is an unpardonable sin:

Surah 4:48: Allah forgives not that partners should be set up with Him*; but He forgives anything else, to whom He pleases; to set up partners with Allah is to devise a sin Most heinous indeed. (Yusuf Ali)*

There are a number of ways a Muslim can commit shirk. It does not mean that only when a Muslim worships other gods besides Allah he has committed the sin of shirk. Islam teaches that even swearing by something other than Allah is shirk. Therefore, if a Muslim were to swear by something other than Allah, he has committed the unpardonable sin of shirk. Numerous Islamic sources verify this teaching in Islam. In fact, Muhammad himself repeatedly taught this to his early followers.

Jami` At-Tirmidhi, Book 18, Hadith 1535:

*Narrated Sa'd bin 'Ubaidah: Ibn 'Umar heard a man saying: "No by the Ka'bah" so Ibn 'Umar said: "Nothing is sworn by other than Allah, for I heard the Messenger of Allah (Peace be upon him) say:* 'Whoever swears by other than Allah, he has committed disbelief or shirk.'"

In fact, any Muslim who swears by something other than Allah is judged as a polytheist by Muhammad.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 21, Number 3245:

Narrated Abdullah ibn Umar: Sa'id ibn Ubaydah said: Ibn Umar heard a man swearing: No, I swear by the Ka'bah. Ibn Umar said to him: I heard the Apostle of Allah (peace be upon him) say: He who swears by anyone but Allah is polytheist.

As we can clearly see, Islam teaches that a Muslim must swear only by Allah and no one else. He cannot swear by anything which is of lesser value than Allah. Authoritative Islamic sources repeatedly warn Muslims about the seriousness as well as the importance of observing this teaching of Allah and Muhammad. Provided below are some of the most recognized Islamic sources in the Muslim world.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 5, Book 58, Number 177:

Narrated 'Umar: The Prophet said, "If anybody has to take an oath, he should swear only by Allah."

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Hadith 129:

Allah's Apostle called them saying: "Verily! Allah forbids you to swear by your fathers. If one has to take an oath, he should swear by Allah or otherwise keep quiet."

Sahih Muslim, Book 015, Hadith Number 4040:

Muhammad said: He who has to take an oath, he must not take oath but by Allah.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 21, Number 3242:

Narrated AbuHurayrah: The Prophet (peace be upon him) said: Do not swear by your fathers, or by your mothers, or by rivals to Allah; and swear by Allah only, and swear by Allah only when you are speaking the truth.

Ibn Qayyim al-Jauziyyah, Zad-ul Ma'ad fi Hadyi Khairi-l 'Ibad, Volume 4, p. 320:

An exclusive right for Allah, such as vowing, for example, should not be given to anyone or thing, except Allah alone. The Messenger of Allah said: "He who intends to swear, let him swear by Allah or keep silent." He also said: "He who swears by other than Allah, will have committed Shirk."

As can be noted, to swear by anything or anyone other than Allah is strictly forbidden in Islam. For a Muslim to do so means he is associating partners with Allah. Therefore, swearing by something other than Allah is shirk – the unpardonable sin in Islam. Having clarified what shirk means in Islam, let us turn our attention to Allah.

ALLAH COMMITS SHIRK

Since Allah is supposed to be the Greatest, the Qur'an accordingly teaches the following:

> Do not swear by anything other than Allah.
> Swear only by Allah.

Ironically, Allah does not seem to understand the underlying principle behind this fundamental law. In total violation against his own teachings in the Qur'an, Allah foolishly swears by a host of things. He swears by anything and everything. Throughout the Qur'an, he swears by both animate and inanimate things. Let us look at a few examples:

Surah 15:72: (I swear) upon your life*, (O Muhammad) they were intoxicated and rampaging out of control. (Munir Munshey)*

Surah 36:2: "I swear by the Qur'an full of wisdom" (Shakir)

Surah 51:1: "I swear by the wind that scatters far and wide." (Ibid)

Surah 52:1-4: I swear by the Mountain*, And* the Book written in an outstretched fine parchment, And the House *(Kaaba) that is visited, And* the elevated canopy*, And* the swollen sea*. (Ibid)*

Surah 53:1: "I swear by the star when it goes down." (Ibid)

Surah 68:1: "Noon. I swear by the pen and what the angels write*." (Ibid)*

Surah 69:38-39: I swear by that which you see*, And* that which you do not see*. (Ibid)*

Surah 79:1: "I swear by the angels who violently pull out the souls of the wicked." (Ibid)

Surah 84:16-18: I swear by the sunset redness*, And* the night and that which it drives on, And the moon when it grows full. (Ibid)

Surah 89:1-4: I swear by the daybreak*, And* the ten nights*, And* the even and the odd*, And* the night when it departs*. (Ibid)*

Surah 95:1-3: "I swear by the fig and the olive*, And* Mount Sinai*, And* this city made secure. (Ibid)

Surah 100:1: I swear by the runners breathing pantingly*. (Ibid)*

The above is only a partial list. These references are quite damaging for Islam. Let us analyze them carefully. Allah swears by the very things he is supposed to have created. Both the Qur'an and Muhammad clearly taught that when you swear by something other than Allah, you make that something a partner with Allah. Therefore, Allah has made himself partner to a host of things. For example, when Allah swears by the angels, the angels become Allah's divine partners. Thus, Allah himself is guilty of committing shirk. As such, he is categorically a polytheist. We are not the ones saying this but Islam. How can you trust Allah when he does not honor his own teachings?

An oath is meant to increase the weight of a sworn statement. When Allah swears by something that is lesser in value than himself, he is actually weakening the value of his sworn statement. Therefore, he is actually decreasing the value of his oath. For instance, when Allah swears by the fig (Surah 95:1), he is either elevating the fig to the position of a deity or he is decreasing the value of his oath to the value of the fig. Either way it is wrong. When Allah's promises are accompanied by oaths which are sworn to such trivial things, it leaves little to be trusted.

The absolute blasphemous nature of Allah can also be seen by the things he swears by in the Qur'an. In Surah 52:1-4, Allah swears by the Ka'ba. This Surah is an early Meccan Surah. At the time when Allah swore by the Ka'ba in these Qur'anic verses, it was still a pagan shrine housing 360 pagan idols. It defies logic as to why Allah would swear by a pagan shrine. Can you imagine the true God swearing by a pagan shrine? Also, in the following Qur'anic verses, Allah states:

Surah 69:38-39: I swear by that which you see*, And* that which you do not see*.*

Allah swears by everything that is seen and everything that is unseen. That means everything. And if Allah swears by absolutely everything, then everything becomes partner with Allah. Think about the implication of these Qur'anic verses. Allah swears by what we can see. This means idols, pigs, dogs, alcohol, garbage etc. Allah swears by all these things. We can add many more to this list but we are trying to be as polite as we can. Well, what about the things unseen? This would be things that are invisible to the human eye such as Satan, Jinn, Demons, Germs etc. What is damaging for Muslims is the fact that when Allah swears by these things, he is ascribing partners to himself. He is committing the unpardonable sin of shirk.

All these swearing by the creation has its origin in pagan nature worship. It is related to animism. In fact, it was customary for the pre-Islamic Arab polytheists who engage in nature worship to swear by the various elements of nature. And Allah was no different. This proves who Allah really is. The fact that Allah randomly swears by countless objects seriously undermines the claim that Islam originates from a monotheistic God. According to Muhammad's own definition, Allah is a polytheist. While God swears by himself, Allah swears by anything and everything.

Islam itself recognizes that swearing by things other than the Creator is idolatrous. It is potentially an act of veneration. When God swears by his creation, it either elevates his creation to the level of God or even greater. God knows the damaging implication of such an act. It is for this very reason why God swears only by himself. It is simply impossible for him to act otherwise. He is the supreme Creator. In contrast, Allah fails to understand the damaging consequences of his action. When Allah swears by his creations, he actually becomes guilty of turning finite creatures into fellow gods who are comparable to him in greatness. The creations are made his equivalent. It is polytheism to the core. This highlights the difference between Allah and LORD. This proves that Allah and God cannot be the one and the same. Allah is an impostor. He simply cannot be the Almighty Creator.

Muslims must come to terms with the fact that Allah is inconsistent with his own teachings. If swearing by anything other than Allah is shirk, then why does Allah himself carry out the very act that he condemns? Would not his actions lead to confusion? The inconsistency of Allah proves that he cannot be the true God:

1 Corinthians 14:33: For the true God is not a God of confusion, but of peace.

When God swears by himself, his action is consistent with the undeniable truth that he is the supreme Creator. When comparing two currency notes to determine which one of the two is genuine, we should not focus on the similarities but on their differences. The true and the fake note may appear to be identical since the counterfeit is meant to be passed off as the real one. But when the notes are examined closely, it is the small differences that will aid us to distinguish the genuine from the counterfeit. It is the same with God and Allah. We need to focus on the differences between God and Allah. One of them is clearly a counterfeit. Ironically, the Qur'an itself helps us to identify who it is.

So he married her to him, so she created him and dressed him in a robe, and this is what they used to do with fathers. Do not approach Salat when you are in a drunken state until you know what you are saying (4:)

Prophet Muhammad and The Love of Wine (Khamr)

Introduction

It has become common knowledge that Islam strictly prohibits the consumption of alcohol. However, in reality, Islam itself was established with the aid of intoxicating alcohol to deceive and manipulate.

Part I: Khadija's Deceptive Marriage Strategy

■Background: The Wealthy Businesswoman

Source: Hadith Musnad Ahmad, Number 2849

Khadija bint Khuwaylid was a career-oriented woman from the Quraysh tribe, aged 40. Her family's caravan business was highly successful, making them the wealthiest people among the Quraysh community.

Khuwaylid bin Asad was Khadija's father who ran the family business, imparting his knowledge to his daughter. It is evident that in pre-Islamic times, women were accustomed to running and even owning their own businesses.

■The Proposal

Khadija was attracted to the handsome appearance of young Muhammad, aged 25, and proposed to him.

Khadija: "O my cousin's son, I admire you for your good reputation."

Muhammad: "Why, thank you, Khadija."

Khadija: "Would you like to marry me?"

Muhammad: "Well, of course."

For a poor shepherd like Muhammad, Khadija's proposal was like discovering a gold mine.

■The Father's Opposition

Khadija's desire was opposed by her father Khuwaylid:

Khuwaylid: "The goat herder is not worthy to be the husband of an honorable woman like you!"

■The Deceptive Plan

But Khadija did not give up her will. She prepared an event with food and drink, and invited her father and a group of the Quraysh.

The Strategy:

- They ate and drank the alcoholic beverages that Khadija served
- Until they got drunk
- Khadija was fully aware of her actions
- This was a deliberate part of her plan to pursue her desires

■The Intoxicated Consent

Khuwaylid also drank a lot until he got intoxicated.

Khuwaylid: "Oh, I feel dizzy now, I better take a rest."

Khadija: "Father, indeed Muhammad ibn Abdullah has asked for my hand, so marry him to me."

Because Khuwaylid was drunk, he couldn't think clearly:

Khuwaylid: "Sure, go ahead. Marry whoever you want."

■The Marriage Ceremony

Then Khadija:

- Perfumed her father
- Dressed him in a full garment (as was customary for fathers)
- Arranged the marriage ceremony
- The people of Quraysh congratulated the newlywed couple

■The Sobering Reality

When his drunkenness passed from him, Khuwaylid looked, and behold he was perfumed and had a full garment on:

Khuwaylid: "What is going on with me?! What is this?"

Khadija: "You have married me to Muhammad ibn Abdullah."

Khuwaylid: "Me? Marrying off Abu Talib's orphan boy?! No, not by my life! Have you no shame? Do you want to make a fool of yourself with the Quraysh? Tell people that you were drunk?"

And she did not let up from him until he consented.

■Analysis

Khadija employed wine or khamr to deceive her father into arranging her marriage to Muhammad.

- Khadija's influence was pivotal in Muhammad's decision to propagate Islam
- Muhammad endorsed her initial use of deception and manipulation to achieve her dream
- Later on, Muhammad employed a comparable strategy to further the spread of Islam

Part II: Wine as a Tool for Religious Recruitment

■Early Meccan Strategy

In the early stages of his prophethood in Mecca, Prophet Muhammad sought to attract followers by promising various rewards in paradise, tailored to their desires.

Understanding people's inclination towards wine, he even assured them of rivers of it in paradise, leveraging their appetite for pleasure to garner followers.

■Quranic Promises of Wine in Paradise

Surah Al-Mutaffifin (83), Verse 25

> "They will be given a drink of sealed, pure wine"

Surah Al-Waqi'ah (56), Verses 17-19

> "They will be waited on by eternal youths with cups, pitchers, and a drink ˹of pure wine˺ from a flowing stream, that will cause them neither headache nor intoxication."

■Wine as Divine Sign

Prophet Muhammad even said that intoxicating drink is a sign or miracle from Allah.

Surah An-Nahl (16), Verse 67

> "And of the fruits of the date-palms and the grapes, you obtain Alcoholic drinks and goods. Verily in that is a Sign for a people who use their understanding."

After he migrated to Medina, he was still praising wine:

Surah Muhammad (47), Verse 15

> "(Here is) a Parable of the Garden which the righteous are promised: in it are rivers of water incorruptible; rivers of milk of which the taste never changes; rivers of wine, a joy to those who drink;"

Part III: The Incidents That Changed Everything

■First Incident: Hamza's Drunken Rampage

Source: Sahih Bukhari, Number 3091 Time: Second Hijri Year (Revelation of Surah Al-Baqarah, Verse 219)

Background: Post-Badr Celebration

Following a successful Badr robbery on Quraysh merchants, many Muslims celebrated their victory by indulging in khamr or wine.

Prophet Muhammad was pleased with Ali's participation during the Badr robbery:

Prophet Muhammad: "Ali, take these two she-camels from the Khumus. You deserve them."

Ali: "Oh, thank you so much ya Rasulullah. I intend to marry Fatima, the daughter of Rasulullah. I had an appointment with a goldsmith from the tribe of Bani Qainuqa to sell Idhkir (grass of pleasant smell), and use the money on my wedding party."

The Discovery

After Ali prepared for his trip to the goldsmith:

Ali: "Oh, no!! No!! What happened with my camels? Who has killed them?"

Witness: "Hamza bin Abdul Muttalib did that. He is staying with some Ansari, getting drunk in their house."

Seeking Justice

Ali didn't dare to confront Hamza directly:

Ali's Thoughts: "I better ask Prophet Muhammad to deal with this problem right away! It would be better than engaging in conflict with Hamzah directly."

Ali went to Prophet Muhammad's house (Zaid ibn Haritha was also present):

Prophet Muhammad: "What's wrong with you?"

Ali: "O Rasulullah! I have never seen such a day as today. Hamza attacked my two she-camels, cut off their humps, and ripped open their flanks, and he is sitting there in a house in the company of some drunks."

The Confrontation

The Prophet decided to go to the house where Hamza was:

Prophet Muhammad: "May I come in?"

Host: "Go ahead, ya Rasulullah."

Hamzah was completely drunk. His eyes were red.

Prophet Muhammad: "Hey Hamzah! Why did you kill Ali's camels? He worked so hard for them! You must compensate him for his loss!"

The Shocking Response

Hamza: "What? You?"

Hamza looked at Allah's Apostle and then:

- He raised his eyes, looking at his knees
- Then he raised up his eyes looking at his umbilicus
- Again he raised up his eyes looking at his face

Hamza: "Aren't you but the slaves of my father?"

The Prophet's Retreat

Prophet Muhammad realized that he was drunk, so he retreated and left the house.

Prophet Muhammad's Thoughts: "This is not good for me, but I cannot confront him in this situation. He would attack me even more."

Ali: "Ya Rasulullah, how about my camels? I want justice! I work hard for my loot! I killed many people for that!"

■Analysis of the First Incident

Key Points:

- The Muslims believed that Prophet Muhammad was the reason Allah created this universe
- Yet he did not dare to reprimand Hamza for his insult
- Under the strong influence of alcohol, Hamzah honestly questioned the validity of his prophethood
- Prophet Muhammad became utterly powerless against Hamzah and was unable to settle the disagreement
- This incident damaged his reputation

Character Assessment:

- Even before succumbing to drunkenness, Hamzah was already known as a violent individual
- His behavior escalated to despicable levels after becoming intoxicated
- While Muslims affectionately referred to Hamzah as Asadullah (the lion of Allah), he proved to be nothing but an uncontrollable, rabid lion when drunk

■First Legislative Response

After that incident, Prophet Muhammad began to change his opinion about wine:

Companion: "Ya Rasulullah, what do you think about drinking wine?"

Quran, Surah Al-Baqarah (2), Verse 219

> "They ask you ˹O Prophet˺ about intoxicants and gambling. Say, 'There is great evil in both, as well as some benefit for people, but the evil outweighs the benefit.'"

Important Note: The verse did not forbid Muslims to drink wine. It only says that there is harm in drinking too much alcoholic beverages, but it doesn't prohibit it.

■Second Incident: Ali's Drunken Prayer Leadership

Time: 4th Hijri Year (Revelation of Surah An-Nisaa, Verse 43)

Jami At Tirmidhi 3026

Sahih Muslim 1578

The Dinner Party

Abdur-Rahman bin 'Awf made some food in his house, then invited 'Ali bin Abi Talib and his friends to come. He served wine to his guests to drink.

They ate and drank until they became intoxicated.

Prayer Time Crisis

Companion: "We need to go to the Prophet's mosque to pray."

Others: "Yes, let's go there."

Even in their intoxicated state, these devout Muslims were committed to fulfilling their prayer obligations.

Companion: "Ali, would you lead us praying?"

Ali: "Sure."

The Prayer Disaster

It was hard for them to do the prayer properly due to their consumption of wine. Ali was so drunk that he couldn't recite Quran verses properly:

Ali: "'Say: O you disbelievers! I do not worship what you worship, and we worship what you worship.'"

Companions: "Haha... what did you say? We worship that they the disbelievers worship? Haha... Hey, Ali, are you okay?"

■Analysis and Response

Apparently, these incidents happened often among the Prophet's companions, who obviously were heavy drinkers. Many of them came to the mosque intoxicated, causing disruptions during prayers.

Prophet Muhammad's Thoughts: "I have to do something to prevent this."

Second Legislative Response

Prophet Muhammad: "Stop. Allah has just revealed a message to all of you."

Quran, Surah An-Nisaa (4), Verse 43

> "O you who believe! Approach not As-Salat (the prayer) when you are in a drunken state until you know the meaning of what you utter."

Critical Analysis: Note that this verse actually permits Muslims to drink intoxicants, provided that it doesn't affect their prayers, which presupposes that Allah didn't prohibit intoxicants altogether.

■Unintended Consequences

With Surah An-Nisaa verse 43, Prophet Muhammad instructed his companions not to pray while intoxicated. However, this directive inadvertently led some of them to exploit it as an excuse to skip prayers regularly.

Muslims' Logic: "I can't go to the mosque to do salat, because I'm still intoxicated. We are obeying his command now."

This trend posed a significant challenge to Prophet Muhammad, as it eroded his authority and questioned the legitimacy of the religion he was establishing.

Prophet Muhammad's Observation: "It's time for the Friday prayer, yet the mosque is empty. Where is everyone?"

■The Warning Phase

Sahih Muslim 1578

With a resolve to assert complete control over his followers, Prophet Muhammad began to hint at the prospect of banning alcohol altogether:

Prophet Muhammad: "O people, Allah is giving an indication of the prohibition of wine, and He is probably soon going to give an order about it. So he who has anything of it with him should sell that, and derive benefit out of it."

Market Response

Due to the warning from Allah, Muslims took appropriate action:

Muslim 1: "Did you hear that? Let's sell our wine before Allah forbid it."

Muslim 2: "Yes, let's do it, while we still can."

Street Vendors: "Wine! Discounted wine! Buy now before Allah makes it haram! Buy them all now while it is still halal! It will soon be haram!"

Customer: "Really? Allah will forbid wine consumption? I thought he said that alcoholic beverages is a sign for sound people?"

Quranic Contradiction Acknowledged

Reference Back to Surah An-Nahl (16), Verse 67:

> "And of the fruits of the date-palms and the grapes, you obtain Alcoholic drinks and goods. Verily in that is a Sign for a people who use their understanding."

Muslim Response: "Remember, that? The Prophet said that Allah eliminates or confirms whatever he will. Or to be precise, verses were 'revealed' in accordance with the circumstances of Prophet Muhammad's life. Consequently, older revelations were abrogated and substituted by newer ones."

Others: "Yes. Amen to that."

■Third Incident: The Tribal Fight

Time: End of 6th Hijri Year (Revelation of Surah Al-Maedah, Verse 91)

Hadith Bukhari, Al-Adab al-Mufrad 24

The Setup

Sa'id ibn Abi Waqqas was involved in this story that happened in Medina, before Khamr or wine was prohibited.

One day, an Ansar Muslim made some food and invited the Muslim Muhajirin and Ansar to his house.

Definition:

- Ansar: The Muslims from Medina
- Muhajirun: The Muslims from Mecca

The host provided:

- Barbequed camel head
- A large quantity of khamr or wine

They all ate and drank a lot of khamr until they became intoxicated.

The Drunken Argument

Under the influence of alcohol, they became rowdy and behaved rudely:

Muhajirin: "You know, we the Muhajirin are better and more important than you the Ansars."

Ansar: "What? How dare you saying garbage like that? Who helped you when you just arrived here? Without us, Islam wouldn't have started. We were the main players."

Muhajirin: "But without us, you guys wouldn't survive here or there in Mecca."

The Violence

The Muslim Ansar took a camel bone and struck Sa'd's nose with it.

■Final Legislative Response

When Prophet Muhammad heard about this incident, he delivered the final verdict:

Quran, Surah Al-Maedah (5), Verse 91

> "Satan's plan is but to excite enmity and hatred between you, with intoxicants and gambling, and hinder you from the remembrance of Allah, and from prayer: will ye not then abstain?"

■Analysis of the Complete Ban

The verse explains that the alcoholic beverages:

- Caused physical conflicts among the Ansar and Muhajirin
- Caused Muslims to miss prayers often

These are the main reasons why Prophet Muhammad decided to ban alcoholic beverages altogether.

Critical Timeline Analysis:

- He didn't ban it when Hamzah killed Ali's camels
- Nor when the Muslims did the prayer while intoxicated
- Only when it threatened his control over his followers

Control Mechanism: Prophet Muhammad used Islam to control his followers, by ordering them to keep their minds to Allah while doing prayers five times a day, with the penalty of hellfire for those who fail to comply.

When his followers preferred alcoholic beverages than practice salah, he understood that he started to lose his grip among his followers.

Surah Al-Maedah, verse 91 was revealed to maintain his control among Muslims.

Conclusion

■Timeline Summary

Prophet Muhammad's Ministry:

- Preached Islam in Mecca for 13 years

- In 622 AD: Migrated to Medina
- Lived in Medina for 10 years until he died in 632 AD
- Total prophethood span: 23 years

■Phases of Wine Legislation

Phase 1: Praise and Promotion (Meccan Period)

- Prophet Muhammad praised the use of wine as a sign of sound minds
- Promised wine as rewards for believers in heaven

Phase 2: Continued Praise (Early Medina - 1st Hijri Year)

- Still complimented wine in Surah Muhammad, verse 15

Phase 3: First Concerns (2nd Hijri Year)

- After starting robbing and attacking infidels
- Followers tended to drink alcoholic beverages more
- Hamza incident caused first negative message in Surah Al-Baqarah, verse 219

Phase 4: Conditional Restriction (4th Hijri Year)

- Ali's drunken prayer incident
- Second negative message: Surah An-Nisaa, verse 43
- Warning Muslims not to do salah while drunk

Phase 5: Complete Ban (End of 6th Hijri Year)

- Sa'd's tribal fight incident
- Complete prohibition in Surah Al-Maedah, verse 91
- Approximately 3 years prior to Prophet Muhammad's death

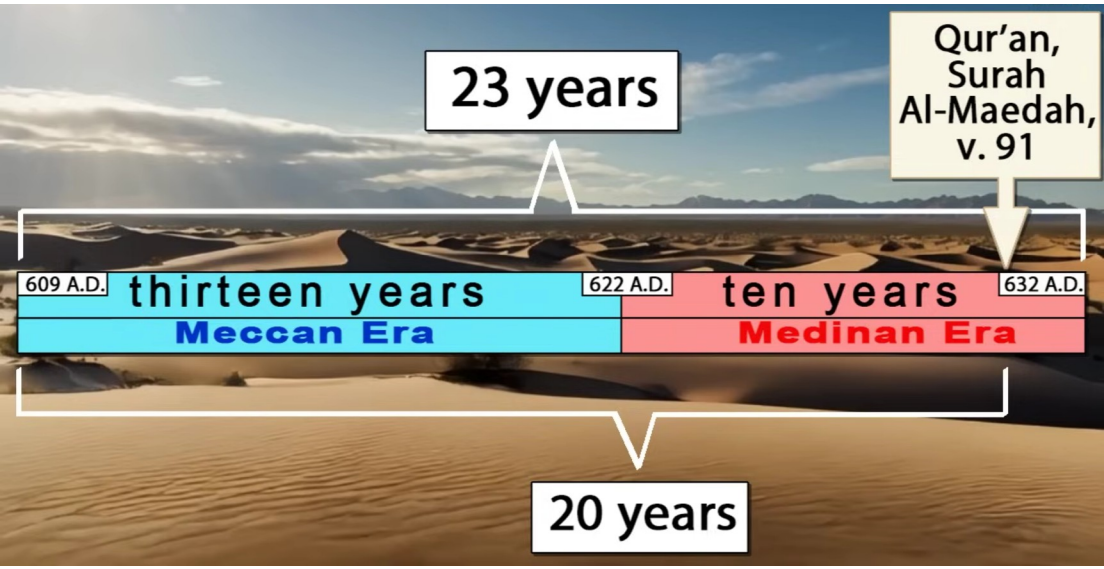
■Critical Questions

The 20-Year Delay:

- This implies a delay of 20 years before the complete prohibition of alcoholic beverages
- One might question why such a significant period transpired before the ban on these haram drinks was implemented

Final Question: Could it be possible that the reason for this delay was because the Prophet himself had a fondness for consuming them?

In the last 3 years of his life he took poison from Jewish woman and second dose from Ayesha and Hafsa. That's why he was ill throughout, as you have seen on the chapter who is Muhammad from Islam itself.



Did Prophet Muhammad Drink Alcoholic Beverages?

Introduction

According to many hadith, yes, he did drink alcoholic beverages.

Hadith Evidence

■Sahih Muslim 2011a

Narrated by Jabir bin Abdullah:

Setting: We were with the messenger of Allah

The Prophet: "I'm thirsty. Do you have water?"

Companions: "Oh Rasulullah, may we offer you wine to drink?"

The Prophet: "Yes."

Then Jabir ibn Abdullah went out quickly to take the drink. He came back and brought a cup containing nabidh.

Jabir: "Here you go, Rasulullah."

The Prophet: "Why did you not cover it? Even if it is with a piece of wood."

Then the Prophet drank the nabidh.

What Exactly is Nabidh?

According to a scientific report titled "Determination of Permissible Alcohol and Vinegar in Shariah and Scientific Perspectives" by Jamaludin MA:

■Definition and Etymology

- The term nabidh in hadith is literally derived from the word 'nabaza'
- 'Nabaza' means: whoever takes dates or raisins
- 'Yanbuzu' is the act of putting something into a pot or similar container (seeka)
- Subsequently adding water and leaving it to ferment (ya'furu) until it becomes an intoxicant

■The Fermentation Process

Two Stages of Fermentation:

1. First Stage - Takhammur (التخمر):
    - Conversion from fruits to alcoholic level
2. Second Stage - Takhallul (التخلل):
    - Conversion of alcohol (ethanol) to vinegar (acetic acid)

■Understanding the Terminology

- Nabidh: Fermented juice that hasn't yet reached intoxicating levels
- Khamr (خمر): Fermented juice that has reached the intoxicating stage

Islamic Legal Perspective

From the viewpoint of Islamic law, the permissibility of alcoholic fermentation is based on a hadith of the Prophet that permits the consumption of nabidh fermented for up to three days.

■Supporting Hadith - Ibn 'Abbas Narration

Ibn 'Abbas narrated that nabidh was prepared from raisins for Prophet Muhammad in a water skin:

- He would drink it on that day
- The next day
- The following day (third day)

- On the evening of the third day, he would drink it and give it to his companions
- If something was left over, he would throw it away

Scientific Analysis

■Jamaludin MA's Research Findings

After three days of fermentation with grapes or raisins at 30°C:

- Ethanol/alcohol level: 5.81%
- Standard deviation: 0.43
- Range: 5.38% to 6.24%
- This equals the alcohol level of beers!

■Environmental Factors in Arabian Desert

In the Arabian desert where the Prophet lived:

- Daytime temperatures could soar to 40°C
- This intense heat accelerates ethanol production
- Potentially exceeding 6% alcohol content

■In biblical times, wine was often diluted with water (sometimes 2:1 or 3:1 water to wine). Natural fermentation would produce wine with an alcohol content around 7%–10%, depending on conditions. Fortified wine did not exist in antiquity as it does now.

■The alcohol percentage of beer typically ranges from 4% to 6% ABV (alcohol by volume), though it can vary widely depending on the style and brand.

■Research Conclusion

According to Jamaludin's research, it's evident that what Prophet Muhammad drank was no longer nabidh, but had fermented into khamr.

■Implications

Prophet Muhammad might have been:

1. Intoxicated due to consuming significant amounts of khamr for three days in a row, OR
2. Accustomed to high alcohol levels in his system, suggesting he was a heavy drinker

Historical Incident: Umar ibn al-Khattab

■The Intoxication Incident

Musannaf ‘Abdur Razzaq 17015

Setting: En route to Madinah

A man gulped down a nabidh drink belonging to Umar ibn al-Khattab. After drinking it, the man became intoxicated.

Umar's Response:

1. Waited until the man became sober
2. Ordered his soldiers: "Punish him with eighty lashes"
3. Soldiers used palm branches to lash the man

Umar's Contradiction:

- Umar then diluted the drink by adding water
- Drank from it himself

■Analysis of the Contradiction

It is obvious that the nabidh had already reached intoxicating levels and became khamr, which is haram in Islam. However, despite this, Umar still consumed it after diluting it with water.

This appears contradictory, as it implies:

- It is not haram to drink khamr as long as it's diluted with water
- To improve flavor while maintaining the same alcohol concentration

■Questions Raised

- What if we substitute khamr with other alcoholic beverages and dilute them with water?
- Would the resulting drink still be considered halal?
- What exactly makes it haram:
    - The presence of alcohol itself?
    - The state of intoxication it induces?

Did Prophet Muhammad Dilute Khamr Like Umar?

Answer: Yes, according to the following hadith.

■Hadith Sunan Nasa'i, No. 5703

Setting: Prophet Muhammad was performing tawaf (circling the Ka'bah)

The Prophet: "Do you have anything for me to drink?"

Companion: "How about having some nabidh, ya Rasulullah?"

The Prophet: "Okay, give it to me."

Companion: "Here you go."

The Prophet: [opened the flask but then frowned]

Companion: "Is it haram, ya Rasulullah?"

The Prophet: "No, just fetch me some zamzam water."

The sahabah then left to get zamzam water

Companion: "Here you go."

The Prophet: "Thank you."

He then poured the water into the flask and drank the diluted nabidh.

■Analysis of the Prophet's Behavior

The Prophet frowned obviously because of the strong smell of alcohol in the beverage. He knew at that time that the nabidh had turned into khamr, yet he didn't stop drinking it.

To make the drink taste better, he mixed it with more water.

Conclusion: Umar obviously imitated what Prophet Muhammad did. Both of them couldn't stop drinking nabidh (or khamr) because they were addicted to it.

Using Nabidh for Ritual Purification

■Hadith: Jami’ at-Tirmidhi 88

■Abdullah bin Mas'ud's Narration

The Prophet: "What is in your water skin?"

Abdullah: "That is nabidh, ya Rasulullah."

The Prophet: "Dates are wholesome and water is pure."

After that, Prophet Muhammad performed wudu (ablution) with the nabidh.

■The Contradiction

He forbade anyone from consuming intoxicating drinks, yet he himself used them for:

- Drinking
- Washing during ablution

The Prophet's Prohibition and Punishment

■Hadith Sahih Bukhari, Number 242

The Prophet's Declaration:

> "All drinks that produce intoxication are haram!"

Jami' at-Tirmidhi 1444

Companion's Question: "What if we still like to drink it, ya Rasulullah?"

The Prophet's Response:

> "Whoever drinks khamr, then lash him. If he returns to it, then on the fourth time, kill him."

■The Question of Double Standards

Does this excessive punishment also apply to him or Umar?

Scholarly Analysis and Modern Understanding

■Academic Perspective

Various ahadith indicate that Prophet Muhammad also consumed khamr or strong nabidh with intoxicating alcohol levels.

Key Points:

- Fermented nabidh can transition into khamr
- Pinpointing the exact moment of this transition isn't always straightforward
- This may explain why most modern Arabic dictionaries (such as alqamoos.org) translate nabidh as wine

■Hadith Sunan Abu Dawud 3691

This hadith mentions nabidh as date-wine, which is haram in Islam, yet Prophet Muhammad loved to drink it night and day.

Conclusion

The evidence presented from various hadith collections suggests a complex relationship between the Prophet Muhammad's teachings about intoxicating beverages and his personal practices, raising questions about consistency in application of Islamic law regarding alcohol consumption.

References: sunnah2.com / @mumtazel-haqq2903 arnabmubashir.com Hadith Sahih Bukhari, no. 242 Hadith Sahih Muslim, no. 2011a, 4971, 4974, 4975 Hadith Sunan Nasa'i, no. 5703 Jami` at-Tirmidhi, no. 1444

Hadith has many utterances regarding this theme. Wine, is the key of all evil (Ahmad b. Hanbal, Musnad, v. 238; Ibn Madja, Ashriba, bab i). Who drinks wine in this world without repenting it, shall not drink it in the other world (Bukhari, Ashriba, bab i; Muslim, Ashriba, trad. 73, 76-78, etc.). Cursed is he who drinks, buys, sells wine or causes others to drink it (Abu Da'ud, Ashriba, bab 2; Ibn Madja, Ashriba, bab 6; Ahmad b. Hanbal, i. 316; ii. 25, 69, 71, 97, 128, etc.). Who drinks a draught of wine on purpose shall have to drink pus on doomsday (Tayalisi, No. 1134). Prayer of him who drinks wine is not accepted by Allah (Nasa'i, Ashriba, bab. 43; Darimi, Ashriba, bab 3), and faith is incompatible with drinking it (Bukhari, Ashriba, bab i; Nasa'i, Ashriba bab 42, 44). It is even inadvisable to use it as medicine (Muslim, Ashriba, trad. 12; Ahmad b. Hanbal iv. 311, 317 bis etc.); and it is prohibited to use wine for manufacturing vinegar (Tirmidhi, Buyu', bab. 59; Ahmad b. Hanbal iii. 119, 260 bis). But times will be even worse and there will be people who declare wine allowed (Bukhari, Ashriba, bab 1; Nasa'i, Ashriba, bab. 41, etc.) and so it will be drunk by the generation of the last days (Bukhari, Ashriba, bab i, Ahmad b. Hanbal, iii 176, 202, 213 sq).

The prohibition of wine, although unanimously accepted, gave rise to dissensions between the juridical schools, dissensions which are reflected in hadith, in a historical disguise. The discussions start from the question: what is wine? It is said that, when the use of wine was peremptorily prohibited, the people of Medina poured out in the streets all that they possessed of the appreciated liquor (Ahmad b. Hanbal, ii. 132 sq.; iii. 26, 189 sq., 217, 200 bis; iv. 335 sq.). Ibn Umar declares, on the contrary, that at the time of the prohibition, there was no wine in Medina at all (Bukhari, Ashriba, bab 2). Anas b. Malik (ib.) says there was scarcely any wine from grapes in Medina, when the prohibition was revealed; people used wine from busr and tamr (two kinds of dates). In another tradition (ib., bab 3) wine from fadikh and zahw (two other kinds of dates) is mentioned. 'Umar is represented delivering a khutba which was meant to settle the question; according to his son 'Abd Allah he said: Wine has been prohibited by the Koran; it comes from five kinds of fruits, from grapes, from dates, from honey, from wheat and from barley, wine is what obscures the intellect (wa 'l-khamr ma khamara al'aql; Bukhari, Ashriba, bab 2). The question remained, whether beverages prepared from grapes in a different way were prohibited. There was e.g. a kind of syrup. "When Umar visited Syria, the population complained of its unhealthy and heavy climate and added: This drink alone will heal us. Then Umar allowed them to drink honey. Then they said Honey cannot heal us. Thereupon one of the natives of Syria said to him, May we not prepare something of this drink for you? It has no inebriating power. He said: Well. Then they cooked it till two thirds were evaporated and one third of it remained. They brought it to Umar, who put his finger into it and licked it. Then he said: This is tila' like camels' tila' (viz the pitch with which they smeared their skins). Then he allowed them to drink it" (Malik, Ashriba, bab 14.) According to the first chapter of the same kitab, however, 'Umar punishes a man who had become drunk on tila'. Juice from grapes, prepared by pressing them only, is considered as wine. Tarik b. Suwaid al-Hadrami said to the Prophet: We have in our country grapes which we press. May we drink the juice? He said: No. This negative answer is given three times, and when Tarik asks whether the juice may be given the sick to drink, Mohammed answers: It is no medicine, it is sickness (Ahmad b. Hanbal bab, V. 292 sq.). And not only those who drink and sell, wine are cursed by Mohammed, but also those who press grapes and have them pressed in order to drink the juice (Ibn Madja, Ashriba, bab 6).

Where was the line of demarcation between the allowed and the prohibited kind? Several collections of traditions went so far as to mention nabidh among the drinks prepared by Mohammed's wives and drunk by him (Muslim, Ashriba, trad. 79-89; Ahmad, 1. 232 sq., 240, 287, 320 sq., 336, 355, 369, 372; ii. 35 iii. 304, 307, 313 sq., 326, 379, 384 etc.)

Ibn Kathir, S. 16:64-69 :
(And from the fruits of date palms and grapes, you derive strong drink) This indicates that it was permissible to drink it before it was forbidden. It also indicates that strong drink (i.e., intoxicating drink) derived from dates is the same as strong drink derived from grapes. Also forbidden are strong drinks derived from wheat, barley, corn and honey, as is explained in detail in the Sunnah…

> (strong drink and a goodly provision.) Ibn `Abbas said: "Strong drink is the product of these two fruits that is forbidden, and the good provision is what is permitted of them." According to another report: "Strong drink is its unlawful, and the goodly provision is its lawful," referring to the fruits when they are dried, like dates and raisins, or products derived from them such as molasses, vinegar and wine (of grapes, dates) which are permissible to drink before they become strong (becomes alcoholic), as was stated in the Sunnah. Ibn Kathir, S. 5:90-91:
Drinking Khamr (Intoxicants) and Maysir (Gambling)
Allah forbids His believing servants from consuming Khamr and Maysir which is gambling. Ibn Abi Hatim recorded that `Ali bin Abi Talib, the Leader of the Faithful, said that chess is a type of gambling. Ibn Abi Hatim recorded that `Ata', Mujahid and Tawus, or, two of them, said that every type of gambling, including children's playing with (a certain type of) nuts, is Maysir. Ibn `Umar said that Al-Maysir means gambling, and this is the same statement that Ad-Dahhak reported from Ibn `Abbas, who added, "They used to gamble during the time of Jahiliyyah, until Islam came. Allah then forbade them from this evil behavior." (Source)

> Hadiths that Prohibit Khamr (Intoxicants)
> Imam Ahmad recorded that Abu Hurayrah said, "There were three stages to prohibiting Khamr (intoxicants). When the Messenger of Allah migrated to Al-Madinah, the people were consuming alcohol and gambling, so they asked the Messenger of Allah about these things, Allah revealed…
> (They ask you about alcoholic drink and gambling. Say: "In them is a great sin, and (some) benefit for men.")[2:219], until the end of the Ayah. The people said, `They (intoxicants and gambling) were not prohibited for us. Allah only said…

(In them is a great sin, and (some) benefit for men.)' So they went on drinking Khamr until one day, one of the emigrants lead his companions in the Maghrib prayer and mixed up the Ayat in his recitation. Thereafter, Allah sent down a tougher statement…

(O you who believe! Approach not the Salah (the prayer) when you are in a drunken state until you know (the meaning of) what you utter.)[4:43] Then, the people would drink before the time of the prayer so that they would attend the prayer while sober. A firmer Ayah was later revealed…

(O you who believe! Khamr, Maysir, Ansab, and Azlam are an abomination of Shaytan's handiwork. So avoid that in order that you may be successful.)[5:90-91] So they said, `We abstained, O Lord!' Later, some people said, `O Allah's Messenger! Some people died in the cause of Allah, while some others died in their beds, but they used to drink alcohol and indulge in gambling, which Allah has made a Rijs of the work of Shaytan.' So Allah sent down…

(Those who believe and do righteous good deeds, there is no sin on them for what they ate…) [5:93], until the end of the Ayah. The Prophet said…

(Had they been made impermissible for them, they would have abandoned them as you have abandoned them.) Ahmad recorded this Hadith. Imam Ahmad recorded that `Umar bin Al-Khattab said, "O Allah! Explain the verdict about Khamr to us clearly." The Ayah in Surat Al-Baqarah was revealed,

(They ask you about alcoholic drink and gambling. Say: "In them is a great sin.")[2:219] `Umar was summoned and this Ayah was recited to him, but he still said, "O Allah!

> Make the verdict of Khamr clear to us." Then the Ayah in Surat An-Nisa' was revealed…
> (O you who believe! Do not approach the Salah when you are in a drunken state.) [4:43] Thereafter, the Prophet had someone herald when it was time to pray, "Those in a drunken state are not to approach the prayer." `Umar was again summoned and the Ayah was recited to him, but he still said, "O Allah! Make the verdict concerning Khamr clear to us." Then, the Ayah in Surat Al-Ma'idah [5:91] was revealed, and `Umar was summoned and it was recited to him. When he reached the part of the Ayah that reads…
> (So, will you not then abstain) [5:91], `Umar said, "We abstained, we abstained." Abu Dawud, At-Tirmidhi, and An-Nasa'i recorded this Hadith. `Ali bin Al-Madini and At-Tirmidhi graded it Sahih. It is recorded in the Two Sahihs, that `Umar bin Al-Khattab said in a speech; while standing on the Minbar of the Messenger of Allah (in the Prophet's Masjid in Al-Madinah) "O people! The prohibition of Khamr was revealed; and Khamr was extracted from five things: From grapes, dates, honey, wheat and barley. Khamr is what intoxicates the mind." Al-Bukhari recorded that Ibn `Umar said, "The prohibition of Khamr was revealed when there were five kinds of intoxicants in Al-Madinah, besides what was produced from grapes." (Source)

Muslims like to argue that this slow and gradual prohibition was necessary since it wouldn't have been fair or possible for people who were addicted to drinking to simply quit overnight. Aside from the fact that this method still didn't entirely solve the problem of alcoholism, Muslims fail to realize how unfair this gradual progression truly is for others. After all, neither Muslim scholars nor those seeking to implement Islamic law will allow for the gradual abandonment of intoxicants. Anyone converting to Islam must immediately forsake all consumption of intoxicants since those verses which allowed for drinking have been abrogated by the outright prohibition of alcoholic drinks. Where is the fairness in that? Why was it permitted for the first generation of Muslims to slowly come off of drinking whereas all subsequent generations of converts must not drink at all, even if they may happen to be addicted to alcohol and might find it hard to just give it up instantaneously?

WHY CHRISTIANS EAT PORK

Muslims claim that Christianity is false since Christians are permitted to consume the flesh of swine which is strictly forbidden under the Mosaic Law. The Mosaic Law is also known as the Law of Moses. Muslims use this as evidence not only to condemn Christianity but also to promote Islam since it likewise prohibits the eating of the flesh of pigs. It is time to expose their lies and deception. Muslims frequently quote the following verses from the Bible to validate their claim:

Leviticus 11:7-8: Also the pig*, because it has a split hoof and a cleft in the hoof but does not chew the cud. It is unclean for you.* You must not eat any of their flesh or touch their dead body. They are unclean for you.
Deuteronomy 14:8: Also the pig because it has a split hoof but does not chew the cud. It is unclean for you. You must not eat their flesh or touch their carcasses.

However, Muslims will never quote in full the complete dietary restrictions in the above verses. This is because they know that doing so will expose the hypocrisy of their argument. We will now expose their deception by reading the above verses in context, in their entirety. We will read Leviticus 11:1-8.

Leviticus 11:1-3: Then Jehovah said to Moses and Aaron: "Tell the Israelites, 'These are the living creatures of the earth that you may eat:

Every animal that has a split hoof and a cleft in its hooves and that chews the cud may be eaten.
Leviticus 11:4: But you must not eat from among those that chew the cud or from among those that have a split hoof: The Camel because it chews the cud but does not have a split hoof. It is unclean for you.
Leviticus 11:5: Also the Rock Badger*, because it chews the cud but does not have a split hoof. It is unclean for you.*
Leviticus 11:6: Also the Hare (Rabbit*), because it chews the cud but does not have a split hoof. It is unclean for you.*
Leviticus 11:7: Also the Pig, because it has a split hoof but does not chew the cud. It is unclean for you.
Leviticus 11:8: You must not eat any of their flesh or touch their dead body. They are unclean for you.'"
Let us now read Deuteronomy 14:6-8.
Deuteronomy 14:6: "You may eat any animal that has a split hoof divided into two and that chews the cud.
Deuteronomy 14:7: However, you must not eat from among those that chew the cud or from among those that have split hooves: The Camel*,* the Hare (Rabbit), and the Rock Badger, because they chew the cud but do not have split hooves. They are unclean for you.
Deuteronomy 14:8: Also the Pig because it has a split hoof but does not chew the cud. It is unclean for you. You must not eat their flesh or touch their carcasses."
The commandment is clear. As we can see, both the flesh of swine and the flesh of camels are equally forbidden in the Torah. This is because the camel does not have a split hoof while the pig does not chew the cud. So both these animals are equally unclean for consumption in the Torah. In fact, the following translation of the Quran not only acknowledges these dietary restrictions in the Torah but it even clarifies the specific types of animals that are prohibited for the Jews:

Surah 6:146: And to those imbued with Jewish doctrines and principles We forbade every animal with undivided hoof – camels*,* rabbits*,* hares – and of the oxen and the sheep We forbade them only their fat except the fat covering their backs and their entrails and the fat attached to the bones. (Al-Muntakhab)
As it can be noted, the camel is specifically mentioned as one of the forbidden animals for the Jews. This fact is also confirmed in the Tafsirs of numerous well-known scholars of Islam. We will consider just two out of the many to verify this fact.

Tafsir Jalalayn on Surah 6:146:

And to those of Jewry, that is the Jews, We forbade every beast with hoof, that is every beast that does not have divided toes such as camels and ostriches.

Tafsir Ibn Kathir on Surah 6:146:

Allah says, We forbade for the Jews every bird and animals such as the camel*, ostrich, duck and goose.*

The Quran clearly testifies that just like the flesh of pigs, the flesh of camels is also forbidden in the Torah. Yet, Muslims consume the flesh of camels. Are they not then guilty of the very same offense that they accuse the Christians of committing? Camels which are considered unclean for consumption under the Mosaic Law are approved in the Quran. Islamic scholars deliberately conceal the verses in the Quran that violates the dietary laws of the Torah. One such verse is the following:

Surah 22:36: And the camels and cows did We make lawful for you to use in the event of your oblation of thanks giving and in your offering. They serve as a store from which you obtain advantages in plenty. Therefore, pronounce Allah's Name on them as they are lined up, slaughtered and laid on their sides. You may eat there from and feed him who is content and satisfied in mind despite poverty. (Al-Muntakhab)

Since the Torah strictly prohibits the Jews to eat the flesh of camels, how can Allah then make it lawful for the Muslims in the Quran? What justification can Muslims provide to reconcile this contradiction between the dietary laws in the Torah and the Quran? While Christians eat the flesh of swine, Muslims eat the flesh of camels. Yet, both are forbidden in the Torah. Worse still, Muhammad even prescribed camel urine as medicine to his followers.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 71, Number 590:

Narrated Anas: The climate of Medina did not suit some people, so the Prophet ordered them to follow his shepherd that is his camels, and drink their milk and urine as a medicine.

Another verse in the Bible which Muslims frequently quote to accuse the Christians of violating the dietary restrictions of the Mosaic Law is Matthew 5:17. Let's read this verse:

Matthew 5:17: "Do not think I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I came, not to destroy, but to fulfill."

Muslims cite this verse as evidence to prove that Jesus did not abolish the dietary laws in the Torah. If true, then Muslims have only dug their own graves. These very same dietary laws in the Torah also forbid the eating of the flesh of camels. Since Muslims claim that Jesus did not abolish the dietary laws in the Torah, will Jesus then approve the eating of the flesh of camels in defiance of the Mosaic Law? Can Jesus legitimately condemn the flesh of swine without condemning the flesh of camels? Muslims must be extremely desperate to use this self-condemning argument to justify their case. Why is it permissible for the Muslims to break the Mosaic Law but not the Christians? Well, what did Jesus mean when he said that he came to *"fulfill" the Law? What does the expression to *"fulfill" actually mean? To illustrate:

A builder "fulfills" a contract to complete a building, not by destroying the contract, but by finishing the structure of the building. However, upon completion of the project to the satisfaction of the client, the contract is fulfilled and the builder is no longer under obligation to it. Likewise, Jesus did not destroy the Law but rather he fulfilled it perfectly. Once fulfilled*, that Law contract was no longer binding on God's people.*

Unlike the deceptive and contradictory claims of the Muslims, the Christian position is clearly substantiated in the Bible. The abolishment of the Mosaic Law with the coming of Jesus is clearly verified in numerous verses of the Bible. The following are two such verses:

Romans 10:4: For Christ is the end of the Law*, so that everyone exercising faith may have righteousness.*

Colossians 2:16-17: Therefore, do not let anyone judge you about what you eat and drink or about the observance of a festival or of the new moon or of a Sabbath. Those things are a shadow of the things to come, but the reality belongs to the Christ.

The Mosaic Law came to an end with the coming of Jesus. Thus, Christians have a valid basis for not submitting to the dietary laws of the Jews. In fact, the Quran confirms this vital truth. It clearly testifies that the restrictions which the Jewish Christians were subjected to previously under the Mosaic Law were removed with the coming of Jesus. In the following Quranic verse, Jesus declared:

Surah 3:50: I have come to you, to attest the Law which was before me. And to make lawful to you part of what was before forbidden to you. I have come to you with a Sign from your Lord. So fear God, and obey me." (Yusuf Ali)

Surah 3:50 clearly confirms that Jesus will make *"lawful" for the Christians what was previously *"forbidden" under the Mosaic Law. Of course, this cannot mean that Jesus will now make it lawful for the Christians to practice what is morally wrong in the Torah. Surah 3:50 must therefore be referring to the ceremonial laws which include the dietary restrictions stipulated under the Mosaic Law. This is verified by what Jesus himself stated in the following Gospel account. Speaking in the context of what defiles a person spiritually, Jesus stated:

Matthew 15:10-11: With that he called the crowd near and said to them: "Listen and get the sense of it. It is not what enters into a man's mouth that defiles him, but it is what comes out of his mouth that defiles him." And in the following parallel account, Jesus clarified:

Mark 7:18-23: "Are you not aware that nothing from outside that enters into a man can defile him . . . That which comes out of a man is what defiles him. From the inside, out of the heart of men, come injurious reasonings, sexual immorality, thefts, murders, acts of adultery, greed, acts of wickedness, deceit, brazen conduct, an envious eye, blasphemy, haughtiness, and unreasonableness. All these wicked things come from within and defile a man."

Jesus clarified it is not what a person eats that defiles him spiritually but *"that which comes out of a man is what defiles him." The Bible clearly testifies that with the coming of Jesus, Christians will no longer be subjected to the Law Covenant but to the Law of the Christ. As such, it was no longer mandatory for the Christians – both in the past and in the present – to observe the dietary restrictions of the Mosaic Law. If Muslims insist that the Christians must observe the Mosaic Law as the Jews do, then the Quran becomes false instantly. It becomes false since Surah 3:50 specifically testifies that certain restrictions will become obsolete for the Christians with the coming of Jesus. Muslims fail to understand that Surah 3:50 is actually testifying to the abolition of certain restrictions which were obligatory for the Jews under the Mosaic Law. Thus, this Quranic verse exonerates the Christians from the baseless accusations of the Muslims. In fact, Christians would be acting in disobedience if they continued observing the restrictions which God removed and made "lawful" through Jesus Christ. Therefore, Muslims who insist that Christians must observe the dietary restrictions are actually denying the teachings of the Quran in Surah 3:50. In fact, even while the Law Covenant was still in force, Jehovah foretold that in time it will be replaced with a New Covenant.

Jeremiah 31:31-32: "Look! The days are coming when I will make with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah a new covenant. It will not be like the covenant that I made with their forefathers on the day I took hold of their hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt which they broke, although I was their true master," declares Jehovah.

The Law Covenant became obsolete when Jesus instituted the New Covenant.

Hebrews 8:13: In his saying "a new covenant," he has made the former one obsolete.

Hebrews 9:15: That is why Jesus is a mediator of a new covenant*, in order that because a death has occurred for their release by ransom from the transgressions under the* former covenant.

If Muslims are truly consistent in their accusation, then they must put their Prophet on trial for violating the divine laws of God in the Torah. In total violation of the Mosaic Law, Muhammad consumed the meat of animals which are strictly forbidden in the Torah. Muhammad consumed the flesh of camels and rabbits which are considered unclean according to the dietary laws in the Torah.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 44, Number 665:

Narrated Rafi bin Khadij: We used to offer the 'Asr prayer with the Prophet and slaughter a camel*, the meat of which would be divided in ten parts. We would then eat the cooked meat before sunset.*

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 47, Number 746:

Narrated Anas: We chased a rabbit at Mar-al-Zahran and the people ran after it but were exhausted. I overpowered and caught it, and gave it to Abu Talha who slaughtered it and sent its hip or two thighs to Allah's Apostle. The narrator confirms that he sent two thighs. The Prophet accepted that. The sub-narrator asked Anas, "Did the Prophet; eat from it?" Anas replied, "He ate from it."

Allah claims in the Quran that he revealed the Torah to the Jews. In other words, it was Allah who decreed in the Torah that the flesh of camels is unclean for food. Then why did Allah contradict himself in the Quran? If that which was "haram" for the Jews is now "halal" for the Muslims, then why do Muslims deny this same privilege for the Christians? Why do they find it suddenly unacceptable for that which was "haram" for the Jews to likewise become "halal" for the Christians? Why the double standard? This is hypocrisy! Let us look at the Quranic verse where Allah claims to reveal the Torah:

Surah 5:44: Lo! We did reveal the Torah*, wherein is guidance and a light. (Pickthall)*

Of course, it is not Allah but Jehovah who revealed the Torah to Moses. He is the Author. There is no denying this truth. Allah is but an impostor.

The Serious Doubts Of Muhammad

One of the most troubling verses in the Qur'an for Muslims is Surah 10:94. This Qur'anic verse reveals that Muhammad had serious doubts about the revelations he was receiving. He had doubts whether these revelations were genuinely from God or not. Is it not shocking to learn that Muhammad is the first person to doubt the Qur'an? To address this dilemma, Allah revealed Surah 10:94. Muhammad was commanded to seek the guidance of those who read the Holy Bible to overcome his doubts. Two different translations are provided below:

Surah 10:94: So if you (O Muhammad) are in doubt concerning that which We have revealed unto you . . . ask those who are reading the Book (Torah and the Gospel) before you. Verily, the truth has come to you from your Lord. So be not of those who doubt it." (Hilali-Khan)

But if you are in doubt as to what We have revealed to you, ask those who read the Book before you*; certainly the truth has come to you from your Lord, therefore you should not be of the disputers. (Shakir)*

The only "Book" (singular) containing both the Torah and the Gospel is the Holy Bible. And the only people who have been reading both the Torah and the Gospel at the time of Muhammad were the Christians. The Jews do not read the Gospel. The entire Bible consisting of both Torah and the Gospel is the only source of divine guidance for Christians. For Allah to command Muhammad to consult the Christians, the Bible must have remained pure and unaltered in any way. Otherwise, Allah would not have given this commandment to Muhammad. It would certainly be futile to seek clarification from a people whose Scriptures had become corrupted. To paraphrase Surah 10:94*,* Allah is simply saying:

"Muhammad, if you have doubts about the Qur'an, consult the people who read the Bible to clear your doubts."

Let us analyze the full implication of Surah 10:94. This Qur'anic verse testifies that the Bible is the divine standard by which Muhammad can determine the credibility of the Qur'an. It is the divine standard by which he can verify if the Qur'an is true or not. It serves as the judge for Muhammad to determine if the revelations he was receiving are genuinely from God or not. Surah 10:94 proves that the authorization of the Bible was crucial for Muhammad to verify the validity of the Qur'an. Since the Bible is the standard of truth with which the Qur'an must agree with, it stands above the judgment of the Qur'an. It is the Qur'an that has to be verified in the light of the previous Scriptures and not the other way around. Since it is the Bible that evaluates the Qur'an, it is far greater in authority than the Qur'an. Can the Qur'an evaluate the Book that evaluates it? Contrary to the claim of the Muslims that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible*,* Allah commanded Muhammad to consult the Bible – long after the arrival of the Qur'an. Therefore, Surah 10:94 not only confirms the credibility of the Bible as the authoritative Word of God*,* but it also reveals that it was never the intention of Allah for the Qur'an to supersede or to abrogate or to replace the Bible.

Surah 10:94 belongs to Surah Jonah (Yunos) which is a late Meccan Surah. What should be troubling for Muslims is the fact that Muhammad was having serious doubts about the revelations he was receiving almost a decade after receiving them. The nature of Muhammad's doubt is indeed serious. He doubted the very legitimacy of the Qur'an itself. He doubted the very source that is supposed to eliminate doubts and build faith. This is extremely troubling. Read once again the words of Allah:

Surah 10:94: But if you (Muhammad) are in doubt as to what We have revealed to you, ask those who read the Book before you. (Pickthall)

All these evidences prove that the Bible is the standard of gold by which the Qur'an is to be evaluated. As Muslims are not above Muhammad, it is also mandatory for them to submit to this commandment of Allah in Surah 10:94. This fact is verified in the following Tafsir on Surah 10:94.

Al-Muntakhab fi Tafsir al-Qur'an al-Karim on Surah 10:94:

If you O Muhammad or any of your followers are in doubt of what has been inspired to you, then ask those who have been reading and perusing the Book before you.

Are Muslims not amazed to learn that Allah's greatest Prophet is commanded to seek the guidance of ordinary Christians to clear his doubts? Why? Because the Bible eliminates doubts and restores faith. In fact, the life of Muhammad hangs on the balance if he fails to heed this commandment of Allah to consult the Christians. He will be among those who perish. Allah sternly warned Muhammad of the consequences in the very next verse:

Surah 10:95: And do not be of those who reject the Signs (Verses) of Allah, or you shall be of those who will perish*. (Syed Vicar Ahamed)*

The only cure for Muhammad was the Bible. That is the only remedy Allah could rely on to save his Prophet from destruction. Since the revelation of the Qur'an was still in progression, why did not Allah inspire an appropriate faith-strengthening verse in the Qur'an for Muhammad to overcome his doubts? Why did Allah appeal to the Bible to solve this predicament? The fact that Allah had to appeal to the Bible as the only solution to solve the crisis of his Prophet proves that the Bible is irreplaceable. The restoration of Muhammad's faith rested solely on the Bible. It was the only solution to solve the otherwise insoluble problem. Will Allah permit such an essential Book to become corrupted as Muslims claim? Will he not protect the very foundation upon which the credibility of the Qur'an depends on? If you destroy the foundation, you destroy everything that is built on it.

Well Muslims, is it not shocking to learn that your Prophet, the very recipient of the Qur'an, had serious doubts about the revelations he was receiving – years after he began receiving them? Does it not astonish you to learn that the only solution is the Bible for your Prophet to overcome his doubts? For Muhammad to trust the Qur'an, he has to first trust the Bible. So must you!

While Muhammad was commanded to seek the guidance of the People of the Book to clear his doubts, neither the Jews nor the Christians were ever commanded to see the guidance of Muhammad. Instead of turning to Muhammad, Allah admonished them to consult their own inspired Scriptures. The following Qur'anic verses clearly testify to this truth. With reference to the Jews, Allah questioned Muhammad:

Surah 5:43: But why do they come to you for judgment when they have the Torah*, which enshrines God's own judgment? (W. Khan)*

Similarly, the Christians were commanded to judge by what was revealed to them:

Surah 5:47: "The followers of the Gospels (the New Testament) must judge according to what God has revealed in it. Those who do not judge by the laws of God are evil doers. (M. Sarwar)

The above two Qur'anic verses can still be found in the Qur'an today. And the message in these two Qur'anic verses still remains the same today. This means that even now, the Qur'an admonishes the Jews and the Christians to follow the guidance of their own Scriptures. If Muslims truly believe in the Qur'an, they will not be deceived by those who falsely claim that the Bible has become corrupted. Read the Qur'an and the Qur'an will direct you to the Bible – the eternal Word of God.

Stoning Sinful Woman

No prophet can stone a pregnant slave woman to death along with her unborn child despite her asking for forgiveness, but peaceful Muhammad did:

Sahih Muslim, Book 17, Hadith 4206 or Sahih Muslim 1695b

> 'Abdullah b. Buraida reported on the authority of his father that Ma'iz b. Malik al-Aslami came to Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) and said:
> Allah's Messenger, I have wronged myself; I have committed adultery and I earnestly desire that you should purify me. He turned him away. On the following day, he (Ma'iz) again came to him and said: Allah's Messenger, I have committed adultery. Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) turned him away for the second time, and sent him to his people saying: Do you know if there is anything wrong with his mind. They denied of any such thing in him and said: We do not know him but as a wise good man among us, so far as we can judge. He (Ma'iz) came for the third time, and he (the Holy Prophet) sent him as he had done before. He asked about him and they informed him that there was nothing wrong with him or with his mind. When it was the fourth time, a ditch was dug for him and he (the Holy Prophet) pronounced judg- ment about him and he wis stoned. He (the narrator) said: There came to him (the Holy Prophet) a woman from Ghamid and said: Allah's Messenger, I have committed adultery, so purify me. He (the Holy Prophet) turned her away. On the following day she said: Allah's Messenger, Why do you turn me away? Perhaps, you turn me away as you turned away Ma'iz. By Allah, I have become pregnant. He said: Well, if you insist upon it, then go away until you give birth to (the child). When she was delivered she came with the child (wrapped) in a rag and said: Here is the child whom I have given birth to. He said: Go away and suckle him until you wean him. When she had weaned him, she came to him (the Holy Prophet) with the child who was holding a piece of bread in his hand. She said: Allah's Apostle, here is he as I have weaned him and he eats food. He (the Holy Prophet) entrusted the child to one of the Muslims and then pronounced punishment. And she was put in a ditch up to her chest and he commanded people and they stoned her. Khalid b Walid came forward with a stone which he flung at her head and there spurted blood on the face of Khalid and so he abused her. Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) heard his (Khalid's) curse that he had huried upon her. Thereupon he (the Holy Prophet) said: Khalid, be gentle. By Him in Whose Hand is my life, she has made such a repentance that even if a wrongful tax-collector were to repent, he would have been forgiven. Then giving command regarding her, he prayed over her and she was buried.

John 8:7-11:

"When they kept on questioning him, he straightened up and said to them, 'Let any one of you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her.' Again he stooped down and wrote on the ground. At this, those who heard began to go away one at a time, the older ones first, until only Jesus was left, with the woman still standing there. Jesus straightened up and asked her, 'Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?"No one, sir,' she said. 'Then neither do I condemn you,' Jesus declared. 'Go now and leave your life of sin.'"

Was Worshiping Ar-Rujz?

Surah Al-Muddaththir (Surah 74), verse 5

"And keep away from Ar-Rujz!"

Historical error- big & undeniable!

The Bible explicitly identifies Miriam as the sister of both Aaron and Moses in several passages. Here are two clear examples:

1. Exodus 15:20 – Miriam is called the sister of Aaron:

   "Then Miriam the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took the timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances."

2. Numbers 12:1 – Miriam and Aaron together oppose Moses:

   "Then Miriam and Aaron spoke against Moses because of the Ethiopian woman whom he had married; for he had married an Ethiopian woman."

In the Quran, Maryam (Mary) is referred to as the "sister of Harun" (Aaron). This is mentioned in Surah Maryam (19:28):

> "O sister of Aaron, your father was not a man of evil, nor was your mother unchaste."

In conclusion, based on biblical chronology and traditional interpretations, Moses and Aaron are believed to have lived in the 15th to 13th centuries BCE, with estimates of the Exodus ranging from 1446 BCE to 1250 BCE, depending on the interpretation of biblical and historical data.

So, Miriam as the sister of both Aaron and Moses is at least 1300 years apart from Mary the mother of Jesus Christ.

Allah's name

The name Allah is believed to have originated from al-Lah. The Lah God. Al-Ilah, meaning "The God" or "The Specific Creator." To better understand this name, let's delve into some historical context.

The Quranic verses clarify that the name Allah was already known in pre-Islamic Arabia. Muhammad never tried to introduce the name Allah newly to the polytheists, just suggested he is the God of the only Kaaba. Some polytheistic tribes believed in a supreme deity whom they called Allah and considered to be the Creator of the heavens and the earth, as well as the highest authority among their deities. It is well-known that tribes like the Quraysh and others recognized Allah, who they associated with the Lord of the House (Hubal, a pre-Islamic deity of the Kaaba/cube, according to the First Encyclopedia of Islam). This clearly shows that the concept of Allah in the Quran was not a completely new idea. (A Guide to the Contents of the Qur'an, Faruq Sherif, 1995).

There wasn't just one Kaaba, but many. They were distroyed by Muhammad's army except the one with black stone.

The name Allah, as attested by the Quran itself, was well-known in pre-Islamic Arabia. In fact, the name is found in Northern Arabian inscriptions in both its masculine form (Allah) and its feminine counterpart (Al-Lat). The general theory is that it stems from Ilah, a common word for a deity, combined with the article Al- to form Al-Ilah. (Islam: Muhammad and His Religion, Arthur Jeffery, 1958).

Historically, the Arabs believed in Allah, although He was not the sole deity. The name Allah appeared in ancient inscriptions, such as in South Arabia and Northern Arabian regions, like Al-Ula and Safa. For example, inscriptions in the 5th century mention the name as HLH (a variation of Allah), which suggests that worship of this deity extended across Arabia, even centuries before the advent of Islam. In the same context, the father of Prophet Muhammad was named Abdullah—meaning "Servant of Allah," further emphasizing the pre-Islamic recognition of this deity. Even the Quraysh tribe, before Islam, considered Allah to be the supreme deity they invoked during times of extreme distress, like storms at sea, but they would also share their devotion with other deities once they felt secure again.

When Prophet Muhammad declared the oneness of Allah by saying, "There is no god but Allah," he was not introducing a new god; rather, he was calling the polytheists to worship the God they already knew as the supreme Creator, abandoning the practice of associating other gods with Him. The Quraysh, and other tribes, knew Allah as the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, as seen in verses like, "If you ask them who created the heavens and the earth, they will say 'Allah'" (Qur'an 29:61).

Before Islam, Allah was also considered the Lord of the Kaaba, the holiest shrine in Mecca, and He was believed to be responsible for the Quraysh tribe's prosperity and protection. In one of the earliest chapters of the Quran, Prophet Muhammad calls upon his people to worship the Lord of this House (i.e., the Kaaba), which shows that there was mutual understanding between Muhammad and his people about the significance of the Kaaba in relation to Allah.

Some theories suggest that Allah may have originally been associated with the deity Hubal, worshiped at the Kaaba in Mecca. Nonetheless, the Prophet Muhammad's message was to purify the worship of Allah from any association with other deities and to establish the belief in Allah as the one and only Creator and Sustainer.

In the broader Abrahamic context, similar titles and concepts of God are found. In the Bible, the God of Moses is called YHWH, often translated as Jehovah or Yahweh, meaning "I Am," representing God's eternal nature and identity as the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (Exodus 3:15). Similarly, the Quran describes Allah saying to Moses, "Indeed, I am Allah, the Exalted in Might, the Wise" (Qur'an 27:9).

Across different languages and religious traditions, the name for God often stems from common roots. In the Canaanite religion, El or Elyon refers to the supreme deity, while in Aramaic, Elah or Elaha is used. In Hebrew, Eloh or Elohim means God, and in Greek, Theos is used for God. In Arabic, Ilah is the general term for deity. The term Allah is distinct in Islamic theology as it refers to the monotheistic understanding of God, free from any association with other deities.

However, in pre-Islamic times, the word Ilah or Elah was also used for lesser deities, as evidenced in scriptures like Exodus 32:31 and Joshua 24:15. These names were general terms used for both the true God and false gods.

The name YHWH is understood to be derived from the Hebrew verb havah, which means "to be" or "to exist." In Exodus 3:14, when Moses asks God for His name, God replies, "Ehyeh Asher Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶהְיֶה), which is commonly translated as "I Am Who I Am" or "I Will Be What I Will Be." This expression indicates God's eternal and self-sustaining nature, emphasizing that He exists independently and beyond time.

In this context, YHWH can be understood as "The One Who Is" or "The One Who Causes to Be," highlighting God's role as the Creator and Sustainer of all existence. The name itself conveys that God is unchanging, eternal, and the source of all being. YHWH is the most frequently used name for God in the Hebrew Bible, appearing over 6,800 times.

In conclusion, the name Allah was not unfamiliar to the people of pre-Islamic Arabia. While it referred to the supreme deity among the polytheists, Prophet Muhammad redefined its meaning.

Marriage in heaven

In the tafsir of Verse (66:5) Perhaps his Lord, if he divorced you [all], would substitute for him wives better than you - submitting [to Allah], believing, devoutly obedient, repentant, worshiping, and traveling - [ones] previously married and virgins.

Muhammad said, “In heaven, Mary mother of Jesus, will be one of my wives.”

al-Suyuti (6/395)

"The Messenger of God ... said, ‘God married me in paradise to Mary the daughter of 'Imran and to the wife of Pharaoh and the sister of Moses.’" Tabarani Ibn Kathir, Qisas al-Anbiya [Cairo: Dar al-Kutub, 1968/1388], p. 381- as cited in Aliah Schleifer's Mary The Blessed Virgin of Islam [Fons Vitae; ISBN: 1887752021; July 1, 1998], p. 64;

Matthew 22:23-30 :

> 23 The same day some Sadducees came to him, saying there is no resurrection, and they asked him a question, 24 saying, “Teacher, Moses said, ‘If a man dies childless, his brother shall marry the widow and raise up children for his brother.’ 25 Now there were seven brothers among us; the first married and died childless, leaving the widow to his brother. 26 The same thing happened with the second and the third, through all seven brothers. 27 Last of all, the woman herself died. 28 In the resurrection, then, whose wife of the seven will she be? For all of them had married her.”
> 29 Jesus answered them, “You are wrong because you know neither the scriptures nor the power of God. 30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven.”

In Matthew 22:23-30, Jesus addresses a question from the Sadducees, a group of Jewish religious leaders who did not believe in the resurrection. They asked Him about a woman who had married seven brothers, one after another, as each brother died. Their question was intended to mock the idea of resurrection, implying a dilemma: If there's life after death, whose wife would she be in heaven?

Here's a breakdown of Jesus' response and the key points:

1. Context of the Question (Matthew 22:23-28)

The Sadducees' question refers to the Jewish law of levirate marriage (Deuteronomy 25:5-6), which required a man to marry his deceased brother's widow to continue the family line. By proposing an extreme scenario (a woman marrying seven brothers), the Sadducees attempted to show how absurd resurrection would be under such laws.

2. Jesus' Response: No Marriage in Heaven (Matthew 22:29-30)

Jesus rebukes their misunderstanding:

- "You are wrong because you know neither the scriptures nor the power of God." (Matthew 22:29)
    - Here, Jesus points out that their lack of knowledge of God's power leads to their confusion. They limit God's ability by assuming earthly realities like marriage will continue in the afterlife.
- "For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven." (Matthew 22:30)
    - Resurrected life is different: Jesus teaches that the nature of the afterlife is not merely an extension of earthly life. People will not marry or be given in marriage. The relationships we have now, while significant, do not carry over in the same way in heaven.
    - Like angels: Jesus compares the resurrected state to that of angels. This doesn't mean humans become angels but that, like angels, they will exist in a state that transcends earthly needs like marriage, which is related to procreation and companionship in this life.

3. Spiritual Implications

- Marriage and earthly institutions are temporary: Jesus shifts the focus from the earthly understanding of relationships to the eternal reality of God's kingdom. While marriage is a blessing on earth, in heaven, relationships are perfected in unity with God.

- Focus on God's power: Jesus highlights that the Sadducees underestimated God's power. In the resurrection, God brings people to a state of perfection, where the limitations of earthly life no longer apply.

4. Theological Insight

- Heavenly relationships will be transformed: This teaching suggests that while love, joy, and communion will exist in heaven, they will be experienced in a transformed way, not tied to earthly structures like marriage. The focus will be on eternal communion with God, where earthly needs and institutions are no longer necessary.

But Muhammad's God Allah kept all potions for marathon race with 72 eternal virgins with inflated bests:

And [there will be] full-breasted [companions] of equal age." (Qur'an 78:33)

During the lifetime of the Prophet (ﷺ) some people said, : O Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)! Shall we see our Lord on the Day of Resurrection?" The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "Yes; do you have any difficulty in seeing the sun at midday when it is bright and there is no cloud in the sky?" They replied, "No." He said, "Do you have any difficulty in seeing the moon on a full moon night when it is bright and there is no cloud in the sky?" They replied, "No." The Prophet (ﷺ) said, "(Similarly) you will have no difficulty in seeing Allah on the Day of Resurrection as you have no difficulty in seeing either of them. On the Day of Resurrection, a call-maker will announce, "Let every nation follow that which they used to worship." Then none of those who used to worship anything other than Allah like idols and other deities but will fall in Hell (Fire), till there will remain none but those who used to worship Allah, both those who were obedient (i.e. good) and those who were disobedient (i.e. bad) and the remaining party of the people of the Scripture. Then the Jews will be called upon and it will be said to them, 'Who do you use to worship?' They will say, 'We used to worship Ezra, the son of Allah.' It will be said to them, 'You are liars, for Allah has never taken anyone as a wife or a son. What do you want now?' They will say, 'O our Lord! We are thirsty, so give us something to drink.' They will be directed and addressed thus, 'Will you drink,' whereupon they will be gathered unto Hell (Fire) which will look like a mirage whose different sides will be destroying each other. Then they will fall into the Fire. Afterwards the Christians will be called upon and it will be said to them, 'Who do you use to worship?' They will say, 'We used to worship Jesus, the son of Allah.' It will be said to them, 'You are liars, for Allah has never taken anyone as a wife or a son,' Then it will be said to them, 'What do you want?' They will say what the former people have said. Then, when there remain (in the gathering) none but those who used to worship Allah (Alone, the real Lord of the Worlds) whether they were obedient or disobedient. Then (Allah) the Lord of the worlds will come to them in a shape nearest to the picture they had in their minds about Him. It will be said, 'What are you waiting for?' Every nation have followed what they used to worship.' They will reply, 'We left the people in the world when we were in great need of them and we did not take them as friends. Now we are waiting for our Lord Whom we used to worship.' Allah will say, 'I am your Lord.' They will say twice or thrice, 'We do not worship any besides Allah.' "

Narrated Abu Sa'id Al-Khudri:

We said, "O Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)! Shall we see our Lord on the Day of Resurrection?" He said, "Do you have any difficulty in seeing the sun and the moon when the sky is clear?" We said, "No." He said, "So you will have no difficulty in seeing your Lord on that Day as you have no difficulty in seeing the sun and the moon (in a clear sky)." The Prophet then said, "Somebody will then announce, 'Let every nation follow what they used to worship.' So the companions of the cross will go with their cross, and the idolators (will go) with their idols, and the companions of every god (false deities) (will go) with their god, till there remain those who used to worship Allah, both the obedient ones and the mischievous ones, and some of the people of the Scripture. Then Hell will be presented to them as if it were a mirage. Then it will be said to the Jews, "What did you use to worship?' They will reply, 'We used to worship Ezra, the son of Allah.' It will be said to them, 'You are liars, for Allah has neither a wife nor a son. What do you want (now)?' They will reply, 'We want You to provide us with water.' Then it will be said to them 'Drink,' and they will fall down in Hell (instead). Then it will be said to the Christians, 'What did you use to worship?'
They will reply, 'We used to worship Messiah, the son of Allah.' It will be said, 'You are liars, for Allah has neither a wife nor a son. What: do you want (now)?' They will say, 'We want You to provide us with water.' It will be said to them, 'Drink,' and they will fall down in Hell (instead). When there remain only those who used to worship Allah (Alone), both the obedient ones and the mischievous ones, it will be said to them, 'What keeps you here when all the people have gone?' They will say, 'We parted with them (in the world) when we were in greater need of them than we are today, we heard the call of one proclaiming, 'Let every nation follow what they used to worship,' and now we are waiting for our Lord.' Then the Almighty will come to them in a shape other than the one which they saw the first time, and He will say, 'I am your Lord,' and they will say, 'You are not our Lord.' And none will speak: to Him then but the Prophets, and then it will be said to them, 'Do you know any sign by which you can recognize Him?' They will say. 'The Shin,' and so Allah will then uncover His Shin whereupon every believer will prostrate before Him and there will remain those who used to prostrate before Him just for showing off and for gaining good reputation. These people will try to prostrate but their backs will be rigid like one piece of a wood (and they will not be able to prostrate). ….

History of Al-Tabari-General Introduction and From the Creation to the Flood, translated by Franz Rosenthal [State University of New York Press (SUNY), Albany, NY 1989], Volume 1, pp. 261-262:

According to Masi b. Harun–Amr b. Hammad–Asbat–al-Suddi–Abu Malik and Abu Salih–Ibn ‘Abbas. Also (al-Suddi) Murrah al-Hamdini–Ibn Masud and some (other) companions of the Prophet: God said to the angels: “I am creating a human being from clay. When I have fashioned him and blown some of My spirit into him, fall down in prostration before him!”[596] God created him with His own hands, lest Iblis become overbearing toward (Adam), so that (God) could say to (Iblis): You are overbearing toward something I have made with My own hand(s), which I Myself was not too haughty to make!? So God created Adam as a human being. He was a body of clay for forty years the extent of Friday(?)[597] When the angels passed by him, they were frightened by what they saw. The angel most frightened was Iblis. He would pass by him, kick him, and thus make the body produce a sound as potter’s clay does. That is (meant) where God says: “From salsal like potter’s clay.”[598] Then he would say: What were you created for? He entered his mouth and left from his posterior. Then he said to the angels: Don’t be afraid of that one, for your Lord is solid, whereas this one is hollow. When I am given authority over him, I shall ruin him.[600]

Therefore, Iblis can enter from Adam’s mouth and leave from posterior. But in case of Allah he can enter from mouth, but can’t leave. Because Allah is Samad/solid, like the black stone of Kaaba- which can forgive sin by touching, kissing or sucking it:

The 112th surah proclaims that Allah is ahad and that he is also al-samad, the latter term being understood by specific Muslim expositors to be an affirmation of the Islamic deity be solid, not hollow:

Say, “He is Allah, Ahad (One). Allah, Al-Samad (The Absolute). Neither (He) begets nor (He) was born. And there was not for Him equivalent

One." S. 112:1-4 (Samy Mahdy https://www.islamawakened.com/quran/112/st87.htm)

God is Solid (al-samadu) (and does not need anyone's help). S. 112:2 (Bijan Moeinian https://www.islamawakened.com/quran/112/st11.htm)

"Allah is Samad." (Absolute Self-Sufficient One beyond any need or defect, free from the concept of multiplicity, and far from conceptualization and limitation. The one into whom nothing can enter, and the One from whom no other form of existence can come out!) (Ahmed Hulusi https://www.islamawakened.com/quran/112/st63.htm)

God Personally Identified a Term to Refer Him

In the Bible, the God of Moses is called YHWH, often transliterated as Jehovah or LORD in English, and pronounced in Hebrew as Yahweh, representing God's eternal nature and identity as the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

The term YHWH (יהוה) is the tetragrammaton, a four-letter name for God in the Hebrew Bible. It is considered the most sacred name of God in Jewish tradition. The letters in Hebrew are Yod (י), He (ה), Vav (ו), He (ה), and because Hebrew originally did not include written vowels, the exact pronunciation is debated. The most common scholarly reconstruction is "Yahweh", though Jewish tradition often substitutes this with "Adonai" (meaning "Lord") during readings.

The name YHWH is understood to be derived from the Hebrew verb "hayah" (היה), which means "to be" or "to exist." In Exodus 3:14, when Moses asks God for His name, God replies, "Ehyeh Asher Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶהְיֶה), which is commonly translated as "I Am Who I Am" or "I Will Be What I Will Be." This expression indicates God's eternal and self-sustaining nature, emphasizing that He exists independently and beyond time. In this context, YHWH can be understood as "The One Who Is" or "The One Who Causes to Be," highlighting God's role as the Creator and Sustainer of all existence.

"I AM" is a key interpretation of YHWH. This understanding comes primarily from Exodus 3:14, where God reveals His name to Moses as "Ehyeh Asher Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה אֲשֶׁר אֶהְיֶה), which is often translated as "I AM WHO I AM" or "I WILL BE WHO I WILL BE."

The first-person form "Ehyeh" (אֶהְיֶה) means "I AM" or "I WILL BE" in Hebrew. YHWH, while not a direct translation, is closely related to the same root, hayah (היה), meaning "to be." Therefore, when God uses "I AM" (Ehyeh), He emphasizes His self-existence, eternal presence, and unchanging nature, whereas YHWH in third-person form would mean "He is" or "He will be."

The name YHWH (יְהוָה, Yahweh) appears approximately 6,828 times in the Hebrew Old Testament.

Remember that the God of the Bible Jehovah and al-Lah (the Lah) (like the daughters of al-Lah: al-Uzza, al-Lat, al-Manat or simply alif, lam, mim) of Mecca is not the same.

Prophets

■Old Testament Prophets:

Major Prophets:

1. Isaiah (יְשַׁעְיָהוּ, Yeshayahu) – A prophet during the reigns of several Judean kings, Isaiah prophesied about the coming of the Messiah and God's judgment and salvation.
2. Jeremiah (יִרְמְיָהוּ, Yirmeyahu) – Known as the "weeping prophet," Jeremiah warned the people of Judah of impending disaster due to their unfaithfulness.
3. Ezekiel (יְחֶזְקֵאל, Yeḥezkel) – A prophet during the Babylonian exile, Ezekiel had visions of God's glory and prophesied the restoration of Israel.
4. Daniel (דָּנִיֵּאל, Daniyyel) – While not called a prophet in the same sense as others, Daniel's visions and prophecies about future kingdoms and the end times are crucial in biblical prophecy.

Minor Prophets (The Twelve):

1. Hosea (הוֹשֵׁעַ, Hoshea) – Hosea's life and prophecies reflect God's enduring love for unfaithful Israel.
2. Joel (יוֹאֵל, Yo'el) – He prophesied about the "Day of the Lord" and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit.
3. Amos (עָמוֹס, Amos) – A shepherd turned prophet who called out social injustice and warned of coming judgment.
4. Obadiah (עֹבַדְיָה, Ovadyah) – A short prophecy against Edom for their role in the destruction of Jerusalem.
5. Jonah (יוֹנָה, Yonah) – Known for being swallowed by a large fish, Jonah was sent to warn Nineveh of coming destruction, and the city repented.
6. Micah (מִיכָה, Mikha) – Prophesied the fall of Samaria and Jerusalem and foretold the birthplace of the Messiah in Bethlehem.
7. Nahum (נַחוּם, Naḥum) – Prophesied the fall of Nineveh as God's judgment.
8. Habakkuk (חֲבַקּוּק, Ḥavakkuk) – Questioned God's justice but ultimately trusted in His plan.

9. Zephaniah (צְפַנְיָה, Tsephanyah) – Warned of the coming judgment but also foretold the restoration of Israel.
10. Haggai (חַגַּי, Ḥaggai) – Encouraged the people to rebuild the Temple after the Babylonian exile.
11. Zechariah (זְכַרְיָה, Zekharyah) – Prophesied about the coming Messiah and the future glory of Jerusalem.
12. Malachi (מַלְאָכִי, Mal'akhi) – The last prophet of the Old Testament, he foretold the coming of Elijah before the great and terrible Day of the Lord.

New Testament Prophets:

1. John the Baptist (Ἰωάννης ὁ Βαπτιστής, Iōánnēs ho Baptistēs) – The forerunner of Jesus, he called people to repentance and baptized them in preparation for the coming Messiah (Jesus).
2. Jesus Christ (Ἰησοῦς Χριστός, Iēsous Christos) – Though more than a prophet, Jesus fulfilled and expanded the prophetic tradition, bringing the ultimate revelation of God's will.
3. Agabus (Ἄγαβος, Agabos) – A prophet in the early church who predicted a famine and Paul's arrest (Acts 11:28; Acts 21:10-11).
4. Prophets in the Early Church – The New Testament mentions various individuals who had the gift of prophecy in the early church, such as Philip's daughters (Acts 21:9) and those mentioned in 1 Corinthians 12:28-31.

In the Bible, a prophet is generally understood as someone who communicates messages from God, often delivering warnings, predictions, or guidance about future events. By definition, a prophet's role involves prophesying—speaking God's word, which can include foretelling the future or revealing God's will.

However, some figures are recognized as prophets even though their specific prophecies are not emphasized or recorded in great detail. Here are a few examples where the title of "prophet" is attributed to individuals, but their specific prophecies are less prominent:

■1. Abraham (אַבְרָהָם, Avraham)

- In Genesis 20:7, God calls Abraham a prophet: "Now then, return the man's wife; for he is a prophet, and he will pray for you and you shall live."
- Though Abraham's role as a prophet is affirmed, he is more often known for his faith and covenant relationship with God than for detailed prophetic declarations.

2. Moses' Sister Miriam (מִרְיָם, Miryam)

- Miriam is referred to as a prophetess in Exodus 15:20, where she leads the women in song and celebration after the crossing of the Red Sea.
- Though she is called a prophetess, the Bible doesn't record specific prophetic declarations from her, apart from her leadership role in worship.

3. King David (דָּוִד, David)

- David is sometimes considered a prophet, especially because of his authorship of many Psalms, which contain messianic prophecies (e.g., Psalm 22, a clear reference to the suffering of the Messiah). In Acts 2:30, Peter refers to David as a prophet.
- However, David's primary biblical role is as a king, and he is not known specifically for direct prophecies, but rather for his psalms and leadership.

4. John the Baptist (Ἰωάννης ὁ Βαπτιστής, Iōánnēs ho Baptistēs)

- John the Baptist is widely recognized as a prophet, with Jesus Himself affirming this in Matthew 11:9: "What then did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet."
- Though John's primary role was to prepare the way for Jesus, he is not remembered for long or detailed predictions but for his call to repentance and his testimony about Jesus as the "Lamb of God" (John 1:29).

5. Deborah (דְּבוֹרָה, D'vorah)

- Deborah is called a prophetess in Judges 4:4 and was also a judge of Israel. Though she received a word from God directing Barak to lead an army against the Canaanites (Judges 4:6-7), her role as a prophet is less about predictive prophecy and more about guiding the people of Israel through God's wisdom.

Generally Understood Criteria of a Prophet

The Bible provides several criteria to identify whether someone is a true prophet of God. These criteria emphasize faithfulness to God, the accuracy of prophecies, and the character of the person claiming to be a prophet. Below are the key biblical principles for recognizing a true prophet:

■1. Their Prophecies Must Be Fulfilled

A core test of a prophet is the fulfillment of their prophecies. If a prophet speaks in the name of the Lord, what they predict must come to pass:

- Deuteronomy 18:21-22 : "You may say to yourself, 'How can we recognize a word that the Lord has not spoken?' If a prophet speaks in the name of the Lord but the thing does not take place or prove true, it is a word that the Lord has not spoken. The prophet has spoken it presumptuously; do not be frightened by it."
- A true prophet's predictions about future events, when made in God's name, must be accurate. If the prophecy doesn't come true, that person is not a true prophet.

2. They Must Lead People to Worship the True God

A true prophet always directs people toward the worship of the true God, not to other gods or idols:

- Deuteronomy 13:1-3 : "If prophets or those who divine by dreams appear among you and promise you omens or portents, and the omens or the portents declared by them take place, and they say, 'Let us follow other gods'—whom you have not known—'and let us serve them,' you must not heed the words of those prophets or those who divine by dreams; for the Lord your God is testing you, to know whether you indeed love the Lord your God with all your heart and soul."
- Even if a sign or miracle comes true, if the prophet leads people away from God (YHWH in Hebrew, יהוה), they are a false prophet. The true prophet always calls people to follow God faithfully.

3. Their Teaching Must Align with God's Word

A true prophet's message must be consistent with God's established revelation and teachings:

- Isaiah 8:20 : "To the teaching and to the testimony! If they do not speak according to this word, there is no light of dawn."
- A prophet cannot contradict what God has already revealed in Scripture. Their words must reflect the truth already made known through God's commandments and teachings.

4. They Must Exhibit Godly Character

The Bible indicates that true prophets will demonstrate godly character and righteousness:

- Jeremiah 23:14 : "But in the prophets of Jerusalem I have seen a more shocking thing: they commit adultery and walk in lies; they strengthen the hands of evildoers so that no one turns from wickedness; all of them have become like Sodom to me, and its inhabitants like Gomorrah."
- False prophets are often exposed by their immoral or corrupt behavior. A true prophet, by contrast, lives a life of integrity, righteousness, and faithfulness to God's law.

5. The Holy Spirit Confirms Their Message

In the New Testament, a true prophet is recognized by the Holy Spirit's endorsement, both in their words and deeds:

- 1 Corinthians 14:29-33 : "Let two or three prophets speak, and let the others weigh what is said. If a revelation is made to someone else sitting nearby, let the first person be silent. [...] For God is a God not of disorder but of peace."
- The church is encouraged to "weigh" or "test" prophetic messages, ensuring that they come from the Holy Spirit and not from human will or evil spirits. The Holy Spirit will bear witness to the truth of the prophet's message.

6. They Confess Jesus Christ

In the New Testament, a critical test of a true prophet is their confession of Jesus Christ as Lord:

- 1 John 4:1-3 : "Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits to see whether they are from God; for many false prophets have gone out into the world. By this you know the Spirit of God: every spirit that confesses that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is from God, and every spirit that does not confess Jesus is not from God."
- For Christians, a true prophet acknowledges Jesus Christ and His incarnation as essential truth. False prophets will deny or distort who Jesus is.

7. They Do Not Seek Personal Gain or Power

True prophets do not use their position to enrich themselves or seek power. The Bible warns about prophets who exploit their position for personal gain:

- Micah 3:11 : "Its rulers give judgment for a bribe, its priests teach for a price, its prophets give oracles for money; yet they lean upon the Lord and say, 'Surely the Lord is with us! No harm shall come upon us.' "
- A true prophet speaks God's word freely and does not manipulate their role for wealth, power, or influence.

■8. A True Prophet Speaks by Divine Calling, Not Self-Appointed

A true prophet is called and appointed by God, not by their own initiative. They do not take the role upon themselves but respond to God's call:

- Jeremiah 1:5 : "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you, and before you were born I consecrated you; I appointed you a prophet to the nations."
- Amos 7:14-15 : "Then Amos answered Amaziah, 'I am no prophet, nor a prophet's son; but I am a herdsman, and a dresser of sycamore trees, and the Lord took me from following the flock, and the Lord said to me, "Go, prophesy to my people Israel." ' "
- True prophets, like Jeremiah and Amos, are specifically chosen and commissioned by God. They do not seek the role for themselves, but are sent by God to deliver His messages.

9. A True Prophet Often Faces Opposition or Rejection

True prophets frequently face resistance and opposition, even from their own people, because they speak uncomfortable truths. This is a common theme throughout the Bible:

- Jeremiah 20:7-8 : "O Lord, you have enticed me, and I was enticed; you have overpowered me, and you have prevailed. I have become a laughingstock all day long; everyone mocks me. For whenever I speak, I must cry out, I must shout, 'Violence and destruction!' For the word of the Lord has become for me a reproach and derision all day long."
- Matthew 13:57 : "And they took offense at him. But Jesus said to them, 'Prophets are not without honor except in their own country and in their own house.' "
- True prophets often proclaim difficult messages that challenge people's behavior, leading to opposition and rejection. This is a sign that they are not just speaking what people want to hear, but what God has directed them to say.

10. A True Prophet is Humble and Submissive to God's Will

True prophets exhibit humility and submission to God's will, even when it is difficult. They recognize their complete dependence on God's authority and direction:

- Numbers 12:3 : "Now the man Moses was very humble, more so than anyone else on the face of the earth."
- 1 Kings 19:4 – After facing threats and rejection, the prophet Elijah prayed: "It is enough; now, O Lord, take away my life, for I am no better than my ancestors."
- Prophets like Moses and Elijah show deep humility. They understand that their role as God's messenger is not about personal power or fame but about obedience to God's call, even in difficult circumstances.

11. True Prophets May Perform Miracles or Signs (but not always)

While not all true prophets perform miracles, some are given the ability to perform signs and wonders as part of their prophetic mission. However, miracles alone are not sufficient proof; the message must still align with God's truth.

- Moses – Performed miracles in Egypt and in the wilderness (e.g., the parting of the Red Sea, Exodus 14:21).
- Elijah and Elisha – Both prophets performed miracles, including healing the sick and raising the dead (e.g., 1 Kings 17:22, 2 Kings 4:32-35).
- Jesus – Performed many miracles, confirming His role as the ultimate prophet, Savior, and Son of God (e.g., healing the sick, raising the dead, calming storms).
- But remember, even false prophets may perform signs and wonders to deceive:
    - Matthew 24:24 : "For false messiahs and false prophets will appear and produce great signs and omens, to lead astray, if possible, even the elect."
    - Therefore, miracles alone are not enough to identify a true prophet; their message must be consistent with God's Word.

12. True Prophets Build Up the Community of Faith

True prophets contribute to the spiritual growth and edification of God's people. Their messages bring people closer to God and encourage faith, obedience, and righteousness:

- 1 Corinthians 14:3 : "On the other hand, those who prophesy speak to other people for their upbuilding and encouragement and consolation."
- Ephesians 4:11-12 : "The gifts he gave were that some would be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ."
- The prophetic ministry is not just about foretelling the future; it is also about strengthening and edifying the community of believers, helping them grow in faith and maturity.

■13. True Prophets Do Not Use Divination or Occult Practices

A true prophet relies solely on God's revelation and does not use methods like divination, sorcery, or occult practices to gain knowledge or insight. These practices are strictly forbidden in the Bible:

- Deuteronomy 18:10-12 : "No one shall be found among you who makes a son or daughter pass through fire, or who practices divination, or is a soothsayer, or an augur, or a sorcerer, or one who casts spells, or who consults ghosts or spirits, or who seeks oracles from the dead. For whoever does these things is abhorrent to the Lord."
- A true prophet speaks directly from God and does not use supernatural means outside of God's power or authority to predict the future or gain insight.

14. True Prophets Often Call for Repentance and Holiness

Prophets in the Bible frequently call people to repent of their sins and return to God. They emphasize personal and communal holiness:

- Jonah 3:2-4 : Jonah was sent to Nineveh with a message of repentance: "Go at once to Nineveh, that great city, and proclaim to it the message that I tell you. [...] Jonah began to go into the city, going a day's walk. And he cried out, 'Forty days more, and Nineveh shall be overthrown!' "
- Jeremiah 7:3 : "Thus says the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: Amend your ways and your doings, and let me dwell with you in this place."

- Prophets often challenge people's moral and spiritual conduct, urging them to turn from sin and seek God's forgiveness. This message of repentance is central to their ministry.

15. Prophets May Receive Visions or Dreams

God often communicates with His prophets through visions or dreams, but these must always align with His will and word:

- Numbers 12:6 : "Hear my words: When there are prophets among you, I the Lord make myself known to them in visions; I speak to them in dreams."
- Daniel 7:1 : Daniel received many prophetic dreams and visions that conveyed future events, especially regarding the rise and fall of kingdoms and the coming of God's eternal kingdom.
- Not all prophets receive visions, but when they do, the visions are directly from God and must be interpreted in light of His purposes. Dreams and visions alone do not make someone a prophet unless they come from God and are consistent with biblical truth.

16. True Prophets Are Often Reluctant or Fearful of the Responsibility

Many true prophets initially express reluctance, fear, or a sense of inadequacy when called by God. This reflects their deep awareness of the weight and responsibility of their role:

- Moses (Exodus 4:10): When God called Moses to be His prophet, Moses tried to decline, saying he was not eloquent and slow of speech.
- Jeremiah 1:6 : "Then I said, 'Ah, Lord God! Truly I do not know how to speak, for I am only a boy.' "
- Jonah (Jonah 1:3): Jonah famously fled from God's command to go to Nineveh, showing his reluctance to take on the prophetic task.
- A true prophet does not seek the role for personal gain or ambition. They often feel inadequate and only fulfill their mission through God's enabling power.

17. True Prophets Are Aware of God's Holiness and Their Own Sinfulness

When called by God, many prophets have a deep sense of God's overwhelming holiness and their own unworthiness:

- Isaiah 6:5 : "And I said, 'Woe is me! I am lost, for I am a man of unclean lips, and I live among a people of unclean lips; yet my eyes have seen the King, the Lord of hosts!' "
- This humility and awareness of God's holiness distinguish true prophets, who understand the gravity of representing God's voice.

18. True Prophets Speak of Both Judgment and Hope

A balanced prophetic message in Scripture includes both warnings of judgment and promises of hope, restoration, or salvation:

- Jeremiah 29:10-11 : "For thus says the Lord: Only when Babylon's seventy years are completed will I visit you, and I will fulfill to you my promise and bring you back to this place. For surely I know the plans I have for you, says the Lord, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope."
- Amos 9:11 : After proclaiming judgment on Israel, Amos also foretells the restoration of David's fallen kingdom.
- True prophets do not simply declare doom and destruction. They also proclaim God's mercy and His plans for redemption, reflecting the full character of God as both just and merciful.

19. True Prophets Are Recognized by Other Prophets or Spiritual Authorities

In some cases, other prophets or spiritual leaders in the community will affirm the calling of a prophet:

- 1 Samuel 3:20 : "And all Israel from Dan to Beer-sheba knew that Samuel was a trustworthy prophet of the Lord."
- Acts 13:1-3 : The prophets and teachers in the church of Antioch laid hands on Paul and Barnabas, commissioning them for their mission after the Holy Spirit directed them.
- While a prophet's primary validation comes from God, their legitimacy may also be recognized by other godly leaders in the community.

■20. True Prophets Demonstrate Patience and Endurance

True prophets often experience trials, suffering, and rejection but remain faithful to God's calling despite these difficulties. This patience and endurance in the face of hardship is a mark of a genuine prophet:

- James 5:10 : "As an example of suffering and patience, beloved, take the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord."
- Hebrews 11:36-38 : The "Hall of Faith" chapter highlights how many prophets and righteous people endured persecution: "Others suffered mocking and flogging, and even chains and imprisonment. They were stoned to death, they were sawn in two, they were killed by the sword; they went about in skins of sheep and goats, destitute, persecuted, tormented—of whom the world was not worthy."
- A true prophet endures suffering while remaining steadfast in their mission, trusting in God to sustain them.

21. True Prophets Bring Glory to God, Not Themselves

The ultimate purpose of a true prophet is to bring glory to God, not to seek personal fame or recognition. Their message and actions point to God's greatness, not their own:

- John 7:18 : "The one who speaks on their own seeks their own glory; but the one who seeks the glory of him who sent him is true, and there is nothing false in him."
- True prophets humble themselves, ensuring that the focus remains on God's power, holiness, and love. They do not seek personal credit or honor, but direct all praise to God.

22. True Prophets Call for Social Justice and Compassion

Many biblical prophets emphasize justice, fairness, and compassion for the poor and marginalized. True prophets often speak against societal injustice and call for ethical living:

- Micah 6:8 : "He has told you, O mortal, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you but to do justice, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your God?"
- Isaiah 1:17 : "Learn to do good; seek justice, rescue the oppressed, defend the orphan, plead for the widow."
- A hallmark of true prophets is their concern for justice and righteousness in society, reflecting God's heart for the oppressed and vulnerable.

23. True Prophets Show Genuine Love for God's People

A true prophet deeply loves the people they are sent to, even when they must deliver difficult or challenging messages. They do not take pleasure in declaring judgment but often grieve over the consequences of people's disobedience:

- Jeremiah 9:1 : "O that my head were a spring of water, and my eyes a fountain of tears, so that I might weep day and night for the slain of my poor people!"
- Hosea 11:8 : In this passage, God expresses His deep love for Israel, even though He must bring judgment upon them: "How can I give you up, Ephraim? How can I hand you over, O Israel? [...] My heart recoils within me; my compassion grows warm and tender."
- True prophets reflect this kind of love and compassion for God's people. Even when they rebuke, it comes from a heart that longs for restoration and reconciliation.

24. True Prophets May Foretell Both Immediate and Distant Future Events

Prophets often speak about both short-term events and long-term, even eschatological (end-time) events. A true prophet's message may have layers of meaning that unfold over time:

- Isaiah 7:14 : The prophecy of the virgin giving birth to a son, fulfilled both in Isaiah's immediate context and ultimately in the birth of Jesus Christ.
- Daniel 9:24-27 : Daniel's prophecy about the "Seventy Weeks" has implications both for Israel's return from exile and for future messianic events.
- A true prophet's message may not always be immediately clear, as it can contain both near-term fulfillments and distant future realities. However, both must align with God's overall redemptive plan.

25. Prophets May Face Divine Correction or Discipline

Even true prophets are not immune to mistakes or human weakness. When they stray from God's direction, they are often corrected by God:

- Jonah 4:9-11 : After Jonah's anger over God's mercy to Nineveh, God corrects him, teaching Jonah about divine compassion.
- Moses (Numbers 20:12): Despite being a faithful prophet, Moses was disciplined for striking the rock rather than speaking to it as God commanded.
- While a prophet may stumble, their overall trajectory is one of obedience, and they humbly accept God's correction when necessary.

■26. Prophets Serve God's Covenant Purpose

True prophets consistently uphold and remind people of God's covenant relationship with His people. Their messages often call for a return to covenantal faithfulness, reminding the people of their obligations to God:

- Malachi 2:7 : "For the lips of a priest should guard knowledge, and people should seek instruction from his mouth, for he is the messenger of the Lord of hosts."
- Hosea 6:6 : "For I desire steadfast love and not sacrifice, the knowledge of God rather than burnt offerings."
- The true prophet upholds God's covenant with His people, urging obedience to His laws and renewing their commitment to faithfulness. The focus is always on maintaining or restoring the covenant relationship between God and humanity.

27. Prophets Call for Worship of the One True God

True prophets consistently call people to exclusive worship of Yahweh (Hebrew: יְהוָה, pronounced YHWH, "Adonai"). They oppose idolatry and false gods, urging people to abandon false worship:

- Elijah (1 Kings 18:21): "Elijah then came near to all the people and said, 'How long will you go limping with two different opinions? If the Lord is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him.' But the people did not answer him a word."
- Jeremiah 2:11 : "Has a nation changed its gods, even though they are no gods? But my people have changed their glory for something that does not profit."
- A true prophet points people to worship the true God and often calls out idolatry, false gods, and other spiritual compromises.

28. Prophets are Stewards of Divine Revelation, Not Their Own Ideas

True prophets convey God's message, not their personal ideas or opinions. They are stewards of divine revelation:

- 2 Peter 1:20-21 : "First of all you must understand this, that no prophecy of scripture is a matter of one's own interpretation, because no prophecy ever came by human will, but men and women moved by the Holy Spirit spoke from God."

- Jeremiah 23:16 : "Thus says the Lord of hosts: Do not listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you; they are deluding you. They speak visions of their own minds, not from the mouth of the Lord."
- The true prophet’s message is not self-originated. It is received directly from God and delivered faithfully, without alteration.

29. Prophets Often Operate Within the Community of Faith

True prophets often function within the context of the community of believers, being a part of and serving the broader faith community. They are not isolated voices but speak to the community for its edification:

- 1 Samuel 3:19-21 : Samuel was established as a prophet within Israel, and his words were recognized by the community as coming from God.
- Acts 11:27-28 : The prophet Agabus predicted a famine, and the early Christian community responded by providing relief to those in need.
- While prophets may face rejection, they typically have a role within the community, helping to guide, encourage, or warn God's people.

30. Prophets and the Messianic Promise

Many prophets in the Bible pointed to the coming of the Messiah, the ultimate fulfillment of God's redemptive plan. They foreshadowed or explicitly predicted the coming of Jesus Christ:

- Isaiah 53 : Isaiah famously prophesied the suffering servant, a figure who Christians understand to be Jesus, the Messiah.
- Deuteronomy 18:18-19 : God promises to raise up a prophet like Moses, which is fulfilled in Jesus (according to the New Testament).
- John 1:45 : "Philip found Nathanael and said to him, 'We have found him about whom Moses in the law and also the prophets wrote, Jesus son of Joseph from Nazareth.' "
- True prophets, especially in the Old Testament, point forward to the coming of Christ, the ultimate Prophet, Priest, and King. Their messages often contain messianic undertones, highlighting God's salvation plan.

31. True Prophets Promote Unity in the Faith

True prophets do not divide the community of believers but seek to bring unity under God’s truth. False prophets, on the other hand, often lead to division and confusion:

- Ephesians 4:11-13 : "The gifts he gave were that some would be apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, to equip the saints for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ, until all of us come to the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God."
- 1 Corinthians 14:33 : "For God is a God not of disorder but of peace. As in all the churches of the saints."
- True prophets contribute to the edification and unity of the church, guiding people into a clearer understanding of God's will.

32. Prophets Are Ultimately Judged by God

Finally, a true prophet is accountable to God. Whether their message is received or rejected by people, they must ultimately answer to God, who judges their faithfulness:

- Ezekiel 33:7-9 : "So you, mortal, I have made a sentinel for the house of Israel; whenever you hear a word from my mouth, you shall give them warning from me. If I say to the wicked, 'O wicked ones, you shall surely die,' and you do not speak to warn the wicked to turn from their ways, the wicked shall die in their iniquity, but their blood I will require at your hand."
- James 3:1 : "Not many of you should become teachers, my brothers and sisters, for you know that we who teach will be judged with greater strictness."
- True prophets are held accountable by God for the accuracy and faithfulness of the message they deliver. Their ultimate judgment comes from God, not people.

Luke 16:16

"The law and the prophets were in effect until John came; since then the good news of the kingdom of God is proclaimed, and everyone is strongly urged to enter it."

Matthew 21:33-41 is the parable of the wicked tenants:

33 "Listen to another parable. There was a landowner who planted a vineyard, put a fence around it, dug a wine press in it, and built a watchtower. Then he leased it to tenants and went to another country.
34 When the harvest time had come, he sent his slaves to the tenants to collect his produce.

35 But the tenants seized his slaves and beat one, killed another, and stoned another.
36 Again he sent other slaves, more than the first; and they treated them in the same way.
37 Finally he sent his son to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’
38 But when the tenants saw the son, they said to themselves, ‘This is the heir; come, let us kill him and get his inheritance.’
39 So they seized him, threw him out of the vineyard, and killed him.
40 Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?”
41 They said to him, “He will put those wretches to a miserable death and lease the vineyard to other tenants who will give him the produce at the harvest time.”

In this parable:

- The landowner represents God (θεός, Theós).
- The vineyard often symbolizes Israel.
- The tenants are the religious leaders of Israel.
- The son clearly symbolizes Jesus, indicating that He would be rejected and killed.

Hebrews 1:1-2:

"Long ago God spoke to our ancestors in many and various ways by the prophets, but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom he also created the worlds."

Galatians 1:8:

"But even if we or an angel from heaven should proclaim to you a gospel contrary to what we proclaimed to you, let that one be accursed!"

- Gospel is εὐαγγέλιον (euangélion), meaning "good news."

John 3:17:

"Indeed, God did not send the Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him."

Good News (Gospel) in the Christian faith:

- The Coming of the Kingdom of God:
  Matthew 4:17 :
  "From that time Jesus began to proclaim, 'Repent, for the kingdom of heaven has come near.'"

Forgiveness of Sins:

Romans 3:23-25 :

"Since all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God; they are now justified by his grace as a gift, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, whom God put forward as a sacrifice of atonement by his blood, effective through faith."

Victory over Death:

1 Corinthians 15:3-4 :

"For I handed on to you as of first importance what I in turn had received: that Christ died for our sins in accordance with the scriptures, and that he was buried, and that he was raised on the third day in accordance with the scriptures."

Peace and Reconciliation:

Colossians 1:20-22 :

"And through him God was pleased to reconcile to himself all things, whether on earth or in heaven, by making peace through the blood of his cross. And you who were once estranged and hostile in mind, doing evil deeds, he has now reconciled in his fleshly body through death, so as to present you holy and blameless and irreproachable before him."

Salvation by Faith:

Ephesians 2:8-9 :

"For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this is not your own doing; it is the gift of God— not the result of works, so that no one may boast."

This good news is the everlasting covenant. Entire scripture foreshadowed it. And if you don't believe in this covenant and trust on older covenant you are in trouble:

In Deuteronomy 18:18-19 God told Moses:

"I will raise up for them a prophet like you from among their own people; I will put my words in the mouth of the prophet, who shall speak to them everything that I command. Anyone who does not heed the words that the prophet shall speak in my name, I myself will hold accountable."

Isaiah 5:1–7, vineyard imagery that represents Israel is described:

Isaiah 5:1–7:

> 1 Let me sing for my beloved my love song concerning his vineyard:
> My beloved had a vineyard on a very fertile hill.

2 He dug it and cleared it of stones, and planted it with choice vines;
he built a watchtower in the midst of it,
and hewed out a wine vat in it;
he expected it to yield grapes,
but it yielded wild grapes.

3 And now, inhabitants of Jerusalem and people of Judah, judge between me
and my vineyard.
4 What more was there to do for my vineyard that I have not done in it?
When I expected it to yield grapes, why did it yield wild grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard.
I will remove its hedge,
and it shall be devoured;
I will break down its wall,
and it shall be trampled down.
6 I will make it a waste;
it shall not be pruned or hoed,
and it shall be overgrown with briers and thorns;
I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it.

7 For the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the people of Judah are his pleasant planting;
he expected justice,
but saw bloodshed;
righteousness,
but heard a cry!

In this passage, God speaks through Isaiah to express His disappointment with Israel. Despite providing everything necessary for it to flourish in righteousness, the vineyard (Israel) yields "wild grapes" (symbolic of injustice and unrighteousness). This metaphor is foundational for understanding Jesus' Parable of the Tenants in Mark 12:1–12, as Jesus builds on the prophetic tradition, highlighting Israel's rejection of God's messengers and ultimately His Son.

Mark 12:1–12:

1 Then he began to speak to them in parables. “A man planted a vineyard, put a fence around it, dug a pit for the winepress, and built a watchtower; then he leased it to tenants and went to another country.
2 When the season came, he sent a slave to the tenants to collect from them his share of the produce of the vineyard.
3 But they seized him, beat him, and sent him away empty-handed.
4 And again he sent another slave to them; this one they beat over the head and insulted.
5 Then he sent another, and that one they killed. And so it was with many others; some they beat, and others they killed.
6 He had still one other, a beloved son. Finally he sent him to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’
7 But those tenants said to one another, ‘This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.’
8 So they seized him, killed him, and threw him out of the vineyard.
9 What then will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the tenants and give the vineyard to others.
10 Have you not read this scripture: ‘The stone that the builders rejected has become the cornerstone;
11 this was the Lord’s doing, and it is amazing in our eyes’?”

12 When they realized that he had told this parable against them, they wanted to arrest him, but they feared the crowd. So they left him and went away.

■Explanation

In this parable:

- The vineyard represents Israel, based on imagery from the Hebrew Scriptures, especially Isaiah 5:1–7.
- The owner is God, who establishes the vineyard (Israel) and entrusts it to tenants (the religious leaders).
- The servants sent by the owner symbolize the prophets whom Israel repeatedly rejected, mistreated, and killed.
- The beloved son represents Jesus, the Son of God, who is ultimately rejected and killed.
- The owner’s response to the tenants signifies the judgment that will come upon those who reject God's Son and the invitation extended to others.

The stone in verses 10–11 (quoting Psalm 118:22–23) refers to Jesus as the foundation that people reject, but whom God establishes as the cornerstone of faith. This parable directly confronts the religious leaders, leading them to recognize the warning but hesitate to act openly against Jesus due to the crowd's support.

Psalm 118:22–23:

> 22 The stone that the builders rejected > has become the chief cornerstone.
> 23 This is the Lord's doing;
> it is marvelous in our eyes.

■Explanation

In this passage, the rejected stone symbolizes something (or someone) dismissed by human judgment but exalted by God's plan. In Jesus' Parable of the Tenants (Mark 12:1–12), He quotes this psalm to reveal His role as the cornerstone of God's kingdom. Although rejected by the religious leaders, Jesus becomes the foundation of a new covenant and community. The phrase "the Lord's doing" highlights the divine authority behind this reversal, emphasizing that it is "marvelous" because it demonstrates God's sovereignty and redemptive purposes beyond human expectations.

In Isaiah 5:1–7, the vineyard is a powerful metaphor for Israel, describing God's care and provision for His people and His deep disappointment in their failure to produce the expected fruits of justice and righteousness. This metaphor is expanded in Jesus' Parable of the Tenants (Mark 12:1–12), where He uses a similar image to emphasize the unfaithfulness of Israel's leaders and the consequences of rejecting God's prophets and, ultimately, His Son. Here's a deeper look at how the vineyard imagery is developed and reinforced through these passages:

1. God's Loving Investment in Israel:

In Isaiah 5:1–2, the vineyard is described as carefully planted on a "very fertile hill," with stones cleared, choice vines planted, and a watchtower and winepress installed. This represents God's abundant provision and preparation for Israel to thrive spiritually. Similarly, in Jesus' parable, the vineyard owner (God) sets up everything for the tenants to succeed. This emphasis on preparation symbolizes God's intention and hope for Israel to grow into a just and righteous nation.

2. Unfaithful Response of the People:

Isaiah speaks of God’s disappointment as the vineyard yields "wild grapes" (Isaiah 5:4) instead of the fruit He desired. This disappointment reflects Israel's failure to uphold justice and righteousness, the very purpose for which God chose and blessed them. In Jesus' parable, the tenants (Israel’s leaders) show a similar unfaithfulness by mistreating and killing the owner’s servants and finally his son. The rejection of God’s messengers in both passages underscores the resistance of Israel’s leaders to divine correction and their neglect of covenant responsibilities.

3. Rejection of God’s Messengers and Son:

In the parable, the tenants escalate their rebellion by first mistreating and killing the owner’s servants, who represent the prophets God sent throughout Israel's history (such as Elijah, Jeremiah, and others). Finally, they reject and kill the owner's beloved son, symbolizing Jesus Himself. This parallels Isaiah’s message that Israel's rejection of God’s call to justice would lead to consequences. Jesus’ parable thus functions as a prophetic message about the leaders’ coming rejection of the Messiah and its repercussions.

4. Judgment and Transfer of Blessing:

Both Isaiah and Jesus conclude their accounts with a forewarning of judgment. Isaiah prophesies that the vineyard will be laid waste (Isaiah 5:5–6) because it failed to produce justice and righteousness. In Jesus’ parable, the owner declares that the vineyard will be taken from the unfaithful tenants and given to others, pointing to the transfer of God’s blessings to those who will be faithful. This symbolizes God’s intention to extend His kingdom beyond Israel's leaders to include faithful followers, including Gentiles, who accept Jesus and bear spiritual fruit.

5. The Rejected Stone as the Cornerstone:

Jesus concludes the parable by quoting Psalm 118:22–23, which describes a stone rejected by builders that becomes the cornerstone. This stone is Jesus, whom the religious leaders will reject but whom God will establish as the cornerstone of a new, inclusive covenant community. This allusion reinforces the prophetic theme that, despite rejection, God's purpose will be fulfilled through Jesus, the “stone” chosen by God to establish the foundation of His kingdom.

Together, these passages illustrate God’s longstanding relationship with Israel, His desire for a faithful community committed to justice, and the fulfillment of His purposes through Jesus. This combination of parable and prophecy shows that even when rejected, God's plan is unstoppable, pointing to the ultimate hope of redemption through Christ.

Matthew 24:14:

"And this good news of the kingdom will be proclaimed throughout the world, as a testimony to all the nations; and then the end will come."

Explained

1. Context of Matthew 24

In Matthew 24, Jesus is speaking to His disciples on the Mount of Olives. This chapter is often called the "Olivet Discourse," where Jesus discusses the end times and signs of His second coming. Verse 14 is a key part of this prophecy.

2. "Good News of the Kingdom"

The term "good news" or "gospel" refers to the message of salvation through Jesus Christ. The "kingdom" represents God's sovereign rule over all creation, which Jesus came to establish. This kingdom is both present now (through believers) and will be fully realized at Jesus' second coming.

3. "Proclaimed Throughout the World"

The message of the gospel is to be shared globally. Jesus emphasizes the universal mission of spreading this good news, highlighting that it must reach every nation. The Greek term for "world" used here is οἰκουμένη (oikoumenē), referring to the inhabited earth, implying all people groups.

4. "As a Testimony to All Nations"

The gospel serves as a testimony — a witness of God's truth, grace, and justice. It means that everyone, regardless of race or background, will have the chance to hear this message. The Greek word for "nations" is ἔθνη (ethnē), meaning all ethnic groups, not just political nations.

5. "Then the End Will Come"

This part signals that the global proclamation of the gospel is one of the final signs before the "end," referring to the second coming of Christ and the final judgment. It indicates that God's plan will only be completed once every group has had the opportunity to hear the gospel.

Key Takeaways:

- The mission of the Church is to spread the gospel worldwide.
- The proclamation of the gospel is a sign of the approaching end times.
- God desires all people to have the opportunity to know about His kingdom before the final judgment.

Marriages of Muhammad

The Prophet of Islam proposed marriage to his cousin Fakhitah bint Abu Talib, also known as Umm Hani, but after her father declined the proposal for being an illiterate shepherd, he married at the age of 25 to Khadijah, a wealthy 40-year-old Christian businesswoman [Sahih al-Bukhari -6982]. She had been widowed twice and had two sons at that time: Hind ibn Abi Halah and Halah ibn Abi Halah.

After the deaths of Khadijah and the Prophet's influential uncle Abu Talib, staying in Mecca no longer seemed safe for him. He then migrated to Medina with his companions, where he gained influence for various reasons.

Just 15 days after Khadijah's death, he married Hafsa, and within another 15 days, he married Aisha, who was 6 years old.

■Wives of Prophet Muhammad:

1. Khadijah – Sahih Bukhari 4:55:642, 5:58:164; Sahih Muslim 31:5974
2. Sawda – Sahih Muslim 8:3451; Sahih Bukhari 1:4:148, 3:47:766
3. Aisha (9 years old at consummation) – Sahih Muslim 8:3310; Sahih Bukhari 4:55:623. It is essential to note that when Muhammad was 53, he married Aisha at age 6, and their marriage was consummated when she was 9. Aisha narrated: "When I was playing with dolls, a man came and took me away."
4. Umm Salama – Sahih Muslim 8:3443, 2:3539-3544
5. Hafsa – Sahih Bukhari 5:59:342, 7:62:119; Sahih Muslim 9:3511; Muwatta Malik 42.19.14
6. Zainab bint Jahsh (the teenage wife of Muhammad's adopted son Zayd, whom he married after a Quranic revelation permitting it) – al-Tabari vol.39 p.180-182; Sahih Bukhari 9:93:517, 3:47:755; Sahih Muslim 8:3332, 8:3240; Abu Dawud 3:4880
7. Juwairiyah (a war captive) – Sahih Muslim 19:4292; Abu Dawud 29:3920
8. Umm Habiba – al-Tabari vol.9 p.133; Sahih Bukhari 7:62:38
9. Safiyyah (a Jewish woman) – After the conquest of Khaybar, where all Jewish men were killed and their women and children were distributed among the Muslim warriors, Muhammad took Safiyyah as his share and later married her. It is noteworthy that after executing her husband Kinana and all Khaybar men, he consummated the marriage with Safiyyah that very night. – Sirat e Rasulullah, Ibn Hisham, page 766; al-Tabari vol.39 p.185; Sahih Bukhari 1:8:367, 3:34:437

10. Maimuna bint Harith – Sahih Muslim 8:3284, 5:59:559

11. Fatimah Al-Aliyah bint Jabwan Al-Dhabiyah – al-Tabari vol.9 p.39, vol.39 p.187, vol.9 p.139

12. Qutaylah bint Qays – al-Tabari vol.9 p.138-139

13. Sana bint Sufyan – al-Tabari vol.39 p.188

14. Zaynab bint Khozayma (a war captive) – al-Tabari vol.7 p.150, footnotes 215-216; vol.39 p.163-164

15. Sharaf bint Khalifah – al-Tabari vol.9 p.138

16. Ghaziyyah bint Jabir – al-Tabari vol.9 p.139

These women remained married to the Prophet at different times. Additionally, he divorced women shortly after marriage for various reasons:

■Divorced Wives (20+):

1. Asma' bint Noman – al-Tabari vol.9 p.137, vol.10 p.185 and footnote 1131 p.185
2. Mulaykah bint Dawud – al-Tabari vol.8 p.189
3. al-Shanba' bint 'Amr – al-Tabari vol.9 p.136
4. al-Aliyyah – al-Tabari vol.9 p.138
5. Amrah bint Yazid – al-Tabari vol.39 p.188; Women in Islam – Anne Sofie Roald p.22
6. Khawla bint Khudhayl
7. Layla bint Al-Qutaym
8. Umm Habib bint Al-Abbas
9. Shama al-Nasat bint Rifa
10. Umrah bint Rifa
11. Bint Jandub ibn Damrah
12. Jamrah bint Al-Harith

13. Al-Sabnah bint Amr

■Sex Slaves:

Apart from these marriages, the Prophet also had his own slave concubines:

1. Mariyah (an Egyptian Christian concubine gifted by the ruler of Egypt, Muqawqis) – al-Tabari vol.9 p.141; Sahih Muslim vol.4, footnote 2835, p.1351; al-Tabari vol.9 p.39, vol.39 p.194, vol.39 p.22. She gave birth to Muhammad's only son, Ibrahim, who died in infancy.
2. Raihana (a war captive from the Banu Qurayza tribe) – al-Tabari vol.8 p.39, vol.9 p.137,141, vol.39 p.164-165; Ibn Ishaq p.461-70
3. Khawlah bint al-Hudayl – al-Tabari vol.9 p.139, vol.39 p.166
4. Tukana Al-Quraziya/ Tuqana Al-Quraziyyah

In total, Muhammad had 136 (Nikah/sex) marriages of four different types including Heba (Hibah) and Muta (Mut'a).

Again 13 of his wives had 97 female servants whom according to Islam sex is permissible and are blessings of Allah.

The woman with whom the Prophet wanted to have Nikah but were not able:

1. Fakita bint Abi Talib (Umme Hani)
2. Izza bint Abi Sufyan
3. Durrah bint Abi Salama
4. Umama bint Hamza
5. Safiya bint Bashshamah
6. Habiba bint Sahi
7. Al Ansariya
8. Durrah bint Amir
9. Khawla bint Hakim

Marriage in heaven with Muhammad which he told to Ayesha as stated in Tabrāni, Mu'jamul Kabeer No:8006, al-Suyuti (6/395), Ibn Kathir, Qisas al-Anbiya [Cairo: Dar al-Kutub, 1968/1388], p. 381- as cited in Aliah Schleifer's Mary The Blessed Virgin of Islam [Fons Vitae; ISBN: 1887752021; July 1, 1998], p. 64;

Allah had talked face to face to a jihadist

As per the Islamic rule, when a suicide bomber gives up his life in a killing mission he goes straight to Paradise. He does not need to wait for the Judgment Day, linger for Allah's decision and then be sent to his rightful abode. After his death, the jihadist (in this case the suicide bomber) instantly meets Allah and Allah talks to him face to face. This proves that Allah speaks like a human being and accosts the diehard jihaditsts just the way we do in this world. Here is a hadith from Ibn Majah:

> Sunaan ibn Majah, Vol I, Hadith number 190:
> Talha b. Khirash is reported to have said, "I heard jabir b. 'Abdullah (Allah be pleased with him) as saying: As Abdullah b. 'Amr b. Haram was killed on the day of Uhud (battle), Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) met me and said, "O Jabir should I not tell you what Allah said about your father?" Yahya in his hadith has reported (these words): O Jabir, what is the matter that I see you broken-hearted…?" He said, "I told him: Allah's Messenger, my father has been martyred and he left behind some dependants and a debt." He (the Holy Prophet) said, "Should I not give you the glad-tidings of that with which Allah met your father?" He said, "Yes, Allah's Messenger." He (the Holy Prophet) said, "Allah has never talked with anyone but from behind a curtain, but he talked with your father face to face and said, "O My bondsman, desire from Me, I shall grant you." He said, "My Lord, (I wish) that You give a new life to me and I am killed for Thine sake for the second time. Upon this, the Lord, Hallowed be He said: It has already been decided by me that he will not return to it (a new life." He said, "My Lord, so convey (this) to those left behind me." The narrator said that Allah sent down (the verse): Never, they are living with their Lord, they are given provision (3:16).
> As-Samadi said, "This h*adith* has not singularly been transmitted by Ibn Majah: neither in text nor in isnad. Tirmidhi has transmitted it in at-Tafsir (i.e. chapter concerning the interpretation of the Quranic verses and suras and then has held it as a hasan gharib hadith. We do not know it except from the hadith of Musa b. Ibrahim from whom the eminent scholars of hadith have narrated it.

To reinforce the contention that Allah grants special audience to the jihaditsts, Allah meets them in person immediately after their holy death. Here is another hadith from Sahih Bukhari. This hadith tells us that those Muslims slaughtered at Bir Mauna met Allah; it was in the Quran; later this verse was removed (Sahih Bukhari, 4.52.299)

> Volume 4, Book 52, Number 299: Narrated Anas: The people of the tribes of Ril, Dhakwan, 'Usiya and Bani Lihyan came to the Prophet and claimed that they had embraced Islam, and they requested him to support them with some men to fight their own people. The Prophet supported them with seventy men from the Ansar whom we used to call Al-Qurra' (i.e. Scholars) who (out of piety) used to cut wood during the day and pray all the night. So, those people took the (seventy) men till they reached a place called Bi'r-Ma'ana where they betrayed and martyred them. So, the Prophet invoked evil on the tribe of Ril, Dhakwan and Bani Lihyan for one month in the prayer.
> Narrated Qatada: Anas told us that they (i.e. Muslims) used to recite a Quranic Verse concerning those martyrs which was:-- "O Allah! Let our people be informed on our behalf that we have met our Lord Who has got pleased with us and made us pleased." Then the Verse was cancelled.

When those young jihaditsts died at Bir Mauna, Gabriel informed Muhammad that the jihaditsts met Allah, they were pleased with Him and Allah was pleased with them; a verse was released on this; later the verse was cancelled (Sahih Bukhari, 4.52.57)

> Volume 4, Book 52, Number 57: Narrated Anas: The Prophet sent seventy men from the tribe of Bani Salim to the tribe of Bani Amir. When they reached there, my maternal uncle said to them, "I will go ahead of you, and if they allow me to convey the message of Allah's Apostle (it will be all right); otherwise you will remain close to me." So he went ahead of them and the pagans granted him security. But while he was reporting the message of the Prophet, they beckoned to one of their men who stabbed him to death. My maternal uncle said, "Allah is Greater! By the Lord of the Kaba, I am successful." After that they attached the rest of the party and killed them all except a lame man who went up to the top of the mountain. (Hammam, a sub-narrator said, "I think another man was saved along with him)." Gabriel informed the Prophet that they (i.e. the martyrs) met their Lord, and He was pleased with them and made them pleased. We used to recite, "Inform our people that we have met our Lord, He is pleased with us and He has made us pleased" Later on this Quranic Verse was cancelled. The Prophet invoked Allah for forty days to curse the > murderers from the tribe of Ral, Dhakwan, Bani Lihyan and Bam Usaiya who disobeyed Allah and his Apostle

Those two hadith tell us that the verse containing this episode was later removed from the Quran. We might wonder why? Here is the reason: in this (I mean the cancelled verse) verse the martyrs are talking and not Allah. Read the hadith carefully. If the Quran contained such a verse spoken by a human jihadist, the entire credibility of the Quran as the Words of Allah and consequently, the entire edifice of Islam will tumble. Muhammad was astute enough to understand this truth. So he acted accordingly—expunged the offending and potentially damaging verse from the Quran.

A similar, but a longer version of this hadith can be read in Sahih Bukhari 5.59.421.

> Volume 5, Book 59, Number 421: Narrated Anas bin Malik : The Prophet invoked evil upon those (people) who killed his companions at Bir Mauna for 30 days (in the morning prayer). He invoked evil upon (tribes of) Ril, Lihyan and Usaiya who disobeyed Allah and His Apostle. Allah revealed a Quranic Verse to His Prophet regarding those who had been killed, i.e. the Muslims killed at Bir Ma'una, and we recited the Verse till later it was cancelled. (The Verse was :) 'Inform our people that we have met our Lord, and He is pleased with us, and we are pleased with Him."

Please note that to meet a physical Allah non-jihaditst Muslims have to die and wait till the Resurrection Day.

Here are a few Quranic verses on this:

> On the resurrection day Allah will descend with ranks (row after row) of angels...89:22
> YUSUFALI: And thy Lord cometh, and His angels, rank upon rank, [Q 089.022]
> When they meet Allah the believers' salutation will be 'peace'...33:44
> YUSUFALI: Their salutation on the Day they meet Him will be "Peace!"; and He has prepared for them a generous Reward. [Q 033.044]
> On the resurrection day, Allah Himself will reply all questions…40:16
> YUSUFALI: The Day whereon they will (all) come forth: not a single thing concerning them is hidden from Allah. Whose will be the dominion that Day?" That of Allah, the One the Irresistible! [Q 040.016]

Please reflect on verse 40:16: who do you think is talking here—Allah or Muhammad?

The dilemma for Muslims is that even when the Qur'an is right it is wrong. This is because while the Qur'an recognizes the Bible as the eternal Word of God, it denies the Sonship of Jesus. It is a lose, lose situation for Muslims. What is important for Muslims to note is the fact that even Muhammad is commanded in the Qur'an to follow the guidance given to the earlier messengers of God. And this includes the guidance given through Jesus in the Gospel.

Surah 6:84-90: And We bestowed upon him Isaac and Jacob; each of them We guided; and Noah did We guide aforetime; and of his seed We guided David and Solomon and Job and Joseph and Moses and Aaron. Thus do We reward the good. And Zachariah and John and Jesus and Elias. Each one of them was of the righteous…, Those are they unto whom We gave the Scripture and Command and Prophethood*…,* Those are they whom Allah guideth, so follow their guidance*. (Pickthall)*

While admitting that the Gospel contains "guidance and a light," the Qur'an at the same instant contradicts the fundamental messages of the Gospel. Does not this tell us that something is seriously wrong with the messages transmitted by the spirit which spoke to Muhammad in the cave? Who then is this impersonating spirit who brought these contradictory messages to Muhammad? The Bible provides us with a vital piece of information:

Jude 1:6: "And I remind you of the angels who did not stay within the limits of authority God gave them but left the place where they belonged.

God has kept them in everlasting bonds under darkness, waiting for the great Day of Judgment."

The Bible tells us that because of acts of revolt against God, some angels lost their heavenly position and joined Satan in his rebellion. These rebellious angels became demons. In vengeance these demons turn mankind away from the teachings of the true God. One way they achieve this is by inspiring misleading inspired messages–messages that contradict God's Word. And Muhammad was a victim of these misleading demons. The deceptive spirit that brought contradictory messages to Muhammad is either Satan himself or one of his fallen angels. The Bible lovingly cautions Christians:

1 John 4:1: Beloved, do not accept as true every inspired expression, but test the inspired expressions to see whether they originate with God because many false prophets have gone forth into the world.

The true God encourages his worshippers to "test the inspired expressions to see whether they originate with God." Since Muslims consider it blasphemous to critically analyze the Qur'an, they accept the demonic teachings of Islam unquestioningly. In fact, they are commanded not to ask any questions regarding the tenents of Islam.

Surah 5:101-102: "O ye who believe! Ask not questions about things which if made plain to you, may cause you trouble*…, Some people before you did ask such questions, and on that account* lost their faith*." (Yusuf Ali)*

There are many dangers lurking in the religion of Islam. And one of the subtle dangers of the Qur'an is the existence of partial truths in it. The worst kinds of lies are half-truths because they are often hard to detect. Note for example how the Qur'an accurately teaches that the Bible, which consists of the Torah and the Gospel, is the revealed Word of God.

Surah 3:3-4: "He sent down the Law (of Moses) and the Gospel (of Jesus) before this, as a guide to mankind*." (Yusuf Ali)*

Surah 33:56 – Who Is Allah Praying To?

SURAH 33:56 – WHO IS ALLAH PRAYING TO?

Many will be surprised to learn that Allah actually prays. The Quran not only admits that Allah prays but it also reveals the very objective of his prayers. It reveals that Allah prays on the Prophet. In other words, Allah prays for Muhammad. And the Angels join him in praying for Muhammad. We encourage our readers, especially Muslims, to digest the information provided here carefully. Let us begin by first reading this vital Quranic verse:

Surah 33:56: *Surely Allah and His Angels shower Serenity (Literally: shower prayers) on the Prophet. O you who have believed, pray for benediction on him, and submit in full submission. (Muhammad Ghali)*

The Arabic word used here in Surah 33:56 is "yusalloona." The above Muslim translator is fully aware of the true meaning of this Arabic word. He knows that it should be translated literally as "shower prayers." Therefore, Surah 33:56 should be correctly translated as: "Surely Allah and His Angels shower prayers on the Prophet." Since he understands the accurate meaning of this Arabic term, why does he not translate it correctly right away? Why does he choose to reveal the correct meaning only in parenthesis?

This is because Muslim translators such as the above and many others like him are horrified by the implications of this Quranic verse.

Therefore, they deliberately mistranslate this Quranic verse. Most of them translate this verse to mean: "Allah and his angels shower blessings on the prophet." The problem is that the Arabic word for "blessings" is "baarika." And this word does not appear anywhere in this Quranic verse. The Arabic word used in Surah 33:56 is "yusalloona" which is a verbal form of the word "salah" or "salat." The meaning of "salah" or "salat" is prayer or worship. The plural of "salat" is "salatwat." Compare now the following translation:

Surah 33:56: Allah sends His Salat on the Prophet and also His angels too. O you who believe! Send your Salat on him and greet him with the Islamic way of greeting. (Hilali-Khan) Personal commentary of the Translator in parenthesis omitted.

Therefore, the correct translation of Surah 33:56 involves the prayer of Allah for Muhammad. This Quranic verse is absolutely damaging for Islam. To whom is Allah praying to? Is there another deity above him to whom he supplicates? The very suggestion that God prays is totally absurd. In fact, we are told in the Quran that not only does Allah pray for Muhammad but he also prays for his worshippers. In view of their importance, we have provided three different translations of the following Quranic verses:

Surah 2:156-157: Who, when an affliction afflicts them, say, "Surely we belong to Allah, and surely to Him we are returning." Upon those are the prayers from their Lord*, and mercy; and those are they who are the right-guided. (Muhammad Ghali)*

Who, in adversity say: "We belong to Allah and to Him we shall return." On those will be prayers and mercy from their Lord*, those are guided. (Hasan Al-Fatih Qaribullah)*

Those who if a disaster or any other thing hated struck them they said: "We are to God, and we are to Him returning." Those, on them are prayers from their Lord and a mercy, and those are the guided. (Samira)

The Arabic word for "prayers" in the above Quranic verses is "salawatun." These verses clearly testify that Allah's prayers are upon those who return to him in faith. This proves that Allah prays. In concurrence with the teachings of the Quran, both the Hadiths and the Tafsirs also confirm that Allah prays. Let us consider now the Hadith of a renowned Muslim scholar.

The "Meadows of the Righteous" (Arabic: Riyadh as-Salihin) is a compilation of important verses from the Quran by renowned Muslim scholar, Al-Nawawi (1233–1277). The "Meadows of the Righteous" is a collection of vital Quranic with commentary from authentic Hadiths to clarify their true meaning. Al-Nawawi documented the following details under the heading, Book of Knowledge, 241. Chapter: The Excellence of Knowledge:

1387. Abu Umama reported that the Messenger of Allah, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, said, "Allah and His angels and the people of the heavens and the earth, even the ants in their rocks and the fish, pray for blessings on those who teach people good." (At-Tirmidhi) 2685. Abu Umamah al-Bahili narrated: "Two men were mentioned before the Messenger of Allah. One of them a worshipper, and the other a scholar. So the Messenger of Allah said: 'The superiority of the scholar over the worshipper is like my superiority over the least of you.' Then the Messenger of Allah said: 'Indeed Allah, His Angels, the inhabitants of the heavens and the earths – even the ant in his hole, even the fish – say Salat upon the one who teaches the people to do good. (Hasan) — English Translation of Jami' At-Tirmidhi, Compiled by Imam Hafiz 'Eisa Mohammad Ibn 'Eisa At-Tirmidhi, From Hadith no. 2606 to 3290, translated by Abu Khaliyl

And

The above Hadith is categorized as "Hasan" which means it is recognized as authentic by Muslim scholars. Read carefully the words of Muhammad in the above Hadith once again. He is clearly testifying that Allah, like the rest of the creations, "say Salat (prayer) upon the one who teaches the people to do good." We will now consider the Tafsir of another renowned Muslim scholar.

Tafsir Ibn Kathir on Surah 33:56:

The people of Israel said to Moses: "Does your Lord pray?" His Lord called him saying: "O Moses, they asked you if your Lord prays. Say to them: 'Yes, I do pray, and my angels pray upon my prophets and my messengers,'" and Allah then sent down on his messenger: "Allah and His angels pray . . ." (Tafsir Ibn Kathir, Q. 33:56; translated from the Arabic online edition)

Of course, the true "Lord" of Moses does not pray. Since God is Almighty, it is impossible for Him to pray. Allah the impostor who prays is claiming to be the God of Moses. This clearly proves that Allah is not the true God. The Quran reveals that Allah is a fellow-worshipper along with the rest of the angels. This is clearly polytheism. Sadly for Muslims, they pray to a god who prays. And they follow a prophet who has the authority to interrupt their prayers to Allah. And this authority comes at a great cost to Muslims because it empowers Muhammad to prevent Allah from listening to the prayers of those whom he interrupts. Muhammad has to be greater or equal in authority with Allah to prevent him from listening to your prayers. When Muhammad calls, Muslims must stop whatever they are doing and respond to his call. And this includes their prayers. Muslims, we are not the ones saying this but your Prophet:

Surah 8:24: "O you who believe! Answer the call of Allah and His Apostle when he calls you to that which gives you life; and know that Allah intervenes between man and his heart, and that to Him you shall be gathered." (Shakir)

Carefully consider now how the Prophet of Islam clarified both the meaning and the application of the above Quranic verse.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 226:

Narrated Abu Said Al-Mualla: While I was praying, the Prophet passed by and called me, but I did not go to him till I had finished my prayer. When I went to him, he said, "What prevented you from coming?" I said, "I was praying." He said, "Didn't Allah say" "O you who believe Give your response to Allah and to His Apostle." (Surah 8:24)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 1:

Narrated Abu Said bin Al-Mu'alla: While I was praying in the Mosque, Allah's Apostle called me but I did not respond to him. Later I said, "O

Allah's Apostle! I was praying." He said, "Didn't Allah say – Give your response to Allah (by obeying Him) and to His Apostle when he calls you." (Surah 8:24)

This proves that Muslims must respond to the call of Muhammad even while they are praying. They are required to honor Muhammad above Allah. Why do we say that? On the surface it may appear that Muhammad was only demanding the Muslims to recognize his right to interrupt their prayers. However, there is more to this. It is important to note that each time Muhammad interrupts the prayer of a Muslim, he simultaneously interrupts Allah from receiving the prayer of that Muslim. This means that Muhammad has the authority to even interrupt Allah from receiving the prayers of his worshippers. Does not this exalt Muhammad to a position equal or even greater than Allah? Is this not polytheism? Can you then deny that in reality Islam has two gods?

The true God is identified by this divine name in the Holy Bible. His divine name is Jehovah. He is God Almighty. As such, it is impossible for Him to pray. On the other hand, Allah prays. This clearly proves that he is not the true God. He is but an impostor.

ISLAM'S CONFUSION – IS SATAN A FALLEN ANGEL OR A JINN?

ISLAM'S CONFUSION – IS SATAN A FALLEN ANGEL OR A JINN?

Muslims claim that Islam is a rational religion that is clear in its teachings. They also maintain that it is free from any distortion or contradiction. But the reality is quite a different story. Not only are there numerous contradictions in the Qur'an but Muslims themselves are confused over many of its teachings. This article will consider one such confusion. We will discuss Islam's confusion over the identity of Satan.

According to the clear teachings of the Bible, Satan was a fallen angel who deviated into sin through disobedience to God. However, Islam denies this Biblical truth. It claims that Satan is a Jinn and did not come from the rank of Angels. You may perhaps be wondering what difference does this actual make. Plenty! According to Islam there are vast differences between angels and jinns. Evidences will be provided in this article to show why the denial of Satan as a fallen angel in the Qur'an proves Islam false. In addition, it will also be shown why this denial of Satan as a fallen angel confirms the existence of contradictions in the Qur'an.

Till today many sincere Muslims are confused over the identity of Satan. They are confused because of the conflicting teachings in the Qur'an regarding the identity of Satan. Many Muslims have written to respective Islamic scholars demanding clarifications on this obvious error in the Qur'an. In actual fact, many issues are involved here. Please read the article carefully as we reveal the contradictions, errors and absurdities on this single subject in the Qur'an.

The Qur'an states that when Allah created Adam, he commanded the angels to bow down to Adam. But why did Allah command the angels to bow down to Adam, a creature? More on this later. We will now first focus our discussion on Islam's confusion on the identity of Satan. The account regarding Allah's command to the angels to bow down to Adam is mentioned in seven passages of the Qur'an. These Qur'anic passages also mention the subsequent refusal of Satan to bow down to Adam. Six of those passages clearly indicate and identify Satan as one of the angels. Provided below are the six Qur'anic verses:

> Surah 2:34: And when We said unto the angels: Prostrate yourselves before Adam, they fell prostrate, all save Iblis*. He demurred through pride, and so became a disbeliever. (Pickthall)*
> Surah 7:11: And We created you then fashioned you, then told the angels*: Fall ye prostrate before Adam!* And they fell prostrate, all save Iblis, who was not of those who make prostration. (Pickthall)
> Surah 15:28-31: So, when I have made him and have breathed into him of My Spirit, do ye fall down, prostrating yourselves unto him. So the angels fell prostrate, all of them together. Save Iblis*. He refused to be among the prostrate. (Pickthall)*
> Surah 17:61: And when We said unto the angels: Fall down prostrate before Adam and they fell prostrate all save Iblis*, he said: Shall I fall prostrate before that which Thou hast created of clay? (Pickthall)*
> Surah 20:116: And when We said unto the angels*: Fall prostrate before Adam,* they fell prostrate (all) save Iblis; he refused. (Pickthall)
> Surah 38:71-74: When thy Lord said unto the angels*: Lo! I am about to create a mortal out of mire, And when I have fashioned him and breathed into him of My Spirit, then fall down before him prostrate,* The angels fell down prostrate, every one, Saving Iblis; he was scornful and became one of the disbelievers. (Pickthall)

The natural understanding of the above Qur'anic verses clearly presents Satan as an angel who refused to obey Allah's order to bow down to Adam. Since Allah was talking specifically to the angels, does not the expression "all save Iblis" really mean that all the angels, with the exception of one, bowed down to Adam? Does not this prove that Satan (Iblis) was the only one among the angels who refused to bow down to Adam? Does not this actually confirm that Satan was one of the angels? In fact, the above six Qur'anic verses need no explanation concerning the identity of Satan. It is obvious that he was one of the angels.

However, the above six Qur'anic verses which are in complete agreement with one another now stands corrected in the Qur'an by the following single verse. Allah introduces a discrepancy, a contradiction by identifying Satan as a Jinn:

> Surah 18:50: And (remember) when We said unto the angels: Fall prostrate before Adam, and they fell prostrate, all save Ibis. He was of the Jinn*, so he rebelled against his Lord's command. (Pickthall)*

Many sincere Muslims are troubled by this contradiction in the Qur'an. They could see that the Qur'an does not say that Allah did not include some other group along with the angels to bow down to Adam. His commandment was specifically addressed to the angels. So how could Satan be held accountable if he is not an angel? The confusion arises from Islam's insistence that Satan is not from the rank of angels but from the rank of jinns. Does it not puzzle you why Islamic scholars choose to overrule the testimonies of numerous Qur'anic verses in favor of one single contradictory verse? There is a desperate reason for Islamic scholars to do so. We will now discuss that reason. It will help you to understand why the entire religious structure of Islam is built on distortion and lies.

According to the teachings of Islam there are numerous differences between angels and the jinns. The following two Islamic sites explain the differences between the angels and the jinns. They quote authoritative sources to substantiate their clarification on this subjection.

TurnToIslam:

> THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE ANGELS AND THE JINN
> Taken from Ahkamut Ta'amal ma' Al Jinn by As-Shaykh Abu Nasr Muhammad ibn Abdullah ibn Al-Imam. (Translated by Abu Aaliyah Abdullah ibn Dwight Lamont Battle)

There are some Muslims who are ignorant about the difference between the noble Angels and the Jinn and Shayateen*. Some of the earlier nations deviated in comparing Jinn to Angels. Shaykul Islam Ibn Taymeeyah said, "The pagan Arabs and the people of the book acknowledge the Angels existence, although many of them consider the Angels and Jinn as one.* They believe that Angels that disobey Allah become Shayateen. The Pagans, Jews and Christians deny Ibless as being the father of the Jinn, they deny the Jinns' ability to marry, have children, eat and drink. *Some of the pagan Arabs claim that the Angels are the Jinns' offspring. (Tafseer Al-Kabeer 7 / 381).*

The following are some differences between the Angels and Jinns*:*

(1) The Angels were created from light and the Jinn were created from smokeless fire. This is a unique difference in creation, so it's with all the more reason that they differ in actions.

(2) The names of the Angels differ from the names of the Jinn in general and in detail. The names of the Angels are intended for messengers. They are Allah's messengers.

(3) The Angels were created to obey Allah. They don't have the free will to disobey Him unlike the Jinn. Allah gave the Jinn the free will to obey or disobey Him like man. So whoever desires to believe in Allah will and whoever desires to disbelieve in Allah can.

(4) The Angels don't have desires. Therefore they don't eat, drink, or marry. The jinn eat, drink and marry.

(5) The Angels don't disobey Allah for a single moment. The majority of the Jinn are Kuffar (Disbelievers). In fact the number of Kuffar among the Jinn outnumber the Kuffar among humans. There are some people who circulate that Harut and Marut were Angels. This is false. They were both Jinn and the narrations that mention them as being Angels are from the Israelites. None of those narrations are authentic.

(6) Allah created the Angels for the service to the Son of Adam. Most of the Jinn divert man from the correct path. And at the forefront of that is their father Ibless.

(7) The Angels live in the heavens and the Jinn live in dirty places.

(8) The Angels are neither male nor female*. The pagan Arabs described the Angels as being female.* The Jinn are male and female. Refer to S. Kahf 50. *(End of Quote)*

Islamweb:

FATWA No: 16265: THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN ANGELS, JINNS AND DEVILS

There are many differences between Angels and Jinns. Three very important ones are:

(1) Angels are created from light while Jinns are created from fire – and they reproduce through a process similar to that of humans.

(2) All the angels are believers who are infallible and they only ever enjoin others to do good. Among the Jinns, there are Muslims and disbelievers, as well as those who enjoin good and those who enjoin evil.

(3) Angels do not have desires*, unlike Jinns who have desires just like humans.*

As explained above, according to the teachings of Islam there are numerous differences between angels and jinns. They are shown to be two completely different entities – two different types of creatures. However, the one vital outstanding difference between them that concerns us in our discussion is that while jinns were created with free will, angels are not. Jinns were created with the freedom to make choices but angels were not created with this freedom. In other words, angels cannot disobey Allah. They were not created as free moral agents. The Qur'an expressly states that angels cannot disobey Allah:

Surah 16:49-50: And whatever creature that is in the heavens and that is in the earth makes obeisance to

> Allah only, and the angels too and they do not show pride. They fear their Lord above them and do what they are commanded. (Shakir)
> Surah 66:6: O you who believe! save yourselves and your families from a fire whose fuel is men and stones; over it are angels stern and strong, they do not disobey Allah in what He commands them, and do as they are commanded. (Shakir)*

This is where it creates a grave problem for Islam. Muslims scholars are aware of this dilemma in the Qur'an. That is why they are dead bent on insisting that Satan is a jinn and not an angel. That is why Muslim scholars choose to shun the testimonies of the majority of the Qur'anic verses that clearly indicate that Satan is an angel. Since the above verses testify that angels cannot disobey, therefore, to agree that Satan is an angel would then mean to admit that the above Qur'anic verses are false. How could Satan as an angel disobey Allah's command to bow down to Adam?

The dilemma for Muslims is that if Satan is an angel who disobeyed Allah, then the Qur'an is wrong in its claims that angels "do not disobey Allah." On the other hand, if Satan is a Jinn, then his unwarranted punishment is unfair. Either way Islam is wrong.

Muslim scholars recognize this serious problem in the Qur'an. Qur'an translator, Rashad Khalifa was aware of this dilemma. In order to justify Allah's unlawful punishment of Satan, he tried to come up with an intriguing justification. He had no alternative other than to distort Surah 18:50. He distorted the text to make it say that Satan became a Jinn and not that he was a Jinn from the beginning. His Qur'an reads:

> Surah 18:50: "We said to the angels, `Fall prostrate before Adam.' They fell prostrate, except Satan. He became a jinn, for he disobeyed the order of His Lord…" (Khalifa)*

Khalifa's rendering of this verse presupposes that Satan was an angel before becoming a Jinn. However, his translation of this verse still leaves Muslims with the problem of Satan disobeying Allah when the Qur'an says that angels are never disobedient. Moreover, Khalifa's translation of this verse of the Qur'an is at odds with all other English translations of the same verse. What this shows is that he was aware of a problem that needs to be addressed. And in order to rectify this problem, he had to distort the distorted words of Allah. It is like adding poison to poison. The Qur'an is full of contradictions. It is utterly inconsistent in its teachings. Muslims have to tread on thin ice. To authenticate the verses that say angels cannot disobey Allah, they had to knowingly distort the meaning of other verses in the Qur'an.

Let us read Surah 18:50 once again to analyze this subject further:

> Surah 18:50: "Behold! We said to the angels, "Bow down to Adam": They bowed down except Iblis (Satan). He was one of the Jinns*." (Yusuf Ali)*

For Muslims to base their claim that Satan is not an angel on the evidence of this single contradictory verse gives rise to numerous theological problems. As we can see, while Surah 18:50 agrees with the rest of the Qur'an that Allah's command to "Bow down to Adam" was only specified to the angels, yet it instantly introduces a contradiction by asserting that Satan is a Jinn. Muslims must ask themselves, why did Allah who only commanded the angels to bow to Adam, then punish Satan who is not an angel but a jinn for not bowing down to Adam? Why is Allah punishing Satan for not doing something he was not commanded to do in the first place? Why is Satan blamed for not bowing to Adam even though the command was given only to the angels? Is Satan an angel or jinn? Which is it?

Do not the evidences provided here prove that Satan came from the rank of angels just as it is taught in the Bible? By showing that Allah's instruction to the angels also applies to Satan, the Qur'an unwittingly agrees with the Bible that he was one of the angels. Sadly for Muslims, the Qur'an at the same instance contradicts itself.

> Surah 38:71-76: Your Lord said to the angels*: 'I am creating man from clay. When I have fashioned him and breathed My spirit into him, kneel-down and prostrate yourselves before him.'* The angels all prostrated themselves except Satan, *who was too proud, for he was an unbeliever. 'Satan,' said He, '*why do you not bow to him whom My own hands have made? Are you too proud, or do you deem yourself superior?' Satan replied: 'I am nobler than he. You created me from fire, but him from clay.' (Dawood)

An unbiased reading of the above text shows Satan to be an angel who refused to obey Allah's order to worship Adam. And Allah asks Satan why he did not obey his instruction to the angels to prostrate to Adam. Does not this in itself presuppose that Satan was one of the angels? Every command of God is issued with an intended purpose. Therefore, it makes no sense for Allah to hold Satan accountable for not obeying a command that was given exclusively to the angels if he was not an angel. Since the Qur'an accuses Satan of not being obedient, he has to be one of the angels.

To reiterate our point, this means that either Satan is an angel and therefore not a jinn or he is a jinn and therefore not an angel, which makes Allah's punishment unwarranted for not obeying a command given to the angels and not to the jinns.

As usual, Muslim apologists resort to deception. They say that since Satan was with the angels when they were commanded by Allah to bow down to Adam, the commandment would automatically include Satan. This excuse is inexcusable. To begin with, the Qur'an does not say that Allah's commandment was addressed to all those present but was addressed specifically to the angels by name: "Behold! We said to the angels, 'Bow down to Adam.'" (Surah 18:50).

Let us reason on the absurd excuse of these Muslim scholars. Say for instance, you just happened to walk into my home on some other business and then you recognized one of my guests and you start chatting with him. If at that point I made an announcement specifically addressing my guests to come and sit down at my dinner table, would that include you? Certainly not. Commonsense will dictate that you will at that point excuse yourself and depart. Additionally, would it make sense to hold you accountable for your departure when my invitation was specifically addressed to my guests? If this true of us humans, how specific must the commandments and dealings of God be. So saying that Satan was included just because he was amongst the angels when they were commanded is as lame as it comes. The issue is simple. Is Satan an angel or not? But there is a more important issue at stake for Muslims. Let us read Surah 18:50 from another well-known translation:

> "And when we said unto the angels, worship (us'judū) Adam*;* they all worshipped him except Eblis*, who was one of the* genii." (Sale)

It is interesting to note that in the above Qur'anic verse, the noun for the verb "us'judū" is "masjidin" meaning "mosque" – a place where worship is rendered to Allah. This confirms that Allah was commanding the angels to bow down in worship to Adam. And this leaves Muslims with another serious problem to contend with.

However, when Muslim scholars are questioned regarding Allah's idolatrous command to the angels to bow to Adam, they reply that Allah did it to test the angels. This is another lie. As we have noted that according to Islamic theology, angels do not have freewill. So how can they then be tested? What is Allah actually trying to demonstrate by asking the angels to bow down to Adam when he knows that the angels, by their very design, will do so instinctively?

Of course, no where in the Bible can we find the true God instructing the angels to bow down to Adam. Allah's instruction to the angels to bow down to Adam is clearly an approval of idolatry in the form of creature worship. What this basically means is that Allah commanded his creatures to render unto another creature the very worship and reverence due to God alone. Thus, Allah is guilty of promoting one of the most heinous sins.

It is vital for Muslims to recognize the fact that both Allah and Satan displayed the same instinctive blasphemous characteristics. They both promoted creature worship. The Qur'an clearly testifies that Allah commanded the angels to bow down in worship to a creature. Now let us look at a revealing account in the Bible that testifies how Satan tried to entice Jesus to engage in creature worship.

> Matthew 4:8-9: *Again the Devil took him along to an unusually high mountain, and showed him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory, and he said to him: "All this I will give you if you will bow down and worship me."

And how did Jesus respond to Satan?

> Matthew 4:10: *Then Jesus said to him: "Go away, Satan! For it is written, 'It is Jehovah your God you must worship, and it is to him alone you must render sacred service.'

Just like Jesus Christ, the obedient angels of Jehovah also acknowledge that it is only to God that one should bow down in worship. As such, these angels neither give nor receive such glory that belongs to God.

> Revelation 22:8-9: *I, John fell down before the feet of the angel that had been showing me these things. But he tells me: "Be careful! Do not do that! All I am is a fellow slave of you and of your brothers who are prophets and of those who are observing the words of this scroll. Worship God."

Which do you think is the true Word of God? Is it the Qur'an or the Holy Bible? Since Muslims believe in the Qur'an, we will use the Qur'an to help them see why the Qur'an cannot be the Word of God.

> Surah 4:82: Will they not, then, try to understand this Qur'an? Had it issued from any but God, they would surely have found in it many an inner contradiction! (Asad)
> Will they not ponder on the Qur'an? Had it not come from someone other than God, they would have certainly found therein many contradictions. (Sarwar)

As proven in this article, it is abundantly clear that the Qur'an contains discrepancies and contradictions which cannot be easily explained away. As such, does not this prove that according to the testimony of the Qur'an itself, the Qur'an cannot be the Word of God?

Well Muslims, what do you think of Islam now? You can learn a vital lesson here. You can learn that a book as contradictory as the Qur'an cannot lead you to salvation. Therefore, it is imperative that you learn to identify which is the true Word of God. The Qur'an should never challenge the teachings of the Holy Bible. It will only end up contradicting itself. And as the Qur'an itself testifies, the existence of contradictions means that the Qur'an is not the Word of God.

In contrast, the Holy Bible which is a gift to mankind from Jehovah is consistent in its teachings:

> James 1:16-18: Do not be misled, my beloved brothers. Every good gift and every perfect present is from above, for it comes down from the Father of the celestial lights, and with him there is not a variation of the turning of the shadow*. Because he willed it, he* brought us forth by the Word of Truth to give us new birth.

Both Allah and Satan promoted creature worship. Both displayed the same blasphemous characteristics of denying the holy Commandments of the true God by elevating the rank of a mere human to the status of God.

Exodus 20:3: "You must not have any other gods besides me."*

This raises many vital questions regarding Allah and Satan. "Is Allah and Satan one and the same?" "Are there evidences showing that they are actually the same person?"

SURAH 27:82: ALLAH'S FINAL MESSENGER – AN ARABIC SPEAKING BEAST

SURAH 27:82: ALLAH'S FINAL MESSENGER – AN ARABIC SPEAKING BEAST

Allah's final messenger is an Arabic speaking Beast. No! We are not joking. According to the Qur'an, Allah will raise up a talking Beast to emerge from the earth. This Beast will allegedly appear at the time of the end when many will abandon the religion of Allah. Then Allah will cause this Beast to separate the unbelievers from those who worship Allah. And the Beast will mark the unbelievers for destruction. It will be a real Beast and it will speak to the people in Arabic. It is also known as the "Beast of the Earth" in Islamic eschatology. In view of the incredible nature of this account in the Qur'an, we have provided three different translations for the benefit of our readers:

> Surah 27:82: "And when the word is fulfilled concerning them, We shall bring forth a beast of the earth to speak unto them because mankind had not faith in Our revelations." (Pickthall)
> And when the Word is fulfilled against them (the unjust), we shall produce from the earth a beast to face them: He will speak to them*, for that mankind did not believe with assurance in Our Signs. (Yusuf Ali)*
> And when the Word (of torment) is fulfilled against them, We shall bring out from the earth a beast to them, which will speak to them because mankind believed not with certainty in Our Ayât (Verses of the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad SAW). (Hilali-Khan)

We will now look at the Commentaries (Tafsirs) regarding this Beast from two renowned Islamic scholars. Their scholarly Commentaries are esteemed in the Muslim world and are used extensively for an in-depth understanding of the Qur'an. Islamic institutions such as the famous Al-Azhar University in Cairo use their scholarly works extensively to educate Muslims on a wide range of subjects.

Ibn Kathir's Tafsir on "The Emergence of the Beast of the Earth" states:

> This is the beast which will emerge at the end of time, when mankind has become corrupt and neglected the commands of Allah and changed the true religion. Then Allah will cause a beast to emerge from the earth. It was said that it will be brought from Makkah, or from somewhere else, as we shall discuss in detail below, if Allah wills. The beast will speak to people about matters.
> Ibn `Abbas, Al-Hasan and Qatadah said, and it was also narrated from `Ali, may Allah be pleased with him, that it will speak words, meaning, it will address them. Many Hadiths and reports have been narrated about the beast, and we will narrate as many of them as Allah enables us to, for He is the One Whose help we seek. Imam Ahmad recorded that Hudhayfah bin Asid Al-Ghifari said, "The Messenger of Allah came out from his room while we were discussing the matter of the Hour…"

This was also recorded by Muslim and the Sunan compilers from Hudhayfah, in a Mawquf report. At-Tirmidhi said, "It is Hasan Sahih." It was also recorded by Muslim from Hudhayfah in a Marfu` report. And Allah knows best.

We will now look at the Commentary by al-Jalalayn. His Tafsir on Surah 27:82 states the following:

And when the word (of judgement) falls upon them, (when) they deserve that chastisement befalls them as well as all (other) disbelievers, We shall bring forth for them a beast from the earth which shall speak to them (saying), that is, which shall speak in Arabic to those who are alive at the time when it appears*, among its other statements,* it will say to them on Our behalf: 'Indeed mankind (read tukallimuhum inna'l-nasa; a variant has tukallimuhum bi-anna'l-nasa, 'to tell them that mankind') had no faith in Our signs'*, in other words, they did not believe in the Qur'an and what it comprises (of the mention) of resurrection, reckoning and requital. With its (the beast's) appearance the enjoining of decency and forbidding of indecency will cease, and thereafter no disbeliever will believe – just as God revealed to Noah (when He said to him): None of your people will believe except he who has already believed (Surah 11:36). (Tafsir al-Jalalayn)*

It is important for the readers to remember two vital points:

One: The Beast will speak in Arabic. Arabic is the language of Allah. It is the language of the Qur'an. Two: The Beast will act as a messenger of Allah. It will speak on behalf of Allah. It is personally sent by Allah with a warning message to the unbelievers.

THE TASK OF THE BEAST OF ALLAH

The following Islamic sources reveal to us the task of the Beast and the nature of its message:

> "The task of the Beast will be to distinguish the believers from the non-believers*, with Prophet Moosa's (Moses) staff it will draw a line on the forehead of every believer whereby his face will become bright and luminous and with the ring of Sulaman (Solomon) it will seal the nose of every non-believer where by his whole face will become black. Thus there will be complete distinction between the Muslim and non-Muslim, so that if many parties sit at a dinner table, the Muslim and non-Muslim will be distinguished." (Abu Huraira-Musnad Ahmad/Tirmidhi)*

> "It is a huge creature that will come out from the earth, a Beast other than man; nobody will be able to escape it. It will stamp the Muslim by writing 'believer' between his eyes, and stamp the non-Muslim by writing Kafir between his eyes." (As-Sunan Al-Waridah Fil-Fitan)

> "The Beast will talk to people and say, 'Mankind had no faith in our revelations.'" (Ibn Kathir)

According to Islamic sources, the Beast will appear three times during the time of the end. However, it is the final appearance that will matter most. In its final appearance it will emerge from the Grand Mosque at Mecca. The Hadith by Tabrani which is based on the authority of the renowned Muslim scholar, Huzaifa bin Usaid, testifies that the Beast will come out from Al-Masjid Al-Haram in Mecca. Thus, the Ka'ba, which is situated in the central open courtyard of Al-Masjid Al-Haram, will be the throne of the Beast. (See also Imam Qurtubi's Tazkirah and Muhammad Al-Barzanji's Isha'ah li Ashrat Al-Sa'a).

As we can see, the Beast has been identified not only with Islam but with the holiest site of Islam, the Al-Masjid Al-Haram in Mecca. The interesting opinion by the scholars of Islam is that they believe the Beast is none other than the Snake which supposedly guarded the Holy Ka'ba during pre-Islamic days. Great scholars like Ibn Abbas, are of the opinion that the Beast is actually the Snake that guarded the Ka'ba in Mecca. In the Commentary (Tafsir) by Imam al-Qurtubi which is based on the authority of Ibn Abbas, we find the following interesting clarification concerning this Snake of Islam:

> Obeying Allah's command the Prophet Ibraheem (Abraham) with the help of his son Ismail (Ishmael) built the Holy Ka'bah. He dug a well inside the Holy Ka'bah which was to the right of who entered it and acted as a safe to all the gifts that were presented to the Ka'bah which were kept inside it. At the time of Jurhum the gold and silver were stolen many times from the Kabah thus the tribe of Jurhum decided to choose a man amongst them to keep guard. Unfortunately, one day the guard himself decided to steal the gifts of the Kabah. Taking the opportunity as it came he climbed down the well and began to gather what he could in a piece of cloth. While he was busy Allah sent a stone on him, which closed the well and thus he was unable to escape.
> From that day Allah sent a snake to guard the Ka'bah. The snake lived in the well guarding the gifts of the Ka'bah for over 500 years. Exposed to the wearing factors of nature the walls of the Ka'bah at the time of Quraish (slightly before the time Prophet received Prophethood) had become weak and part of the covering had also burnt, thus the Quraish decided to rebuild the Ka'bah. However, the snake prevented them from demolishing the Holy Ka'bah every time they tried. Finally they stood at the Place of Ibrahim and prayed, "Oh Allah if you are happy in its rebuilding then make it possible and take care of > this snake." Allah sent an eagle which took the snake towards Ajyaad. This snake is referred to in the forth opinion. (Al-Azraqi's Tarikh Makka*) (Source:* Imam Al-Qurtubi's Tazkirah*).*

Yes! The most holy shrine of Allah, the Ka'ba, was once guarded by a snake. Before the arrival of Islam, the Arab Quraysh tribe worshipped a pantheon of idol-gods. They were pagans. These pagans entreated Allah: "Oh Allah if you are happy in its rebuilding then make it possible and take care of this snake." And Allah answered their prayers by transferring the snake. Let us put aside the Beast for moment and ponder carefully at what this reveals about Allah.

Does it not prove that Allah is unmistakably a pagan deity? Firstly, for these pagans to pray to Allah, by specifically calling upon his name means he was their deity. Secondly, Allah answered their prayers by transferring the snake. Why would Allah be happy to see the restoration of a pagan temple? At the time when the pagans wanted to rebuild the Ka'ba, it was a pagan shrine housing 360 idols. These idols were only destroyed very much later by Muhammad at the conquest of Mecca. The account also states that it was Allah who initially sent the snake to guard the treasures of the Ka'ba. Why would Allah want to guard the treasures of a pagan temple? If you find a place of worship being guarded by a snake today, with which religion would you associate it? Would you associate it with the monotheistic religions of Judaism and Christianity? Or would you associate it with Paganism? Consider now the evidences from Islamic sources which show that the Ka'ba was indeed a pagan shrine before the advent of Islam:

Sahih Bukhari Volume 5, Book 59, Number 583:

> Narrated By Abdullah: When the Prophet entered Mecca on the day of the Conquest, there were 360 idols around the Ka'ba*.*

"Muhammad the Holy Prophet" by Hafiz Ghulam Sarwar, p 18-19:

> *"II. The Religion of the Pre-Islamic Arabs. The life of the pre-Islamic Arabs, especially in the Hijaz depended on trade and they made a trade of their religion as well. About four hundred years before the birth of Muhammad one Amr bin Lahyo bin Harath bin Amr ul-Qais bin Thalaba bin Azd bin Khalan bin Babalyun bin Saba, a descendant of Qahtan and king of Hijaz, had put an idol called Hubal on the roof of the Kaba. This was one of the chief deities of the Quraish before Islam. It is said that there were altogether three hundred and sixty idols in and about the Kaba and that each tribes had its own deity…, The shapes and figures of the idols were also made according to the fancy of the worshippers…, Besides Hubal, there was another idol called Shams placed on the roof of the Kaba…, The blood of the sacrificial animals brought by the pilgrims was offered to the deities in the Kaba and sometimes even human beings were sacrificed and offered to the god…, Besides idol-worship, they also worshipped the stars, the sun and the moon."

Based on the evidences provided here, we can clearly see that Allah is a pagan deity. As shown in the commentary by Imam Al-Qurtubi, the pagans entreated Allah and he answered their prayers. In fact, Allah was just one among the many idol gods worshipped by the pagans at the Ka'ba.

Another interesting fact to consider is the name of Muhammad's father. His name was Abdullah. Abdullah means Slave of Allah – a constriction of Abdul (slave) and Allah. Had there been no Allah in pre-Islamic Arabia, there could be no Slave of Allah in pre-Islamic Arabia. Abdullah was not a Muslim and he died before the birth of Muhammad. He was a pagan and yet he carried the name of Allah. If Muhammad's pagan father was named the Slave of Allah, then it logically follows that Allah must be a pagan deity. The fact is that Allah was a pre-existing deity in pagan Arabia who later became the god of Islam. The word "Allah" existed long before the word "Muslim" or "Islam" were coined. Having said that, let us get back to the subject of the Beast.

THE MINISTERS OF ALLAH

Slowly but surely a clear picture of Islam emerges. We discovered how a Snake served as a watchman for Allah in the past and how a Beast will serve as a messenger of Allah in the future. But it does not stop there. We also find Allah empowering Satan – another one of his ministers – to accomplish his purpose to mislead mankind. Study the following Qur'anic verses carefully:

> Surah 38:82-83: Iblis said: "Then, by Thy power*, I will put them all in the wrong, -"Except Thy Servants amongst them, sincere and purified (by Thy Grace)." (Yusuf Ali)*
> *(Satan)) Said: "By Your Might, then I will surely mislead them all, "Except Your chosen slaves amongst them (faithful, obedient, true believers of Islamic Monotheism)." (Hilali-Khan)*

Can you believe this? With the exception of the worshippers of Allah, Satan misleads the entire world by the "Power" and "Might" of Allah. Ironically, we find Satan having high praises for the worshippers of Allah. This in itself speaks volumes. Is it not strange to find Satan invoking the name of Allah to carry out his crafty acts against those not submitting to Allah? Satan declares, "By Thy power, I will put them all in the wrong." However, what is even more surprising is that we find Allah working in unison with Satan. Allah works along with Satan to accomplish the wicked intention of Satan to mislead the unbelievers. Study the following Qur'anic verse carefully:

> Surah 43:36: "And whoever turns himself away from the remembrance of the Beneficent Allah, We appoint for him a Shaitan, so he becomes his associate. (Shakir)

> He who turns away from the remembrance (Reminder) of the Compassionate (Allah), We assign a Satan for him, who becomes his intimate companion. (Farook Malik)

The "We" here is Allah. "We assign a Satan for him, who becomes his intimate companion." In other words, Allah is in the business of introducing Satan to those whom Satan has pledged to mislead. Allah is aiding Satan to accomplish exactly what Satan challenged to do. Allah is indeed working hand in hand with Satan to mislead the unbelievers. If you think this is an exaggeration, look at the following Qur'anic verse:

> Surah 19:83: "See you not that We have sent the Shayatin (devils) against the disbelievers to push them to do evil." (Hilali-Khan)

In the above Qur'anic verse we can clearly see Allah and Satan working together. Just think, will the true God "push" anyone – either directly or by the use of demons – "to do evil"? Would not these be the attributes of Satan? While we rightly expect God to punish unrepentant sinners, we know it is beyond the holiness of the Almighty God to "push" disbelievers to "do evil." That would make God an enforcer of evil. Well, you may reason that Allah does not do this sort of thing to the faithful believers. Really? Read the following Qur'anic verse carefully:

> Surah 6:112: "So have We appointed for every Prophet an enemy – devils of men and Jinns*; who inspire each other with* seductive, deceptive speech which leads astray." (H. S. Aziz)

This Qur'anic verse is shamelessly admitting that Allah appointed "devils of men and Jinns" to serve as enemies to each and every Prophet of God. Why would Allah work with the demons to oppose the Prophets of God? How do you think will these "devils of men and Jinns" demonstrate their enmity towards the Prophets of God? The Qur'an itself admits that they will demonstrate their animosity by using "seductive, deceptive speech which leads astray." Is this not an evil design to deceive the Prophets of God into committing sin? Instead of protecting the Prophets of God, why would Allah personally appoint "devils of men and Jinns" to mislead them? Is this not a give away as to who Allah really is?

In contrast, Jehovah God cares for his Prophets. He protects them from being deceived by their adversaries:

> Psalms 105:14-15: "And God did not allow any human to defraud them*, But on their account he reproved kings, Saying: 'Do not you men touch my anointed ones,* And to my Prophets do nothing bad.'"

Can you not see the immense difference between Allah and Jehovah? While Allah ensnares the Prophets by appointing evil enemies to deceive them, Jehovah protects them from the deception of the evil enemies. Who do you think is the God of these Prophets? Is it Allah or Jehovah? The answer is obvious. Furthermore, it is against the loving nature of Jehovah to employ evil as a means to even simply test the faithfulness of someone. His divine nature of absolute holiness would not permit it:

> James 1:13: Let no man say when he is tempted, "I am tempted by God." For God cannot be tempted with evil, neither does He tempt anyone with evil things.

The Holy Bible raises the following thought-provoking questions:

> 2 Corinthians 6:14-15: "For what fellowship do righteousness and lawlessness have? Or what sharing does light have with darkness? Further, what harmony is there between Christ and Satan?"

Yes! The true God will not work along with Satan. Allah does. But we are not through with Islam yet. We will now reveal why the Qur'an cannot be the Word of God. What is more, we will use the Qur'an to judge the Qur'an.

> Surah 4:82: Do they not then consider the Qur'an carefully? Had it been from other than Allah, they would surely have found therein much contradictions*. (Hilali-Khan)*

According to the Qur'an, God's Word cannot contain contradictions in it. Therefore, if the Qur'an is the perfect Word of God, then there should not be any contradictions in it. Contradiction simply means a combination of statements or ideas which are opposed to one another. In the context our discussion it means the stating of a position by Allah opposite to the one he had already made earlier in the Qur'an.

IRREFUTABLE CONTRADICTIONS IN THE QURAN

The Qur'an repeatedly proclaims that all the messengers sent by Allah to mankind were humans:

> Surah 12:109: "Nor did We send before thee (as apostles) any but men, whom we did inspire, – (men) living in human habitations. Do they not travel through the earth, and see what was the end of those before them? But the home of the hereafter is best, for those who do right. Will ye not then understand?" (Yusuf Ali)

And again:

> Surah 21:7-8: "And We sent not (as Our messengers) before thee other than men, whom We inspired. Ask the followers of the Reminder if ye know not? We gave them not bodies that would not eat food, nor were they immortals." (Pickthall)

And again:

> Surah 25:20-21: "And We have not sent before you any apostle but they most surely ate food and went about in the markets*; and We have made some of you a trial for others; will you bear patiently? And your Lord is ever Seeing.* And those who do not hope for Our meeting, say: Why have not angels been sent down upon us, or (why) do we not see our Lord? Now certainly they are too proud of themselves and have revolted in great revolt." (Shakir)

All the above Qur'anic verses testify that only human messengers were sent to mankind. And to drive home the point, the Qur'an provides the reason why Allah did not send angels as his messengers to mankind:

> Surah 17:94-95: And nothing prevented men from believing when the guidance came to them, except that they said: "Has Allah sent a man as (His) Messenger?" Say: "If there were on the earth, angels walking about in peace and security, We should certainly have sent down for them from the heaven an angel as a Messenger." (Hilali-Khan)

This Qur'anic verse gives us the reason why Allah did not send angelic messengers to mankind. It states very clearly that it is because the earth is not inhabited by angels. Therefore, instead of sending angelic messengers, Allah stated that he only sent human messengers to mankind. As there is no ambiguity in the above Qur'anic verse, all the great Muslim scholars upheld this clear understanding in their Commentaries on the Qur'an. The commentary in Tafsir al-Jalalayn on Surah 17:94-95 confirms this:

> Say, to them, 'Had there been in the earth, instead of humans, angels, walking and living secure, We would have sent down to them from the heaven an angel as Messenger', for when a messenger is sent to a people he is (always) of their kind, so that they are able to speak to him and understand from him (his message).

And Ibn Abbas, the cousin of Muhammad also made a similar comment on Surah 17:94-95:

> (Say) O Muhammad, to the people of Mecca: (If there were in the earth angels walking secure, We had sent down for them from heaven an angel as messenger) for we send angel messengers only to angels and human messengers to humans. (Tanwîr al-Miqbâs min Tafsîr Ibn 'Abbâs)

According to the clear teachings of the Qur'an, the reason for sending only human messengers on earth is because it is to humans that Allah is communicating his divine messages on earth. Thus, if Allah were to reveal the Qur'an to some other creatures, then he would raise a messenger from among their kind to communicate his divine messages to them. That is why it is stated in the Qur'an that if Allah wanted to deliver his divine messages to the angels he would send an angel to them.

Since like kind will be sent to like kind, is it not a contradiction for Allah to send forth a Beast as his messenger to speak to humans? Recall the response of Allah when the unbelievers inquired, "Why have not angels been sent down upon us?" He replied in Surah 17:94-95 that he would certainly have done so if the dwellers on earth were angels and not humans. Strangely, while Allah finds it a perversion, an absolute moral predicament to send angels to speak to humans, he finds no objection in sending an animal to communicate his messages to humans. If a beast can communicate with humans and convey the messages of Allah to them, then why is it wrong for angels to speak to human beings?

But the contradictions do not stop here. Allah's contradictions continue to multiply. Either the Allah of Islam is an imposter or he must be suffering from schizophrenic. Why do we say that? It is because there are accounts in the Qur'an that clearly show that angels have been sent by God repeatedly to deliver his messages to humans. Look at the evidence:

> Surah 3:39-41: And the angels called to him, while he stood praying in the chamber*, saying, verily God promiseth thee a son named John, who shall bear witness to the word which cometh from God; an honourable person, chaste, and one of the righteous prophets. He answered, Lord, how shall I have a son, when old age hath overtaken me, and my wife is barren?* The angel said*, so God doth that which he pleaseth.* Zacharias answered, Lord, give me a sign. The angel said*, thy sign shall be, that thou shalt speak unto no man for three days, otherwise than by gesture: Remember thy Lord often, and praise him evening and morning. (Sale)*

A second incident:

> Surah 3:42-45: "And when the angels said: O Mary! Lo! Allah hath chosen thee and made thee pure, and hath preferred thee above (all) the women of creation. O Mary! Be obedient to thy Lord, prostrate thyself and bow with those who bow (in worship). This is of the tidings of things hidden. We reveal it unto thee (Muhammad). Thou wast not present with them when they threw their pens (to know) which of them should be the guardian of Mary, nor wast thou present with them when they quarrelled (thereupon). (And remember) when the angels said: O Mary! Lo! Allah giveth thee glad tidings of a word from him, whose name is the Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary, illustrious in the world and the Hereafter, and one of those brought near (unto Allah)." (Pickthall)*

Do not the above Qur'anic verses contradict the previous Surahs that deny the possibility of angels coming to humans as messengers? Either angels can be sent as messengers of God to humans or they cannot. This reveals a vital fact. Can Allah really then be the God who sent those angels to Zachariah and Mary? By his own admission, Allah cannot be the God who sent those angels. It proves that Allah is an impostor impersonating the true God.

Wait, there is more. Adding to these contradictions, the Qur'an also states that Muhammad preached the message of Allah to the Jinns. What makes this contradiction even more damaging is that it is Allah who directed the Jinns to Muhammad:

> Surah 46: 29-32: "And when We inclined toward thee (Muhammad) certain of the jinn, who wished to hear the Qur'an and, when they were in its presence, said: Give ear! And, when it was finished, turned back to their people, warning. They said: O our people! Lo! we have heard a scripture which hath been revealed after Moses, confirming that which was before it, guiding unto the truth and a right road. O our people! respond to Allah's summoner and believe in Him. He will forgive you some of your sins and guard you from a painful doom. And whoso respondeth not to Allah's > summoner he can nowise escape in the earth, and he hath no protecting friends instead of Him." (Pickthall)

This is yet another contradiction since the Qur'an emphatically states that for each kind, only messengers of their own kind will be appointed to serve as messengers to them. So how is it possible for Muhammad to act as a messenger to the Jinns when he is not of their kind? Should not a Jinn be sent to deliver Allah's messages to the Jinns? Here we find Muhammad (a human) preaching to the Jinns (spirit creatures). Allah contradicts himself time after time. Let us move on to another contradiction.

WAS MUHAMMAD THE FINAL MESSENGER?

We are told that Muhammad is the "Last of the prophets" in the Qur'an:

> Surah 33:40: "Muhammad is not the father of any of your men, but he is the Apostle of Allah and the Last of the prophets; and Allah is cognizant of all things." (Shakir)

The Hadith also supports the above Qur'anic declaration that Muhammad is the final prophet of Allah.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 56, Number 661:

> Narrated Abu Huraira: The Prophet said, "The Israelis used to be ruled and guided by prophets: Whenever a prophet died, another would take over his place. There will be no prophet after me, but there will be Caliphs who will increase in number." The people asked, "O Allah's Apostle! What do you order us to do?" He said, "Obey the one who will be given the pledge of allegiance first. Fulfil their (the Caliphs) rights, for Allah will ask them about (any shortcoming) in ruling those Allah has put under their guardianship."

Both the Qur'an and the Hadith unanimously state that Muhammad is the final prophet of Allah. Muslims clearly understand this to mean that Allah will not send forth any more prophets or messengers after Muhammad. However, the Qur'an clearly states that Allah will bring forth a Beast to pass throughout the earth at the time of the end to testify against mankind. Since this Beast will proclaim the warning messages of Allah to the entire world, what exactly do you think is the function of this Beast? Does it not serve as a messenger of Allah?

As shown earlier, Islamic sources state that this Beast will speak on behalf of Allah. Since the Beast will speak on behalf of Allah, it serves as spokesperson or messenger of Allah. Moreover, it is stated that it will speak in the language of Allah. It will speak in Arabic and say: "Indeed mankind had no faith in Our signs." These are the exact words of Allah! Since this Beast declares Allah's messages verbatim to humans on earth, this essentially rules out Muhammad as the last prophet or messenger of Allah. After all, this Beast is acting as Allah's messenger, his agent to reveal his final message to mankind.

If Muhammad is supposed to be the very last person to deliver the messages of Allah, then how is it possible for this Beast to deliver another final message from Allah after the time of Muhammad? Since this Beast brings a final message from Allah to mankind, then it becomes Allah's final messenger. Therefore, the title, "Last of the prophets," which Muhammad claimed for himself should rightly be given to this animal. If Surah 33:40 is right then Surah 27:82 must be wrong and vice versa. Allah clearly contradicted himself, yet once again, by sending forth a final prophet – an Arabic speaking Beast after the time of Muhammad.

It is not over. There is yet another additional reason as to why Muhammad cannot be the "Last of the prophets." Both the Qur'an and the Hadiths state that Jesus will come again to the earth to restore true worship.

> Surah 43:61: Coming events cast their shadow before, and so will Isa (Jesus) whose return to earth shall be the sign of impending Judgement and that the Final Hour is indeed imminent. (Al-Muntakhab)

> "And (Jesus) shall be a Sign for the coming of the Hour of Judgment: therefore have no doubt about the Hour, but follow ye Me: this is a Straight Way." (Yusuf Ali)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Number 656:

> Narrated Abu Hurairah: Allah's Apostle said, "The Hour will not be established until the son of Mary (i.e. Jesus) descends amongst you as a just ruler."

Tafsir Ibn Abbas:

> (And lo! Verily) in the coming of Jesus the son of Mary (there is knowledge of the Hour) there is an indication of the coming of the Hour; it is also said that this means: his coming is a sign of the advent of the Hour. (So doubt ye not concerning it) so have no doubt in the coming of the Hour, (but follow Me) by professing Allah's divine Oneness. (Tanwîr al-Miqbâs min Tafsîr Ibn 'Abbâs)

Islamic sources testify that the purpose of Jesus' return to earth will be to eradicate unbelief and usher in the "Final Hour." Thus, Jesus will serve, yet again, as the Prophet of God long after the death of Muhammad. Muslims must ask themselves the following important questions: "During the time when Jesus returns to the earth, as testified in the Qur'an, who will be the only living Prophet of God at that time?" "Would not this fact alone make Jesus the final Prophet of God?"

However, the most important question that Muslims must ask themselves is this: "Where is Muhammad during the time when Jesus returns as the Prophet of God?" According to the Qur'an and the Hadiths, Muhammad will be in Hell awaiting to be rescued. If you find this unbelievable, please check the following link:

THE QUR'AN CONFIRMS MUHAMMAD IS IN HELL

The true religion is like a letter written in the name of God. Examining the contents of the letter is essential to determine whether it is from God or not. There are too many contradictions in Islam for it to be a letter written in the name of God. Contradictions contradict the doctrine of God's infallibility. In addition, it shows that Allah is inconsistent in his ways. It disqualifies him as the Almighty God. And Islam should be rejected not only for the many contradictions that can be found in the Qur'an but also because it teaches that Allah is in league with Satan.

Additionally, many of the teachings of the Qur'an are founded on pagan mythology. When mythology is passed on as divinely inspired teachings of God, it becomes potentially dangerous. The Holy Bible alerts and forewarns us of this danger long before the coming of Islam. And today we value these loving warnings of our God:

> 1 Timothy 4:1: However, the inspired word clearly says that in later times some will fall away from the faith, paying attention to misleading inspired statements and teachings of demons.
> Ephesians 5:6: Let no man deceive you with empty words, for because of such things the wrath of God is coming upon the sons of disobedience.
> Colossians 2:8: Look out that no one takes you captive by means of the philosophy and empty deception according to human tradition, according to the elementary things of the world and not according to Christ.

The Qur'an Confirms Muhammad Is In Hell

THE QUR'AN CONFIRMS MUHAMMAD IS IN HELL

Islam stands and falls on the person of Muhammad. The entire structure of Islam is built upon the belief that Muhammad was God's greatest prophet. As such, Muslims will naturally expect Allah to resurrect him to a heavenly Paradise immediately upon his death. However, it may come as a shock for them to learn that according to the most authentic Hadith in the Muslim world and substantiated by a verse in the Qur'an, their beloved Prophet is in Hell. Yes! Allah's perfect Qur'an clearly states that Muhammad is in Hell along with his pious followers who have passed away in death. Even more troubling for Muslims today is the fact that the very same destiny awaits them. Unbelievable? We will now consider the evidences from both the Qur'an and from authentic Islamic sources to substantiate our case.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 1, Book 12, Number 770:

Narrated Abu Huraira: The people said, "O Allah's Apostle! Shall we see our Lord on the Day of Resurrection?" He replied, "Do you have any doubt in seeing the full moon on a clear (not cloudy) night?" They replied, "No, O Allah's Apostle!" He said, "Do you have any doubt in seeing the sun when there are no clouds?" They replied in the negative. He said, "You will see Allah (your Lord) in the same way.

On the Day of Resurrection, people will be gathered and He will order the people to follow what they used to worship. So some of them will follow the sun, some will follow the moon, and some will follow other deities; and only this nation (Muslims) will be left with its hypocrites. Allah will come to them and say, 'I am Your Lord.' They will say, 'We shall stay in this place till our Lord comes to us and when our Lord will come, we will recognize Him.

Then Allah will come to them again and say, 'I am your Lord.' They will say, 'You are our Lord.' Allah will call them, and As-Sirat (a bridge) will be laid across Hell and I (Muhammad) shall be the first amongst the Apostles to cross it with my followers. Nobody except the Apostles will then be able to speak and they will be saying then, 'O Allah! Save us. O Allah Save us.'

*There will be hooks like the thorns of Sa'dan in Hell. Have you seen the thorns of Sa'dan?" The people said, "Yes." He said, "These hooks will be like the thorns of Sa'dan but nobody except Allah knows their greatness in size and these will entangle the people according to their deeds; some of them will fall and stay in Hell forever; others will receive punishment (torn into small pieces) and will get out of Hell, till when Allah intends mercy on whomever He likes amongst the people of Hell, He will order the angels to take out of Hell those who worshipped none but Him alone. The angels will take them out by recognizing them from the traces of prostrations, for Allah has forbidden the (Hell) fire to eat away those traces. So they will come out of the Fire, it will eat away from the whole of the human body except the marks of the prostrations. At that time they will come out of the Fire as mere skeletons. The Water of Life will be poured on them and as a result they will grow like the seeds growing on the bank of flowing water…,"

The vast majority of the Muslims are ignorant of their religion. Many who read this account may find it shocking. Shocking as it may be, it is nonetheless based on the true teachings of Islam. There is no ambiguity in the meaning of this Hadith. According to the clear teaching of this Hadith, Muhammad descended straight into Hell following his death. He did not ascend to any heavenly Paradise as Muslims claim. At this very moment, Muhammad is in Hell waiting to be rescued by Allah. And the account continues on to state that a "bridge" (As-Sirat) will be "laid across Hell" for the pious to escape from there on the "Day of Judgment." And the Hadith clearly states that Muhammad will be amongst "the first to cross it" with his followers. Since the "bridge" is "laid across Hell," Muhammad has to be in Hell in order to exit from that fiery place through that "bridge."

The "Day of Resurrection" or "Qiyamah" refers to the "Time of the End." This means, even as you are reading this article, Muhammad is in Hell awaiting to be rescued. Even pious Muslims who pray regularly will be consumed by the fires of Hell, leaving only the "marks of their prostration" untouched. The above Hadith reveals that the bodies of Muslims in Hell will be consumed by fire. "At that time – the Day of Resurrection – they will come out of the Fire as mere skeletons."

In full agreement with the teachings of the above Hadith, the Qur'an says that all Muslims – every single one of them – "will be taken to hell."

Surah 19:71: "It is the inevitable decree of your Lord that every one of you will be taken to hell." (Sarwar)

> "There is not one of you who shall not pass through the confines of Hell." (Dawood)

And the very next verse tells us:

Surah 19:72: "Then (Thumma) We shall rescue those who kept from evil, and leave the evil-doers crouching there." (Pickthall)*

> "Afterwards (Thumma) we will deliver those who shall have been pious, but we will leave the ungodly therein on their knees." (Sale)

The Arabic term "Thumma" (Then or Afterwards)* used in this Qur'anic verse exemplifies that there is a chronological order of events. First the entry into Hell. And "Then" being saved from it. Note carefully the wordings of Surah 19:72 regarding those pious Muslims who are sent there:

> "We shall rescue those who kept from evil, and leave the evil-doers crouching there."

You only "rescue" someone who is in some kind of danger. However, this rescue operation will only take place on "Judgment Day." Until then – for centuries – pious Muslims will be consumed by the fires of Hell. Only the dark spots on the skin of their foreheads caused by years of prostration to Allah will escape the effects of the fire. This is Allah's reward for their years of countless prayers to him.

Sahih Muslim, Book 001, Number 0349:

> "They (the angels) would recognise them in the Fire by the marks of prostration, for Hell-fire will devour everything (limb) of the sons of Adam except the marks of prostration. Allah has forbidden the fire to consume the marks of prostration. They will be taken out of the Fire having been burnt, and the water of life would be poured over them, and they will sprout as seed does in the silt carried by flood."

Al-Jalalayn's Tafsir gives the following important clarification on the meaning of Surah 19:71:

> Surah 19:71: "Not one of you but will pass through it: this is, with thy Lord, a Decree which must be accomplished."*
> *"Not one" means that there will be none. "Of you" means all people. "But will pass through" means the entry into hell. "A decree which must be accomplished" means it is a certainty and a judgment from which Allah will not relent. (Translated from Arabic) Source: http://www.al-islam.com.

Tafsir by Ibn Kathir on Surah 19:71 emphasizes further on the certainty of Hell for all Muslims:

Surah 19:71: "Not one of you but will pass through it: this is, with thy Lord, a Decree which must be accomplished."

Imam Ahmad narrated that Sulaiman Ibn Harb narrated that Khalid Ibn Sulaiman narrated that Kathir Ibn Ziad Al- Barsani narrated that Abu Sumaya said, "We differed about the meaning of 'Passing through it' (wari-duha). For some of us said that no believer will enter hell and others said all (people) shall enter it and then Allah will save those who have done righteousness. Then I met Jabir Ibn Abdallah and I informed him that we differed about the meaning of, 'Pass through it,' and he replied that, "Everyone shall enter it." (Tafsir by Ibn Kathir on Surah 19:71, Translated from Arabic)

Another Tafsir by Ibn Kathir on Surah 19:71 shows that Muslims who deny this "inevitable decree" of Allah are liars:

Narrated by Abdel Razak, narrated by Ibn Ayena narrated by Amru who told us that he heard Ibn Abbas feud with Nafi Ibn Al-Azraq regarding the meaning of, 'Entering (Al-wurood).' He said it meant 'Entering (Hell),' but Nafi disagreed. Thus Ibn Abbas read (Surah 21:98) "'Verily ye, and the gods that ye worship besides Allah, are but fuel for Hell! To it will ye surely will enter (Wardan),' and asked did they enter or not? He also read (Surah 11:98) 'He will go before his people on the Day of Judgment, and lead them (Awrada-hum) into the fire: but woeful indeed will be the place (Wird) to which they are led (Al-mawrud)!' Did they enter or not? As for you and I, we will enter it but let us see if we will exit from it and I don't see Allah taking you out of it because you lie (regarding its meaning)." Nafi then laughed.

*Narrated by Ibn Jarir, narrated by Atta who stated that Abu Rashid Al-Harury, who is called Nafi Ibn Al-Azraq, said, "They (the believers) will not hear hell's roar." So Ibn Abbas responded, "Woe to you! Are you insane? What of Allah's verse (Surah 11:98) 'He will go before his people on the Day of Judgment, and lead them (Awrada-hum) into the fire,' and also the verse (Surah 19:86) 'And We shall drive the sinners to hell being lead (Wirdan)'? And also the verse (Surah 19:71) 'Not one of you but will pass (Waridu-ha) through it'? By Allah, the supplication of those who lived previously used to be, 'O Allah take me out of hell fire peacefully and allow me to enter paradise victorious.'" (Tafsir by Ibn Kathir on Surah 19:71, Translated from Arabic) Source: Ministry of Islamic Affairs, Saudi Arabia.

Ibn Abbas (618 C.E.–687 C.E.) was a paternal cousin of the Prophet Muhammad. He is revered by Muslims for his knowledge on Islam. He was an expert in Tafsir (exegesis of the Qur'an), as well as an authority on Islamic Sunnah. He knew exactly how Islamic terms are understood and applied. And according to him, all Muslims, including Muhammad, will enter into Hell. The Qur'an gives us a description of the Islamic Hell:

Surah 74:28-30: "It leaveth not any thing unconsumed, neither doth it suffer any thing to escape: It scorcheth men's flesh: Over the same are nineteen (angels appointed)." (Sale)

It is tragic to learn that all Muslims – even the pious – will be destined to taste the burning fires of the Islamic Hell. This is the "inevitable decree" of Allah. As Islam itself admits, Muhammad is in Hell. But what about Jesus Christ? What does Islam reveal about the immediate destiny of Jesus after the end of his life on earth? Concerning Jesus Christ, the Qur'an itself testifies:

Surah 4:158 "But Allah took him (Jesus) up unto Himself and he is in the heavens." (Hilali-Khan)

And what about the followers of Jesus Christ? Concerning the true followers of Jesus Christ, the Qur'an states:

Surah 3:55: "Behold! Allah said: 'O Jesus! I will take thee and raise thee to Myself and clear thee of the falsehood of those who blaspheme; I will make those who follow thee superior to those who disbelieve until the Day of Resurrection." (Yusuf Ali)

Another translation renders it as follows:

Allah said: "O Jesus! I am going to recall you (from your mission) and raise you up to Myself. I will clean you of those who rejected you and exalt your followers above the unbelievers until the Day of Resurrection; then to Me shall be your return and I shall judge those matters in which you have been disputing. (F. Malik)

The followers of Jesus Christ are Christians. This is indeed a very profound statement in the Qur'an. It reveals the superiority of those who follow Jesus Christ. It does not say those who believe in Jesus will be made superior but those who follow him. Therefore, this does not apply to those who are Christians in name only but to those who are truly his faithful followers. These are the ones who will be exalted. They are exalted on account of their faithful submission to the true teachings of Christ as it is revealed in the Holy Bible. Let us analyze this Qur'anic verse a little further.

According to the above Qur'anic verse, Christians will be "exalted" or made "superior" until the "Day of Resurrection." The "Day of Resurrection" or Qiyamah refers to the "Time of the End."

- For Christians to be exalted until the time of the end, the true Christian faith must exist in this world until the time of the end.
- For the true Christian faith to exist in this world until the time of the end, true Christians must be present in this world until the time of the end.
- For true Christians to be present in this world until the time of the end, Christians must have a righteous standing with God until the time of end.
- For Christians to have a righteous standing with God until the time of end, Christians must be guided righteously until the time of the end.
- For Christians to be guided righteously until the time of the end, the Bible which is in their possession must remain true until the time of the end.
- For the Bible to remain true until the time of the end, the Bible must remain unchanged and free from corruption until the time of the end.
- Only then, can Christians have a righteous standing with God and be exalted until the "Day of Resurrection."

Surah 3:55 is one of the strongest testimonies in the Qur'an which prove that the Holy Bible in our possession today is the uncorrupted Word of God. It will be logically impossible for the Bible to remain uncorrupted until the time of the end if it is already a corrupted book as Muslims claim. For the Qur'an to testify that the followers of Jesus Christ will be made "superior to those who disbelieve until the Day of Resurrection," each successive stage enumerated above in the progression must be accomplished precisely as stated. And this would vitally include the integrity of the Bible which is in our possession today.

The above Qur'anic verse proves beyond any doubt that the Holy Bible is indeed sufficient for the outworking of the Christian's salvation, both now and in the future. Thus, we can be confident that the teachings of the Bible will remain as the authoritative guidance for mankind for all eternity. Therefore, the claim that the Qur'an was sent to replace the Bible or that the Bible has become corrupted is a deliberate lie concocted by Muslims. Concerning the Holy Bible, it is stated:

2 Timothy 3:16-17: "All Scripture is given by the inspiration of God and is profitable for teaching, for reproving, for setting things straight, for instruction in righteousness, that the man of God may be fully competent, completely equipped for every good work."

If the Bible is able to provide such an encompassing knowledge of salvation for Christians, would we then need another book to show us the truth about God? Islamic leaders discourage their followers from reading the Bible. Muslims will do well to consider the teachings of the Bible. Their eternal salvation depends on it. The path to salvation cannot be found in the path that leads you to Hell, even momentarily.

It is interesting to note that both the Qur'an and the Hadiths state that Jesus will return to earth to restore true worship.

> Surah 43:61: Coming events cast their shadow before, and so will Isa (Jesus) whose return to earth shall be the sign of impending Judgement and that the Final Hour is indeed imminent. (Al-Muntakhab)
> "And (Jesus) shall be a Sign for the coming of the Hour of Judgment: therefore have no doubt about the Hour, but follow ye Me: this is a Straight Way." (Yusuf Ali)

And the Hadiths and the Tafirs (Commentaries) of great Muslim scholars explain the true meaning of the above Qur'anic verse.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Number 656:

> Narrated Abu Hurairah: Allah's Apostle said, "The Hour will not be established until the son of Mary (i.e. Jesus) descends amongst you as a just ruler."

Tafsir Ibn Abbas:

> And lo! Verily in the coming of Jesus the son of Mary (there is knowledge of the Hour) there is an indication of the coming of the Hour; it is also said that this means: his coming is a sign of the advent of the Hour. (So doubt ye not concerning it) so have no doubt in the coming of the Hour, (but follow Me) by professing Allah's divine Oneness. (Tanwîr al-Miqbâs min Tafsîr Ibn 'Abbâs)

Islamic sources testify that the purpose for the return of Jesus to earth will be to eradicate unbelief and usher in the "Final Hour." During that time where will Muhammad be? He will be in Hell awaiting to be rescued. Right now, Jesus is in Heaven while Muhammad is in Hell. Therefore, the difference between Jesus and Muhammad is the same as the difference between Heaven and Hell. And the distinction between Allah and Jehovah is that while Allah promises "Hell-fire" for his worshippers, Jehovah promises "Eternal life" for all those come to him for salvation.

Sadly, most Muslims have chosen to follow the recitation of a single, 7th century illiterate whose book is the direct opposite of how God chose to reveal the way of salvation over a period of 1600 years by means of the inspired accounts of numerous prophets and legions of witnesses in the Holy Bible. Surah 19:71 must be extremely disturbing to Muslims, who can only look forward to a destiny in Hell immediately upon their death.

If Christians are made superior until the Day of Resurrection, as the Qur'an itself testifies, where do you think will be their final destination? Muslims should seriously consider whom they want to follow, the one who is in Hell or the one who is raised up to be with God in Heaven? And they must also consider whom they want to worship – Allah who promises "Hell-fire" or Jehovah who promises "Eternal life"? Allah, Muhammad, Islam and the Qur'an make it clear that "Hell-fire" is a certainty for all Muslims. However, this does not have to be your destiny. You can choose to follow the true God who will show you the way to "Everlasting life."

John 3:16: "For God loved the world so much that he gave his only-begotten Son, in order that everyone exercising faith in him might not be destroyed but have everlasting life*."*

John 17:3: "This means everlasting life, their taking in knowledge of you, the only true God, and of the one whom you sent forth, Jesus Christ."

Psalms 37:29: The righteous themselves will possess the earth, And they will reside forever upon it.

Muhammad plagiarized the above Psalms from the Holy Bible and quoted it partially in the Qur'an without understanding the full implication of this verse:

Surah 21:105: "Before this We wrote in the Psalms, after the Message given to Moses: My servants the righteous shall inherit the earth." (Yusuf Ali)

Muslims should turn to Jesus Christ who said:

> "I am the resurrection and the life. He that exercises faith in me, even though he dies, will come to life."
> – John 11:25

And Jesus Christ will lead you to the only true God whose name is Jehovah:

> Psalms 83:18: "May people know that you, whose name is Jehovah, You alone are the Most High over all the earth."

THE EVIL PROPHET OF ALLAH

In addition to the evil teachings of Allah, Islamic records show that the Prophet of Allah was a violent immoral criminal. He was a thief, a liar, an assassin, a mass murderer, a terrorist, a warmonger, and an unrestrained sexual pervert who engaged in pedophilia, incest, and rape. He authorized deception, assassinations, torture, slavery, and genocide. The very sources of Islam admit Muhammad committed these atrocities. As such, Muhammad stands condemned.

For the benefit of our readers, we will narrate just one of the evil acts of Muhammad. This will at least help you to understand the utter evil nature of this man. We will only use Islamic sources to expose the Prophet of Islam.

THE MURDER OF A PREGNANT MOTHER

Sunan Abu-Dawud Book 38, Hadith Number 4348:

> Narrated Abdullah Ibn Abbas: A blind man had a slave-mother who used to abuse the Prophet and disparage him. He forbade her but she did not stop. He rebuked her but she did not give up her habit. One night she began to slander the Prophet and abuse him. So he took a dagger, placed it on her belly, pressed it, and killed her. A child who came between her legs was smeared with the blood that was there. When the morning came, the Prophet was informed about it. He assembled the people and said: I adjure by Allah the man who has done this action and I adjure him by my right to him that he should stand up.
> Jumping over the necks of the people and trembling the man stood up. He sat before the Prophet and said: Apostle of Allah! I am her master; she used to abuse you and disparage you. I forbade her, but she did not stop, and I rebuked her, but she did not abandon her habit. I have two sons like pearls from her, and she was my companion. Last night she began to abuse and disparage you. So I took a dagger, put it on her belly and pressed it till I killed her. Thereupon the Prophet said: Oh be witness, no retaliation is payable for her blood.

What cruelty! What injustice! Muhammad unjustly approved the killing of a pregnant mother and her unborn child just because the murderer said that she insulted him. What an evil man. Will a true prophet of God condone the cold-blooded murder of a mother and her child? Does not the murder of an innocent child matter to him? A double murder has been committed and Muhammad did not even investigate to ascertain whether this murderer was lying to escape punishment. Muhammad's verdict was based solely on the murderer's word. Muhammad set an evil precedent. Muslims will now kill anyone who insulted their Prophet. And Muslims did just that. And Muhammad gave the same verdict.

Sunan Abu-Dawud Book 38, Hadith Number 4349:

> Narrated Ali ibn AbuTalib: A Jewess used to abuse the Prophet (pbuh) and disparage him. A man strangled her till she died. The Apostle of Allah (pbuh) declared that no recompense was payable for her blood.

Muhammad left a legacy of evil for Muslims to follow. The abusive "Blasphemy Law" in Islam is a direct result of Muhammad's evil verdict. Today, Muslims easily exploit this law to silence all those who criticize him or Islam.

Now compare how Jesus responded under an even more serious act of crime that was committed against him. See how he reacted towards those who came to arrest him, which resulted in his death by execution. Now compare the malicious hatred of Muhammad with the contrasting quality of outstanding love displayed by Jesus. When a great crowd with swords and clubs from the chief priests came to arrest Jesus, one of his disciples tried to defend him. Follow now this account in the Bible:

> Matthew 26:51: With that, one of the companions of Jesus drew out his sword and struck the slave of the high priest and took off his ear.

How did Jesus react?

> Matthew 26:52-53: *Then Jesus said to him: "*Return your sword to its place, for all those who take the sword will die by the sword.

Jesus did not condone the violent action of his disciple just because it was done to protect him. In fact, he rebuked the disciple for his rash action. More than that, he lovingly healed the injured ear of the very man who came along with those who wanted to arrest him. Such is the love of Jesus Christ. Think, how strongly Jesus would have reacted, if his disciple had instead killed that man. If Jesus did not even approve the injuring of that man, would he condone the murdering of him? Never!

Luke 22:51: "And he touched the man's ear and healed him."

These are the hallmarks of a true Prophet of God. Christians are truly blessed for having Jesus Christ as their Prophet and Leader. One who by his very example taught them the surpassing way of love.

What does all this tell us about Allah? Who do you think will sanction such wicked acts – God or Satan? Muhammad perfectly reflected the qualities of Allah and they are satanic in nature. From the Islamic historical record of Muhammad's evil deeds, we can know who Allah really is. The true God cannot have as his prophet a criminal receiving his divine inspiration. Otherwise God is equally guilty in all the crimes committed by his prophet and therefore is no longer the God of infinite wisdom, justice and love. To sum up, Allah is Satan – according to Islam.

Allah started the Cult of Pedophilia, murder and theft. Allah is a self-admitted deceiver. Muhammad is a confirmed criminal. And Islam is a lie. Muslims, you have a choice to make. Your eternal salvation depends on it.

Muhammad reflected the qualities of Allah, otherwise known as Satan. In contrast, Jesus Christ reflected the outstanding qualities of his heavenly Father. He exhibited the fruitage of the Holy Spirit of God.

> Galatians 5:22-23: "But the fruit of the Spirit is Love, Joy, Peace, Patience, Kindness, Goodness, Faithfulness, Gentleness and Self-control.

Yes! Allah is Satan. And we are not the ones telling it. As we can see, Allah's instinctive response to the woman clearly proves that he is Satan. Since Allah himself owns up that he is none other than Satan, Muslims truly have a valid reason to reject Islam. Muslims, who still turn to Allah in worship, should seriously consider this admission of Allah in the Qur'an. With such abundant evidences incriminating Allah, Muslims should not allow themselves to be deceived any longer. Allah simply cannot be the true God.

Dear Muslims, it is time for you to wake-up and critically analyze as to whom you are rendering your devotion to. Your eternal salvation depends upon the your taking the first vital step to search for the true Creator.

> Isaiah 40:28: "Have you not come to know or have you not heard? Jehovah*, the Creator of the extremities of the earth, is a God to time indefinite.*

How to start conversation with Muslims

Sura Al 'Imraan 3:42-55
(Translation: M. Pickthall)

42 And when the angels said: "O Maryam! Truly Allah has chosen you, made you pure, and preferred you above the women of creation.

43 O Maryam! Be obedient to your Lord, prostrate yourself, and bow with those who bow."

44 This is of the tidings of things hidden. We reveal it unto you (Mohammed). You were not present with them when they cast lots to know which of them should be the guardian of Maryam, nor were you present with them when they quarreled.

45 (And remember) when the angels said: "O Maryam! Truly Allah gives you glad tidings of a word from Him, whose name is the Masiih, 'Isa Al Masiih, son of Maryam, illustrious in this world and the Hereafter, and he will be one of those brought near (unto Allah).

46 He will speak unto mankind in his cradle and in manhood, and he is of the righteous."

47 She said: "My Lord! How shall I have a child when no man has touched me?" He said: "So it will be. Allah creates what He will. If He decrees a thing, He says unto it only: 'Be!' and it is."

48 And He (Allah) will teach him the Scripture and wisdom, and the Tawraat (Torah) and the Injiil (Gospels).

49 And will make him a messenger to the Children of Israel, saying: "Lo, I come unto you with a sign from your Lord. Lo, I fashion for you out of clay the likeness of a bird, and I breathe into it, and it becomes a bird by Allah’s leave. I heal him who was born blind and the leper, and I raise the dead by Allah’s leave. And I announce unto you what you eat and what you store up in your houses. Surely herein is a sign for you, if you are to be believers.

50 And I come confirming that which was before me of the Tawraat, to make lawful to you some of that which was forbidden unto you. And I have come unto you with a sign from your Lord. So keep your duty to Allah and obey me.

51 Truly, Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so worship Him. That is the straight path."

52 But when ‘Isa knew of their disbelief, he said: "Who will be my helpers in the cause of Allah?" The disciples said: "We will be Allah’s helpers. We believe in Allah and bear witness that we have surrendered unto Him (Arabic: 'we are Muslims' – meaning 'those who submit').

53 Our Lord! We believe in that which You have revealed and we follow Him (‘Isa) whom You have sent; so write us down among those who witness to the truth."

54 And they (the disbelievers) schemed, and Allah schemed against them; and Allah is the best of schemers.

55 And remember when Allah said: "O ‘Isa, I am gathering you and causing you to ascend unto Me, and am clearing you of those who disbelieve. I am setting those who follow you above those who disbelieve until the Day of Resurrection. Then unto Me, you all will return, and I shall judge between you in that which you used to differ."

59 Truly, the likeness of ‘Isa with Allah is as the likeness of Adam. He created him of dust, then He said to him: "Be!" and he is.

■'Isa's Attributes as Presented in Sura Al 'Imraan

'Isa is Holy (Sura 3:42-47)

- He is the word of Allah. (3:45)
- He is "Ruhullah" (Spirit of God). (21:91)
- He is Al Masiih (The Messiah). (3:45)
- He is righteous. (3:46)
- He is virgin-born. (3:47)

'Isa Has Power Over Death (Sura 3:48-54)

- He gave sight to the blind. (3:49)
- He healed lepers. (3:49)
- He raised the dead to life again. (3:49)
- Your duty to Allah is to obey 'Isa. (3:50)
- To know what 'Isa told us to do, you must read the Injiil. (3:48)
- Do you know of any other prophet as powerful as 'Isa?

'Isa Knows the Way to Heaven (Sura 3:55)

- Those who believe in 'Isa are set above those who disbelieve.
- 'Isa is in paradise and knows the way.

I want to go to paradise when I die. You want to go to paradise when you die. 'Isa is in paradise and knows the way to paradise. Out of all the prophets, which one is best able to help us get to paradise?

■Read Sura 3:42-47. What it says about 'Isa?

'ISA IS HOLY

■Qur'an, Sura 3 Al 'Imraan

- And when the angels said: O Maryam! Truly, Allah has Maryam chosen by Allah to bear chosen you and made you pure 'Isa into the world and has preferred you above all the women of creation.
- "O Maryam! Be obedient to your Lord and prostrate yourself and bow down with those who bow down."
- This is of the tidings of things hidden. We reveal it unto you (O Mohammed). You were not present with them when they cast lots to know which of them should be the guardian of Maryam, nor were you present with them when they quarreled.
- Remember when the angels said: O Maryam! Truly, Allah gives 'Isa is the Word of God you glad tidings of a Word from 'Isa is the Masiih which Him, whose name will be Masiih, means "chosen one" 'Isa *(*Messiah, Jesus), the son of Maryam, held in honor in this world and the Hereafter, and will be one of those who are near to Allah."

- "He will speak unto mankind in the cradle and in his manhood and 'Isa is righteous he is of the righteous.
- She said, "O My Lord, how can I have a child when no man 'Isa born of a virgin has touched me?" He said, "So (it will be) for Allah creates what He will. If He decrees a thing, He says unto it only: Be! And it is."

Read 3:45 'Isa is "a word from Allah" and 'Isa is the "Masiih."

Think: "What does it mean that 'Isa is a word from Allah?"

This verse says that 'Isa is "a word from Allah." Notice that it does not say that he will only speak the words of Allah, but that He himself is a word from Allah. With all of the other prophets, Allah told them what to say and they said it. But we see that 'Isa is very different. He himself is called a "word" from Allah. This "word" had a body and a name – His name was Masiih, 'Isa (Messiah, Jesus). Unlike any other prophet 'Isa was a word from Allah.

Think: "Isn't 'Isa called the 'Ruhullah"?

Most Muslims will know that this is a common name for 'Isa. It means "spirit of Allah." You can show them why from the Qur'an! The Qur'an tells us in Sura Prophets (Nobis) 21:91: We (Allah) breathed into her of our Spirit and made her (Mary) and her son a token (sign) for all peoples.

The Qur'an also teaches that 'Isa is the "Ruhullah" (ruh-hoo-lah) which means 'Isa is the Spirit of Allah. So Allah spoke and His word became flesh in the form of a baby. Therefore, 'Isa was a word from Allah. Allah breathed on Maryam by His Spirit and she conceived a child who would be a sign for all people. Not just Israel, but all people! Therefore, 'Isa is called the Spirit of Allah or the "Ruhullah."

Think: "'Isa is called 'Masiih.' What does that mean?"

I have heard Muslims say, "Messiah", "the one who brings us from dark to light", "the one who heals", "the one who releases," etc. All of these lift up 'Isa. But point out that in all the translations of the Qur'an the word "Masiih" is translated "messiah." Focus on 'Isa being the Messiah. Allah had promised His people a deliverer and savior – a "Messiah." 'Isa was that promised savior of Allah's people. No other prophet is called Masiih. It is a very special and unique title! According to verse 45, 'Isa will not only be held in honor in this world but also in the one to come.

"In ayya (verse) 46, 'Isa is called 'righteous.' Did 'Isa ever sin?"

The answer will always be, “No, ‘Isa never sinned.” Quite often, however, someone will say, “But none of the prophets ever sinned.”

This idea that none of the prophets sinned is a common belief among Muslims, even though the Qur’an does not teach this. In fact, we see in the Qur’an that Adam disobeyed Allah (120:121), that several of the prophets asked forgiveness for their sins (Nuh/Noah – 71:25-28, Musa/Moses 28:15-16, Dawuud/David – 38:24-25, and Solomon – 38:30-35) and that Mohammed himself needed forgiveness of his sins that were past and that were to come (48:2). But still, Muslims are taught that there were 124,000 prophets and that none of them sinned. They may admit that the prophets “made mistakes” but not that they sinned.

“What is the difference between a mistake and a sin?” Whether you planned to or not, disobeying Allah is still sin. However, it is probably more fruitful at this point to simply focus not just on the fact that ‘Isa never sinned, but upon how righteous he was. For instance, point out that ‘Isa never killed anyone; ‘Isa never married; ‘Isa was poor; he went about healing people and doing only good. When ‘Isa fasted, he fasted for forty days and forty nights. ‘Isa taught us to love even our enemies.

3:47 ‘Isa was born of a virgin, without an earthly father.

“What does ayya 47 say about ‘Isa?”

Think about why ‘Isa was born of a virgin. Muslims believe there were 124,000 prophets, why he only born of virgin?

Billions of people have been born on this earth including 124,000 prophets, yet, only ‘Isa was born of a virgin, without an earthly father! Why was only ‘Isa born this way?”

Muslim may say, “This was just Allah’s special sign for ‘Isa to confirm that he was a prophet.”

why was only ‘Isa born of a virgin, without an earthly father?” Isa is so unique among all the nabi (prophets).

“Do you know of any other prophet that did not have an earthly father?”

The answer, of course, is Adam. The reason why Adam had to come into existence without an earthly father is rather obvious. Allah formed Adam from dust and breathed life into him. In the Qur’an in Al ‘Imraan 3:59 it is stated that ‘Isa is like Adam. This is true, because neither of these prophets had an earthly father.

Allah placed Adam and Hawwa (Eve) in the Garden. It was a perfect place. God forbid them to do only one thing – to eat of the fruit of one tree. Adam walked and talked with God in the Garden. Adam could live and talk with Allah because he did not have any sin. At first, Adam was righteous and holy, but then Adam disobeyed Allah.

The two of them (Adam and Hawwa) ate thereof, so that their shame became apparent unto them, they began to hide by heaping on themselves some of the leaves of the Garden. And Adam disobeyed his Lord and so went astray. - Sura Ta Ha 20:121

He and all of his descendants became unholy and could no longer live together with the holy Allah. Adam's disobedience had brought judgment on all of his descendents. None could go back into the Garden with Allah. But Adam's sin had also corrupted all of his descendents.

Since Islam is a "works-based" religion, it is good to note that Adam and Hawwa were banned from the Garden and from the presence of Allah because of one single sin. Explain what this means: that anyone who has committed only one sin has become a sinner and cannot go to heaven and live in the presence of Allah. Trying to do enough good works to cover each and every sin committed is an impossible task. Adam committed one sin and was cast out of Allah's presence without any hope of returning there.

From that moment on, Adam's race became bent toward doing what is wrong; bent away from obedience to Allah. We all as Adam's descendants have this sin nature (or this heart) that is bent away from what is right and holy. This is obvious! We do not have to teach our children to do wrong. We all have a natural pull to that which is wrong. In fact we must work very hard to try to teach our children to do right.

Now here is the point. Since we are all descendants of Adam, we have all inherited his sinful nature. But in 'Isa that blood line of Adam was cut! 'Isa was not of the blood line of Adam, for he had no earthly father. 'Isa was very different from all the other prophets. In fact, 'Isa was very different from all people who have ever been born!

We are all like Adam because we come from Adam. We come from his bloodline. Generation after generation, we all are like Adam, because we come from Adam; until we get to 'Isa. Then the line was cut! 'Isa did not come from Adam. Allah spoke and 'Isa was conceived; Allah breathed of His Spirit and 'Isa was conceived. 'Isa came from Allah!

Transition Question: "Do you know of any other prophet who is as holy as 'Isa?

2. ‘ISA HAS POWER OVER DEATH

Now read Sura 3:48-54.

Qur’an, Sura 3 Al ‘Imraan

48 And He (Allah) will teach him (‘Isa) the Scripture, and the ‘Isa taught the Truth of God wisdom, and the Tawraat (Torah) which we have in the Bible and the Injiil (Gospels).

49 And will make him a messenger unto the children of Israel saying: Lo! I come to you with a sign from the Lord. Lo! I design for you out of clay the likeness of a bird and breathe into it, and it is a bird, by Allah’s will; I heal him who is born blind [‘Isa heals the blind] and the leper [‘Isa heals the leper] and I raise the dead [‘Isa raises the dead], by Allah’s will. And I announce unto you what you eat and what you store up in your houses. Surely herein truly is a sign for you, if you are to be believers.

50 And I come confirming that which was before me of Tawraat (Torah/Old Testament) and to make ‘Isa came with miraculous lawful some of that which was proofs from God forbidden to you. I come unto you with a sign from your Lord, so keep your duty to Allah and obey me. [Duty to Allah is to obey ‘Isa!]

51 Truly, Allah is my Lord and your Lord, so worship Him. This is the straight path.

52 But when ‘Isa came to know of their disbelief, he said, “Who will be my helpers in the cause of Allah? The disciples said: We will be Allah’s helpers. We believe Allah and bear you witness that we have surrendered. [In Arabic the disciples are literally called “muslims.” They were muslims 600 years before Mohammed was born! Literally, it means “ones who are submitted.”]

53 Our, Lord! We believe in that which you have revealed and we follow him (‘Isa) whom you have sent so write us down among those who bear witness to the truth.

54 And they (the disbelievers) schemed (plotted), and Allah schemed against them; and Allah is the best of schemers…

What to say about these verses:

Focus on verse 49 in this section. This verse tells us about the power of ‘Isa.

“In ayya (verse) 49, what did ‘Isa do?”

Allah demonstrated His power through ‘Isa. The Qur’an says that the lepers were healed and those born blind received their sight. ‘Isa even raised the dead to life again!

“What is our greatest enemy?” [Answer: death!]

‘Isa has power over our greatest enemy. No one overcomes death – but ‘Isa did!

Muslims will agree that ‘Isa did these things, but he may object that it was only by Allah’s will. Of course, everything comes from Allah and is by His will. But ‘Isa did not ask Allah to do these things, but he himself did them. He touched the leper and the blind man and they were healed! ‘Isa Himself commanded the dead to rise and they came to live at his command!

“In ayya 50, what does ‘Isa tell us to do?”

‘Isa said that in order to do our “duty to Allah” (or “to fear Allah” depending on the translation), we must obey Him (‘Isa).

Ask: “In the Qur’an, ‘Isa is mentioned many times, but the Qur’an does not tell us what ‘Isa commanded us to do. In the Injiil [see Al ‘Imraan 3:48] we can read the commands of ‘Isa. The Qur’an says it is your duty to Allah to obey ‘Isa. How can you obey him if you do not know what He told you to do?”

Suppose I asked you to do something for me, but I did not tell you what it was that I wanted you to do. Would you do it?” Of course he must say no. He can’t do what you asked because he does not know what it is! In the same way, he cannot do his duty to Allah and obey ‘Isa because he does not know what ‘Isa has told him to do!

read the Injiil (Gospel/New Testament) so that you can find out what ‘Isa told you to do.

Point out that in 3:52-53, the disciples of ‘Isa are called “Muslims.” Remember that “muslim” means “one who is submitted (to God).”

Transition Question: “Do you know of any other prophet who was as powerful as ‘Isa?

3. ‘ISA KNOWS THE WAY TO HEAVEN

Qur’an, Sura 3 Al ‘Imraan

55 And remember when Allah said: O ‘Isa)! I am gathering you (‘Isa is raised to be with Allah) and causing you to ascend to Me (and am cleansing you of those who disbelieve and) am setting those who follow you

(Followers of ‘Isa) set above those who disbelieve till the those who don’t believe in Him Day of Resurrection. Then you will return to Me and I shall judge between you as to that wherein you used to differ.

What to say about this ayya:

This verse says about those who follow ‘Isa. You showed your Muslim friend in 3:50 that the Qur’an says he should obey ‘Isa. Here the Qur’an tells him that if he obeys and follows ‘Isa he will be set above those who disbelieve, not until Mohammed comes, but all the way until the Day of Resurrection! Second, we have seen from the Qur’an, in Sura 21:91, that ‘Isa is a sign for all people, including Muslims. And here we see that those who follow ‘Isa will be set above those who disbelieve, even after the days of Mohammed. Now, you need to ask a very important question.

According to ayya 55, where is ‘Isa right now?

There are only two possible answers. First, he might say, “‘Isa is with Allah.” Then you can ask, “Where is Allah?” Second, he can say, “‘Isa is in paradise.” Either way he must admit that the Qur’an says that ‘Isa is in paradise with Allah. At this point you will find this example helpful:

Suppose I wanted to get from here to the capital city. Who should I choose to help me? Should I choose someone who has never been there or someone who knows the way and lives there now?

According to the Qur’an, ‘Isa came from paradise and is in paradise today. Therefore ‘Isa knows the way and can help us get there.

CLOSING QUESTION: “I want to go to paradise; you want to go to paradise. Isa is in paradise and knows the way to paradise. Of all the prophets, which one is best able to help us get to paradise?”

Know the “MVQ” (Most Valuable Question). Throughout this discussion and especially when you ask if there is another prophet as powerful as ‘Isa, you may hear some very interesting stories or ideas that seem to contradict what you are saying. They may begin to tell you about how this prophet did this or another prophet did that. Very few of these stories will actually be in the Qur’an. Most of them come from what are called the Hadith. As we saw earlier, Muslims say that the Qur’an came to Mohammed by direct revelation through the angel Gabriel (Jabreel), whereas the Hadith are the supposed sayings and deeds of Mohammed that were passed down orally and finally compiled over 250 years after Mohammed died. To Muslims, they shed light on the Qur'an and are like a commentary on the Qur'an.

"You believe that the Qur'an is the complete and final word of Allah, don't you? So, let's focus on what the Qur'an says."

Mohammed is who he said he was in the Qur'an. Let's look at Sura Ahqaaf (The Wind Curved Sand Hills) 46:9 to see what Mohammed said about himself."

Sura 46:9 "I am no new thing among the messengers; nor do I know what will be done with me or with you, I do but follow that which is inspired in me and I am only a plain warner."

Take the time to point out the three parts to this verse:

1. He is not any different from the messengers before him. He is not the greatest.

2. He does not know what will happen to himself or his followers.

3. He is only a person who warns others; a "warner." Then, contrast what Mohammed says with what 'Isa says:

He who believes in Me ('Isa) has everlasting life. John 6:47

I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go to prepare a place for you I will come again and receive you unto Myself that where I am there you may be also. I am the way …. No one comes to the Father except through Me. John 14:2-3, 6

'Isa knows where He is going and He knows where His followers are going. They are going to paradise to be with 'Isa! And He told His followers exactly how to get there – through faith in Him!

In the Qur'an the Bible is called "the "Scripture before" (i.e., before the Qur'an) and the Jews are called the "People of the Scripture." First look at Sura Yunnis (Jonah) 10:94:

10:94: And if you (Mohammed) are in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto you, then question those who read the Scripture before you. Verily the Truth from your Lord has come unto you. So be not of the waverers.

Allah tells Mohammed, that if he had doubts, he should question "those who read the Scripture (that was) before you," because the Truth is found in those Scriptures. He urges Mohammed not to be among the waverers.

At this point Muslims will usually bring up the objection that those Scriptures have been changed or corrupted. The Qur'an does not say this. It only says that the Jews twisted the meaning of these Scriptures, not that they actually changed the Scriptures themselves. In fact the Qur'an actually affirms the truth of all the Scriptures! Point out Sura An-'aam (Cattle) 6:115.

6:115: Perfected is the Word of the Lord in truth and justice. There is nothing that can change His words. He is the Hearer, the Knower.

So, Allah assured Mohammed that the Scripture (prior to the Qur'an) was given by Him. Allah said it is perfect and no one can change it.

Tawraat and Injiil that you are sharing with your friend have been translated from their original languages and from the oldest manuscripts, which were in existence long before Mohammed was born. Mohammed received the "before Scriptures", he was satisfied that they were uncorrupted.

In the Qur'an there are only a few details about the prophets like Adam, Noah (Nuh), Abraham (Ibrihim), Moses (Musa), David (Dawuud), but the Tawraat tells us much more about their lives and what they taught us. In the Qur'an there are only a few ayyaat (verses) about 'Isa, but in the Injiil we are told about all that he did and taught and commanded us to do. As you go to the Tawraat, Zabuur, and Injiil you can hear about the wonderful things that Allah has done and taught us!"

Sura Nisaaa' (Women) 4:136:

4:136: O you who believe! Believe in Allah and His messenger and the Scripture which He has revealed unto His messenger, and the Scripture which He revealed aforetime. Whosoever disbelieves in Allah and His angels and His Scriptures and His messengers and the Last day, he verily has wandered far astray.

According to the Qur'an, if he does not believe the "Scripture which He (Allah) revealed aforetime" that he has wandered far from Allah.

Sura Maa-'idah (the Table Spread) 5:65-66:

where the Qur'an says that the Tawraat and the Injiil are the "before Scriptures,"? read:

Sura 5:65-66: If only the People of the Scripture (the Jews – see verse 64) would believe and ward off evil, we would remit their sins from them and surely We would bring them into Gardens of Delight. If they had observed the Tawraat (Torah) and the Injiil (Gospel) and that which was revealed unto them by their Lord, then they would have been nourished from above them and from beneath their feet.

Then beginning with Musa (Moses) and all the Nabiyyiin (Prophets), He (‘Isa) interpreted for them the things concerning Himself in all the Scriptures. Luke 24:27

“How did ‘Isa bring these two disciples to saving faith in Himself?”

"This is what is written:

the Masiih would suffer and rise from the dead the third day, and repentance for forgiveness of sins would be proclaimed in His name to all the nations, beginning at Jerusalem. Luke 24:45-47

“What else did ‘Isa do for the two disciples?”

…since the weapons of our warfare are not fleshly, but are powerful through Allah for the demolition of strongholds. We demolish arguments and every high-minded thing that is raised up against the knowledge of Allah, taking every thought captive to the obedience of ‘Isa. And we are ready to punish any disobedience, once your obedience is complete. 2 Corinthians 10:4-6

The two spiritual weapons we have are the Word of Allah (which is called the “sword of the spirit” in Ephesians 6:17) and prayer.

1. Adam and Hawwa (Eve) Genesis 2:1-3:24

- Adam was in perfect relationship with Allah (God) in the Garden. He saw Allah, talked with Allah and knew what Allah was like.

- Allah commanded Adam not to eat of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. Allah told him that in the day that he ate from it he would die.

- Shaytaan (Satan) tempted Hawwa (Eve) and she ate of the forbidden fruit and she offered it to Adam and he ate of it also. Immediately they felt shame, tried to cover their nakedness and hid from Allah.

- That day, Adam and Hawwa did not die physically. However, that day, they were cast out of the Garden and separated from Allah. In Romans 3:23, the Bible tells us that the penalty of sin is death. Death means separation from Allah who is our life. Physical death entered the world because of sin, but the death Adam and Hawwa experienced that day was separation from Allah. The primary penalty of sin is that it separates a person from Allah.

⅋ Adam and Hawwa's attempt to cover their shame was useless. But Allah killed an animal and covered them in animal skin. In order for their shame to be covered, a blood sacrifice was required.

Summary: Sin produces death. Death means separation from Allah who is our life. A blood sacrifice was necessary as a covering for sin and its shame.

2. Cain and Abel Genesis 4:1-16

⅋ Cain and Abel brought offerings/sacrifices before the Lord. Cain was a farmer so he brought produce from his fields. Abel was a shepherd so he brought an animal sacrifice.

⅋ Allah was pleased with Abel's sacrifice which was a blood sacrifice. He was not pleased with Cain's bloodless offering. Allah showed that He required a blood sacrifice.

⅋ Rather than learn from this experience what kind of offering Allah required, Cain became jealous and killed his brother.

⅋ Cain's sin and rebellion brought punishment and caused him to be driven even further from the presence of the Lord.

Summary: The blood sacrifice that Abel brought established the requirement of a blood sacrifice until the coming of 'Isa (see Hebrews 12:24). Sin brings death which is separation from Allah.

3. Nuh (Noah) Genesis chapters 6-8

⅋ Once man was separated from the presence of Allah, shaytaan began to flood the earth with false ideas about who Allah is and what He requires of man. (see John 8:44 and Revelation 12:9) The wickedness of man became so great that Allah decided to destroy mankind from off the earth.

⅋ Allah chose to spare Nuh (Noah) and his family because Nuh was a just man.

⅋ Allah told Nuh to build an ark (a huge box that would float) because He was going to destroy the earth by a flood.

⅋ Nuh obeyed Allah and built the ark.

⅋ When Allah flooded the earth, Nuh and his family were lifted by the ark above the watery judgment of Allah against wicked and unbelieving mankind.

Summary: Sin brings judgment and death. Those who believe Allah and apply his appointed means of deliverance will be saved from Allah's judgment upon sin.

4. Ibrihim (Abraham) Genesis chapters 12-25

- To counter the false ideas about Allah that shaytaan (Satan) had flooded the world with, Allah chose to raise up a people through whom He would reveal what He is like and what He requires of man.

- Allah chose Ibrihim as the father of His people.

- Allah told Ibrihim that he would give him multitudes of physical descendants and that, through his descendants, Allah would bless all the families of the earth. So Ibrihim believed Allah and followed Him to the land of Canaan.

- Ibrihim and his wife Sarah had gotten very old (physically too old to have a child) and they still had no child through whom Allah could give Ibrihim many descendants. But one night, Allah took Ibrihim outside and showed him the stars in the sky and told him that the number of his descendants would be like the stars. Ibrihim believed Allah and it was counted unto him for righteousness.

- When Ibrihim was 100 years old, Allah gave him a son named Isaac. This was the son that Allah had promised.

- Later, Allah commanded Ibrihim to go and offer Isaac as a sacrifice to Allah. Ibrihim obeyed Allah, but before he could put the knife to Isaac the Angel of the Lord stopped him. Instead of Isaac, Allah provided a ram for the substitute sacrifice.

Summary: Allah wants us to know what He is like and what He requires of us. In Ibrihim, we see that right standing before Allah requires faith. (see Romans 4:1-5) Also, we see that Allah would not allow Ibrihim to offer his son as a sacrifice. Allah provided a substitute. But one day Allah would offer His Son Who would be the substitute for all people of faith. (see John 3:16)

5. Musa (Moses) Exodus chapters 12-20

- Allah’s people went and settled in Egypt. They were treated kindly there at first, but later they were made to be slaves and were treated harshly.

- Allah raised up Musa (Moses) to deliver His people from their bondage in Egypt.

- At Musa’s command, nine terrible plagues came on Egypt, but Fir'awn (Pharaoh, king of Egypt) would not let Allah’s people go.

⅋ Allah decided to send one final plague on Egypt – the first born of every creature was to die. Allah told his people that they were to sacrifice a lamb and splatter its blood on the doorposts of their houses. Allah would pass over the houses of those who believed Him and applied the lamb's blood; the firstborn there would not die, but live.

⅋ Through this last plague Allah delivered His people and caused them to pass from Egypt, through the Red Sea and into the wilderness.

⅋ Allah took His people to Mount Sinai and there he gave them His Law. As we saw, Satan had filled the minds of men with false ideas about what Allah is like and what He requires of people. The purpose of His Law was to reveal His righteousness and what He required of mankind.

⅋ Immediately after Allah gave Musa His commandments, He told Musa to build an altar so that when the people sinned they might bring a blood sacrifice as an offering for sin.

⅋ For the next 1,500 years, until 'Isa came, every day the people of Israel saw the penalty of sin – death!

⅋ Those who would be in right standing before Allah had to bring the offering that Allah required for their sin.

Summary: In the very fabric of the existence of His people Israel, Allah wove the picture of the blood sacrifice. The Passover feast that celebrated their deliverance from bondage reminded them of the lamb that died and became the substitute for them. The constant sacrifices for sin reminded them of the penalty of sin, which was death. The sacrificial animals died in their place. The one who would be in right standing before Allah and have his sins forgiven had to believe Allah and offer the proper sacrifice for his sins.

6. Dawuud (David) 1 Samuel 16-17 and 2 Samuel 5-7

⅋ Allah chose Dawuud to be king of His people Israel, because Dawuud was a man after Allah's own heart.

⅋ Allah enabled Dawuud to defeat Goliath and to do many other mighty feats to lift Dawuud up in the eyes of the people.

⅋ Allah told Dawuud that his throne (rule, authority) would be an everlasting throne. (2 Samuel 7:12-13 and Psalms 89:3-4)

Summary: The Messiah or Deliverer that was to come to Allah's people would be a descendant of Dawuud. He would be the King of kings and the Lord of lords, as well as a Savior and Deliverer.

7. ‘Isa (Jesus) Matthew, Mark, Luke and John

⅋ John the Baptist came to Allah’s people telling them the Masiih (Messiah) that Allah had promised was coming and the Kingdom of Allah was at hand.

⅋ When ‘Isa came to John to be baptized, John looked at Him and said, “Behold the Lamb of Allah that takes away the sin of the world”. Remember that Allah’s people had a picture burned in their minds which is this: sin produces death, which is separation from Allah - Allah provides a substitute which is a blood sacrifice - Those who believe Allah and offer the proper offering are restored to right standing before Allah. So when John said the “Lamb of Allah” they knew he meant a sacrifice. But this one, John proclaimed could take away the sin of the whole world!

⅋ ‘Isa taught the people the truth of Allah. In Matthew chapter five he taught us that sin is not just our outward actions, but also the thoughts and intents of our hearts. As Allah told Samuel, the Lord looks at the heart.

⅋ ‘Isa lived a sinless life (Hebrews 4:15). Therefore, He did not owe the penalty of sin (Romans 6:23) that each descendant of Adam owes.

⅋ ‘Isa said that He came to pay the penalty of sin. He said, “For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life —a ransom for many.” Mark 10:45

⅋ When ‘Isa died on the cross, he was not dying to pay for His sin, but for our sin. Right before he died, he said, “It is finished.” John 19:30 In the original language of the New Testament, this phrase which is translated “it is finished” was one word. It was written on a bill when the final payment was made. It meant literally “paid in full.” ‘Isa was saying that as He died our sin debt was paid in full.

⅋ Allah confirmed that ‘Isa had indeed paid our penalty for sin by raising Him from the dead. (Romans 1:4 and Acts 17:31)

Summary: ‘Isa came to be the sacrifice for our sins. ‘Isa told us that He was going to die for our sins and then He died for us. Allah confirmed that He had accepted the sacrifice of ‘Isa for the penalty of sin by raising Him from the dead. After He was raised from the dead ‘Isa appeared to His disciples over a period of forty days. Then he ascended back to heaven to sit at the right hand of the Father. Before He ascended, he told His disciples to go and preach the Gospel (“good news” see also 1 Corinthians 15:1-4) to all people.

‘Isa as Savior.

Then He (‘Isa) said to them, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved, but whoever does not believe will be condemned. Mark 16:15-16

For Allah loved the world in this way: He gave His One and Only Son, so that everyone who believes in Him will not perish but have eternal life. John 3:16

If you confess with your mouth, "’Isa is Lord," and believe in your heart that Allah raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. Romans 10:9

Point 1: Ibrihim Offered a Qurbaan.

- Do you know the story of Hazrat2 Ibrihim when he was told to do qurbaan with his son? What did Hazrat Ibrihim do?

Answer: Ibrihim took his son to offer as a qurbaan.

- What did Allah do at the last minute?

Answer: He sent an angel to stop the qurbaan

- What test was Allah giving to Ibrihim?

Answer: To see how much Ibrihim loved Allah.

- As Ibrihim and his son walked up the mountain, what did his son ask Ibrihim?

Answer: “The fire and the wood are here, but where is the lamb for the burnt offering?” Genesis 22:7

- What did Hazrat Ibrihim say in return to his son

Answer: “Ibrihim (Abraham) answered, ‘Allah (God) Himself will provide the lamb for the burnt offering, my son.’ Then the two of them walked on together.” Genesis 22:8

Point 2: The Meaning of Qurbaan

“What is the meaning behind the practice of qurbaan?”

I have studied the Tawraat and Injiil and have come to understand what true qurbaan is and how it should be done.

- The qurbaan animal must be pure and have no blemishes. The animal represents innocence. It cannot be purchased with corrupt money or from the black market.

- The act of qurbaan is a picture of one who is innocent taking the punishment of one who is guilty. Hazrut Dawuud (David) said that the best qurbaan is one that takes place on the inside of a person. - Psalms 51:16-

17. Feeling sorry for your sin is the best qurbaan.

- The act of qurbaan is a symbol of the punishment we deserve for our sins.

- Followers of ‘Isa stopped the practice of sacrificing animals.

Does this sound to you like the correct qurbaan prayer?

2 Hazrat = a term of honor like “sir”

When we lay our hands on the animal, we should say, “Allah, I know that I am a sinner and that the required punishment is my death. Take the blood of this animal as a substitute for my punishment and forgive me and my family’s sins.”

Point 3: Isa – Qurbaan for the Whole World!

After ‘Isa died, His followers stopped doing animal qurbaan. Why was this so? Before ‘Isa died, he told his Muslim followers that Allah had decided to do qurbaan for the sins of the entire world, thus showing His love for all mankind. Just as Allah had provided the sacrifice for Ibrihim, He Himself would provide the sacrifice for all of mankind. Allah had stopped Ibrihim from sacrificing his son, but Allah did not stop the sacrifice or qurbaan of ‘Isa.

To do a qurbaan to cover the entire world, Allah decided to sacrifice the most innocent, holy, and powerful blood this world has ever seen. ‘Isa was that qurbaan who died for the sins of the whole world!

Ask: How do we know that Allah has accepted the qurbaan of ‘Isa to cover the sins of all people?

Response: God showed that He accepted the qurbaan of ‘Isa by raising Him from the dead!

He (Allah) has provided proof of this to everyone by raising Him (‘Isa) from the dead. Acts 17:31

Point 4: Eternal Life through Faith in ‘Isa

There are four things a Muslim needs to know:

First, we have sinned and cannot do enough to cover our sins. One sin put Adam out of Allah’s presence in the Garden of Eden. We have sinned many times. [See:

Romans 3:10-12, 3:23.]

Second, ‘Isa was born without sin and never sinned. He is the very “Ruhullah” (Spirit of Allah) and “Kalamtullah” (Word of Allah). His blood is innocent because he did not inherit Adam’s sin or commit any sin while alive. His blood is holy, and powerful. Allah asked Ibrihim to show his love for Allah by sacrificing his precious son. In the same way, to show His love for man, Allah decided to do qurbaan for all of mankind by sacrificing ‘Isa. [See: Romans 5:6-8; 2 Corinthians 5:21; Hebrews 4:15; 1 Peter 2:22; and 1 John 3:5.]

Third, ‘Isa died on the cross as the qurbaan for our sins. The Injiil tells us: “For Masiih (Christ) also suffered for sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, that He might bring you to Allah (God).” 1 Peter 3:18

Fourth, If you believe in ‘Isa, you will be forgiven of your sins and have eternal life. In the Injiil, are written these words, “For Allah (God) loved the world in this way: He gave His One and Only Son, so that everyone who believes in Him will not perish but have eternal life.” John 3:16 Through ‘Isa we can go to Heaven when we die and live eternally with Allah. ‘Isa knows the way and is the way. If you truly believe that Allah did qurbaan by using the blood of ‘Isa to cover your sins, you can join ‘Isa in heaven.

Raise your hands to Allah and say these words:

“Allah, I believe that you are One. I believe that you love all people. I understand that I am a sinner and that I deserve to be forever separated from you when I die. I thank You that you showed Your love and mercy for me by doing qurbaan for me. I believe that you used ‘Isa’s blood as the substitute for my blood and punishment. I believe that it is through ‘Isa that I can come to you when I die.”

Therefore if anyone is in Christ, there is a new creation; old things have passed away, and look, new things have come. 2 Corinthians 5:17

1. A New Confession

INJIIL STORY: Paul Believes in ‘Isa - Acts 9:1-11

Saul, a chief teacher among the Jews, rejected the resurrection of ‘Isa and severely persecuted those who followed ‘Isa. On his way to Damascus to arrest the ‘Isahi, ‘Isa appeared to Saul. Saul asked ‘Isa, “Who are you, Lord?” ‘Isa answered, “I am ‘Isa, whom you persecute.” Saul said, “What would you have me to do Lord?” ‘Isa told him to go into Damascus where he would be told what to do. There, ‘Isa sent a man named Ananias to Saul. Ananias baptized Saul in the name of ‘Isa. Saul, who later became known as Paul, began to preach the resurrection of ‘Isa and the forgiveness of sin and eternal life through faith in ‘Isa. People were amazed that this Saul, who had persecuted the ‘Isahi, was now calling them to confess ‘Isa as Lord and follow Him! Allah later used Paul to start many jamaatat (churches) and write a large part of the Injiil. Who knows how Allah might choose to use you?

Old confession: “There is no God but Allah and Mohammed is His prophet.”

New Confession: “‘Isa is Lord.”

“You are the only true Allah. If they know you, and ‘Isa Al Masiih whom you sent, they will live for ever.” John 17:3

(Peter speaking) “Allah has made this ‘Isa, whom you crucified, both Lord and Masiih!" When they heard this, they were pierced to the heart and said to Peter and the rest of the apostles: "Brothers, what must we do?" "Repent," Peter said to them, "and be baptized, each of you, in the name of ‘Isa Al Masiih for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. Acts 2:36-38

If you confess with your mouth, "‘Isa is Lord," and believe in your heart that Allah raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. Romans 10:9

‘Isa Al Masiih …There is no other name under heaven given to people by which we must be saved. Acts 4:10-12 ‘Isa told him, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me.” John 14:6

For this reason Allah also highly exalted Him and gave Him the name that is above every name, so that at the name of ‘Isa every knee should bow—of those who are in heaven and on earth and under the earth—and every tongue should confess that ‘Isa Al Masiih is Lord, to the glory of Allah the Father. Philippians 2:9-11

QUESTIONS:

- What did you learn about ‘Isa in this story?
- What was Saul’s response on the road when confronted by ‘Isahi?
- >> What does it mean to consider ‘Isa to be your “Lord?”
- What were the duties that Ananias was asked to perform?
- Describe what Paul told the people that he encountered.
- Describe ways that Allah can use you in His service.

MEMORY VERSES

If you confess with your mouth, "'Isa is Lord," and believe in your heart that Allah raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. With the heart one believes, resulting in righteousness, and with the mouth one confesses, resulting in salvation. For everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved. Romans 10:9-10 and 13

2. A New and Certain Hope of Eternal Life

INJIIL STORY: The Good Shepherd – John 10:1-30

'Isa compares His love and care for us to that of a good shepherd. Sheep come to know the voice of their shepherd and they will not follow a strange voice. Their shepherd feeds them, cares for them and protects them from their enemies. A good shepherd will lay down his life to protect his sheep. 'Isa laid down his life for us so that we could be forgiven of our sins and have eternal life. Now our good shepherd, 'Isa, nurtures and leads us so that we can experience abundant life through Him. We must learn to hear His voice because, according to John 10:10, all the other voices are those of thieves and robbers. They only want to kill by eternal death and separation from Allah, and steal and destroy the abundant life He wants us to experience in 'Isa.

Note: Two possible stories are included here. Truth of the assurance of salvation.

INJIIL STORY: The Dying Criminal – Luke 23:32-43

When 'Isa was put to death on the cross (crucified) two criminals were crucified with him, one on either side. One mocked and ridiculed 'Isa, saying, "If you are the Masiih save yourself and us!" However, the other criminal, rebuked the first criminal. He admitted that he deserved to be there dying for his crimes, but that 'Isa had done nothing wrong. Then he looked to 'Isa for mercy and asked Him to remember him when He entered into His Kingdom. 'Isa said to him, "Today you shall be with Me in paradise." The criminal received a promise of eternal life in paradise with 'Isa. These three crosses represent all of humanity. Through 'Isa, Allah entered the human race to deliver humanity from the condemnation of sin and the power of the shaytaan. Many, like one of the criminals, reject 'Isa and die in their sin, eternally separated from Allah. But those who believe, like the good thief on the cross, are given eternal life in 'Isa.

Old Hope of Paradise: Observe the five pillars of Islam. Do good works. Then, maybe, Allah will accept you into paradise. However, only if Allah wills! One cannot know.

New Hope of Paradise: 'Isa has died to pay the penalty of your sin. You are forgiven and made right before Allah. By faith in 'Isa you have the sure hope of eternal life in paradise.

For Masiih also suffered for sins once for all, the righteous for the unrighteous, that He might bring you to Allah. 1 Peter 3:18

I assure you: Anyone who believes has eternal life. John 6:47

[‘Isa speaking] My sheep hear My voice, I know them, and they follow Me. I give them eternal life, and they will never perish —ever! No one will snatch them out of My hand. My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all. No one is able to snatch them out of the Father's hand. The Father and I are one." John 10:27-30

For I am persuaded that neither death nor life, nor angels nor rulers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor any other created thing will have the power to separate us from the love of Allah that is in ‘Isa Al Masiih our Lord! Romans 8:38-39

QUESTIONS:

- What did you learn about ‘Isa in this story?
- What did the two thieves on the crosses next to ‘Isa have to say?
- Why did ‘Isa tell one of the men that he would be with ‘Isa in paradise that very day?
- Follow-up: Was there anything that this man did to earn salvation?
- >> Describe in your own words why it was necessary for ‘Isa to die for your sins.
- What hope do ‘Isahi have after they die?

MEMORY VERSES:

[‘Isa speaking] My sheep hear My voice, I know them, and they follow Me. I give them eternal life, and they will never perish —ever! No one will snatch them out of My hand. John 10:27-28

3. A New Family

INJIIL STORY: The First Jamaat– Acts 2:38-47

In this section of the Injiil, we get to see the very first Jamaat of ‘Isa and what it was like. We find it was like a family who loved one another and cared for the needs of one another. They frequently gathered together to study the teachings of ‘Isa that had been preserved for them by the apostles of ‘Isa. (We have the teaching of ‘Isa preserved for us in the Injiil). They also had fellowship with one another and prayed together. They took the bread and juice of the Lord’s Supper to remember the body and blood of ‘Isa and what ‘Isa had done for them in His death on the cross. The members baptized the new believers. They were filled with joy and praised Allah together. They were obeying the command of ‘Isa to love Allah and love one another.

Old Family: You were born into a physical family.

New Family: You are now part of the family of Allah through the Jamaat of ‘Isa.

Note: This does not mean you forsake the family you were born into. But rather, it means that you have the expanded blessings of being part of Allah’s family in the world and having all the other followers of ‘Isa as brothers and sisters in Him. Sadly, friends and family may sometimes forsake the new follower of ‘Isa, but Allah gives you a wonderful promise in His Word: “Even if my father and mother abandon me, the LORD cares for me.” Psalm 27:10

For this reason I bow my knees before the Father from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named.

Ephesians 3:14-15

[‘Isa speaking] This is My command: love one another as I have loved you. John 15:12 Let brotherly love continue. Hebrews 13:1

Therefore, as we have opportunity, we must work for the good of all, especially for those who belong to the household of faith. Galatians 6:10

And be kind and compassionate to one another, forgiving one another, just as Allah also forgave you in Masiih.

Ephesians 4:32

QUESTIONS:

- Who belonged to the first jamat?
- How did the first ‘Isahi behave toward each other?
- What help did the believers give to one another?
- >> What people on earth form the family of Allah through Jamaat of ‘Isa?
- What command of ‘Isa led to this new family?
- What does this story tell you about ‘Isa?

MEMORY VERSES:

[‘Isa speaking] I give you a new commandment: love one another. Just as I have loved you, you must also love one another. By this all people will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another. John 13:34-35

4. A New Way to Pray

INJIIL STORY: Teach Us To Pray - Matthew 6:5-14

The disciples of ‘Isa often watched Him as He prayed. They asked Him to teach them to pray (Luke 11:1) This section of the Injiil, in the Gospel of Matthew, tells us the way ‘Isa taught us to pray. He told us that we should not be like the outwardly religious people who pray so that others would see them. He said that we should go into a secret place and pray to our Father in heaven. He also taught us not to repeat empty memorized words and phrases, but to pray from the heart like a child speaking to his Father and asking something of him. He said we don’t have to beg and plead with the Father, because He knows what we need even before we ask. Then he taught his disciples a prayer. This, of course, is not a prayer to be repeated for ‘Isa had just said not to use empty repetition. It is instead a pattern of how we should pray. Finally, he reminded us that if we expect to Allah hear us when we ask His supply, forgiveness, and help, we must be willing to forgive those who have harmed us.

Old Way To Pray: Pray five times daily, repeating memorized prayers. Answers were seldom or never seen.

New Way to Pray: Talk to Allah as a child speaks to his father, asking Him to work in your life and expecting Him to answer your prayers.

Because ‘Isa has removed our sin by His blood we can now boldly enter into the very presence of Allah. We see this in Ephesians 3:12 where Paul says: “In [‘Isa Al Masiih] we have boldness, access, and confidence through faith in Him.”

Keep asking, and it will be given to you. Keep searching, and you will find. Keep knocking, and the door will be opened to you. For everyone who asks receives, and the one who searches finds, and to the one who knocks, the door will be opened. What man among you, if his son asks him for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a snake? If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father in heaven give good things to those who ask Him! Matthew 7:7-11

I assure you: The one who believes in Me will also do the works that I do. And he will do even greater works than these, because I am going to the Father. Whatever you ask in My name, I will do it so that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If you ask Me anything in My name, I will do it. John 14:12-14

Don't worry about anything, but in everything, through prayer and petition with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to Allah. And the peace of Allah, which surpasses every thought, will guard your hearts and your minds in ‘Isa Al Masiih. Philippians 4:6-7

Pray constantly. 1 Thessalonians 5:17

Therefore let us approach the throne of grace with boldness, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us at the proper time. Hebrews 4:16

QUESTIONS:

- What does this story say about prayer?
- What does this story say about the relationship between Allah and ‘Isahi?
- Is there something in this story that bothers you?
- >> How will you pray differently because of this story?

MEMORY VERSE:

[‘Isa speaking] Until now you have asked for nothing in My name. Ask and you will receive, that your joy may be complete. John 16:24

5. A New Access to Truth

INJIIL STORY: The Vine and the Branches - John 15:1-8

‘Isa compared the relationship we have with Him to the connection between a vine (or tree) and its branches.

Through ‘Isa we are connected to the very life of Allah. His life flowing through us produces the fruit of ‘Isa in our lives. Just as the branch cannot bear fruit without the vine, or tree, even so we cannot bear eternal fruit apart from ‘Isa. ‘Isa tells us how this relationship works. He said, “If you remain in Me and My words remain in you, ask whatever you want and it will be done for you. My Father is glorified by this: that you produce much fruit and prove to be My disciples. (John 15:7-8) The follower of ‘Isa needs to fill his mind and heart with the truth of the Injiil.

The words of ‘Isa remain in us through a process the Bible calls “meditation.” It simply means “to repeat over and over again,” or “to think upon,” or “to ponder”. Meditating upon the words of ‘Isa is very simple to do, but it will have a great impact upon your life. To meditate involves four simple steps. First you must hear a section of the Injiil; then you must memorize it; then you must ponder it (think upon it) over and over until ‘Isa gives you understanding; then you must do what it says. By this process of abiding in ‘Isa through prayer, and His words abiding in you through meditation, you will become a “true branch” through which ‘Isa produces eternal fruit.

The Old Access to Truth: Memorize the Qur’an and repeat the words without understanding them.

The New Access to Truth: Read and understand the Tawraat, Zabuur, Nabiyyiin (Prophets) and the Injiil.

Meditate upon the truths you learn and obey them and then see eternal fruit produced in your life.

How happy is the man who does not follow the advice of the wicked, or take the path of sinners, or join a group of mockers! Instead, his delight is in the LORD's instruction, and he meditates on it day and night. Psalms 1:1-2

So ‘Isa said to the Jews who had believed Him, "If you continue in My word, you really are My disciples. You will know the truth, and the truth will set you free." John 8:31-32

Finally brothers, whatever is true, …dwell on these things. Do what you have learned and received and heard and seen in me, and the God of peace will be with you. Philippians 4:8-9

Until I arrive, be sure to keep on reading the Scriptures in worship, and don't stop preaching and teaching. Use the gift you were given when the prophets spoke and the group of church leaders blessed you by placing their hands on you. Remember these things and think about them, so everyone can see how well you are doing. 1 Timothy 4:13- 15 (CEV)

QUESTIONS:

- How is ‘Isa like the vine and the ‘Isahi like the branches?
- What is the fruit that ‘Isa wants the ‘Isahi to produce?
- >> Describe how you feel knowing that Allah wants us to understand His Word and apply it to our lives?
- How can an ‘Isahi fill his mind and heart with the truth of the Injiil?
- What changes in your life will you need to make to spend time understanding all of Allah’s teaching?

MEMORY VERSES:

[‘Isa said] If you remain in Me and My words remain in you, ask whatever you want and it will be done for you.

My Father is glorified by this: that you produce much fruit and prove to be My disciples. John 15:7-8

6. A New Freedom

INJIIL STORY: Stand Firm in Your Freedom

Galatians 2:16-21, 5:1-14, Philippians 3:3

Paul, the apostle of ‘Isa, had gone into a region called Galatia, preached the good news of eternal life in ‘Isa and as a result, had started several jamaatat there. He had clearly taught them that salvation and eternal life came through simple faith in ‘Isa, the sacrifice (qurbaan) for their sin, and not by religious works. Later, some false teachers had come to the churches. They told them that if they wanted to go to paradise, they needed to add to their faith in ‘Isa a strict observance of the Jewish laws. Paul wrote them a letter to teach the truth. It is the letter to the Galatians in the Injiil. He told them that their faith and hope of eternal life rested upon the fact that ‘Isa had died for their sins. The righteous anger of Allah against sin had been satisfied in ‘Isa’s sacrifice and their salvation was the gift of His grace. He said, “I do not set aside the grace of Allah, for if righteousness comes by the law, then Masiih died in vain (for nothing).” Paul told them not to become entangled again in a yoke of bondage of religious works, or even good works, to try to earn Allah’s favor. Allah’s favor rests on those who trust in ‘Isa. We have been saved and set free from the penalty of sin and the bondage of works. He warned them to be careful, however, not to use their freedom as an opportunity to indulge the flesh in things such as sexual immorality, drunkenness, and greed, but rather to use their freedom to serve ‘Isa and to love one another.

Old Bondage: Strictly observe the five pillars of Islam, try to do good works and hope that somehow it will be enough and Allah will be pleased with you.

New Freedom: Trust in ‘Isa and put no hope at all in your good works, knowing that eternal life in paradise is a gift from Him. You are free! Rejoice in your freedom in ‘Isa and use it to serve Him and to love you brothers and sisters in ‘Isa.

For we are the circumcision, the ones who serve by the Spirit of Allah, boast in ‘Isa Al Masiih, and do not put confidence in the flesh. Philippians 3:3

Rejoice in the Lord always. I will say it again: Rejoice! Philippians 4:4

For it is Allah's will that you, by doing good, silence the ignorance of foolish people. As Allah's slaves, [live] as free people, but don't use your freedom as a way to conceal evil. 1 Peter 2:15-16

QUESTIONS:

- What did you learn about Allah, His Spirit, and 'Isa in this story?
- Can anything substitute for what 'Isa did by dying on the cross for your sins?
- What does this story say about meaningless rituals?
- >>Does freedom have limits for the 'Isahi?
- What meaningless rituals do you perform that you should stop?

MEMORY VERSES:

Masiih has liberated us into freedom. Therefore stand firm and don't submit again to a yoke of slavery. For you are called to freedom, brothers; only don't use this freedom as an opportunity for the flesh, but serve one another through love. Galatians 5:1 and 13

7. A New Relationship to God

INJIIL STORY: A Rushing Mighty Wind – Acts 2:1-41

The night before 'Isa was crucified he told His disciples, "I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Counselor to be with you forever. He is the Spirit of truth. … I will not leave you as orphans; I am coming to you. In a little while the world will see Me no longer, but you will see Me. Because I live, you will live too. In that day you will know that I am in My Father, you are in Me, and I am in you." (John 14:16-20) When the Romans soldiers took 'Isa to crucify Him, His disciples ran away. While he was buried in the tomb, they hid in fear. After 'Isa rose from the dead, He appeared to the 'Isahi. He reminded them that when He ascended back to the Father in paradise, He would send another Helper to live in them – the Holy Spirit of Allah. To His fearful disciples, He said, "You shall receive power after the Holy Spirit has come upon you and you shall be witnesses to Me … to the ends of the earth." (KJV) Then the Holy Spirit came upon them like a mighty rushing wind. They were never the same after that. They suddenly became bold and fearless witnesses of 'Isa, who spread the Gospel of 'Isa throughout the world.

Old Relationship: Allah is a distant presence, unknowable to men. A man can not have a close relationship with Allah.

New Relationship: ‘Isa dwells in you through the Holy Spirit of Allah. He is your Comforter, Friend, and Helper as you serve Him each day.

"Repent," Peter said to them, "and be baptized, each of you, in the name of ‘Isa Al Masiih for the forgiveness of your sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. Acts 2:38

In Him you also, when you heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation— in Him when you believed— were sealed with the promised Holy Spirit. Ephesians 1:13

[‘Isa said] Nevertheless, I am telling you the truth. It is for your benefit that I go away, because if I don't go away the Counselor will not come to you. If I go, I will send Him to you. John 16:7

I will never leave you or forsake you. Hebrews 13:5b

There is a friend that stays closer than a brother. Proverbs 18:24b

QUESTIONS:

- What is the meaning of this story?
- >>Who is the Holy Spirit and what does He do?
- What promises does this story talk about that are available to all ‘Isahi?
- >>What difference does it make to know Allah on a personal basis?
- Where is your Jerusalem, Judea, Samaria, and the ends of the earth?
- What is a witness?
- Under Who’s power and authority can you be a witness for our Lord?
- Is there anything that you need to change in order to obey the teachings in this story?

MEMORY VERSE:

Don't you know that you are Allah's sanctuary and that the Spirit of Allah lives in you? 1 Corinthians 3:16

8. A New Purpose in Life

INJIIL STORY: Fishing for Men - Luke 5:1-11

Peter was a fisherman. One day ‘Isa came where Peter fished, got into his boat and asked Peter if he would put his boat out a little way from the shore so that ‘Isa could teach the crowds that pressed around Him. After he had finished teaching the people, ‘Isa asked Peter to launch his boat out into the deep water and drop his nets to catch fish. Peter told ‘Isa he had been fishing all night and had caught nothing. But because ‘Isa asked him, Peter and his partners went back out fishing. When they let down their nets, they caught so many fish that their nets were breaking and their boats were about to sink. When they got back to shore, Peter fell down at ‘Isa’s feet and said, “Go away from me, because I’m a sinful man, Lord!” ‘Isa told Peter, “Don’t be afraid. From now on you will be catching people.” (Luke 5:8, 11) At ‘Isa’s call, Peter left all he had and followed ‘Isa. Peter’s life was never the same! After ‘Isa was raised from the dead and ascended in heaven, Peter was used powerfully by Allah to proclaim the good news of salvation in ‘Isa and to bring many to salvation in ‘Isa. Peter’s life made an incredible eternal impact on this world! Allah can also use you to bring many to faith in ‘Isa.

Old Purpose in Life: Try to do enough good works to go to paradise and then hope you will make it. Do your best to survive from day-to-day.

New Purpose in Life: You are called to worship Allah, grow as a disciple of ‘Isa, and make new disciples.

Your life now takes on eternal significance.

Then ‘Isa came near and said to them, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe everything I have commanded you. And remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age." Matthew 28:18-20

Whatever you do, do it enthusiastically, as something done for the Lord and not for men, knowing that you will receive the reward of an inheritance from the Lord—you serve the Lord Masiih. Colossians 3:23-24

Now brothers, I want to clarify for you the gospel I proclaimed to you; you received it and have taken your stand on it. You are also saved by it, if you hold to the message I proclaimed to you—unless you believed to no purpose. For I passed on to you as most important what I also received: that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures, that He was buried, that He was raised on the third day according to the Scriptures. 1 Corinthians 15:1-4

QUESTIONS:

- What did ‘Isa do before calling Peter to following Him?
- What was Peter’s response when ‘Isa called him to be a disciple?

- >>Does ‘Isa still call people to follow Him? If so, how or through whom does He work?
- What change in lifestyle does this story call you to obey and change?

MEMORY VERSE:

Therefore, we are ambassadors for Masiih; certain that Allah is appealing through us, we plead on Masiih’s behalf, "Be reconciled to Allah." He made the One who did not know sin to be sin for us, so that we might become the righteousness of Allah in Him. 2 Corinthians 5:20-21

9. A New Hope of Reward

INJIIL STORY: The Faithful Servants – Luke 19:11-27

Isa told this story to show us what we can expect when the Day of Judgment comes. Read these two verses and then tell the story.

[Allah] has set a day on which He is going to judge the world in righteousness by the Man He has appointed.

He has provided proof of this to everyone by raising Him from the dead." Acts 17:31

For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, so that each may be repaid for what he has done in the body, whether good or bad. 2 Corinthians 5:10

A wealthy man traveled to a far country. He called in his servants and distributed his goods to them and told them to do his business while he was gone. He gave to some more than others, in the same way that we all have different levels of wealth, abilities and opportunities. When he returned, he called his servants in to give an account. Those who faithfully sought to do his business received great rewards. The master did not rebuke the servant with five talents for not making ten. ‘Isa holds you accountable only for what he has given you, not what he has given another. Each faithful servant of ‘Isa can look forward to hearing these blessed words, “Well done, good and faithful slave! You were faithful over a few things; I will put you in charge of many things. Share your master's joy!” (Matthew 25:23)

Old Hope of Reward: Will I even enter paradise? Will there be any eternal rewards for me?

New Hope of Reward: ‘Isa has already secured for me my entry into paradise. Now by His Spirit, He will help me to serve Him and then eternally reward my faithful service to Him.

But Allah … made us alive with the Masiih … so that in the coming ages He might display the immeasurable riches of His grace in [His] kindness to us in ‘Isa Al Masiih. Ephesians 2:4-7

[‘Isa said] Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and falsely say every kind of evil against you because of Me. Matthew 5:11

[‘Isa said] Look! I am coming quickly, and My reward is with Me to repay each person according to what he has done. Revelation 22:12

QUESTIONS:

- What is the purpose of this parable told by ‘Isa?
- Are good works necessary for salvation? (Optional: If possible, how many good works would it take for an ‘Isahi to achieve the perfection required for access to paradise?)
- If ‘Isahi receive eternal life as a free gift, why should they do any good works at all?
- What does it mean to be an ‘Isahi that is found faithful when “working with a few things?”
- What responsibilities has the Lord entrusted you to oversee?
- What changes do you need to make in your lifestyle to become faithful today?

MEMORY VERSE:

Well done, good and faithful slave! You were faithful over a few things; I will put you in charge of many things.

Share your master's joy! Matthew 25:23

10. A New Resistance

INJIIL STORY: Counting the Costs – Luke 14:25-33

Because he healed the sick, taught with authority and spoke of eternal life and rewards, great crowds followed ‘Isa everywhere He went. But ‘Isa did not deceive anyone about the cost of following Him. One day he stopped, turned to the crowd and said, “If anyone comes to Me and does not hate his own father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters—yes, and even his own life—he cannot be My disciple.” (Luke 14:26) What an astounding statement! Of course He did not literally mean we were to hate our family. The Injiil itself commands you to honor your father and mother, and love your wife like ‘Isa has loved us. What ‘Isa meant was that we must love Him supremely. If we have to choose between family and ‘Isa we must choose ‘Isa. To come and follow ‘Isa is to choose Him above all else. The cost of following ‘Isa is often very high. Consider these Scriptures:

[‘Isa said] If you were of the world, the world would love [you as] its own. However, because you are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of it, the world hates you. Remember the word I spoke to you: “A slave is not greater than his master.” If they persecuted Me, they will also persecute you. If they kept My word, they will also keep yours. John 15:19-20

In fact, all those who want to live a godly life in Masiih ‘Isa will be persecuted. 2 Timothy 3:12

Old Resistance: There was little or no resistance. There is an old proverb that says, “Let sleeping dogs lie.” Before you came to ‘Isa and began to tell of the good news of eternal life in ‘Isa, shaytaan left you alone for you caused his kingdom no harm.

New Resistance: Because you now belong to ‘Isa and seek to tell others about Him, shaytaan attacks you through those that belong to shaytaan.

‘Isa told the crowd that followed Him that they should consider the costs of following Him. One would not begin to build a house if he knew he did not have enough money to finish it. Neither should we follow after ‘Isa, unless we are willing to accept the cost. This is very hard to hear, but listen to the good news of the verses that follow:

The Spirit Himself testifies together with our spirit that we are God's children, and if children, also heirs—heirs of God and co-heirs with Christ—seeing that we suffer with Him so that we may also be glorified with Him. For I consider that the sufferings of this present time are not worth comparing with the glory that is going to be revealed to us. Romans 8:16-18

For our momentary light affliction is producing for us an absolutely incomparable eternal weight of glory. So we do not focus on what is seen, but on what is unseen; for what is seen is temporary, but what is unseen is eternal. 2 Corinthians 4:17-18

So He [‘Isa] said to them, " I assure you: There is no one who has left a house, wife or brothers, parents or children because of the kingdom of God, who will not receive many times more at this time, and eternal life in the age to come." Luke 18:29-30

QUESTIONS:

- What does being an ‘Isahi require?
- Who is the true family of ‘Isa?
- >> What changes do you need to make to put your love for ‘Isa above all other priorities?
- What is the reward for being a faithful follower of ‘Isa?

MEMORY VERSE:

[‘Isa said] Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and falsely say every kind of evil against you because of Me. Be glad and rejoice, because your reward is great in heaven. For that is how they persecuted the prophets who were before you. Matthew 5:11-12

Seven Questions to ask about each story from the Book of Acts

1. What did Allah do?
2. How did the ‘Isahi respond?
3. How did those who were not followers of ‘Isa respond?
4. Was the Jamaat (Church) of ‘Isa helped or hurt?
5. What do you like about this story?
6. What troubles you about this story?
7. Through this story, what is Allah telling you to do?

Stories from the Book of Acts

1. Acts 1:1-11

‘Isa appears to His followers and tells them to wait for the Holy Spirit to come and empower them to be His witnesses. Their witness of ‘Isa will begin where they are, in Jerusalem, but will expand throughout the world. Then, He ascends into heaven.

2. Acts 2:1-41

The Holy Spirit comes upon the disciples and they preach with power and in languages they do not know. Peter preaches and 3,000 people believe in ‘Isa and are baptized in one day.

3. Acts 2:41-47

The first jamaat is formed and we can see what it is like.

4. Acts 3

A lame man is healed and Peter uses the opportunity to tell the good news of the forgiveness of sins and eternal life in ‘Isa. The new Jamaat has little money and no buildings but it has great power through the Holy Spirit dwelling in them.

5. Acts 4

The religious leaders in Jerusalem, who rejected ‘Isa, begin to stand up against the preaching of the good news of ‘Isa.

6. Acts 5:1-16

Isa purifies His Jamaat of the sin of hypocrisy (pretending to be what you are not in order to receive the honor of men).

7. Acts 5:17-42

Persecution from the religious leaders begins to rise up against the new jamaat in Jerusalem.

8. Acts 6:1-7

Having first failed to corrupt the new Jamaat (Acts 5:1-6), shaytaan attempts to cause divisions among them. The young Jamaat finds a way to deal with its problems.

9. Acts 6:8-7:60

Stephen becomes the first martyr of the jamat. A martyr is one who is killed directly because of his faith in ‘Isa.

10. Acts 8

Persecution of the followers of ‘Isa becomes intense, so many of them begin to go and proclaim the good news of ‘Isa in other places, just as ‘Isa had said in Acts 1:8. Philip leads a non-Israelite to faith in ‘Isa and baptizes him.

11. Acts 9

Saul the chief persecutor of the Jamaat of ‘Isa is confronted by ‘Isa and comes to faith in Him. His name is changed to Paul (Acts 13:9) and He becomes the main agent for taking the good news of ‘Isa to the Gentiles (non-Jews).

12. Acts 10

Peter is commanded by Allah to take the good news of ‘Isa to a Gentile named Cornelius. Cornelius and his household believe in ‘Isa and are baptized. The door is thus opened to take the good news of ‘Isa into the whole world.

DEALING WITH COMMON OBJECTIONS

Objection #1: “The Bible has been changed.”

You will hear this objection over and over again as you work with Muslims, but there is an effective answer found in the Qur’an itself. Simply ask your Muslim friend to turn to Sura 6:115.

Sura 6:115 Perfected is the Word of the Lord in truth and justice. There is nothing that can change His words. He is the hearer and the knower.

There is really no effective response to this. The Qur’an confirms that the Tawraat and Injiil are the words of the Lord. Allah taught them directly to ‘Isa - Sura 3:50. If the Jews would have observed the Tawraat and the Injiil they would have had their sins forgiven and been brought to heaven (Gardens of Delight) – Sura 5:65-66. So either the Muslim must admit that the Qur’an is wrong and the Tawraat and Injiil have been changed, or that that Qur’an is true and the Tawraat and Injiil have not been changed.

You can also have him turn to Sura 10:94.

Sura 10:94 If you are in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto you, then question those who read the Scripture before you. Verily the Truth from the Lord has come unto you so be not of the waverers.

The “before Scriptures” were to be searched out because the Truth was found in them. The Tawraat and Injiil (Bible) that we read today are translated from manuscripts dating from before the time of Mohammed. So if they were true and uncorrupted in Mohammed’s day, and nothing can change Allah’s words then they must be true and uncorrupted today as well.

Objection #2: “But ‘Isa is not the ‘Son of Allah’.”

Sura 21:91 We breathed into her (Maryam) of our Spirit and made her and her son a token (sign) for all peoples.

Sura 3:45 O Maryam! Lo! Allah gives you glad tidings of a word from Him whose name is the ‘Isa Al Masiih.

Question #1: A Muslim boy goes to school on the first day. What two questions do they ask him?

Expected Answer: What is your name; what is your father's name?

Question #2: If 'Isa went to school the first day, He would say, "My name is 'Isa." What would He say that His father's name is?

Expected Answer: [no answer!]

Of course, he will have no answer! The only answer he can give is that Allah is 'Isa's Father and he will probably not say that.

The angel said to her (Maryam), "the Holy Spirit shall come upon you, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow you, therefore, also that Holy One who is to be born of you will be called the Son of Allah." Luke 1:35

In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with Allah and the Word was Allah … and the Word became flesh (human) and dwelt among us. John 1:1, 14

The problem is that when a Muslim hears the term "son of Allah." He hears this: "Allah had sexual relations with Maryam and had a son." That, of course, is not what the Bible teaches.

Explain to him that Allah designed the world so that no woman would every spontaneously have a child. Her seed must be acted upon from the outside. In every case but one that outside action was the seed of a man. 'Isa's birth was not spontaneous either. Maryam's seed was acted upon from the outside. Allah spoke and Maryam conceived. Allah breathed of His Spirit and Maryam conceived. 'Isa came from Allah, therefore the Injiil says that 'Isa is the Son of Allah.

Objection #3: "But, 'Isa didn't die on the cross."

Muslims commonly believe that 'Isa didn't die on the cross. They have been taught that somehow Allah blinded those who tried to crucify 'Isa and put someone else in his place who looked like 'Isa. It is critical that we do our best to answer this objection because the fact that 'Isa died is at the very core of the Gospel. It is important to note that the Qur'an does not state that 'Isa did not die! Here is the passage in the Qur'an the Muslims use to prove 'Isa didn't die.

Sura 4:157 And because of their (the people of the Scripture - Jews) saying: "We slew the Messiah 'Isa, the son of Maryam, Allah's messenger – They slew him not nor crucified, but it appeared so unto them; Lo! Those who disagree concerning it are in doubt thereof; they have no knowledge thereof except pursuit of a conjecture; they slew him not for certain.

Point out to him that this passage does not say that 'Isa did not die. It only says that the Jews did not kill him. The Injiil agrees! The Jews did not crucify 'Isa.

They did not have the authority to crucify Him. They were under Roman occupation and Roman authority. They could have killed Him, but not legally. They had to turn ‘Isa over to the Romans and hope that the Romans would crucify ‘Isa for them. And the Romans, not the Jews, did crucify Him! The next verse in the Qur’an (4:158) states that Allah took ‘Isa up to Himself. The Injiil agrees, but goes on to explain that ‘Isa was resurrected after He died.

But the Qur’an also seems to indicate that ‘Isa died. From Sura 3:55, ask if your Muslim friend knows the Arabic word for “death.” If he has the Arabic Qur’an, ask him to read verse 55.

Phonetically, it would sound like this:

3:55: Iz qa_lalla_hu ya_ 'isa_ inni mutawaffika wa ra_fi'uka ilayya wa mutahhiruka minal lazina kafaru_ wa ja_'ilul lazinattaba'u_ka fauqal lazina kafaru_ ila_ yaumil qiya_mah(ti), summa ilayya marji'ukum fa ahkumu bainakum fima_ kuntum fihi takhtalifu_n(a).

Ask what the Arabic word, “mutawaffika” means. The root of the word is “tawaffa”. It is most often translated “to die” in the Qur’an. He should answer, “to die” or “death.”

“Does ayya 55 say that Allah would cause ‘Isa to die then raise him?”

Notice that 4:157 says that, “those who disagree are in doubt thereof….” At best 4:157 is unclear as to whether ‘Isa died, and 3:55 seems to indicate that he did. Remember that the Qur’an says, “If you are in doubt concerning that which We reveal unto you question those who read the Scripture (that was).” If a Muslim doubts or does not understand if ‘Isa died, he should listen to what the “before Scriptures” (Injiil) say! And the before Scriptures are very clear – ‘Isa died!

Objection #4: “Mohammed is the greatest prophet.” “Where does it say that in the Qur’an?”

The Qur’an does not say that Mohammed is the greatest prophet. It does say that he is the “seal of the prophets” in Sura 33:40, seal means only the last, not the greatest.

Then ask him to read Sura 46:9 and Sura 3:144.

Sura 46:9 I am no new thing among the messengers, nor know I what will be done with me or with you … I am but a plain warner.

Sura 3:144 Mohammed is but a messenger, messengers (the like of whom) have passed away before him.

We see in these passages that neither Mohammed nor his followers claimed that he was the greatest prophet.

Then you can ask this question: “What is the greatest question in life?” Of course the greatest question in all of life is, “What will happen to me when I die?” We see from Sura 46:9 that Mohammed did not claim to have a certain answer to that question, for himself or for his followers.

Read passages such as John 6:47 and especially John 14:1-6. Here we see that ‘Isa did claim to have a certain answer to life’s greatest question. The greatest prophet should have the answer to life’s greatest question!

Objection #5: “Mohammed has superseded ‘Isa.”

Sura 21:91 And she who was chaste (Maryam), therefore We breathed into her of our Spirit and made her and her son a token for all peoples.

Sura 3:55 I am setting those who follow you (Isa) above those who disbelieve until the day of resurrection.

The Qur’an says that ‘Isa is to be followed and honored, not only until Mohammed comes, but all the way until the final day of resurrection!

In a similar way to this, Muslims will say that the Qur’an has superseded the Tawraat and Injiil. They were to be read until the Qur’an came, but now that we have the Qur’an they are no longer necessary, like a student uses the seventh grade textbook until he goes to the eighth grade, then he sets it aside and uses the eighth grade textbook.

Again, challenge you to show you where the Qur’an says this. What the Qur’an actually says is to believe the before Scriptures (Sura 4:136); to clear up doubts by consulting the before Scriptures (Sura 10:94); and to obey those before Scriptures so that you can have forgiveness of sin and a home in heaven (Sura 3:50 and 5:65-66).

Objection #6: “One can only really understand the Qur’an if he understands Arabic.”

Sura Shuuraa (Counsel) 42:7

42:7 “And thus We have inspired in you a lecture in Arabic that you may warn the mother-town (Mecca) and those around it of a day of assembling whereof there is no doubt. A host will be in the Garden, and a host of them shall be in the Flame.”

It is clear that the purpose of the words of Mohammed being in Arabic was because the hearers spoke Arabic. It was so that they would understand him. It was not so that they would receive some blessing for simply hearing the words in a language they did not understand! Mohammed said that he was a “plain warner” in Sura 46:9. What good is a warner unless you can understand what he says?

late Saudi Arabian King Fahd, during his lifetime, invested millions of dollars in having the Qur’an translated into the languages of the Muslim people so that they can read it and understand what it says. Why did he do that if the Qur’an can only be understood if you read it in Arabic?

Objection #7: “Ibrihim (Abraham) offered Ishmael as a sacrifice, not Isaac.”

This is the commonly held belief among Muslims, but the Qur’an does not say this. Ask your Muslim friend to read Sura 37:100-113. Then ask him if the Qur’an says the name of the son that Ibrihim (Abraham) offered. It does not! You might possibly come across a translation that has Ishmael in parenthesis. Explain to your Muslim friend that a parenthesis means that the word or name is not in the original text. This is someone’s interpretation that has been added to the text!

When he agrees that the Qur’an does not say which son Ibrihim offered, ask him to read Sura 10:94. Then ask him what Sura 10:94 tells him to do if he does not understand something in the Qur’an. Of course, it tells him to find out what the before Scriptures say!

Then ask him if you can show him what the Tawraat says. You may have to first deal with the issue of the Tawraat being changed, if he brings this up. Then ask him to read Genesis 22:1-18. There in the Tawraat he will see that it clearly states that the son offered was Isaac

Objection #8: “But, I have no doubts about what is in the Qur’an or what it says.”

“Do you know for sure that you are going to paradise when you die?”

“Did you know that the Injiil (the before Scriptures) tells us that we can know we are going to paradise?”

I have written these things to you who believe in the name of the Son of Allah, so that you may know that you have eternal life. 1 John 5:13

“Do you know the things that ‘Isa commanded you to do?”

In Sura 3:50, the Qur’an says that it is our duty to Allah to obey ‘Isa. The Qur’an does not tell us what those commands of ‘Isa are. But the Injiil does tell us what ‘Isa commanded us to do.

So, you have doubts about whether you will go to paradise when you die and you have doubts about how to fulfill your duty to Allah. The Qur'an tells you what to do if you have doubts about what is revealed in the Qur'an. In Sura 10:94 it tells you to go to the "before Scriptures" and find out what they say.

A brief history of Allah

When we study Allah seriously, the important feature to learn is that Allah has quite a fascinating history. In ancient Arabia, during biblical time, many millenniums before Muhammad was born, Allah was worshipped by the desert Bedouins of Arabia. The ancient Arabs associated Allah with the moon which shone clearly in the night sky of the vast and wild desert for most of the year. The reason why Allah was treated as a moon god is not difficult to understand. The Bedouin Arabs had a nomadic life. Living in a harsh, barren, desert-land, devoid of any perennial river for irrigation and incapable of sustaining an agricultural society, the Bedouin Arabs belonged to a pastoral society. They were half-starved anarchic tribes (Rodinson, 2002, p. 17). Their meagre livelihood grossly depended on grazing and tending cattle, conducting frequent raids and plunder on other tribes or on the passing caravans. Rodinson writes that the unruly Arabs vendetta is the pillar of Bedouin society (Rodinson, 2002, p. 14). The Bedouins during those days also had a life of unceasing cycles of plunder and revenge. Day-time travel was nearly impossible due to the unbearable heat of the sun. Most journeys were undertaken at night, on moonlight and beneath a sky bedecked with glittering stars. They marvelled at the exquisitely beautiful night sky with the moon at its centre of beauty. To them the emergence of the graceful moon was the appearance of the king of the night sky. That is why those indigent Bedouin Arabs were so intimately connected with the moon and its phases. Their lives were literally governed by the moon.

To them, the moon was their life-sustainer. They based their primitive calendar on the movement of the moon; their religious and communal ceremonies were all arranged according to the moon's position and phases. No wonder, that those desert Arabs considered moon as their highest deity-Allah Taalaa-the supreme God. Professor of Arab History, the late, Phillip K. Hitti, writes that the moon-worshipping is principally a pastoral society and the sun-worshiping is chiefly an agricultural society (Hitti, 2002, p. 97). To the Arab Bedouin folks, moon was an absolute holy entity to be worshipped and revered with utmost zeal. After Muhammad forced, at the point of sword, Islam on these desert Arab indigents, these neo-Muslim Bedouins still continued with the practice of their age-old belief that their life was regulated by the moon.

Even today, we find that this obsession with the Arab Bedouin moon is strongly prevalent in Islam. Islam is intimately connected with the moon. All its rituals are based on the sighting of the moon or on the moon calendar. No matter how much Islam advocates that it shuns idolatry or Paganism, it has not shed off its past connection with Paganism and idolatry. The truth is: Islam is still symbolised with the moon, especially the crescent shape. Even the flags of many Islamic countries show either the crescent moon and star together, or the crescent moon alone. Please remember that the holiest object in Islam is the stone of Ka'ba. This stone (or stones-presumably three broken pieces of rocks, as reported by many historians) was also the stone of worship by the Pagan Arabs. Even Muhammad kissed hugged it in his chest it with deep reverence, Caliph Umar did the same and the Muslims are supposed to do this at least once in their life times.

We will now briefly review the history of Allah (see the stone-carved Pagan Allah here).

Historians believe that that the Arabian Allah originated in Syria. The Aramaeans inhabited Syria around 1300 BC. These Syrians used to worship passionately a few deities, the principal among them were the storm-god Hadad; the sky-god Alaha and the goddess Athargatis. The Syrians probably got Allah (in some form of image) from the Sumer in the ancient city of Babylon. According to many historians, Alaha is the Syrian name of Allah (Walker, 2004, p. 20). To them, Allah was a male God, the supreme God, who had three daughters, Allat, Uzza and Manat. The Nabateans, the first-born son of Ismail around Sinai Peninsula, were the first to bring Allah to Arabia from Syria (Walker, 2004, p. 22) The Nabateans probably worshipped Allah in other names as well, such as: Elh and Alh (ibid). Besides Allah, the Nabateans also brought from Syria Hubal, a huge male idol. This Hubal was later placed in the precinct of Ka'ba. Hubal was the greatest of all idols in and around Ka'ba. The massive statue of Hubal was made of red agnate in the form of a man with right hand broken off. The Quraysh received Hubal in this form from Khuzaymah ibn Mudrikah, a Meccan who brought it from Syria. Later, the Quraysh made for it a hand of gold. Hubal stood in front of Ka'ba. The Pagan Quraysh considered Ka'ba for Hubal only (Rodinson, 2002, p. 54). They used divination arrows to determine the legitimacy of a newly born child (Al-Kalbi, 1952, p. 23). Many historians believe that Hubal was the physical representation of Allah at Ka'ba. In his youth Muhammad helped with the ritualistic preparations being ardently made for the ceremonial installation of Hubal in Ka'ba (Walker, 2004, p. 42). Muhammad's biographer, Martin Lings, a Catholic convert to Islam, agrees that Hubal was from Syria (Lings, 1983, p. 5, 11). Arab Historians believe that the mighty Hubal was actually an ancient variation of Allah (Walker, 2004, p. 31). The word (Hubal) is derived from the Semitic word Hu, which means 'He' or 'He is' with the suffix El, which, of course, is another name for Allah. The deified name of Hubal was ceremoniously invoked by the Quraysh during war cry (ibid). Gradually, the concept of Allah, the God spread all around Arabia. An inscription found in south Arabia bears the name of Allah. Allah is Hallah in the Safa inscription. This was five centuries before Islam. The Arabs used to invoke Allah during times of special peril. This all-powerful Allah gradually became the supreme tribal deity of the Quraysh. Even the holy Qur'an confirms this in verses 6:109,6:136, 10:22, 31:22,and 31:29 (Hitti, 2002, pp. 100-101). Other names by which Allah was known are: the Babylonian and Assyrian Ilu, the Canaanite El, the Hebrew Elohim and Ilah of central Arabia (Walker, 2004, p. 420).

Another name of Allah was Wadd-the moon god which stood at the head of the Minaean Pantheon. Allat, Uzza and Manat were the three daughters of Allah for this Wadd (Hitti, 2002, pp. 97-98).

An additional version of Allah came from Hadramawt in south Arabia. There, Allah was known as Sin, the moon god. A famous south Arabian ancient city was Saba, where the queen of Saba or queen Bilqis ruled. The Sabaeans also worshipped Allah. People there called Allah as Almaqah (Hitti, 2002, p. 60). In the Qur'an we find the reference of queen of Saba in sura 27 (sura an-Naml), where this ancient biblical city is called Sheba and the queen Bilqis is referred simply as queen Sheba. Sabaean religion was based on planetary astral system in which the cult of the moon was prevalent. Invariably, the Sabaeans worshipped Allah as a moon God. However, unlike the Pagan Arabs, they had no clear picture of their Allah and thought Him to be a shapeless, male deity of supreme power. On this deity, Benjamin walker writes:

> A shadowy ineffable deity, Allah was not represented by any image, nor did he enjoy popular cult adoration, as did the lesser gods and goddesses. To distinguish him from the other gods, he was given the title of Allah Taala, 'God Most High' (Walker, 2004, p. 42).

Besides Allah and other Gods, the Nabateans also worshipped two other gods (probably lesser to Allah), namely; ar-Rahman and ar-Rahim. Both ar-Rahman and ar-Rahim were devoutly worshipped together in conjunction with honor and prestige. The Qur'an, surprisingly, retains the names of these two Pagan deities, though claiming that these two names belong to Allah. The very first sura of the Qur'an (sura Fatiha) mentions these two names, just during the beginning. Furthermore, sura 19 (sura Maryam) is dominated by the names of these two deities.

According to Professor Hitti, the Pagan Nabateans of north Arabia first introduced ar-Rahman and ar-Rahim probably from southern Syria. Later these two names of Pagan gods found their place in the pantheons of South Arabian temples (Hitti, 2002, p. 105). Muhammad's competitor, Maslama (or Musaylima) preached in the name of ar-Rahman, the south Arabian Allah (Rodinson, 2002, p. 67, 119). This could probably be the reason why Muhammad, later abandoned ar-Rahman and adopted the Allah of the Meccan Pagans as his only God.

According to Arab historians, Petra (north Arabia, close to Syria, the home of the Nabateans), had a kind of Ka'ba with Dushara (Dusares), worshipped under the form of a black rectangular stone, at the head of the pantheon (Hitti, 2002, p. 72).

The Bedouin Arabs' primary concern was with the moon Allah, their supreme deity and His daughters, Allat, Uzza and Manat. As explicated before, the moon is the central religious theme in a pastoral society. The illiterate, half-starved and ill-informed Bedouin Arabs associated the moon with strength, vitality, force, power and everything to do with masculinity. As such, the moon (and Allah) was really a male God; there should be very little doubt on this (you will read more on this later). So, how about the sun? Had the sun any position as god in the Pagan society? The answer is yes. The Bedouins also worshipped a sun god. Its name was Baal. Curiously, the Syrians and the Phoenicians also worshipped Baal-Lord, an idol. It is believed that Baal was worshipped in the days of Prophet Elisha (Hughes, 1004, p. 35). The Egyptians adopted Baal as their Lord (or sun Allah). Baal (see Baal here) was represented as a man with pointed beard and with horned helmet. He was a god of war, sky, storm, fertility and good harvest. In Qur'an we find the mention of Baal when Prophet Elias admonished his people for worshipping Baal (the sun Allah), instead of the moon Allah, the best of creators (37:125). A contradictory version of the sun god is that the sun was a goddess, called Shams (Rodinson, 2002, p. 23). Oddly, there is a sura in the Qur'an (sura 91, a Meccan sura) whose title is Shams or the Sun. Muhammad clearly preferred Shams to Baal, the Egyptian sun god. Not surprisingly though, there is also a sura in the Qur'an titled Qamar or the moon (sura 54, a Meccan sura).

Why Muhammad had a profound dislike for the sun Allah, Baal? The answer is quite simple. The sun is the principal source of an agricultural society. Therefore, it is natural that an agricultural society will adopt the sun Allah, Baal as its principal deity. That was why, Egypt, an agrarian society adopted Baal. Muhammad, who belonged to a pastoral society, was not interested in agriculture (more on this later)-so, why should he bother about Baal? Thus, Baal, the sun Allah was not that popular in Muhammad's Arabia.

Clearly, the Meccan Pagans were very familiar with their moon Allah (read more on this below). They were so used to their moon Allah that they practiced to divide their offerings of crops to Allah and other idols, like: Ammanas in the Khaulan country (6.136) (ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 37). It was a customary religious system for the Pagan Arabs that they had practiced for generations. Then Muhammad started preaching, exhorting the Meccan Quraysh to worship Allah only (kind of only Allah's monotheism). Muhammad had now his own version of Allah, which the Pagan Arabs found very confusing and distressing. He started admonishing them for sharing their crop with other deities besides Allah, Muhammad's variety of Allah, to be specific. But the Meccan Quraysh were tolerant. They let Muhammad preach whatever he wished. The trouble came when Muhammad wanted to hit the Quraysh's principal source of revenue, the pilgrimage and the tourism which were closely connected with the visit of their pantheon of many gods and goddesses. The Meccan Pagans even had the images of Abraham, Jesus and Mary-just to attract Christian and Jewish tourists. During Muhammad's time, according to Phillip Hitti, the eminent Arab historian, Mecca had a colony of Abyssinian Christians (Hitti, 2002, p. 106).

Thus Mecca pilgrimage-tourism was a great source of income (Ibid, p. 64). In the beginning, the Meccan Pagans did not want to disrupt severely their flourishing tourism's attractiveness by creating anarchy with Muhammad's followers. Despite Muhammad's harangues and tirades they left him alone. Even the eminent historian al-Tabari admits that Muhammad had very little sufferings from the Meccan Pagans. According to Tabari, Muhammad's followers were largely young men, some of whom were sons and younger brothers of the leading merchants. Muhammad had very little suffering in the hands of the Quraysh, apart from little annoyance. Abu Talib's (Muhammad's uncle) protection had saved Muhammad from personal harassment (Tabari, 1988, p. 6.43).

The main reason for the opposition of Muhammad was the requirement of generosity which would diminish the profit of the greedy Meccan merchants. These merchants also felt that Muhammad was probably threatening their political control of the Meccan affairs. The Quraysh were not particularly hostile to Muhammad until he mentioned their idols. In particular, the rejection of Allat, one of the daughters of Allah, affected the business of Taif merchants (Ibid, pp. 6.42, 43).

Allah frequently changes His residence

From the very short history of Allah narrated above, we can draw the following conclusions about different versions of Allah. Here is a short list of Allahs' (plural!) and their probable places of residences.

The Sumerian Allah: (Sumer, Babylon; and then Mecca).
The Alaha Allah: (Syria, then Mecca).
The Elh Allah: (Syria, then Mecca).
The Ilah Allah: (Syria, then Mecca).
The moon Allah: (south Arabia, then Mecca).
The sun Allah (Baal): (Egypt, then probably Mecca).
The Hubal Allah: (Syria, then Ka'ba, Mecca).
Ila Allah : (central Arabia, then Mecca).
The ar-Rahman Allah: (north Arabia, south Arabia, then Mecca).
The ar-Rahim Allah: (Yemen, then Mecca).
Sin Allah: (Hadramawt, then Mecca).
Hallah Allah: (Syria, then Mecca).
Ilu Allah: (Babylon, Syria and then Mecca).
El Allah: (Palestine, then Mecca).
Wadd Allah: (Minaean, then Mecca).
Almaqah Allah: (City of Saba, then Mecca).
Allah Taa'la, the most high Allah: (Ka'ba, Mecca).

We might be amazed at so many different versions of Allah. But hold on. Does not the Qur'an say that Allah has many names? If fact, the Islamic scholars insist that Allah has ninety-nine names (including Allah, this makes it a century, to be precise). Although we do not find any verses in the Qur'an which specifically spells out this number (ninety-nine), we should not be surprised at so many names (in reality, different versions) of Allah. The only problem is: if we read the Qur'an carefully, cover to cover, several times, we might find many more names of Allah than the ninety-nine as claimed by the Islamist scholars. We should not be amazed if we note that there are around three hundred (yes, three hundred) descriptions of Allah-to be exact.

What should be most startling is that all those Allahs (plural!) lived at different locations but only within the boundaries of Arabia, Syria, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Babylonia and Iraq. Why should Allah choose only these places (Arab lands, to say it bluntly) to live when the entire universe is His? This question is not hard to answer when we figure out the depth of geographical knowledge of those ancient Arabs, Sumerians and Babylonians. The fascinating point is: having lived in those territories for many millenniums, Allah suddenly changed His mind with the birth of Muhammad, the Prophet of Islam. Islam claims that Allah made Ka'ba 2 000 years before He created Adam (Ghazali, 1993, p. 1.190). There is evidence to suggest that Allah did, at least for a while, live in Mecca. An inscription found during the digging of Ka'ba foundation by Muhammad's grandfather Abdal Muttalib read, "I am Allah, the Lord of Bakka-" (ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 85).

Having travelled through all those desert lands, finally, when Allah learned about the birth of Muhammad, He determined to settle permanently in Mecca, at Ka'ba, to be specific. This should not surprise anyone. Because the other name of Ka'ba is Bait Allah (Allah's residence).
Therefore, it will be quite correct to say that Allah does have a permanent physical abode (at least a temporary one) on earth, and it is Ka'ba. Every year millions of Muslims travel to Ka'ba just for this reason-to meet Allah in person, in the Ka'ba stone.

Here are a few verses from the Qur'an which confirm that Allah decided finally to permanently settle in Mecca when Muhammad was in Mecca.

During Muhammad's time in Mecca, Allah lived in Mecca; He was the Lord of Mecca; Muhammad is commanded to serve the Lord of the city (of Mecca) and to be of those who submit to Islam-27:91.

The Quraysh should adore Allah for giving them the security and importance of Ka'ba (i.e., K'aba is the abode of Allah)...106:1-3.

Ka'ba is the house of Allah; visit Allah there at any time-pilgrimage or not...2:158.

Readers should understand that here we are talking of Muhammad's Allah. The Pagans of Arabia, for a long time before Muhammad started his preaching, knew that Allah, along with His consorts, daughters and companions lived in Mecca. What they could not accept was Muhammad's complete rejection of the associates of Allah, the numerous idols which the Pagans believed interceded with Allah. Thus, they betook Muhammad's Allah as a new brand of God which they rejected out of hand.

> Islam preaches that Allah is the only owner of the universe; He has no want (31:26), no penury and no competitors. Incredibly though, we read in the Qur'an that Allah does have competitors. In verse 23:14 Allah says that He is one of the best of creators. Allah used this verse to convince the Pagan Arabs that there could be no comparisons between Allah and other creators. Let us read the verse:
> > YUSUFALI: Then We made the sperm into a clot of congealed blood; then of that clot We made a (foetus) lump; then we made out of that lump bones and clothed the bones with flesh; then we developed out of it another creature. So blessed be Allah, the best to create!
> > PICKTHAL: Then fashioned We the drop a clot, then fashioned We the clot a little lump, then fashioned We the little lump bones, then clothed the bones with flesh, and then produced it as another creation. So blessed be Allah, the Best of creators!

SHAKIR: Then We made the seed a clot, then We made the clot a lump of flesh, then We made (in) the lump of flesh bones, then We clothed the bones with flesh, then We caused it to grow into another creation, so blessed be Allah, the best of the creators. [023.014]

I included three translations for the readers to judge that these three translations indicate the same meaning; that is, Allah does compete with His competitors.

Here is another verse to confirm that we get the correct meaning. In this verse Allah admonished the Baal worshippers. This is simply because Baal, the sun Allah of the Egyptians competed with the moon Allah of Arabia.

YUSUFALI: "Will ye call upon Baal and forsake the Best of Creators,- PICKTHAL: Will ye cry unto Baal and forsake the Best of creators, SHAKIR: What! do you call upon Ba'l and forsake the best of the creators, [037.125]

Allah is a Bachelor

The brief history of Allah demonstrated with ample epigraphic evidences that Allah had consort/s and children. This was the version of moon Allah that the Bedouin Arabs believed firmly. But Muhammad wanted to stand out from the crowd Pagans. So he claimed that Allah never had any wives or children. In essence, his claim meant that Allah is a perpetual bachelor.

Let us read verse 2:116.

YUSUFALI: They say: "Allah hath begotten a son" :Glory be to Him.-Nay, to Him belongs all that is in the heavens and on earth: everything renders worship to Him. [002.116]

Dr Muhammad Taqiuddin al-Hilai and Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan, the translators of The Noble Qur'an comment on this verse by quoting this hadith from Sahih Bukhari.

Volume 6, Book 60, Number 9: Narrated Ibn Abbas:
The Prophet said, "Allah said, 'The son of Adam tells a lie against me though he has no right to do so, and he abuses Me though he has no right to do so. As for his telling a lie against Me, it is that he claims that I cannot recreate him as I created him before; and as for his abusing Me, it is his statement that I have offspring. No! Glorified be Me! I am far from taking a wife or offspring.' "

This hadith confirms Muhammad's claim that Allah is a Bachelor, void of wives, concubines or children.

Here are a few more verses from the Qur'an which tell us that Muhammad's Allah prefers to remain wifeless and childless.

> Allah neither has a son nor a daughter; He has no preference for daughter-37:153-154.
> If Allah had a son, Muhammad would still be the first to believe in Him and refute the claim that Allah has a son...43:81.
> It is not true that humans have sons and Allah has only daughters...53:21.

Allah bestowed children to Satan but not to Himself

Though Muhammad's Allah prefers to remain a Bachelor, He has no qualm to bestow his implacable foe, Satan, with children-plenty of them. Here is a verse from the Qur'an in which Allah confirms his bequeath of children to Satan.

Do not follow the progeny (Satan has children or offspring) of Satan...18:50.

Allah does not have the personality of a weak female, He is a male.

Even when Allah is a Bachelor He still prefers male children-if He would ever like to have them. Allah considers females to be weak and, therefore would not like to be associated with anything resembling a female character. Here is verse 43:18 in which Allah tells us that He would never like to have daughters.

The weak personality of females cannot be associated with Allah; Allah does not like daughters...43:18.

Allah has His signs (insignia) on earth: they are Safwa and Marwa

Here are a few hadith which say that Allah does have symbols (just like the Pagan idols).

The early Muslims were reluctant to run between Safwa and Marwa like the Pagans did; but Allah decreed that Safwa and Marwa were two sacred places (2:158)-(Sahih Bukhari, 2.26.706,710).

Muhammad wanted to continue with the Pagan tradition, so Allah revealed (2:158) that Safa and Marwa were two symbols of Allah. So it is all right to ambulate (Tawaf) between them- (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.22).

When the Ghassan asked Muhammad about circumambulation between Safa and Marwa Allah revealed, "Verily al-Safa' and al-Marwa are among the Signs of Allah"-(Sahih Muslim, 7.2927, 2928).

Not only that Safwa and Marwa, the two mountains in Mecca are two physical symbols of Allah, the moon and the sun are also Allah's symbols. The Pagans had been correct al along, Muhammad confirmed. Let us read this hadith.

The Sun and the Moon are the two signs of Allah; they do not prostrate because of someone's death- (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.424, 426).

Circumambulation, running between Safwa and Marwa, and casting stones at the pillars are for the remembrance of Allah- (Sunaan Abu Dawud 2.10.1883).

The online version of Sunaan Abu Dawud does not contain this hadith. So I shall quote this hadith from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.

Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.ii, Book 7, hadith number 1883:
'Aishah reported the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: Going round the House of (the Ka'ba), running between al-safa' and lapidation of the pillars are meant for the remembrance of Allah.

Touching Ka'ba is touching hands of Allah (Ibn Majah, 4.2957).

> Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol IV, Hadith number 2957:
> This is a hadith narrated by Ibn Hisham
> -When we reached Rukn Aswad (the Black Stone) he said, "O Abu Muhammad, "What (command) has reached you regarding this (sic)
> Black Stones?" Ata' said: Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) related to me that he heard Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) saying, "He who touches it in fact touches the Hand of the Merciful (Allah)."- Similar hadith are found in Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim. Readers are requested to consult online version the following hadith.

Umar kissed the Ka'ba stone because Muhammad did it likewise... (Sahih Bukhari, 2.26.667, 675, 679, 680).
Muhammad kissed the corner of the black stone in Ka'ba... (Sahih Bukhari, 2.26.673).

Muhammad kissed the black stone in Mecca; background to 2:199---'then hasten on from where the people hasten----'- (Sahih Muslim, 7.2806, 2807).

Muhammad touched the corner of Ka'ba and then kissed his hand- (Sahih Muslim, 7.2910).

Umar kissed the black stone of Ka'ba because Muhammad did so- (Sahih Muslim, 7.2912, 2913, 2914, 2915).

Incredible though it might sound, even today, the single most revered object in Islam is a piece of stone-the stone of Ka'ba. Faithful Muslims turn towards it every day-five times, to worship-in the name of Allah. This was exactly what the Pagan Arabs did-worship stones and idols.

The Pagans of Mecca knew Allah very well.

We learned before that the concept of one-moon Allah was nothing new to the Pagans of Mecca. They were absolutely familiar with this all-powerful, almighty, benevolent (at times) and utterly destructive (at times) nature of Allah. When the Islamist scholars talk about Allah, they would like to give the impression that Allah was something unique that Muhammad alone knew about. What the Pagans of Mecca did not like about Muhammad was that he imposed on the easy-going, secular-minded gullible Pagans his own idea about this powerful moon deity, Allah. With his invention of a new Allah, Muhammad tried to ridicule the Allah these Pagans knew about for millenniums. They used to name their children with Allah's name. Even Muhammad's father's name was Abd Allah. Here are a few comments from eminent scholars and from the primary sources of Islam which irrefutably prove that the Pagans were ever cognisant about Allah, that Muhammad simply confused those Meccans.

Muhammad did not invent the concept of the unity of Allah; this concept was not new-38:5.
Many Pagans had heard the story of resurrection from past tales; it was nothing new to them-23:83.
Ask the unbelievers to whom belongs the earth and they will answer it is Allah...23:84-85.
Ask the unbelievers under whose hand is the sovereignty and against whom there is no protector and they will answer it is Allah; so how could they deceive and turn away from Allah-23:88-89.
The Pagans thought that the angels were females and they (the angels) are the daughters of Allah; Allah vehemently rejects this idea-37:149-150.
The unbelievers do agree that almighty Allah created the universe-43:9.
The Pagans thought that it was ar-Rahman's (Allah) wish that they should worship the partners of ar-Rahman (Allah)-43:20.
If the unbelievers accept Allah as the creator of the universe then why should they deviate from His message?-43:87.
The Pagans in Mecca, during Muhammad's time, believed that Allah was a high God . (29:61-65).
Other deities interceded with Allah on behalf of their worshippers (39:38).
Other deities interceded with Allah, 10:18, 36:23, 43:86 (Tabari, 1988, p. 6. xxii).

When Abd al-Muttalib and his companions found an inscription by digging in the desert they cried out, "Allah Akbar"(ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 63).

The Quraysh used to cry, "Allah Akbar." When Abd al-Muttalib dug Zamzam he cried, "Allah Akbar" (Ibid, p. 62).

Abd al-Muttalib, Muhammad's grandfather was a very handsome man. He was also very wealthy. Abd al-Muttalib had many wives. He prayed to Allah to bless him with ten sons. His prayer was granted. He promised to sacrifice one of his sons to Allah. His youngest son was Abd Allah. Abd al-Muttalib loved Abd Allah the most (Lings, 1983, p. 12).

When the Quraysh made it difficult for Abd al-Muttalib to dig Zamzam, he vowed that if ten sons were born to him and they reached puberty, he would sacrifice one of them.

Allah fulfilled his desire of having ten sons. The lot fell on Abdallh b. Abd Muttalib. Abd Al-Muttalib asked Allah if he should sacrifice Abdullah or 100 camels instead. He cast lots and the lot fell on 100 camels (Tabari, 1988, p. 6.2).

Allah does not necessarily mean the monotheistic Allah. Abd Al-Muttalib stood beside Hubal while praying to Allah (Ibid, foot note 4).

Abd Al-Muttalib took a large knife, took Abdallah to Isaf and Nailah, the idols of the Quraysh to sacrifice him (Ibid, p. 6.4).

While the custodian was casting lot, Abd Al-Muttalib stood beside Hubal praying to Allah. The lot fell against Abdullah (Ibid).

When Abdullah was taken for sacrifice, Abd al-Muttalib stood by Hubal and prayed to Allah. During the visit to the woman sorceress, Abd al-Muttalib prayed to Allah. A spirit used to visit this woman. She used to get inspiration from this spirit (ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 67).

When the Quraysh were carrying out the sorceress' instructions Abd al-Muttalib was praying to Allah (Ibid, p. 68).

The polytheists believed in the existence of one supreme deity- (Sahih Muslim, 7.2671).

> Sahih Muslim, Book 007, Number 2671:
> Ibn 'Abbas (Allah be pleased with them) reported that the polytheists also pronounced (Talbiya) as: Here I am at Thy service, there is no associate with Thee. The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Woe be upon them, as they also said: But one associate with Thee, you possess mastery over him, but he does not possess mastery (over you). They used to say this and circumambulated the Ka'ba.

In a foot note on this hadith, the translator of Sahih Muslim, 'Abdul Hamid Siddiqi writes:

The polytheists believed in the existence of One Supreme Deity but they also believed that there were some other deities also who were to be worshipped besides them (Siddiqi, 2004, v.2, p. .704, foot note 1596).

All those references prove, without any doubt, that the Pagans of Mecca had no problem with Allah. They were very much devoted to their Allah without any trouble whatsoever. They did not do any acts for which Muhammad should despise them and declare war on them. So why was it that Muhammad had to be so vicious towards them, to force them to believe in his version Allah? The answer to this question is that Muhammad craved attention and praise. With his lowly background and nothing to offer to the Quraysh he was searching for a method-a pretext to ridicule, despise, insult and blaspheme the Meccan Pagans and their religions to grab attention. A waif, deprived of love, affection, care and protection during childhood, he simply hankered for those exceedingly powerful human emotions.

Muhammad, therefore, turned to Allah to seek His love and absolute attention. He declared himself to be the greatest friend and confidante (as if, Allah, too, hankered for his love and care) of the Allah of the Pagan Arabs, whom all the Pagans revered with utmost ardour. This was a failsafe method by which Muhammad could get what he missed out in his dejected, lonely and featureless childhood.

Sahih Bukhari provides the reason why, all on a sudden, Allah decided to hate and deplore the Pagan Meccans. It was simply because Allah was in love with Muhammad, while the Pagans did not love him. So Allah had to abandon these Bedouin folks in favour of Muhammad. Muhammad became Allah's most favourite person. Let us read this hadith.

> Volume 2, Book 26, Number 725:
> Narrated Muhammad bin Jubair bin Mut'im:
> My father said, "(Before Islam) I was looking for my camel." The same narration is told by a different sub-narrator. Jubair bin Mut'im said, "My camel was lost and I went out in search of it on the day of 'Arafat, and I saw the Prophet standing in 'Arafat. I said to myself: By Allah he is from the Hums (literally: strictly religious, Quraish were called so, as they used to say, 'We are the people of Allah we shall not go out of the sanctuary). What has brought him here?"

The above hadith tells us that there was absolutely no reason for Allah to be angry with the Quraysh. They were utterly devoted to Him. The trouble only started when Muhammad received his claimed special love of Allah for him. Suddenly, Allah turned his face away from the Meccan; Allah became obsessed with Muhammad, abandoning the Meccan Pagans.

Allah frequently changes His name, only Muhammad was allowed to change Allah's name.

As told before, the ancient Arabs knew Allah as well as they knew their palms. They were consistent with the Allah they were devoted to- never changing His name or His attributes. On the contrary, after Muhammad came in the scene, he claimed that Allah has ninety-nine names (59:22-24). The Pagans of Mecca were not convinced because they never had the authority to change the name of Allah at their will. To this, Muhammad's response was that Allah authorised only him to change His name. This was because Allah had special love, adore and mercy for Muhammad.

Let us read the following hadith from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol. I. Hadith number 1472:
> Ubayy b. Ka'b reported: The Prophet (may peace be upon him) said: Ubayy, I was asked to recite the Qur'an. I was asked: In one mode or two modes? The angel that accompanied me said: Say in two modes. I said: In two modes. I was again asked: In two modes or three? The angel that was in my company said: Say, in three modes. So I said: In three modes. The matter reached up to seven modes. He then said: each mode is sufficiently health-giving, whether you utter "all-hearing and all-knowing" or instead "all-powerful and all-wise". This is valid until you finish the verse indicating punishment on mercy and finish the verse indicating mercy on punishment.

Here is the crux. Muhammad changed, at will, his taste even when Gabriel, Allah's postman brought from Allah instructions with stipulated specifications. Why? The answer is provided in a foot note by Professor Ahmad Hasan, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud. In a foot note on this hadith, he writes:

> The Prophet (may peace be upon him) was allowed to make minor change in the name of Allah at the end of the verses. But ordinary persons cannot be allowed to do so ('Awn al-Ma'baf, I, 551) (Hasan, 2001, v.1. p. 387, foot note 819).

After changing at will, Allah's name, Muhammad claimed that whoever believes in their meanings and acts accordingly will enter Paradise (Sahih Bukhari, 8.75.419). Muhammad even went to the extent of claiming that just by learning those ninety-nine names of his Allah one could be in Paradise (Sahih Bukhari, 3.50.894).

Curiously, some names by which Muhammad called his Allah were actually the names of Pagan idols. Benjamin Walker writes:

> Thus Wadd, a moon god was assimilated into and survived in al-Wadud, 'the Loving'; Munim, worshipped in north Arabia survives in al-Mani, 'the Withholder'; Salm, a deity of Tayma, in al-Salaam, 'the Peace'; Kaus or Kayis, regarded as the consort of Manat, is retained in al-Kawi, 'the Strong'; Aziz of north Arabia is preserved unchanged is al-Aziz, 'the Mighty'.The pre-Islamic designations of God, al-Rahman, 'the Merciful', and ar-Rahim, 'the Compassionate', remain conspicuous in Islam (Walker, 2004, p. 43).

Allah loves to be known as a deity (god or goddess).

Once we grasped what the above quote, from an eminent historian means, we should have no qualm in realising that Allah loves to be known as a deity (god or goddess). The Qur'an confirms this.

Let us read the following verses from the Qur'an

> YUSUFALI: And your Allah is One Allah: There is no god but He, Most Gracious, Most Merciful. [002.163]
> YUSUFALI: It is He Who is Allah in heaven and Allah on earth; and He is full of Wisdom and Knowledge. [043.084]

A hadith in Sunaan Abu Dawud talks about these verses. This hadith is not available online. I shall quote from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.1, hadith number 1491: Asma' daughter of Yazid reported the Prophet (may peace be upon him) as saying: Allah's Greatest Name is in these two verses: "And your deity is one deity: there is no deity but He, the Compassionate and the Merciful, and the beginning of Surah Al-Imran, "A.L.M, Allah there is no deity but He, the living, the eternal."

In the beginning Muhammad was not sure of his Allah.

When we learn what Muhammad was up to with his Allah, we can derive only one conclusion: confusion and hesitancy. In the beginning, In the beginning Muhammad was not so sure who should be his Allah-ar-Rahman, ar-Rahim, Allat, Uzza, Wadd, Hubal, Aziz-or any other numerous deities that the Meccan Pagans used to worship. Besides Hubal, Allah, Allat, Uzza, Manat-each tribe in Arabia, had their own favorite idol or deity. This is confirmed from the Sirah (biography) of ibn Ishaq. As an example, he writes that Hudhayl b. Mudrika b. Ilyas b. Mudar adopted Suwa. Suwa was at Ruhat, a place near Yanbu. Kalb b. Wabra of Quba adopted Wudd in Dumat al-Jandal (ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 36).

Even in the Qur'an we read the obsession of the Arabs with idols. Here are two verses from the Qur'an which tell us about the worshipping of various idols by the people of Noah.

Noah complained to Allah that people with money and children were the most corrupt on earth and they refused to abandon their idols Wadd, Suwa, Yaguth, Yau'q and Nasr -71:21-23.

With so much idolatry in practice and with so many deities around, Muhammad, in the beginning of his career as a Prophet, was utterly indecisive. He tried a few other brands of Allah; was disappointed with the response from his audience and changed his mind several times. In the end, he realized that all the Pagans, despite their numerous idols, had one aspect in common: all of them were wholly devoted to their moon God, Allah, because they believed that Allah had the wherewithal to inflict punishment as well as rewards. This last reason propelled Muhammad to turn to Allah to be his succor. This worked wonderfully, since no Arab could reject their variety of Allah, even tough they were also totally confused with the new version of Allah that Muhammad was pushing to them.

Here are a few comments on the hesitancy and confusion in Muhammad about his Allah.

First we read the Qur'an:

None but Allah (Muhammad uses another name, Rahman) protects during day and at night-21:42.

Muhammad has no knowledge of Allah but he only gives warning plainly and publicly; angels only bring Allah's messages to him-38:67-70.

Muhammad believed in all scriptures but he is commanded to judge between other people's books; Muslims' Allah and the Allah of the people of the Books (the Jews and the Christians) are same...42:15.

No Book was sent to the Pagans of Arabia to testify their claims of ascribing partners to ar-Rahman-43:21.

Then we read hadith.

Muhammad considered himself to be the messenger of ar-Rahman. The Meccans did not know of any ar-Rahman other than the ar-Rahman of al-Yamamah. (ibn Sa'd, 1972, p. 1.189).

The word 'ar-Rahm (womb)' derives its name from ar-Rahman (i.e., one of the names of Allah) and Allah said- (Sahih Bukhari, 8.73.17, 18).

And, finally, comments from a few eminent writers:

Was Muhammad, a warner, an admonisher or the messenger of Allah (Tabari. 1988, p. 6. xxxix)?

The word "Allah" does not occur in the earliest passages of the Qur'an or does so only rarely. The Jews and the Christians, when speaking about Allah in Arabic, presumably used the word, "Allah" (Ibid, p. 6.33).

Regis Blanchere did the latest attempts of the chronological order of the Qur'an in his French translation in 1949. In the first 17 suras, the word Allah occurs only three times namely: (91:130, 10 (95:8), 16 (87:7). Instead of Allah, we find "your Lord (rabbuka) in 96:13 or "we" in 94:14, The Satanic verses indicate the confusion between Allah conceived monotheistically and Allah as a "high Allah" (Ibid, p. 6.34).

Ar-Rab-the Lord, the Sustainer, the supreme. 3:44 (Allah) Allah is my Lord and your Lord. 18:14

Allah's Likes and Dislikes

Allah does not like any challenges

The Bedouin Pagans challenged Muhammad to prove his claims of divine inspiration from Allah. Having failed to successfully meet their challenge, Muhammad became irate, frustrated and vengeful. In Mecca, he had no raw muscle power to subdue those Quraysh who were constantly harassing him through many poems and intellectual debates. In all those debates those Pagan intellectuals beat Muhammad—hands down. Many poets in Mecca flattened Muhammad intellectually in their compositions—insisting that Muhammad's claims were nothing new. Dejected, saddened and hopelessly dispirited, Muhammad now turned to his Allah. Allah quickly sent down verses to placate his intimate, dearest friend. In these verses, Allah steadfastly asserted that He too is angered and insulted by the insolence of the Pagan Arabs who dared to impugn Him with compositions quite akin or better than the Quranic verses.

Allah promised His wrath, vengeance, terror and threatened the Quraysh Pagans with Hell if they dared to continue with their challenge to him (i.e. Muhammad). Allah was deeply perturbed with the 'puny' poems of the Meccan poets who defeated the Quran, Muhammad's composition of Allah's Words. Muhammad was unable to prove that his Quran was really from Allah. So, Allah had to come to rescue His dearest Apostle. Allah now challenged those Meccan poets to compose one sura similar to the Quran. The poets of Mecca, of course met this challenge. Angered, Allah then asked the Pagans to compose ten suras similar to the Quran. The Pagan poets duly met this challenge as well. Greatly perturbed, Allah then challenged those poets of the desert to compose a book which will be superior to the entire Quran and the Taurat (Torah) combined. Those Arab poets had no difficulty in meeting this challenge from Allah (i.e. Muhammad). Infuriated and frustrated, Allah, citing how he had, in the past, destroyed many generations for indulging in such calumny, issued warrants that henceforth He would never forgive those who dared to challenge Him (i.e. Muhammad).

Let us read a few verses from the Quran about Allah's absolute dislike for his challengers.

First, Allah challenged the Pagans to bring a sura like the Quran, if anyone doubts it… 10:38

> YUSUFALI: Or do they say, "He forged it"? say: "Bring then a Sura like unto it, and call (to your aid) anyone you can besides Allah, if it be ye speak the truth!" [Q 10.38]

Then Allah challenged the Pagans to compose ten suras similar to the Quran.

> Quran is the direct speech of God; when the unbelievers insist that Muhammad himself had written the Quran, Allah challenges them to bring ten Suras like the Quran...11:13
> YUSUFALI: Or they may say, "He forged it," Say, "Bring ye then ten suras forged, like unto it, and call (to your aid)

whomsoever ye can, other than Allah!- If ye speak the truth! [Q 11.13]

Finally, Allah challenged the Pagan poets to compose the entire Quran and the Taurat.

If the unbelievers could bring a book better than the two (Quran and Taurat?) then Muhammad would have followed that book…28:49

YUSUFALI: Say: "Then bring ye a Book from Allah, which is a better guide than either of them, that I may follow it! (do), if ye are truthful!" [Q 28.49]

Allah is now furious and in extreme frustration. He threatens with hell-fire those who dared to challenge Him. He even cites the fate of earlier generations who threw challenges to Him.

Challenging Allah is incurring hell (Allah does not like any challenges)...22:51

YUSUFALI: "But those who strive against Our Signs, to frustrate them,- they will be Companions of the Fire." [022.051]

Allah metes out a humiliating punishment to the challengers of the Quran…34:5

YUSUFALI: But those who strive against Our Signs, to frustrate them,- for such will be a Penalty,- a Punishment most humiliating. [034.005]

Allah will punish those who challenge the Quran…34:38

YUSUFALI: Those who strive against Our Signs, to frustrate them, will be given over into Punishment. [034.038]

Allah will mete out retribution to those who challenge Him…51:14

YUSUFALI: "Taste ye your trial! This is what ye used to ask to be hastened!" [051.014]

Allah does not like the tolling of bells and music

Muhammad never had any likings for music and songs. In the ancient Arabian society these two artistic skills were highly prized. This is true even today. Listen to any Arab music or songs and you will be astonished by its vibrancy, rhythm, eloquence, lilting tunes and its enthralling power to enrapt the audience. Muhammad did not posses any such skills. He had nothing to contribute to the rich culture of Arab music, song and dance. So he had to disparage the skilful music composers and their enchanting songs. The Christian Arabs used the appealing music of the bell to invite their adherents to their Churches. Muhammad hated this. So Allah also had to hate music and songs. Allah compared those who tolled the bells and composed music with the activities of Satan and promised a severe retribution to those who indulged in such pleasure. While we do not read any verse in the Quran which specifically prohibits tolling of bells or playing of music, there are plenty of hadith which do prohibit music, song and dance. In sharia law, music and dance are strictly forbidden. Let us read a few hadith on the banning of music, song and dance.

> The bell is the musical instrument of Satan… (Sahih Muslim, 24.5279)
> Book 024, Number 5279:
>
> Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: The bell is the musical instrument of the Satan.

Similar hadith are found in Sunaan Abu Dawud.

> The bell is a musical instrument of Satan…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.14.2550)
> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol ii, Book 14, Hadith Number 2550:
> Abu Hurairah reported the Prophet (may peace be upon him) as saying: The bell is wooden wind and musical instrument of Satan.

Let us read another hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud.

> Singing, playing and simple amusement without musical instrument is allowed… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.41.4905
> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol.iii, Book 41, Hadith Number 4905:
> Anas said: When the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) came to Medina, the Abyssinians played for his coming out of joy; they played with spears.

Allah likes perfume

Yes, that is correct. Imam Ghazali writes that on the Resurrection Day, Allah will wear such a perfume that its fragrance will beat even the fragrance of the musk (Ghazali, 1993, p. 4.322). This means that Allah is really physical, otherwise how could an entity wear perfume if it does not possess a physical existence?

Imam Ghazali writes:

> …The Prophet said, “There is account for everything lawful and there is punishment for what unlawful (sic). He also said: People will be asked on the resurrection day (sic) for everything, even why he applied antimony to his eyes, why he muddled the earth with his fingers, why he touched the things of his brother. He said: He applies scent for the sake when Allah will come on the Resurrection Day with such a fragrance which will become more scented than musk. He who applies it for other than Allah will come on the Resurrection Day with stench more than that of a dead animal. ….

The above passage clearly demonstrates why Allah likes to wear perfume: yes, it is because Muhammad had a great taste for musk perfume. When meeting delegates and women, he always wore that perfume. Allah also likes perfume—only for Muhammads sake.

Allah loves blind believers; He feels pleased and comfortable with them

Allah’s love for the blind believers knows no bound. Previously, we saw how much Allah hates those people who challenge Him intellectually and question about Him. Demanding unflinching devotion, allegiance and faithfulness, Allah promises His admiration and the garden of Paradise for such absolute blind followers of Islam. Let us read a few verses from the Quran which demonstrate Allah’s passionate love for His blind, ardent believers.

> Allah will admire those who put blind faith in Him; believing in Him without any question and argument…50:31–33

> YUSUFALI: And the Garden will be brought nigh to the Righteous,- no more a thing distant. [050.031]
> YUSUFALI: (A voice will say:) "This is what was promised for you,- for every one who turned (to Allah) in sincere repentance, who kept (His Law), [050.032]

> YUSUFALI: "Who feared (Allah) Most Gracious Unseen, and brought a heart turned in devotion (to Him): [050.033]

To be rewarded with fabulous richness of Paradise a believer must fear Allah, even though He is unseen. The believer must, without any hesitancy or doubt, obey Allah and His dearest companion Muhammad.

> There is a great reward for those who fear the unseen Allah...67:12

YUSUFALI: As for those who fear their Lord unseen, for them is Forgiveness and a great Reward. [067.012]

The blind believers are the true followers when they say 'we hear and we obey'…24:51

YUSUFALI: The answer of the Believers, when summoned to Allah and His Messenger, in order that He may judge between them, is no other than this: they say, "We hear and we obey": it is such as these that will attain felicity. [024.051]

A hadith in Sunaan Ibn Majah says that a true believer (Muslim) is like a camel; he follows blindly. Let us read this hadith.

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. i, Hadith Number 43:

ʻAbd ar-Rahman b. ʻAmr as-salami said that he heard ʻIrbad b. Sariya as saying, “Allah’s Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) delivered a sermon to us whereby the eyes welled forth the tears and the hearts were softened. We said, “Allah’s Messenger, this is sermon of a person bidding farewell! So what would you enjoin upon us?” He said, “I am leaving you on brightness: its night is (as bright) as its day. None would deviate from it except the one who is doomed to perish. Whoso survives would certainly find much differences (sic). Then it would be incumbent upon you to adhere to my sunna and the sunna of the righteous and pious caliphs, with which you are familiar. Hold fast it (sic) with teeth and the obedience (of the ruler) is obligatory for you even if he is an Abyssinian slave. Verily, the (true) believer is like a camel having a (pricking) bridle in its nose. To whichever direction, (sic) it is driven, it surrenders itself in submission.

Allah does not like questions about Him

Having failed to prove decisively his claim that Allah had appointed him as His agent on earth, Muhammad resorted to fear tactics He cast fear in the minds of the illiterate and uninformed Bedouin Arabs. When those handful of Arab Pagans, who had enough information and knowledge on religious matters, cornered Muhammad with embarrassing questions, Muhammad was exasperated but was unable to provide any plausible answers to their questions. He remained taciturn, vacuous, and recondite. His only response was to curse those who questioned him and doubted his claims. The upshot was that in desperation, he talked about the greatest fear in all human—the fear of death and warned those questioners that Allah will not forgive those who ask questions about the Quran and about Allah. He curtly replied their questions with Quranic verses, insisting they were from Allah. Here are a few such verses.

Do not ask questions on matters of Quran revelations...5:101

YUSUFALI: O ye who believe! Ask not questions about things which, if made plain to you, may cause you trouble. But if ye ask about things when the Qur'an is being revealed, they will be made plain to you, Allah will forgive those: for Allah is Oft-forgiving, Most Forbearing. [005.101*]*

Asking questions about Quran may cause one to lose faith...5:102

YUSUFALI: Some people before you did ask such questions, and on that account lost their faith. [005.102]

Do not question Allah for His acts but He will question everyone...21:23

YUSUFALI: And if ye are in doubt as to what We have revealed from time to time to Our servant, then produce a Sura like there unto; and call your witnesses or helpers (If there are any) besides Allah, if your (doubts) are true. [002.023]

It is utter impudence for men to question about how their petrified bones will become alive on the resurrection day… 36:78

YUSUFALI: And he makes comparisons for Us, and forgets his own (origin and) Creation: He says, "Who can give life to (dry) bones and decomposed ones (at that)?" [036.078]

None should question about Allah's retribution; you should be crying instead of laughing and bow down to Him… 53:59-62

YUSUFALI: Do ye then wonder at this recital? [053.059]
YUSUFALI: And will ye laugh and not weep,- [053.060]
YUSUFALI: Wasting your time in vanities? [053.061]
YUSUFALI: But fall ye down in prostration to Allah, and adore (Him)! [Q 053.062]

It is a great insolent to question the resurrection day when you are alive…75:5-6

YUSUFALI: But man wishes to do wrong (even) in the time in front of him. [075.005]
YUSUFALI: He questions: "When is the Day of Resurrection?" [075.006]

And here is a hadith from Sahih Bukhari which tells us that if you question about the ancestry of Allah, you are a Satan.

> Whoever questions who created Allah is Satan… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.496).
> Volume 4, Book 54, Number 496: Narrated Abu Huraira:
> Allah's Apostle said, "Satan comes to one of you and says, 'Who created so-and-so? 'till he says, 'Who has created your Lord?' So, when he inspires such a question, one should seek refuge with Allah and give up such thoughts."

Sahih Muslim also confirms that a doubter of Allah and Muhammad is a Satan.

> It is Satan who asks such questions as who created the heaven, who created the earth; answer such questions with, “It is Allah.”… (Sahih Muslim, 1.0242, 0243).
> Book 001, Number 0242:
> It is narrated on the authority of Abu Huraira that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Men will continue to question one another till this is propounded: Allah created all things but who created Allah? He who found himself confronted with such a situation should say: I affirm my faith in Allah.
>
> Book 001, Number 0243:
>
> This hadith has been transmitted by Mahmud b. Ghailan by another chain of transmitters (and the words are): The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: The Satan will come to everyone of you and say: Who created the heaven, who created the earth? (And the man) replies: It is Allah, Then the remaining part of the hadith was narrated as mentioned above and the words 'His Prophets" were added to it.

Allah does not like a woman who refuses to have sex with her husband.

There are a number of hadith which tell us Allah's great obsession with women and sex. Allah wanted all Arab Bedouins who converted to Islam to have sex aplenty. Allah was fearful that if those uncouth, Bedouin jihadists did not have unrestricted sex with women, especially with those women captives of war, these nascent fighters of Allah will lose motivation to continue. Here is a sample hadith from Sahih Muslim.

Allah gets displeased with the woman who does not immediately respond when her husband demands sex from her… (Sahih Muslim, 8.3367, 3368).

> Book 008, Number 3367:
> Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: By Him in Whose Hand is my life, when a man calls his wife to his bed, and she does not respond, the One Who is in the heaven is displeased with her until he (her husband) is pleased with her.

In fact, Allah says that a woman must sexually satisfy her husband even when on top of a camel… (Ibn Majah, 3.1853). Let us read this hadith.

> Ibn Majah, Vol. iii, hadith Number 1853:
> ʻAbdullah b. Abi' Auta (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said that when Mu'adh (Allah be pleased with him) came from Syria, he prostrated before the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him). He (the Holy Prophet) said, "O Mu'adh, what is it?" He replied, "I went to Syria and found them (the Syrians) prostrating before their archbishops and their emperors. I liked it in my heart that we should do so for you." Upon this, Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be with him) remarked, "Don't do so. If I were to command anyone to prostrate before anyone besides Allah, I would have commanded the wife to prostrate before her spouse. By him in Whose Hand lies my life, a woman can not carry out the right of her to surrender herself (to him for sexual intercourse) she should not refuse him even if she is on a camel's saddle.
> According to Zawaid, Ibn Hibban transmitted it in his Sahih. Sandi said, "It is as if he means that it is hadith having good isnad.

The reason why a woman's primary Islamic duty is to satisfy her husband's sexual desire is also explained in a few hadith. Let us read them.

A woman is a sexual property, the righteous woman is the best property…(Ibn Majah, 3.1855).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iii, Hadith Number 1855:

ʻAbdullah b. ʻAmr (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Verily, the world is a property and nothing of the property of the world is better than a righteous woman.

Muhammad Tufail Ansari, the translator of Ibn Majah, in a note, explains this hadith in this manner:

The word mata has many connotations. It implies enjoyment, pleasure, object of delight, possession, merchandise, household effects, articles (sic) of everyday use. All these connotations are applicable here.

Marriage makes vagina lawful to a man… (Ibn Majah, 3.1954).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iii, Hadith Number 1954:

ʻUqba b. ʻAmir (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said on the authority of the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), "The most worthy condition that must be fulfilled is that which makes vagina lawful for you."

A husband is the owner of his wives chastity.. (Ibn Majah, 3.2388).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iii, Hadith Number2388:

ʻAmr b. Shu'aib (Allah be pleased with him) reported his father to have said on his grandfather's authority that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said in a sermon he delivered, "It is not lawful for a woman (to make a donation) from her property but with the consent of her husband when he becomes the owner of her chastity (i.e. when he marries her).

Allah likes Muslims who beat their wives and treat them as domestic animals

Thanks to the power of the Internet, it is now widely known that Islam allows Muslim husbands to physically beat their wives. This deep secret and shame of Islam is finally out quite extensively to the world. Here is the verse from the Quran which permits a Muslim husband to beat his wife/wives whenever he wished to do so. In this verse the reason why Allah allowed men to beat their wives is also provided. It is because the men are the owners of their women (wives and sex–slaves). In part-3(ii) of this series we learned from a few authentic hadith that a woman is a husband's property or chattel and that the husband is the owner of his wives' private parts, including every element of her reproductive organ (read more on this here and here). See Islamic beating of women here.

> Men are protectors and maintainers of women; women must be devoutly obedient, if not then beat them...4:34

> YUSUFALI: Men are the protectors and maintainers of women, because Allah has given the one more (strength) than the other, and because they support them from their means. Therefore the righteous women are devoutly obedient, and guard in (the husband's) absence what Allah would have them guard. As to those women on whose part ye fear disloyalty and ill-conduct, admonish them (first), (Next), refuse to share their beds, (And last) beat them (lightly); but if they return to obedience, seek not against them Means (of annoyance): For Allah is Most High, great (above you all). [Q4:34]

When reading the above translation, please ignore the words inside the parenthesis. They were inserted by Abdullah Yusuf Ali, who was deeply embarrassed and ostensibly wanted to portray the Quran as a merciful book, especially towards women. The original Quran does not have the word 'lightly'.

The following verse from the Quran tells us that a true believer (i.e., a true Muslim) is not hesitant to beat his wives. In this verse Allah is talking about his ardent slave, Prophet Job (Ayub).

> Allah asked Job to beat his wife with a little grass (or a green branch?); he was a true believer (Allah likes wife-beating)…38:41–44

> YUSUFALI: Commemorate Our Servant Job. Behold he cried to his Lord: "The Evil One has afflicted me with distress and suffering!" [Q038.041]

> YUSUFALI: (The command was given:) "Strike with thy foot: here is (water) wherein to wash, cool and refreshing, and (water) to drink." [Q038.042]

> YUSUFALI: And We gave him (back) his people, and doubled their number,- as a Grace from Ourselves, and a thing for commemoration, for all who have Understanding. [Q038.043]

> YUSUFALI: "And take in thy hand a little grass, and strike therewith: and break not (thy oath)." Truly We found him full of patience and constancy. How excellent in Our service! ever did he turn (to Us)! [Q038.044]

If you are confused then reads the translation (38:44) by Shakir.

> SHAKIR: And take in your hand a green branch and beat her with It (sic)and do not break your oath; surely We found him patient; most excellent the servant! Surely he was frequent m returning (to Allah).

Now, here is a hadith which tells us that a Muslim man does not need to provide any reason to beat his wife/wives. Allah has bestowed the absolute right to Muslim men to beat women, whenever and wherever they wish. Please note that this hadith has been narrated by Umar, the mighty Caliph of Islam.

> A man will not be asked as to why he beat his wife... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 11.2142).
> Book 11, Number 2142: Narrated Umar ibn al-Khattab:
> The Prophet (peace_be_upon_him) said: A man will not be asked as to why he beat his wife.

Even Muhammad's dearest wife, Aisha complained that the Muslim women received the worst beating from their husbands.

Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Bukhari.

> A woman received worst beating from her impotent husband (Aisha: Muslim women were the worst sufferers); Muhammad approved the beating...(Sahih Bukhari, 7.72.715).
> Volume 7, Book 72, Number 715: Narrated 'Ikrima:
> Rifa'a divorced his wife whereupon 'AbdurRahman bin Az-Zubair Al-Qurazi married her. 'Aisha said that the lady (came), wearing a green veil (and complained to her (Aisha) of her husband and showed her a green spot on her skin caused by beating). It was the habit of ladies to support each other, so when Allah's Apostle came, 'Aisha said, "I have not seen any woman (sic) suffering as much as the believing women. Look! Her skin is greener than her clothes!" When 'AbdurRahman heard that his wife had gone to the Prophet, he came with his two sons from another wife. She said, "By Allah! I have done no wrong to him but he is impotent and is as useless to me as this," holding and showing the fringe of her garment, 'Abdur-Rahman said, "By Allah, O Allah's Apostle! She has told a lie! I am very strong and can satisfy her but she is disobedient and wants to go back to Rifa'a." Allah's Apostle said, to her, "If that is your intention, then know that it is unlawful for you to remarry Rifa'a unless Abdur-Rahman has had sexual intercourse with you." Then the Prophet saw two boys with 'Abdur-Rahman and asked (him), "Are these your sons?" On that 'AbdurRahman said, "Yes." The Prophet said, "You claim what you claim (i.e. that he is impotent)? But by Allah, these boys resemble him as a crow resembles a crow,"

Has Muhammad ever beaten any women? To answer this formidable question let us read these hadith from Sahih Bukhari.

A dignified woman, Jauniyaa (a princess) was brought to Muhammad to have sex with him but she was reluctant to give herself to Muhammad; Muhammad was angry and raised his hand to beat her... (Sahih Bukhari, 7.63.181, 182)

Volume 7, Book 63, Number 181: Narrated Al-Awza:

I asked Az-Zuhri, "Which of the wives of the Prophet sought refuge with Allah from him?" He said "I was told by 'Ursa that 'Aisha said, 'When the daughter of Al-Jaun was brought to Allah's Apostle (as his bride) and he went near her, she said, "I seek refuge with Allah from you." He said, "You have sought refuge with The Great; return to your family."

Volume 7, Book 63, Number 182: Narrated Abu Usaid:

We went out with the Prophet to a garden called Ash-Shaut till we reached two walls between which we sat down. The Prophet said, "Sit here," and went in (the garden). The Jauniyya (a lady from Bani Jaun) had been brought and lodged in a house in a date-palm garden in the home of Umaima bint An-Nu'man bin Sharahil, and her wet nurse was with her. When the Prophet entered upon her, he said to her, "Give me yourself (in marriage) as a gift." She said, "Can a princess give herself in marriage to an ordinary man?" The Prophet raised his hand to pat her so that she might become tranquil. She said, "I seek refuge with Allah from you." He said, "You have sought refuge with One Who gives refuge. Then the Prophet came out to us and said, "O Abu Usaid! Give her two white linen dresses to wear and let her go back to her family." Narrated Sahl and Abu Usaid: The Prophet > married Umaima bint Sharahil, and when she was brought to him, he stretched his hand towards her. It seemed that she disliked that, whereupon the Prophet ordered Abu Usaid to prepare her and to provide her with two white linen dresses. (See Hadith No. 541).

Please ignore the word ‘in marriage’ inserted inside the parentheses by the translator. Muhammad clearly wanted free sex from this princess (taken as a captive in an Islamic raid), as he asked her to surrender her person to him as a gift. In Islam one is not allowed even to look at an unrelated stranger woman. So how could Muhammad simply ‘pat’ her either on her shoulder, cheek or back?

Muhammad even beat or punched his dearest wife, Aisha. Let us read this hadith from Sahih Muslim

> When sleeping with Aisha, Muhammad surreptitiously left his bed and went to the graveyard at Baqi; Aisha spied on him and followed Muhammad; when Muhammad learned Aisha’s misdeed he hit her (beat her) on her chest that caused much pain to Aisha…4.2127

> Book 004, Number 2127:

> Muhammad b. Qais said (to the people): Should I not narrate to you (a hadith of the Holy Prophet) on my authority and on the authority of my mother? We thought that he meant the mother who had given him birth. He (Muhammad b. Qais) then reported that it was 'A'isha who had narrated this: Should I not narrate to you about myself and about the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him)? We said: Yes. She said: When it was my turn for Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) to spend the night with me, he turned his side, put on his mantle and took off his shoes and placed them near his feet, and spread the corner of his shawl on his bed and then lay down till he thought that I had gone to sleep. He took hold of his mantle slowly and put on the shoes slowly, and opened the door and went out and then closed it lightly. I covered my head, put on my veil and tightened my waist wrapper, and then went out following his steps till he reached Baqi'. He stood there and he stood for a long time. He then lifted his hands three times, and then returned and I also returned. He hastened his steps and I also hastened my steps. He ran and I too ran. He came (to the house) and I also came (to the house). I, however, preceded him and I entered (the house), and as I lay down in the bed, he (the Holy Prophet) entered the (house), and said: Why is it, O 'A'isha, that you are out of breath? I said: There is nothing. He said: Tell me or the Subtle and the Aware would inform me. I said: Messenger > of Allah, may my father and mother be ransom for you, and then I told him (the whole story). He said: Was it the darkness (of your shadow) that I saw in front of me? I said: Yes. He struck me on the chest which caused me pain, and then said: Did you think that Allah and His Apostle would deal unjustly with you? She said: Whatsoever the people conceal, Allah will know it. He said: Gabriel came to me when you saw me. He called me and he concealed it from you. I responded to his call, but I too concealed it from you (for he did not come to you), as you were not fully dressed. I thought that you had gone to sleep, and I did not like to awaken you, fearing that you may be frightened. He (Gabriel) said: Your Lord has commanded you to go to the inhabitants of Baqi' (to those lying in the graves) and beg pardon for them. I said: Messenger of Allah, how should I pray for them (How should I beg forgiveness for them)? He said: Say, Peace be upon the inhabitants of this city (graveyard) from among the Believers and the Muslims, and may Allah have mercy on those who have gone ahead of us, and those who come later on, and we shall, God willing, join you.

Lastly, here is what Allah had told the Mumin Muslims during the last pilgrimage of Muhammad.

Women are domestic animals; beat them (Tabari, 1990, pp. 9.112-114)

This narration is quite lengthy. I shall quote only the relevant part. Please note that al-Tabari sources this hadith from this chain of narrators:

> Ibn Humayd—Salamah—Ibn Ishaq—‘Abdallah b. Abi Najih:
> ...“Now then, O people, you have a right over your wives and they have a right over you. You have [the right] that they should not cause anyone of whom you dislike to tread your beds, and that they should not commit any open indecency (fahishah). If they do, then God permits you to shut them in separate rooms and to beat them, but not severely. If they abstain from [evil], they have the right to their food and clothing in accordance with custom (bi’l-maruf). Treat women well, for they are [like] domestic animals (‘awan) with you and do not possess anything for themselves. You have taken them only as a trust from God, and you have made the enjoyment of their persons lawful by the word of God, so understand and listen to my words, O people. I have conveyed the Message, and have left you with something which, if you hold fast to it, you will never go astray; that > is, the Book of God and the sunnah of His Prophet. Listen to my words, O people, for I have conveyed the message and understand [it]. Know for certain that every Muslim is a brother of another Muslim, and that all Muslims are brethren. It is not lawful for a person [to take] from his brother except that which he has given him willingly, so do not wrong.

Allah hates the private parts of His believers, especially Muslimahs' private parts

According to Islam, Allah had created every part of a human being. Without any of these parts our body cannot function efficiently, especially our private organs. Without them no creature on earth could survive. Surprisingly, Allah hates these crucial organs. His greatest distaste is reserved for the sexual organs of human beings, especially those of women. Allah just hates women's sexual organs. That is why he commands all Muslimahs to be inside Burka, theIslamic mobile tent, you might call them.

Let us read a few hadith on Allah's great distaste for women's pudenda.

> If a woman puts off her clothes in a place other than her house then she tears the veil between her and Allah… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 31.3999)

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Book 31, Number 3999: Narrated Aisha, Ummul Mu'minin:
> AbulMalih said: Some women of Syria came to Aisha. She asked them: From whom are you? They replied: From the people of Syria. She said: Perhaps you belong to the place where women enter hot baths (for washing). The said: Yes. She said: I heard the Apostle of Allah (peace_be_upon_him) say: If a woman puts off her clothes in a place other than her house, she tears the veil between her and Allah, the Exalted.

> You can show your private parts only to your wives and your slave women; in public no one should look at private parts of each other; when alone you should also show shyness to Allah, do not be naked when alone…(Sahih Bukhari, 31.4006).

> Aisha never saw Muhammad's private parts (ibn Sa'd, p.1.179).

> 'Abd al-Hamid al-Himmani informed us on the authority of Sufyan at-Thawri, he on the authority of Mansur, he on the authority of Musa Ibn 'Abd Allah Ibn Yazid, he on the authority of a woman, she on the > authority of ‘Ayisha; she said: I never saw the (private parts) of the Prophet, may Allah bless him.

Allah likes Muslims who sexually molest small child-girls

Allah allows Muslim men to sexually molest, child girls—even baby girls. Allah had allowed Muhammad to do this. So, this provision is applicable to all Muslims.

The following verse in the Quran tells us that a Muslim man can marry a child girl who is yet to attain puberty, that is, who has not yet started her period.

> For menopause women, the waiting time for divorce is three months, same for women who are yet to menstruate (i.e., a Muslim man can have sex with a girl who has not yet started menstruating–a child-girl); for the pregnant women, the waiting time is until she delivers the child...65:4-5

Allah’s messenger, Muhammad did just this. He married a little girl, Aisha, his friend Abu Bakr’s daughter when she was merely six years old. Muhammad then had sex with her when she turned nine. In recent times much has been written about this child-bride of Muhammad. I shall just cite a few hadith on Allah’s permission to marry a child-girl.

> Khadijah died three years before Muhammad went to Medina; he then married Aisha when she was six and consummated the marriage when she turned nine... (Sahih Bukhari, 5.58.236)

> Muhammad married Aisha when she was six and she went to live with Muhammad when she was nine. Aisha’s mother prepared Aisha to live with Muhammad… (Sahih Muslim, 8.3309, 3310)

Muhammad even wanted to marry a crawling baby-girl. Let us read what ibn Ishaq, the most authentic biographer of Muhammad wrote about this.

> (Suhayli, ii.79: In the riwaya of Yunus I. I recorded that the apostle saw her (Ummu’l–Fadl) when she was a baby crawling before him and said, ‘If she grows up and I am still alive I will marry her.’ But he died before she grew up and Sufyan b. al-Aswad b. ‘Abdu’l-Asad al-Makhzumi married her and she bore him Rizq and Lubaba… (ibn Ishaq, 2001, p. 311).

Here are a few hadith that tell us how Muhammad used to fondle a child-girl Aisha. This is Allah’s permission to sexually molest a little girl—about nine or ten years old.

> During her period Muhammad used to fondle Aisha in bath … (Sahih Bukhari, 1.6.298)
> Muhammad put his cheek and chest in between the naked thighs of a menstruating Aisha... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 1.0270)
> After sexual intercourse with Aisha and Maimuna, Muhammad washed his penis by pouring water from his left hand then he performed ablution… (Sahih Muslim, 3.0616, 0620).
> After sexual intercourse Muhammad and Aisha used to take bath from the same container… (Sahih Muslim, 3.0625, 0628, 0629, 0630).

Allah will not look at those who trail their garments

Allah does not like people who dress in a royal manner.

> Muhammad possessed deep hatred for all rulers and so does Allah. He even hated the manners in which they dressed, so much so, that anyone who dressed in the fashion of a king Muhammad cursed him. Here is a hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud.
> > If anyone trails his garment arrogantly Allah will not look at him on the Resurrection Day… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.32.4074).
> > This hadith is not available online. So let me quote it from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.
> > Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol.iii, Hadith number 4074:
> > Ibn ‘Umar reported the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: If anyone trails his garment arrogantly, Allah will not look at him on the Day of Resurrection. Then Abu Bakr said: One of the sides of my lower garment trails, but still I remain careful about it. He said: You are not of those who do so conceitedly.

Allah loves to terrorize infidels

> Allah casts terror in the hearts of unbelievers; they will reside in hell...3:151

> Go forth to fight alone or in parties all together (Islamist terrorists in Bangladesh, like Jamiatul Mujahidin use this verse to justify their terror actions)...4:71
> Strike terror in the hearts of the unbelievers; smite the unbelievers at their necks (i.e. behead the non-Muslims) and cut off their fingers...8:12

Allah loves bad breath of Muslims

Allah loves unhygienic Muslims. Allah has special favour for those Muslims who fast and resort to unhygienic oral health, that is: they do not brush teeth during fasting hour. Allah considers the foul smell emanating from such fasting believers as the smell of best perfume on earth. The smellier the breath, the more powerful the perfume is, believe it or not. This might explain why most Islamic Paradises have such enormous health and hygiene problems. It is Allah's wish that the ardent Muslims must resort to unhygienic oral practices. Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Bukhari.

> The smell of the mouth of a fasting person is better to Allah than the smell of musk… (Sahih Bukhari, 7.72.811).
> Volume 7, Book 72, Number 811: Narrated Abu Huraira :
> The Prophet said, "(Allah said), 'Every good deed of Adam's son is for him except fasting; it is for Me. and I shall reward (the fasting person) for it.' Verily, the smell of the mouth of a fasting person is better to Allah than the smell of musk."

Allah loves to see His believers (Muslims) fall ill and suffer torment, except when the Muslims kill non-Muslims

Earlier, we noted that Allah loves to frighten and torment the believers. One of the methods by which Allah inflicts torment to the believers is through disease, ill health, poor nutrition and what not. Have a look at the television programs depicting hungry, malnourished, skeletal, diseased children and adults. In almost all cases they will be from such Islamic Paradises as: Mali, Mauritania, Sudan, Nigeria, Bangladesh, Pakistan, and Afghanistan—virtually all the Muslim or Muslim- majority countries save a few oil-reach Arab nations. We should not be surprised at this. Please read the following hadith where Allah glorifies disease, murrains, pestilence, malnutrition, draught and poverty. These scourges of humanity are Allah's blessings on His ardent believers.

> Allah may test believers by afflicting them with leprosy, baldness and blindness… (Sahih Muslim, 42.7071)

Let us read another lengthy hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud:

> Allah likes illness; He expiates sins through illness (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.20.2083).

Commenting on this hadith, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud admits that Allah does, indeed like illness and disease. Let us read his comment.

> Allah is so kind to Muslims that He remits their sins by their illness. The Prophet (may peace be upon him) has pointed out that a Muslim should bear illness cheerfully. It serves as atonement for his sins (Hasan, 2001, vol. ii, p. 879, foot note 2557).

We may be surprised that Allah has a condition by which He might let a Muslim recover from His affliction of illness. The requirement is that the recovered person should go and kill non-Muslims. We might find this impossible to believe. But here it is, in writing. Let us read this hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud.

> Book 20, Number 3101: Narrated Abdullah ibn Amr ibn al-'As:
> The Prophet (peace_be_upon_him) said: When a man comes to visit a sick person, he should say: O Allah, cure Thy servant, who may then wreak havoc on an enemy for Thy sake, or walk at a funeral for Thy sake.

As usual, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud, in a foot note completely agrees with Allah, that one should pray for a Muslim to recover from illness so that he is ready to destroy non-Muslims (Ibid, p.884, foot note 2571).

Allah curses poets except those who praise Him and Muhammad

Allah's great dislike for poets should not surprise us. We read before that Muhammad could not answer the Arab poets who composed better verses than Muhammad's Quran. As a result of such calumnies from those insolent poets, Allah too was angry with them. Along with Muhammad, Allah cursed the poets and their poems. Here are some verses from the Quran to demonstrate Allah's boundless ire, reserved especially for the poets who dared to challenge Muhammad.

> Poets are evils; those who follow poets are in error; they are mischievous and do not practice what they preach… 26:224–226
> YUSUFALI: And the Poets,- It is those straying in Evil, who follow them [026.224]
> YUSUFALI: Seest thou not that they wander distracted in every valley?- [026.225]

> YUSUFALI: And that they say what they practise not? [026.226]

But Allah also practices double standard. Frustrated with his feeble response to the giant Pagan poets of those days, Muhammad hastened to commission a poet, Hasan b. Thabit to compose poetry for Allah. This pleased Allah so much that He quickly sent down from sky a revelation approving Muhammad's appointment of poets to lambaste the Arab bards. Mind you, Allah's poets must have a deep hatred and vengeance towards the infidels. Only and only then Allah will like them. Mere composition of liturgy for Allah's praise is not enough; the Islamic poets must compose poems declaring their deep hatred for the non-Muslims.

> Those poets who are believers, who fear Allah and are revengeful towards the unbelievers, are liked by Allah… 26:227

> YUSUFALI: Except those who believe, work righteousness, engage much in the remembrance of Allah, and defend themselves only after they are unjustly attacked. And soon will the unjust assailants know what vicissitudes their affairs will take! [026.227]

Allah likes the Arabian people; He sent Quran to them

Islam claims to be a universal religion. But is it really so? The following verse tells us that Allah sent Muhammad exclusively to the Arabs. It was because Allah claims that before Muhammad no Prophet was sent to the Arabs. Thus, with so much love in mind for the Arabs, Allah sent down Muhammad as a mercy to them.

Let us read verse 32:3

> The Quran is not forged; it is a warner to people who had no apostle before Muhammad (that is, Quran is for the people of Arabian Peninsula)...32:3

> YUSUFALI: Or do they say, "He has forged it"? Nay, it is the Truth from thy Lord, that thou mayest admonish a people to whom no warner has come before thee: in order that they may receive guidance. [032.003]

Thus, the Quran, strictly speaking, is only for the people of Arabian Peninsula, if we are to believe Allah's words.

Allah loves to curse the Jews and the Christians

With so much daily hatred aired in television news, this should not surprise anyone. We witness, almost on a daily basis, how Allah's soldiers (Hamas, Hezbollah, Islamic Jihad, al–Qaeda, Lashkar-e-Taiba, Jaishe Muhammad and so on) spits out venom towards all the Kafirs, especially the Jews and the Christians. Each and every failure in the Islamic world is ascribed to the deep conspiracy of the Zionists and the infidels. The Islamic world pretends, as if the non-Muslim world owes them a living. One might assume that once the un-Islamic world heeds to all the demands of the Islamic world, the unbound rage of Islam will subside. We must perish this thought, for the limitless Islamic hatred is for eternity. Even when the infidels accede to all the demands and satisfy all the hunger of the Islamic world the hatred will not go away. Here are the reasons. Please refer to the Quran where Allah terms the Jews and infidels as pigs, monkeys (5:60) and worse than cattle and animals (24:44).

Here are a few hadith which express Allah's unremitting hatred for the Kafirs, especially for the Jews and the Christians.

> Muhammad requested Allah to curse the Jews and the Christians because they built places of worship at the graves of their Prophets… (Sahih Bukhari, 1.8.427, 428)
> Volume 1, Book 8, Number 427: Narrated 'Aisha and 'Abdullah bin 'Abbas:
> When the last moment of the life of Allah's Apostle came he started putting his 'Khamisa' on his face and when he felt hot and short of breath he took it off his face and said, "May Allah curse the Jews and Christians for they built the places of worship at the graves of their Prophets." The Prophet was warning (Muslims) of what those had done.
> The Jews and the Christians used to pray Asr prayer but Allah gave them less rewards than the Muslims … (Sahih Bukhari, 1.10.532)
> Volume 1, Book 10, Number 532: Narrated Salim bin 'Abdullah:
> My father said, "I heard Allah's Apostle saying, 'The period of your stay as compared to the previous nations is like the period equal to the time between the 'Asr prayer and sunset. The people of the Torah were given the Torah and they acted (upon it) till mid-day then they were exhausted and were given one Qirat (of gold) each. And then the people of the Gospel were given the Gospel and they acted (upon it) till the 'Asr prayer then they were exhausted and were! given one Qirat each. And then we were given the Qur'an and we acted (upon it) till sunset and we were given two Qirats each. On that the people of both the scriptures said, 'O our Lord! You have given them two Qirats and given us one Qirat, though we have worked more than they.' Allah said, 'Have I usurped some of your right?' They said, 'No.' Allah said: "That is my blessing I bestow upon whomsoever I wish."

Allah likes dirty feet and unkempt hair

If we are perturbed at Allah's fascination for bad breath, poverty, illness, disease, torment and illiteracy, we should not be taken aback that Allah loves dirty Muslims. In fact, He has reserved His unlimited blessing and mercy for those Muslims who have dirty feet and dishevelled hair. The dustier the feet the better they are—Paradise is guaranteed.

> If feet are covered with dust for Allah's cause then Allah will them from hell-fire... (Sahih Bukhari, 2.13.30)
> Volume 2, Book 13, Number 30: Narrated Abu 'Abs:
> I heard the Prophet saying, "Anyone whose feet are covered with dust in Allah's cause, shall be saved by Allah from the Hell-Fire."

Allah loves dirty, dusty feet, dishevelled hair, beggars and mendicants. A visit to any Islamic country will confirm this. Pay a visit to an Islamic Paradises, like Bangladesh, Pakistan, Sudan, Nigeria or Mauritania and you will be amazed at the number of beggars who are engaged in this profession for the sake of Allah. Let us see why this is so. We will read the following hadith.

> Allah loves people with dishevelled hair who are driven away from door… (Sahih Muslim, 40.6836)
> Book 040, Number 6836:
> Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: Many a people with dishevelled hair are driven away from the door (but they are so pious) that if they are to swear in the name of Allah, He would definitely fulfil that.

While reading the above hadith please ignore the comment inside brackets. Embarrassed, the translator has introduced them.

Even Allah's courier, Gabriel, had a dirty, dusty head. Aisha confirmed this. The eminent Islamist historian, Baladhuri writes:

> Gabriel appears to Prophet. 'Abd-al-Wahid ibn Ghiyath from 'Aishah: When the Prophet was done with the battle of al-Ahzab, he went into the wash-room in > order to wash. There Gabriel appeared to him and said, “Muhammad, thou hast laid down thy arms; but we have not yet. Hasten against he banu-Kuraizah.” ‘Aishah upon this said to the Prophet: “O Prophet of Allah, I have seen him [Gabriel] through a hole in the door with the dust around his head! (Baladhuri, 2002, p. 40).”

Allah likes Muslims with long, hanging hair

Yes, that’s right. Why should Allah like such hippy–fashioned, rock–style singer-like performers? It is because Muhammad kept long hair. Muhammad loved to copy the biblical Prophets—in all aspects of them. He even copied their hair-styles, especially the hair-style of Moses. See Muhammad’s pictures here.

Let us read these two hadith.

> Muhammad used to copy the people of the scriptures with hanging hairs.... (Sahih Bukhari, 4.56.758)
> Volume 4, Book 56, Number 758: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas:
> Allah's Apostle used to let his hair hang down while the infidels used to part their hair. The people of the Scriptures were used to letting their hair hang down and Allah's Apostle liked to follow the people of the Scriptures in the matters about which he was not instructed otherwise. Then Allah's Apostle parted his hair.
> Muhammad used to copy the people of the scriptures in matters where there was no order from Allah... (Sahih Bukhari, 7.72.799)
>
> Volume 7, Book 72, Number 799: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas:
> The Prophet used to copy the people of the Scriptures in matters in which there was no order from Allah. The people of the Scripture used to let their hair hang down while the Pagans used to part their hair. So the Prophet let his hair hang down first, but later on he parted it.

Allah loves to behead and burn people

Allah’s method of killing people is either by burning or by beheading. This should not surprise us as we watch in television how Allah’s minions are beheading hostages in Iraq and Afghanistan.

> Muhammad ordered to kill someone and not to burn him because only Allah punishes with fire… (Sahih Bukhari,

4.52.259)

Volume 4, Book 52, Number 259: Narrated Abu Huraira:

> Allah's Apostle sent us in a mission (i.e. an army-unit) and said, "If you find so-and-so and so-and-so, burn both of them with fire." When we intended to depart, Allah's Apostle said, "I have ordered you to burn so-and-so and so-and-so, and it is none but Allah Who punishes with fire, so, if you find them, kill them."

Even Baladhuri confirms that Allah likes beheading. And as the head is severed from the neck, a good Muslim should shout 'Allahu Akbar'. Allah loves those Muslims who behead infidels in this manner.

> Allah likes beheading—Kais cut off the head of al-Aswad and shouted 'Allah is great' (Baladhuri, 2002, p. 161]

See Islamic beheading here.

Allah loves to kill apostates; He is scared of them

Below, I have summarised a few verses from the Quran which clearly call for the murder of the deserters of Islam:

> Seize and slay the renegades (i.e., apostates) wherever you find them (death for the apostates as per Baydawi; ref. Leaving Islam, p. 17, as per the translator of Noble Quran kill those who reject Islam after accepting it)...4:89

> If the enemies violate their oaths (i.e., if they apostatize or do not accept Islam) and taunt the faith then fight them (i.e., death for the apostates as per Maudoodi; ref. Leaving Islam, p. 18)...9:12

> Covenant with Allah must be honoured; deserters (apostates) cannot escape death or being killed (death for the apostates)...33:15-16

> Allah curses the hypocrites, diseased hearts; they are not able to stay as Muhammad's neighbour; wherever they are found they will be seized and slain mercilessly (i.e., kill the apostates and the hypocrites) …33:60-61

> There is a terrible penalty for those who dispute about Allah after accepting Islam (apostates)...42:16

And here are a few hadith on how apostasy against Islam was treated during Muhammad's time.

> Muhammad ordered to kill the apostates; if somebody (a Muslim) discards his religion, kill him') …4.52.260
> Volume 4, Book 52, Number 260: Narrated Ikrima:
> Ali burnt some people and this news reached Ibn 'Abbas, who said, "Had I been in his place I would not have burnt them, as the Prophet said, 'Don't punish (anybody) with Allah's Punishment.' No doubt, I would have killed them, for the Prophet said, 'If somebody (a Muslim) discards his religion, kill him.' "
> Khalid killed some apostates and ordered those taken as captives to be killed too... (Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.628).
> Volume 5, Book 59, Number 628: Narrated Salim's father:
> The Prophet sent Khalid bin Al-Walid to the tribe of Jadhima and Khalid invited them to Islam but they could not express themselves by saying, "Aslamna (i.e. we have embraced Islam)," but they started saying "Saba'na! Saba'na (i.e. we have come out of one religion to another)." Khalid kept on killing (some of) them and taking (some of) them as captives and gave every one of us his Captive. When there came the day then Khalid ordered that each man (i.e. Muslim soldier) should kill his captive, I said, "By Allah, I will not kill my captive, and none of my companions will kill his captive." When we reached the Prophet, we mentioned to him the whole story. On that, the Prophet raised both his hands and said twice, "O Allah! I am free from what Khalid has done."
> An apostate was killed for no reason (long hadith, click to read)... (Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.630).
> M'uadh would not sit down until the apostate was killed (long hadith, click the link)... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.84.58)
> Whoever changed his Islamic religion must be killed... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.84.57)
>
> Volume 9, Book 84, Number 57: Narrated 'Ikrima:
> Some Zanadiqa (atheists) were brought to 'Ali and he burnt them. The news of this event, reached Ibn 'Abbas who said, "If I had been in his place, I would not have > burnt them, as Allah's Apostle forbade it, saying, 'Do not punish anybody with Allah's punishment (fire).' I would have killed them according to the statement of Allah's Apostle, 'Whoever changed his Islamic religion, then kill him.'"

Allah loves pebbles and stones, especially odd numbers of them; they are His mercy

Do not remove pebbles while praying; pebbles are mercy of Allah... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.0945)

Book 3, Number 0945:

Narrated AbuDharr:

The Prophet (peace_be_upon_him) said: When one of you gets up to pray, he must not remove pebbles, for mercy is facing him.

The above hadith tells us that Allah, truly, is represented by pebbles.

But Muhammad did not hesitate to tell his people to use stone to cleanse their private parts. This must reflect on the dual character of Allah/Muhammad.

Use odd number of stones to clean your private parts... (Sahih Bukhari, 1. 4.162)

Volume 1, Book 4, Number 162:

Narrated Abu Huraira:

The Prophet said, "Whoever performs ablution should clean his nose with water by putting the water in it and then blowing it out, and whoever cleans his private parts with stones should do it with odd number of stones."

Use odd number of pebbles after the call of nature… (Sahih Muslim, 2.0458, 0460, 0463).

Use odd number of stones to clean private parts as well as casting pebbles at the Jamras… (Sahih Muslim, 7.2982)

In ibn Majah we read that Allah does love odd numbers. Here is a hadith on this Allah loves odd numbers.

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. v, Hadith number 3861:

Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Allah has ninety–nine names, one hundred but one. Verily He is Odd (in number i.e. One) and loves odd number. He who commits them to memory enters the Heaven; and these are (note: the names of Allah are then listed: the italics and the underline words are mine).

Allah loves to inflict cruelty to animals and shed their blood.

Islamic ritual to slaughter animal for their meat is mind-boggling, if not outright disgusting and cruel. Every year, hundreds and thousands of animals (camels, cows, and sheep) are slaughtered for no reason other than securing Allah's love and blessing. Non-Muslims will never understand why such unneeded shedding of animal-blood is necessary. Here I am quoting two hadith which tell us that Allah do, indeed, love the blood of sacrificial animals.

Allah loves most the animal slaughtered during hajj… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.10.1761)

Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol. ii, Book 10, Hadith Number 1761:

'Abd Allah b. Quri reported the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: The greatest day in Allah's sight is the day of sacrifice and next the day of resting which Isa said on the authority of Thawr is the second day. Five or six sacrificial camels were brought to the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) and they began to draw near to see which he would sacrifice first. When they fell down dead, he said something in a low voice, which I could not catch. So I asked: What did he say? He was told that he had said: Anyone who wants can cut of his piece.

Killing animal during hajj is the most excellent… (Ibn Majah, 4.2924)

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iv, Hadith Number 2924:

Abu Bakr as–Siddiq (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) was questioned, "Which of deeds is the most excellent?" He said, "Raising voice in talbiya and slaughtering sacrificial animals.

Torture a camel before slaughter… (Ibn Majah, 4.3097).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. IV, Hadith Number 3097:

Ibn Abbas (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said that the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) made a mark on a camel or cow destined for sacrifice at Makka in the right side of the hump and removed the blood from it.

And 'Ali (Allah be pleased with him) said in the hadith transmitted by him: (He did so) in Dhul-Hulaifa and put on two sandals around (camel's neck).

The translator of Ibn Majah, Muhammad Tufail Ansari, commenting on this hadith writes the following note:

Ash'ara means: he slain (sic), killed. Here it means: He marked a beast destined for sacrifice at Makkah by stabbing in the right side of its hump so that blood flowed from it in order that it might be known to be destined for sacrifice (Ansari, 2003, p. 333, foot note 1).

After slaughter dip sandals in animal's blood…(Ibn Majah, 4.3106).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. IV, Hadith Number 3106:

Najiyat ul-Khuza'I (Allah be pleased him) 'Amr in his hadith said: He was the keeper of the animal of sacrifice of the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) is reported to have said, "I asked Allah's Messenger, what should I do with the animal of sacrifice some part of which is destroyed?" He replied, "Slaughter it and dip its sandal (hanging around its neck) in its blood, strike its side and leave it among the people so that they may eat it."

Blood of animal is very dear to Allah… (Ibn Majah, 4.3126).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iv, Hadith Number 3126:

'Aisha (Allah be pleased with her) reported to have said that the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Adam's son does not do a deed on the Day of Nahr which is dearer to Allah, the Mighty and Glorious, than the shedding of blood and it (the sacrifice) will come on the Day of Resurrection with its horns, cloven hoofs and hair and the blood gets a rank from Allah, the Mighty and Glorious, before it falls on the ground, so please the soul with it.

Muhammad Tufail Ansari, the translator of Sunaan Ibn Majah writes that the meaning of Nahr is slaughtering the camels or other animals or shedding of blood; Nahr is done by cutting carotid artery at the root of the neck. (Ibid, p. 351, foot note 2).

Slaughter an animal to please Allah…(Ibn Majah, 4.3167).

Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. iv, Hadith Number 3167:

Nubaisha is reported to have said, "A man called Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) and said, "We used to offer 'atira during Ignorance (sic) in the month of Rajab. What do you command in regard to it?" He said, "Slaughter it for the sake of Allah, the Mighty and Glorious in a month whichever it is; and do good and feed (the needy)." The (audience) said, "Allah's Messenger, we used to offer fara'a during the Ignorance. What do you command us about it?" He said, "For every grazing animal, there is fara'a which your cattle nourish. When it (is stout enough) to bear the burden, then slaughter it and give its flesh in sadaqa (charity)- I think he said: to the way-farer for it is good.

Allah loves illiteracy and poverty; He hates education and prosperity

Sahih Bukhari tells us that Muhammad was sent as the guardian of the illiterates. Allah loves illiterate people and he hates the educated people. Let us read this hadith.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 34, Number 335: Narrated Ata bin Yasar:

I met Abdullah bin 'Amr bin Al-'As and asked him, "Tell me about the description of Allah's Apostle which is mentioned in Torah (i.e. Old Testament.") He replied, 'Yes. By Allah, he is described in Torah with some of the qualities attributed to him in the Quran as follows:

"O Prophet! We have sent you as a witness (for Allah's True religion) And a giver of glad tidings (to the faithful believers), And a warner (to the unbelievers) And guardian of the illiterates. You are My slave and My messenger (i.e. Apostle). I have named you "Al-Mutawakkil" (who depends upon Allah). You are neither discourteous, harsh Nor a noise-maker in the markets And you do not do evil to those Who do evil to you, but you deal With them with forgiveness and kindness. Allah will not let him (the Prophet) Die till he makes straight the crooked people by making them say: "None has the right to be worshipped but Allah," With which will be opened blind eyes And deaf ears and enveloped hearts."

In fact Allah's love for illiteracy is so intense that He has promised the first entry to Paradise to the illiterate Muslims and the last entry to the Muslims who are educated.

Let us read the following hadith from IbnMajah.

Sunaan Ibn Majah Vol. v, Hadith Number 4290:

Ibn 'Abbas (Allah be pleased with him) reported that the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him said: We are the last umma to (come) and the first umma who will be reckoned. It will be said, "Where is the unlettered umma and its Prophet? We are the last (umma) and the first (umma) to be reckoned and admitted in the Paradise.

According to al-Zawa'id its isnad is sahih and its authorities are reliable. Abu Salam is Musa b. Islamil al-Basri al-Tabudhani

Not only that Allah loves illiteracy, because his most beloved person, Muhammad was illiterate, Allah also loves poverty. He vehemently hates wealth, prosperity and the rich people. Let us read this hadith.

Sahih Muslim, Book 001, Number 0264:

It is narrated on the authority of Abu Malih that Ubaidullah b. Ziyad visited Ma'qil b. Yasar in his illness. Ma'qil said to him: I am narrating to you a hadith which I would have never narrated to you had I not been in death-bed. I heard Allah's apostle (may peace be upon him) say: A ruler who has been entrusted with the affairs of the Muslims but he makes no endeavours (for the material and moral uplift) and does not sincerely mean (their welfare) would not enter Paradise along with them

Commenting on the above hadith the translator of Sahih Muslim writes that Allah hates monarchs, loves the poor (Siddiqi, 2004 vol.i, p. 99, foot note 250).

Imam Ghazali, in his famous book, Ihya' Ulum al-Din (Revival of Religious Learnings) writes that prayer, a big family and poverty will ensure Paradise (al-Ghazali, 1993, p. 2.28). To promote further admiration of poverty among the Muslims, he writes that Allah and His Prophet praised one who remains satisfied with poverty (ibid, p. 3.181). Ghazali even goes to the extent to exhort Muslims to condemn wealth but praise poverty; poverty is better than wealth, he writes (ibid, p. 3.201).

With such glorifications of poverty and illiteracy, there should be no surprise that most Islamic countries are desperately poor; their population largely illiterate, ill-educated or in many cases un-educated.

Allah does not want to fight by himself but loves those who fight for Him

The holy Quran is replete with verses which tell us about the colossal and mighty power of Allah. However, it is surprising, when it comes to fighting the infidels Allah is totally helpless. He is precariously dependent upon human beings to chastise (i.e. to kill) the infidels. Sahih Bukhari tells us that Muhammad exhorted his followers that if they fight for Islam they are, in reality Allah's soldiers, fighting for Allah.

He who fights for Islam fights for Allah… (Sahih Bukhari, 1.3.125)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume i, Book 3, Number 125: Narrated Abu Musa:

A man came to the Prophet and asked, "O Allah's Apostle! What kind of fighting is in Allah's cause? (I ask this), for some of us fight because of being enraged and angry and some for the sake of his pride and haughtiness." The Prophet raised his head (as the questioner was standing) and said, "He who fights so that Allah's Word (Islam) should be superior, then he fights in Allah's cause."

Allah likes memorization without understanding

Memorization is the forte of Islam. From the very childhood, when Muslim children learn the Quran they are forced to memorise the Quranic verses, even though they understand nothing of the contents of those verses. This had always been the tradition of Islamic learning—the method of rote learning and memorisation. In reality, Allah really discourages Muslims to use their brains, even when Allah gave them this precious organ.

There are many hadith where Allah assiduously glorifies memorization and promises the diehard believers the taste of Paradise for simply memorising His many names. Let us read one such hadith.

If you memorize the ninety-nine names of Allah, you will go to Paradise … (Sahih Muslim, 35.6475).

Sahih Muslim, Book 035, Number 6475:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: There are ninety-nine names of Allah; he who commits them to memory would get into Paradise. Verily, Allah is Odd (He is one, and it is an odd number) and He loves odd number. And in the narration of Ibn 'Umar (the words are):" He who enumerated them."

If we thought that the above hadith is outdated then here is a surprise. The eminent Imam of Saudi Arabia, Shaikh ibn Uthaiman issued a fatwa that Allah likes memorisation without understanding. In answering a question he told the questioner the virtue of memorisation. Here is this fatwa:

Question 334: I continually read the Quran but I do not understand its meaning. Will I be rewarded by Allah for that?

Response: The Noble Quran is full of blessings. Allah has said, “[This is] a Book which we have sent down to you, full of blessings that they may ponder over its Verses, and that men of understanding may remember” (Sad 29)

A person is rewarded for reciting the Quran regardless of whether he comprehends it or not. But a believer must not recite the Quran without understanding it while he is responsible to apply it. If a person wants to learn medicine, for example, he studies the books of medicine, he will not benefit from them until he understands their meanings and explanations. In fact, he will be very desirous to take advantage of every opportunity to understand their meanings in order to apply them. If that is the case with books like medicine, what must be the case with respect to reading the Book of Allah without thought and understanding of its meaning while it is a cure for what is in the hearts and an admonition for mankind? This is why the Companions would not go beyond ten verses until they understood the meanings of those verses with respect to what they contain of knowledge and how to apply them. A person is rewarded and recompensed for reciting the Quran whether he understands it or not. However, he must be most anxious and use every opportunity to understand its meaning and to take that meaning from the trustworthy scholars, like [studying] the Quranic commentaries by ibn Jarir al-Tabari, ibn Katheer and others. (ibn al-Musnad, 1996, p. 362).

In case you are confused: what this Imam is saying is that for most ordinary folks, memorisation of the Quran is good enough—understanding is secondary or not necessary at all. Furthermore, he qualifies the comprehension of the Quran to the Islamic interpreters only. We must not use our own brain to understand these verses, even though the Quran is adamant that it is clear and easy to understand (2:242, 5:15, 19:97, 24:34, 28:1–2)

Allah likes to brand kafirs on their noses.

Here is a verse from the Quran which says that Allah will brand the unbelievers on their noses who challenge Him (68:16). Islamically speaking, this will be done to identify the unbelievers on the Day of Judgment.

YUSUFALI: Soon shall We brand (the beast) on the snout! [Q068.016]

The kafirs should note that Allah loves call them beasts.

Allah does not like agriculture; He prefers plundering as His profession

That's right. If we are wondering why there is so much bloodshed, mayhem, beheading and anarchy in the Islamic world, perhaps the above caption will explain the reason for Islamic bloodletting around the globe. It is quite simple to comprehend Allah's dislike for an agrarian society: Muhammad and his followers had scanty experience with agricultural production. His livelihood was totally dependent upon raids and plunder.

Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Bukhari to learn about Allah's great disdain for agriculture and agricultural implements.

Allah does not like agriculture; He prefers jihad and plunder… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.39.514)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume iii, Book 39, Number 514:

Narrated Abu Umama al-Bahili:

I saw some agricultural equipments (sic) and said: "I heard the Prophet saying: "There is no house in which these equipment enters except that Allah will cause humiliation to enter it."

Commenting on the above hadith, Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan, the translator of Sahih Bukhari writes:

This Hadith indicates that the profession of cultivation is often of oppressive humiliation especially under the feudal system. By indulging in this work, one may neglect Jihad in Allah's Cause and other important Allah's obligation. It is also said that this Hadith is concerned with those living near the enemies. If they got busy in agriculture and left Jihad , the enemies might overcome and humiliate them. Of course, the Hadith is not to be taken literally. Farming is not undesirable itself but we should beware the results of indulging too much in it (Fath Al–Bari, Vol 5, Page 402) (al-Zubaidi, 1994, p. 505).

Let us now read a few hadith which say unmistakably that Allah prefers that the Muslims engage in raid and plunder as their principal means of livelihood. Muhammad did this and so it is almost compulsory for all Muslims.

That, the major means of livelihood for the Muslims in Medina was from the proceeds of plunder and the forced Jizya tax on non-Muslims, can be confirmed from the following Hadith in Sahih Bukhari:

Volume 4, Book 53, Number 388:

Narrated Juwairiya bin Qudama At-Tamimi:

We said to 'Umar bin Al-Khattab, O Chief of the believers! Advise us." He said, "I advise you to fulfil Allah's Convention (made with the Dhimmis) as it is the convention of your Prophet and the source of the livelihood of your dependents (i.e. the taxes from the Dhimmis.)."

[Please note that this Hadith has been removed by the compiler from the summarised Translated (by Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Khan) version of Sahih Al-Bukhari. However this Hadith is available in the Internet version of Translation of Sahih Al-Bukhari]

How did Muhammad earn his living in Medina? What job did he do? In what occupation was he employed? What business was he involved in? All these questions remain unanswered. Except for the following Hadith from Sahih Bukhari, all the Sunna, the Sahih hadith, the Sirah (biography) never mention of any form of acceptable and/or dignified profession/occupation that Muhammad engaged in to support himself and his retinue of ever increasing number of wives and concubines: Here is that incredible Hadith:

EXACT QUOTE AND FOOTNOTE, VOL-IV (88) CHAPTER.

Narrated Ibn 'Umar that the Prophet (SA) said, "My livelihood is under the shade of my spear,(1) and he who disobeys my orders will be humiliated by paying Jizya"

Footnote:- (1) "Under the shade of my spear" means "from war booty".

That's right, Muhammad, the messenger of Allah earned his livelihood by plunder; the above hadith is very clear on this. Please note that this hadith has been carefully removed from the Internet version of Sahih Bukhari. This hard-to-believe hadith can only be found in the original print version of the Translation of Sahih Bukhari by Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Khan. [Ref: The Translation of the Meanings of Sahih Al-Bukhari, Arabic-English, Vol.IV (page 104) by Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Khan, Islamic University—Al-Medina Al-Munauwara] Please consult the reference provided if you have doubt. It is also interesting to note that in the footnote the translator explains the meaning of 'spear' as 'booty'.

Here is another hadith, also from Sahih Bukhari, which says that Allah made Muhammad rich through war and conquest (booty from raid and plunder).

Sahih Bukhari Volume iii, Book 37, Number 495: Narrated Abu Huraira:

Whenever a dead man in debt was brought to Allah's Apostle he would ask, "Has he left anything to repay his debt?" If he was informed that he had left something to repay his debts, he would offer his funeral prayer, otherwise he would tell the Muslims to offer their friend's funeral prayer. When Allah made the Prophet wealthy through conquests, he said, "I am more rightful than other believers to be the guardian of the believers, so if a Muslim dies while in debt, I am responsible for the repayment of his debt, and whoever leaves wealth (after his death) it will belong to his heirs. "

Allah loves Muslims who, ignoring the sensitivity of their wives engages in sex with their sex-slaves

I shall finish this prolix part by quoting the following verse from the Quran. Please note that Allah sent down this verse when Muhammad took in the quarter of his wife Hafsah his sex-slave, Mariah. He was caught red-handed right in the bed of Hafsah while having sex with this vivacious sex-slave (Mariah). A furious Hafshah forced Muhammad to apologise to her with the promise that he will never sleep with Mariah again. However, Allah was not pleased with Muhammad's decision. So Allah quickly admonished Muhammad for refraining himself from the enjoyment which he had made absolutely halal for him (i. e. to have sex with his concubines whenever and wherever he wished). Allah even permitted Muhammad to negate on his pledge to his wives (in this case Hafsah and Aisha).

YUSUFALI: O Prophet! Why holdest thou to be forbidden that which Allah has made lawful to thee? Thou seekest to please thy consorts. But Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful. [Q 066.001]

Allah’s Executive Office

Allah's Throne, Sun Rests on It, Shakes on Jihadi's Death, Angels Sit on Chairs. Allah Manages Affairs, Visits Sites, Conduct Yearly Tour, Has Assistant & Official Seal, Writes Laws with Own Hands, Keep Records, Uses Balance to Judge People.

Does Allah have an executive office? Does Allah have a desk, a chair, and a diary – a super-duper one–to manage His affairs of heaven and the earth? Where is His Throne? How does it look like? Does Allah have secretaries and personal assistants? We already saw Allah does have hands, feet, and eyes. Does Allah have telephones, fax machines, PCs, CDs, DVDs, PDAs, the Internet, and all other office equipment which are used by every executive in a modern office? Nay, Allah does not need them because there are no earthlings who know how to fix them because Murphy’s Law is supposed to work everywhere and yes, that includes Allah’s Executive Office too.

All those questions are silly and blasphemous--no doubt, aren’t they? A good Muslim should never ask such preposterous questions. The Holy Quran clearly admonishes any Muslims asking such questions, because these are not permitted (5:101, 102), for the fear that if you ask such silly questions you may end up losing your faith. This is the worst crime a Muslim could commit. Therefore, you had better watch out. Let us hear from Allah Himself:

Allah has a Throne; sitting there, Allah watches and manages the affairs of the earth.

In many verses of the Quran Allah manifestly declares that He does indeed have a huge executive office. He admits that after the creation of the Heavens and the Earth He walked to sit on his executive chair—His Throne to be precise. Allah even discloses the location of his throne: it is above the seventh heaven. Sitting on this ponderous Throne He looks at the earth and the earthlings. Here are a few verses (summarised) which will leave no doubt that Allah manages His affairs from His Executive Office.

> Allah created the heavens (first) and (then) the earth in six days and then He ascended on His Throne; He regulates all His affairs from His firmly established Throne ...10:3

> Allah raised heavens without pillars (supports) (first), (then) established His Throne, (then) subjected the sun > and (then) the moon to run their courses; He regulates all affairs...13:2

> Allah is present over His Throne…20:5
> The unbelievers admit that Allah is the Lord of the seven Heavens and the supreme Throne...23:86
> Allah is most forgiving, kind, possessing the glorious Throne…85:14-15

Sunaan Abu Dawud provides a little more details of Allah's executive Chair, the Throne. It is above the Heavens, like a dome over Him—just like the thrones of mighty emperors have a canopy over them. Just to make sure that Allah's Throne is real, Sahih Bukhari even tells us that the throne makes some noise when Allah takes His seat there—just the way the saddle of a horse rider emits a mild raspy sound during riding. Let us read this hadith. This hadith is not available online, so I shall quote it from the print version.

> You cannot choose anyone as Allah's intercessor; Allah's Throne is above the heavens, like a dome over him; the Throne groans as a saddle does because of the rider; Allah is above the heavens… (Sunaan Abu Dawud 3.40.4708)
> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol iii, Book 40, Hadith number 4708:
> Muhammad b. Jubair b. Mut'im said from his father on the authority of his grandfather: An A'rabi (a nomadic Arab) came to the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) and said: People are suffering distress, the children are hungry, the crops are withered, and the animals are perishing, so ask Allah to grant us rain, for we seek you as our intercessor with Allah, and Allah as our intercessor with you. The Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Woe to you: Do you know what you are saying? Then the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) declared Allah's glory and he continued declaring His glory till the effect of that was apparent in the faces of his Companions. He then said: Woe to you: Allah is not to be sought as intercessor with anyone. Allah's state is greater than that. Woe to you! Do you know how great Allah is? His throne is above the heavens thus (indicating with his fingers like a dome over him), and it groans on account of Him as a saddle does because of the rider.
> Ibn Bashshr said in his version: Allah is above the throne, and the throne is above the heavens. He then mentioned the rest of the tradition. 'Abd al-A'la, Ibn al-Muthanna and > Ibn Bashshr transmitted it from Yaq'ub b. 'Utbah and Jubair b. Muhammad b. Jubai from his father on the authority of his grandfather.

A gigantic angel bears Allah. His size is so humongous that the distance between the widths of his shoulder is the distance of the journey of seven hundred years. In this sense the journey probably meant the distance a camel could cover in a day's walk—possibly around thirty kilometers. Multiply this distance by seven hundred years (i.e. 255,500 days) and we end up with a figure of 7,665,000 kilometers. That's correct, a distance of around 7.7 million kilometers. And remember this is the distance between the earlobe and the shoulder. So the total width of the angel's shoulder, from ear lobe to ear lobe will be about 15.4 million kilometers. With this numerical figure in mind, now, imagine the width, depth and the height of Allah's Throne.

Let us peruse this incredible hadith:

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol iii, Book 40, Hadith number 4709:
> Jabir b. 'Abd Allah reported the Prophet (may peace be upon him) as saying: I have been permitted to tell about one of Allah's angels who bears the throne that the distance between the lobe of his ear and his shoulder is a journey of seven hundred years.

Professor Ahmad Hasan, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud agrees with the above hadith. He writes:

> These traditions indicate that there is a throne on which Allah has taken His seat. The modality of these things is not intelligible to the people. As the Jahmiyyah denied the existence of the throne of Allah, their belief has been refuted by these traditions (Hasan, 2003, p. iii. 1324, foot note 4119).

In Sunaan Ibn Majah we read that Allah, truly, is seated on His Throne. Let us read this hadith:

> Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. i, Hadith Number 193:
> 'Abbas b. Abdul Muttalib (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said, "I was at Batha with a band of people and Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him). He looked towards it and asked, "What do you call this (cloud)?" They (the people) said, "(It is) sahib (cloud)." He (the Holy Prophet) said, "It is also called) al-muzn i.e. rain-cloud." They (the companions) said, "Muzan", upon which he remarked, "And 'anan also." Abu Bakr (Allah be pleased with him) said that they said,

> “And ‘anan?’ He (the Holy Prophet) said, “How much (distance) do you think is there between yourselves and the heaven?” They said, “We do not now.” Thereupon, he said, “(The distance) between you and it is equivalent to (the distance to be covered in) seventy-one, or seventy-two or seventy-three years. The heaven above it has a similar distance”…till he counted seven heavens… “Then beyond the heavens is a river. Its upper and the lower bank has as much distance between them as a distance stretched from one heaven to the other one. Then beyond it, there are eight Angels in the shape of mountain goats. The distance between their hoofs is as much as the distance between the two heavens. Then, there lies on their back the Throne. The distance between its upper and lower side is as much as the distance between the two heavens. Then, Allah, the Blessed and Exalted is (seated) on this (Throne).”

The above hadith will surely stretch beyond belief one’s imagination.

Another hadith, almost similar to the above (ibn Majah), is found in Sunaan Abu Dawud.

Let us read (Sunaan Abu Dawud 3.40.4705)

Not only that Allah has a mighty Throne, but His throne also has a footrest, on which Allah rests His feet. This footrest is known as Allah’s Kursi. Many Muslims wrongly believe that Kursi means Allah’s Throne. Imam ibn Taimiyah, one of the most formidable imams in the Islamic world corrects this wrong notion. According to Imam Taimiyah Allah’s throne is known as ‘Arsh. Commenting on verse 2:255 where this term (Kursi) is mentioned, the translator of the Noble Quran writes:

> (V.2.255). Kursi) Literally a footstool or chair, and sometimes wrongly translated as Throne. The Kursi mentioned in this Verse should be distinguished from the ‘Arsh (Throne) mentioned in V.7:54, 10:3, 85:15 and elsewhere. Prophet Muhammad said, “The Kursi compared to the ‘Arsh is nothing USC-MSA Compendium of Muslim Texts but like a ring thrown out open upon a space of the desert.”
> If the Kursi extends over the entire universe, then how much greater is the 'Arsh. Indeed, Allah, the Creator of both the Kursi and the ‘Arsh, is the Most Great. Ibn Tayimiyah said in the chapters: a) To believe in the Kursi b) To believe in the ‘Arsh (Throne). It is narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Abdullah and from other religious scholars that the Kursi is in front of ‘Arsh (Throne and it is at the level of the feet [Fatwa Ibn Taimiyah, Vol. 5, pages 54, 55] (Hilali and Khan, 1996, p. 67, foot note 1)

Just like any mighty emperors, Allah's executive office – His official Throne-Room is surrounded by His attendees. Angels are there at Allah's beck and call. These angels spend their time singing Allah's praise and seeking Allah's forgiveness. Then Allah will forgive whom Muhammad had forgiven. Allah will have a list of those creatures (human and jinni) forgiven by Muhammad. All the prophets and messengers (postmen) of Allah will be seated in Allah's court. Here are a few more verses from the Quran on the enormous jurisdiction of Allah's Executive office.

> The angels surround on all sides of the Throne of Allah … 39:75
> Those (angels) who bear Allah's Throne and those around Allah's Throne ask for Allah's forgiveness; Muhammad is to forgive those who repent and obey him...40:7
> All apostles (messengers) will be gathered together beside the Throne...77:11

To grasp the capaciousness of Allah's Executive office, we must remember this statistics: Allah's Throne has 8,000 pillars and the distance between each pillar is 3,000,000 (yes, three million) miles (Hughes, 1994, p. 28). Multiply these two numbers and try out.

> Muhammad will fall unconscious on the judgment day but will be the first to regain consciousness; he will see Moses holding the side of Allah's Throne… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.41.594, 595)
> Above Al-Firdaus is the Throne of Allah... (Sahih Bukhari, 4.52.48).
> On the day of resurrection, Muhammad will be the first person to recover consciousness and Moses will be catching hold of Allah's Throne … (Sahih Muslim, 30.5853, 5854).
> Moses will be clinging to Allah's throne (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.337).

It is worth quoting here the last hadith:

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 337: Narrated Abu Huraira:
> The Prophet said, "I will be the first to raise my head after the second blowing of the trumpet and will see Moses hanging the Throne, and I will not know whether he had > been in that state all the time or after the blowing of the trumpet."

Allah's Executive office (Throne) is over water and it has a title

Previously, we noted that Allah's Throne is above al-Firdous, the highest grade of paradise. In Islamic Paradise, a river flows with heavenly water which no one had ever tasted. This river emanates from the location of Allah's Throne, possibly from beneath it. Naturally, we can safely assume then that Allah's throne is floating on water—much like some Hindu deity that is shown seated on a Lotus throne which is afloat over water. Allah even keeps His diary and necessary Books just near His Throne, so that He could quickly and easily refer to them. The Tablet, Al-Lauhu-L-Mahfuz (the prescribed tablet; Hughes, 1994, p.285) on which the Quran is presumably written, rests on Allah's huge executive Table. Just like any other deity's sign over its seated throne, Allah also has His seal (or title) of His Throne. Here are a few hadith to confirm those outstanding features of Allah's Executive office.

> In the beginning there was nothing, then Allah created His Throne; Allah's Throne is over the water, He then wrote everything in the Book… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.414)

> Allah wrote, "My mercy overpowers my anger" and His creation in a Book and kept it in His Throne…4.54.416

> After finishing creation, Allah wrote over his Throne: 'My mercy preceded my anger'... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.518)

While Allah sits on His Throne His angels sit on their chairs

Just like any authoritative ruler or a king Allah also has graded His employees and servants. While he seats on His titanic 'Arsh (Throne), his untiring employees, the angels sit on modest chairs—clerical chairs, we might say. Even Muhammad himself had seen Allah's angles seated on chairs. Let us read this hilarious hadith from Sahih Bukhari.

> Muhammad heard a voice from the sky and saw an angel in the sky sitting in a chair, he hurried home and Allah revealed 74:1-5 ... (Sahih Bukhari, 1.1.3).

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 1, Book 1, Number 3: Narrated 'Aisha:

> (The mother of the faithful believers) The commencement of the Divine Inspiration to Allah's Apostle was in the form of good dreams which came true like bright day light, and then the love of seclusion was bestowed upon him. He used to go in seclusion in the cave of Hira where he used to worship (Allah alone) continuously for many days before his desire to see his family. He used to take with him the journey food for the stay and then come back to (his wife) Khadija to take his food like-wise again till suddenly the Truth descended upon him while he was in the cave of Hira. The angel came to him and asked him to read. The Prophet replied, "I do not know how to read.

The Prophet added, "The angel caught me (forcefully) and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read and I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Thereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read but again I replied, 'I do not know how to read (or what shall I read)?' Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me, and then released me and said, 'Read in the name of your Lord, who has created (all that exists) has created man from a clot. Read! And your Lord is the Most Generous." (96.1, 96.2, 96.3) Then Allah's Apostle returned with the Inspiration and with his heart beating severely. Then he went to Khadija bint Khuwailid and said, "Cover me! Cover me!" They covered him till his fear was over and after that he told her everything that had happened and said, "I fear that something may happen to me." Khadija replied, "Never! By Allah, Allah will never disgrace you. You keep good relations with your Kith and kin, help the poor and the destitute, serve your guests generously and assist the deserving calamity-afflicted ones."

Khadija then accompanied him to her cousin Waraqa bin Naufal bin Asad bin 'Abdul 'Uzza, who, during the Pre-Islamic Period became a Christian and used to write the writing with Hebrew letters. He would write from the Gospel in Hebrew as much as Allah wished him to write. He was an old man and had lost his eyesight. Khadija said to Waraqa, "Listen to the story of your nephew, O my cousin!" Waraqa asked, "O my nephew! What have you seen?" Allah's Apostle described whatever he had seen. Waraqa said, "This is the same one who keeps the secrets (angel Gabriel) whom Allah had sent to Moses. I wish I were young and could live up to the time when your people would turn you out." Allah's Apostle asked, "Will they drive me out?" Waraqa replied in the affirmative and said, "Anyone (man) who came with something similar to what you have brought was treated with hostility; and if I should remain alive till the day when you will be turned out then I would support you strongly." But after a few days Waraqa died and the Divine Inspiration was also paused for a while.

> Narrated Jabir bin 'Abdullah Al-Ansari while talking about the period of pause in revelation reporting the speech of the Prophet "While I was walking, all of a sudden I heard a voice from the sky. I looked up and saw the same angel who had visited me at the cave of Hira' sitting on a chair between the sky and the earth. I got afraid of him and came back home and said, 'Wrap me (in blankets).' And then Allah revealed the following Holy Verses (of Quran):
> 'O you (i.e. Muhammad)! wrapped up in garments!' Arise and warn (the people against Allah's Punishment)…up to 'and desert the idols.' (74.1-5) After this the revelation started coming strongly, frequently and regularly."

Allah's Throne shakes at the death of diehard jihadists

That's right. Allah is so much enamoured with His jihadist fighters that He mourns their death by allowing His Throne to convulse with the news of death of a diehard jihadist. This simply means that Allah is greatly unnerved and perturbed at the death of His soldiers, so much so, that He himself is shaken and this is what causes His Throne to shake.

Here is a hadith:

> The Throne of Allah shook at the death of Sa'd bin Muadh… (Sahih Muslim, 31.6033, 6034, 6035).
> Sahih Muslim, Book 031, Number 6033:
>
> Jabir b. 'Abdullah reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying while the bier of Sa'd b. Mu'adh was placed before them: The Throne of the most Gracious shook at the death of Sa'd b. Mu'adh.

The sun takes rest under Allah's Throne

We noted that beneath Allah's throne is the scintillating flowing-river of Paradise. Allah also let the sun take rest there after its daily routine of shining over all subjects of Allah. In fact, the Islamic sun is a living creature: it actually prostrates under Allah's Mighty Throne and effusively seeks His permission to be sent for its daily chore.

Let us read the following hadith and attempt to comprehend Allah's limit of insanity.

> The sun prostrates underneath Allah's Throne... (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.326).
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 326: Narrated Abu Dharr:

Once I was with the Prophet in the mosque at the time of sunset. The Prophet said, "O Abu Dharr! Do you know where the sun sets?" I replied, "Allah and His Apostle know best." He said, "It goes and prostrates underneath (Allah's) Throne; and that is Allah's Statement:--

'And the sun runs on its fixed course for a term (decreed). And that is the decree of All-Mighty, the All-Knowing....' (36.38)

The sun's fixed course is underneath Allah's Throne... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.528).

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 9, Book 93, Number 528: Narrated Abu Dharr:

I asked the Prophet regarding the Verse:--'And the sun runs on its fixed course for a term decreed for it.' (36.28) He said, "Its fixed course is underneath Allah's Throne."

The sun goes to its resting place and then under Allah's Throne then seeks Allah's permission to rise again… (Sahih Muslim, 1.0297).

Sahih Muslim, Book 001, Number 0297:

It is narrated on the authority of Abu Dharr that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) one day said: Do you know where the sun goes? They replied: Allah and His Apostle know best. He (the Holy Prophet) observed: Verily it (the sun) glides till it reaches its resting place under the Throne. Then it falls prostrate and remains there until it is asked: Rise up and go to the place whence you came, and it goes back and continues emerging out from its rising place and then glides till it reaches its place of rest under the Throne and falls prostrate and remains in that state until it is asked: Rise up and return to the place whence you came, and it returns and emerges out from it rising place and then it glides (in such a normal way) that the people do not discern anything (unusual in it) till it reaches its resting place under the Throne. Then it would be said to it: Rise up and emerge out from the place of your setting, and it will rise from the place of its setting. The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said. Do you know when it would happen? It would happen at the time when faith will not benefit one who has not previously believed or has derived no good from the faith.

Allah conducts site visits; He performs His yearly site tour on earth

Once Allah finishes His daytime tasks, He often leaves His Executive office and goes on a site tour. Every night, on the third part of it, (probably between 11:00 P.M and 2:00 A.M) Allah descends on the nearest heaven to earth and observe activities of His slaves. On special occasions, such as on the Day of 'Arafat Allah changes His residence to Ka'ba (read part 2 of this series) to monitor the hajj pilgrims.

Elaborating the concept of Islamic monotheism, Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan writes:

> (iii) we must confirm all of Allah's Qualifications which Allah has stated in His Book (the Quran) or mentioned through His Messenger (Muhammad) without changing them or ignoring them completely or twisting the meanings or giving resemblance to any of the created things [e.g. Allah is present over His Throne as mentioned in the Quran (V.20.5)]. Allah said: "The most Beneficent (Allah) Istawa (rose over) the (Mighty) Throne," over the seventh heaven, and He only comes down over the first (nearest) heaven to us on the day of 'Arafat (Hajj, i.e. the 9th of Dhul Hijja), and also during the last third part of the night as mentioned by the prophet, but He is with us by His Knowledge only, not by His Personal-Self (Bi-Dhatihi)…

Allah's official transport is a Buraq; He does not ride it, only Muhammad rode it

Among all the incredible feats of Muhammad, the most perplexing is his night-journey, riding a strange transport, the Buraq to Jerusalem. The Quran does not describe in detail this amazing transport system of Allah. The shortest version of this story runs thus: After Muhammad had returned from his failed proselytizing mission to Taif, he slept in the house of Umm Hani, his cousin sister and his old love flame. He spent the night at her residence and in the morning he told her that, when all were asleep, he was awakened by a noise, found a strange animal, half-angel, half-horse, presumably sent by Allah as a transport for his sojourn to the farthest mosque (at Jerusalem). He gladly rode this creature (called Buraq) and in an instant safely arrived at Jerusalem. At Jerusalem Allah hanged down a rope (or a ladder in some version) which Muhammad, with the help of Gabriel climbed effortlessly to have a conducted tour of all the Heavens, met all the past Prophets and had a glimpse of Allah's veil. Then he went down, boarded the Buraq, one more time, and returned to the residence of Umm Hani.

To many readers this might sound to be a cock-and-bull story. But hang on, the most revered books of Islam, the hadith provides vivid descriptions of this incredible voyage of Muhammad. From these hadith we can draw one conclusion: Allah's Executive Office does have a VIP transport facility (much like King's and President's limousine). This transport system uses a unique machine named Buraq which is half-human and half-animal in appearance. But the strange point is Allah Himself never rides this transport. There is no Qura'nic verse or any hadith where we find that Allah had ever ridden this transport of His.

Let us read the a few hadith on this incredible official transport system of Allah.

Gabriel opened the roof of Muhammad's house; opened his chest and washed it with Zam Zam water, then Gabriel took Muhammad for a ride to the heavens where Muhammad met all the previous prophets (stories of Isra and Miraj; long hadith read the link)...(Sahih Bukhari, 1.8.345)

An angel cut Muhammad's body, washed Muhammad's abdomen with Zam Zam water, then Gabriel and Muhammad set out on a Buraq (horse with wings and the face of a woman angle); description of Isra and Miraj travel…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.429)

Background to 32:23. On his Miraj Muhammad said that he met Moses and Jesus in heaven. Moses was a tall brown curly haired man; Jesus was of medium height and of Moderate complexion… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.462)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 462: Narrated Ibn Abbas:

The Prophet said, "On the night of my Ascent to the Heaven, I saw Moses who was a tall brown curly-haired man as if he was one of the men of Shan'awa tribe, and I saw Jesus, a man of medium height and moderate complexion inclined to the red and white colours and of lank hair. I also saw Malik, the gate-keeper of the (Hell) Fire and Ad-Dajjal amongst the signs which Allah showed me." (The Prophet then recited the Holy Verse): "So be not you in doubt of meeting him' when you met Moses during the night of Mi'raj over the heavens" (32.23)

Narrated Anas and Abu Bakra: "The Prophet said, "The angels will guard Medina from Ad-Dajjal (who will not be able to enter the city of Medina)."

Muhammad tells the details of his journey to meet Allah (Miraj)... (Sahih Bukhari, 5.58.227)

Muhammad's journey to heaven was done by a Buraq (an animal white and long, larger than a donkey but smaller than a mule)… (Sahih Muslim, 1.0309)

The angels are Allah's assistants; they surround Allah's Throne, ready for service at His beck and call

We had already learnt that the angels are Allah's employed servants. Here are the confirmations.

Let us read verse 82:10

> YUSUFALI: But verily over you (are appointed angels) to protect you,- [Q 082.010]

This verse tells us that the angels are appointed employees of Allah. They are entrusted with the daily chores of Allah's activities. In fact, Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan, the co-translator of the Noble Quran cites a hadith from Sahih Bukhari to further ascertain the roles and duties of Allah's angels.

Here is the hadith from Sahih Bukhari

> All angels assemble at Fajr and at Asr prayer times… 4.54.446
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 446:
>
> Narrated Abu Huraira:
>
> The Prophet said, "Angels keep on descending from and ascending to the Heaven in turn, some at night and some by daytime, and all of them assemble together at the time of the Fajr and 'Asr prayers. Then those who have stayed with you over-night, ascent unto Allah Who asks them, and He knows the answer better than they, "How have you left My slaves?" They reply, "We have left them praying as we found them praying." If anyone of you says "Amin" (during the Prayer at the end of the recitation of Surat-al-Faitiha), and the angels in Heaven say the same, and the two sayings coincide, all his past sins will be forgiven."

In Allah's executive office Angels' beat their wings in His obedience

Declaring unquestioned allegiance to Allah is the central theme of all the core literatures of Islam. To his impressionable listeners Muhammad always planted the seed of excruciating fear of Allah. He demanded unquestionable, unflinching obedience from his followers. He used to cite the examples Allah's angels, who, according to Muhammad, show their obedience to Allah by beating their wings. He even claimed that some angels have 600 wings (300 pairs?). Muhammad also described the sound of beating of angels' wings: it was the sound of chains being dragged on a floor.

We will now read a few hadith on this incredible claim of Muhammad.

> Angels beat their wings in obedience to Allah (34:23)... (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.223).
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 223:
> Narrated Abu Huraira:

The Prophet said, "When Allah has ordained some affair in the Heaven, the angels beat with their wings in obedience to His statement, which sounds like a chain dragged over a rock." ('Ali and other sub-narrators said, "The sound reaches them.") "Until when fear is banished from their (angels) hearts, they (angels) say, 'What was it that your Lord said? They say, 'The truth; And He is the Most High, the Most Great.' (34.23) Then those who gain a hearing by stealing (i.e. devils) will hear Allah's Statement:-- 'Those who gain a hearing by stealing, (stand one over the other like this).

(Sufyan, to illustrate this, spread the fingers of his right hand and placed them one over the other horizontally.) A flame may overtake and burn the eavesdropper before conveying the news to the one below him; or it may not overtake him till he has conveyed it to the one below him, who in his turn, conveys it to the one below him, and so on till they convey the news to the earth. (Or probably Sufyan said, "Till the news reaches the earth.") Then the news is inspired to a sorcerer who would add a hundred lies to it. His prophecy will prove true (as far as the heavenly news is concerned). The people will say. 'Didn't he tell us that on such-and-such a day, such-and-such a thing will happen? We have found that is true because of the true news heard from heaven."

The Quran (35:1) says Allah had created angels with wings of two, three or four pairs.

035.001
YUSUFALI: Praise be to Allah, Who created (out of nothing) the heavens and the earth, Who made the angels, messengers with wings,- two, or three, or four (pairs): He adds to Creation as He pleases: for Allah has power over all things.

Allah’s angel, Gabriel has 600 wings… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.455)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 455:

Narrated Abu Ishaq-Ash-Shaibani:

I asked Zir bin Hubaish regarding the Statement of Allah: "And was at a distance of but two bow-lengths or (even) nearer; so did (Allah) convey The Inspiration to His slave (Gabriel) and then he (Gabriel) Conveyed (that to Muhammad). (53.9-10) On that, Zir said, "Ibn Mas'ud informed us that the Prophet had seen Gabriel having 600 wings."

Allah keeps records in a book of all events, even the records of all Islamic divorces

Let us read the following verses from the Quran to understand the peculiar mind of Allah—a mind obsessed with data-recording.

> If the man proceeds with the divorce then Allah records it… 2:226-227
> Allah is a swift plotter because the messengers (angels) record all the sinister plots of the unbelievers…10:21
> Muslims must keep in the straight path (Islam); Allah surely keeps all their records…11:112
> Everyone will read his records in a scroll...17:14
> People with records on their right hand will read them with pleasure...17:71
> The book of records will be opened and the guilty will be frightened at the meticulous records of their misdeeds… 18:49
> Allah has an accurate count (records) of all people on earth… 19:94
> Allah records all the works of His faithful...21:94
> Allah records at ease everything in a book …22:70
> Allah has preserved all records...78:29
> When their records are presented each person will know his position…81:14
> The records of the wicked people are kept in an inscribed register called Sijjin...83:7–9
> The records of the righteous are kept in a high place with an inscribed register called Illiyin; it is viewed only by those close to Allah...83:18–21
> Those who receive their records in the right hand will rejoice (paradise); those who are given the records behind their backs will cry and will enter a blazing fire (hell, gehenna)...84:7–12

In the following verses Allah provides some clue as to why He is so thorough with His database. He has graded the Paradise into three classes. The highest grade is reserved for the jihadists (suicide bombers, kaffir killers, Murtad hunters, cyber jihadists, Islamic writers, imams, muezzins …and so on). Next will be Muslims from the first generation of Muslims (i.e. Muhammad's time). The third group will the Muslims from other generation. In the same manner, Allah also has divided the denizens of Hell into two classes.

Here are the Quranic verses which grades paradise.

> Class 3(the highest grade): Elite of the elite (the best of the best in believers)…56:10
> Class3 Those nearest to God in the garden of bliss...56:11-12
> Very few Muslims in class 3 will be from the later period of Islam…56:14
> The people on the right hand will be of two classes: group (a) will be from the first generation of Islam and (b) the multitude of them will be from the later generation…56:38-40
> Those whose records are given on their right hands will be in a life of bliss (paradise)...69:19–21
> Class 2 (upper paradise, reserved for Muhammad's generation) will be on thrones encrusted with gold and precious stones...56:15
> Class 2: Reclining on thrones facing each other, served by immortal youth (boys) of perpetual freshness, shining goblets, cups filled out of clear-flowing fountains, no-after-ache, no intoxication, fruits, flesh of fowls, concubines with lustrous eyes like pearls (houris)...56:16-26
> Class 1(lower paradise, Muslims of later generation) They will be among Lote trees without thorns, among Talh (banana) trees with fruits, shades long extended, water flowing constantly, fruits in abundance, no prohibition, special virgin sex–companions (houris) equal in age...56:27-37

And here is how Allah will use His database to sort out the denizens of hell:

> The residents of hell will be in the midst of fierce blast of fire, in boiling water, under black smoke...56:41-45
> They were constantly immersed in sins…56:46

> They refused to believe that they and their ancestors would be raised again after their body has become dust…56:47-48
> Those whose records are given on their right hands will be in a life of bliss (paradise)...69:19–21
>
> Those who are given the records on their left hands will regret their past actions; their wealth was of no use. They will be in hell; they will be seized, bound and marched in a chain of seventy cubits long then burnt in a blazing fire...69:25-32
> The Illiyin is also an inscribed register where records of the righteous are kept and are to be viewed only by those close to God…83:19-21

Abdullah Yusuf Ali, the eminent translator of the Holy Quran writes that Allah has a register called illiyyin where records of righteous deeds are kept.

Let us read his comment:

> ‘Illiyin: the oblique form of the nominative ‘Illiyun, which occurs in the next verse. It is in contrast to the Sijjin which occurs in verse 7 above, where see .6013. Literally it means the ‘High Placs’, but it is probably not the same as the ‘heights’ (A’raf) mentioned in vii.46. Nor need we necessarily identify it with the “dwelling on high”(gurufat) mentioned in xxxiv.37. Applying the reasoning parallel to that which we applied to Sijjin, we may interpret as the Place where is kept the Register of the Righteous (Ali, 1983, p.1705, foot note 6019).

Since Allah is so famished for the attention, love and affection from humans, He has vouchsafed that despite all his record keeping, He will admit all those who embrace Islam, even though they might be thieves or sex-offenders. Sahih Bukhari confirms this crazy temperament of Allah

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 76, Number 498: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas:
> The Prophet narrating about his Lord I'm and said, "Allah ordered (the appointed angels over you) that the good and the bad deeds be written, and He then showed (the way) how (to write). If somebody intends to do a good deed and he does not do it, then Allah will write for him a full good deed (in his account with Him); and if he intends to do a good deed and actually did it, then Allah will write for him (in his account) with Him (its reward equal) from ten to seven hundred times to many more times: and if somebody intended to do a bad deed and he does not do it, then Allah will write a full good deed (in his account) with Him, and if he intended to do it (a bad deed) and actually did it, then Allah will write one bad deed (in his account) ."

Allah has His own official seal

Just like any rulers, Allah has His own royal seal or stamp or official insignia. His seal is etched on baked clay. In fact, to confirm this, Allah inflicted with might a severe punishment to the citizens of Sodom and Gomorrah. He incessantly bombarded them with fiery baked-clay lumps bearing the official seal of Allah.

Let us read this verse from the Quran

> The city of Lot (Sodom) was destroyed with brimstones of baked clay which was marked by Allah (i.e. Allah destroyed Sodom with stoning) in layers...11:82-83
> YUSUFALI: When Our Decree issued, We turned (the cities) upside down, and rained down on them brimstones hard as baked clay, spread, layer on layer,- [011.082]
> YUSUFALI: Marked as from thy Lord: Nor are they ever far from those who do wrong! [011.083]

Ibn Kathir, the most eminent Tafsir writer confirms that Allah destroyed Sodom with stoning; each stone had the name of its victim inscribed in it. This means that each clay stone of Allah had His royal emblem attesting the official approval of the total annihilation of the disbelievers of Sodom.

Allah writes His Laws with His own Hands

Those experts of Islam who claim that Allah's hands, nose, ears, eyes…and so on are just symbolic, figurative and should not be taken as physical, must be telling flat lies. In the following verse, Allah unabashedly admits that He uses His own hands to write His Books, especially the Books on Law. He tells us that He personally wrote, with His own hands, the tablet on which He wrote the Mosaic laws.

Let us read the following verse.

> Allah wrote in a tablet His laws and gave that to Moses to be followed by his people…7:145
> PICKTHAL: And We wrote for him, upon the tablets, the lesson to be drawn from all things and the explanation of all things, then (bade him): Hold it fast; and command thy people (saying): Take the better (course made clear) therein. I shall show thee the abode of evil-livers.

> Sahih Bukhari tells us that Allah wrote the Book (Quran) with His own hands and kept that beside Him (Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.501)
> Sahih Bukhari Volume 9, Book 93, Number 501: Narrated Abu Huraira:
> The Prophet said, "When Allah created the Creation, He wrote in His Book--and He wrote (that) about Himself, and it is placed with Him on the Throne--'Verily My Mercy overcomes My Anger.'"

Sahih Muslim records that Allah wrote the Torah with His own hand. Let us read this hadith as narrated by Abu Huraira, one of the most prolific hadith narrators:

> Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6409:
> Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: There was argument between Adam and Moses. Moses said to Adam: You are our father. You did us harm and caused us to get out of Paradise. Adam said to him: You are Moses. Allah selected you (for direct conversation with you) and wrote with His own Hand the Book (Torah) for you. Despite this you blame me for an act which Allah had ordained for me forty years before He created me. Allah's Apostle (may peace be upon him) said: This is how Adam came (sic) the better of Moses and Adam came the better of Moses (sic).

Angels write with pens Allah's instructions

Not only that Allah, with His hand, writes His Laws, even the angles use pen and their own hands to write down Allah's instructions.

Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Muslim

> Book 001, Number 0313:
> Anas b. Malik reported: Abu Dharr used to relate that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: The roof of my house was cleft when I was in Mecca and Gabriel descended and opened my heart and then washed it with the water of Zamzam. He then brought a gold basin full of wisdom and faith and after emptying it into my breast, he closed it up. Then taking me by the hand, he ascended with me to the heaven, and when we came to the lowest heaven, Gabriel said to the guardian of the lowest heaven: Open. He asked who was there? He replied. It is Gabriel. He again asked whether there was someone with him. He replied: Yes, it is Muhammad with me. He was asked if he had been sent for, He (Gabriel) said: Yes. Then he opened (the gate). When we ascended the lowest heaven (I saw) a man seated with parties on his right side and parties on his left side. When he looked up to his right, he laughed and when he looked to his left, he wept. He said: Welcome to the righteous apostle and the righteous son. I asked Gabriel who he was and he replied: He is Adam (peace be upon him) and these parties on his right and on his left are the souls of his descendants. Those of them on his right are the inmates of Paradise and the parties which are on his left side are the inmates of Hell; so when he looked towards his right side, he laughed, and when he looked towards his left side, he wept. Then Gabriel ascended with me to the second heaven. He asked its guardian to open (its gate), and its guardian replied in the same way as the guardian of the lowest heaven had said. He (opened it). Anas b. Malik said: He (the Holy Prophet) mentioned that he found in the heavens Adam, Idris, Jesus, Moses and Abraham (may peace be on all of them), but he did not ascertain as to the nature of their abodes except that he had found Adam in the lowest heaven and Abraham in the sixth heaven. When Gabriel and the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) passed by Idris (peace be upon him) he said: Welcome to the righteous apostle and righteous brother. He (the narrator) said: He then proceeded and said: Who is he? Gabriel replied: It is Idris. Then I passed by Moses (peace be upon him) and he said: Welcome to the righteous apostle and righteous brother. I said to (Gabriel): Who is he? He replied: It is Moses. Then I passed by Jesus and he said: Welcome to the righteous apostle and righteous brother. I said (to Gabriel): Who is he? He replied: Jesus, son of Mary. He (the Holy Prophet) said: Then I went to Ibrahim (peace be upon him). He said: Welcome to the righteous apostle and righteous son. I asked: Who is he? He (Gabriel) replied: It is Abraham. Ibn Shihab said: Ibn Hazm told me that Ibn 'Abbas and Abd Habba al-Ansari used to say that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Thereafter he ascended with me till I was taken to such a height where I heard the scraping of the pens. Ibn Hazm and Anas told that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Allah then made fifty prayers obligatory for my Ummah and I returned with that and passed by Moses. Moses, (peace be upon him) said: What has thy Lord enjoined on thy people? I said: Fifty prayers have been made obligatory on them. Moses (peace be upon him) said: Return to thy Lord, for thy Ummah would not be able to bear this burden. Then I came back to my Lord and He remitted a portion out of that. I then again went to > Moses (peace be upon him) and informed him about it He said: Return to thy Lord, for thy Ummah shall not be able to bear this burden. I then went back to my Lord and He said: They are five and at the same time fifty, and what has been said will not be changed. I then returned to Moses and he said: Go back to thy Lord. Whereupon I said: I feel ashamed of my Lord. Gabriel then travelled with me till we came to the farthest lote-tree Many a colour had covered it which I do not know. Then I was admitted to Paradise and saw in it domes of pearls, and its soil of musk.

Commenting on the above hadith, 'Abdul Hamid Siddiqi, the translator of Sahih Muslim writes that Allah's angels do indeed write with pens, Muhammad heard the sound of those pens. Let us read his comment:

> The Holy Prophet (may peace be upon him) came so near to Allah that he could hear the scrapping of the pens of angels as they were writing the decrees of their Lord. It is a symbolic way of saying that the Holy Prophet (may peace be upon him) was lifted to such heights of spiritual experience where he could distinctly perceive the destiny of human race being decreed (Siddiqi, 2004, p.1.125, footnote 337).

In His Executive Office, Allah uses a balance to judge people

Muhammad must have seen the Roman goddess of justice, who holds a sword in one hand and a balance on another hand. This picture of god(ess) gave him a good idea of how Allah will mete out His strict justice. When the indigent, illiterate and ignorant followers of him could not understand a clear concept of Allah's justice system, Muhammad provided them a vivid description of Allah's method of justice—the mimicry of the Roman goddess. Muhammad was certain that Allah will use a physical balance to weigh people's measure of piety and wickedness. Whichever side is the heavier; Allah will send him accordingly, i.e. either to Paradise or to Hell.

Here is a verse from the Quran on Allah's balance of justice.

> Allah will use a balance to judge; those with heavy balance will be successful (i.e. they will be in Paradise)… 23:101-102

> YUSUFALI: Then when the Trumpet is blown, there will be no more relationships between them that Day, nor will one ask after another [023.101]

> YUSUFALI: Then those whose balance (of good deeds) is heavy, - they will attain salvation: [023.102]

> Previously, we also noted a hadith from Sahih Bukhari which tells us that Allah's Throne is over water and in His hand there is the balance of justice... (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.206).
> Read the following hadith to confirm that Allah does indeed use a physical balance to mete out justice.
> Allah's right hand is full, on the other hand He holds the balance of justice and His Throne is over the water... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.508, 515).
> After finishing creation, Allah wrote over his Throne, 'My mercy preceded my anger'...(Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.518).

Allah has assistant (Muhammad) who mete out Allah's justice.

Is Allah's justice meted out by someone else? We often hear that only Allah will judge and mete out punishment or reward. No human has the authority to mete out Allah's justice. But hang on; Allah has no shortage of assistants to help Him out for this purpose.

Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Muslim.

> The dispenser of justice will be seated on the pulpit of right or left side of Allah… (Sahih Muslim, 20.4493)
> Sahih Muslim, Book 020, Number 4493:
> It has been narrated on the authority of 'Abdullah b. 'Umar that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Behold! The Dispensers of justice will be seated on the pulpits of light beside God, on the right side of the Merciful, Exalted and Glorious. Either side of the Being is the right side both being equally meritorious. (The Dispensers of justice are) those who do justice in their rules, in matters relating to their families and in all that they undertake to do.

The natural question is: who is the dispenser of justice seated next to Allah? Is it the archangel, Gabriel, Michael, Azrail, Harut, Marut…or who? Or could this be the first human Adam or another prophet before Muhammad— such as Abraham, Moses, Jesus…and so on. But search no more. The answer is Muhammad. He will be seated next to Allah and will be meting out punishment or reward according to his wish; of course, subject to full approval by Allah. In reality, Allah will never object to the decision of Muhammad.

We might find this simply impossible to believe—Muhammad seated next to Allah and awarding justice. But hold on. This is exactly what the founder of the Hanbali sect of Islam, the formidable Imam Hanbali says. Hanbali asserts that Allah actually set Muhammad upon His Throne and constituted him as His substitute in the governance of the universe (Hughes, 1994, p.188). Please note that the laws of Hanbal are the laws Saudi Arabia, the cradle of Islam.

Sahih Muslim also describes how Allah's court procedure will follow. A hadith says that as witnesses Allah will give tongues and ears to human limbs. These limbs will testify against the wrong doers (read non-Muslims). Let us read this hadith from Sahih Muslim.

> You will have no difficulty in seeing Allah on the judgment day; Allah will be as clear as the moon in a clear sky; Allah will sit on judgment and the parts of our body would testify as to whether we tell the truth or not…(Sahih Muslim, 42.7078).

Sahih Muslim, Book 042, Number 7078:

> Abu Huraira reported that they (the Companions of the Holy Prophet) said: Allah's Messenger, will we be able to see our Lord on the Day of Judgment? He said: Do you feel any difficulty in seeing the sun in the noon when there is no cloud over it? They said: No. He again said: Do you feel any difficulty in seeing the moon on the fourteenth night when there is no cloud over it? They said: No. Thereupon he said: By Allah Who is One in Whose Hand is my life. you will not face any difficulty in seeing your Lord but only so much as you feel in seeing one of them. Then Allah would sit in judgment upon the servant and would say: O, so and so, did I not honour you and make you the chief and provide you the spouse and subdue for you horses, camels, and afforded you an opportunity to rule over your subjects? He would say: Yes. And then it would be said: Did you not think that you would meet Us? And he would say: No. Thereupon He (Allah) would say: Well, We forget you as you forgot Us. Then the second person would be brought for judgment. (And Allah would) say: O, so and so, did We not honour you and make you the chief and make you pair and subdue for you horses and camels and afford you an opportunity to rule over your subjects? He would say: Yes, my Lord. And He (the Lord) would say: Did you not think that you would be meeting Us? And he would say: No. And then He (Allah) would say: Well, I forget you today as you forgot Us. Then the third one would be brought and He (Allah) would say to him as He said before. And he (the third person) would say: O, my Lord, I affirmed my faith in Thee and in Thy Book and in Thy Messenger and I observed prayer and fasts and gave charity, and he would speak in good terms like this as he would be able to do. And He (Allah) would say: Well, We will bring our witnesses > to you. And the man would think in his mind who would bear witness upon him and then his mouth would be sealed and it would be said to his thighs, to his flesh and to his bones to speak and his thighs. flesh and bones would bear witness to his deeds and it would be done so that he should not be able to make any excuse for himself and he would be a hypocrite and Allah would be annoyed with him.

A Tirmidhi hadith indeed confirms that Muhammad will be seated on the right side of Allah's Throne and will mete out judgment.

Here is the hadith:

> Muhammad will stand on the right side of Allah's Throne, where no other creature other than him will stand… (Tirmidhi hadith number 1520)
>
> Narrated AbuHurayrah
> The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "I shall be clothed with one of the robes of Paradise and shall then stand at the right of the Throne, a place where no other creature than I shall stand."
> Tirmidhi transmitted it. The version on his authority in Jami' al-Usul has "I shall be the first from whom the earth will be cleft open and I shall be clothed....." (Hadith quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

Another Tirmidhi hadith says that Muhammad will carry two books with him which will contain the list of inmates of paradise and the denizens of hell. Let us read this hadith:

> Muhammad carried two books; the book on his right hand had all the names of inmates of paradise and the book on his left hand had all the names of denizens of hell… (Tirmidhi hadith number 24)
> Narrated Abdullah ibn Amr
> Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) went out and he had in his hand two books. He said: Do you know what these two books are? We said: Allah's Messenger, we do not know but only that you inform us. Thereupon he said: This one which my right hand possesses is a Book from the Lord of the worlds. It contains the names of the inmates of Paradise and the name of their forefathers and those of their tribes. It is most exhaustive and nothing will be added to it nor anything eliminated from it up to eternity.

He then said: This one in my left hand is a Book from the Lord of the worlds. It contains the names of the denizens of Hell and the names of their forefathers and their tribes. It is also exhaustive to the end and nothing will be added to it nor anything will be eliminated from it. The Companions said: Allah's Messenger, (if this is the case) then where lies the use of doing a deed if the affair is already decided. Thereupon he said: Stick to the right course and remain as close to it as possible for one who is to be inmate of Paradise would end his life by an act befitting the inmates of Paradise, no matter what he may have done and for one who is the denizen of Hell, his deed would end on that which is a deed of the denizens of Hell, no matter what he may have done (before). Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) then threw the books and making a gesture with his hand said: Allah has made a decision about His servants (a section will be in Paradise and a section in the blaze).

Transmitted by Tirmidhi. (Hadith quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

Allah's Temperament

Allah Approves telling lies, Scared of Idolater, Terrorize Infidels, Sadist, Stingy to Slaves, Tough in Forgiving, Like Spend for Him, Happy with Muslim Committing Sins, Gets Angry, Dislikes laughing, Likes Cursing, Plotting & Avenging, Angry if Muhammad Offended, Likes Hijab, Judges People by Name, Has Jealousy.

Allah approves telling lies

Muslim scholars will tell us that in Islam telling lies is a serious crime/sin. A Muslim must always be sincere and truthful in whatever he says and does. Based on this assumption, we could never expect the last and the best Prophet of Allah (Muhammad) to unabashedly tell lies or to fervently incite other Muslims to gleefully resort to lies and deception. No Muslim could ever contemplate that Muhammad would had ever denied that He was sent by Allah as His messenger. But wait, Muhammad did exactly that. During the signing of Hudaibiya treaty, the Quraysh insisted that Muhammad erase the title of his name he put in the draft, 'Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah'. Instead, the Quraysh delegate insisted that his title should read as 'Muhammad, son of Abdallah'. Muhammad's comrades, Ali, Umar, Uthman and others vehemently objected to comply with such an odious demand from the despicable Meccan idolaters. But Muhammad coolly agreed with the pagan demand and asked Ali, who drafted the treaty, to point to him the location in the document of his title, 'Messenger of Allah'. When Ali duly complied with that request, Muhammad unhesitatingly wiped off his title, 'Muhammad, the Messenger of Allah'. To many of his diehard jihadists, this amounted telling the untruth. In fact, Umar was so disgusted with Muhammad's lie (or deception) that he even thought of leaving Islam. He (Umar) was so angry that he flatly asked Muhammad if he (Muhammad) still doubted his Apostleship of Allah. Without providing any satisfactory answer Muhammad simply kept quiet and smirked. Thus, if one accepts that Muhammad was indeed the messenger of Allah, then Muhammad had simply lied to the Quraysh. Alternatively, if he was really a pretender, then he must had been telling lies throughout his missionary period.

Let us read this authentic hadith from Sahih Bukhari on Muhammad's attempt to tell lies—presumably with Allah's permission.

> While signing the treaty of Hudaibiya Muhammad rubbed off the title of Messenger of Allah … (Sahih Bukhari, 3.49.862, 863)
> Volume 3, Book 49, Number 862:
>
> Narrated Al-Bara bin 'Azib:
> When Allah's Apostle concluded a peace treaty with the people of Hudaibiya, Ali bin Abu Talib wrote the document and he mentioned in it, "Muhammad, Allah's Apostle." The pagans said, "Don't write: 'Muhammad, Allah's Apostle', for if you were an apostle we would not fight with you." Allah's Apostle asked Ali to rub it out, but Ali said, "I will not be the person to rub it out." Allah's Apostle rubbed it out and made peace with them on the condition that the Prophet and his companions would enter Mecca and stay there for three days, and that they would enter with their weapons in cases.
> If a diehard believer is perturbed reading the above hadith, then here is more shocking news for him. The Sharia law permits a Muslim to tell lies if and when necessary—for the sake of Islam.

Here is a law from the Shafii School of jurisprudence.

> "Speaking is a means to achieve objectives. If a praiseworthy aim is attainable through both telling the truth and lying, it is unlawful to accomplish through lying because there is no need for it. When it is possible to achieve such an aim by lying but not by telling the truth, it is permissible to lie if attaining the goal is permissible" (al-Misri, 1999, p. 745).

When it comes to, war, murder, assassination, plunder and theft, Allah loves those Muslims who will resort to deliberate lies and deceptions. This was what Muhammad did. When a professional killer agreed to murder, upon Muhammad's request, the Jewish poet K'ab b. al-Ashraf, he (the killer) was a bit hesitant as he had to resort to lies and deception to accomplish his mission. Muhammad, without any compunction allowed the assassin to resort to lies and deception to kill Ka'b b. al–Ashraf.

Let us read the following hadith to gauge the limit of fraud Allah would allow His dearest prophet to kill his intellectual critics.

Volume 5, Book 59, Number 369:

Narrated Jabir bin 'Abdullah:

Allah's Apostle said, "Who is willing to kill Ka'b bin Al-Ashraf who has hurt Allah and His Apostle?" Thereupon Muhammad bin Maslama got up saying, "O Allah's Apostle! Would you like that I kill him?" The Prophet said, "Yes," Muhammad bin Maslama said, "Then allow me to say a (false) thing (i.e. to deceive Kab)."The Prophet said, "You may say it." Then Muhammad bin Maslama went to Ka'b and said, "That man (i.e. Muhammad demands Sadaqa (i.e. Zakat)) from us, and he has troubled us, and I have come to borrow something from you." On that, Kab said, "By Allah, you will get tired of him!" Muhammad bin Maslama said, "Now as we have followed him, we do not want to leave him unless and until we see how his end is going to be. Now we want you to lend us a camel load or two of food." (Some difference between narrators about a camel load or two.) Kab said, "Yes, (I will lend you), but you should mortgage something to me." Muhammad bin Maslama and his companion said, "What do you want?" Ka'b replied, "Mortgage your women to me." They said, "How can we mortgage our women to you and you are the most handsome of the 'Arabs?" Ka'b said, "Then mortgage your sons to me." They said, "How can we mortgage our sons to you? Later they would be abused by the people's saying that so-and-so has been mortgaged for a camel load of food. That would cause us great disgrace, but we will mortgage our arms to you." Muhammad bin Maslama and his companion promised Kab that Muhammad would return to him. He came to Kab at night along with Kab's foster brother, Abu Na'ila. Kab invited them to come into his fort, and then he went down to them. His wife asked him, "Where are you going at this time?" Kab replied, "None but Muhammad bin Maslama and my (foster) brother Abu Na'ila have come." His wife said, "I hear a voice as if dropping blood is from him, (sic)Ka'b said."They are none but my brother Muhammad bin Maslama and my foster brother Abu > Naila. A generous man should respond to a call at night even if invited to be killed." Muhammad bin Maslama went with two men. (Some narrators mention the men as 'Abu bin Jabr. Al Harith bin Aus and Abbad bin Bishr). So Muhammad bin Maslama went in together with two men, and said to them, "When Ka'b comes, I will touch his hair and smell it, and when you see that I have got hold of his head, strip him. I will let you smell his head." Kab bin Al-Ashraf came down to them wrapped in his clothes, and diffusing perfume. Muhammad bin Maslama said. “Have never smelt a better scent than this.” Ka'b replied. "I have got the best 'Arab women who know how to use the high class of perfume." Muhammad bin Maslama requested Ka'b "Will you allow me to smell your head?" Ka'b said, "Yes." Muhammad smelt it and made his companions smell it as well. Then he requested Ka'b again, "Will you let me (smell your head)?" Ka'b said, "Yes." When Muhammad got a strong hold of him, he said (to his companions), "Get at him!" So they killed him and went to the Prophet and informed him. (Abu Rafi) was killed after Ka'b bin Al-Ashraf."

But Allah is not that stupid to allow unfettered lies lest they backfire on Him and on Muhammad. That is why he forbade Muslims to tell lies against Muhammad. Here is a hadith from Sahih Bukhari which warns believers of hell-fire should they dare to lie against Muhammad (Sahih Bukhari, 1.3.106, 107, 108).

> Volume 1, Book 3, Number 106:
> Narrated 'Ali:
> The Prophet said, "Do not tell a lie against me for whoever tells a lie against me (intentionally) then he will surely enter the Hell-fire."

When Muhammad was weak, Allah was scared of the idolaters

When Muhammad started out as a professional prophet of Allah, Allah was not fully ready to combat the despicable Meccan pagans who often embarrassed Muhammad with pertinent questions about his claim of Allah’s apostleship. The all-powerful, all-knowing, almighty Allah was actually quite helpless in confronting the barrage of questions that those contemptible idolaters posed to Muhammad. Truly, at this stage Allah was scared of them. He advised Muhammad to maintain a conciliatory and amicable demure when confronting those Meccans. Allah told Muhammad not to curse or insult the idols of the polytheists lest the idolaters, in retaliation, blaspheme and curse Allah (6:108). Allah remained frightful of those Meccan idolaters. In fact, Allah was so much in fear of retaliation from the Meccan unbelievers that He advised Muhammad and his myopic number of followers to forgive the unbelievers (45:14).

Allah then assured His Apostle that He would decide on their punishment and/or reward.

Let us read these two important verses.

> 006.108
> YUSUFALI: Revile not ye those whom they call upon besides Allah, lest they out of spite revile Allah in their ignorance. Thus have We made alluring to each people its own doings. In the end will they return to their Lord, and We shall then tell them the truth of all that they did.

> 045.014
> YUSUFALI: Tell those who believe, to forgive those who do not look forward to the Days of Allah: It is for Him to recompense (for good or ill) each People according to what they have earned.

As expected, when Muhammad migrated to Medina, gathered his army of bandits and profligates, Allah felt militarily strong enough to abandon those two verses. Such is the claim by many Islamist scholars. They contend that those verses have been abrogated by verses such as 9:5 and 9:36.

The bottom line is: Allah was weak when Muhammad was weak; Allah became powerful when Muhammad became strong militarily—Allah's strength was totally dependent on Muhammad's raw muscle power.

Allah loves to frighten and terrorize infidels;

As told previously, Allah loves to torment the infidels with sickness, murrain, ill-fortune, pestilence, hurricane, violent storm, earthquake and what not. As if this is not enough, Allah sets them to the intense torture of terror.

In the Quran (17:60) we read that Allah showed Muhammad a vision of ordeal of mankind and the accursed tree (Zaqquum); it was to put terror in the minds of people (unbelievers).

Let us read the verse.

> 017.060
> YUSUFALI: Behold! We told thee that thy Lord doth encompass mankind round about: We granted the vision which We showed thee, but as a trial for men,- as also the Cursed Tree (mentioned) in the Qur'an: We put terror (and warning) into them, but it only increases their inordinate transgression!

In Sunaan ibn Majah we read that Allah demands fear from us.

Sunaan ibn Majah is not available online, so I shall quote from the print version of it.

> Sunaan ibn Majah Vol. v, Hadith Number 4299
> Anas b. Malik (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) read out (or recited) this verse: "He is the fount of fear. He is the fount of Mercy (74:56)." Then he said, "Allah, the Mighty and Glorious has said, "I deserve that I am feared and no other god is appointed with Me. So he who fears that no other god is appointed with Me, then I am competent to forgive him.
> Abul–Hasa b. Qattah related to us, who said: Ibrahim b. Nasr related to us; Hudba b. Khalid related to us; Suhail b. Abi Hazm related Thabit to have said on the authority of Anas that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said regarding this verse (74:56), "He is fount of fear. He is the fount of forgiveness." Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Your Lord says: I deserve to be feared, therefore, associate naught with Me other than I; and I am competent for him who fears to associate with me anything besides Me, to forgive him."

Allah is particularly interested in committing acts of terror, plunder and murder early in the morning. No wonder then that we note a striking similarity in the timing on perpetration the Islamic terror: many of them were really committed early in the morning, when the infidels are ready to go to work.

Allah also exhorts the jihadists to offer prayers before setting out on a terrorist mission.

Here are a few hadith which tell us about Allah's obsession with prayer timing and terror acts. It looks Islamic prayer and acts of terrorism are intertwined—they are simply inseparable.

> The best time to go plundering and terror is in the morning…(Tirmidhi, 1086)
> Narrated Abdullah ibn Abbas
> The Prophet (peace be upon him) sent Abdullah ibn Rawahah with a detachment and that happened to be on a Friday. His companions set off in the morning, but he decided to stay behind and catch up with them after saying the prayer along with Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him). When he did so he saw him and asked him what had prevented him from going out in the morning with his companions. He replied, "I wanted to pray along with you and then catch up with them." Whereupon he said, "If you were to contribute all that the earth contains you would not attain the excellence of their going out in the morning."

Tirmidhi transmitted it. (Hadith quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

Pray, then fight, then pray then fight—the wind of victory blows with every prayer offered…(Tirmidhi, 1087)

Narrated an-Nu'man ibn Muqarrin

Qatadah quoted an-Nu'man ibn Muqarrin as saying: "I went on an expedition with Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him), and when dawn came he waited till the sun rose and when it rose he fought. Then when midday came he stopped till the sun passed the meridian and when it had done so he fought till the afternoon, when he stopped till he prayed the afternoon prayer, and then fought." Qatadah told that it used to be said that the winds of victory blew at that time and the believers made supplication for their armies during their prayer.

Tirmidhi transmitted it. (Hadith quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

In a subsequent section you will learn more about Allah's love for Islamic terrorism.

Allah gets sadistic satisfaction by feeding infidels with the fruit of Zaqqum tree

Here are a few verses which say how much satisfaction Allah derives by feeding the infidels with the bitter fruit of the Zaqqum tree.

Zaqqum, the bitter tree in hell is for the unbelievers… 37:62

Allah has made the Zaqqum tree for the unbelievers… 37:63

Zaqqum springs out of bottom of hell fire…37:64

> Zaqqum fruit stalks are like heads of devils…37:65
> Sinners (unbelievers) are to eat the bitter Zaqqum fruit… 37:66
> The tree of Zaqqum (a bitter fruit) will be the food for the sinners...44:43-44
> They will taste tree of Zaqqum (a bitter and pungent tree)...56:52

Allah is stingy in bestowing His bounty to His slaves

Despite so much talk about the unfettered bounty of Allah, we read in the Quran that Allah, after all, is not really that rich. He is actually quite miserly and stingy—to say the least. The reason why Allah is stingy with His slaves is also explained in this (42:27) verse. If Allah gives more to all his slaves then there will be more transgression. That is why Allah is very careful in bestowing His bounties (i.e., Allah is stingy).

Let us read this verse.

> 042.027
> YUSUFALI: If Allah were to enlarge the provision for His Servants, they would indeed transgress beyond all bounds through the earth; but he sends (it) down in due measure as He pleases. For He is with His Servants Well-acquainted, Watchful.

Allah loves commitment of adultery by His slaves (Muslims) No crime in Islam is more heinous than adultery or sex between two adults, whether consensual or not. The act of such expression of love is the ultimate depravity, according to Islam. The punishment for engaging in such love-act is also extremely harsh and barbaric—stoning to death (see Islamic stoning to death here). We might expect Allah to be very strict on this dreadful sexual indulgence to prevent his slaves from such extreme harsh punishment. But Allah's mind is not that simple and easy. Instead of discouraging adultery or fornication, Allah, in reality, encourages his subjects to commit such 'odious' act. In fact, Allah proclaims that He has already fixed for a person the act of adultery, so that he could never escape from it. Let us read the following hadith to gauge the incredible mind and temperament of Allah. The act of adultery is destined by Allah; adultery of the eye and the tongue... (Sahih Bukhari, 8.77.609)

Sahih Bukhari Volume 8, Book 77, Number 609: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas: I did not see anything so resembling minor sins as what Abu Huraira said from the Prophet, who said, "Allah has written for the son of Adam his inevitable share of adultery whether he is aware of it or not: The adultery of the eye is the looking (at something which is sinful to look at), and the adultery of the tongue is to utter (what it is unlawful to utter), and the innerself wishes and longs for (adultery) and the private parts turn that into reality or refrain from submitting to the temptation." To confuse the ummah further, Allah even proclaims that adultery could be done with look and tongue (quite similar to what the Bible writes!). Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Muslim. Allah has fixed the portion of adultery a man would indulge out of necessity; there is the adultery of the look and the tongue … (Sahih Muslim, 33.6421)

Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6421: Abu Huraira reported Allah's Apostle (may peace be upon him) as saying: Verily Allah has fixed the very portion of adultery which a man will indulge in, and which he of necessity must commit. The adultery of the eye is the lustful look, and the adultery of the tongue is the licentious speech, the heart desires and yearns, which the parts may or may not put into effect

Another verse (28:56) tells Muhammad that he could not guide anyone unless Allah guides that person. This verse also refers to Abu Talib, Muhammad's beloved uncle and an ardent protector of Muhammad during his troubled times.

> YUSUFALI: It is true thou wilt not be able to guide every one, whom thou lovest; but Allah guides those whom He will and He knows best those who receive guidance. [028.056]

Ibn Kathir, the foremost exegete of the Quran asserts that Allah revealed verse28:56 when Muhammad wanted to pray for forgiveness for his uncle Abu Talib. Other verses which relate to this event are 2:272 and 12:103

Another hadith in Sahih Bukhari confirms verse 9:113 which told us that Allah does not forgive so easily—not even in the case of Abu Talib, Muhammad's uncle.

> Muhammad and the Muslims should not pray for the forgiveness of pagans even though they may be close relatives (9:113); background to this verse is Abu Talib's death (this is a lengthy hadith, read it here: Sahih Bukhari 6.60.295).

The Compassionate, merciful, oft-forgiving Allah has unbound wrath for the unbelievers (non–Muslims). In verse 47:34, 4:167 Allah sternly commands that He will never forgive them if they die as infidels; instead of forgiveness, Allah will subject them to intense torture and humiliation and throw them in hell to live there permanently. Verses 4:168–169 confirm such a strange mentality of Allah. Fearing that Muhammad might vex Allah for their forgiveness, Allah warned Muhammad that even when he pleads for their forgiveness—seventy times, Allah would not forgive the despicable non–Muslims. Allah advised Muhammad (9:84) not to waste his time seeking Allah's forgiveness for them. Then Allah declared that He had set very strict conditions to receive His forgiveness (33:35) Please read the following verses to gauge the limit of Allah's mercy and compassion.

> Unbelievers will face torment in place of forgiveness...2:175
> Allah will not forgive those who reject faith...4:167
> Allah will neither forgive nor guide the disbelievers; Allah will send them to hell to abide there forever…4:168-169
> Even if apostle (Muhammad) asks seventy times for the forgiveness of the hypocrites, Allah will not forgive them; so do not ask for their forgiveness...9:80
> Men and women are to receive forgiveness from Allah but He has set strict conditions for forgiveness...33:35
> Those who die as unbelievers, Allah will never forgive them...47:34
> Allah will not forgive the hypocrites even if Muhammad prays for their forgiveness...63:6
> The unbelievers will confess their sins but Allah will not forgive them...67:11

Allah will not spend for you if at first you do not spend for Him

We are continuously brainwashed by the Islamists living in the western countries with the picture of an all bountiful, extremely rich and a munificence Allah. Whatever you want, you pray earnestly to Allah and you are sure to receive—these impeccable scholars of Islam will tell you. But, when we search the core books of Islam, we get a totally contradictory picture of Allah. Allah, after all, is not that generous. He is very strict in spending and bestowing His largesse to his slaves. In reality, He sternly says before we could receive even a cent from Allah that we must at first spend for Him. That is, if you do not spend for Allah you get nothing from Him—it is as simple as this. Mind you Allah is a strict, careful spender—just like an astute businessman.

Let us read the following hadith from Sahih Muslim which tells us that even though Allah's hand is full, He is not going to spend for us unless we expend for him first … (Sahih Muslim, 5.2178).

> Sahih Muslim, Book 005, Number 2178:
> Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying that Allah, the Most Blessed and > High, said: O son of Adam, spend. I will spend on you. The right hand of Allah is full and overflowing and in nothing would diminish it, by overspending day and night.

Allah is pleased when a Muslim commits a sin

Please do not laugh. As you noted, the title of this part is 'Allah's Temperament'. There are many reasons, if we had not already noticed, why Allah has a weird, wacky, and peculiar mentality. Allah reminds His slaves the dreadful provisions He has reserved for those who indulge in sinful activities. But wait a minute; Allah's proclivity is not so straightforward. He has a madcap temperament. In the following hadith Allah confirms that He likes those slaves who commit sins. Why is it so? That question is also answered by Allah. Allah just loves attention. He is exceedingly pleased when a person commits calumnies and begs Allah's forgiveness and mercy. Imagine how Allah would have felt if no one committed any sins. Allah would have none to seek His attention. Allah is in so much love with the sinners that He even says that if we did not commit any sins he would have replaced us with those who commit sins and transgression. Could it be the main reason why the number one corrupt country in the world (Bangladesh) is an Islamic Paradise?

Let us read this hadith from Sahih Muslim to comprehend the strange mindset of Allah.

> Sahih Muslim, Book 037, Number 6622:
> Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) having said: By Him in Whose Hand is my life, if you were not to commit sin, Allah would sweep you out of existence and He would replace (you by) those people who would commit sin and seek forgiveness from Allah, and He would have pardoned them.

Another hadith says that Allah has created sinners on purpose. Let us read this gem from Sahih Muslims:

Allah purposely created sins so that he can forgive the sinners…37.6620

> Book 037, Number 6620:
>
> Abu Sirma reported that when the time of the death of Abu Ayyub Ansari drew near, he said: I used to conceal from you a thing which I heard from Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) and I heard Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as sayirig: Had you not committed sins, Allah would have brought into existence a creation that would have committed sin (and Allah) would have forgiven them.

In fact, Allah loves sinful acts; sins are His pastures. Let us read this hadith from Sahih Bukhari:

> Sins are Allah's private pastures and whoever pastures (his sheep) near it, is likely to get in it at any moment...3.34.267
> Volume 3, Book 34, Number 267:
> Narrated An-Nu'man bin Bashir:
> The Prophet said "Both legal and illegal things are obvious, and in between them are (suspicious) doubtful matters. So who-ever forsakes those doubtful things lest he may commit a sin, will definitely avoid what is clearly illegal; and who-ever indulges in these (suspicious) doubtful things bravely, is likely to commit what is clearly illegal. Sins are Allah's Hima (i.e. private pasture) and whoever pastures (his sheep) near it, is likely to get in it at any moment."

Allah does not like this world, a dead donkey is more important to Him

In the Quran and hadith there are incredible stories of how Allah had created this universe (particularly the earth) and everything in it. Naturally, we would expect Allah to be extremely vigilant and mindful of His creation. We would certainly expect Allah to value His creation and expend all His efforts to care, preserve, maintain and nurture this earth—the one and the only abode of His creation. None the less, we are awestruck when we learn from none but Allah, the creator of us, that He, after all, does not like this earth. In His eyes this earth is a petrified, despicable, loathsome and utterly putrid place—filled with the acrid smell of decayed animal carcasses. First, let us read the following verse from the Quran which undoubtedly motivates today's suicide bombers to abandon this contemptible earth which Allah had created with His own hands.

> The true believers forsake his world in favour of hereafter; a jihadist, whether martyred or not gains victory and will be sent to paradise (it is a bargain from Allah, it motivates the suicide bombers)...4:74
> YUSUFALI: Let those fight in the cause of Allah Who sell the life of this world for the hereafter. To him who fighteth in the cause of Allah, - whether he is slain or gets victory - Soon shall We give him a reward of great (value). [004.074]

Now, let us read the following hadith from Sahih Muslim. This hadith tells us how much Allah hates this earth and its inhabitants!

> This world is more insignificant in the eyes of Allah than a dead donkey… (Sahih Muslim, 42.7059).

Sahih Muslim, Book 042, Number 7059:

> Jabir b. Abdullah reported that Allah's Apostle (may peace be upon him) happened to walk through the bazaar coming from the side of 'Aliya and the people were on both his sides. There he found a dead lamb with very short ears. He took hold of his ear and said: Who amongst you would like to have this for a dirham? They said: We do not like to have it even for less than that as it is of no use to us. He said: Do you wish to have it (free of any cost)? They said: By Allah, even if it were alive (we would not have liked to possess that), for there is detect in it as its ear is very short; now it is dead also. Thereupon Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) said: By Allah, this world is more insignificant in the eye of Allah as it (this dead lamb) is in your eyes.

Allah has an infantile temper, he is furious and raises tantrum if you do not pray or praise him

That is correct. Previously, we saw how Allah demands, fear, obedience and affection from His slaves. If His slaves fail to please Allah with those emotional needs of Allah, Allah gets furiously angry. He becomes childlike, gets mad and fires His outburst. Uncontrolled, Allah then proceeds to destroy His slaves who made Him angry, as Allah, in verse 20:81explicates His great vengeance.

Let us read this verse.

> Allah destroys whomever He is angry with...20:81

> YUSUFALI: (Saying): "Eat of the good things We have provided for your sustenance, but commit no excess therein, lest My Wrath should justly descend on you: and those on whom descends My Wrath do perish indeed! [020.081]

Verse 3:28 tells us that Allah gets so vengeful when the Muslims get friendly with the infidels (the Jews and the Christians included) that He has promised to inflict great torment to those Muslims who dare to show friendliness to them.

Here is verse 3:28 declaring Allah's great vengeance for the Muslims who extend friendship to the kafirs.

> YUSUFALI: Let not the believers Take for friends or helpers Unbelievers rather than believers: if any do that, in nothing will there be help from Allah: except by way of precaution, that ye may Guard yourselves from them. But Allah cautions you (To remember) Himself; for the final goal is to Allah [003.028]

Let us read a hadith from Sahih Bukhari which tells us that just like a small child, Allah is desperate to be praised.

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 9, Book 93, Number 500:
>
> Narrated 'Abdullah:
> The Prophet said, "There is none having a greater sense of Ghira than Allah, and for that reason He has forbidden shameful deeds and sins (illegal sexual intercourse etc.) And there is none who likes to be praised more than Allah does." (See Hadith No. 147, Vol. 7)

Commenting on this hadith, the Islamic scholars, Drs Al–Hilali and Muhsin Khan explains the meaning of Ghirah as a feeling of great fury and anger when one's honor and prestige are injured or challenged (Hilali and Khan, 1999, p. 82).

We will read another hadith from Sunaan Abu Dawud which tells us that Allah gets angry if you do not supplicate to Him. He is that much desperate for human's attention!

> Sunaan ibn Majah Vol. v, Hadith Number 3827:
> Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "If anyone did not supplicate to Allah, Hallowed be He, Be becomes angry with him."

If you anger Muhammad you will become childless; you will have no descendants

The funny mind of Allah curses those who are not happy with Muhammad, Allah's best friend and the only confidante. Muhammad claimed that his beloved Allah has neither ascendants nor descendants, as if Allah had no desire or liking for such a family tree. Never mind, if only Allah is true to his (i.e., Muhammad's) claim. The queer mind of Allah then promised the detractors of Muhammad that He would make them childless—confirming that Allah does indeed value the maintenance of descendants—very much an Arab custom.

Here is a verse from the Quran (108:3) which says that whoever angers Muhammad will have no descendants and will face Allah's wrath.

PICKTHAL: Lo! it is thy insulter (and not thou) who is without posterity.

The great Tafsir writer, Ibn Kathir writes that Allah revealed this verse about Al-`As bin Wa'il. Whenever Muhammad would be mentioned in his presence he would say, `Leave him, for indeed he is a man who is cut off having no descendants. So when he dies he will not be remembered.' Therefore, to counter his claim Allah revealed this verse.

In the Arab society during Muhammad's time, sons were highly prized. Sons in a family carried aloft the family tree Though Muhammad had three sons with Khadija, all of them died prematurely, and hence as per the prevailing custom Muhammad left no descendant. In reality, it was Allah who felt insulted when the Arabs became fed up with Muhammad's constant diatribe against their tradition, custom and religion. In their effort to avoid him they preferred to stigmatise Muhammad for having a life without any posterity. This meant Muhammad lacked a male inheritor. In return, Allah cursed the Arabs with their loss of descendant whoever dared to condemn His dearest friend, Muhammad.

Allah does not like laugh, He prefers smiles

Muhammad never laughed, he only smiled. His biography tells us this truth. Strangely, though we find that Allah too, does not like laughs, He just smiles, if only occasionally.

Let us read these two hadith to gauge this peculiar disposition of Allah. It seems that Allah decided to follow Muhammad's habits.

Muhammad does not laugh; he only smiles…(Sahih Muslim 30.5742)

Sahih Muslim, Book 030, Number 5742:

Simak b. Harb reported: I said to Jabir b. Samura: Did you have the privilege of sitting in the company of Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him)? He said: Yes, very frequently, and added: He did not stand up (and go) from the place where he offered the dawn prayer until the sun rose, and after the rising of the sun he stood up, and they (his Companions) entered into conversation with one another and they talked of the things (that they did during the Days of Ignorance), and they laughed (on their unreasonable and ridiculous acts). Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) smiled only.

The translator of Sahih Muslims writes:

It is an established fact that the Holy Prophet (may peace be upon him) did not laugh loudly, he was very sober, and smiled only to express his delight (Siddiqi, 2004, vol. iv, p. 1496, foot note 2635)

Another controversial hadith in Sunaan ibn Majah tells us that Allah laughs only occasionally—on just three occasions. Here is the hadith on this peculiar disposition of Allah.

Sunaan ibn Majah, vol. i, Hadith 200

Abu Sai'd al-Khudri (Allah be pleased with him reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Verily Allah laughs at three things: a rank in the prayer, a man who says prayer at mid-night and a man who fights (I think he said) after the cavalry (has won the victory)."

Ibn Majah then says that there is some controversy in the isnad (chain of narrators) of this hadith but does not reject the hadith as daif (weak) or Mauda (fabricated).

Allah loves to curse, plot and avenge; Allah is an efficient schemer

Here are few verses from the Quran to analyse the abnormal mindset of Allah. When we read these verses we have the impression that Allah, after all, is not really that powerful—He has to resort to scheming—just like humans, to destroy the infidels. In reality, Allah is simply copying the humans.

Allah is a swift plotter because the messengers (angles) records all the sinister plots of the unbelievers…10:21

Let the unbelievers do whatever they can; Allah will do His part too (i.e., Allah is a plotter)…11:121

Allah is the ultimate plotter; He knows what everyone is planning and plotting…13:42

Allah is a greater avenger…43:79

Allah will avenge with a mighty strike…44:16

Allah plans a scheme for those who plot a scheme against Him; Allah is great schemer...86:15-16

Allah is offended when one claims Muhammad was a mad man

When Muhammad started to preach to the pagans his claim that Allah's postman, Gabriel had visited him and delivered him the messages from Allah, they were incredulous of this claim. They knew Muhammad occasionally had epileptic seizures. In fact, they were so perturbed with his mental illness that their leader had even suggested to Muhammad's guardian and protector, Abu Talib (Muhammad's uncle) that they were willing to bear the medical cost of Muhammad's treatment for his epileptic seizures. Those, days, in Arabia this type of sickness was believed to be caused by jinni or evil spirits. In fact, Benjamin Walker writes that the ancient Arabs considered epilepsy a sacred disease which sometimes afflicted a person with divine blessing (Walker, 2004, p. 98). So, Muhammad was dubbed to be possessed, probably by spirits—a sort of mental madness. When the pagans described Muhammad's new religion as the utterances of a mad man, it was Allah who was greatly offended. He vehemently cursed the Meccans for resorting to such sobriquet for his dearest companion. Allah steadfastly refused to accept the derision of Meccans. Here are a few verses from the Quran which tell us about Allah's stand on the madness (read epilepsy) of Muhammad.

Muhammad is just a warner and a bringer of glad tidings to the believers; he is not a crazy (possessed or mad) man…7.184

Muhammad (Allah) is not mad or possessed...15:6

Allah knows that the unbelievers thought Muhammad was a crazy (mad) man…17:47

Muhammad is not possessed but brought the truth, but most people hate truth … 23:70

The wicked said that Muhammad was a man bewitched (possessed)…25:8

Muhammad is not possessed but he is only a warner…34:46

The pagans thought Muhammad was a mad poet, but Muhammad is not a poet possessed; he confirms the messages of apostles (scriptures) sent before him… 37:36-37

The pagans thought that Muhammad was a man possessed, tutored by others...44:14

Muhammad is not a vulgar soothsayer, nor is he possessed...52:29

Muhammad is not possessed...68:2

Soon the unbelievers will know who is mad—they or Muhammad…68:5-6

Muhammad is not possessed...81:22

Interestingly, Rashad Khalifa, the modern day charlatan, the preceptor of the Quran-only Muslims, claims that he is the replacement of Muhammad. In fact, Rashad Khalifa is so adamant that in his English translation of this verse he wrote it this way:

[81:22] Your friend (Rashad) is not crazy.

The readers might find this completely incredulous. Not surprisingly, the Saudi authorities also found this too preposterous. No wonder then Rashad Khalifa, the modern clone of Muhammad was assassinated in his mosque. Allah does really have peculiar temperament. He could never tolerate anyone who tries to impersonate His greatest love, Muhammad.

Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol.ii, Hadith Number 2563:

Jabir b. ‘Atik reported that Prophet (may peace be upon him) as saying: There is jealousy which Allah loves and jealousy which Allah hates. That which Allah loves is jealousy regarding a matter of doubt and that which Allah hates is jealousy regarding something which is not doubtful. There is pride which Allah hates and pride which Allah loves. That which Allah loves is a man’s pride when fighting and when giving sadaqah and that which Allah hates is pride shown by oppression. The narrator Musa said: “by boasting.”

Let us read this hadith: Narrated AbudDarda

The Prophet (peace be upon him) was delivering a discourse on the pulpit and he said, "He who fears standing before his Lord will have two Paradises." He (AbudDarda) asked, "Even if he commits fornication and even if he steals, Messenger of Allah?" But he said a second time, "He who fears standing before his Lord will have two Paradises." He asked a second time, "Even if he commits fornication and even if he steals, Messenger of Allah?" And he said a third time, "He who fears standing before his Lord will have two paradises." He asked a third time, "Even if he commits fornication and even if he steals, Messenger of Allah?" to which he replied, "Even in spite of AbudDarda."'

Ahmad transmitted it.

[Tirmidhi hadith number 755, quoted from ALIM CD ROM]

Allah is Amorphous

Allah is a lamp, omnipresent, invisible, shapeless, in front of praying Muslims, eclipses are Allah's signs, Gabriel has form, transforms into human limbs, spirit.

Allah is light, similar to a lamp

The Quran, in a few early Meccan verses, describe Allah as a lamp, a shining light everywhere—like a brilliant star in the sky. When Muhammad claimed that his audience with Allah riding a Buraq during his travel to the Heavens, people were suspicious and asked him to describe Allah. Unable to do so, he insisted Allah was a light and that Allah had indeed spoken with him behind a veil.

Please consult the following verses in the Quran to understand how Allah compares Himself with, sometimes quite contradictorily, and sometimes with ambiguity as:

Allah has sent a light manifest (The Quran and Muhammad)...4:174

To say the least, most intelligent people will understand that the above verse simply means Allah, Muhammad and the Quran are guides for the believers. It is quite simple to understand that the allusion of light here is just a parable. It means guidance, and that is it.

But is this really true? Could it be that physically Allah truly is light, just like a huge flood-light, a mammoth lamp, similar to the sun? Let us read the following verse,

Allah is the light of the heavens and the earth; the light is like a brilliant star similar to a lamp lit from olive oil; Allah's light is like a lamp enclosed in glass and put in a niche; Allah guides to His light whom He wills …24:35

Sourcing impeccable fount of Islam, the great Tafsir writer ibn Kathir clearly writes that Allah is indeed light, much like the light we see from the sun and other powerful light-emitting devices. He even says that the Light of the Throne comes from the Light of His Face. He writes (please note that I have omitted the Arabic text):

Ibn Jurayj said: "Mujahid and Ibn `Abbas said concerning the Ayah:

(Allah is the Light of the heavens and the earth.) He is controlling their affairs and their stars and sun and moon." As-Suddi said concerning the Ayah:

(Allah is the Light of the heavens and the earth.) by His Light the heavens and earth are illuminated. In the Two Sahihs, it is recorded that Ibn `Abbas, may Allah be pleased with him, said: "When the Messenger of Allah got up to pray at night, he would say:

(O Allah, to You be praise, You are the Sustainer of heaven and earth and whoever is in them. To You be praise, You are the Light of the heavens and the earth and whoever is in them.) It was narrated that Ibn Mas`ud said, "There is no night or day with your Lord; the Light of the Throne comes from the Light of His Face."

If we are not still not convinced that Allah is really light, let us read the following verse:

On the resurrection day, the believers will have a light in front of them and on to their right sides; they will receive good news from Allah...57:12

This verse tells us that not only Allah is light but He will also provide on the resurrection day light to the Muslims. This will be much like torch lights for every Muslim—one in front and one on his right side. To elaborate on this further, ibn Kathir writes that the believers who spend in charity will come on the Day of Resurrection with their light preceding them in the area of the Gathering, according to the level of their good deeds. Some of them will have a light as large as a mountain, some as a date tree, some as big as a man in the standing position. The least among them has a light as big as his index finger, it is lit at times and extinguished at other times (ibn Kathir, Tafsir Quran, sura 57).

Here is another verse from the Quran which tells us without doubt that Allah truly is a light-much like a radio-active material such as Radium, Phosphorous, Uranium, Plutonium…and son on

The unbelievers might try to extinguish the light of Allah, but Allah will engulf the world with His light…61:8

That Allah has great effulgence is further confirmed from the following hadith.

In a hadith in Sahih Muslim Muhammad confirms that he could not see Allah because He was light (Sahih Muslim, 1.0341).

Book 001, Number 0341:

It is narrated on the authority of Abu Dharr: I asked the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him): Did you see thy Lord? He said: He is a Light; how could I see Him?

Muhammad saw the light of Allah…(Sahih Muslim, 1.0342)

Book 001, Number 0342:

Abdullah b. Shaqiq reported: I said to Abu Dharr: Had I seen the Messenger of Allah, I would have asked him. He (Abu Dharr) said: What is that thing that you wanted to inquire of him? He said: I wanted to ask him whether he had seen his Lord. Abu Dharr said: I, in fact, inquired of him, and he replied: I saw Light.

Could it be that Allah wears radio-active dress? The following hadith tells us that this might indeed be true. This hadith also provides the clue as to why Allah is a light. When we read it carefully we note that Allah is actually fire—an intense fire and because of His veil we see only the light of this blazing fire.

Allah's veil is His light…(Sahih Muslim, 1. 0343)

Book 001, Number 0343:

Abu Musa reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) was standing amongst us and he told us five things. He said: Verily the Exalted and Mighty God does not sleep, and it does not befit Him to sleep. He lowers the scale and lifts it. The deeds in the night are taken up to Him before the deeds of the day. and the deeds of the day before the deeds of the night. His veil is the light. In the hadith narrated by Abu Bakr (instead of the word" light") it is fire. If he withdraws it (the veil), the splendour of His countenance would consume His creation so far as His sight reaches. (The texts in bold italics are mine).

Any scientists who reads the above passage will surely surmise that Allah is actually energy-possibly heat and light energy combined together.

Allah is everywhere

This is a magnificent game Allah plays with His diligent followers. We noted in part–3 of this series that Allah steadfastly claimed that His permanent abode is above the seventh Heaven. His temporary residence is in Kaba, especially during the season of pilgrimage (Hajj). But clever Allah knew quite well that the Muslims might ask Muhammad embarrassing questions. So Allah declared that He is everywhere: top, bottom, left, right, in front, inside the earth, under the ocean, in heavens, in Hell, in Paradise— in all places. This was indeed a very deft answer, for it silenced everyone who could hurt Muhammad with discomforting questions.

Let us read the following Quranic verses to determine the depth of cleverness of Allah, the smart game Allah plays with His slaves.

The east and the west belongs to Allah, wherever you turn your face you will see the face of Allah...2:115

YUSUFALI: To Allah belong (sic) the east and the West: Whithersoever ye turn, there is the presence of Allah. For Allah is all-Pervading, all-Knowing [002.115]

Allah is everywhere; no need to turn your face east or west for Allah...2:177

YUSUFALI: It is not righteousness that ye turn your faces Towards east or West; but it is righteousness- to believe in Allah and the Last Day, and the Angels, and the Book, and the Messengers; to spend of your substance, out of love for Him, for your kin, for orphans, for the needy, for the wayfarer, for those who ask, and for the ransom of slaves; to be steadfast in prayer, and practice regular charity; to fulfil the contracts which ye have made; and to be firm and patient, in pain (or suffering) and adversity, and throughout all periods of panic. Such are the people of truth, the Allah-fearing. [002.177]

Allah is everywhere...4:126
YUSUFALI: But to Allah belong all things in the heavens and on earth: And He it is that Encompasseth all things. [004.126]

The law of physics says that it is impossible for an entity to be at any two places at any instant. But Allah does not obey the laws of science. He simply overrides the eternal law of impossibility of being present at any two locations at the same time. If we were to believe that Allah is the law-giver, then this disposition of Allah clearly violates His own laws.

Allah is not visible, if you want to see Allah you will not succeed, you will be a sinner

Despite such deftness of Allah, the pagan Meccans did not leave Muhammad in peace. They persistently asked him about his Allah and His whereabouts. Their diatribes against Muhammad's Allah went unabated. For a while, Muhammad remained aloof, reticent and taciturn. Greatly perturbed, Allah quickly commanded Muhammad to issue warning that whoever dared to ask such insolent questions about the residence, occupation and countenance of Allah is doomed. Such persons were condemned to the eternal fire of Hell and Allah vouched that He will never meet them.

Let us read these two verses from the Quran to gauge Allah's unbridled anger for those who dare to know His real address.

Asking to see Allah and angels are two great sins; those who commit such sins will never meet Allah…25:21

YUSUFALI: Such as fear not the meeting with Us (for Judgment) say: "Why are not the angels sent down to us, or (why) do we not see our Lord?" Indeed they have an arrogant conceit of themselves, and mighty is the insolence of their impiety! [025.021]

There will be no joy when the unbelievers see the angels…25:22

YUSUFALI: The Day they see the angels,- no joy will there be to the sinners that Day: The (angels) will say: "There is a barrier forbidden (to you) altogether!" [025.022]

Muhammad claimed that Allah has created everything on heavens and earths (believe me, according to the Quran, there are seven earths—six of them are underground and the topmost is the one reserved for us). Everything on them (that is in heaven and earths) attest to the creation of Allah. Muhammad also claimed that all natural objects, including mountains, oceans, trees, plants, camels, ships, insects, angels… and so on sing the glory of Allah. Strangely though, Allah has only selected the Muslims to be His witnesses. This means Allah only trusts Muslims when it comes to verify Allah's properties, such as: His look, activities, address, temperament, habits and His likes and dislikes. Allah has authorized only Muslims to certify all the attributes of His. In essence Allah is saying that when you meet a Muslim you indirectly meet Allah.

Let us read the following hadith.

Muslims are the witnesses on earth of Allah…(ibn Majah, 2.1491)

Volume 2, Number 1491:

Anas b. Malik (Allah be pleased with him) is reported to have said, "A bier passed by the Holy Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him). He was praised well whereupon he said, "(Paradise) is guaranteed (for him)." Then another bier passed by him and he was spoken in bad terms. Upon this, he said, "(The Hell Fire) has become compulsory (for him). He was asked, "Allah's Messenger, you said for this (man) it ensured for him and for this (man), it has become compulsory." He said (Sic) It is the evidence of people." And, the believers are the witnesses of Allah on earth."

Allah is right in front of you, when you pray

Since Allah could be anywhere at any time, even at multiple places, it is certainly possible for Him to witness prayers offered by each and every Muslim on earth. In fact, Allah claims that He watches a Muslim whenever he prays.

Here are a few hadith to demonstrate Allah's hide–and–seek game with His slaves.

> When you pray, Allah is in front of you, so do not spit in front of Him… (Sahih Bukhari, 1.12.720)
> Volume 1, Book 12, Number 720: Narrated Ibn 'Umar:
> The Prophet saw expectoration in the direction of the Qibla of the mosque while he was leading the prayer, and scratched it off. After finishing the prayer, he said, "Whenever any of you is in prayer he should know that Allah is in front of him. So none should spit in front of him in the prayer."
> While praying, you cannot spit in front of you because Allah is right in front of you…(Sahih Muslim, 4.1116)
> Book 004, Number 1116:
>
> Abdullah b. Umar reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) saw spittle on the wall towards Qibla, and scratched it away and then turning to the people said: When any one of you prays, he must not spit in front of him, for Allah is in front of him when he is engaged in prayer.
> When in prayer you are in intimate conversation with Allah, so do not spit in front of you or at your right but spit at your left side and under your foot…(Sahih Muslim, 4.1123)
> Book 004, Number 1123:
>
> Anas b. Malik reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: When any one of you is engaged in prayer, he is holding intimate conversation with his Lord, so none of you must spit in front of him, or towards his right side, but towards his left side under his foot.
> Sunaan ibn Majah contains another, almost similar hadith.
> When you pray, Allah is right in front of you; so do not spit in front…(Sunaan Ibn Majah 1.763)
> Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol.I, Hadith Number 763

The invisible Allah watches His slaves

Allah might be amorphous but He never fails to watch Islamic prayers. He is a meticulous observer. Previously, we noted how Allah stands right in front of a Muslim when he offers his prayer. But there is more to Allah’s constant watching. He is like the Big Brother character depicted by George Orwell in his famous satire, Nineteen Eighty-Four.’ Just like this ‘big brother’ who is rarely seen in public but is always present almost everywhere, Allah also watches every Muslim wherever he goes, even though Allah Himself had admitted that he is shapeless, so cannot be seen by human eyes. On one occasion Muhammad even claimed that he had an appointment with Allah, so he was late for a Morning Prayer congregation.

Let us read a few hadith on Allah’s ubiquitous nature.

Almighty Allah really loves those Muslims who remain awake to offer the late night prayer. Here is a hadith which tells us about Allah’s bias for the night-watcher, insomniacs.

Allah is nearest to the person who prays during the later part of night…(Tirmidhi, 364, 366)

Sunaan Tirmidhi, Number 364: Narrated Amr ibn Abasah

Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: Allah is nearest to His servant in midst of the later part of the night and if you are able to be amongst those who remember Allah at that hour, do so.

Transmitted by Tirmidhi and he said: This is a hasan sahih gharib hadith.

Sunaan Tirmidhi, Number 366

Narrated AbuUmamah

Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) was asked: Which supplication is listened to (most readily) by Allah? He replied (one which is made in the) later part of the night, and at the end of the obligatory prayers.

Transmitted by Tirmidhi. (Tirmidhi hadith 364, 366 quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

Those who perform hajj and umra are people who have come to visit Allah…(Tirmidhi, 800)

Sunaan Tirmidhi, Number 800

Narrated AbuHurayrah

The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Those who perform the hajj and those who perform the umrah are people who have come to visit Allah. If they supplicate Him He will respond to them, and if they ask Him for forgiveness He will forgive them."

Ibn Majah transmitted it. (Tirmidhi hadith 800 quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

We now know for certain that the major objective of Hajj is to see (feel) Allah when He takes His temporary residence at Kaba.

Muhammad had an appointment with Allah, during a conclave; Allah touched Muhammad's chest…(Tirmidhi, 245)

Sunaan Tirmidhi, Number 245

Narrated Mu'adh ibn Jabal

Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) was detained one morning from observing the dawn prayer (in congregation) along with us till the sun had almost appeared on the horizon. He then came out hurriedly and Iqamah for prayer was observed and he conducted it (prayer) in brief form. When he had concluded the prayer by saying As-salamu alaykum wa Rahmatullah, he called out to us saying: Remain in your places as you were. Then turning to us he said: I am going to tell you what detained me from you (on account of which I could not join you in the prayer) in the morning. I got up in the night and performed ablution and observed the prayer as had been ordained for me. I dozed in my prayer till I was overcome by (sleep) and lo, I found myself in the presence of my Lord, the Blessed and the Glorious, in the best form. He said: Muhammad! I said: At Thy service, my Lord. He said: What these highest angels contend about? I said: I do not know. He repeated it thrice. He said: Then I saw Him put His Palms between my shoulder blades till I felt the coldness of His fingers between the two sides of my chest. Then everything was illuminated for me and I could recognize everything. He said: Muhammad! I said: At Thy service, my Lord. He said: What do these high angels contend about? I said: In regard to expiations. He said: What are these? I said: Going on foot to join congregational prayers, sitting in the mosques after the prayers, performing ablution well despite difficulties. He again said: Then what do they contend? I said: In regard to the ranks. He said: What are these? I said: Providing of food, speaking gently, observing the prayer when the people are asleep. He again said to me: Beg (Your Lord) and say: O Allah, I beg of Thee (power) to do good deeds, and abandon abominable deeds, to love the poor, that Thou forgive me and show mercy to me and when Thou intendst (Sic) to put people to trial Thou causes me to die unblemished and I beg of Thee Thy love and the love of one who loves Thee and the love for the deed which brings me near to Thy love. Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said: It is a truth, so learn it and teach it.

Transmitted by Ahmad, Tirmidhi who said: This is a hasan sahih hadith and I asked Muhammad ibn Isma'il about this hadith and he said: It is a sahih hadith. (Tirmidhi hadith 245 quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

Eclipses are signs of Allah

Allah’s fascination with the moon knows no bound. In part–3 we discovered the compelling reason why Allah is so much obsessed with the moon. It was because long before Muhammad was born, Allah actually, was the moon god of the pagans. There are irrefutable epigraphic evidences to support this fact. However, Muhammad wanted to change the history of the pagans of Mecca. He wanted his version of Allah. His Allah became not a moon god but the only God who must be obeyed by all. Even with such a pine for monotheism, Muhammad could not shake off his pagan origin. When an eclipse engulfed the sun, the pagans were afraid and enquired Muhammad about Allah and His power. Muhammad quietly answered that the eclipse was really the sign of Allah—confirming that the pagans were correct all along.

Let us read this hadith from Sahih Bukhari

The eclipses are the signs of Allah...(Sahih Bukhari, 2. 18. 152)

Volume 2, Book 18, Number 152: Narrated Ibn 'Umar:

The Prophet said, "The sun and the moon do not eclipse because of the death or life (i.e. birth) of someone but they are two signs amongst the signs of Allah. When you see them offer the prayer."

There are a number of hadith in Sahih Bukhari on this event. Please read other hadith here (Sahih Bukhari, 2.18.151, 153, 154, 157)

Allah is shapeless, Gabriel is not

Muhammad was smart and skilfully nifty to play the duality concept of Allah—the two exactly opposite natures of Allah: His anthropomorphic personality and His amorphous disposition. However, much smarter was Muhammad's great oratory to convince the rabble that Allah's Archangel Gabriel was indeed anthropomorphic, though, with the capability to metamorphose at will into a physical form—into any form he desired. At one time Allah sent Gabriel with six hundred wings; at other times Gabriel came to meet Muhammad in his real form. In many hadith we read that Gabriel, taking the form of human beings, especially in the form of Dhiya al–Kalbi, a handsome young man of Mecca had consulted Muhammad.

Let us read the following hadith.

Muhammad saw Gabriel having six hundred wings…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.455)

Volume 4, Book 54, Number 455: Narrated Abu Ishaq-Ash-Shaibani:

I asked Zir bin Hubaish regarding the Statement of Allah: "And was at a distance of but two bow-lengths or (even) nearer; So did (Allah) convey The Inspiration to His slave (Gabriel) and then he (Gabriel) Conveyed (that to Muhammad). (53.9-10) On that, Zir said, "Ibn Mas'ud informed us that the Prophet had seen Gabriel having 600 wings."

Muhammad did not see his Lord (Allah), he only saw Gabriel in his genuine shape covering the whole horizon…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.457)

Volume 4, Book 54, Number 457: Narrated Aisha:

Whoever claimed that (the Prophet) Muhammad saw his Lord, is committing a great fault, for he only saw Gabriel in his genuine shape in which he was created covering the whole horizon.

Muhammad told Umm Salama that Gabriel met him in the form of Dhiya...4.56.827

Volume 4, Book 56, Number 827: Narrated Abu Uthman:

> I got the news that Gabriel came to the Prophet while Um Salama was present. Gabriel started talking (to the Prophet and then left. The Prophet said to Um Salama, "(Do you know) who it was?" (or a similar question). She said, "It was Dihya (a handsome person amongst the companions of the Prophet)." Later on Um Salama said, "By Allah! I thought he was none but Dihya, till I heard the Prophet talking about Gabriel in his sermon." (The Sub-narrator asked Abu 'Uthman, "From where have you heard this narration?" He replied, "From Usama bin Zaid.")

Only Muhammad could see Allah's angel Gabriel; none else could

The pagan Arabs believed in the angels of Allah. Their concept of angels of Allah was that they were apparitions, part human–shaped. When Muhammad made the preposterous claim that he had seen Gabriel, the archangel of Allah, the pagans insisted on verifying Gabriel. Nevertheless, Muhammad was adamant that Allah allowed only him to see Gabriel in its various forms.

The Quran holds that Gabriel used to visit Muhammad every night during the month of Ramadan. Accepting that Muhammad's Prophetic life was twenty–three years, and assuming that each month of Ramadan consisted of thirty days, we can easily calculate how many times Gabriel had visited Muhammad during his life time. This will be 690 times, at least. Now let us add the additional occasions when Gabriel had to consult Muhammad for Allah's needs, I mean emergency situations,—we can safely use a round figure of 700 occasions when Gabriel had accosted Muhammad, either for a short appointment or for a prolong period. It is simply implausible that none (sans Muhammad) could, at least for once, see Gabriel, who, according to Allah, does possess a physical shape. Muhammad's such effrontery claim that only he had the ability to see a physical Gabriel did not go unchallenged. Many Arabs did put Muhammad in an extremely difficult position by asking him pertinent questions. Those discomforting questions had gravely embarrassed Muhammad. None the less, those questions were genuine and Muhammad had to come up with credible answers. Undaunted, he naturally turned to his fast friend, Allah.

Let us read these hadith from Sahih Bukhari to learn how Muhammad answered such questions. Note that the first hadith also tells us how Allah used to communicate with Muhammad.

> During Ramadan, Gabriel used to meet Muhammad every night to teach him the Quran…(Sahih Bukhari, 1.1.5)

> Volume 1, Book 1, Number 4: Narrated Said bin Jubair:
> Ibn 'Abbas in the explanation of the Statement of Allah. 'Move not your tongue concerning (the Quran) to make haste therewith." (75.16) Said "Allah's Apostle used to bear the revelation with great trouble and used to move his lips (quickly) with the Inspiration." Ibn 'Abbas moved his lips saying, "I am moving my lips in front of you as Allah's Apostle used to move his." Said moved his lips saying: "I am moving my lips, as I saw Ibn 'Abbas moving his." Ibn 'Abbas added, "So Allah revealed 'Move not your tongue concerning (the Qur'an) to make haste therewith. It is for us to collect it and to give you (O Muhammad) the ability to recite it (the Qur'an) (75.16-17) which means that Allah will make him (the Prophet) remember the portion of the Qur'an which was revealed at that time by heart and recite it. The Statement of Allah: And 'When we have recited it to you (O Muhammad through Gabriel) then you follow its (Qur'an) recital' (75.18) means 'listen to it and be silent.' Then it is for Us (Allah) to make It clear to you' (75.19) means 'Then it is (for Allah) to make you recite it (and its meaning will be clear by itself through your tongue). Afterwards, Allah's Apostle used to listen to Gabriel whenever he came and after his departure he used to recite it as Gabriel had recited it."

Even Aisha, Muhammad's dearest wife and the only person on whose bed Muhammad used to converse with Allah via Gabriel could not see Gabriel.

Gabriel led prayer five times and he prayed with Muhammad… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.444)

Volume 4, Book 54, Number 444: Narrated Ibn Shihab:

Once Umar bin Abdul Aziz delayed the 'Asr prayer a little. 'Urwa said to him, "Gabriel descended and led the prayer in front of the Prophet." On that 'Umar said, "O Urwa! Be sure of what you say." "Urwa, (sic) "I heard Bashir bin Abi Masud narrating from Ibn Masud who heard Allah's Apostle saying, 'Gabriel descended and led me in prayer; and then prayed with him again, and then prayed with him again, and then prayed with him again, and then prayed with him again, counting with his fingers five prayers."

Muhammad saw Gabriel in a cloud (lengthy hadith)…(see Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.454)

Muhammad introduced Gabriel to Aisha but she could not see Gabriel…(Sahih Bukhari, 5.57.112)

Volume 5, Book 57, Number 112: Narrated Abu Salama:

'Aisha said, "Once Allah's Apostle said (to me), 'O Aish ('Aisha)! This is Gabriel greeting you.' I said, 'Peace and Allah's Mercy and Blessings be on him, you see what I don't see' " She was addressing Allah 's Apostle.

Muhammad used to see things (Gabriel) that Aisha could not…(Sahih Bukhari, 8.73.220)

Volume 8, Book 73, Number 220: Narrated 'Aisha:

(the wife the Prophet) Allah's Apostle said, "O Aisha! This is Gabriel sending his greetings to you." I said, "Peace, and Allah's Mercy be on him." 'Aisha added: The Prophet used to see things which we used not to see.

Muhammad told Aisha that Gabriel greeted her but she did not see Gabriel…(Sahih Bukhari, 8.74.270)

Volume 8, Book 74, Number 270:

Narrated 'Aisha: that the Prophet said to her, "Gabriel sends Salam (greetings) to you." She replied, "Wa 'alaihi-s-Salam Wa Rahmatu-l-lah." (Peace and Allah's Mercy be on him).

When Muhammad met Gabriel in a bush Gabriel told Muhammad that whoever worships Allah, even if he is a thief or a sex offender will go to Paradise (lengthy hadith) (see Sahih Bukhari, 8.76.450, 451)

Allah could transform Himself into human limbs

Allah's cleverness knows no bound. When Muhammad was continuously bombarded with thorny questions about his Allah, Allah, as usual, came to his rescue. He told Muhammad that He could easily transform Himself into human ears, hands, feet, and grips. Obviously those privileges were restricted only for the diehard believers (i.e., true Muslims, like the jihadists). We should have no problem in guessing the reason/s for such a clever move to placate the implacable foes of Muhammad.

Allah becomes the ears, eyes, hands, feet and grips of a pious believer; Allah declares war against those who are hostile to a pious believer…(Sahih Bukhari, 8.76.509)

Volume 8, Book 76, Number 509: Narrated Abu Huraira:

Allah's Apostle said, "Allah said, 'I will declare war against him who shows hostility to a pious worshipper of Mine. And the most beloved things with which My slave comes nearer to Me, is what I have enjoined upon him; and My slave keeps on coming closer to Me through performing Nawafil (praying or doing extra deeds besides what is obligatory) till I love him, so I become his sense of hearing with which he hears, and his sense of sight with which he sees, and his hand with which he grips, and his leg with which he walks; and if he asks Me, I will give him, and if he asks My protection (Refuge), I will protect him; (i.e. give him My Refuge) and I do not hesitate to do anything as I hesitate to take the soul of the believer, for he hates death, and I hate to disappoint him."

Muhammad never saw Allah, he only saw Allah in his heart

Here is what Muhammad resorted to advance his theology. He back flipped completely from his stand of an anthropomorphic Allah, to a confused, amorphous, to a total denial that he had ever seen Allah in any form. Confronted with barrage of unanswerable questions and feeling extremely exasperated, he admitted that he only saw Allah in his heart—twice, to be precise. He also claimed that he only saw once Gabriel in his genuine shape.

We need to read diligently the following hadith to gauge the smartness of Allah and Muhammad.

Muhammad did not see his Lord (Allah), Muhammad only saw Gabriel in his genuine shape covering the whole horizon… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.457)

Volume 4, Book 54, Number 457: Narrated Aisha:

Whoever claimed that (the Prophet) Muhammad saw his Lord, is committing a great fault, for he only saw Gabriel in his genuine shape in which he was created covering the whole horizon.

Muhammad really saw the signs of Allah in a green screen covering the horizon...(Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.381)

Volume 6, Book 60, Number 381: Narrated Abdullah:

(regarding the revelation) Truly he (Muhammad) did see of the signs of his Lord; the Greatest!' (53.18) The Prophet saw a green screen covering the horizon.

If anyone says that Muhammad saw Allah then he is a liar... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.93.477)

Volume 9, Book 93, Number 477: Narrated Masruq:

'Aisha said, "If anyone tells you that Muhammad has seen his Lord, he is a liar, for Allah says: 'No vision can grasp Him.' (6.103) And if anyone tells you that Muhammad has seen the Unseen, he is a liar, for Allah says: "None has the knowledge of the Unseen but Allah."

Muhammad saw Allah twice with his heart…(Sahih Muslim, 1.0334, 0335)

Book 001, Number 0334:

It is narrated on the authority of Ibn 'Abbas that he (the Holy Prophet) saw (Allah) with, his heart.

Book 001, Number 0335:

It is narrated on the authority of Ibn Abbas that the words:" The heart belied not what he saw" (al-Qur'an, Iiii. 11) and" Certainly he saw Him in another descent" (al-Qur'an, Iiii. 13) imply that he saw him twice with his heart.

Allah wears a veil, only the Muslims will see Allah

We read previously that Muhammad claimed everyone will see Allah the way we see a moon. But when Muhammad started out to reserve the exclusivity of the Muslims, Allah changed His mind. He told Muhammad that the only people worthy of 'seeing' Him were the Muslims.

Here is a verse from the Quran in which we note how Allah plays a double-game—in one hand He declares that He cannot be seen, in any form. On the other hand, to please the Muslims, He asserts that only the Muslims will see His real face.

Allah will veil Himself (i.e., He will not show His face) from the unbelievers on the resurrection day); only the believers will see the face of Allah…83:15

YUSUFALI: Verily, from (the Light of) their Lord, that Day, will they be veiled. [083.015]

To confuse further, Sahih Muslim tells us that Allah's veil is His light. Let us read this hadith.

Allah's veil is His light…(Sahih Muslim, 1. 0344)

Book 001, Number 0343:

Abu Musa reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) was standing amongst us and he told us five things. He said: Verily the Exalted and Mighty God does not sleep, and it does not befit Him to sleep. He lowers the scale and lifts

it. The deeds in the night are taken up to Him before the deeds of the day and the deeds of the day before the deeds of the night. His veil is the light. In the hadith narrated by Abu Bakr (instead of the word" light") it is fire. If he withdraws it (the veil), the splendour of His countenance would consume His creation so far as His sight reaches.

Allah will lift His veil to the inhabitants of Paradise…(Sahih Muslim, 1.0347)

Book 001, Number 0347:

Suhaib reported the Apostle (may peace be upon him) saying: When those deserving of Paradise would enter Paradise, the Blessed and the Exalted would ask: Do you wish Me to give you anything more? They would say: Hast Thou not brightened our faces? Hast Thou not made us enter Paradise and saved us from Fire? He (the narrator) said: He (God) would lift the veil, and of things given to them nothing would he dearer to them than the sight of their Lord, the Mighty and the Glorious.

Allah's Countenance

Allah looks like Adam, King, deity, unlike one-eyed Dajjal, speaks Hebrew, Jesus Allah's Spirit, Wears Hijab & speak from behind, sleepless, will show face after death and on judgment day.

Allah likes the finest names

The Quran tells us that the finest names belong to Allah; we must call Him by those names (7:180)

YUSUF ALI: The most beautiful names belong to Allah: so call on him by them; but shun such men as use profanity in his names: for what they do, they will soon be requited. [Q 7.180]

However, the Quran does not tell us that Allah also has a few terrible names (Sunaan Ibn Majah, 5.3861). Such as: The Relenting (al–Tawwab), The Strong (al–Qawiyy), The Forceful (al–Shadid), The Distresser (al–Dar), The Destroyer (al–Mumitu), The Witholder (al–Mani'u), The Odd (al–Witr).

We just have to imagine how Allah would look when He does really behave according to those terrible names.

Here are few hadith which promise paradise just for memorising the ninety–nine names of Allah.

> Just learn the ninety-nine names of Allah to go to Paradise… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.50.894)
> Volume 3, Book 50, Number 894: Narrated Abu Huraira:
> Allah's Apostle said, "Allah has ninety-nine names, i.e. one-hundred minus one, and whoever knows them will go to Paradise."
> Allah has ninety-nine Names, i.e., one hundred minus one, and whoever believes in their meanings and acts accordingly, will enter Paradise…(Sahih Bukhari, 8.75.419)
> Volume 8, Book 75, Number 419: Narrated Abu Huraira:
>
> Allah has ninety-nine Names, i.e., one hundred minus one, and whoever believes in their meanings and acts accordingly, will enter Paradise; and Allah is Witr (one) and loves 'the Witr' (i.e., odd numbers).

Jesus is the word and spirit of Allah; Allah look like Jesus

We already read that Allah admitted that Adam looked like Him (or the other way round, if you do not mind). Now, in verse 15:29, Allah says that He had breathed His spirit into Adam. In verse 4:171 Allah also claims that Jesus Christ was also a spirit from Him (i.e., born out of Allah's spirit). The natural derivation from all these incredible feats of Allah will be that Allah must look like Jesus Christ (or Jesus must have looked like Allah).

Let us read these two verses.

> YUSUF ALI: "When I have fashioned him (in due proportion) and breathed into him of My spirit, fall ye down in obeisance unto him." [Q 15.29]
> YUSUF ALI: O People of the Book! Commit no excesses in your religion: Nor say of Allah aught but the truth. Christ Jesus the son of Mary was (no more than) a messenger of Allah, and His Word, which He bestowed on Mary, and a spirit proceeding from Him: so believe in Allah and His messengers. Say not "Trinity" : desist: it will be better for you: for Allah is one Allah: Glory be to Him: (far exalted is He) above having a son. To Him belong all things in the heavens and on earth. And enough is Allah as a Disposer of affairs. [Q 4.171]

> A hadith in Sahih Muslim tells us that Muhammad had confirmed Jesus Christ was born through the spirit of Allah… (Sahih Muslim 1.43).
> Book 001, Number 0043:
> It is narrated on the authority of Ubadah b. Samit that the messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) observed: He who said: "There is no god but Allah, He is One and there is no associate with Him, that Muhammad is his servant and His messenger, that Christ is servant and the son of His slave-girl and he (Christ) His word which He communicated to Mary and is His Spirit, that Paradise is a fact and Hell is a fact," Allah would make him (he who affirms these truths enter Paradise through any one of its eight doors which he would like.

In a footnote, ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi, the translator of Sahih Muslim writes:

> The word “spirit” used for Jesus does not carry him a step beyond the limits of humanity, for Adam also it has been said, “I breathed my spirit into him (Quran xv. 29). In fact, according to the Holy Quran, the spirit of God is breathed into everyman: Then he made him complete and breathed into him of His spirit and gave you hearing and sight and hearts (xxxii. 9). The epithet, ruhum–minhu, “a spirit from Him,” does not imply that the soul of Allah was incarnated in Jesus; it only signifies the eminence of Christ as it has been explained by the famous commentators of the Holy Quran , Ibn ‘Abbas, Ibn Jarir, Ibn Kathir (Siddiqi, 2004, p 26, footnote 68).

If we were to believe ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi then the Quran must be wrong. For, the Quran clearly says that Allah sent Gabriel to implant His spirit (read part 2 of this series) into the womb of Mary. Elsewhere, Allah says that His spirit is actually His soul. Therefore, Jesus was surely from the soul of Allah, a special provision which Allah has exclusively reserved for Prophets like Adam, Moses, Jesus, Muhammad,… and so on.

We can, therefore conclude that Allah, most probably, looks like Jesus Christ. Extend this further—and what conclusion could we make about Allah’s countenance during Muhammad’s time? The answer should be obvious to anyone.

Arabs are the chosen people of Allah; Allah resembles an Arab

It is quite simple to understand this countenance of Allah. Allah dearly loves the Arabs and He chose them over all other races, making them the best pedigree in the human race. The Arabs must be the special creation of Allah. Does Allah look like an Arab, especially an Arab from Saudi Arabia and from the Quraysh stock? Let us read from ibn Sa’d, the famous biographer of Muhammad.

(Note: this narration about the superiority of the Arabs is quite lengthy. I shall quote a small portion.):

> …Abu Damarah al–Madani Anas Ibn ‘Iyad al–Laythi informed us; he said: Ja’far Ibn Muhammad Ibn ‘Ali informed us on the authority of his father, Muhammad Ibn ‘Ali ibn Husayn Ibn “Ali Ibn Abi Talib, who said: Verily the Prophet said: God divided the earth in two halves and placed (me) in the better of the two, then He divided the half in three parts, and I was in the best of them, then He chose the Arabs from among the people, then He chose the Quraysh from among the Arabs, then He chose the children of ‘Abd al–Muttalib from among the Banu Hashim, then he chose me from among the children of ‘Abd al–Muttalib (Ibn Sa’d, vol I, p 2).

Allah is Dictatorial, Racist and Misogynistic

Allah is the owner of the heavens and the earth; He is adamant on establishing His dictatorship

Many verses in the Quran declare that Allah, truly, is a dictator. He rules earth in an absolute dictatorial manner. Below, I am providing excerpts of a few selected verses from the Quran. Please note that in many of these verses; it is quite clear that the speaker is not Allah, but someone else, most probably Muhammad. This should leave us beyond a shadow of doubt that Allah's dictatorship is actually Muhammad (i.e. Islam's) dictatorship.

> Exalt Allah, He is the owner of the Throne (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)…23:116
> The dominion of the heavens and the earth belong to Allah alone, and to Allah is the final goal…24:42
> Sovereignty belongs to Allah; there is no Allah but Him. Everything will perish except Allah's face (Allah has a face)… 28:88
> Allah is the sole owner of whatsoever in the heavens and on earth…34:1
> There is only one Allah…37:4
> Allah has the supreme authority (His kingdom) on the heavens and the earth…57:5
> All Kingships is with Allah…67:1

Allah is a white Arab supremacist

In the previous episode (part–7) of this essay we had a short glimpse of the racist nature of Allah. Here are more compelling evidences to label

Allah as an absolute racist, chauvinist bigot. He is in complete favour of the white skinned Arabs, especially the Quraysh.

Let us read what ibn Sa'd, one of the earliest biographers of Muhammad has to say on this.

Allah favours Arab racism—prophet is to be of Quraysh stock and of white complexion.

In plain language, ibn Sad says that only a white Quraysh Arab has the absolute right to be a prophet. Here is the excerpt from ibn Sa'd:

> He (Ibn Sa'd said: Hisham Ibn Muhammad Ibn al-Sa'ib al-Kalbi informed us; he said: al-Walid Ibn 'Abd Allah Ibn Jumay' al-Zuhri related to me on the authority of a son of 'Abd al-Rahman Ibn Mawhab Ibn Ribah al-Ashari; an ally of Banu Zuhrah, on the authority of his father; he said: Mukhramah Ibn Nawfal al-Zuhri related to me; he said: I heard my mother Ruqayqah Bint Abi Sayfi ibn Hashim Ibn 'Abd Manaf, who was his ('Abd al-Muttalib's) contemporary, relating: The Quraysh faced several years of drought; then wealth exhausted and they were on the verge of extinction. She continued: In a dream I heard a person saying: O people of the Quraysh! The Prophet who is to be raised will be from among you; it is now the time of his emergence, and with him you will get plenty and abundance; so make a search of the man who is of noble birth, of high stature, white (in complexion), with eyebrows joined, eye-lashes long, hair curly, cheeks smooth, and the cartilage of his nose thin. Then ask him (the person answering this description) to come out with his children and one member from every family should accompany him. All of them should be cleansed, then apply perfumes, kiss the rukn of the sanctuary and mount the peak of Abu Qubays; this man should come forward and pray for rains; others should only say Amen! Then rain will come to you. In the morning she related her dream to the people who made a search and found 'Abd al-Muttalib answering those qualities. They assembled round him and from every family a person came out and did as the woman ordered them to do. They mounted Abu Qubays, and the Prophet, then only a boy, was with them. ‘Abd al-Muttalib came forward and said: O my Lord! They are Thy slaves and children of Thy slaves, and Thy maids and daughters of Thy maids; Thou seest what has befallen us; several years have elapsed since it has rained; our animals which have hoofs or talons have perished and we are also on the verge of death. (O Lord!) keep away this famine from us and bring plenty and prosperity to us! They had not ye returned to their places when the valleys were over-flown (with water). They had received rains due to blessings on the Prophet of Allah. (ibn Sa’d, vol.i p 95-96. The bold emphasis is mine)

If we are perturbed with such naked racism of Allah, then, here is a shocking hadith from Sahih Muslim which declares Allah’s special love for the white Quraysh Arabs.

Book 020, Number 4483:
It has been narrated on the authority of Amir b. Sa'd b. Abu Waqqas who said: I wrote (a letter) to Jabir b. Samura and sent it to him through my servant Nafi', asking him to inform me of something he had heard from the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him). He wrote to me (in reply): I heard the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) say on Friday evening, the day on which al-Aslami was stoned to death (for committing adultery): The Islamic religion will continue until the Hour has been established, or you have been ruled over by twelve Caliphs, all of them being from the Quraish. also heard him say: A small force of the Muslims will capture the white palace, the police of the Persian Emperor or his descendants. I also heard him say: Before the Day of Judgment there will appear (a number of) impostors. You are to guard against them. I also heard him say: When God grants wealth to any one of you, he should first spend it on himself and his family (and then give it in charity to the poor). I heard him (also) say: I will be your forerunner at the Cistern (expecting your arrival)

Disturbed by the above hadith, the translator, ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi writes:

> The question whether Caliphate is the privilege of the Quraish is one of those debatable issues over which there has been a good deal of difference of opinion amongst the scholars. One view which is held by a section of the scholars is that a Caliph should necessarily be a Quraish. The overwhelming majority of scholars, however, does not subscribe to this view and asserts that a Quraish is to be preferred as a Caliph provided he eminently possesses all other requisite qualifications, which are rightly expected of a Caliph of Islam. The Quarish have no right to be Caliphs merely because of their being connected with the tribe of Quraish. The Holy Prophet (may peace be upon him) has himself states this fact…(lengthy quote) (Siddiqi, 2004, p. 3.1217-1218, foot note 2287).

Please note that the last sentence of the translator contradicts the above hadis and the statement of ibn Sa’d provided.

The ultimate goal of the Islamists is the creation of a Pan Islamic world, which must be ruled by a caliph (the Islamists call the Khilafat movement) who will be responsible to enforce Islamic laws (Sharia) globally. So, what are the requirements to be a caliph? —you might ask. According to Islamic law, (ref: Reliance of the Traveller, published by Amana Publications, Bettsville, Maryland, 1999, pp.640-642, law number o25.3) the mandatory qualifications of an Islamic caliph are: 1. must be a Muslim 2. must be a male 3. must be from the Quraysh tribe of the Arabs 4. must be a freeman (i.e., not a slave) 5. must be of sound mind. This provision of Islamic law means that the world—the Pan Islamic world must be ruled by an Arab (from the Quraysh stock, probably from Saudi Arabia or Jordan) and no one else. This also means that George Bush, Tony Blair, Jacque Chirac, Vladimir Putin, the Chinese Prime Minister, the Japanese Prime Minister….the most powerful infidel leaders in the world and the not-so-powerful infidel leaders must convert to Islam, declare complete allegiance to the new Arab/Quraysh caliph and become this Arab caliph's governors. If they do not comply with such Islamic demand then they must be removed by terror, intimidation, and force.

To further confirm that Allah has chosen the Arabs as special people to rule this world, we refer to another law of Sharia This law enforces the supremacy of the white Quraysh Arabs to subjugate all people on earth to their rule, by force, if necessary. The Sharia law cited here stipulates that no other men, even when Muslims, could marry any Arab women. In some Arab countries, this is the law and there is severe punishment if a man from another Islamic country (such as a Muslim man from Bangladesh) marries a Saudi Arabian woman. If he commits such a grave crime (marrying an Arab woman) he might be subjected to harsh punishment and immediate deportation.

Let us read this racist law of Allah:

Law m4.2 The following are not suitable matches for one another:

(1) A non-Arab man for an Arab woman (O: because of the hadith that the Prophet (Allah bless him and give him peace) said: “Allah has chosen the Arabs above others”). (ibid)

This law firmly establishes Allah’s racism, quite akin to the Nazism of Hitler. Islamic law is heavily biased to establish the supremacy of the Arabs—Allah is adamant that they (the Arabs) are the purest, the truest, the best and the most superior of all races, much like the idea of Hitler of the pure Aryan Germans, the most supreme race on earth.

Allah made the white Quraysh Arabs the best of His creation

I already quoted ibn Sa’d on this. Here is further evidence on Allah’s racism (read Arab racism).

> He (Ibn Sa’d said: Abd al–wahhab Ibn ‘Ata al–‘Ijli informed us on the authority of Sai’d Ibn Abi ‘Aribiah, he on the authority of Qatadh: he said: It has been mentioned to us that the Prophet said: When God wants to raise a prophet He choses the best tribe of the people and then He chooses the best man (Ibn Sa’d, vol. I, p. 8).

Sahih Bukhari confirms that Allah has chosen the Quraysh Arabs as His agent to rule the world (Islamic Caliphate).

Authority and ruling remains with the Quraysh; whoever is hostile towards the Quraysh Allah will destroy them…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.56.704).

Volume 4, Book 56, Number 704: Narrated Muhammad bin Jubair bin Mut'im:
That while he was with a delegation from Quraish to Muawiya, the latter heard the news that 'Abdullah bin 'Amr bin Al-'As said that there would be a king from the tribe of Qahtan. On that Muawiya became angry, got up and then praised Allah as He deserved, and said, "Now then, I > have heard that some men amongst you narrate things which are neither in the Holy Book, nor have been told by Allah's Apostle. Those men are the ignorant amongst you. Beware of such hopes as make the people go astray, for I heard Allah's Apostle saying, 'Authority of ruling will remain with Quraish, and whoever bears hostility to them, Allah will destroy him as long as they abide by the laws of the religion.'"

In this book (Ash-Shifa) Allah, through sharia, expresses a great disdain for the black people in this manner:

> Whoever says Muhammad was black must be killed…(Ash-Shifa, Tr. Aisha Abdarrahman, 2004)
> Ahmad ibn Abi Sulayman, the companion of Sahnun said, “Anyone who says that the Prophet was black should be killed. (ibid, p.375)

Allah accepts only Islam as His religion; other religions are invalid

The dictatorial, totalitarian and chauvinist nature of Allah is best expressed in many Qur'anic verses which clearly declare that Islam is the one and the only religion acceptable to Him. Often, we read articles extolling the unbound tolerance of religious freedom in Islam written by Islamist apologists resident in the infidel West. They will invariably quote a handful of Meccan (in fact, only three verses) verses from the Quran to demonstrate the tolerance in Islam vis-à-vis other religion. What these Islamist apologists do not tell is the fact these verses have been abrogated by many later, Medina verses.

The three verses often quoted are: 2:256; 5:32, 109:6.

Let us briefly examine these three verses and their abrogation by later verses.

No compulsion in religion; the truth is clear from error...2:256

Ibn Kathir (source) says that before Islam, when an Ansar woman would not bear children who would live, she would vow that if she gave birth to a child who remained alive, she would raise him as a Jew. When Muhammad plundered the Banu An-Nadir, and forced the evacuation of Jews from Medina, some of the children of the Ansar were being raised among them (the Jews), and the Ansar said, `We will not abandon our children. So Allah revealed this verse regarding these children.

Ibn Kathir continues:

(There is no compulsion in religion), meaning, "Do not force anyone to become Muslim, for Islam is plain and clear, and its proofs and evidence are plain and clear. Therefore, there is no need to force anyone to embrace Islam. Rather, whoever Allah directs to Islam, opens his heart for it and enlightens his mind, will embrace Islam with certainty. Whoever Allah blinds his heart and seals his hearing and sight, then he will not benefit from being forced to embrace Islam."

Sunaan Abu Dawud (hadith number 2.14.2676) further explains this context: when Muhammad expelled B. Nadir Jews he allowed these children to remain with their biological parents and not to follow the exiled Jews; i.e. he permitted the children to revert back to Islam and remain with their natural Muslim parents.

Here is the hadith

Book 14, Number 2676:

Narrated Abdullah ibn Abbas: When the children of a woman (in pre-Islamic days) did not survive, she took a vow on herself that if her child survives, she would convert it a Jew. When Banu an-Nadir were expelled (from Arabia), there were some children of the Ansar (Helpers) among them. They said: We shall not leave our children. So Allah the Exalted revealed; "Let there be no compulsion in religion. Truth stands out clear from error."

What Muhammad said was simply this: These born-Muslim children should not be forced/coerced into Jewish religion. They must revert to Islam, the religion of truth.

Therefore, in essence, verse 2:256 really means quite the opposite of what the Islamist apologists propagate. This verse simply says that there should be no compulsion to convert a Muslim to another religion. The very next verse (2:257), by exhorting extreme hatred for the non-Muslims, simply confirms this verity.

Here is verse 2:257:

> 2:257. Allâh is the Walî (Protector or Guardian) of those who believe. He brings them out from darkness into light. But as for those who disbelieve, their Auliyâ (supporters and helpers) are Tâghût [false deities and false leaders, etc.], they bring them out from light into darkness. Those are the dwellers of the Fire, and they will abide therein forever. (Quoted from the Noble Quran, Tr. by Hilali and Khan)

Here is verse 5:32 which most Islamist apologist love to quote to demonstrate the peaceful nature of Islam:

> Killing one person except for a just cause is like slaying the whole people; saving a life is like saving the whole people...5:32

On the surface, this verse seems benign enough. What the Islamist apologists never tell is that the killing here really refers to the killing of Muslims and not human beings in general. The most authentic tafsir writer, ibn Kathir clearly writes that killing here refers to a Muslim killing another Muslim and not humanity in general (source). Next verse (5:33) advocates cruel punishment to those who dare to criticise Islam and Muhammad.

Here is verse 5:33.

> 5.33. The recompense of those who wage war against Allâh and His Messenger and do mischief in the land is only that they shall be killed or crucified or their hands and their feet be cut off on the opposite sides, or be exiled from the land. That is their disgrace in this world, and a great torment is theirs in the Hereafter. (Quoted from the Noble Quran, Tr. by Hilali and Khan)

Here is verse 109:6

> To you be your way (means disbelief—ibn Kathir), to me is mine (means Islam—ibn Kathir; also see 10:41, 28:55)...109:6

Now, here is a summary of the abrogation of the above verses:

2.256 (No compulsion in religion) has been abrogated by (Fight the non-Muslims and force them into Islam) 2:190, 2:193-194, 5:2, 8:39, 9:5, 9:36, 9:123.

5:32 (No killing) has been abrogated by (Kill whoever criticises Muhammad and Islam) 5:33

109.6 (To you is your religion) has been abrogated by (No religion other than Islam) 3:19, 3.85 and many other similar verses.

Here are a few verses where Allah says without any confusion whatsoever that Islam is the only religion acceptable to Him. Whoever adopts any religion other than Islam is in profound error, a labeled Kafir (infidel) and must be killed when the Muslims have upper hands on them, if they do not convert to Islam or refuse to pa the jizya tax (this applies only to the Jews and the Christians). Let us read those verses.

Only Islam is the perfect guidance…2:120

Ibn Kathir (Link) writes that this verse is a stern warning to the Muslims against imitating the Jews and the Christians.

Allah prescribes that Muslims fight even if some Muslims dislike it; they must go and fight the infidels; it is good for the Muslims…2:216

This verse unabashedly proclaims gratuitous slaughter of non-Muslims. On the interpretation of this verse, ibn Kathir writes that Allah made it compulsory for all Muslims to fight those who transgress Islam. Fighting (fighting means killing by sword—ibn Kathir) is good because fighting is followed by victory, dominance over the enemy, taking over their lands, money and offspring (source).

> Islam is the religion of Allah, if one does not follow Islam Allah will have a swift account of him…3:19

> In this verse Allah states that no religion from any person, except Islam, is acceptable to Him. Islam includes obeying all of the Messengers until Muhammad who finalized their commission, thus closing all paths to Allah except through Muhammad. Therefore, after Allah sent Muhammad, whoever meets Allah following a path other than Muhammad's, it will not be accepted of him. Allah will punish him for his rejection, reckon him for his denial, and torment him for defying His Book- ibn Kathir.

> Any religion other than Islam is not acceptable (abrogates 2:62 and 5:69)...3:85

> This day Allah perfected the religion of Islam and accepted Islam as the only religion for mankind...5:3

Many Islamic scholars believe verse 5:3 is the last verse of the Quran. Therefore, the injunction of this verse is valid for eternity—Islam is the only religion acceptable to Allah, all other religions are null and void.

> Follow God's straight path (that is, Islam) and no other path…
> 6:153

On the context of this verse ibn Kathir writes that Muhammad drew with his hand a straight line on sand and said that that was his path, the straight line. He then drew two lines to the left and two lines to the right of that line and said that those were other paths. On each path there is a devil who calls to it. (Also see 42:13).

> Those who do not follow Islam are deaf, blind, and the worst beasts…8:22

According to ibn Kathir both the unbelievers and the hypocrites are the same; they are deaf and dumb. (Also see 2:171, 7:179).

> After the four sacred months (Rajab, Zulqad, ZulHajj, Muharram) have passed slay (fight and kill) the pagans wherever (that is, the earth in general—ibn Kathir) they are found…9:5

As per ibn Kathir, the most celebrated exegete of the Quran, even though this verse mentions to kill the pagans, but this verse, in general, is applicable to all the unbelievers on earth. He further elaborates the provisions of this verse in this manner:

> Do not wait until you find them, seek and besiege them in their areas and forts, gather intelligence about them in various roads and fairways and force them to Islam. If they do not embrace Islam, then kill them. This verse allowed Muslims to fight the non-Muslims until they embrace Islam. These verses allowed fighting people unless and until, they embrace Islam and implement its rulings and obligations. Allah mentioned the most important aspects of Islam here, including what is less important (also see 2:190, 2:194, 5:2, 8:39, 9:36). If they repent and become believers then forgive them (source). (Note: This verse is called the verse of the sword. This verse abrogates all verses of forgiveness to the pagans. i.e., this verse cancels about 124 verses which espouse mercy, tolerance, and forgiveness to the pagans. The bold emphasis is mine).

Fight those who do not believe in Allah, or in the last Day, or the halal food. Unbelieving people of the Book (Jews and Christians) pay Jizya tax (this is the compensation for the loss of revenue from the prohibition of the non-Muslims entry in Mecca; imposition of jizya was the compensation to make up for the loss of revenue to the Muslims—ibn Kathir) with submission (humiliation); if they do not pay jizya tax or convert to Islam then kill them (this verse stipulates that the Muslims fight, i.e. kill the people of the Books if they do not pay the jizya tax; Muslims should disgrace, humiliate and belittle the Jews and the Christians—ibn Kathir) (abrogates 2:109)...9:29

Allah will maim you if you forget the Quran

The following hadith tells us that Allah could be that cruel to maim a believer.

If you recite the Quran then forget it then you will meet Allah maimed... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 8.1469)

Book 8, Number 1469: Narrated Sa'd ibn Ubadah: "The Prophet (peace_be_upon_him) said: No man recites the Qur'an, then forgets it, but will meet Allah on the Day of Judgment in a maimed condition (or empty-handed, or with no excuse)"

Sunnah (Muhammad's words and actions) is from Allah

First, we shall read the following hadith dealing with women's menstruation and Muhammad's expert advice regarding sexual intercourse during this period of a woman.

Sahih Muslim, Book 003, Number 0592:

Thabit narrated it from Anas: Among the Jews, when a woman menstruated, they did not dine with her, nor did they live with them in their houses; so the Companions of the Apostle (may peace be upon him) asked The Apostle (may peace be upon him), and Allah, the Exalted revealed:" And they ask you about menstruation; say it is a pollution, so keep away from woman during menstruation" to the end (Qur'an, ii.

222). The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: Do everything except intercourse. The Jews heard of that and said: This man does not want to leave anything we do without opposing us in it. Usaid b. Hudair and Abbad b. Bishr came and said: Messenger of Allah, the Jews say such and such thing. We should not have, therefore, any contact with them (as the Jews do). The face of the Messenger of Allah (way peace be upon him) underwent such a change that we thought he was angry with them, but when they went out, they happened to receive a gift of milk which was sent to the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him). He (the Holy Prophet) called for them and gave them drink, whereby they knew that he was not angry with them.

The erudite translator of Sahih Muslim, ‘Abdul Hamid Siddiqi asser that Sunnah (or hadith) is also derived from Allah. The provision of hadith then becomes obligatory to all Muslims just like the Quran. Abdul Hamid Siddiqi’s note is fairly lengthy. I shall quote only the relevant part.

> …This attitude of the holy Prophet clearly shows that the teachings of the Quran and the Sunnah are derived from no human agency and are all inspired by God, and therefore transcend all material or worldly considerations….(Siddiqi, 2004, pp. 210–211, foot note 508)

There are detailed essays on the extreme misogynist nature of Allah Please rea

'Women in Islam' and 'Sex and Sexuality in Islam' to understand the anti-women disposition of Allah.

Here are a few gems (summarized) from the English translation of Ihya Ulum Al-Din. Please note that the English version is in four volumes.

When marrying a girl, look for her beauty, as this will save you fro fornication (p.2.31)

If it be known that a woman is barren, do not marry her marry lovely ar child-bearing women. (p.2.32)

A good woman is one who is married early at her age, who gives birth to a child without delay and who demands a small dower. (p.2.32)

Women are prisoners in a man's hand. Men have taken them as trusts from God and God has made their sexual parts lawful for men. (p.2.33)

Umar said: Stay at home with your wife like a boy. When the wife demands things, behave like a man. (p.2.34)

Umar said, "Act opposite to women as there is reward in opposing them." (p.2.34)

He who becomes slave to women is ruined. If a husband acts according to the wishes of his wife, he becomes her slave and thus ruined; God has made husband the master of his wife. (p.2.34)

It is the right of a man that his wife follows him and not the other wa around. (p.2.34)

Husbands are the maintainers and masters of their wives. (p.2.34)

If you disgrace your wife, your servant and your Nabati they will honor you. They (women, servants) are evil and posses little intelligence. (p.2.34)

Women are like crows; only a religious woman is like a crow with white belly among one hundred cows. (p.2.34)

Muhammad said, “Fear unchaste women because she will make you old before you grow old.” (p.2.34)

Muhammad said, “No nation prospers over which a woman rules.” (p.2.35)

Umar said: “If woman dresses well she must stay at home.” Habituate women to stay inside their homes. Women can come out of their houses only durir Eid’s. (p.2.36)

If you ejaculate your semen before your wife ejaculates her semen then you are a weak man. (p.2.38)

If your father dislikes your wife then divorce her. If a woman seeks divorce from her husband without any reasons, she will not smell the fragrance of paradise. (p.2.42)

The women who seek divorce are hypocrites. (p.2.42)

A wife should not refuse her husband if he wants to enjoy her body. If the wife of a man dies while he is pleased with her, she will enter paradise. If a man wants sex, his wife must comply with him even when she is on the back of a camel. A woman cannot keep optional fast without her husband's permission. If she does, God will not accept her fast. (p.2.43)

If she goes out of her house without his permission, the angels curse her until she returns home or till she repents. (p.2.43)

If Muhammad wanted anyone to prostrate before another, he would have ordered a woman to prostrate before her husband. (p.2.43)

When a woman stays at home, she comes closer to God. A woman's prayer in her courtyard is more meritorious than her prayer in a mosque. (p.2.43)

A woman is like a private part. When she comes out of her house, the devil holds her high. (p.2.43)

A woman has ten private parts. When she gets married her husband covers one private part; when she dies the grave covers other nine private parts. (p.2.43)

A woman, a slave and an unbeliever is not fit to be a moral police. (p.2.186)

The devil lives in markets and bazaars. God created women as games f devil. (p.3.39)

The satisfaction of belly encourages companionship of women. (p.3.69)

Muhammad said, “There will remain no grater danger for the people after my death than women. Fear the world of women.” (p.3.87)

Muhammad said,” A woman is the string of the devil.” (p.3.87)

A woman is the best coveted of things to a man. He takes pleasures in penetrating his genital organ into female vaginal canal. Thus, vagina is the most coveted thing in a woman. (p.3.162)

The world is like an unchaste woman. The world at first treats well and then leads to destruction. The world dresses itself like an unchaste woman and calls the people towards her. (p.3.164)

Whenever she (a woman) takes the people to her house, she ruins them. (p.3.164)

The world is like an ugly old woman. The outer form is one form and its secret form is another. Its outer form is nice but its inner form is ugly and poisonous. (p.3.164)

Muhammad also said, “There will be markets in Paradise in which there will be no buy or sale, but there will be men and women. If any man will wish to have sexual intercourse with a woman, he will do it at once. The Hurs will sing in Paradise on divine purity and praise—we are most beautiful Hurs and we are for the honored husbands." (p.4.430)

According to Muhammad, the Hurs of Paradise will be pure women—free of menstruation, urine, stool, cough and children. (p.4.430)

Here are more (selected) Islamic comments on women:

Hedaya (Tr. Charles Hamilton, 1994)

A woman is a servant and the husband is the person served …(p.47)

> "Case of marriage on a condition of service from the husband.—IF ……it is not lawful that a woman should be in a situation to exact the service of her husband who is a freeman, as this would amount to a reversal of their appointed stations, for one of the requisites of marriage is, that the woman be as a servant, and the man as the person served; but if the service of the husband to the wife were to constitute her dower, it would follow that the husband is the servant and the wife as the served: and this being a violation of the requisites of marriage, is therefore illegal; but it is otherwise with the service stipulated to be performed by another free person, with that person's consent, as this offers no violence to the requisites of the contract; and so also in the case of service of a slave, because the service performed by a slave to his wife is, in fact, performed to his master, by whose consent it is that he undertakes it; and the same with the case of tending flocks, because this is a service of a permanent nature, and admitted to be performed for wives, and therefore, does not violate the requisites of marriage; for the service of the husband to his wife, as a dower, is prohibited only as it may be degrading to the former; but the tending of flocks is not a degrading office."

Full dower is the payment for the delivery of woman's person. Booza meaning Genitalia arvum Mulieris--- (p.44)

"The wife entitled to her whole dower upon the consummation of the marriage or the death of the husband.—IF a person specify a dower of ten or more Dirms, and should afterwards consummate his marriage, or be removed by death, his wife, in either case, has a claim to the whole of the dower specified, because, by consummation, the delivery of the return for the dower, namely the Booza, or woman's person,* is established, and therein is confirmed the right to the consideration, namely, the dower; and, on the other hand, by the decease of the husband the marriage is rendered complete by its completion, and consequently is so with respect to all its effects. (* Literally, Genitale arvum Mulieris)"

You can enjoy a wife by force… (p.141)

"But not if she be refractory.—IF a wife be disobedient or refractory and go abroad without her husband's consent, she is not entitled to any support from him, until she return and make submission, because the rejection of the matrimonial restraint in this instance originates with her; but when she returns home, she is then subject to it, for which reason she again becomes entitled to her support as before. It is otherwise where a woman, residing in the house of her husband, refuses to admit him to the conjugal embrace, as she is entitled to maintenance, notwithstanding her opposition, because being then in his power, he may, if he please, enjoy her by force.(*Dirms have varied in their value at different times, from twenty to twenty-five passing current for a Deenar. The sum here mentioned is from about eighteen to twenty-two pounds sterling)"

Maintenance of a wife is the custody for the purpose of enjoyment… (p.141)

Activities of Allah

Allah has daily chores, employs Muhammad as messenger for wages, conduct trumpet playing, employs humans to build Ka'ba, a businessman & banker - borrow from believers, is Gynae, medic & reproductive biologist, conducts Muhammad's marriages, idol-maker, conduct plunder & shares booty, extracts Jiziyah, worries of not being worshipped, spies on Muhammad's wives, torments the dead in graves...

To keep short the length of this part of this series, here is the summary of the important activities of Allah. Many Quranic verses and hadith have been summarized to extract their main messages.

Allah has His daily activities.

First, we read the following verses from the Qur'an:

> Allah keeps an accurate record of anyone who is buried under earth… 50:4
> Two angels (one on right, one on left) record all the activities of a person, not even a word he utters is left out; Allah monitors their works...50:17-18
> Allah reviews the records (of His slaves) presented by the recording angels...50:23
> Allah records all minor or major activities of the unbelievers…54:52-53
> Allah has raised the firmaments high and has created the balance so that people cannot cheat in measure; Allah monitors the cheats...55:7-9
> All things in heavens and earth beg to Allah; He is always busy with work…55:29

Let us now review a few hadith:

In Sahih Muslim, we read that Allah is always busy.

> ■Sahih Muslim, Book 001, Number 0345
> Abu Musa reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) was standing amongst us and (he said) four (things): Verily Allah does not sleep and it does not befit Him to sleep. He raises the scale and lowers it. The deeds of the day are presented to Him in the night and the deeds of the night in the day.

Another hadith in Sunaan Abu Dawud details further Allah's daily night activities.

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, Vol. I, Hadith Number 1310
> Abu Hurairah reported the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: our Lord who is blessed and exalted descends every night to the lowest heaven when the last one-third of the night remains, and said: Who supplicates me so that I may answer him? Who asks of Me so that I may give him? Who asks forgiveness so that I may forgive him?

It will be a mistake to be incredulous on this nightly activity of Allah. It will be an error to dismiss the above hadith as metaphorical. The erudite Islamic scholar, Professor Ahmad Hasan comments that the above hadith affirms that Allah's nightly descent on earth is not figurative; it is for real. Based on a report, he asserts that the hadith narrator was asked about how Allah does this nightly routine job. Abu Hurairah vouched that Muhammad had confirmed Allah's night activity but was unable to provide the modus operandi. (Hasan, 2001, p 1.346, footnote 700).

> Allah examines a man's record on Mondays and Thursdays…(Tirmidhi, 627)
> Narrated AbuHurayrah
> Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said, "Men's deeds are presented (to Allah) on Mondays and Thursdays, and I like mine to be presented when I am fasting."
> Tirmidhi transmitted it. (Tirmidhi hadith number 627 quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

> Abraham and Ismail made Ka'ba first and then Allah made Ka'ba a place of worship...2:125

During Noah's time, Allah destroyed Ka'ba with the flood. Allah commanded his friend Abraham and Abraham's son Ishmael to rebuild it (Tabari, 1988, p 6.51). They did just this (2:127)
Abraham settled his people in the uncultivable neighbourhood of Ka'ba and implored Allah to bestow them with fruit and provision…14:37

Allah is a debtor; He borrows money from the believers (Muslims)

2:261. The likeness of those who spend their wealth in the Way of Allâh, is as the likeness of a grain (of corn); it grows seven ears, and each ear has a hundred grains. Allâh gives manifold increase to whom He pleases. And Allâh is All-Sufficient for His creatures' needs, All-Knower. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Qur'an)

Elaborating on this, the eminent tafsir writer ibn Kathir writes that spending for Allah means spending on jihad, horses, weapons and so on.

Ibn Kathir writes:

Sa`id bin Jubayr commented, "Meaning spending in Allah's obedience." Makhul said that the Ayah means, "Spending on Jihad, on horse stalls, weapons and so forth." The parable in the Ayah is more impressive on the heart than merely mentioning the number seven hundred. This Ayah indicates that Allah `grows' the good deeds for its doers, just as He grows the plant for whoever sows it in fertile land. The Sunnah also mentions that the deeds are multiplied up to seven hundred folds. For instance, Imam Ahmad recorded that Abu Mas'ud said that a man once gave away a camel, with its bridle on, in the cause of Allah and the Messenger of Allah said,

«لَتَأْتِيَنَّ يَوْمَ الْقِيَامَةِ بِسَبْعِمِائَةِ نَاقَةٍ مَخْطُومَة»

(On the Day of Resurrection, you will have seven hundred camels with their bridles.)

The Muslims should muster all their power and might, including steeds of war (tanks, planes, missiles…etc) to strike terror in unbelievers' hearts; Allah will repay whatever they spend in His cause…8:60

Ibn Kathir writes that in verse 8:60 Allah commands Muslims to prepare for war against disbelievers, as much as possible, according to affordability and availability (source)

Here are more Qur'anic verses which tell the Muslims to spend for Allah so that Allah can wage wars against the infidels.

Allah replaces whatever you spend on His cause…34:39
If you loan to Allah, He will increase your wealth many fold...57:11
Allah will reward many fold the loan of charitable believers, whether men or women...57:18
Fear Allah as much you are able to do so and spend on Allah and Muhammad...64:16
If you loan a beautiful loan to Allah, Allah will credit you double and will forgive you...64:17

Sahih Bukhari confirms that Allah will repay the loan if borrowed with the intention of repayment… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.41.572).

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 41, Number 572:
> Narrated Abu Huraira:
> The Prophet said, "Whoever takes the money of the people with the intention of repaying it, Allah will repay it on his behalf, and whoever takes it in order to spoil it, then Allah will spoil him."

Another hadith in Sahih Bukhari tells us that every day two angels come down from heaven; one of them supplicates Allah to compensate the charity givers...(Sahih Bukhari, 2.24.522).

> Sahih Bukhari Volume 2, Book 24, Number 522:
> Narrated Abu Huraira :
> The Prophet said, "Every day two angels come down from Heaven and one of them says, 'O Allah! Compensate every person who spends in Your Cause,' and the other (angel) says, 'O Allah! Destroy every miser.' "

Allah is a banker; believers can loan money to Allah, He will secure this loan as a fixed deposit

Let us peruse the following verses from the Qur'an.

> Give a beautiful loan to Allah; He will multiply it many times (Allah will return double)...2:245

Allah is a heavy borrower, no doubt. Nevertheless, he is clever too. Just like an astute moneylender, He invests His borrowing from His faithful followers and promises them the return of the money borrowed with attractive gain (read interest).

Here is a verse from the Qur'an about Allah's promise of return on capital invested with Him.

> Allah will bestow more for spending on Him…35:30

We must not doubt Allah's promise to clear His debt to the Muslims. In the past, Allah kept His promise. Here is a verse on this.

> There were twelve captains (twelve Patriarchs) from the children of Israel; Allah promised them to the garden of eternity (Eden) if they would follow His path...5:12

> 005.012
> YUSUFALI: Allah did aforetime take a covenant from the Children of Israel, and we appointed twelve captains among them. And Allah said: "I am with you: if ye (but) establish regular prayers, practise regular charity, believe in my messengers, honour and assist them, and loan to Allah a beautiful loan, verily I will wipe out from you your evils, and admit you to gardens with rivers flowing beneath; but if any of you, after this, resisteth faith, he hath truly wandered from the path or rectitude."

Eminent Qur'an translator Abdullah Yusuf Ali agrees that the 'loan' in this verse means spending in the cause of Allah (Ali, 1983, p 245, footnote 710).

As a banker, Allah certainly practices usury. He has already mentioned about doubling the money of His creditors. Elsewhere, Allah had declared he has set strict conditions for securing a loan from Him. In verses 9:111-112 Allah, in fact, demands that His debtors pay off their loan by sacrificing their lives in a jihad. Let us read these two very important verses:

> 9:111. Verily, Allâh has purchased of the believers their lives and their properties; for the price that theirs shall be the Paradise. They fight in Allâh's Cause, so they kill (others) and are killed. It is a promise in truth which is binding on Him in the Taurât (Torah) and the Injeel (Gospel) and the Qur'ân. And who is truer to his covenant than Allâh? Then rejoice in the bargain which you have concluded. That is the supreme success .
> 9:112. (The believers whose lives Allâh has purchased are) those who repent to Allâh (from polytheism and hypocrisy, etc.), who worship Him, who praise Him, who fast (or go out in Allâh's Cause), who bow down (in prayer), who prostrate themselves (in prayer), who enjoin (people) for Al-Ma'rûf (i.e. Islâmic Monotheism and all what Islâm has ordained) and forbid (people) from Al-Munkar (i.e. disbelief, polytheism of all kinds and all that Islâm has forbidden), and who observe the limits set by Allâh (do all that Allâh has ordained and abstain from all kinds of sins and evil deeds which Allâh has forbidden). And give glad tidings to the believers. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Qu'ran)

The above verses tell us quite clearly that Allah repays the loan of the jihadists (in this case their lives) with the dwellings in paradise. If we were to link the monetary values on this deal of Allah, we must understand that this business deal of Allah is just like a banking transaction, a kind of futures market trading. The interest (in this case the lives of the jihadists) charged by Allah is indeed exceptionally high.

This business deal of Allah is certainly un-Qu'ranic and therefore; un-Islamic, to say the least. This is because in many verses in the Qu'ran, Allah has vehemently cursed the usurers. This was simply because during Muhammad's time most of the money lenders were Jews.

Thus, we note that to suit His purposes Allah simply violates His own business rules

Let us read a few verses on Allah's great distaste for the modern banking system which is primarily based on interest charges.

> Allah has permitted trade; forbidden usury...2:275

Concerning this verse, ibn Kathir writes that usurers are pardoned for the first offence; repeated usurers are the companions of fire. Those who consume Riba will be resurrected while insane and suffering from seizures. (source)

> Allah does not allow any usury whatsoever...3:130
> Sins of the Jews are: usury, devouring people's substance; Allah has prepared a painful doom for them...4:161

Obviously, usury (Riba), as practiced by the infidels' banking system is grossly contemptuous to Allah. He has reserved severe punishment for indulging in such un-Islamic business. Here is a sample test of Allah's punishment for a riba eater:

> A usurer will be punished by stoning in a river of blood… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.34.298)
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 34, Number 298:
> Narrated Samura bin Jundab:
> The Prophet said, "This night I dreamt that two men came and took me to a Holy land whence we proceeded on till we reached a river of blood, where a man was standing, and on its bank was standing another man with stones in his hands. The man in the middle of the river tried to come out, but the other threw a stone in his mouth and forced him to go back to his original place. So, whenever he tried to come out, the other man would throw a stone in his mouth and force him to go back to his former place. I asked, 'Who is this?' I was told, 'The person in the river was a Riba-eater."

Allah conducts trading

Trading is Allah's forte. He sustains His livelihood through business, banking and trading, Islamic of course.

Here are a few examples of the type of trading Allah prescribes for His followers (Muslims). Please note that among all the trading, Allah's most favourite was slave-trading. Allah banned usury but had never outlawed Islamic slave-trading. It was exceedingly profitable, especially selling the vanquished infidels.

> Gold for gold, wheat for wheat dates for dates, barley for barley—these are all acts of usury unless the transaction is on the spot… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.22.3342)
> Slave trading is like trading in animal. Muhammad bought a slave for slaves… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.22.3352)
> Practice slave trading, Abd Allah ibn Masud was a slave trader… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.23.3505)
> One slave was sold for eight hundred (800) dirhams (US$ 4,000), another for seven hundred (700) dirhams (US$ 3,500)… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.29.3946, 3947)
> The price of a male or a female slave is fifty dinars or five hundred dirhams… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.39.4563)
> Do slave trading. Muhammad sold a slave for eight hundred (800) dirhams… (Sahih Bukhari 9.89.296)
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 9, Book 89, Number 296:
> Narrated Jabir:
> The Prophet came to know that one of his companions had given the promise of freeing his slave after his death, but as he had no other property than that slave, the Prophet sold that slave for 800 dirhams and sent the price to him.
> Muhammad lived in a two-storey house and had a black slave; he traded in slaves... (Sahih Bukhari, 9.91.368)
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 9, Book 91, Number 368:
> Narrated 'Umar:

> I came and behold, Allah's Apostle was staying on a Mashroba (attic room) and a black slave of Allah's Apostle was at the top if its stairs. I said to him, "(Tell the Prophet) that here is 'Umar bin Al-Khattab (asking for permission to enter)." Then he admitted me.

The following hadith in Sunaan Abu Dawud confirms that Muhammad had many slaves and was involved in slave-trade, including trading slaves for beautiful, young and sexy women.

> Muhammad took Safiyyah as a slave-girl… (p 2.848, Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2 2987).

The above hadith is unavailable online. Let us read it from the print version:

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.ii, hadith number 2987:
> Qatadah said: When the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) participated in a battle, there was for him a special portion which he took from where desired. Safiyyah was from that portion. But when he did not participate himself in his battle, a portion was taken out for him, but he had no choice.

In footnote 2409, the translator, Professor Ahmad Hasan writes:

> Al-Nawawi is of the view that her name was Safiyyah before she was captivated. Some scholars hold that her name was Zainab, and she was called Safiyyah as the Prophet (may peace be upon him) took her as his special portion (‘Awn al-Ma’bud, III, 112)

The readers should note that the special portion of Islamic loot reserved for Muhammad was called Safi.

> Muhammad traded a beautiful captive girl (Safiyyah) from Dihya for seven slaves…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.19.2991)

Let us read the above hadith from the print version:

> Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol. ii, hadith number 2991:
> Anas said: A beautiful slave-girl fell to Dihyah. The apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) purchased her for seven slaves. He then gave her to Umm Sulaim for decorating her and preparing her for marriage. The narrator Hammad said: I think he said: Safiyyah daughter of Huyayy should pass her waiting period in her (Umm Sulaim’s) house.

In verse 16:71 Allah exhorts the perpetuation of Islamic slavery system. Slave trading is good for Muslims—Allah has no hesitation in admitting, when He prescribes the institutionalized discrimination against the slaves. Therefore, it is impossible to eradicate Islamic slavery system.

Let us read this verse.

> 16:71. And Allâh has preferred some of you above others in wealth and properties. Then, those who are preferred will by no means hand over their wealth and properties to those (slaves) whom their right hands possess, so that they may be equal with them in respect thereof. Do they then deny the Favour of Allâh? (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

Allah regards the unbelievers (non-Muslims) as slaves in the hands of the Muslims. Here is the proof:

> A disbeliever is like a powerless slave, a believer is like a powerful owner of the slave…16:75
> 16:75. Allâh puts forward the example (of two men a believer and a disbeliever); a slave (disbeliever) under the possession of another, he has no power of any sort, and (the other), a man (believer) on whom We have bestowed a good provision from Us, and He spends thereof secretly and openly. Can they be equal? (By no means, not). All the praises and thanks be to Allâh. Nay! (But) most of them know not. (ibid).

Even the dead children of the unbelievers are not spared from the slavery of the Muslims. In verse 17:15 we read:

> 17:15. Whoever goes right, then he goes right only for the benefit of his ownself. And whoever goes astray, then he goes astray to his own loss. No one laden with burdens can bear another's burden. And We never punish until We have sent a Messenger (to give warning). (ibid)

On the interpretation of this verse, ibn Kathir, sourcing from an authentic hadith writes that Muhammad said that the dead children of the Muslims are in paradise, being taken care of by Abraham, whereas; the children of the idolaters are the servants of the inmates of paradise. (Link).

Here are more examples of Muhammad's dealing with slaves, especially black slaves. One hadith clearly says that Muhammad traded two black slaves for one white slave. He surely had plenty of slaves (mostly black) to conduct such trading.

> Muhammad traded two black slaves for one Arab (white) slave… (Sahih Muslim 10.3901)
> Muhammad had a black slave named Anjasha… (Shaih Bukhari, 8.73.182)
> During Muhammad's self-imposed exile in his own room, a black slave guarded him (very long hadith)…(Sahih Bukhari, 3.43.648, 5.60.435)

> In the raid of Khaybar, Muhammad acquired a black slave-boy named Midam…(Malik's Muwatta 21.13.25)
> Muhammad sold slaves… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.41.598; 3.34.351)

Tabari lists seventeen slaves that Muhammad possessed. Some of them he traded, and some of them he set free for various reasons. (Tabari, 1990, pp ix.142-146).

Allah is an expert gynecologist and an obstetrician

> Allah says that women ejaculate sperm; their sperm is yellowish… (Sunaan Nasai, 1.198, 1.202)
> Sunaan Nasai, vol. I, hadith number 198
> 'A'ishah (Allah be pleased with her) reported that Umm Sulaim said: Allah's Mesenger! Verily, Allah is not ashamed of Truth. Is bathing necessary for women when she sees in sleep what a man sees? The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) replied: Yes, she should take a bath. 'A'ishah (Allah be pleased with her) then spoke to her. Silly! Does a woman also have emission? The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: Let your hand be besmeared with dust. In what way does a child resemble her. (sic).
> Sunaan Nasai, vol. I, hadith number 202
> Anas (Allah be please with him) reported that the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: Man's discharge (i.e., sperm) is thick and white and the discharge of woman (sic) is thin and yellow, so the resemblance comes from the one whose genes prevail or dominate.

Here is another example of Allah's proficiency in obstetrics and gynaecology:

> Sperm is transformed into a clot of congealed blood, then the foetus becomes a lump, then bones, then Allah clothes bones with flesh then into another creature; Allah is the best of creators (there are many creators)…23:14

The most eminent Islamic scholar, Imam Ghazali wrote that a woman ejaculates sperm. He wrote in Ihya Uloom Ed-Din:

> If you ejaculate your semen before your wife ejaculates her semen then you are a weak man. (Tr. Fazl-ul-Karim, 1993, p.2.38)

In a hadith we find more examples of Allah's expertise with gynecology and midwifery.

Here are a few samples.

Allah sends an angel in to the womb of a pregnant woman (long hadith)… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.430).

Allah has appointed an angel for a womb who monitors the progress of pregnancy of a woman… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.55.550).

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 55, Number 550:

Narrated Anas bin Malik:

The Prophet said, "Allah has appointed an angel in the womb, and the angel says, 'O Lord! A drop of discharge (i.e. of semen), O Lord! a clot, O Lord! a piece of flesh.' And then, if Allah wishes to complete the child's creation, the angel will say. 'O Lord! A male or a female? O Lord! wretched or blessed (in religion)? What will his livelihood be? What will his age be?' The angel writes all this while the child is in the womb of its mother."

Allah engages an angel in charge of the uterus; then the angel asks 'male or female?'... (Sahih Bukhari, 8.77.594

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 77, Number 594:

Narrated Anas bin Malik:

The Prophet said, "Allah puts an angel in charge of the uterus and the angel says, 'O Lord, (it is) semen! O Lord, (it is now) a clot! O Lord, (it is now) a piece of flesh.' And then, if Allah wishes to complete its creation, the angel asks, 'O Lord, (will it be) a male or a female? A wretched (an evil doer) or a blessed (doer of good)? How much will his provisions be? What will his age be?' So all that is written while the creature is still in the mother's womb."

When the drop of semen remains in the womb for forty or fifty days or forty nights the angels then comes and asks Allah whether it will be good or evil, whether male or female, its deeds, actions, its death, livelihood…….all these are recorded. This document is the final and no addition or subtraction is done in it…(Sahih Muslim, 33.6392)

Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6392:

Hudhaifa b. Usaid reported directly from Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) that he said: When the drop of (semen) remains in the womb for forty or fifty (days) or forty nights, the angel comes and says: My Lord, will he be good or evil? And both these things would be written. Then the angel says: My Lord, would he be male or female? And both these things are written. And his deeds and actions, his death, his livelihood; these are also recorded. Then his document of destiny is rolled and there is no, addition to and subtraction from it.

Allah appoints an angel as the caretaker of the womb; the angel monitors and sends info. to Allah like, 'now it is a drop of semen, now it is a clot of blood, it is now a lump of flesh….etc'; Allah gives it a final shape; then the angel asks, 'male or female? Evil person or a good person? Livelihood and his age?' These are all written down as it is in the womb of its mother… (Sahih Muslim, 33.6397)

Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6397:

Anas b. Malik reported directly from Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) that he said: Allah, the Exlated (sic) and Glorious, has appointed an angel as the caretaker of the womb, and he would say: My Lord, it is now a drop of semen; my Lord, It is now a clot of blood; my Lord, it has now become a lump of flesh, and when Allah decides to give it a final shape, the angel says: My Lord, would it be male or female or would he be an evil or a good person? What about his livelihood and his age? And it is all written as he is in the womb of his mother.

Allah put His hand on the back of Adam and brought forward Adam's offspring destined for Paradise, then Allah put his hand again on the back of Adam and brought forward the offspring of Adam destined for hell… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.40.4686)

Allah does mutation biology

In several verses in the Quran Allah says that in the past He had transformed some of Jews into monkeys and pigs. We might laugh at these cock–and–bull stories. Nevertheless, hang on. These deeds of Allah are not figurative, as we might think. Most Islamist scholars believe that Allah has the necessary technology and expertise just to do this—the mutation biology. They will even direct our attention to gene-splicing techniques, crop mutation, GMF, stem cell research, the cloning technology and what not. Of course, all these sciences are available in the Quran and hadith. The infidels found them because they studied these Islamic scriptures seriously. The Muslims had failed hopelessly because they had forgotten the contents of the Quran! In fact, the non–Muslims are stealing all the scientific ideas from the Quran while the Muslims are in deep slumber. These erudite scholars (mostly living in west) will let us believe such incredible, convoluted idea.

Let us read Allah's science on mutation biology as contained in the Quran and hadith.

Some Jews (Children of Israel) desecrated the Sabbath so Allah turned them into apes...2:65

This is what ibn Kathir writes on the interpretation of the above verse:

> They began using deceitful means to avoid honouring the Sabbath by placing nets, ropes and artificial pools of water for the purpose of fishing before the Sabbath. When the fish came in abundance on Saturday as usual, they were caught in the ropes and nets for the rest of Saturday. During the night, the Jews collected the fish after the Sabbath ended. When they did that, Allah changed them from humans into monkeys, the animals having the form closest to humans; the young people turned into howling monkeys with tails while the older people were turned into swine. They lived on earth only for three days. They did not eat, drink or had offspring. (source)
> Allah converted the corrupt people of Moses (Jews, who violated the Sabbath) into apes...7:166
> Some unbelievers (Jews) were transformed into apes (monkeys), some to swine (pigs)...5:60
> Allah could transform human into any other unimaginable form and He could hasten the resurrection day…17:51
> Allah has fixed our day of death; He can change our form and create us in unknown forms...56:60-61
> Allah gives us whatever form He desires...82:8

Let us read this hadith from Sahih Bukhari:

> On the resurrection day Abraham will meet his father Azar whose face will be dark and dust-covered… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.55.569
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 55, Number 569:
>
> Narrated Abu Huraira:
> The Prophet said, "On the Day of Resurrection Abraham will meet his father Azar whose face will be dark and covered with dust. (The Prophet Abraham will say to him): 'Didn't I tell you not to disobey me?' His father will reply: 'Today I will not disobey you.' 'Abraham will say: 'O Lord! You promised me not to disgrace me on the Day of Resurrection; and what will be more disgraceful to me than cursing and dishonouring my father?' Then Allah will say (to him):' 'I have forbidden Paradise for the disbelievers." Then he will be addressed, 'O Abraham! Look! What is underneath your feet?' He will look and there he will see a Dhabh (an animal,) blood-stained, which will be caught by the legs and thrown in the (Hell) Fire."

Agreeing with the above hadith, the translator of Sahih Bukhari, Dr Muhammad Muhsin Khan writes that Allah will indeed transform Abraham's father into an animal… (Summarized Sahih Bukhari, 1994. p 663, Hadis number 1407, O.B. 4.569, footnote 1)

Allah conducts artificial insemination

In part 2(ii), we read how Allah created Jesus Christ by implanting His 'spirit' inside Mary's womb. Even the most celebrated tafsir writer, Ibn Kathir fully agrees that Allah's 'spirit' or soul was inserted inside Mary's womb by Allah's angel Gabriel who is also known as Ruhul Quddus. For more on this please read the relevant section of part 2(ii) and consult verse 19:16–23.

Ibn Kathir writes that Jibril blew into the opening of the garment that she (Mary) was wearing. Then the breath descended until it entered into her vagina and she conceived the child (Jesus). (see verse 19:22 and part 2 (ii) of this essay).

Therefore, if ibn Kathir is correct, either Allah or Gabriel must be the father of Jesus. Allah/Gabriel must had performed artificial insemination on Mary to make her pregnant.

Allah does business with Islam

As mentioned previously, Allah is an astute banker. Not only that He is meticulous with all fiduciary matters, He, in fact, conducts business with Islam. Allah's specialty is Islam. The religion of Islam is the product which He sells for a profit. The following verses will remove our doubt on the business-like attitude of Allah vis–a–vis Islam.

> Allah guarantees return for charity; it is like a business transaction… 35:29
> If you hide your wealth from Allah or refuse to donate to Allah, He will reveal all the secrets of your wealth… 47:37
> Allah's offer (Islam is like a business deal) is a bargain (this is a motivation for the suicide bombers)... 61:10
> Fight for the cause of Islam with your property and person (it is a bargain from Allah; it motivates the suicide bombers)... 61:11
> In return for fighting for Allah, He forgives sins and guarantees beautiful mansions in the gardens of eternity (fighting and dying for Islam is a bargain from Allah; it motivates the suicide bombers)... 61:12

> The second bargain is the help from Allah and a guaranteed victory.. .61:13
> The believers fight in the cause of Allah; they kill and get killed; this is the doctrine of Allah; He has purchased the lives and goods of the believers in exchange for booty and paradise; their obligation is the willingness to kill and get killed in a fight; this is the pledge of Allah in the Torah, Gospel and the Quran (these verses motivate the suicide bombers)… 9:111-112
> Hypocrites prevent the genuine believers from contributing money for jihad but Allah is the owner of all treasures… 63:7

In a Tirmidhi hadith we note that Allah supplies seventy-two exquisitely pretty, sexy, and vivacious virgin women to each jihadist. This is quite similar to the supply of call-girls or prostitutes to prospective clients to secure lucrative business contracts. In Business Language we call it 'entertaining the client.' Allah also has business clients. They are, of course, jihadists, suicide bombers, Islamist killers, and Islamist terrorists, as well as Islamic scholars, Maulanas, Maulovis, Pirs, Mullahs, Ayatollahs…and so on. Allah entertains them with divine prostitutes to secure the contract to fight infidels through terror and/or suicide bombing.

Let us read this hadith (hadith number 1067):

> Narrated Al-Miqdam ibn Ma'dikarib
> Allah's Messenger (peace be upon him) said, "The martyr receives six good things from Allah: he is forgiven at the first shedding of his blood; he is shown his abode in Paradise; he is preserved from the punishment in the grave; he is kept safe from the greatest terror; he has placed on his head the crown of honour, a ruby of which is better than the world and what it contains; he is married to seventy-two wives of the maidens with large dark eyes; and is made intercessor for seventy of his relatives."
> Tirmidhi and Ibn Majah transmitted it. (Tirmidhi hadith number 1067 quoted from ALIM CD ROM)

To secure the most profitable business contract Allah even promises His customers with infidel women having pleasant vaginas, Pharaoh's wives, permanent erection, and instant sons.

Let us read about these incredible business deals of Allah.

> Sunaan Ibn Majah, vol. v, hadith number 4337: Anas 'Umama (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, :Allah will not admit anyone in the Paradise but Allah, the Mighty and glorious will marry him with seventy two wives, two will be from virgins (haurine) with big eyes and seventy, will be his inheritance from the people of the Hell-Fire. Everyone of them will have a pleasant vagina and he (the man) will have sexual organ that does not bend down (during sexual intercourse).

Hisham b. Khalid says, The words "out of his inheritance (due) from the denizens of the Fire", mean men who will enter the Fire and the inmates of the Paradise will inherit their wives just as the Faraoh's wife will be inherited (by the believers).

According to al-Zawaid, its isnad has some controversy. al-Ajali has declared Khalid b. Yazid b. Abi Malik reliable while Imam Ahmad, Ibn Mu'in, Abu Dawud, Nasa'I, Ibn Jarud Sahl, 'Uqali etc., have declare (sic) Ahmad b. salih al-Masri da'if.

Sunaan Ibn Majah, vol. v, Hadith number 4338: Abu Sa'id al-Khudri, (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, " When a believer will wish a son in the Paradise, its conception and its birth will happen in one single hour as he wishes."

Another business enterprise of Allah is the collection of Zakat, the compulsory contribution by every Muslim for the cause of Allah. Sunaan Abu Dawud informs us that A Zakat collector fights in the cause of Allah till he returns home from his collection duty... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 19.2930)

Sunaan Abu Dawud Book 19, Number 2930: Narrated Rafi' ibn Khadij:

I heard the Apostle of Allah (peace_be_upon_him) say: The official who collects sadaqah (zakat) in a just manner is like him who fights in Allah's path till he returns home.

Allah is a general medical practitioner (GP); He prescribes Islamic medicines

The list of Allah's medicines for Islamic illnesses is limitless. In fact, one can spend a few years learning about Islamic medicines (tib) and their modes of administration. In any Islamic book stores, the reader will surely find plethora of Islamic medicine books. They make quite interesting reading. Diehard followers of Islam will certainly turn to these Islamic methods of treatment first. Only when the illness turns gravely serious or the patient has very little hope, even having undergone a lengthy Islamic treatment, they might turn to modern medicine and surgery. They will never blame Allah's medicines for the failure—they will blame their lack of faith in Allah.

Here is a short list of some interesting Islamic medicines prescribed by Allah:

Bitten by a snake or stung by a scorpion, recite sura Fateha and spit on the bitten part; Muhammad took wages for applying this Islamic charm… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.23.3411)

Cure the lunacy of a lunatic by reciting sura Fateha in the morning and in the evening and spitting on the lunatic for three days; Muhammad said this Islamic charm is the only genuine charm… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.23.3413)

For headache use cupping; for pain in legs dye them with henna… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 28.3849)

Cutting a vein is a medical treatment… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.27.3855)

Only the charm that uses Quran will work, other charms will not… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.28.3859)

Seven grounded ajwah dates of Medina is a medicine for heart sickness… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 28.3866)

White garments are the best; antimony clears vision and makes hair sprout… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 28.3869)

For some severe pain wash the affected part seven times with your right hand and say Muhammad's prayer of casting spell… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.28.3882)

For any pains mix saliva with dust and then apply on the affected part… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.28.3886)

Recite sura al-Fateha then spit saliva on the affected part… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.28.3888)

Eating cucumber with dates will make you fat… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 28.3894)

Muhammad spat in Ali's eyes and Ali's eyes was cured…(Sahih Bukhari, 4.52.192)

Reciting sura Fatiha cures snakebite… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.36.476)

To relieve pain apply saliva on the affected part...(Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.517)

Muhammad asked people to drink a bowl of water in which he threw a mouthful of water; even Umm Salama requested that some of this 'holy' water be kept for her… (Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.617)

The water of Kama (a kind of fungus) is a cure for eye trouble... (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.5)

If a fly falls in a vessel, dip all of it and then throw the fly away, for in one of its wings there is a disease and in the other there is healing… (Sahih Bukhari 7.71.673)

Drink camel's urine as a medicine... (Sahih Bukhari, 2.24.577)

Drink Muhammad's urine, have no stomach problem (Ash Shifa)

If we have doubt about the healing effect of Muhammad's urine, here is what Ash Shifa writes:

He used to spit into the mouths of suckling children and his saliva would satisfy them until nightfall (Ash Shifa, Tr. Aisha Abdurrahman Bewley, 2004, p 184).

A man with a scrotal hernia came to the Prophet who commanded that it be sprinkled with water from a spring in which he had spat. That was done and the man was healed (ibid, p 186).

The Messenger of Allah slept on a rug in the house of Anas and perspired. Anas's mother brought a long-necked bottle in which to put his sweat, the Messenger of Allah asked her about this. She said, “We put it in our perfume and it is the most fragrance of scents.” (ibid, p 35).

There was also the time when Malik ibn Sinan drank his blood on the Day of Uhud and licked it up. The Prophet allowed him to do that and then said, “The Fire will not touch you.” (ibid, p 36).

Something similar occurred when ‘Abdullah ibn az-Zubayr drank his cupped blood. The Prophet said: Woe to you from the people and woe to the people from you,” but he did not object to what he had done (ibid, p 36).

Something similar is related about when a woman who drank some of his urine. He told her, “You will never complain of a stomach-ache.” He did not order any of them to wash their mouths out nor did he forbid them to do it again, (ibid, p 36).

The hadith of the woman drinking the urine is sound. Ad-Daraqutni follows Muslim and al-Bukhari who relate it in the Sahih. The name of this woman was Baraka, but they disagree about her lineage. Some say that it was Umm Ayman, who used to serve the Prophet. She said that the Messenger of Allah had a wooden cup which he placed under his bed in which he would urinate during the night. One night he urinated in it and then examined it in the morning, there was nothing in it. He asked Baraka about that. She said, “I got up and felt thirsty, so I drank it without knowing. The hadith is related by Ibn Jurayl and others. (ibid, p 37)

Allah is a marriage celebrant; He had conducted Muhammad's marriages

A short while ago, we noted Allah’s obsession with women’s affairs, especially their menstrual cycle, pregnancy, child-birth and so on. This should lead us to another bizarre activity of Allah. He is very much concerned about the matrimonial affairs of His slaves, especially the marriages of Muhammad. Allah spared no pain to ensure that Muhammad had all his marriages (at least twenty–two) without any hindrance or objections. Where there was some apprehension that the Meccans’ prevalent custom and tradition might infringe on Muhammad’s right to marry child–girls (like six–year–old Aisha) or the wife of an adopted son, Allah took it upon Himself the responsibility to guarantee that Muhammad got what he wanted. In other words, Allah did not at all hesitate to take the role of a marriage celebrant.

Let us read more on this from the basic Islamic sources.

If Muhammad willed, he could divorce all his wives and Allah could marry him with better consorts either previously married or virgins...66:5

Muhammad saw Aisha in a dream for three nights before marrying her; Allah decided that Muhammad should marry Aisha…(Sahih Muslim, 31.5977).

Sahih Muslim,Book 031, Number 5977:

'A'isha reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) having said: I saw you in a dream for three nights when an angel brought you to me in a silk cloth and he said: Here is your wife, and when I removed (the cloth) from your face, lo, it was yourself, so I said: If this is from Allah, let Him carry it out.

The Quran confirms that Muhammad had a secret desire for his adopted son’s wife, the petite and elegantly attractive Zaynab bt Jahsh. Here are the Quranic verses on this.

Muhammad had a secret desire for Zayd’s wife (Zaynab), but he asked Zayd (his adopted son) to hold on to his marriage with Zaynab, for Muhammad feared about public opinion; then Allah married Muhammad to Zayd's (his adopted son) divorced wife (Zaynab)...33:37

Marrying the divorced wife of an adopted son is approved by Allah; Allah had the same rule for other prophets; Muhammad did not commit any error in doing so…33:38

Sahih Muslim (8.3330) describes how Allah got Muhammad married to the sexy and vivacious Zaynab bt Jahsh, his daughter-in-law (adopted son's).

More details on the secret lust of Muhammad for this married lady can be found in the works of Muhammad's biography written by Tabari. He writes:

> The Messenger of God came to the house of Zayd b. Haritha [Zayd was always called Zayd b. Muhammad.] Perhaps the Messenger of God missed him at the moment, so as to ask, "Where is Zayd?" He came to his residence to look for him but did not find him. Zaynab bt. Jahsh, Zayd's wife, rose to meet him. Because she was dressed only in a shift, the Messenger of God turned away from her. She said: "He is not here, Messenger of God. Come in, you are dear to me as my father and mother!" The Messenger of God refused to enter. Zaynab had dressed in haste when she was told "the Messenger of God is at the door." She jumped up in haste and excited the admiration of the messenger of God , so that he turned murmuring something that could scarcely be understood. However, he did say overtly: Glory be to God the Almighty! Glory be to God , who causes hearts to turn" (Tabari, 1997, p viii.2).

Please note that Zaynab betook Muhammad as her father.

Tabari also writes that Aisha (Muhammad's child-bride) felt great uneasy when Muhammad expressed his deep fascination and love for Zaynab (ibid, p viii 3).

To placate Aisha, and other critics, Muhammad came up with a simple solution—he claimed that Allah had instructed him to get married to Zaynab bt. Jahsh and that Allah himself would solemnise the marriage of Muhammad with Zaynab.

Tabari writes:

> While the Messenger of God was talking with 'Aisha, a fainting overcame him. When he was released from it, he smiled and said, "Who will go to Zaynab to tell her the good news, saying that God has married her to me?" then the Messenger of God recited: "And when you said unto him, on whom God has conferred favour and you conferred favour, 'Keep your wife to yourself… (ibid, p 3).'"

Allah is an idol-maker; He created the idols of Abraham's people

This occupation of Allah might shock all Muslims in the world. Nevertheless, the truth is: Allah Himself admits that He had created all those idols the idolaters worshipped during Abraham's time. Incredible though it might sound, here is Allah's admission that at some point in His existence, He was an idol maker. This is very strange indeed, coming from Allah whose core task in the world is to destroy all idols.

Let us read this verse in full.

> Allah had created the idols that Abraham's people used to worship…37:95–96
> YUSUF ALI: He said: "Worship ye that which ye have (yourselves) carved? "But Allah has created you and your handwork!" [Q 37.95-96]

In this verse Allah clearly says that He had created the idols (handiwork) which the polytheists made (also see 16:20)

Allah conducts plunder and shares booty

Besides all those activities, enunciated above, Allah has another activity which is extremely dear to Him. Allah loves to commit plunder in the hope of gathering booty. In fact, He unabashedly claims that the spoils of war legitimately belong to Him and his confidante, Muhammad. Allah has, even enacted legislation (sura 8, anfal, spoils of war) to detail the distribution of war booties. It is now absolutely halal for the Muslims to commit plunder on non–Muslims, loot their possessions, including land and women and enjoy them.

We will read a few verses on Allah's very dear activity—waging jihad and enjoying spoils of infidels.

> Islamic booty is for Allah and Muhammad…8:1
> To strengthen their belief, Allah calms the hearts of the believers; Allah has His own army of troops to conduct plunder…48:4
> All the armies (troops) on earth and in the heavens belong to Allah…48:7
> Allah made Muhammad wealthy through conquests (raid, plunder, war)… (Sahih Bukhari, 3.37.495)
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 3, Book 37, Number 495: Narrated Abu Huraira:
> Whenever a dead man in debt was brought to Allah's Apostle he would ask, "Has he left anything to repay his debt?" If he was informed that he had left something to repay his debts, he would offer his funeral prayer, otherwise he would tell the Muslims to offer their friend's funeral prayer. When Allah made the Prophet wealthy through conquests, he said, "I am more rightful than other believers to be the guardian of the believers, so if a Muslim dies while in debt, I am responsible for the repayment of his debt, and whoever leaves wealth (after his death) it will belong to his heirs. "

Allah collects protection money from non-Muslims

Despite Allah's claim of unbound resources at His beck and call, He is precariously dependent on the extorted money from the non-Muslims.

Regarding Zakat from the Muslims and protection money from the non–Muslims. Historical data shows that when Allah conquered any infidel land, the major part of Allah's revenue emanated from this protection tax (Jizya) levied on the Jews and the Christians.

The Quran (9:29) has legislated this source of revenue for Allah, no force on earth could change this stipulation.

> Unbelieving people of the Book (Jews and Christians) pay Jizya tax with submission (humiliation); if they do not pay Jizya tax or convert to Islam then kill them...9:29
> Muhammad's main source of livelihood was the money from the Jizya tax on infidels… (Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.351)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 5, Book 59, Number 351: Narrated Al-Miswar bin Makhrama:

That 'Amr bin Auf, who was an ally of Bani 'Amir bin Luai and one of those who fought at Badr in the company of the Prophet , said, "Allah's Apostle sent Abu 'Ubaida bin Al-Jarrah to Bahrain to bring the Jizya taxation from its people, for Allah's Apostle had made a peace treaty with the people of Bahrain and appointed Al-'Ala' bin Al-Hadrami as their ruler. So, Abu 'Ubaida arrived with the money from Bahrain. When the Ansar heard of the arrival of Abu 'Ubaida (on the next day) they offered the morning prayer with the Prophet and when the morning prayer had finished, they presented themselves before him. On seeing the Ansar, Allah's Apostle smiled and said, "I think you have heard that Abu 'Ubaida has brought something?" They replied, "Indeed, it is so, O Allah's Apostle!" He said, "Be happy, and hope for what will please you. By Allah, I am not afraid that you will be poor, but I fear that worldly wealth will be bestowed upon you as it was bestowed upon those who lived before you. So you will compete amongst yourselves for it, as they competed for it and it will destroy you as it did them."

Allah permitted only Muhammad to conduct raids and plunder

Here are some references in which Allah allowed Muhammad to have the exclusive right to conduct raids and plunder, mostly on innocent ordinary people.

Allah had permitted only Muhammad to plunder and collect booty by inflicting terror on the victims… (Sahih Muslim, 4.1058)

Sahih Muslim, Book 004, Number 1058: Jabir b. 'Abdullah al-Ansari reported: The Prophet (may peace be upon him) said: I have been conferred upon five (things) which were not granted to anyone before me (and these are): Every apostle was sent particularly to his own people, whereas I have been sent to all the red and the black, the spoils of war have been made lawful for me, and these were never made lawful to anyone before me, and the earth has been made sacred and pure and mosque for me, so whenever the time of prayer comes for any one of you he should pray whenever he is, and I have been supported by awe (by which the enemy is overwhelmed) from the distance (which one takes) one month to cover and I have been granted intercession.

Allah permitted only Muhammad to: 1. sermonize with weighty words 2. terrorize people 3. commit plunder and take booty 4. conquer the entire earth 5. a messenger for all mankind 6. proclaim himself as the last and the final Prophet…(Sahih Muslim, 4.1062)

Sahih Muslim, Book 004, Number 1062: Abu Huraira reported that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: I have been given superiority over the other prophets in six respects: I have been given words which are concise but comprehensive in meaning; I have been helped by terror (in the hearts of enemies): spoils have been made lawful to me: the earth has been made for me clean and a place of worship; I have been sent to all mankind and the line of prophets is closed with me.

Abd Allah ibn Jahsh reserved one-fifth of the booty for Muhammad. (as per 8:41).Muhammad admonished Abdallah ibn Jahsh for fighting in the sacred month. At first, he refused to accept anything from the loot. Allah then revealed 2:217 sanctioning Muhammad to fight in the sacred months. After this revelation from Allah, Muhammad took possession of the plunder and took charge of the two prisoners (Tabari, 1987, p 7.20).

Here are more examples of Allah's exclusive right for Muhammad to conduct gratuitous loot, murder and plunder upon non-Muslims

> Muhammad got a booty property of B. Nadir and called it a special gift from Allah (background to 59:6) and these properties were used to support Muhammad's wives... (Sahih Bukhari, 5:59:367)
>
> Spoils of war are for Allah and Muhammad (8:1)…(Sahih Muslim, 19.4329)
> One-fifth of booty belongs to Allah… (Baladhuri, 2002, p 109)
> Allah has a special choice from booty, Safi, exclusively reserved for Muhammad… (p 2.847, Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.2985, footnote 2406)
> The Safi is not taken from one-fifth of booty but from the entire loot, before one-fifth is taken out… (p 2.848, Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.2986, footnote 2407)
> Safiyyah (a teenage married girl whom Muhammad took as a captive in the plunder of Khaybar Jews) was Allah's Safi to Muhammad… (p 2 848, Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2 2987, footnote 2408).
> Before her capture as a sex-slave, Safiyyah's name was Zainab…(p 2.848, Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2 2987, footnote 2409).

Allah worries a lot; He is fearful that He might not be worshipped

That's right. Despite so much power, authority, and wherewithal, Allah is a constant worrier, especially when the jihadists are on a plunder mission. Allah admits that He constantly worries that He might not be worshipped if the Mujahiddins' terror operations are not successful. Here is a hadith from Sahih Bukhari on Allah's worry during the Badr war. We can be certain that Allah worries a lot, even today; worrying is a routine activity of Allah, no one should doubt this.

> In the Badr Muhammad prayed incessantly for the destruction of the pagans lest Allah would not be worshipped anymore…(Sahih Bukhari, 4 52 164)
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 52, Number 164: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas:
> The Prophet, while in a tent (on the day of the battle of Badr) said, "O Allah! I ask you the fulfilment (sic) of Your Covenant and Promise. O Allah! If You wish (to destroy the believers) You will never be worshipped after today." Abu Bakr caught him by the hand and said, "This is sufficient, O Allah's Apostle! You have asked Allah pressingly." The Prophet was clad in his armor at that time. He went out, saying to me: "There multitude will be put to flight and they will show their backs. Nay, but the Hour is their appointed time (for their full recompense) and that Hour will be more grievous and more bitter (sic) (than their worldly failure)." (54.45-46) Khalid said that was on the day of the battle of Badr.

Allah follows Muhammad wherever he goes, even to a cave

Earlier, we read that Allah is always awake, never sleeping, or taking rest. In fact, we learned that He has a sleepless face. This is certainly understandable when we realise the gigantic task of maintaining and nurturing the earth which Allah had created with His bare hands. However, it is quite perplexing to note that after He had made His best creation, Muhammad, He was totally obsessed with his (Muhammad's) whereabouts. Forgetting all the rest of His creatures, He constantly followed wherever Muhammad went.

Here is a hadith on Allah's constant follow up of Muhammad's whereabouts.

> When Muhammad and Abu Bakr were in the cave, the third person with them was Allah... (Sahih Bukhari 5.57.5).
> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 5, Book 57, Number 5: Narrated Abu Bakr:
> I said to the Prophet while I was in the Cave. "If any of them should look under his feet, he would see us." He said, "O Abu Bakr! What do you think of two (persons) the third of whom is Allah?"

We might wonder, if Allah was always with Muhammad why was it necessary to send the Archangel Gabriel to deliver His messages to Muhammad?

Allah spies on Muslims' wives, even on His dearest friend, Muhammad's wives

> That's right. Allah does not fully trust His ardent followers, the Muslims. Just to ensure that the Muslims are toeing the line of Islam, Allah often spies on them—eavesdropping and following them wherever they go. Unbelievable, we might think; but read the following verses and be amazed at the covert activities of Allah.
> Allah knows everything in heavens and on earth; no secret conspiracy could be done without Him being aware of it; if three people conspire then Allah is the fourth person as witness…and so on…58:7
> Allah made known to Muhammad what secret of Muhammad's wives divulge to each other (Allah spied on Muhammad's wives)...66:3
> If Muhammad's two wives (Aisha and Hafsa) conspire against Muhammad, then his protector will be Allah, Gabriel, righteous believers and the angels...66:4

Allah appointed Muhammad as His distributor

One of the most important activities of Allah is to distribute the spoils of plunder (today, it is the plunder from Islamist terrorism). He appointed Muhammad as His sole distributor for this purpose. The following hadith tells us that Allah bestows and Muhammad is the distributor of Allah

In sura Anfal (sura 8) Allah had legislated the rule of booty distribution: All Islamic booty belongs to Allah, and Muhammad must get twenty percent commission (that is, one-fifth) of the total loot collected from an Islamic plunder. After Muhammad's death this distributorship rested with the Caliphs (Muhammad's representatives). Currently, it is not clear who has inherited Allah's distributorship. Could it be the Quraysh ruler of Saudi Arabia or any imam or Sheikh of an Islamic community that is engaged in Islamist terrorism and plunder?

Let us read the relevant verses from this sura:

8:1 They ask you (O Muhammad) about the spoils of war. Say: "The spoils are for Allâh and the Messenger." So fear Allâh and adjust all matters of difference among you, and obey Allâh and His Messenger (Muhammad), if you are believers. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

On the context of this verse, ibn Kathir writes that in Badr war, one fighter cherished a sword which he had captured in a battle; he wanted that sword for himself. Muhammad told him that all booty belongs to him and Allah. Then he told the fighter that Allah had permitted him to give the sword to the fighter. Another context of this verse is that the Muslims had intense dispute over the spoils of the Badr war. In exasperation, Allah revealed that all loot of an Islamic jihad (read Islamic plunder) belonged only to Him and Muhammad (source).

The conclusion from the above verse is: Allah gets the booty from an Islamic plunder, Muhammad distributes it according to Allah's rule.

8:41. And know that whatever of war-booty that you may gain, verily one-fifth (1/5th) of it is assigned to Allâh, and to the Messenger, and to the near relatives [of the Messenger (Muhammad)], (and also) the orphans, Al-Masâkin (the poor) and the wayfarer, if you have believed in Allâh and in that which We sent down to Our slave (Muhammad) on the Day of criterion (between right and wrong), the Day when the two forces met (the battle of Badr) - And Allâh is Able to do all things. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

The readers should note that the Islamic word for Allah's commission for Muhammad (one-fifth or twenty percent) of Islamic loot is known as Khums. The Islamic name for Islamic loot is known as Ghanimah.

Ibn Kathir writes that orphans in the above verse refer only to Muslim orphans and Allah has specifically sanctioned loots of jihad only to the Muslims. Muhammad's booty is Allah's booty; surrendering one-fifth of booty is part of Islam. The share designated for Allah and Muhammad is the same. Ghanimah refers to war spoils captured from the disbelievers, using armies and instruments of war. As for `Fai', it refers to the property of the disbelievers that they forfeit in return for peace, what they leave behind when they die and have no one to inherit from them, and the Jizyah (tribute tax) and Khiraj (property tax) (source).

Here is a hadith which affirms that Muhammad is the only distributor of Allah…(Sahih Muslim, 2.2260)

Sahih Muslim Book 005, Number 2260:

Abd al-Rahman b. Auf reported: I heard Mu'awiya b. Abu Sufyan saying in an address that he had heard the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: He to whom Allah intends to do good, He gives him insight into religion. And I am only the distributor while Allah is the Bestower.

Allah gives fragrance to souls based on the souls' religion

The souls of believers (Muslims) have beautiful smells. One of Allah's activities is to sift the dead souls, select the Muslims' souls, and suffuse them with exquisite fragrance.

Let us read the following verses.

Every soul has a protector over it (i.e., every human being is protected by an angel)...86:4

Two angels take the soul of dead person into the sky to Allah; if the soul is a believer's then it has a beautiful fragrance; if the soul is of a non-believer then it has a foul smell (long hadith)…(Sahih Muslim, 40.6867)

Let us read a shorter version of a similar hadith from Sunaan Nasai.

During death, a Muslim's soul comes out with the sweetest fragrance of musk, the unbeliever's soul with the stench of a rotten corpse… (Sunaan Nasai, 2.1836)

Sunaan Nasai, vol.ii, hadith number 1836:

Abu Hurairah (Allah be pleased with him) reported Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) as saying: When a believer's death is near the angels of mercy bring a piece of white silk and say, "Come out pleased and accepted to Allah's rest and provision and to a Lord who is not angry." Then the soul comes out with a fragrance like that of the sweetest musk, they pass him from one to another till they bring him to the gates of heaven, and say, "How sweet is this fragrance which has come to you from the earth!" then (sic) they bring him to the of souls of the believers, and they are happier over seeing him than any of you are when one has been away from home back. They ask him, "How is so and so? How is so and so? Then they say, "Leave him alone just now, for he has just come from the grief of the world." He replies, "He has died. Has he come to you?" and they say, "He has been taken to his destination, the pit." When an infidel's death is near the angels of punishment bring him hair-cloth and say, "Come out, displeased and subject to displeasure, to the punishment from Allah who is Great and Glorious." The soul comes out with a stench like the most unpleasing stench of a corpse, they take him to the gate of the earth and say, "How offensive is this odour!" They finally bring him to the souls of infidels.

The Quran was written by pious human scribes and it also contains Muhammad's words, Allah admits, after all

The most important activity of Allah is of course, to write the Quran and amend it from time to time. Bizarrely though, when one studies the Quran very carefully, one is amazed at the number of times Allah has used human to construct it. The Islamists scholars are adamant that every word in the Quran is the word of Allah, presumably written with His own hand. However, read the Quran, front to back, several times, and any reader—even a high school kid will point out humongous blunders in it. No, we are not talking about the scientific errors, grammatical mistakes or the enormous number of contradictory statements embedded in the Quran. This is about the clear proof of human hand in the construction of the Quran. No matter how much Allah had tried, He left his trail of unmistakable signs of errors—Allah, after all does not seem to be that smart.

There are at least two verses in the Quran where Allah admits that Muhammad (or a messenger) had written some Quranic verses. We might find it unbelievable. However, let us read the following verses.

The Quran is the Word of an honourable messenger (Muhammad)…81:19-20

YUSUFALI: Verily this is the word of a most honourable Messenger, [Q 81.19]

YUSUFALI: Endued with Power, with rank before the Lord of the Throne, [Q 81.20]

Many Islamist scholars, unable to defend, concoct that those two verses refer to Gabriel, the Messenger of Allah. Even then, those verses point that the Quran contains Gabriel's words and not Allah's.

In addition, how about the following verses where Allah unhesitatingly admits that human were involved to write the mighty Quran? Please read the following verses to judge the claim by the Islamist scholars that every word in the Quran is the word of Allah.

Allah swears by the seen and the unseen that the Quran is the word of an honoured apostle… (69:38-40

The Quran is written by the hands of pious and just scribes (Allah's admission of human hands in the Quran)...80:15-16

If readers have time, please read the following verses diligently and see if you agree with the comments inserted inside the brackets.

Allah bears witness (who is talking here Allah or Muhammad?) that none is to be worshipped except Him…3:18

Allah enters the day into night and vice versa, gives life to the dead, death to life and sustenance to whomever He likes (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)…3:29

The believers responded to the call of Muhammad (who is talking here—Allah or someone else?)…3:193-194

The believers bring good to themselves; the unbelievers bring detriment to themselves (the words 'I am not a keeper over you is' clearly words of Muhammad)… 6:104

Quran is explained in detail; never doubt the books sent before the Quran; it is the source of all laws (Torah, Gospel) (the words, 'Shall I seek for judge other than Allah?' are clearly Muhammad's words)...6:114

Only Allah, who had revealed the Quran is Muhammad's protector (is not Muhammad talking here?); He helps the righteous people…7:196

Allah (who is talking here Allah, or another person?) forgave Muhammad even though he should have forced the reluctant jihadists to join in fighting (Tabuk), because only those who tell the verified truth of inability to fight are exempted from fighting...9:43

Do not worship two Allahs; there is only one Allah, worship Him (is Allah a male?) alone (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)...16:51

The idolaters assign a portion of food to their idols even though that food was sent by Allah; Allah swears by Himself that they would be questioned (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)…16:56

Allah swears by Himself that He had sent apostles before Muhammad but Satan had mislead them and Allah will punish those messengers (Muhammad is talking here, he is swearing by Allah)...16:63

Allah is holy and glorified; He is above all (who is talking here, Muhammad or Allah?)…17:43

An angel narrates Allah's wishes (here and angel is talking not Allah?)…19:9

Angels (Gabriel?) comes down only with the permission of Allah (here Gabriel is talking and not Allah?)…19:64

Allah swears by Himself that He will gather all the unbelievers in hell and bring them to their knees (who are talking here? Allah or an angel, Gabriel?)...19:68

Muhammad said (as per tr. of Dr M. Muhsin Khan) Allah knows every word spoken in heaven and earth (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)...21:4

If there were Allahs besides Allah, there would be chaos (who is talking here, Allah or Muhammad?)…21:22

Muhammad implored Allah for His fair justice and to protect him from the unbelievers (here Muhammad is talking, not Allah, Dr M Muhsin Khan even writes so)…21:112

All prophets were, at times, inspired by Satan (this is the abrogating verse for 53:19-20 dealing with the goddesses al-Lat, Uzza, Manat; Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)...22:52

The passage from night to day and from day to night is Allah's creation (Muhammad or an angel is talking here and not Allah)…22:61

Allah sends down rains and is cognizant of all affairs (who is talking here? an angel, perhaps)…22:63

Ships sail by Allah's command and he prevents the heavenly bodies (i.e. sky) from crashing on to earth (who is talking here, an angel perhaps)…22:65

Exalt Allah, He is the owner of the Throne (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)…23:116

Each angel has a specific job; all of them worship Allah standing in lines (here, the angel is talking and not Allah?)…37:165-166

Allah is glorified and honourable (who is talking here—the angels or Allah himself?); He is free from the attributes of the pagans…37:180

Allah (or the angels) wishes peace on the prophets (is Allah talking here, or the angels)…37:181

All praises are to Allah (is Allah talking here or the angels?)…37:182

Allah gives life and death and has the ability to do anything; the repentant and righteous family members (father, wives and children) go to paradise (Muhammad or an angel is speaking here and not Allah)...40:8

Whoever protects a person from falling in sin will receive Allah's mercy (Muhammad or an angel is speaking here and not Allah)…40:9

On the resurrection day, Allah Himself will reply all questions (who is speaking here Allah or Muhammad?)…40:16

Allah is the most efficient in dispensing justice (Allah or Muhammad is speaking here?)…40:17

Muhammad is worried about the fate of his believers on the resurrection day; they will try to escape Allah's wrath but there will be no one to help them run away from Allah's punishment (here Muhammad is talking and not Allah)…40:32-33

He is Allah, the creator and the sustainer of everything, none but Allah is to be worshipped (here Muhammad or some other being is speaking and not Allah)…40:62

Allah decides on matters of disputes in the Quran; Muhammad relies upon Allah (Muhammad is speaking here and not Allah)...42:10

Jesus preached the right path (Islam) (who is speaking here, Muhammad, Jesus or Allah?)…43:64

Allah swears by Muhammad's statement; Allah knows that people will not believe Muhammad (who is speaking here, Allah, Muhammad or a third entity, an angel perhaps?)...43:88

Do not believe anything other than Allah's sign (this verse is used by the Quran only followers e.g. Rashad Khalifa. In this verse another entity is speaking, certainly not Allah)...45:6

Those who listened to Muhammad but did not believe, Allah has sealed their hearts (who is speaking/talking here—Allah or someone else?)…47:16

Allah curses those who do not sincerely fight for Allah against their kith and kin (who is talking/speaking here—Allah or Muhammad?)...47:22-23

Allah swears (or is it Muhammad talking to himself) by himself, i.e., by the Lord of the heavens and the earth…51:23

An angel says that he was sent by Allah (here angel or Muhammad is talking and not Allah)…51:50

Muhammad is not being misled (is Allah or an angel is talking here?)…53:2

Allah created the seven heavens in layers with perfection (here someone is talking about Allah, not Allah Himself) …67:3

There is no question on the punishment of Allah for the disbelievers (a third person is talking here, not Allah)…70:1-3

Allah swears by the lord of all points in the east (varying rising points of the sun) and the west (varying setting points of the sun); He could easily substitute the unbelievers with better men (is Muhammad talking in this verse?)...70:40-41

Only Allah chooses a believer (who is speaking here—Allah or Muhammad?); the sinners will be in the shadow of three columns of smoke, no coolness but full of blazing fire...77:29-31

Muhammad (is not Muhammad talking here?) requests for a short respite for the unbelievers...86:17

Allah (or is it Muhammad talking here?) swears by Adam and by the city (Mecca?) where Muhammad lives…90:1-3

Allah is the best of all judges (Muhammad is talking here and not Allah)...95:8

Muhammad is Allah's only friend

Tabari (Tabari, 1988, p. 6.xl) writes that after the first communication with Allah (via Gabriel), Allah remained taciturn for almost three years. Frustrated and fearful that His Allah had abandoned him, Muhammad suffered from acute depression, so much so, that he contemplated to commit suicide by throwing himself down from the Hira Mountain. When Muhammad was just about to perform this self–killing, Allah suddenly remembered Muhammad. Allah instructed Muhammad not to lose patience (sura 93). Then Allah established a regular channel of communication with His dearest friend and continued to converse with him until his death. Thus, the bosom friendship between Allah and Muhammad flourished. In fact, in a hadith in Sahih Muslim Muhammad admitted that his only friend was Allah, save a handful of pious Muslims.

> Sahih Muslim, Book 001, Number 0417:
> 'Amr b. 'As reported: I heard it from the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) quite audibly and not secretly: Behold! the posterity of my fathers, that is, so and so, are not my friends. Verily Allah and the pious believers are my friends.

In Sunaan Ibn Majah we read a hadith that Muhammad's only friend was Allah.

> Sunaan Ibn Majah, Vol. I, Hadith Number 93
> 'Abdullah (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "Behold, I am free from the dependence of the friendship of all friends. If I were to take a friend I would have taken Abu Bakr as a friend. Verily, your companion (the Prophet himself) is the friend of Allah."
> Waki' said: i.e., he (the Prophet) has been taken as friend of Allah.

Annoy Muhammad and you annoy Allah—get beheaded

Read the following verses to find the closeness of Muhammad to Allah. According to these verses, Allah, in fact, became Muhammad (or the other way round, if you do not mind). Allah stipulated that if anyone annoyed Muhammad, it was as if he had annoyed or insulted Allah.

Let us read the following verses from the Quran.

> Do not raise voice above the voice of Muhammad; do not shout at him; it is like shouting at Allah...49:2
> Allah forgives those who talk to Muhammad in a lower voice...49:3

Affirming that insulting/criticising (even mild) Muhammad was indeed tantamount to debasing Allah, He legislated terrible punishment for those who dare to indulge in uttering any words which might offend Muhammad (and Muslims).

Here are sample retribution of Allah to the detractors of Muhammad (= Allah).

> Criticise Muhammad, get killed or get crucified, no exception (Ash Shifa).
> Ibn Sahnun says that when a heretic reviles the Prophet and then repents having done it, his repentance does not prevent him from being executed. (Ash Shifa, Tr. Aisha Abdurrahman Bewley p 402)
> The one who curses the Prophet is not killed for his disbelief. He is killed in order to preserve esteem for the Prophet and to free him from any blemish. (ibid).

Muhammad ibn Sahnun said, “A Muslim does not escape execution by repentance when he has cursed the Prophet because he did not change from his deen to another deen. He did something which entails the hadd punishment of execution. Unlike the zindiqi, there is no pardon for it because he did not move outwardly from one deen to another deen. (ibid, p 403).

He is an unbeliever if he calls the Prophet a liar, rejects him or anything of that nature. This is something about which there is no doubt and which incurs execution.
If he repents of it, we do not accept his repentance and we kill him after he has repented. His execution in this case is for a hadd because of what he has said for his earlier disbelief. After this his affair is in the hands of Allah who is aware of the soundness of his renunciation And knows his secret thoughts. (ibid, p 404-405).

The community agree that anyone among the Muslims who disparages him or curses him is to be killed. (ibid p 371). (Based on 33:57, 9:51, 33:53).

Disparage Muhammad slightly, get killed (Ash Shifa).
Ibn ‘Attab said that the Book and Sunna require that someone who intends to even slightly harm or disparage the Prophet, either by allusion or clear statement, must be killed. (ibid p 376)

Cursing Aisha is cursing Muhammad = cursing Allah. Punishment: get killed (Ash Shifa).

It is related from Malik that anyone who curses Abu Bakr is flogged whereas anyone who curses ‘A’isha is killed. He was asked, “Why?” He said, “Whoever attacks her has opposed the Quran.”(ibid, p 444).

Curse other wives of Muhammad—get killed or get flogged (Ash Shifa)
There are two positions regarding someone who curses one of the wives of the Prophet, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, other than ‘A’isha. One position is that he is killed because he has cursed the Prophet, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, by cursing his wife. The other is that she is considered to be like the other Companions. He is flogged with the hadd for slander. Ibn Sha’ban takes the first position. (ibid, p 445)

Rejecting a verse of the Quran, is rejecting Allah (Ash Shifa).
Reject a verse of the Quran, get killed (ibid).
Ibn ‘Abbas said that the Prophet said, “If any Muslim, denies any ayat of the Book of Allah, it is lawful to strike off his head (ibid, p 441-442).

Say, ‘the Quran is created’, get killed (Ash Shifa).

Citing the work of Malik, the foremost Islamist jurist, Ash Shifa writes:
He said about someone who said that the Quran is created, “He is an unbeliever, so kill him.” He said in the version of Ibn Nafi’, “He should be flogged and painfully beaten and imprisoned until he repents.” In the version of Bishr ibn Bakr at-Tinnisi we find, “He is killed and his repentance is not accepted.”(ibid, p 419)

Curse Allah, your blood becomes halal (Ash Shifa).
There is no disagreement that any Muslim who curses Allah is an unbeliever whose blood is halal. There is disagreement about whether he is asked to repent. (ibid, p 416).

Here is how a Christian or a Jew receives Islamic punishment, if he/she dares to revile Muhammad in the mildest manner. When they revile Muhammad, they actually revile Allah. This will explain why there is such a mayhem in the Islamic world when the infidels dared to publish a few cartoons of Muhammad. What the cartoonists did was unpardonable to Allah. They actually disparaged Allah.

> If a Jew or a Christian reviles Muhammad he is killed then burned (Ash Shifa).
> Ibn Kinana said in Al-Mabsut that any Jew or Christian who reviles the Prophet can be burned by the Imam. If he likes he can kill him and then burn his body. If he likes he can burn him alive. (ibid p 412).

> Abu'l Mus'ab said, "A Christian was brought to me who said, 'By the One who chose 'Isa over Muhammad'. There was a dispute about him before me. So I beat him until I killed him, or he lived for a day and a night. I commanded someone to drag him by the feet and throw him onto a dung heap and the fogs ate him. (ibid, p 411).

Those excerpts from the most authentic Islamic sources should explain why the Iraqi jihadists kill the American infidels and burn them, sometimes after beheading. This is Allah's retribution for the Christians who dare to trouble Allah's people, the Arabs.

Muhammad's rulings are Allah's rulings

This should not surprise anyone. We will review the following provisions in the Quran and hadith.

> Provisions set by Allah and Muhammad are binding to all Muslims: there are no alternatives...33:36

Here are a few important excerpts:

> Allegiance to Muhammad is allegiance to Allah (8:17) (Ash Shifa, Tr. Aisha Abdurrahman Bewley, p 27).

Let us read verse 8:17

> 8:17. You killed them not, but Allâh killed them. And you (Muhammad) threw not when you did throw but Allâh threw, that He might test the believers by a fair trial from Him. Verily, Allâh is All-Hearer, All-Knower.

> Allah made obeying Muhammad tantamount to obeying Himself (ibid, p 215).

> Ash Shifa writes:
> He made obeying His Messenger tantamount to obeying Himself, and he placed obedience to Himself alongside obedience to His Messenger. Allah promises that doing this will result in an abundant reward and threatens a severe punishment for opposing it. He made it obligatory to obey the things that the Prophet commanded and to avoid those he prohibited.

> Oppose sunna, become an unbeliever (Ash Shifa, p 220)
> Ibn 'Umar said, "The travelling prayer is two ra'kats. Whoever opposes Sunna is an unbeliever."

The above stipulation means disobeying Muhammad's rulings (Sunna) is disobeying Allah's rulings. Previously (see part 8) we noted that Sunna is from Allah.

Obeying Muhammad is obeying Allah

If we still had the slightest doubt that Muhammad was indeed Allah, then these verses should demolish that doubt.

> Obeying Muhammad is obeying Allah but Muhammad is not to watch the deeds…4:80
> Pledging allegiance to Muhammad is pledging allegiance to Allah; hands of Allah are with the hands of those who show solidarity with Muhammad...48:10

Let us read the above verses in full:

> 4:80. He who obeys the Messenger (Muhammad), has indeed obeyed Allâh, but he who turns away, then we have not sent you (O Muhammad) as a watcher over them. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

> 48:10. Verily, those who give Bai'â (pledge) to you (O Muhammad) they are giving Bai'â (pledge) to Allâh. The Hand of Allâh is over their hands. Then whosoever breaks his pledge, breaks only to his own harm, and whosoever fulfils what he has covenanted with Allâh, He will bestow on him a great reward. (ibid).

> Obeying Allah and the apostle (Muhammad) is the highest achievement…33:71
> 33:71. He will direct you to do righteous good deeds and will forgive you your sins. And whosoever obeys Allâh and His Messenger he has indeed achieved a great achievement (i.e. he will be saved from the Hell-fire and made to enter Paradise).

> Muhammad is the only person to be obeyed or followed (blindly); Allah does not love the disbelievers...3:32
> 3:32. Say (O Muhammad): "Obey Allâh and the Messenger (Muhammad)." But if they turn away, then Allah does not like the disbelievers.

Other similar verses are:

> The believers should obey Allah and Muhammad, lest Allah nullifies their works (obeying Muhammad is obeying Allah)… 47:33

> You must not hesitate to believe in Allah when Muhammad instructs you to do so… 57:8

> Obey Allah and his messenger (Muhammad); the duty of Muhammad is to proclaim the message of Allah clearly and openly... 64:12

> Believers must obey Muhammad and trust him; angels do… 81:21

Here are a few more compelling evidences that Muhammad and Allah are inseparable.

> In Sahih Bukhari we read that whoever obeys Muhammad obeys Allah, whoever disobeys Muhammad disobeys Allah; whoever obeys the chief obeys Muhammad… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.52.204, 9.89.251)

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 52, Number 204: Narrated Abu Huraira: That (sic) heard Allah's Apostle saying, "We are the last but will be the foremost to enter Paradise)." The Prophet added, "He who obeys me, obeys Allah, and he who disobeys me, disobeys Allah. He who obeys the chief, obeys me, and he who disobeys the chief, disobeys me. The Imam is like a shelter for whose safety the Muslims should fight and where they should seek protection. If the Imam orders people with righteousness and rules justly, then he will be rewarded for that, and if he does the opposite, he will be responsible for that."

Volume 9, Book 89, Number 251: Narrated Abu Huraira: Allah's Apostle said, "Whoever obeys me, obeys Allah, and whoever disobeys me, disobeys Allah, and whoever obeys the ruler I appoint, obeys me, and whoever disobeys him, disobeys me."

Muhammad's invocation is Allah's invocation

That's right. The following hadith tells us Muhammad is truly Allah. Whatever Muhammad had pronounced were, in reality, proclamations of Allah.

Muhammad's invocation is same as Allah's invocation... (Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.634).

Volume 5, Book 59, Number 634: Narrated Ibn Abbas: Allah's Apostle said to Muadh bin Jabal when he sent him to Yemen. "You will come to the people of Scripture, and when you reach them, invite them to testify that none has the right to be worshipped except Allah and that Muhammad is His Apostle. And if they obey you in that, then tell them that Allah has enjoined on them five prayers to be performed every day and night. And if they obey you in that, then tell them that Allah has enjoined on them Sadaqa (i.e. Rakat) to be taken from the rich amongst them and given to the poor amongst them. And if they obey you in that, then be cautious! Don't take their best properties (as Zakat) and be afraid of the curse of an oppressed person as there is no screen between his invocation and Allah.

Mentioning Allah is mentioning Muhammad (Ash Shifa, p 8)
When Muhammad is mentioned, Allah is also included (Ash Shifa, p 7)

In connection with sura 94, Ash Shifa elaborates the above tradition in this manner:

The sura continues: "Did we not exalt your fame?" (94:4) Yahya ibn Adam said that this meant by being given prophethood. It is said that the meaning of these words is explained by the hadith qudsi, "When I am mentioned, you are mentioned with Me in the statement. 'There is no god but Allah and Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah.'" It is said that the same is done by means of the adhan.

Muhammad's terrorism is Allah's terrorism

Read the following hadith if we still doubt that Allah/Muhammad was a terrorist.

Allah helped Muhammad to terrorize people… (Sahih Muslim, 4.1066, 1067)

Book 004, Number 1066:
Abu Huraira reported: The Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: I have been helped by terror (in the heart of the enemy); I > have been given words which are concise but comprehensive in meaning; and while I was asleep I was brought the keys of the treasures of the earth which were placed in my hand.

> Book 004, Number 1067:
> Hammam b. Munabbih reported: That is what Abu Huraira reported to us from the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) and he narrated (some) hadith one of which is that the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) said: I have been helped by terror (in the hearts of enemies) and I have been given words which are concise but comprehensive in meaning.

The Quran is written in the language of the terrorists. It is filled with numerous verses urging the Muslims to terrorize the non-Muslims, kill them, and take possession of their lands and properties. In the previous parts of this essay much has been written on this Islamist terrorism. The important point/s to remember is that whatever Muhammad did to terrorize the infidels was actually the actions of Allah.

Among the many verses which exhort Islamist terrorism, the following verses stand out as naked aggression of Allah/Muhammad on the unbelievers: 2:63, 3:151, 8:12, 8:60, 8:59, 9:55, 11:102, and 17:59.

Muhammad's booty is Allah's booty, which was how Allah made Muhammad rich

This should not surprise us. Let us peruse the following verses from the Quran:

> Whatever booty goes to Muhammad belongs to Allah; it shall go to the relatives, the poor and the travelling alien; accept whatever booty Muhammad gives...59:7
> Allah found Muhammad as an orphan and gave him shelter...93:6
> Muhammad was poor; Allah made him rich...93:8
> The booty of Banu Nadir belongs to Muhammad; this is because no fighting, either with horses or on foot took place; one must obey Muhammad's decision (blindly and totally)...59:6
> In verse 8:41 Allah forcefully claims His share of an Islamic plunder. On the interpretation of this verse, ibn Kathir writes that one-fifth (twenty per cent) of the loot, designated for Allah and His Messenger (Muhammad) is one and the same. (source).
> The share of plunder (one-fifth of booty) designated for Allah and the Messenger is one and the same—ibn Kathir (8:41). Supporting this is what Imam Al-Hafiz Abu Bakr Al-Bayhaqi recorded, with a Sahih chain of narrators, that `Abdullah bin Shaqiq said that a man from Bilqin said, "I came to the Prophet when he was in Wadi Al-Qura inspecting a horse. I asked, `O Allah's Messenger! What about the Ghanimah' He said, (Allah's share is one fifth and four-fifths are for the army.) I asked, `None of them has more right to it than anyone else. He said, (No. Even if you remove an arrow that pierced your flank, you have no more right to it than your Muslim brother.)"

For details on Muhammad's booty is Allah's booty, please read the previous part (part 9).

Allah salutes Muhammad

Most Muslims will find it impossible to believe that such a verse exists, not in hadith, not in Sharia, not in Sirah, but right in the Holy Quran. Yes, Allah is so much indebted to Muhammad that He had to salute him! Please read this verse and contemplate. Because this verse is such an important one I shall quote it in full.

> Allah salutes Muhammad but the spies and conspirators salute Muhammad differently; the spies and the double dealers will face the penalty of hell fire...58:8

> YUSUFALI: Turnest thou not thy sight towards those who were forbidden secret counsels yet revert to that which they were forbidden (to do)? And they hold secret counsels among themselves for iniquity and hostility, and disobedience to the Messenger. And when they come to thee, they salute thee, not as Allah salutes thee, (but in crooked ways): And they say to themselves, "Why does not Allah punish us for our words?" Enough for them is Hell: In it will they burn, and evil is that destination! (The bold emphasis is mine) [Q 58.8]

Allah = Muhammad

In verse 4:150-151 Allah admonished those Muslims who had slight doubt that Allah and Muhammad were one and the same. Sounding stern warning, Allah told these Muslims that Muhammad and Allah is the same entity. Then Allah threatened those who differentiate between Allah and Muhammad.

Let us read these two important verses.

> 4:150. Verily, those who disbelieve in Allâh and His Messengers and wish to make distinction between Allâh and His Messengers (by believing in Allâh and disbelieving in His Messengers) saying, "We believe in some but reject others," and wish to adopt a way in between.
> 4:151. They are in truth disbelievers. And We have prepared for the disbelievers a humiliating torment. (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran)

Ibn Kathir writes that in those two verses Allah threatens those who differentiate between Allah and Muhammad. (source)

Muhammad is Allah (13:28) (Ash Shifa, p 10)

> First, let us read verse 13:28.

> 13.28. Those who believe (in the Oneness of Allâh - Islâmic Monotheism), and whose hearts find rest in the remembrance of Allâh, Verily, in the remembrance of Allâh do hearts find rest . (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

Commenting on the above verse, Ash Shifa writes.

> Mujahid said that the words of Allah, “Hearts are made tranquil by the remembrance of Allah,” (13:28) refer to Muhammad, may Allah bless him and grant him peace, and his companions. (Ash Shifa. p 10)

Muhammad's name is Allah’s name (Ash Shifa, p 27)

> Ja’far ibn Muhammad said, “Part of His completed blessing to him is that He made him His beloved, swore by his life, abrogated other Shari'as by him, raised him to the Highest Place, protected him in the Mi'raj so that his eye "did not swerve nor sweep aside", sent him to all mankind and made booty lawful for his community. He also made him an accepted Intercessor and the master of the descendants of Adam. He coupled his name with His own name, and his pleasure with His pleasure, He made him one of the two pillar of tawhid." (Ibid. The bold emphasis is mine)

The Capricious Mind of Allah

Why did not Allah command Muhammad to destroy the idols of the pagans?

Here is the answer.

The readers might recall that in a previous episode we noted that Allah Himself admitted that those idols of the pagans were His own creation. So, how could Allah ask anyone to destroy His creation (the idols)? Allah simply did not like that pagans should worship His idols along with Him, and instructed Muhammad to exhort the pagans to desist from idolatry. Allah wanted them to worship Him (= Muhammad) and only HIM.

However, Muhammad was not satisfied with Allah's disposition vis-à-vis the pagan idols. He became Allah and unilaterally decided to destroy completely all the idols in Mecca, and later from all parts of Peninsular Arabia.

Let us read the following verses to gauge the incredibly complex mind of Allah. These verses also prove that one of the activities of Allah is to make idols (read part 8 of this series).

> The creatures (idols) worshipped by the unbelievers themselves did not want to be worshipped; they (the idols) themselves worshipped Allah (on the resurrection day the idols will be alive will and talk with Allah)… 25:18
> YUSUFALI: They will say: "Glory to Thee! not meet was it for us that we should take for protectors others besides Thee: But Thou didst bestow, on them and their fathers, good things (in life), until they forgot the Message: for they were a people (worthless and) lost." [Q 025.018]
>
> Because of the testimony of the idols (i.e., idols are not lifeless), the unbelievers cannot avert penalty; Allah will let them taste a grievous punishment…25:19
> YUSUFALI: (Allah will say): "Now have they proved you liars in what ye say: so ye cannot avert (your penalty) nor (get) help." And whoever among you does wrong, him shall We cause to taste of a grievous Penalty. [Q 025.019]
>
> On the resurrection day Allah will gather the idols as troops to testify against their worshippers (i.e. idols will become alive to testify)…36:75
> YUSUFALI: They have not the power to help them: but they will be brought up (before Our Judgment-seat) as a troop (to be condemned). [Q 036.075]
> The idolaters' idols will disown them on the resurrection day; the idols will be of no benefit to the idolaters…41:48
> YUSUFALI: The (deities) they used to invoke aforetime will leave them in the lurch, and they will perceive that they have no way of escape. [Q 041.048]

The above verse tells us that the idols have the ability to decide—they are quite similar to human or living objects, having the faculty of decision-making. After all, Allah created them.

The Quran had made Muhammad a mad man

The Almighty, All–powerful, All–knowing Allah was really fearful of the pagans, because when Muhammad was callow and started out raw Allah was fearful of his success. Therefore, He warned Muhammad that if he reminds the pagans of Allah and the Quran they would reject him.

> When Muhammad reminds the unbelievers of the Quran, they would surely label him as a lunatic…68:51
> YUSUFALI: And the Unbelievers would almost trip thee up with their eyes when they hear the Message; and they say: "Surely he is possessed!" [Q 068.051]

Allah let Satan temporarily dethrone Solomon

Yes, that is right. Allah intentionally let Satan win. This means Allah, at times, is not that powerful.

> Allah tested Solomon with vast material wealth; he temporarily lost his throne through the scheme of devil (Allah intentionally allowed a devil, taking the form of a body of Solomon to sit on Solomon's throne)… 38:34
> YUSUFALI: And We did try Solomon: We placed on his throne a body (without life); but he did turn (to Us in true devotion): [Q 038.034]

Allah let loose Iblis, the Satan; He did not want to control Iblis

This is indeed strange, Allah wilfully let Satan do whatever havoc he (Satan) wants to perpetrate. The funny part is that Satan invokes Allah's name to carry on with his nefarious acts. Allah has little power to subdue Satan's reprehensible actions.

> Iblis (Satan) vowed (by swearing the name of Allah) to lead astray all human except the true believers of Allah…38:82-83

> YUSUFALI: (Iblis) said: "Then, by Thy power, I will put them all in the wrong,- [Q 38.82]
> YUSUFALI: "Except Thy Servants amongst them, sincere and purified (by Thy Grace)." [Q 38.83]

Allah let Satan confuse Muhammad: Satan is more powerful than Allah (= Muhammad)

If a discord made by Satan makes Muhammad confused then he must seek refuge in Allah...41:36

> YUSUFALI: And if (at any time) an incitement to discord is made to thee by the Evil One, seek refuge in Allah. He is the One Who hears and knows all things. [Q 41.36]

Allah loves to sow discord about His Books

No doubt, this must be the epitome of Allah's capriciousness.

> Dispute arose on the book given to Moses; it was Allah's desire; if willed He could have solved the discord but He did not…41:45
> YUSUFALI: We certainly gave Moses the Book aforetime: but disputes arose therein. Had it not been for a Word that went forth before from thy Lord, (their differences) would have been settled between them: but they remained in suspicious disquieting doubt thereon. [Q 41.45]

Could this not be true for the Quran? Is not Allah responsible for the often-conflicting interpretations of His words in it?

Gabriel is Allah's announcer for His love to a person

Allah is very shy to announce his love for a person. He must have a chaperon to disclose his inner feelings. His chaperon is Gabriel. Read this hadith from Sahih Bukhari. Bizarrely, we note in hadith that Muhammad was a very shy person, shier than a virgin girl.

> If Allah loves a person He tells this to Gabriel to announce it to his people… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.54.431)

> Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 54, Number 431: Narrated Abu Huraira:

The Prophet said, "If Allah loves a person, He calls Gabriel saying, 'Allah loves so and-so; O Gabriel! Love him.' Gabriel would love him and make an announcement amongst the inhabitants of the Heaven. 'Allah loves so-and-so, therefore you should love him also,' and so all the inhabitants of the Heaven would love him, and then he is granted the pleasure of the people on the earth."

Muhammad was shier than a veined girl...(Sahih Bukhari, 4.56.762)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 56, Number 762: Narrated Abu Said Al-Khudri:

The Prophet was shier than a veined virgin girl.

Muhammad was shier than a veiled virgin girl... (Sahih Bukhari, 8.73.140)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Number 140: Narrated Abu Said:
The Prophet was shier than a veiled virgin girl. (See Hadith No. 762, Vol. 4)

Allah does not like nakedness on earth, but on the resurrection day, He will make everyone naked and uncircumcised

Sahih Bukhari tells us this:

People will be gathered to Allah bare footed, uncircumcised; Abraham will be the first person to be dressed... (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.149)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 149: Narrated Ibn Abbas:
Allah's Apostle delivered a sermon and said, "O people! You will be gathered before Allah bare-footed, naked and not circumcised." Then (quoting Quran) he said:--
"As We began the first creation, We shall repeat it. A promise We have undertaken: Truly we shall do it.." (21.104)

The Prophet then said, "The first of the human beings to be dressed on the Day of Resurrection will be Abraham. Lo! Some men from my followers will be brought and then (the angels) will drive them to the left side (Hell-Fire). I will say. 'O my Lord! (They are) my companions!' Then a reply will come (from Almighty), 'You do not know what they did after you.' I will say as the pious slave (the Prophet Jesus) said: And I was a witness over them while I dwelt amongst them. When You took me up. You were the Watcher over them and You are a Witness to all things.' (5.117) Then it will be said, "These people have continued to be apostates since you left them."

You will meet Allah barefooted, naked, walking on feet and uncircumcised...(Sahih Bukhari, 8.76.531, 532)
On the resurrection day, people will be gathered bare-footed, naked and uncircumcised; the first to be dressed will be Abraham… (Sahih Bukhari, 4.55..568)

Allah might change His mind about the inevitability of the resurrection day

This means: if we could understand the capriciousness of Allah,—there might be no resurrection day, after all.

> Resurrection would not come so long as Allah is worshipped in the world… (Sahih Muslim, 1.0273)
> Book 001, Number 0273:
> It is narrated on the authority of Anas that verily the Messenger of Allah (may peace be upon him) observed: The Hour (Resurrection) would not come so long as Allah is supplicated in the world.

Allah likes to swear by Himself (Muhammad)

Here is a Quranic verse to overwhelm the readers.

Allah swears (or is it Muhammad talking to himself) by Himself, i.e., by the Lord of the heavens and the earth…51:23

YUSUFALI: Then, by the Lord of heaven and earth, this is the very Truth, as much as the fact that ye can speak intelligently to each other. [Q 051.023]

Allah lacks self-confidence, He has to swear by His own creations

Here are a few examples of Allah's craziness.

Allah swears by the planets…81:15

Allah swears by Muhammad's sustainers that He will interrogate the unbelievers… 15:92-93

Allah swears by the angels who are arranged as battalions…37:1

Allah swears by Muhammad's statement; Allah knows that people will not believe Muhammad ...43:88

Allah swears by Mount Sinai…52:1

Allah swears by Adam and by the city (Mecca) where Muhammad lives…90:1-3

Allah swears by the sun's splendour…91:1

Allah swears by the afternoon...103:1

Allah had approved human sacrifice by the pagans

So, why should Muhammad blame the pagans?

Let us read this incredible verse.

Human (children) sacrifice by the pagan Arabs lead them to their destruction; it was Allah's will, He wanted it that way...6:137

YUSUFALI: Even so, in the eyes of most of the pagans, their "partners" made alluring the slaughter of their children, in order to lead them to their own destruction, and cause confusion in their religion. If Allah had willed, they would not have done so: But leave alone them and their inventions. [Q 6.137]

Allah sent the Quran for the ordinary Quraysh of Mecca, not for their leaders

So, why the jihadists should go out and create mayhem to spread Islam?

Quran is not sent down to some chief of either Mecca or Taif (two cities)...43:31

YUSUFALI: Also, they say: "Why is not this Qur'an sent down to some leading man in either of the two (chief) cities?" [Q 43.31]

The Quran is truly a message for Muhammad and his people (the Quraysh)...43:44

YUSUFALI: The (Qur'an) is indeed the message, for thee and for thy people; and soon shall ye (all) be brought to account. [Q 43.44]

Allah intentionally seals the minds of the unbelievers; He has predestined our fate

Let us read these Quranic verses to comprehend the complex mind of Allah (= Muhammad).

Allah seals the minds and hearings of the knowledgeable disbelievers and puts veils on their eyes to lead them astray…45:23

YUSUFALI: Then seest thou such a one as takes as his god his own vain desire? Allah has, knowing (him as such), left him astray, and sealed his hearing and his heart (and understanding), and put a cover on his sight. Who, then, will guide him after Allah (has withdrawn Guidance)? Will ye not then receive admonition? [Q45.23]

Allah predetermined all misfortunes on earth, even before Allah created the heavens and the earth...57:22

YUSUFALI: No misfortune can happen on earth or in your souls but is recorded in a decree before We bring it into existence: That is truly easy for Allah: [Q 57.22]

Despite the enmity between devil and Allah, Allah needs devil's help

It is impossible to grasp Allah's (= Muhammad) mind—He is, after all Satan's helper. Allah and Satan work in collusion.

Whoever ignores Allah's messages, Allah appoints a devil companion for him…43:36

YUSUFALI: If anyone withdraws himself from remembrance of (Allah) Most Gracious, We appoint for him an evil one, to be an intimate companion to him. [Q 43.36]

Allah is not sure how He created the human being

Allah created humankind out of nothing…19:9, 76:1

YUSUFALI: He said: "So (it will be) thy Lord saith, 'that is easy for Me: I did indeed create thee before, when thou hadst been nothing!'" [Q 19.9]

YUSUFALI: Has there not been over Man a long period of Time, when he was nothing - (not even) mentioned? [Q 76.1]

Man was created out of nothing before he was sent on earth...19:67

YUSUFALI: But does not man call to mind that We created him before out of nothing? [Q 19.67]

Humans were not created out of nothing (contradicts 19:67)...52:35

YUSUFALI: Were they created of nothing, or were they themselves the creators? [Q 52.35]

Allah will send a beast as a messenger

In Islam, it is a very serious crime to assert that Allah will send any other messengers after Muhammad. The violators face beheading. Nonetheless, Allah has no qualm in sending a beast as the final messenger for humankind. This means that Allah's mission to redeem humankind through His best creation (Muhammad) is an utter failure.

Despite so much jihad, bloodshed, suicide bombing, hatred and sheer torment perpetrated to the unbelievers, Allah (= Muhammad) could not win the war against the infidels.

Here is what Allah says about the Islamic beast as the final messenger for humankind.

Allah will send a beast as a final messenger to humans…27:82

27:82. And when the Word (of torment) is fulfilled against them, We shall bring out from the earth a beast to them, which will speak to them because mankind believed not with certainty in Our Ayât (Verses of the Qur'ân and Prophet Muhammad). (Tr. Hilali and Khan, the Noble Quran).

Embarrassed with such an incredulous tale of Allah, many modern-day Islamist scientists (like Dr Shamsher Ali of Bangladesh) defend Islam and Allah by contending that this 'beast' of Allah refers to the creation of modern computers.

Ironically, these Islamist scientists conveniently forget that the modern computers were solely researched, invented, developed and produced by the harami infidels. How is it possible for Allah to handover to the infidels this great task of creating the Islamic beast as the ultimate messenger of Allah?

Funnily, about this beast, the greatest scholar of Quran, ibn Kathir writes:

The description of this beast is narrated in a hadis described by ibn Kathir:

It was also recorded by Ibn Majah. Ibn Jurayj reported that Ibn Az-Zubayr described the beast and said, "Its head is like the head of a bull, its eyes are like the eyes of a pig, its ears are like the ears of an elephant, its horns are like the horns of a stag, its neck is like the neck of an ostrich, its chest is like the chest of a lion, its color is like the colour of a tiger, its haunches are like the haunches of a cat, its tail is like the tail of a ram, and its legs are like the legs of a camel. Between each pair of its joints is a distance of twelve cubits. It will bring out with it the staff of Musa and the ring of Sulayman. There will be no believer left without it making a white spot on his face, which will spread until all his face is shining white as a result; and there will be no disbeliever left without it making a black spot on his face, which will spread until all his face is black as a result, then when the people trade with one another in the marketplace, they will say, `How much is this, O believer' `How much is this, O disbeliever' And when the members of one household sit down together to eat, they will know who is a believer and who is a disbeliever. Then the beast will say: `O so-and-so, enjoy yourself, for you are among the people of Paradise.' And it will say: `O so-and-so, you are among the people of Hell. (Link)

The hadith of ibn Majah mentioned by ibn Kathir above reads thus:

During the last hour, a strange beast will appear… (ibn Majah, 5.4066)

Sunaan Ibn Majah, vol. v, hadis number 4066

Abu Huraira (Allah be pleased with him) reported that Allah's Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said, "The beast would appear (near the Last Hour) along with the signet ring of Sulaiman b. Dawud and Musa b. Imran's staff (peace be upon them). It would make, a believer's face brilliant with the staff and brand the nose of a disbeliever with the signet ring till inmates of a collection of houses adjacent to one another would assemble and this (man) would utter, "O believer" and that (man) would say, "O infidel"

Dabbat ul-Ard is an angel in the form of a beautiful beast that would appear from Safa mountain. According to some learned scholars, it will be a queer creature sixty arm long having the resemblance of every animal in it.

Abu l-Hasan al-Qattan mentioned like that with the chain of transmission consisting of Ibrahim b. Yahya, Musa b. Ismail, Hammad b. Salama and said one about it, "This (man) would say: O believer and this one would say: O the Non-believer. (sic).

Sahih Muslim writes that the name of this Islamic beast (messenger of Allah) is Jassas. This beast will chain Dajjal (anti-Christ).

A group of Arabian sailors marooned in an island met the beast, Jassas and talked with it; upon instruction from Jassas, the beast, they met a chained Dajjal and spoke with him. The Dajjal instructed the sailors to declare their allegiance to Muhammad (very long hadith)… (Sahih Muslim, 41.7028)

In addition, here is Sunaan Abu Dawud on how the Islamic beast will chain the Dajjal:

Dajjal has a woman spy named Jassasah; Dajjal will be chained in iron-collars and he will be leaping between the heaven and the earth…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.37.4311).

This hadith is not available online. Let us read it from the print version.

Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.iii, Hadith number 4311

Fatimah, daughter of Qais, said: The Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) once delayed the congregational night prayer. He came out and said: The talk of Tamim al-Dari detained me. He transmitted it to me from a man who was in an island of the islands of the sea. All of a sudden he found a woman who was trailing her hair. He asked: Who are you? She said: I am Jassasah. Go to that castle. So I came to it and found a man who was trailing his hair, chained in iron-collars, and leaping between the heavens and the earth. I asked: Who are you? He replied: I am the Dajjal (Antichrist). Has the prophet of the unlettered people come forth now? I replied: Yes. He said: Have they obeyed him or disobeyed him? I said: No, they have obeyed him. He said: That is better for them.

Dajjal's spy is a hairy beast named Jassasah (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.37.4312)

This is a very long hadith, not available online. Please consult the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud to read this hadith.

Allah does not want Muslims to migrate to infidel lands to improve their lots

According to Islam, if Muslims migrate and settle in infidel lands they are no longer Muslims.

Let us read these hadith:

Allah is not responsible for the Muslims staying with the unbelievers...(Sunaan Abu Dawud 14.2639)

Sunaan Abu Dawud, Book 14, Number 2639: Narrated Jarir ibn Abdullah:

The Apostle of Allah (peace_be_upon_him) sent an expedition to Khath'am. Some people sought protection by having recourse to prostration, and were hastily killed. When the Prophet (peace_be_upon_him) heard that, he ordered half the blood-wit to be paid for them, saying: I am not responsible for any Muslim who stays among polytheists. They asked: Why, Apostle of Allah? He said: Their fires should not be visible to one another

Sunaan Abu Dawud, Book 14, Number 2781: Narrated Samurah ibn Jundub:

To proceed, the Apostle of Allah (peace be upon him) said: Anyone who associates with a polytheist and lives with him is like him.

Elaborating on the above hadith, the translator of Sunaan Abu Dawud, Professor Ahmad Hasan writes that Muslims should avoid making friends with non-Muslims; Muslims living amidst non-Muslims should leave the territory and migrate to a Muslim territory; i.e., Muslims should not settle in non-Muslim territories (Hasan, 2001, vol. ii, p.782, note 2164)

There should be no two Qiblas in one land… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.19.3026)

The above hadith is unavailable online. Let us read it from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.

Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.ii, Hadith number 3026

Ibn ‘Abbas reported that Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying two qiblas in one land are not right.

Commenting on the above hadith Professor Ahmad Hasan writes that Muslims should not stay in the land of non-Muslims. It also means that the non-Muslims should not be allowed to exhibit their rituals in Muslim territories. This tradition also refers to the expulsion of non-Muslims from Arabia (Hasan, 2001, vol. ii, p 861, note 2468)

The readers should note that al-Qaeda and other Jihadist organizations often justify the slaughter of Muslims who have settled in infidel lands. According to these Islamist killers, along with the non-combatant infidel citizens, these migrant Muslims are also legitimate targets for Islamic slaughter. Needless to say, these Islamist killers find their full legitimacy from the core scriptures of Islam.

Allah’s bizarre justice system

Here is a summary of Allah’s mind-boggling Islamic justice system.

All Muslims are alike and they fight hard against the non-Muslims; a Muslim should not be killed for killing an unbeliever; only blood money is payable...(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 14.2745)

If you have sexual intercourse with your wife while she is menstruating then you must pay a fine of one dinar or half a dinar in the form of Islamic alms...(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 1.0264)

Perform sexual intercourse during the start of menstruation—pay one dinar fine; towards the end of menstruation—pay half a dinar… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 1.0265)

There is no prescribed punishment for treachery; a banner will be hoisted on the resurrection day for a treacherous person…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.14.2750)

Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol.ii, Hadith number 2750

Ibn ‘Umar reported the Apostle of Allah (may peace be upon him) as saying: A banner will be hoisted for a treacherous man on the Day of Judgment; it will then be announced: This is a treachery of so-and-so, son of so-and-so.

Commenting on the above hadith Professor Ahmad Hasan, the Islamist scholar writes that there is no prescribed punishment in Islam for treachery except the punishment of the hereafter (Hasan, 2001, vol. ii, p 770, note 2115)

Muhammad is the inheritor of those who have no heir...(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 18.2895)

People of two different religions cannot inherit from one another…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.18.2905)

Muhammad appointed a Muslim heir to a non-Muslim; because Islam must dominate other religions, a Muslim may inherit from a non-Muslim but not vice versa... (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.18.2906

Abdallah ibn Ubay’s dead body was lifted from his grave, placed on the knee of Muhammad and then Muhammad spat on Abdallah’s dead body… (Sahih Bukhari, 2.23.433)

With false witnesses you can consummate a marriage…(Sahih Bukhari, 9.86.101)

If you set free any animals in the name of idols then you will drag your intestine in fire… (Sahih Bukhari, 6.60.147, 148)

Citing Islamic brotherhood, Muhammad refused to marry the not-so-pretty daughter of Hamzah (Sahih Bukhari, 7.62.37), but he had no qualm in marrying the beautiful child-girl of Abu Bakr, his brother-in-Islam (Sahih Bukhari, 7.62.18)

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 37: Narrated Ibn 'Abbas: It was said to the Prophet, "Won't you marry the daughter of Hamza?" He said, "She is my foster niece (brother's daughter)."

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 18: Narrated 'Ursa: The Prophet asked Abu Bakr for 'Aisha's hand in marriage. Abu Bakr said "But I am your brother." The Prophet said, "You are my brother in Allah's religion and His Book, but she (Aisha) is lawful for me to marry."

Whoever says that Allah did not speak directly with Moses must be killed… (Ash Shifa, Tr. Aisha Abdurrahman Bewley, 2004, p 418)

On the resurrection day the unbelievers will regret when they have to carry their loads on their backs (every unjust person, upon entering his grave will meet a man with ugly face, dark skin and awful odour and wearing dirty clothes; on the resurrection day the unjust person will carry this ugly companion on his back to enter hell —ibn Kathir)… 6:31

Muslims cannot accept the present from polytheists...(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 19.3051)

Muhammad visited a dying Jew and commanded him to embrace Islam…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.20.3089)

Let us read this hadith from the print version of Sunaan Abu Dawud.

Sunaan Abu Dawud, vol. Ii, hadith number 3089: Anas said: A young Jew became ill. The Prophet (may peace be upon him) went to visit him. He sat down by his side and said to him: Accept Islam. He looked at his father who was beside him near his head, and he said: Obey Abu al-Qasim. So he accepted Islam, and the Prophet (may peace be upon him) stood up saying: Praise be to Allah. Who has saved him through me from Hell.

Allah does forgive the idolaters

Idolatry is an unforgivable crime in Islam. Islam shows no mercy to idolaters.

However, Allah's mind is too complex. At times, He does indeed forgive the idolaters. In Quran we read that Allah did forgive Moses people for reverting to shrik (idolatry).

God dazed people with thunder and lightning (miracles of God) for asking Moses to show them God in public; God forgave the calf worshippers (i.e., God forgives shrik, idolatry; also see 2:55, 56, 17:90)...4:153

YUSUFALI: The people of the Book ask thee to cause a book to descend to them from heaven: Indeed they asked Moses for an even greater (miracle), for they said: "Show us Allah in public," but they were dazed for their presumption, with thunder and lightning. Yet they worshipped the calf even after clear signs had come to them; even so we forgave them; and gave Moses manifest proofs of authority. [Q 4.153]

To complicate matters, Allah even admits that he loves the sinners (including the idolaters, perhaps). In a hadith we read:

Allah needs sinners… (Sahih Muslim 37.6620, 6622)

Sahih Muslim, Book 037, Number 6620:

Abu Sirma reported that when the time of the death of Abu Ayyub Ansari drew near, he said: I used to conceal from you a thing which I heard from Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) and I heard Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) as saying: Had you not committed sins, Allah would have brought into existence a creation that would have committed sin (and Allah) would have forgiven them.

Sahih Muslim Book 037, Number 6622:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger (may peace be upon him) having said: By Him in Whose Hand is my life, if you were not to commit sin, Allah would sweep you out of existence and He would replace (you by) those people who would commit sin and seek forgiveness from Allah, and He would have pardoned them.

The incredible mind of Allah

Here are more Islamic stuff to marvel at Allah's capriciousness.

[Too many hyperlinks are involved. So please read the appropriate hadith from the website: http://www.usc.edu/dept/MSA/reference/reference.html].

A well-dressed soul may be naked hereafter for not praying on time… (Sahih Bukhari, 1.3.115)

Do not breath while drinking water; do not touch penis in lavatory and do not cleanse private parts with your right hand...(Sahih Bukhari, 1. 4.155)

When urinating do not hold penis with your right hand…(Sahih Bukhari, 1. 4.156)

The first food for a newly-born baby (the first child born in the Islamic Land of Medina) was Muhammad's saliva...(Sahih Bukhari, 5.58.248, 249)

A dead person is punished in his grave, although the Quran says that the dead cannot hear in grave (30:52, 35:22)...(Sahih Bukhari, 5.59.316)

The best Muslims had the largest number of wives...(Sahih Bukhari, 7.62.7)

Palm tree is a good tree; it is like a Muslim…(Sahih Bukhari 7.65.359)

When you eat, do not wipe your hands until you have licked it, or had it licked by somebody else. (Sahih Bukhari 7.65.366)

If you suffer from epilepsy you will go to paradise...(Sahih Bukhari 7.70.555

A dirt-poor Muslim is better than a super-rich infidel…(Sahih Bukhari 8.76.454)

Allah will ridicule Muslims and will end Islam

Among all the irrationalities of Allah, perhaps this is the most amazing.

Muslims will diminish in number and they will go back to where they started… (Sunaan Abu Dawud, 2.19.3029)

Those Muslims who wear suits made of silk and wool, Allah will transform them into apes and pigs…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.32.4028)

People of al-Basrah will become apes and swine in the morning…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 37.4293)

Muslims will be the scum and the rubbish even though their numbers may increase; the enemy will not fear Muslims anymore. This will be because the Muslims will love world and dislike death…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 37.4284)

People will sever from Islam as an arrow goes out through the animal shot at. If you find them, kill them…(Sunaan Abu Dawud, 3.40.4746)

Islamic belief returns and goes back to Medina like a snake...(Sahih Bukhari, 3.30.100)

Muhammad's contemporaries were the best Muslims; after three generations, the Muslims will be mainly treacherous and untrustworthy… (Sahih Bukhari, 5.57.2, 3)

Muslims will be destroyed through the hands of some Quraysh young men… (Sahih Bukhari, 9.87.180)

There will be much killing during the last days of the Muslims…(Sahih Bukhari, 9.88.183)

Truly, Allah is wacky. He has a plan to obliterate the Muslims. How crazy Allah could be, come to think of this.

Conclusions

This prolix essay has made a deep probe into the very foundation of Islam—Allah and His/its nature. Numerous anecdotes, quotes, historical references, as well as many authentic hadith and Quranic verses have been used to establish that what the vast majority of Muslims believe to be true about Allah may not be true, after all. In conclusion, we may list the following points:

Muhammad was clever enough to use the pagan Arabs' Allah as his Allah, though he made certain changes to his version of Allah.

As situation dictated, Muhammad used either the anthropomorphic nature of Allah, or the amorphous nature of Allah—just to exploit and confuse the pagan Arabs. Muhammad indeed demonstrated his smartness in how to manipulate the rabble—to control their thought process by whatever means necessary.

In the beginning of his career as a professional 'prophet', Muhammad had a rather confused view of his God. He attempted to sway the Arab pagans' allegiance to him by trying several other gods, but these methods were not successful. In the end, he settled for the same Allah whom the pagans, for many centuries, had taken as their supreme deity. The only exception Muhammad made was that the pagans must not associate any other entity with his version of Allah. Allah became his own/personal copyright, we might say.

Having decided to maintain the statuesque vis-à-vis the pagan Allah, Muhammad kept intact almost all the pagan rituals, which Allah had commanded the pagans, save for the idol worshipping and perhaps the provision of jihad. Muhammad was the first (the only) prophet who propagated that killing the non-Muslims is a virtuous act and any Muslim who kills a non-Muslim will reside in Islamic paradise.

Since Muhammad designed his own Allah, it is not surprising that Allah has the similar likes and dislikes as that of Muhammad.

Since the pagans had difficulty in visualizing Muhammad's Allah, Muhammad cleverly introduced such concepts as Allah's Executive Office, His Throne, His Assistants, His Kingship and other features, which might enhance Allah's vividness.

Not surprisingly, Allah has a human-like temperament.

Allah's chauvinistic, dictatorial, racist and misogynist nature is in full conformity with Islam.

Islamic laws on business finance and personal matters are simply copies of traditions and practices of the seventh century desert Bedouin Arabs. Allah confirms this.

Muhammad is the Islamic Allah Allah is an Arab imperialist, mandating on every one on earth Arab language, Arab culture, Arab traditions Arab dress, Arab name, Arab food, Arab religion…and so on. This is Allah's Islam—the perpetuation of Arab imperialism on humankind. The history of Arab invasions, blood letting and the subjugation of many peaceful nations to this imperialist cult is the stark proof. The eminent Arab Historian, Professor Philip K. Hitti aptly wrote that the Arabs are invaders. They impose on the people of agriculture (Hitti, 2002, p 12). Please note that in this essay we have found that Allah greatly dislikes agriculture.

Final words

Using oil and Islamist terror Allah certainly wants to force Islam to the world.

Understanding Allah is the key in comprehending the Islamic mind-set and its uncontrolled taste for human blood.

This essay has been a testimony to this blood-thirsty Islamic Allah.

Jesus from Islamic tradition compared with Christianity

Jesus Christ – The Absolutely Pure and Sinless One

Remarkably, even though the Quran acknowledges that all creatures are sinners who need mercy and forgiveness, including God's prophets and messengers, it exempts Jesus from this list since it states that he was absolutely sinless from the moment of his miraculous conception!

Note what the following passage says:

> He said: I am only a messenger of your Lord: That I will give you a pure boy (ghulaman zakiyyan). S. 19:19

What follows is a series of translations and commentaries which help bring out the implication of the Arabic phrase zakiyyan.

Translations

> "… I shall bestow upon thee the gift of a son endowed with purity." Muhammad Asad
>
> "… that I may bestow on thee a faultless son." Pickthall
> "… I am assigned to grace you with the divine prerogative of procreating a son who is stamped with the character of sublimity, holiness and piety." Al-Muntakhab
> "…'I shall bestow upon you the gift of a son endowed with a spotless character…" Shabbir Ahmed
> "… I am merely a messenger from your Lord to tell you about the gift of a holy son." Farook Malik

The above translations were taken from the following online source.

Commentaries

Al-Tabari [10th Century AD]

> "… A child who is zakiyyan is one who is pure from sins…"

Al Baghawi [12th Century AD]

> {… zakiyyan} a righteous son who is pure from sins.

Ar-Razi [13th Century AD]

> "… One who is zakiyy provides the following intentions: First, that he is pure from sins. Second, that he will grow in purity (be a testimonial)[1]…Third, integrity and purity…"

[1] This is the insertion of the translator in order to help clarify the meaning of the Arabic intended here.

Ibn Al-Jawzi [13th Century AD]

{… zakiyyan} pure from sins.

Al-Baydawi [14th Century AD]

{zakiyyan} pure from sins…

Al-Khazin [14th Century AD]

{… zakiyyan} Ibn Abbas said: a righteous son who is pure from sins.

Sayed Qutub [20th Century AD]

"… a boy who is undefiled in his birth and reputation."

Analysis of the Data

It is crystal clear from both the translations and commentaries that we looked at that the Quran depicts the Lord Jesus as being spiritually pure, and therefore free from all sin, throughout his entire earthly life beginning from his conception in his blessed mother's womb. In fact, the Quran records the alleged prayer of Jesus' maternal grandmother where she invokes Allah to protect Mary and her glorious Son from the accursed Satan:

> But when she was delivered of it, she said, `My Lord, I am delivered of a female,' - and ALLAH knew best of what she was delivered and the male she desired to have was not like the female she was delivered of - `and I have named her Mary, and I commit her and her offspring to Thy protection from Satan, the rejected. S. 3:36 Sher Ali

Muhammad not only taught that Allah supposedly honored her invocation, he even went as far as to explain the manner in which her request was answered:

(1) (V .3 :36) Maryam… literally means: maidservant of Allah.

(2) (V .3 :36)…

(2) CHAPTER. "…And I seek refuge with You (Allah) for her and her offspring from Shaitan (Satan), the outcast." (V .3 :36)

Narrated Sa'id bin Al-Musaiyab: Abu Hurairah said, "The Prophet said, 'No child is born but that, Shaitan (Satan) touches it when it is born, whereupon it starts crying loudly because of being touched by Shaitan, except Mary and her son.'" Abu Hurairah then said, "Recite, if you wish: '…And I seek refuge with You (Allah) for her and her offspring from Shaitan, the outcast.'" (V .3 :36) [Sahih Al-Bukhari, 6/4548 (O. P. 71)]. (Interpretation of the Meanings of the Noble Qur'an In the English Language, by Dr. Muhammad Taqi-ud-Din Al-Hilali and Dr. Muhammad Muhsin Khan [Darussalam Publishers & Distributors, Riyadh, Lahore, Houston, New York, First edition: January 2000], Part 1: From Surah 1 to 5, pp. 230-231; bold and underline emphasis ours)

And:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger as saying: The Satan touches every son of Adam on the day when his mother gives birth to him with the exception of Mary and her son. (Sahih Muslim, Book 030, Number 5838)

Finally:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger as saying: The mother of every person gives him birth according to his true nature. It is subsequently his parents who make him a Jew or a Christian or a Magian. Had his parents been Muslim he would have also remained a Muslim. Every person to whom his mother gives birth (has two aspects of his life); when his mother gives birth Satan strikes him but it was not the case with Mary and her son (Jesus Christ). (Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6429)

Allah granted the request of Jesus' grandmother by making him and his blessed mother the only human beings that Satan could not touch upon their births! And since Muhammad clearly affirmed that Jesus and his mother are the only exceptions, this means that Satan was permitted to touch and harm Muhammad at the time of his birth!

This next hadith further highlights Jesus' uniqueness and exalted status, especially in relation to the prophets of God and Muhammad himself:

> 4435. It is related that Abu Hurayra said, "The Messenger of Allah was given some meat and was offered the leg, which he liked, and ate some of it. Then he said, 'I will be the master of people on the Day of Rising. Do you know what that will entail? Allah will gather people, the first and the last on the same plain so that an observer will be able to see them and a speaker make them hear. The sun will be brought near to them and people will experience such sorrow and distress that they will not be able to bear or endure it. The people will say, 'Do you not see what has come to you? Why do you not look for someone to intercede with your Lord on your behalf?' People will say to one another, 'You must have Adam!' They will come to Adam, peace be upon him, and say, 'You are the father of mankind. Allah created you with His hand and breathed some of His spirit into you and He ordered the angels to prostrate to you. He made you dwell in the Garden. Will you not intercede with your Lord on our behalf? Do you not see what we are suffering?' Adam will say, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again. He forbade me the Tree and I disobeyed. O my soul! My soul! My soul! Go to someone else. Go to Nuh.'
> "They will go to Nuh and say, 'O Nuh! You are the first of the Messengers to be sent to the people of the earth and Allah called you a thankful slave. Intercede with your Lord on our behalf Do you not see what has happened to us?' He will say, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again. I made a supplication on behalf of my people. O my soul! My soul! My soul! Go to someone else! Go to Ibrahim.'

"They will go to Ibrahim and say, 'O Ibrahim! You are the Prophet of Allah and His close friend among the people of the earth. Intercede with your Lord on our behalf. Do you not see what we are suffering?' He will say to them, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again. I told three lies (And Abu Hayyan mentioned them in the hadith.). O my soul! My soul! My soul! Go to someone else. Go to Musa.'

"They will go to Musa and say, 'O Musa, you are the Messenger of Allah. Allah preferred you with His message and His Word above all other people. Intercede with your Lord for us. Do you not see what we are suffering?' He will say, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again. I killed a soul which I was not commanded to kill. Go to someone else. Go to 'Isa.'

"They will go to 'Isa and say, 'O 'Isa! You are the Messenger of Allah and His Word which He cast to Maryam and a spirit from Him. You spoke to people while in the cradle. Intercede with your Lord on our behalf. Do you not see what we are suffering?' 'Isa will say, 'My Lord is angry today with such anger as has never existed before nor will again,' and he did not mention a sin. 'O my soul! My soul! My soul! Go to someone else. Go to Muhammad.'

"They will come to me and say, 'O Muhammad! You are the Messenger of Allah and the Seal of the Prophets. Allah has forgiven you your past and future wrong actions. Intercede with your Lord on our behalf. Do you not see what we are suffering?' I will go and arrive under the Throne and fall down in prostration to my Lord, the Mighty and Exalted…" (Aisha Bewley, The Sahih Collection of al-Bukhari, Chapter 68. Book of Tafsir; bold and underline emphasis ours)

Despite Muhammad's attempt to elevate himself above God's true prophets, what he says here only further highlight Jesus' superiority since he is again portrayed as the only one from among God's messengers that is absolutely sinless.

The Implications of the Data

Recall that in the first part of our discussion we quoted certain Muslim apologists who claimed that man was created weak and frail, which makes it impossible for them to be morally perfect or sinless. We then cited passages from the Quran to show that all creatures are sinful in the sight of Allah.

Here is another Quranic verse which makes this very point:

> And were Allah to punish men for what they earn, He would not leave on the back of it any creature, but He respites them till an appointed term; so when their doom shall come, then surely Allah is Seeing with respect to His servants. S. 35:45

Note how the following version renders this text:

> If Allah took mankind to task by that which they deserve, He would not leave a living creature on the surface of the earth; but He reprieveth them unto an appointed term, and when their term cometh – then verily (they will know that) Allah is ever Seer of His slaves. Pickthall

This now places Muslims in a dilemma since the logical implication of the Quran's position regarding the imperfect condition of creation is that anyone who is morally perfect cannot be a creature. Therefore, for Jesus to be absolutely sinless he cannot be a creature, and if he isn't a creature then he must be God!

A Muslim may interject at this point and argue that the Quran does not assert that all creatures are imperfect, but only those that live upon the earth, since angels always obey their lord and are therefore basically sinless.

There are two main problems with this claim. First, this objection would end up proving that Jesus is actually an angelic being that became human, which is why he was completely pure and sinless. As such, this still leaves us with a Jesus that is much more than a mere human being.

Secondly, and more importantly, the Quran nowhere suggests that angels are morally perfect but actually teaches the exact opposite. The Muslim scripture records instances where angels are depicted as being anything but sinless:

> And when your Lord said to the angels, I am going to place in the earth a khalif, t*hey said: What! wilt Thou place in it such as shall make mischief in it and shed blood, and we celebrate Thy praise and extol Thy holiness? He said: Surely I know what you do not know*. And He taught Adam all the names, then presented them to the angels; then He said: Tell me the names of those if you are right. They said: Glory be to Thee! we have no knowledge but that which Thou hast taught us; surely Thou art the Knowing, the Wise. He said: O Adam! inform them of their names. Then when he had informed them of their names, He said: Did I not say to you that I surely know what is ghaib in the heavens and the earth and (that) I know what you manifest and what you hide? S. 2:30-33

The above passage presents the entire angelic host as calling into question Allah's decision to create mankind who would wreak havoc upon the earth. This means that the angels sinned against Allah since they doubted his wisdom and judgment, thereby displaying a complete lack of trust and confidence in him.

Here is another example of angels committing sins against their creator:

> And they followed what the Shaitans chanted of sorcery in the reign of Sulaiman, and Sulaiman was not an unbeliever, but the Shaitans disbelieved, they taught men sorcery and that was sent down to the two angels at Babel, Harut and Marut, yet these two taught no man until they had said, "Surely we are only a trial, therefore do not be a disbeliever." Even then men learned from these two, magic by which they might cause a separation between a man and his wife; and they cannot hurt with it any one except with Allah's permission, and they learned what harmed them and did not profit them, and certainly they know that he who bought it should have no share of good in the hereafter and evil was the price for which they sold their souls, had they but known this. S. 2:102

Here we have a tale of two angels named Harut and Marut that supposedly came down to the earth in order to teach mankind evil practices such as magic and divorce!

These two examples demonstrate that the Quran does not support the notion of angels being sinless. This establishes that there is no creature anywhere that is morally perfect according to the Islamic scripture.

As such, this brings us back to our initial argument, namely, that Jesus cannot be a creature but must be eternal according to the Quran's own logic, seeing that it teaches that he is perfectly sinless and absolutely pure. And yet in order for Christ to be eternal he has to be God since God alone is eternal, uncreated!

Note how this works out logically:

A. All creatures sin and are therefore imperfect.
B. Jesus is sinless and therefore morally perfect.
C. Therefore, Jesus cannot be a creature but must be eternal.

D.However, Jesus can only be eternal if he is God since there is no other being besides God that is eternal.

There is simply no way around this argument, which means that Muslims are faced with a major contradiction within their own scripture since the Quran denies that Jesus is God or Allah (cf. Q. 5:17, 72; 43:57-59).

We will leave it to the Muslims to try to solve this dilemma that Muhammad's contradictory teachings have put them in.

Christ – The Life-Giver

More Quranic Proof that Jesus is Equal to Allah

The Quran repeatedly affirms that Allah is the one who is able to heal and give life to the dead:

> And when you slew a soul and cast the blame upon one another regarding it–and God is the discloser of what you were concealing–We said, "Strike him with part of it." Thus does God give life to the dead and show you His signs, that haply you may understand. S. 2:72-73
> Hast thou not considered him who disputeth with Abraham about his Lord because God had given him sovereignty? When > Abraham said, "My Lord gives life and causes death," he said, "I give life and cause death." Abraham said, "Truly God brings the sun from the east. Bring it, then, from the west." Thus was he who disbelieved confounded. And God guides not wrongdoing people. S. 2:258

> Only those who hear will respond. As for the dead, God will resurrect them, and unto Him they shall be returned. S. 6:36
> "For they are all enemies unto me, save the Lord of the worlds, Who created me, and guides me, and Who feeds me and gives me drink, and Who, when I am ill, heals me, and Who causes me to die, then gives me life, and Who I hope will forgive me my sins on the Day of Judgment." S. 26:77-82
> Truly We give life to the dead and record that which they have sent forth and that which they left behind. And We have counted all things in a clear registry. S. 36:12

The Quran further censures individuals for worshiping beings that cannot create, and who have no power to give life and/or resurrect the dead:

> But they have taken gods apart from Him, who create naught and are themselves created, and who have no power over what harm or benefit may come to themselves, and who have no power over death, or life, or resurrection. S. 25:3

This assumes that creating and giving life are divine prerogatives, and therefore in order for anyone to be truly divine s/he must have the power to carry out these divine functions.

This is where it gets rather interesting. According to the Quran, there is only one other Person who possessed the ability to create, give life and resurrect the dead… Jesus Christ!

> And [he will be] a messenger to the Children of Israel, "Truly I have brought you a sign from your Lord. I WILL CREATE for you out of clay the shape of a bird. Then I will breathe into it, and it will be a bird by God's Leave. And I will heal the blind and the leper AND GIVE LIFE TO THE DEAD by God's Leave. And I will inform you about what you eat and what you store up in your houses. Truly in that is a sign for you, I you are believers." S. 3:49

And:

Then God will say, "O Jesus son of Mary! Remember My Blessing upon thee, when I strengthened thee with the Holy Spirit, that thou mightest speak to people in the cradle and in maturity; and when I taught thee the Book, Wisdom, the Torah, and the Gospel; and how didst CREATE out of clay the shape of a bird, by My Leave, and thou wouldst breathe into it, and it would become a bird, by My Leave; and thou wouldst heal the blind and the leper, by My Leave, AND THOU WOULDST BRING FORTH THE DEAD, by My Leave; and how I restrained the Children of Israel from thee, when thou didst bring them clear proofs, and those who disbelieved among them said, 'This is naught but manifest sorcery.'" S. 5:110

These texts echo some of the very miracles that the Gospels proclaim that the Lord Jesus himself performed, and even appealed to, when the disciples of John the Baptist came to ask if he was the One that was expected to come:

"And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in that same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight. Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached*. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me." Luke 7:19-23

What makes Jesus' miracles so astonishing is that Christ performs the very signs and wonders that the OT says God would one day perform when he comes to dwell with his people!

"The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose. It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing: the glory of Lebanon shall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God. Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not: behold, your God will come with vengeance, even God with a recompence; he will come and save you. Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped. Then shall the lame man leap as an hart, and the tongue of the dumb sing: for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert." Isaiah 35:1-6

This is also what makes these Quranic verses rather remarkable. The Quran has Christ creating life and raising the dead in the exact way that Allah does, a fact that even Muslim scholars acknowledge:

"… His creating live birds out of clay birds, healing the blind and the leper, and raising the dead are likewise recounted in 3:49 (for blind and leper, see 3:49c). These last three miraculous powers attributed to Jesus are EXTRAORDINARY in that THEY SUGGEST POWERS USUALLY RESERVED FOR GOD; God is the one who heals (26:8 [sic]); He is the raiser of the dead throughout the Quran: and the creation of birds from clay and bringing them to life by breathing upon them IS EXACTLY PARALLEL TO GOD'S CREATION OF THE HUMAN BEING (15:26-29; 32:7-9; 38:71-72). The verse > repeatedly makes clear, however, that all these powers are done by God's leave (by My Leave) and so are ultimately His. Jesus' ability to heal and power to raise the dead are also found in the canonical Gospels, and a similar account of Jesus' creating birds from clay is given in the noncanonical Infancy Gospel of Thomas." (The Study Quran: A New Translation and Commentary, Seyyed Hossein Nasr (editor-in-chief) [HarperOne, 2015], p. 334)

The attempt to diminish Jesus' ability to perform exclusively divine functions is unconvincing for the following reasons.

First, the phrase "God's Leave" need not mean that Jesus was given the power to carry out these amazing feats. Rather, this expression can simply mean that Allah or God gave Jesus the permission to exercise his intrinsic divine authority to perform these miraculous signs and wonders. Note, for instance, how the following verse employs this phrase:

> Whosoever is an enemy of Gabriel: he it is who sent it down upon thy heart by God's Leave, confirming that which was there before, and as a guidance and glad tiding for the believers. S. 2:97

It is clear from the context that "by God's Leave" means here that Gabriel had to first receive permission from Allah before he could bring down portions of the Quran to Muhammad. As such, the expression doesn't mean that Gabriel was given the ability to descend or ascend, but rather the permission to do so. In a similar manner, Jesus had to first receive permission from God to perform miracles, since he had come to do God's will, not his own.

This is precisely what the Holy Bible teaches, namely, Christ could not and did not act independently from God, but only did whatever the Father commanded him:

> "Then said Jesus unto them, When ye have lifted up the Son of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of myself; but as my Father hath taught me, I speak these things. And he that sent me is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always those things that please him." John 8:28-29

"For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak." John 12:49-50

"But that the world may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me commandment, even so I do. Arise, let us go hence." John 14:31

And yet because he is the divine Son, Christ could do everything that the Father does in the exact same way that the Father does it:

"The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus, which had made him whole. And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day. But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken the sabbath, but said also that God was his Father, making himself equal with God. Then answered Jesus and said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, The Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do: for what things soever he doeth, these also doeth the Son likewise. For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him all things that himself doeth: and he will shew him greater works than these, that ye may marvel. For as the Father raiseth up the dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will. For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son: That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life. Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead SHALL HEAR THE VOICE OF THE SON OF GOD: and they that hear shall live. For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself; And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man. Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves SHALL HEAR HIS [THE SON'S] VOICE, And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation. I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me." John 5:15-30

"For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me. And this is the Father's will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath given me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up again at the last day. And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life: and I will raise him up at the last day." John 6:38-40

Christ claims the power to give life and raise the dead in the same way that the Father does, and demands to receive the same exact honor that the Father receives, since he is the beloved Son and divine Judge who shall determine the eternal destiny of every single individual.

The truly astonishing part about all this is that Jesus claims to be the One who will resurrect the dead from their graves by the power of his voice at the last hour, a feat which the Quran ascribes to God alone!

That is because God is the Truth, and because He gives life to the dead, and because He is Powerful over all things, and because the Hour is coming, in which there is no doubt in it, and because God will resurrect whosoever is in the graves. S. 22:6-7

As if this wasn't amazing enough, Christ also said that he is the Truth, the Resurrection and the Life, the very names and titles that Islam ascribes to God/Allah. Jesus even resurrected a man who had been dead for four days as a means of providing supernatural, divine validation for these mind-blowing claims:

"Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again. Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day. Jesus said unto her, I AM THE RESURRECTION, AND THE LIFE: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this? She saith unto him, Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world… Jesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha, the sister of him that was dead, saith unto him, Lord, by this time he stinketh: for he hath been dead four days. Jesus saith unto her, Said I not unto thee, that, if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God? Then they took away the stone from the place where the dead was laid. And Jesus lifted up his eyes, and said, Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me. And I knew that thou hearest me ALWAYS: but because of the people which stand by I said it, that they may believe that thou hast sent me. And when he thus had spoken, he cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come forth. And he that was dead came forth, bound hand and foot with graveclothes: and his face was bound about with a napkin. Jesus saith unto them, Loose him, and let him go." John 11:23-27, 39-44

> "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. And whither I go ye know, and the way ye know. Thomas saith unto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how can we know the way? Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, THE TRUTH, AND THE LIFE: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:1-6

The second problem with the Muslim objection is that this still leaves Muslims with the inescapable fact that Allah deliberately took Jesus to be his partner by permitting him to share in his unique power to create life and raise the dead. In so doing, Allah basically ended up committing the very transgression that the Muslim scripture says shall never be forgiven:

> Truly God forgives not that any partner be ascribed unto Him, but He forgives what is less than that for whomsoever He will, whosoever ascribes partners unto God has surely fabricated a tremendous sin. S. 4:48 – cf. Q. 4:116; 2:22; 39:65

Now this creates a major dilemma for Muslims since they must either accept that their own deity is guilty of shirk, seeing that he has taken a creature to be an associate and partner in his own divinity. Or they have to concede the fact that Jesus cannot be a mere creature, but must also be truly divine, which explains why he is able to create and give life in the exact same way that Allah does so.

Therefore, whatever answer a Muslim chooses there is simply no way for them to get around the fact that the Quran indisputably ascribes to Jesus the same divine power that Allah possesses to create life and resurrect the dead.

Interestingly, the Islamic sources report that even at the time of Muhammad Christians were appealing to these very Quranic texts to prove that Jesus must be God (in essence) and the Son of God (the Father):

> The names of the fourteen principal men among the sixty riders were: 'Abdu'l-Masih the 'Aqib, al-Ayham the Sayyid; Abu Haritha b. 'Alqama brother of B. Bakr b. Wa'il; Aus; al-Harith; Zayd; Qays; Yazid; Nubayh; Khuwaylid; 'Amr; Khalid; 'Abdullah; Johannes; of these the first three named above spoke to the apostle. They were Christians according to the Byzantine rite, though they differed among themselves in some points, saying He is God; and He is the son of God; and He is the third person of the Trinity, which is the doctrine of Christianity. They argue that he is God because he used to raise the dead, and heal the sick, and declare the unseen; and make clay birds and then breathe into them so that they flew away;[2] and all this was by the command of God Almighty, 'We will make him a sign to men.'[3] They argue that he is the son of God in that they say he had no known father; and he spoke in the cradle and this is something that no child of Adam has ever done. They argue that he is the third of three in that God says: We have done, We have commanded, We have created and We have decreed, and they say, If He were one he would have said I have done, I have created, and soon, but He is He and Jesus and Mary. Concerning all these assertions the Quran came down.
> When the two divines spoke to him the apostle said to them, 'Submit yourselves.'[1] They said, 'We have submitted.' He said: 'You have not submitted, so submit.' They said, 'Nay, but we submitted before you.' He said, 'You lie. Your assertion that God has a son, your worship of the cross, and your eating pork hold you back from submission.' They said, 'But who is his father, Muhammad?' The apostle was silent and did not answer them…

It is obvious that the sirah has grossly misrepresented what these Christians actually believed about the Trinity, since no informed Byzantine Christian would have argued that Jesus is the third of three, with God and Mary being the other two members of this triad.

Nevertheless, the sirah shows that the Quran's depiction of Christ posed serious problems for Muslims from the very beginning, since Christians were using these statements to prove that Jesus is the divine Son of God who is coequal in essence to Father, and they were right.

The reality is that this is simply another case of Muhammad adopting specific Christian beliefs about Jesus, without realizing the serious problems this would raise for his express denial of the divinity of Christ. Muhammad's affirming that Jesus possessed the divine ability to create life and resurrect the dead, as well as having the power to heal various infirmities and diseases, directly conflicts with his assertion that Christ was no more than a human messenger like the messengers that preceded him (cf. Q. 5:75; 43:59).

THE TITLES OF JESUS IN THE Qur'an AND THE BIBLE

by

JOHN GILCHRIST

TITLES OF JESUS IN THE Qur'an

1- The Messiah
2- The Word of God
3- A Spirit from God

TITLES OF JESUS IN THE BIBLE

1- The Son of Man
2- The Son of God

TITLES OF JESUS IN THE Qur'an

Jesus is defined in the Qur'an as a messenger and a prophet no different nor superior to all the other messengers who went before him. The Qur'an expressly denies the Christian beliefs about Jesus that make him pre-eminent among men and it is known in the Christian world primarily for its denials that Jesus is the Son of God and that he was crucified.

Nevertheless, while the denials in the book are very emphatic, the positive teaching about the person and life of Jesus is considerably vague and indeed strangely mysterious. For much of the teaching in the Qur'an about Jesus really appears to be far more Christian than Muslim in content and emphasis. Many of the admissions it makes about the features of his life, far from supporting the bare denials of the Qur'an about his deity and the Christian belief that he is the Son of God, tend rather to strongly uphold these Christian beliefs. (Many of these features have already been thoroughly examined in "The Uniqueness of Jesus in the Qur'an and the Bible" in this series. In this booklet the emphasis has been placed solely on some of the titles which the Qur'an gives to Jesus).

Whereas the Qur'an concedes unique features in the life of Jesus that are not in any way adequately explained in the book, but which clearly imply that he is the Son of God and that he came to earth to die for the sins of men, so it also awards certain eminent titles to Jesus alone which are also not explained and which in no small measure also strengthen Christian belief about Jesus.

No sincere Muslim can study the teaching of the Qur'an about Jesus without honestly feeling that there is more to this man that meets the eye and that the assertion that he was no different to other messengers is not supported by the evidence the Qur'an concedes to the Bible.

Jesus is given many titles in the Qur'an but only three will be treated in this booklet. The reason for this is twofold. In the first place, the three titles referred to are applied to j alone. Secondly, all three of these titles appear in one short passage where the Qur'an bluntly denies that Jesus is deity and that he is the Son of God. This makes it possible to study the meaning of these three titles right in the very context of the basic teaching of the Qur'an that Jesus was only a messenger like those who went before him. The passage is:

"O People of the Scripture! Do not exaggerate in your religion nor utter aught concerning Allah save the truth. The Messiah, Jesus son of Mary, was only a messenger of Allah, and His word which He conveyed unto Mary, and a spirit from Him. So believe in Allah and his messengers and say not "Three" - Cease! it is better for you! - Allah is only One God. Far is it removed from his transcendent majesty that He should have a son". (Surah 4:171)

As strongly as anywhere else in the Qur'an the Christian belief that Jesus is the Son of God is here denied. But in this same passage Jesus is given three titles, however, which are majestic, exalted and splendid and are of supreme importance because they are applied to Jesus alone. Let us consider them in the order in which they appear.

Back to Top

1. THE MESSIAH (Al-Masih)

Jesus alone is called the Messiah in the Qur'an. Eleven times he is given this title and occasionally he is referred to solely by this title without being referred to by name. No explanation of the title is given in the Qur'an. What is of interest, however, is that Jesus is chiefly called the Messiah in passages that are alleged to have been revealed to Muhammad at Medina after the Hijra.

The title Messiah is extremely relevant to both the Christian and Jewish religions. The Jews, in their holy scriptures, have an abundance of prophecies of one glorious Savior to come who is called the Messiah (Daniel 9:25), the anointed one, and they have long awaited his coming. At the time of Jesus this Messianic expectancy reached its peak but after the destruction of Jerusalem forty years after the ascension of Jesus this hope waned among the Jews.

To the Christians, Jesus is the promised Messiah. He said he was in no uncertain terms. (John 4:25-26) The Jews in his time could not perceive that Jesus was the Messiah because they had expected a military leader who would drive out all foreign powers from the land of the Jews and set up a kingdom in Israel which would possess world-wide authority. But the Messiah came "not to be served, but to serve, and to give his life a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28).

In Hebrew the word Messiah means "the Anointed One". It can, in a lesser sense, refer to any priest or anointed leader and occasionally the expression is used in this context in the Jewish Scriptures. But it became in time a title for the one who was to come, the final herald of God's salvation, the Redeemer of the world.

Significantly the title only appears in the Qur'an after Muhammad has made some contact with the Jews and Christians of Arabia. Clearly Qur'anic use of the title is linked to Jewish and Christian beliefs about the Messiah. Therefore, we must go into Jewish expectations and Christian beliefs about the Jewish and Christian beliefs about the Messiah to find out what the title means.

At this stage, however, we must ask whether this title Messiah has any meaning that makes the one who holds the title in any way superior to the other great prophets of God. In Surah 4:171 it is said that the Messiah is "only a messenger" but to both the Jews and the Christians the Messiah is a man who is the greatest among men, one possessed of regality, majesty, excellence and splendour for above that of all other men. He is unique in his glory and there is no one to compare with him.

By offering no explanation of this title, the Qur'an is at the same time making no contest against the accepted longstanding beliefs of the Jews and Christians about the Messiah. To both he is far more than just a messenger. The title in Jewish and Christian scriptural usage clearly implies greatness of such a degree that all the true messengers of God will ultimately bow to him in homage and obeisance. By admitting the Christian contention that Jesus is the Messiah, the Qur'an is in fact implying that he is the ultimate man of glory in human history and that the is the one who is the final expression of the revelation of God to men.

Nevertheless we cannot even stop here for we find in the Bible that, to both Jews and Christians, the title Messiah is in fact synonymous with the title Son of God. In these circumstances it is rather amazing to find that the Qur'an calls Jesus the Messiah and denies that he is the Son of God in the same breath. Let us examine some of the test in the Bible that show that the expressions Messiah and Son of God are synonymous. (The word "Christ" means "Messiah" and as we have been consistently referring to the "Messiah" and have been quoting from a Muslim translation of the Qur'an which uses the word Messiah rather than Christ which is used by other Muslim translators, we shall continue to do so).

a) Jewish believers in Jesus called him both the Messiah and the Son of God, Simon Peter was the first to do so:

> "You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God". (Matthew 16:16)

Martha also used the two titles simultaneously in her expression of belief in Jesus.

> "I believe that you are the Messiah, the Son of God, he who is coming into the world". (John 11:27)

b) The High Priest of the Jews used the titles simultaneously with one another asking Jesus if he was the Messiah.

> "I adjure you, by the living God, tell us if you are the Messiah, the Son of God". (Matthew 26:63)

c) The early Christians used the titles synonymously with one another as well in various contexts:

> "The beginning of the gospel of Jesus the Messiah, the Son of God". (Mark 1:1)

> "These are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Messiah the Son of God and that believing you may have life in his name". (John 20:31)

d) Even the demons did so as well when they spoke to Jesus:

> "And demons also came out of many, crying, "You are the Son of God!! But he rebuked them, and would not allow them to speak, because they knew that he was the Messiah". (Luke 4:41)

From these many texts we can see that the Messiah is no less than Son of God himself. This is no ordinary title - it is a title of the highest eminence and only the Son of God could exclusively claim the title of Messiah for himself according to the expectations of the Jews and the teachings of the prophets who preceded him.

By admitting that Jesus is the Messiah and by confirming his own emphatic declaration to this effect (John 4:25-26), the Qur'an has given Jesus a title which implies nothing less than that he is indeed the Son of God.

2. THE WORD OF GOD (Kalimatullah)

Jesus is also called "His word" in Surah 4:171, meaning the Word of God. In Surah 3:45 we also read that the angels said to Mary "Allah giveth thee glad tidings of a word from Him, whose name is the Messiah, Jesus, the son of Mary". More than once in the Qur'an, therefore, Jesus is called God's Word. He is also called the Word of God in the Bible.

"He is clad in a robe dipped in blood, and the name by which he is called is The Word of God". (Revelation 19:13)

Once again, therefore, Jesus is given a title in the Qur'an which the Bible gives him as well. Like the title Messiah this is a very distinctive and exalted title. Whether we take it in its actual Biblical form, "The Word of God", or in its actual Qur'anic forms, "a Word from God" and "God's Word", two things are strikingly and abundantly clear. Jesus himself, in his actual person, is the Word; and the source, origin and the fountainhead of the Word is God.

As with the title Messiah, the Qur'an gives no explanation of the title. Nevertheless, in seeking to reconcile it with the Qur'anic assertion that Jesus was only a messenger, Muslim commentators generally have claimed that Jesus is called the Word of God solely in accordance with the teaching in the Qur'an that he was created in the womb of a virgin-woman by the Word of God:

> "She said: My Lord!! How can I have a child when no mortal hath touched me? He said: So it will be. Allah > createth what He will, if He decreeth a thing, He saith unto it only; Be! and it is." (Surah 3:47)

By the single word of God "Be", it is alleged that Jesus was created and from this verse Muslim commentators have concluded that this is why Jesus is called the Word of God. It is a convenient but inadequate conclusion. According to that verse, this is how anything is created by God. But Jesus alone receives the title Word of God and its unique character must compel us to reject this theory as over-simplistic. Secondly it is exposed further as being an insufficient answer to the question of its meaning by a simple consideration of a similar statement just twelve verses later in the same Surah:

> "Lo! the likeness of Jesus with Allah is as the likeness of Adam, He created him from dust, then He said unto him, Be! and he is". (Surah 3:59)

Once again it is said of Jesus that he was created by God purely through the expression "Be" but this time it is said that "the likeness of Jesus with Allah is as the likeness of Adam", implying that both were made by the single word of God "Be" in the same way. If Jesus is called the Word of God purely as a result of the manner of his conception, then Adam too must be the Word of God for according to the Qur'an they were both created in the same manner. Now a real difficulty arises because Adam is not called the Word of God in the Qur'an. Nor are the angels, nor is any other creature so called in the Qur'an. Jesus alone is called the Word of God.

The very exceptional nature of the title, by which Jesus is distinguished from all other men and all creatures, demands that there is some other meaning and significance behind it. The very fact that the title is given to Jesus alone in both the Qur'an and the Bible clearly shows that there is something about the person of Jesus that makes him the Word of God in a way in which no other man or creature can compare. Jesus himself is called the Word of God and the title relates to his person and not to any feature or circumstance of his life.

As mentioned earlier, one of the distinctive features of this title is the emphasis of deity as the source of the person who bears it. The Word is from God. And the title Word implies that he is the communication and revelation, in his own person, of God to men. The Word of God is one who indeed is actively the real manifestation of God to men. To know him is to know God. He does not merely bring the religion and words of God to men, he himself is the word and revelation of God, Jesus himself made this clear when he said:

> "He who has seen me has seen the Father". (John 14:9)

Let us now turn to the plain teaching of the Bible about Jesus as the Word of God. The prologue to the Gospel of John gives us a clear explanation of the title:

> "In the beginning was the Word. And the Word was with God. And the Word was God. He was in the beginning with God. All things were made through him and without him was not anything made that was made". (John 1:1-3)

To emphasize strongly that Jesus himself is the Word of God and not that God's word is somehow related to him as is suggested by the major Muslim commentators, let us briefly paraphrase those two verses:

In the beginning before God ever began to create, the Word already existed. Far from being part of the created order, the Word was in the realm of God and indeed the very nature of the Word was that of God. When God first began to fashion the created order, the Word already existed in the divine order. He himself was not created but all other things were created by God through him as agent, indeed as the very Word of God. Because he alone is the Word of God, and is therefore the sole means of communication between God and his creatures, nothing was created without being created by and through him. (John 1:1-2)

The clear teaching of the Bible is that Jesus existed as the Word of God before God ever created anything and that he is therefore deity. But then the Word of God became the man Jesus, the son of Mary.

> "And the Word became flesh, and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth". (John 1:14)

Jesus is the Word of God not because of any intervention by God at his conception nor by any other circumstances. He always was, from all eternity, the Word of God before he took on human flesh and became the man Jesus, the son of Mary.

Every prophet of God has been a messenger but only Jesus is the Word of God. The distinction comes out in this contrast; whereas every prophet only delivered the words of God when proclaiming God's message, Jesus at all times spoke the words of God. In private conversation with their friends, for example, the prophets spoke their own words and we accordingly distinguish between the prophet's own words in normal conversation and the words of God which the prophets spoke at various intervals whenever bidden to do so by God. But Jesus is the Word of God and every word he spoke - whether in teaching or in private conversation - was God's work. There was no distinction between the words of Jesus and the words of God. This is abundantly clear from the teaching of Jesus himself:

> "I have not spoken on my own authority, but the Father who sent me has given me commandment what to say and what to speak. And I know that his commandment is eternal life. What I say, therefore, I say as the Father has bidden me". (John 12:49-50)

> "The words that I say to you I do not speak on my own authority, but the Father who dwells in me does his works." (John 14:10)

The words which Jesus spoke were not the words of a man but of God. Yet because Jesus himself is the Word of God, he could quite justifiably call them his own words. This is something no other prophet could do. No one else could say that his own words were the words of God. See how Jesus speaks of his words as his own and yet also as the words of God.

> "He who does not love me does not keep my words, and the word which you hear is not mine but the Father's who sent me". (John 14:24)

Again, whereas Jesus often proclaimed that nothing he said was on his own authority (as we have seen) but that every word he spoke was God's, yet because he is the Word of God he could quite rightly claim then as his own.

> "Truly, truly, I say to you, he who hears my word and believes him sent me, has eternal life; he does not come into judgment, but has passed from death to life". (John 5:24)

> "If you continue in my word, you are truly my disciples, and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free". (John 8:31)

> "If I know that you have but little power, and yet you have kept my word and have not denied my name". (Revelation 3:8)

Nevertheless not only does Jesus on every occasion speak of God's words as his own because he is the Word of God, but he himself, being himself the Word of God, is the final, ultimate and complete revelation of God to men.

> "He is the image of the invisible God, the first-born of all creation for in him all things were created, in heaven and on earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or dominions or principalities or authorities - all things were created through him and for him. He is before all things and in him all things hold together. He is the head of the body, the church; he is the beginning, the first-born from the dead, that in everything he might be pre-eminent. For in him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell". (Colossians 1:15-19)

So we see that far from being only a messenger of God, that is, one who receives an independent message from God, Jesus himself is the message of God and there is accordingly no independence between God and his Word. This is why Jesus alone is the unique Word of God. He is not a created messenger, he is the eternal Word of God. Other men are made from the dust - this man is from God. Other men return to the dust - this man returned to God.

At this stage we are constrained to say that we Christians do not really see where we are exaggerating in our religion as the Qur'an suggests in the passage under review (Surah 4:171). Because we believe that Jesus is the Son of God, we are supposedly exaggerating in our belief in him and yet, in that very same passage, the Qur'an calls Jesus the Messiah which implies fundamentally that he is the Son of God. But now we come across the title Word of God which, to all intents and purposes, is really more emphatic and suggestive of deity than the title Son of God.

The latter title at least implies some limitation and submission on the part of its bearer - a son is subject to his father - but the title Word of God implies no such limitation. By itself it clearly implies that its bearer is the express image of the invisible God and only the latter, title Son of God implies some submission on his part to the Father. The Qur'an denounces Christians for believing that Jesus is the Son of God and yet, in the very same breath, gives him the title Word of God which is as indicative of deity on the title Son of God. There is really no meaningful difference between the titles. Quite where we are exaggerating in our religion is not at all clear to us! So we see that the first two titles in Surah 4:171 that we have considered, i.e. Messiah and Word of God far from supporting the suggestion that Jesus is "only a messenger", in fact heavily reinforce the Christian belief that Jesus is the Word and Son of God incarnate. But let us press on now to the third title in Surah 4:171.

Back to Top

3. A SPIRIT FROM GOD (Ruhullah).

This third title is very little different from the second one for once again the title belongs to Jesus alone and God again is the source of the Spirit as he was the source of the Word. (It is sometimes said of Adam that God breathed something of his spirit into him but this must be carefully distinguished from the title Spirit of God which is given to Jesus alone.) Jesus is his Word and his Spirit. This title is also not explained in the Qur'an but frankly supports the Christian belief that Jesus was not a creature made out of dust but an eternal spirit who took on human form.

In this case, however, we do find some evidence in the Qur'an that helps us to identify the meaning of this title. Elsewhere in the Qur'an we read of the "Holy Spirit" (Ruhul-Quds - cf. Surahs 2:87, 2:253, 16:102) and it is presumed that the Holy Spirit is the angel Gabriel. Whoever it is, it is generally agreed that the Holy Spirit is greater than man and comes from heaven and is purely a spirit.

Jesus, however, is now called "a Spirit from him" (ruhun-minhu) from which he has received the title in Islamic traditions "Spirit of God" (Ruhullah). The expression in Surah 4:171, ruhun-minhu ("a spirit from him") is used in exactly the same form in Surah 58:22 where it is said that God strengthens true believers with "a spirit from him". Very significantly Yusuf Ali, commenting on this latter verse in his translation of the Qur'an states that here the "phrase used is stronger" than that for the Holy Spirit (Ruhul Quds). He implies that the Spirit from God is greater than the Holy Spirit and says that it is "the divine spirit, which we can no more define adequately than we can define in human language the nature and attributes of God" (note 5365).

This is a remarkable comment which is clearly a veiled implication that the ruhun-minhu is the very Spirit of the living God, uncreated and eternal in essence. Yusuf Ali says it is "the divine spirit" and that it is as incomprehensible as God himself. This language is unambiguous - the Spirit from God is clearly believed by him to be from the realm of deity and not from the created order. He is, according to this interpretation, practically synonymous with the Holy Spirit in the Christian Bible.

Now this is the very title that the Qur'an gives to Jesus in Surah 4:171. The exact same words are used - he is the ruhun-minhu, "a Spirit from God". If we merely apply Yusuf Ali's interpretation of the expression in Surah 58:22 to the very same expression given as a title to Jesus in Surah 4:171, we can only conclude that Jesus is the "divine spirit, which we can no more define adequately than we can define in human language the nature and attributes of God". He is, therefore, God in essence and nature. Because of the simultaneous denial in 4:171 that Jesus is the Son of God, Yusuf Ali is constrained to deny that the title ruhun-minhu when applied to Jesus implies deity, but he is hardly consistent in his exposition of the Qur'an when he teaches in another place that ruhun-minhu is indeed a divine spirit possessing the nature and attributes of God and is as incomprehensible as God as well.

For our part we believe that, as with the titles Messiah and Word of God, this title Spirit of God also strongly supports the Christian belief that Jesus is indeed the Son of God and that, not in any metaphorical sense, but in an eternal one which is based on the fact that he is very deity himself. The only way Yusuf Ali could avoid this admission when commenting on Surah 4:171 was to frankly contradict what he said in his commentary on Surah 58:22.

Nevertheless all three of these titles not only support but plainly imply that the one they refer to is the Son of God. In the Bible this is clearly the case and in the Qur'an the lack of an explanation for each title, together with the fact that the titles are much the same as those in the Bible, and further together with the underlying implication of each title by itself, leaves us with no other alternative but to conclude that Jesus is indeed the exalted figure that the Bible reveals him to be.

We have concluded our study of the most significant titles of Jesus in the Qur'an. Let us now turn to the Bible and let us briefly examine the two most significant titles of Jesus in this book - Son of Man and Son of God. We are selecting these titles, not simply because the Bible gives them to Jesus, but because these are the two titles which Jesus used of himself more often than any other in describing himself and his mission and ministry on earth.

TITLES OF JESUS IN THE BIBLE

The Bible gives Jesus many magnificent titles. He is given the titles Savior of the World, King of Kings, Redeemer, The Lord our Righteousness, the Sun of Righteousness, among many others which, when combined with one another, leave the unmistakable impression that he is indeed the Lord of Glory.

We will now consider, however, the two titles Jesus used of himself more than any other, the Son of Man and the Son of God. Indeed from these two titles, we can gain a sufficient impression of the whole person and work of Jesus Christ.

Back to Top

4.THE SON OF MAN

In the Bible the title Son of Man is undoubtedly one of the most important titles of Jesus for he used this title of himself more than any other during his ministry. It is in fact the first title we find him using of himself. He addressed his new disciple Nathaniel in these words:

"Truly, truly, I say to you, you will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man". (John 1:51)

Not only is this the first title of Jesus in the Gospels, it is also the last title he used for himself during his earthly life. When he was arraigned before the Jewish High Priest on the last night he was alive, he said to him:

"Hereafter you will see the Son of man seated at the right hand of Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven". (Matthew 26:64)

Quite obviously this title was a very important and distinctive one to Jesus. But what does it mean? Is it simply a way of expressing the humanity of Jesus? That Jesus was a man is disputed by neither Christian nor Muslim in this world. But the title Son of Man cannot just be an expression of humanity. The definite form of the title, the Son of Man, refers to more than this and clearly implies that it is a unique man who bears this title and that in some exceptional way he is the figurehead of the human race.

Secondly one might be tempted to say that if Jesus so often called himself the Son of Man, was he not perhaps contrasting himself with the beliefs of some who followed him who held that he was the Son of God? Was not this his way of emphasizing his humanity over and against the assertions of others that he was the Son of God?

On the contrary, no fair exposition of the Bible can allow this interpretation at all. Firstly Jesus never used the title Son of Man in a context where it is contrasted with the title Son of God. Secondly it is only in the four Gospels in the Christian Bible that these two titles Son of Man and Son of God are found and as the writers quoted Jesus as using both titles for himself, we cannot imagine that they would have done this if the title s of Man was in any way contrary to the title Son of God.

We discover the meaning and import of the title Son of Man from a prophetic passage in the Book of Daniel where the prophet describes a vision he saw many centuries before Jesus was born. He was given A vision of heaven where God is and saw all the nations of earth gathered before him. Then in the night he saw this great even happen.

"Behold, with the clouds of heaven there came one like a Son of Man, and he came to the Ancient of Days and was presented before him. And to him was give dominion and glory and kingdom, that all peoples, nations, and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom one that shall not be destroyed". (Daniel 7:13-14)

The Son of Man is an apocalyptic figure who is able to come right into the presence of God and it is to him that God gives authority over all the powers of the universe that every creature in heaven and on earth should serve him. Quite obviously the Son of Man is a glorious person, the epitome of human perfection and honour. And it is in this context that we find Jesus calling himself the Son of Man.

Elsewhere in the Bible we find the expression Son of Man used in a lesser sense (Psalm 8:4, Job 25:6, Ezekiel 11:15) where it does not refer to Jesus but is used in a general sense denoting humanity. Nevertheless whenever Jesus used it of himself, he used it as a title which belonged to him alone. In an exclusive sense he is the ultimate Son of Man, the one who was beheld by Daniel in all his glory in the vision he was allowed to receive, one who is unique and pre-eminent among men. The Son of Man, through something he head done and achieved as a man, was entitled to enter the presence of God and become the heir to the kingdom God has prepared for all those who truly love him.

What the Son of Man had done was to die for the sins of the world. By reconciling men to God, he was entitled to receive the kingdom which he had now made accessible to all who draw near to God through him. By conquering sin he had become the sovereign over those he set free from its power.

For this reason we invariably find Jesus using the title Son of Man in respect of his crucifixion and the glory he was to receive subsequent to

it. He often told the Jews that it was the destiny of the Son of Man to be "lifted up", an expression which implied firstly that he was to be lifted up on a cross as an object of scorn before all men as he took their sins on himself and, secondly, that he was thereafter to be lifted up by God to glory in heaven to reign with him in wondrous majesty over all the sons of men. (See John 3:14-15, 8:28, 12:32-34.)

To his closer circle of disciples Jesus made this even clearer. On the last night before he was to be crucified, when he knew that Judas was about to betray him into the hands of the Jews, he said:

"The Son of Man goes as it is written of him". (Matthew 26:24)

As many of the prophets of old had foretold (e.g. Psalm 22, Psalm 69, Isaiah 53), the Son of Man was to die for the sins of men to make atonement for them. Only two days earlier Jesus had said to his disciples:

"You know that after two days the Passover is coming, and the Son of Man will be delivered up to be crucified". (Matthew 26:2)

On numerous other occasions Jesus spoke of himself as the Son of Man in the context of a lowly man on earth serving his fellow men finally laying down his life for them - much the same as the concept of the son of man in a general sense where the expression is used, not only to imply humanity, but to imply lowly humanity and human weakness. The Lord of all glory had voluntarily taken on the form of a servant and had in deep humility elected not only to serve God in form of a creature but even to serve his fellow-men:

"The Son of Man came, not to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many". (Matthew 20:28)

But far from the pending crucifixion being a final humiliation, Jesus spoke of it as a means of being glorified. More than once he spoke of his hour of destiny on the cross on the hour of glory for him. Shortly before his crucifixion he said to his disciples:

"The hour has come for the Son of Man to be glorified. Truly truly, I say to you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the ground and dies, it abides alone, but if it dies, it bears much fruit". (John 12:23-24)

Again, as he began his last discourse to his disciples after Judas departed, he said:

"Now is the Son of Man glorified, and in him God is glorified. If God is glorified in him, he will glorify him in himself, and will glorify him at once". (John 13:31-32)

Far from the crucifixion being a disgrace for Jesus or even a triumph for his enemies, it was merely a means to that ultimate glory which the Son of Man was to receive in heaven according to the vision which Daniel saw many centuries earlier. He went to the cross to redeem thousands of sinners so that he could ultimately lead them in triumph into the kingdom which God was to give him. Three days after he had died on the cross, God raised him for the dread and forty days later God lifted him up and raised him to glory in the heavens until he should return to receive his own and lead and rule over them in the kingdom of heaven for evermore.

Accordingly we often find Jesus speaking of himself as the Son of Man in the context of glory as well as in the context of crucifixion. We only have to refer to the two texts quoted of the beginning of this section to see how emphatically Jesus spoke of himself as the Son of Man in the context of heavenly honour and majesty.

In the first quote he said to Nathaniel "You will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man" and to the High Priest he said "You will see the Son of Man seated at the right hand of Power and coming on the clouds of heaven". One day all men will see the Son of Man coming from heaven with the glory he head already obtained in the kingdom of God. Other quotes in the same context are these:

"When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, then he will sit on his glorious throne". (Matthew 25:31)

> "Then will appear the sign of the Son of Man in heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory". (Matthew 24:30)

In all these quotes we find a deeply significant trend. The Son of Man is the central figure in the kingdom of heaven. He is unique among men - not just one who has found his way into heaven, but the one who is the focal point of glory before the eyes of all men and all angels of the highest place that heaven affords, at the right hand of the throne of God.

After Jesus had ascended to heaven, we have a wonderful example of a vision granted to one of the early Christians, Stephen, who was about to die for his Master and so became the first Christian martyr. As Daniel had seen a vision of the ultimate honour of the Son of Man in heaven, so Stephen also received a similar vision as he was about to die, and said:

"Behold I see the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God". (Acts 7:56)

So we see the pattern of the life of the Son of Man - from apparent disrepute at the hands of sinful men as he died for them on the cross to transparent honour and glory at the hand of God when he raised him from the dead to sit at his right hand, there to receive the kingdom he had rightly earned for all who are saved by faith in him.

So we see what a glorious personality the Son of Man is. Far from being a simple expression of humanity, the Son of Man is a title given only to the ultimate Redeemer of the earth and all who follow him. But if the Son of Man has gone to sit at the right hand of the throne of God, we are constrained to ask - does not this lead us to consider that the title "Son of Man", far from contrasting with the title "Son of God", rather corresponds to and is wedded to it? While the title implies humanity, do not the circumstances that Jesus spoke of which are found to accompany the ministry and work of the Son of Man imply that he is also in very truth the Son of God and that the Son of Man possesses divinity as well as humanity? Let up press on to see how the Jews themselves got this very impression - and then let us conclude with a very brief examination of this title Son of God which Jesus also gave himself.

5. THE SON OF GOD

At the time of Jesus the Jewish people failed generally to believe in him and to follow him but despite this they did not fail to grasp his claims about himself. When Jesus stood before the Council on the last night before he died, he said "From now on the Son of Man will be seated at the right hand of the power of God" (Luke 22:69), to which the Jews promptly replied "Are you the Son of God, then?" (v. 70) Although he had called himself the Son of Man,, what he had said about the Son of Man seemed to imply that he was also the Son of God. Jesus answered "You say that I am", meaning, "Indeed what you have said is true - I am the Son of God - and you have borne witness to the fact".

Likewise we find a similar answer from Jesus when the High Priest said to him, "I adjure you, by the living God, tell us whether you are the Messiah, the Son of God" (Matthew 26:63). Jesus answered "I am - and you have said so" (Mark 14:62, Matthew 26:64). To this answer the High Priest exclaimed "He has uttered blasphemy" (Matthew 26:65).

Jesus had been arrested by the Jews on the order of the High Priest because he had learnt that Jesus claimed to be the Son of God. At his trial no evidence could be brought which could be made to stick against Jesus, so the High Priest stood up and asked him the one question that was on his heart. "Are you, the Son of God?" The question was as unambiguous and as plain as it could be - and Jesus was put on oath before God to give him the true answer. Jesus replied in equally obvious language: "I am".

Not only did he confirm without reserve that he was the Son of God but he did so in the full knowledge of the consequences - that he would immediately be sentenced to death for blasphemy by the unbelieving Jews.

This was the climax of the growing hostility of the Jews to Jesus because of his repeated assertions that he was the Son of God. When they were angry with him for healing a man on the Sabbath, Jesus answered:

"My Father is working still, and I am working". (John 5:17)

As a result of this claim they sought all the more to kill him because he made himself the Son of God by calling God his Father and by unreservedly equating his work with the Father's work.

On another occasion Jesus again incurred the wrath of the Jews for saying "Before Abraham was, I am" (John 8:58). They did not except to his claim to pre-exist Abraham but were struck by the present tense, "I am", which implied that he had an eternal spirit. To them this was the equivalent of God's statement to Moses "I am the God of Abraham" (Exodus 3:6). So they took up stones to stone him for blasphemy.

A third time Jesus said to them "I and the Father are one" (John 10:30) - an emphatic statement that God was his Father and that he existed in absolute unity with him - and was therefore the Son of God. Again the Jews took up stones to stone him for blasphemy.

Now their own scriptures confirmed that the expression "Sons of the Most High" faith was used metaphorically of all true believers (Psalm 82:6). Why then were they accusing him of blasphemy because he claimed to be the Son of God in an absolute sense? (He at no time took exception to their conclusion - he reacted solely against their charge that he was falsely claiming to be the Son of God). His own words were:

"Do you say of him whom the Father consecrated and sent into the world "You are blaspheming" because I said "I am the Son of God?". (John 10:36)

For two reasons the Jews could not validly accuse him of blasphemy. Firstly, they could not genuinely object to terminology like "I am the Son of God" because their own scriptures used such terminology only in a metaphorical sense while Jesus was claiming to be the Son of God in an absolute sense, they still could not sincerely charge him with falsehood because the good works he did from the Father showed that his claims for himself were equally good and that this proved that he as indeed the Son of God.

All this had come to the ears of the High Priest and to avoid any further dispute, he put Jesus on oath to say whether he was indeed the Son of God to which Jesus replied "I am". The Jews then promptly went too the Roman governor, Pilate, seeking the execution of Jesus - for only one reason: Jesus claimed to be the Son of God. The Jews said to Pilate:

"We have a law, and by that law he ought to die, because he has made himself the Son of God". (John 19:7)

Once they thought they had succeeded in their designs, when Jesus hung on the cross, they exclaimed:

"He trusts in God, let God deliver him now, if he desires him, for he said 'I am the Son of God'" (Matthew 27:43)

It is of great importance to observe the thrust of the accusation of the Jews against him - "he has made himself the Son of God"; "he said 'I am the Son of God'". While many men since that day have accused the Christian church of making Jesus the Son of God, the Jews heard it from his own lips - and they accused him of making himself the Son of God. Jesus made no attempt to deny this charge. So we see that Jesus himself is the source of Christian belief that he is indeed the Son of God.

Just as the expression "son of man" is found elsewhere in the Bible in a general sense, so is the expression "sons of God", but just as Jesus took the title Son of Man for himself in an exclusive and glorious sense as a majestic title, so he claimed to be the Son of God in the same exclusive sense.

No one can honestly doubt that Jesus himself claimed to be the Son of God. Only one question remains, however, - was he indeed speaking the truth when he made this claim for himself or was he uttering blasphemy as the High Priest alleged?

In three definite ways God bore witness to the truth of Jesus' claim to be the Son of God. When he promised the Jews centuries earlier that the Messiah was to come from David's line, God said of him:

"I will be his father and he shall be my son". (2 Samuel 7:14)

God made it clear that the Messiah was to be his own Son and this prompted Jesus to say to the Jews at the end of his ministry among them:

"What do you think of the Messiah ? Whose son is he?" (Matthew 22:42)

When the Jews replied that he was to be the Son of David, Jesus pointed to a Psalm where David called him his Lord. How then could he be his son, Jesus asked? The Messiah was to be the offspring of David but had not God said that he would be his own Son? Secondly, God spoke from heaven of Jesus at his baptism, and later again, at his transfiguration and said:

"This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased". (Matthew 3:17)

Thirdly, Jesus was raised from the dead three days after his crucifixion according to his own predictions to this effect (Matthew 16:21, etc.). In this way God bore witness to the fact that everything Jesus said about himself was true - including his oft-repeated claim to be the Son of God. His resurrection proved beyond shadow of doubt that he was indeed the Son of God (Romans 1:4) and that God was truly his Father.

It was the express united will of both the Father and the Son that Jesus should die as a man on a cross to redeem men to God. Perhaps the Father was never less obviously revealed in the Son than during those hours when Jesus hung, forsaken of his Father, on the cross as he took the sins of men on himself. But never was the absolute and awesome love of the Father and the Son more revealed to hell-deserving sinners than during those moments when Jesus endured what is rightfully due to all other men for their sins.

You must answer this question as well - what do you think of the Messiah? Whose Son is he? Will you agree with God and testify that Jesus, the Messiah, is indeed his Son? Will you not commit yourself to Jesus as your Lord and Saviour and receive the salvation he obtained for you by dying on the cross for your sins? Will you not believe in him fully and recognise that eternal life is found in him alone? Will you not receive forgiveness of sins in his name?

JESUS
ISA (occasionally also spelled Esa or Eesa)
SON OF MARY

Gk: Iesous (ΙΗΣΟΥΣ), equivalent to Joshua, Hebrew Yehoshua (יְהוֹשֻׁעַ), meaning "God is Salvation" or "God saves".

Jesus is perhaps the most controversial character in Islam, and thus there is a tremendous amount of Islamic literature about Jesus. In general, while Muslims affirm that Jesus performed miracles and has special attributes that other prophets did not have, Muslims still believe that Jesus was no more than a prophet. Muslims believe that He ranks above other prophets, but below the status of Muhammad, despite Jesus having attributes that even Muhammad did not have.

The article The Muslim Jesus, known as 'Isa is an excellent introcuction on the Islamic beliefs about Jesus in contrast to the Biblical record.

Even though Jesus is much more than a prophet according to the Bible, he is also a prophet. What, then, are his prophecies?

Jesus the Prophet: His short-term & long-term Prophecies

What is Jesus' Islamic Name? Isa, Esau or Yesu?

Muslims call Jesus "Isa". There have been various attempts to explain this rather bizzare connection. Ahmad Deedat wrote:

"The Holy Quran refers to Jesus as "Eesa", and this name is used more times than any other title, because this was his "Christian" name. Actually, his proper name was "Eesa" (Arabic), or "Esau" (Hebrew); classical "Yeheshua", which the Christian nations of the West Latinised as Jesus. Neither the "J" nor the second "s" in the name Jesus is to be found in the original tongue - they are not found in the Semitic language.

> The word is very simply - "E S A U" - a very common Jewish name, used more than sixty times in the very first booklet alone of the Bible, in the part called "Genesis". There was at least one "Jesus" sitting on the "bench" at the trial of Jesus before the Sanhedrin. Josephus the Jewish historian mentions some twenty five Jesus' in his "Book of Antiquities". The New Testament speaks of "Bar-Jesus" - a magician and a sorcerer, a false prophet (Act 13:6); and also "Jesus-Justus" - a Christian missionary, a contemporary of Paul (Colossians 4:11). These are distinct from Jesus the son of Mary. Transforming "Esau" to (J)esu(s) - Jesus - makes it unique. This unique (?) name has gone out of currency among the Jews and the Christians from the 2nd century after Christ. Among the Jews, because it came to be the > proper name of their God(?) - their God incarnate. The Muslim will not hesitate to name his son - "Eesa" - because it is an honoured name, the name of a righteous servant of the Lord." (Ahmad Deedat, Christ in Islam, Chapter 2)

Esau is Jacob's older twin brother, and his name in Hebrew means "hairy", because he was a man of much hair. He was also called Edom, which means "red", because he also looked red (Genesis 25:25). Jesus' name, however, means "God saves".

Deedat attempted to turn Esau into Jesus by stripping away the letters "J" and "s". In other words, he was playing on the spelling Esau <--> esu, a difference of only one letter. The reader, however, should be able to spot the fatal mistake of playing with English spelling rather than Hebrew. Secondly, Deedat completely forgot that he should be concentrating on the etymological connection between "Esau" and "Yehoshua", i.e., between "hairy" or "red" with "God saves". Given the difference in meaning between these two Hebrew names, the connection is not only less than tenuous, but downright mischievous. It is quite astonishing that Deedat should simply disregard the name Joshua, which is the Hebrew equivalent of Jesus.

Deedat was also very mischievous when he cites the example of Esau appearing more than 60 times (in Genesis) in the Bible to show that it was a common Jewish name. What Deedat failed to reveal to his readers is that every of the 81 occurrences in the Bible refers to Esau himself or to his descendents (as a nation). Deedat seems to think that the more times the same person is mentioned, there must mean more of such persons around. In fact, no other person was called Esau in the Bible! If we apply that same logic, Muhammad must have been an extremely common name, more common than other, since it appears so many times in the Qur'an.

By the way, can someone explain what Deedat meant by "(The name Jesus had gone out of currency). Among the Jews, because it came to be the proper name of their God(?) - their God incarnate"? How can a Jew do that? A slippage in his pen, perhaps?

A Muslim wrote over the internet that: "One explanation had it that Muhammad learned the name from unbelieving Jews in Medina. In their supposed hatred for the Christians, the Jews called Jesus Esau, the son of Isaac who lost his blessing to his brother Jacob (Gen. 27). Muhammad picked up the name without carrying with it the derogatory meaning the Jews intended. Jesus is mentioned 97 times in the Qur'an, 23 times [my note: or is it 25?] as Jesus son of Mary."

Such an attempt to smooth over the difficulty begs another question. Why should Muhammad use a name with such derogatory connotations, instead of his original name which has no such "historical" baggage. Muslims often alleged that Jews and Christians portray the prophets of God in a bad light (eg. by recording their sins in the Bible, which Muslims deny ever happened). In this case, however, not only did Muhammad failed to return the proper name to Jesus, he and all Muslims thereafter continued to give Jesus a name with derogatory connotations, and worse still, a name that bears no relation to Jesus at all, not even coming close in meaning.

A far more detailed discussion is found in the article, Is 'Isa the true name of Jesus?

The Conception of Jesus

This miraculous conception is recorded in the Bible simply as ``The angel answered, "The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. So the holy one to be born will be called the Son of God."" (Luke 1:35). No sexual connotation was involved whatsoever.

In Christianity, the Holy Spirit is the third person in the Godhead. The reader should be reminded that in Islam, the Holy Spirit does not necessarily refer to God, but instead refers to the angel Gabriel, who was supposed to have appeared to Muhammad. Thus, it is easy to understand how Muslims come to think that Christians believe that Jesus was conceived due to a union between Gabriel and Mary. The thinking reader will easily see that Christians will of course find such an assertion extremely offensive and blasphemous.

The Qur'anic passages dealing with this event are to be found in Maryam 19:19-21; at-Tahrim 66:12.

Al-Saddi's version of the miracle states the following:

``He took hold of her sleeve and breathed into her side, and it entered her breast and she conceived. Then Mary's sister, the wife of Zachariah, came to visit with and help her, and while she was assisting her she knew that Mary was pregnant and Mary mentioned her state to her.

> The wife of Zachariah said, "I find the child in my womb worships that which is in yours."

Another account relates that the breathing was in her mouth and reached her womb and immediately she conceived."

Note: As in many other cases, the Qur'an does not identify the wife of Zechariah by name, but the Bible states that the wife of Zechariah is Elizabeth. The Bible says that she is Mary's relative (see Luke 1:5-56), while Al-Saddi said that she is Mary's sister. The son of Zechariah is of course John the Baptist. What is most interesting is that Al-Saddi said that John the Baptist worshipped Jesus while in the womb.

Al-Baidawi commented on the miraculous birth of Jesus,

"That distinction sets Christ apart from other humans and messengers, because He was born without any human embrace or relationship."

This statement is rather significant in that it also meant that Jesus Christ was set apart from Muhammad and any other prophet.

Al Fakhr el Razi explained that "faultless" means first that Christ was without sin; second, that He grew in integrity, as it is said that He who has no sin is chaste and in the growing plant there is purity; and third, he was above reproach and pure. Even Muhammad was not sinless. See Muhammad for more details.

Death of Jesus

The death of Jesus is another very controversial topic in Islam.

According to Ibn Said, p. 244, Jesus lived 125 years:

> ... and there has been no prophet but he has lived half the life of the prophet preceding him. Jesus the son of Mary lived for one hundred and twenty five years, and this is the sixty second year of my life. He (prophet) died half the year after this.

However, no such evidence have been produced to support this theory.

The less than clear passages in the Qur'an dealing with the death of Jesus are Âl 'Imran 3:55; an-Nisa' 4:155-159; al-Ma'idah 5:110-117; Maryam 19:33. See also death of John (Maryam 19:15). The phrase "It appeared so to them" (shubbiha lahum in 4:157) is quite controversial:

``These verses are intended to be a rebuke to the Jews, and particularly to Muhammad's contemporaries in Medina for various acts of unbelief, and they only refer in passing to the story of the crucifixion. Within this context of an attack on the Jews for their opposition towards Muhammad as well as for other acts of unbelief, the reference to the crucifixion does no more than dispute the claim made by the Jews that they had disposed of the Christian Messiah and repudiated his claims to be an apostle of God by crucifying him.

> In particular, the phrases 'they did not kill him, nor did they crucify him' do not necessarily mean that there was no crucifixion, but that, even if there was, it was God who was responsible for all that happened during the last hours of the Messiah's life and that the Jews had done whatever they did only by permission of God's will. A similar figure of speech occurs in al-Anfal 8:17 in which the Muslim's actions at the > Battle of Badr are attributed to God and not to their own volition; they did in fact and kill, but only by God's permission and direction.

> These verses, therefore, do not explicitly deny the Christian story of the crucifixion, for they refer primarily to Jewish claims against the Christians...." (David Brown, The Cross of the Messiah, SPCK, 1969, pp. 31-32)

mutawaffi-ka used in this Qur'anic verse 'means to receive something as a whole and hence it could be used to indicate (i) To recieve an object or amount completely. (ii) To take one's soul at night during sleep. (iii) To take one's soul finally when a person has fully received the portion of his life' [Hasan, S: The Study of Al Quran: Lesson 14]

"In Âl 'Imran 3:55, the phrase ‘I am gathering thee’, and in al-Ma'idah 5:117, the phrase "when Thou tookest me" are forms of the same Arabic word tawaffa.

> Both these verses refer to the return of Jesus to God at the end of his life, and the most straightforward interpretation of them is to suppose that they refer to a natural death of Jesus at the end of his earthly life. Tawaffa is often used in the Qur'an in the sense of bringing a soul to God at death, both when the subject of the verb is God (e.g., Âl 'Imran 3:193; Yunus 10:46), and when the subject is the angels (eg, an-Nahl 16:28; as-Sajdah).
> The word tawaffa, however, was originally used of a person receiving the full payment of his due or his rights, and when used of God in the Qur'an refers to men being called to pay their accounting in his presence, either at death, or in sleep when the soul comes to God but is returned to the body for a further term of life on earth....
> Thus the use of the word tawaffa in these two passages with reference to the Messiah, is ambiguous and its exact meaning must be determined by consideration of other verses in the Qur'an: it could mean that Jesus died a natural > death, but it can also mean that he was taken to heaven without undergoing the experience of physical death." (David Brown, The Cross of the Messiah, SPCK, 1969, pp.29-30)

"I am gathering thee" in Arabic is Inni muta-waf-feeka which means death. Compare the similarity between what the Qur'an say was Jesus' words in Maryam 19:33 with John the Baptist's death in Maryam 19:15:

"Peace on him the day he was born, and the day he dieth and the day he shall be raised alive!" (Sura Maryam 19:15, Pickthall)

> "Peace on me the day I was born, and the day I die, and the day I shall be raised alive! (Sura Maryam 19:33, Pickthall)

Interestingly, no Muslim scholar contends that John the Baptist did not die, while they contend that Jesus did not die, despite the almost exact words in the Qur'an.

Al Muthanna says, quoting Abd Allah Ibn Salih, Muawiheh, and Ali Ibn Abbas, that Inni mutawaffeeka means "I cause you to die."

``It is significant that the early commentators were not agreed about the interpretation of these verses. It would appear that for several centuries there was considerable debate among Muslims about the crucifixion, and that many different answers were given by orthodox Muslims." (Colin Chapman, You Go and Do the Same, 1983, pp. 83)

In Sahih Bukhari, we have the following :

Narrated Ibn Abbas:
Allah's Apostle delivered a sermon and said, "O people! You will be gathered before Allah bare-footed, naked and not circumcised." Then (quoting Quran) he said:--

> "As We began the first creation, We shall repeat it. A promise We have undertaken: Truly we shall do it.." (21.104)

> The Prophet then said, "The first of the human beings to be dressed on the Day of Resurrection, will be Abraham. Lo! Some men from my followers will be brought and then (the angels) will drive them to the left side (Hell-Fire). I will say. 'O my Lord! (They are) my companions!' Then a reply will come (from Almighty), 'You do not know what they did after you.' I will say as the pious slave (the Prophet Jesus) said: And I was a witness over them while I dwelt amongst them. When You took me up. You were the Watcher over them and You are a Witness to all things.' (5.117) Then it will be said, "These people have continued to be apostates since you left them." (Sahih Bukhari 60.149).

The translator used the phrase, "When You took me up". However, in the context of that hadith, Muhammad was also refering to his death. And all Muslims are agreed that Muhammad did die and was not raised into paradise.

'The expression mutawaffi-ka used here means, I will protect thee from being killed by the people and will grant thee full lease of life ordained for thee, and will cause thee to die a natural death, not by being killed' [Zamakhshari, Imam Mahmud ibn 'Umar: Al Kashshaf' an Ghawamid lal Tanzil] He also mentions sleep and take as possible meanings.

Suyuti, in the popular Tafsir Al-Jalalayn, commented that mutawaffika was take you without death (p. 48).

``The idea of a substitute for Christ is a very crude view of explaining the Qur'anic text. They had to explain a lot to the masses. No cultured Muslim believes in this nowadays. The text is taken to mean that the Jews thought they killed Christ, but God raised him unto him in a way we can leave unexplained among the several mysteries which we have taken for granted on faith alone." (Kamal Husein, City of Wrong, p. 222)

Actually, many Muslims, cultured or not, believes in this theory.

Regarding the theory of substitutional death, Parrinder gave the following bit of information about early Christians:

`There early arose in some Christian circles a reluctance to believe that Jesus, as a divine being and Son of God, could really die. Ignatius, writing about AD 115, said that some believed that Jesus 'suffered in semblance'. The apocryphal Gospel of Peter in the second century said that on the cross Jesus was silent, since he 'felt no pain', and at the end 'the Lord cried out, saying, "My power, my power, you have left." And when he spoke he was taken up...' The apocryphal Acts of John, about the middle of the second century, said that Jesus appeared to John in a cave during the crucifixion and said, 'John, unto the multitudes below in Jerusalem I am being crucified and pierced with lances and reeds, and gall and vinegar is given to me to drink. But unto thee I speak.' And later it said, 'Nothing, therefore of the things which they will say of me have I suffered... I was pierced, yet I was not smitten; hanged and I was not hanged; that blood flowed from me, and it floweth not.'" (Geoffrey Parrinder, Jesus in the Qur'an, p.109)

Khalifites believed that Jesus' soul was taken up into heaven before the Jews could crucify him and that he is now dead. They quote an-Nisa' 4:171, al-Ma'idah 5:75,117 as evidence.

There is circumstantial evidence that early Muslims believed that Jesus did die. At the death of Muhammad, one of companions, Umar Faruq, drew his sword from the sheath and threatened to behead anyone who dared announce that Muhammad had died. He maintained that he 'had ascended to heaven as Moses had gone to his Lord for a time and would return to punish the hypocrites.'

On hearing this, Abu Bakr recited the Quranic verse Âl 'Imran 3:145 and declared: 'Those amongst you who worship God, let them know that God is alive and will remain alive. But those amongst you who worshipped Muhammad, let them know that Muhammad has passed away' (Sahih Bukhari 59.733).

With these words, Abu Bakr convinced the early Muslims that Muhammad had died like all other prophets before him. Had the son of Mary been alive, Umar could have argued that if the son of Mary could ascend to heaven and still be alive, why not Muhammad? The fact that Abu Bakr managed to convinced the other early Muslims indicate that the early Muslims did believed that Jesus did die.

Jesus' command over angels

When the religious authorities came to arrest Jesus, one of his disciples used a sword and cut off one of the ears of the enemies.

"Put your sword back in its place," Jesus said to him, "for all who draw the sword will die by the sword. Do you think I cannot call on my Father, and he will at once put at my disposal more than twelve legions of angels? But how then would the Scriptures be fulfilled that say it must happen in this way?" (Matthew 26:52-54)

Jesus' command over angels indicated that Jesus has authority over them. If Jesus was a human only, this biblical assertion would be rather puzzling.

Second Coming of Jesus in Bible, Qur'an and Islamic Tradition

The Qur'an alludes to the second coming of Jesus in only one verse: az-Zukhruf 43:61, YA:

And (Jesus) shall be a Sign (for the coming of) the Hour (of Judgment): therefore have no doubt about the (Hour), but follow ye Me: this is a Straight Way.

i.e. (the second coming of) Jesus will be a sign that the end of the world and the judgment of God is imminent. However, this verse immediately turns the attention from Jesus to the obedience to Muhammad. Only later Islamic tradition makes the return of Jesus a prominent issue. This topic is discussed in detail by M.N. Anderson in his series Jesus The Light And The Fragrance Of God.

Son of God

Muslims do not believe that Jesus is the Son of God. Most of the time, Muslims continually misunderstand the title in a biological manner which is abhorent to both Muslims and Christians alike. Often Muslims quote John 3:16 and say that the Bible talks of God begetting a son. This is not just a misunderstanding. The Greek word translated "only begotten" in KJV is monogenes which means one and only, unique. It is used of Jesus Christ in John 1:14,18, John 3:16,18, Hebrew 11:17 and 1 John 4:9.

Word of God

The Qur'an gives Jesus titles like "Word from God", "illustrous in this world and hereafter", "Messiah" (Âl 'Imran 3:45), "sign for all peoples" (al-Anbiya' 21:91)

Imam Abu Al Su'ud, commenting on the phrase "confirm a word from Allah," states that John the Baptist was the first to believe in Jesus and to support His being the Word of God and a spirit from Him.

Al-Saddi writes that the mother of John inquired of Mary,

"Mary, have you felt my pregnancy?" Mary answered, "I too am pregnant." John's mother then replied, "I find that what is in my belly worships what is in your belly."

How was it that John the Baptist in the womb worshipped Jesus, if as Muslims argue, was only human?

Concerning Âl 'Imran 3:45, the Muslim scholar, Al Sheikh Muhyi Al Din Al Arabi writes, "The word is Allah in theophany. . .and is the one divine person, not any other." He also said that the word is a divine person (Fusus al Hugm, Part 2, pp. 13).

Compare this with the Bible's statement:

"In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . . And the Word became flesh." (John 1:1,14)

Worship of Jesus

On coming to the house, they [Magis] saw the child [Jesus] with his mother Mary, and they bowed down and worshipped him. Then they opened their treasures and presented him with gifts of gold and of incense and of myrrh. (Matthew 2:11)

We have also seen that the hadiths say that John the Baptist worshipped Jesus while in the womb.

Note: Muslims believed that Jesus spoke from the cradle when people accused his mother of unchastity, yet isn't it odd that we do not find Jesus condemning the Magis for worshipping him, if indeed Jesus is human as Muslims believed.

Articles examining the issue of the worship of Jesus:

Compare with the Bible: "... I am returning to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God." (John 20:17f)

Note the phrases "my Father" and "my God" as opposed to "your Father" and "your God". Jesus never did once say "our Father" except when showing his disciples how to pray to God.

- given clear proofs, al-Baqarah 2:87,253
- healing of blind, lepers, raising the dead, Âl 'Imran 3:49; al-Ma'idah 5:110

Concerning the phrase "I raise the dead," Wahab ibn Minabbeh relates that while 'Isa was playing with boys, a youth sprang on one and killed him, then threw him bleeding into the arms of 'Isa. Onlookers accused 'Isa, then seized him, took him to a judge, and said, "This boy 'Isa has killed another boy." The judge questioned him and 'Isa replied, "I do not know the one who killed him, neither am I one of his friends."

When they wanted to strike 'Isa He said to them, "Bring the boy to me," and they asked Him, "Why?" He replied, "I will ask him who killed him." They asked, "How can he speak to you if he is dead?" Then they took Him to the dead boy and 'Isa began to pray for him, and Allah restored him to life.

This story is to be traced to the apocryphal Infancy of Jesus Christ.

- his holy inspiration, al-Baqarah 2:87,252; an-Nisa' 4:163; al-Ma'idah 5:110
- his likeness is as Adam's, Âl 'Imran 3:59.

A hadith concerning how this verse came about is as follows:

> Al Qisam, Ibn Jaraij, and A'krama reported, ``We hear that the Christians of Najran sent a deputation to Muhammad, among them Al Aquib and As Sayyid, who said, "O Muhammad, why do you revile our Friend?" He replied, "Who is your Friend?" They said, "'Isa (Jesus), Son of Mary. You allege He is a servant," to which Muhammad replied, "Truly, He is a servant of Allah and His Word, bestowed on Mary and a Spirit from Him."

> Then they were angry with him and said, "If you are truthful show us a servant who can raise the dead and heal the blind and the leper and who, creating from clay the form of a bird, will breathe into it so that it becomes a bird -- isn't He Allah?" Muhammad said nothing until Gabriel came to him and said, "O Muhammad! They have blasphemed who said that Allah is Christ the Son of Mary." Then Muhammad replied, "O Gabriel! They asked me to tell them to whom 'Isa (Jesus) is similar," and Gabriel said, "'Isa is just as Adam.""

This story is interesting in that (i) Muhammad did not know how to answer the Christians, and (ii) the answer provided by this supposed Gabriel in this story failed to answer the questions raised by the Christians either. The Christians of Najran wanted to know if there was another person who can raise the dead, heal the blind and the leper, etc. Notice also that according to this story, these Christians believed in the apocryphal stories concerning Jesus at his young age, which is conspicuously absent from the Bible. However, it is never asserted in the Qur'an or the hadiths that Adam performed the type of miracles as Jesus (in the same quantity and quality). Thus, this Gabriel's supposed answer raises more questions.

Secondly, the context of this verse shows clearly that this verse has nothing to do with the birth of Jesus. Many Muslims, however, use this verse to say that the Jesus was created just like Adam. This is in spite of the fact that Adam was created fully grown, while Jesus was born the infant of a virgin. Adam was created without the use of any other human being, whereas Jesus was borned through a women. There is a difference in the way Adam and Jesus came into this world.

- intercessor, see mediator, under Jesus
- is a mercy from God, Maryam 19:21
- is a revelation for mankind, Maryam 19:21
- is a servant of God, Maryam 19:30-32
  Compare this with the Bible in Isaiah 52, 53, and 43.

- is the means to know Judgement Day, az-Zukhruf 43:61
- Jews boast of killing ("slew him not, nor crucified him"), an-Nisa' 4:157
- mediator, Âl 'Imran 3:45

The title Messiah (al-Masih) in Hebrew means anointed. Al Jalalan observed, "Illustrious in the world by the ministry of prophecy and in the hereafter by intercession and position and being one of those brought near unto Allah."

Al Badawi contended that "According to some, what was intended here was the high place that Jesus was to have in Paradise. . . and in the Society of Angels."

- miracles of, al-Baqarah 2:87; al-Ma'idah 5:110-117
- Muslims believed in the Gospels (Injil), al-Baqarah 2:136. Unfortunately, Muslims usually do not read the Gospels for themselves in order to learn about Jesus.
- no agent used in revelation of Gospel, al-Ma'idah 5:46. Compare that with the "revelation" that Muhammad had. A being claiming to be Gabriel brought these "revelations" to him.
- not God according to al-Ma'idah 5:17,72,116.
Compare with the above qualities that show that Jesus is definitely no ordinary human. In fact, in the Qur'an and Islamic literature, Jesus is described with qualities that place Him in a class on His own when compared with the other prophets, one that Muhammad cannot even aspire to.
- only an apostle, an-Nisa' 4:171-172; al-Ma'idah 5:75; Maryam 19:30
- only seemed slain and crucified, an-Nisa' 4:157
- Rabbi, the,

> "[Jesus said:] But you are not to be called 'Rabbi,' for you have only one Master and you are all brothers." (Matthew 23:8)

Jesus, however, allowed his disciples and others to address him as Rabbi (eg: Matthew 26:25). Jesus therefore acknowledged implicitly that he is their Master, different from them since they are just brothers.

- raised up to God (but not resurrected at that time, since he supposedly has not yet died), an-Nisa' 4:158
- return during last days, see also MAHDI.

Muslims believed that Jesus will come again during the last days. Some traditions attribute that Jesus will be a just ruler. Some identify Jesus with the Mahdi, while others that he will be a follower of Imam Mahdi. see MAHDI.

In Islam, it is not clear what the status of Jesus is at the present moment in heaven. It is said that the sign of his coming is the moon and sun eclipsing in the same month of Ramadan. Ahmadis believe that it happened to Mirza Ghulam Ahmad of Qadian in 1894. [We certainly need astronomers to confirm this.]

> Narrated Abu Huraira:

Then there will be abundance of money and no-body will accept charitable gifts. Khalifites do not believe that Jesus will come back again. They reasoned that since no prophets is supposed to come after Muhammad (al-Ahzab 33:40) and that Jesus is a prophet, therefore Jesus will not come back after Muhammad. Other Muslims believe that when Jesus comes again, he will not be in a prophetic role, but is simply a follower. Also, some argue that Muhammad is the seal of the prophets, not the last prophet.

There are some hadiths that say that when Jesus comes back, he will change some laws.

•resurrection foretold, Âl 'Imran 3:55; Maryam 19:33

•soul taken to heaven,

Rashid Khalifa taught that an-Nisa' 4:158 taught that Jesus' soul was taken to heaven before the Crucifixion. Khalifites do not believe that Jesus will come back to earth during the last days, as is the belief of most Muslims. Using al-Mu'minun 23:100, they claimed that the soul taken to heaven cannot return to earth.

•spoke from cradle, Âl 'Imran 3:46; al-Ma'idah 5:110; Maryam 19:29, Sahih Bukhari 4.645.

This supposed miracle was not recorded in the Bible. This story is to be traced to the apocryphal Gospel of Infancy. Al Razi says that when Zechariah came to Mary during a debate with the Jews concerning the birth of Jesus, he said to Jesus, "Speak for yourself if you have been commanded so to do." And 'Isa said, "I am the Servant of Allah. He has given me wisdom and made me a prophet."

> The following accounts we found in the book of Joseph the high-priest, called by some Caiaphas: He relates, that Jesus spake even when he was in the cradle, and said to his mother: Mary, I am Jesus the Son of God, that word which thou didst bring forth according to the declaration of the angel Gabriel to thee, and my father hath sent me for the salvation of the world. •Teacher, the,
In the Bible, we read:

Jesus, however, used the title of "Teacher" for himself:

ISLAM SANCTIONS SEX WITH MINORS

Though it may shock our civilized senses, pedophilia is sanctioned in the Quran. Muhammad himself engaged in this immoral practice while serving as a prophet of Allah. The Quran not only authorizes Muslim men to marry young children but also to engage in sexual intercourse with them. By confining this immoral sexual act within the context of marriage, Islam tries to give this God-forbidden practice an appearance of legitimacy. By authorizing sex with minors, Islam legitimizes pedophilia in its theology. In harmony with the teachings of Allah and in imitation of Muhammad, Muslims maintain this abomination till today. If you find this unbelievable, consider now the evidences.

The divine authorization of pedophilia is embodied in the Laws of Allah on Divorce. Muslim wives are commanded in the Quran to observe a waiting period after they are divorced by their husbands. The purpose of this waiting period is to determine if the divorced wife is pregnant or not. The Quran refers to this prescribed waiting period as *"Iddah" or *"Iddat." However, if the wife is divorced before the marriage is consummated, then she does not have to observe the prescribed waiting period. Please read the following Quranic verse carefully:

Surah 33:49: O you who believe! When you marry believing women, and then divorce them before you have sexual intercourse with them, no Iddah (divorce prescribed period, see Surah 65:4) have you to count in respect of them. So give them a present, and set them free i.e. divorce, in a handsome manner. (Hilali-Khan)

It is vital to remember this exemption in the Quran. However, the waiting period is mandatory when sexual intercourse has occurred in the marriage between the husband and the wife. The Quran specifies the length of time that is required to be observed. It separates the divorced women into three different categories. Here is the prescribed iddah for the divorced women in each category:

Surah 65:4: In the case of those of your wives who have passed the age of menstruation*, if you have any doubt, know that their waiting period is three months; and that will apply likewise to* those who have not yet menstruated*; the waiting period of those* who are pregnant will be until they deliver their burden (give birth). (W. Khan)

In the First Category are the *"wives who have passed the age of menstruation." The waiting period for these older women is three months. In the Second Category are *"those who have not yet menstruated." These are prepubescent child wives who have not reached the age of menstruation. Their waiting period is also three months. Lastly are the women who are pregnant at the time of their divorce. Their waiting period is until they deliver the child. The following translation is even clearer concerning the age factor of *"those who have not yet menstruated."

Surah 65:4: And for those who have no courses (i.e. they are still immature) their 'Iddah (prescribed period) is three months likewise. (Hilali-Khan)

The waiting period for*"those who have not yet menstruated is three months." As stated earlier, the purpose of this waiting period is to determine if the divorced wife is pregnant or not. Since the divorced prepubescent child wives are also required to observe the prescribed waiting period, it substantiates the fact that Muslim men are authorized to engage in sexual intercourse with their child wives. Can you comprehend the full implication of this evil verse in the Quran? Think! If these child wives have not even attained puberty at the time of their divorce, imagine how young they must have been at the time of their marriage. The important fact that we need to bear in mind is that not only does Islam permit Muslims to marry prepubescent girls but it also allows the husbands to engage in sexual intercourse with their child wives and divorce them if they so wishes. Surah 65:4 testifies to the undeniable truth that sex with minors is sanctioned in Islam.

Surah 33:49 proves that the waiting period is linked to the consummation of the marriage. No sex means no waiting period. Thus, when Surah 65:4 states that the waiting period for those who have not menstruated is three months, it actually presupposes that sex had already taken place in the marriage. By permitting men to engage in sexual intercourse with minors, Islam legitimizes an act that is judged as pedophilia by the rest of the civilized world. It is unthinkable, how Islam can get away with this amount of filth in it. How can decent Muslims not see this? We are talking about one of the most despicable acts that only the most depraved are capable of committing. Yet, it is an act that is not only sanctioned by Allah but also set as an example by his Prophet.

Islam legitimizes this evil practice by confining it within the framework of marriage. Do not be fooled by this! The only legitimacy this marriage grants is the license for a pedophile to rape his victim as often as he wishes in the security of his home. Whatever trace of guilt that the pedophile may have had will now be obliterated by the legality of this marriage in Islam. He can now commit this despicable act with an untroubled conscience. Islam protects the pedophile and grants him the divine right to carry out his depravity without fear of punishment. Islam is a pedophile's paradise.

We will now consider the Tafsirs by the most respected Scholars of Islam. Only relevant parts from their Tafsirs will be quoted so as to focus on the subject that is central to our discussion. Regarding the authorization of Allah for Muslims to engage in sexual intercourse with their prepubescent child wives, well-known Muslim scholar, Sayyid Abul Ala Maududi, stated the following.

Commentary on Surah 65:4, Tafhim al Quran, Volume 5, p. 620, note 13:

"Here, one should bear in mind the fact that according to the explanations given in the the question of the waiting period arises in respect of the women with whom marriage may have been consummated, for there is no waiting-period in case divorce is pronounced before the consummation of marriage. (Al-Ahzab: 49). Therefore, making mention of the waiting-period for girls who have not yet menstruated, clearly proves that it is not only permissible to give away the girl at this age but it is permissible for the husband to consummate marriage with her. Now, obviously no Muslim has the right to forbid a thing which the Quran has held as permissible."

Therefore, not only does Islam authorize Muslim men to marry prepubescent girls but also to consummate the marriage. And Maududi adds: "No one has the right to forbid a thing that the Quran has held as permissible." This is also confirmed by other great scholars of Islam.

Tafsir Ibn Kathir on Surah 65:4:

"The `Iddah of Those in Menopause and Those Who do not have Menses Allah the Exalted clarifies the waiting period of the woman in menopause. And that is the one whose menstruation has stopped due to her older age. Her `Iddah is three months instead of the three monthly cycles for those who menstruate, which is based upon the Ayah in (Surat) Al-Baqarah. (See 2:228) The same for the young, who have not reached the years of menstruation. Their `Iddah is three months like those in menopause. This is the meaning of His saying."

Tafsir Al-Jalalayn on Surah 65:4:

"And as for those of your women who no longer expect to menstruate, if you have any doubts, about their waiting period, their prescribed waiting period shall be three months, and also for those who have not yet menstruated, because of their young age, their period shall also be three months."

Tafsir Ibn Abbas on Surah 65:4:

"And for such of your women as despair of menstruation because of old age, (if ye doubt) about their waiting period, their period of waiting shall be three months." (Surah 65:4) Upon which another man asked: "O Messenger of Allah! "What about the waiting period of those who do not have menstruation because they are too young? . . . (The Messenger of Allah answered) 'Their waiting period is three months.'" (Tanwîr al-Miqbâs min Tafsîr Ibn 'Abbâs – Quran 65:4)

Ibn Abbas who is the cousin of Muhammad is one of the most knowledgeable scholars in Islam.

Tafsir Al-Tabari XIV:142

"The interpretation of the verse "And those of your women as have passed the age of monthly courses, for them the 'Iddah (prescribed period), if you have doubt (about their periods), is three months; and for those who have no courses (i.e. they are still immature) their 'Iddah (prescribed period) is three months likewise." He said: The same applies to the 'idaah for girls who do not menstruate because they are too young, if their husbands divorce them after consummating the marriage with them."

All the above Muslim scholars are considered as heavyweights in Islam. Their Commentaries clearly prove that Muslim men are authorized to engage in sexual intercourse with their prepubescent child wives. Otherwise, the requirement to observe the waiting period will not be mandatory as the Quran itself testifies. Muslims, who deny the authorization of pedophilia in Islam, are either lying to us or they are totally ignorant of their religion. The Hadith also collaborates with the above Tafsirs.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 63:

Narrated Sahl bin Sad: The Prophet said . . . "And for those who have no courses (i.e. they are still immature). (Sura 65.4) And the 'Iddat for the girl before puberty is three months in the above Verse."

Because of this evil teaching of Allah in the Quran, the giving away children who are far too young for marriage is acceptable in Islam. Pedophilia is defined as:

*"A sexual deviation of being sexually attracted primarily or exclusively to prepubescent children."

A person who nurtures this form of attraction towards children is called a Pedophile. While pedophilia is illegal in most cultures and religions, it is authorized in the theology of Islam. Was Muhammad a Pedophile? We will let Islam answer this vital question.

THE PEDOPHILE PROPHET

Not only is sex with minors sanctioned in the Quran but Muhammad himself set the example when he married Aisha. Muhammad married Aisha when she was six-years-old and consummated the marriage when she was nine-years-old. He was fifty-four at that time.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 64:

Narrated By 'Aisha: That the Prophet married her when she was six years old and he consummated his marriage when she was nine years old, and then she remained with him for nine years (i.e., till his death).

Sahih Muslim, Book 008, Number 3309:

*'Aisha reported: "Allah's Messenger married me when I was six years old, and I was admitted to his house at the age of nine."

Hadith Sunan Abu Dawud, Volume 2, Number 2116:

*"Aisha said, 'The Apostle of Allah married me when I was seven years old.' (The narrator Sulaiman said: "Or six years."). "He had intercourse with me when I was 9 years old."

Was Aisha a prepubescent child when Muhammad first had sexual intercourse with her? We will now consider the evidences from the most authentic sources of Islam.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Number 151:

Narrated 'Aisha: I used to play with the dolls in the presence of the Prophet, and my girl friends also used to play with me. When Allah's Apostle used to enter (my dwelling place) they used to hide themselves, but the Prophet would call them to join and play with me. (The playing with the dolls and similar images is forbidden, but it was allowed for 'Aisha at that time, as she was a little girl, not yet reached the age of puberty.) (Fateh-al-Bari page 143, Vol.13)

Sahih Muslim, Book 008, Number 3311:

'A'isha (Allah be pleased with her) reported that Allah's Apostle (peace be upon him) married her when she was seven years old, and she was taken to his house as a bride when she was nine, and her dolls were with her; and when he (the Holy Prophet) died she was eighteen years old.

Sunan Nas'ai (830-915 C.E.), Book of Marriage, Number 3256:

"A'ishah said: The Apostle of Allah peace be upon him married me when I was six and had intercourse with me when I was nine and I was playing with dolls."

Sahih Muslim, Book 031, Number 5981:

Aisha reported that she used to play with dolls in the presence of Allah's Messenger and when her playmates came to her they left (the house) because they felt shy of Allah's Messenger whereas Allah's Messenger sent them to her.

Let us now analyze the above Hadiths:

Muhammad married Aisha when she was six-years-old and he consummated the marriage when she was nine. (Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 64)

She was taken to his house as a bride when she was nine, and her dolls were with her. (Sahih Muslim, Book 008, Number 3311)

*Aisha narrated: "The Apostle of Allah had intercourse with me when I was nine and I was playing with dolls." (*Sunan Nas'ai, Book of Marriage, Number 3256)

The playing with the dolls is forbidden, but it was allowed for 'Aisha at that time, as she was a little girl, not yet reached the age of puberty. (Sahih Bukhari, Volume 8, Book 73, Number 151)

All the evidences prove that Aisha was a prepubescent child when Muhammad first had sexual intercourse with her. Another great Islamic scholar, Al-Khattaabee confirms this fact:

"The only reason why permission in this (playing with dolls) was given to 'Aa'isha is because she had not, at that time, reached the age of puberty."

Muslims claim that Muhammad consummated the marriage with Aisha only after she had reached the age of puberty. But as verified by both the Quran and the Hadiths, this is a lie. The Quran clearly authorizes Muslim men to engage in sexual intercourse with their *"*child wives who have not yet menstruated." (Surah 65:4) The records prove that Muhammad had sex with Aisha before she began her menses. The undeniable truth is that Muhammad was having sex with Aisha while she was still a child. The Quran sanctions this, Muhammad did this, Aisha verified this, the scholars of Islam affirm this and Islam's children have to now deal with this.

This places Islam in a far darker position than most of us realize. Muhammad was a child molester. Therefore, supporting Muhammad means supporting the sexual exploitation of children. Since Muhammad's example sets the standard in Islam, this has resulted in unspeakable suffering for millions of innocent children who are subjected to this barbaric practice. This is grossly wicked and should not be condoned. Muhammad established an appalling standard for Islam. The following are excerpts from an interview with Dr. Ahmad Al-Mu'bi, a Saudi marriage officiant:

"It is allowed to marry a girl at the age of one, if sex is postponed. The Prophet Muhammad, whose model we follow, married 'Aisha when she was six and had sex with her when she was nine.'" (Source: Aired on LBC TV (Lebanon) – June 19, 2008)

Sheikh Hamoud Hashim, General Secretary of the Vice and Virtue Committee in Yemen:

"Because this happened to the Prophet, we cannot tell people that it is prohibited to marry at an early age." (Source: BBC NEWS: Published on 6 November 2008)

Muhammad is responsible for legalizing pedophilia in the Islamic world. Muslims cannot condemn pedophilia as this would lead to the denouncement of the marriage of the founder of Islam. Sex with minors – with or without their consent – is decreed as Statutory Rape in the Penal Code of civilized nations. Since pedophilia in the guise of marriage is sanctioned in the Quran, the sexual exploitation of children is legal in strict Islamic countries.

A common argument that Muslims often use is that it was customary during the time of Muhammad to give away young children in marriage. Thus, they defend the pedophilia of Muhammad by claiming that he was only reflecting the customs of the pre-Islamic cultures of his time. Even if this is true, it only serves to prove that Muhammad was a false prophet. Why do we say that?

The purpose of a true prophet is to raise the moral standard of those to whom he is sent to. If Muhammad was truly sent by God, he would have acted differently. He would have denounced the evils of pedophilia and would have set a new standard of morality. However, since Muhammad was a false prophet, he submitted to the primitive customs of the pre-Islamic pagans. He was no different from the pagans of his time. By his very involvement in this pagan custom, Muhammad validated and perpetuated this evil practice in Islam. He legitimized pedophilia by his very participation in it. Because of his marriage to a young child, this evil sexual crime is sanctioned in many Islamic countries today.

All acts of Muhammad are considered as "Sunnah." The term Sunnah, which refers to the words and deeds of Muhammad, defines the way how a Muslim should act. According to Islam, Muhammad's example complements the commandments of Allah in the Quran. Thus, all his deeds and sayings serve as a model for Muslims to emulate. Allah commands Muslims to emulate the example of Muhammad:

Surah 3:32: Say: "Obey Allah and His Messenger."
Surah 33:21: You have indeed in the Messenger of Allah a beautiful pattern of conduct for any one whose hope is in Allah and the Final Day. (Yusuf Ali)

As stated, Muslims justify Muhammad's marriage to a six-year-old by claiming that it was the norm in the pre-Islamic cultures of his time. If Muhammad adopted the customs of the pagans, then why are Muslims adopting his example? Why are Muslims adopting the pre-Islamic culture of marrying young children in imitation of Muhammad? Why are they following the example of a prophet who is incapable of breaking free from the primitive customs of the pagans? Is this not an admission by the Muslims that their Prophet was a victim of the pagan society he came from? By their own admission, Islam is nothing but an offshoot of paganism.

In truth, the pagans have a higher moral standard than Muhammad. For example, they were deeply troubled when Muhammad married the wife of his adopted son. The Arab pagans had the moral decency to view their adopted children as their own. Thus, according to their custom, Muhammad committed incest by marrying his daughter-in-law. Who do you think had a much higher moral standard?

Muslims cannot condemn pedophilia without condemning Muhammad's involvement in it. And they cannot condemn pedophilia without condemning the teachings of Islam. If Muhammad is the perfect example for mankind then he is also the perfect example of a pedophile. Our Christian standards are far superior to that of Islam when it comes to protecting children. While Jesus loved children and spoke highly of their innocence, Muhammad made love to children and robbed them of their innocence.

Muslims must evaluate their religion honestly. Did the teachings of Islam shape Muhammad's behavior or did Muhammad shape Islam into his image? In other words, is the Quran a reflection of Muhammad's inner personality? As defined earlier, a pedophile is someone who is sexually attracted towards children. Did Muhammad have this weakness which he then projected into the teachings of the Quran? Is this the reason why sex with minors is sanctioned in the Quran? For this to be true there must be unmistakable evidences proving that Muhammad did manifest the characteristics of a pedophile in his personality. Let's examine the evidences to ascertain if this is true. To begin, Aisha was not the only child that Muhammad had his eyes on. He had his eyes on two other infants.

[1] Ibn Ishaq: Suhayli, ii. 79:

"In the riwaya of Yunus Ibn Ishaq (it is) recorded that the apostle saw her (Ummu'lFadl) when she was a baby crawling before him and said, 'If she grows up and I am still alive I will marry her.' But he died before she grew up and Sufyan b. al-Aswad b. 'Abdu'l-Asad al-Makhzumi married her and she bore him Rizq and Lubab . . ." (A Translation of Ishaq's Sirat Rasul Allah by A. Guillaume)

[2] Musnad Ahmad, Hadith Number 25636:
Muhammad saw Umm Habib the daughter of Abbas while she was fatim (age of nursing) and he said, "If she grows up while I am still alive, I will marry her." (Source: Hadith.Al-Islam.com)
Muslims should step out of the shoes of Islam and judge this man objectively. What kind of man would look at infants and crawling babies, and express his desire to marry them? What was on his mind when he spoke those words? Does not this prove that he was sexually attracted to the infants, the very moment he laid his eyes on them? Otherwise, why did he express his desire to marry them? We must understand what Muhammad meant when he said that he will wait for them to grow up. This means when they reach the age of six or even less.

Islamic records clearly prove that besides Aisha, Muhammad wanted to sexually molest other young victims as well. Fortunately, for Ummu'lFadl, Muhammad died before he could molest her sexually. And in the case of Umm Habib, Muhammad actually proposed to marry her. But fortunately it was discovered that she was his foster niece.
The History of Al-Tabari, Volume IX:140
*"*He proposed to Umm Habib bt. al-'Abbas b. 'Abd al-Muttalib, but discovered that al-'Abbas was his foster-brother; Thuwaybah had nursed them both."
Besides Aisha, we have on record where a man well over fifty had his eyes on two other infants with marriage in view. Is this not a serious problem for Muslims to reflect on? Can this man truly be a prophet of God? These are the only records of potential victims that are available to us. Only God knows how many other infants he lusted after.
Muhammad's affair with young Aisha serves as a window into the mentality of this man. He married her when she was six and sexually assaulted her when she was nine. The fact that he twice dreamed of Aisha when she was only just a baby exposes the pedophilia tendency of this man.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 15:

Narrated By 'Aisha: Allah's Apostle said (to me), "You have been shown to me twice in my dreams. A man was carrying you in a silken cloth and said to me, 'This is your wife.' I uncovered it; and behold, it was you. I said to myself, 'If this dream is from Allah, He will cause it to come true.'"

If this not a sexual fantasy of a pedophile then what is it? Aisha was only a baby when Muhammad had this dream – twice. Note the craving in his words: *"If this dream is from Allah, He will cause it to come true." To even think of a baby in terms of a wife is utterly disgusting. The Bible states that *"out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks." Let's see what is in the heart of Muhammad.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 173:

Narrated Jabir bin 'Abdullah: The Prophet said, "If you enter (your town) at night (after coming from a journey), do not enter upon your family till the woman whose husband was absent from the house shaves her pubic hair and the woman with unkempt hair, combs her hair."

Now, why would a man claiming to be a prophet of God give such an utterly disgusting commandment for a husband to wait until his wife shaves her pubic hair? Why should Muhammad instruct the husband to wait until the vagina of his wife resembles like that of a young child? Is this not a clue, an indication of Muhammad's own inner desire for young prepubescent vaginas? We are forced to use such explicit language to expose the evils of this man. Pedophilia is one of the gifts of Islam to perverts like Muhammad.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 7, Book 62, Number 17:

Narrated Jabir bin 'Abdullah: When I got married, Allah's Apostle said to me, "What type of lady have you married?" I replied, "I have married a matron." He said, "Why, don't you have a liking for the virgins and for fondling them?" Jabir also said: Allah's Apostle said, "Why didn't you marry a young girl so that you might play with her and she with you?"

Since pedophilia is legitimized as marriage in the Quran, pedophiles can now justify the raping of young children by first marrying their victims. Once he is through satisfying himself, he can move on to target other young victims. And this is easy since Islam empowers the pedophile with the authorization to divorce his young victims once he is through with them. To evoke the utter evil nature of this Quranic verse, let's read it once again:

Surah 65:4: And those of your women who have passed the age of monthly courses, for them the Iddah, if you have doubts (about their periods) is three months, and for those who have no courses (i.e. they are still immature) their Iddah is three months likewise, except in case of death. (Hilali-Khan)

Sex with minors is judged as Criminal Pedophilia in the laws of civilized nations. However, this evil crime is sanctioned in Islam. Following the example of Muhammad, children are sexually molested by Muslim men who are old enough to be their fathers or even grandfathers. Children are not ready, either physically, emotionally or mentally to enter into a marriage relationship with adults. Pedophilia destroys the life of a child. If Allah is the true Creator, he would have known this. But he is not! Sex with minors is absolutely evil. To save our children, please share this article with others. Muslim children are safe when their parents leave Islam. Muhammad may have his weaknesses but Muslims have to still answer why Allah sanctioned pedophilia in the Quran.

We would like to conclude this article by quoting the words of Jesus Christ which reveal how precious are the safety and security of children in Christianity:

Matthew 18:6: "But whoever stumbles one of these little ones who have faith, it would be better for him to have hung around his neck a millstone and to be sunk in the open sea."

■Age Calculation in Ancient Arabia: Lunar vs. Solar Years

In ancient Arabia, people measured years based on the lunar calendar. In English, a lunar year is known as a Lunar Year, whereas the way we currently count years is based on the solar calendar, or Solar Years.

During the time of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), people calculated age using the lunar year. The issue arises because a lunar year consists of approximately 354 days, whereas a solar year consists of around 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, and 47 seconds. However, under the commonly used Gregorian calendar, a year is counted as 365 days.

■Conversion of Aisha's Age from Lunar to Solar Years

> According to Hadith, Aisha's age was 6 years at the time of marriage.
> So, in terms of lunar days:
> 6 × 354 = 2,124 days.
> To convert this into the solar year equivalent:
> 2,124 ÷ 365 ≈ 5 years and 10 months.
> Similarly, according to Hadith, Aisha's age was 9 years at the time of consummation of the marriage.
> So, in lunar days:
> 9 × 354 = 3,186 days.
> To convert this into the solar year equivalent:
> 3,186 ÷ 365 ≈ 8 years and 9 months.

Fatima's Birth:

- Most scholars agree that Fatima was born around five years before the first revelation (i.e., before 610 CE), placing her birth around 605 CE.
- Some other reports suggest she was born shortly after the Kaʿba's reconstruction, which occurred when the Prophet was 35, also pointing to 605–606 CE.

Aisha's marriage (consummated around 623 CE when she was nine), and birth year for Fatima (605 CE), then Fatima would have been approximately 18 years old (623 - 605 = 18).

Or when Muhammad was having non vagainal sex when Ayesha was 6 (lunar) years old Muhammad's youngest daughter was 15 years old.

Muhammad was having sex with 9 year younger girl than his youngest daughter starting at 5 years and 10 months of Ayesha.

Prophet Muhammad and Aisha

This video is about the marriage of Prophet Muhammad and Aisha, as the main example of child abuse and perversion that was and is sanctioned in Islam. The source of narration is The History of Al-Tabari, volume IX, page 129 to 130.

The Proposal

Prophet Muhammad's first wife was Khadijah. The couple married for twenty five years in Mecca.

When Khadijah died, Khawlah binti Hakim, who was the wife of 'Uthman bin Maz'un, came to him and said:

"O Rasulullah, will you not marry?"

"With whom?"

"A maiden, if you like, or a non-maiden."

"Who is the maiden?"

"The daughter of the dearest creature of God to you, Aishah bint Abu Bakr."

"And who is the non-maiden?"

"Sawdah bint Zam'ah bin Qays. She has long believed in you and has followed you."

"I would marry both of them. Why don't you go to propose them on my behalf?"

"Yes, Rasulullah."

The Ages and Motivations

Aisha was only 6 years old, while Sawdah was 52 years old.

The reason for marrying Sawdah was because he needed a mature woman to take care of his children, and to do the household errands for him for free.

The reason for marrying Aisha was because he needed to tie the bond with his most adherent supporter, Abu Bakr, who was Aisha's father.

The other reason was because he liked to have an intimacy with young girls.

Negotiating with Abu Bakr

Khawlah went to Abu Bakr's house, where she found Umm Ruman, mother of A'ishah, and said:

"O Umm Ruman, what a good thing and a blessing has Allah brought to you!"

"Oh, what is that?"

"The Messenger of Allah has sent me to ask for A'ishah's hand in marriage on his behalf."

"I ask that you wait for Abu Bakr, for he should be on his way."

When Abu Bakr came, Khawlah repeated what she had said.

"Oh, I don't know. She is like his brother's daughter. Would she be appropriate for him?"

"I will pass your concern to Rasulullah."

Khawlah returned to Prophet Muhammad, and told him about what Abu Bakr said.

"Go back to him and say that he is my brother in Islam and that I am his brother [in Islam], so his daughter is good for me."

She came to Abu Bakr and told him what Prophet Muhammad had said.

"Why don't you wait her. I have to meet al-Mutim bin Adi."

"Oh, okay."

Resolving the Previous Engagement

Abu Bakr went to Mut'im's house and met him and his wife. In the past, she had already asked Abu Bakr to let Aishah be married to her son.

"O son of Abu Quhafah, perhaps we could marry our son to your daughter, if you could make him leave his religion, and bring him in to the religion which you practice."

"What is she saying?"

"She says what you have heard."

What Mut'im and his wife meant was they did not want their son to marry Aishah anymore after they found out that Abu Bakr was a Muslim.

Abu Bakr left, realizing that Allah had just removed the problem he had in his mind.

The Marriage Agreement

He said to Khawlah, "Call the Messenger of Allah."

She called the Prophet and he came to meet Abu Bakr.

"O Rasulullah, I decided to accept your proposal to marry my daughter, Aishah."

"Thank you, Abu Bakr."

Abu Bakr married A'ishah to Prophet Muhammad when she was only six years old. At that time the Prophet was 51 years old, old enough to be her grandfather.

The Dream Justification

"Aisha, you were shown to me twice in my dream before I married you. I saw an angel carrying you in a silken piece of cloth, and I said to him, 'Uncover (her),' and behold, it was you. I said to myself, 'If this is from Allah, then it must happen.'"

Whether Prophet Muhammad actually had such a dream or he just said it to please Aisha is not the point. What matters here is that it indicates that Aisha was a baby being "carried" by an angel when the Prophet dreamt of her. The question is what kind of man dreams about marrying a baby?

Migration to Medina

A year later, Prophet Muhammad and the Muslims migrated from Mecca to Medina. Ayesha came to Medina. Her Dad, Abu Bakr, took up quarters in al-Sunnah among the Banu al-Harith bin al-Khazraj.

The Consummation

Ayesha and her friends used to play with the swing near her house.

Her mother came to her while she was being swung on a swing between two branches and got her down.

"Aisha, stop now and come with me. Jumaymah, help me to prepare Aisha."

"Jumaymah, my nurse, took over and wiped my face with some water."

"I was then brought into my house. There were a lot of people there."

"Then I saw the Messenger of God was sitting on a bed in our house."

"My mother made me sit on his lap and said, 'These are your relatives. May God bless you with them and bless them with you!'"

■Hadith References

The Prophet married me when I was six years old, and he consummated his marriage when she was nine years old. Sahih Bukhari, volume 7, book 62, number 64,88:

Narrated 'Ursa: The Prophet wrote the marriage contract with 'Aisha while she was six years old and consummated his marriage with her while she was nine years old.

Analysis of the Child Marriage

Let's evaluate this famous case of Islamic child bride. Prophet Muhammad married Aisha when he was fifty one years old and Aisha was only six. He consummated his marriage with Aisha when she was nine. But that does not mean he did not intimately touch Aisha before she reached nine years old.

According to Bukhari, the Prophet actually visited Aisha twice a day after he married with her.

Hadith Bukhari number 3905: "I don't remember a single day passing without our house being visited by Rasul Allah, in the morning and in the evening."

What Happened Before Age Nine?

What did Prophet Muhammad do to Aisha before she reached nine years old?

We find the answer from fatwa number 31409 dated the seven of Jumada-l-Ula, year 1421 Islamic Calendar.

This fatwa is produced by the Permanent Committee for Scientific Research and Religious Sanctions, Saudi Arabia.

The chairman: Abdel Aziz ben Abdullah ben Mohammed aal Sheik
Member 1: Bakr ben Abdullah Abu Zeid
Member 2: Saleh ben Fozan al Fozan

The fatwa was the answer for following question number 1809:

"It has become wide spread these days, and especially during weddings, the habit of mufa'khathat of the children. What is the opinion of scholars knowing full well that the prophet, the peace and prayer of Allah be upon him, also practiced the 'thighing' of Aisha - the mother of believers - may Allah be please with her."

So this man asking about mufa'khathat or thighing that Prophet Muhammad did toward Aisha, before Aisha reached nine years old.

What is Mufa'khathat or Thighing?

According to Mu'jam Lughat Al-fuqahā' or Dictionary of Islamic Legal Terminology, page 445, Thighing or mufa'khathat means shoving the male genital between the thighs of a woman.

■The Fatwa Response

> "It has not been the practice of the Muslims throughout the centuries to resort to this unlawful practice that has come to our countries, from pornographic movies that the kufar and enemies of Islam send. As for the prophet, peace and prayer of Allah be upon him, thighing his fiancée Aisha. She was six years of age and he could not have intercourse with her due to her small age. That is why the Prophet, peace and prayer of Allah be upon him, PLACED HIS MALE GENITAL BETWEEN HER THIGHS AND MASSAGED IT SOFTLY, as the apostle of Allah had control of his male genital not like other believers."

So, according to this fatwa, Prophet Muhammad couldn't do coitus with Aisha since she was too small. Therefore, to satisfy his twisted desire, he did the mufa'khathat to her.

Imagine that. A fifty one year old man did this to a six year old girl. To this day, Muslims consider this as a benevolent act on the part of the adult male "not wanting to harm her."

Seriously? What harm could be inflicted upon a young girl mentally and emotionally if not a grown man showing her his male genital and rubbing it between her legs?

Additional Fatwa Evidence

Fatwa number 92051 also explains about the mufa'khathat:

> "Asalamualaykum warahmatulahi wabarakathu. Can you explain to me the thing called 'thighing' also pronounced 'mufaakhathah'?"
> "All perfect praise be to Allah, the Lord of the Worlds. I testify that there is none worthy of worship except Allaah, and that Muhammad is His slave and Messenger. We ask Allaah to exalt his mention as well as that of his family and all his companions. The term Mufaakhathah means to have foreplay with the wife between her thighs. It is reported in one narration that when The Prophet SAW wanted to enjoy one of his wives who was in menstruation, he would put a piece of cloth on her vagina to cover it. This is from Sunan Ibn Majjah hadith. The author of Faydh Al-Qadeer interpreted the expression 'if he wanted to enjoy' to mean having all permissible foreplay but avoiding the vagina or the anus like in between her thighs, which is mufa'khathat. Allah Knows best."

He said that this information is based on Ibn Majjah hadith about Prophet Muhammad approaching his wife while she was having a period. We can find the Ibn Majjah hadith from the Encyclopedia of Islam.

Hadith Evidence for Thighing

This is Hadith Sunan Ibn Majah, number 628.

The translation of the Arabic version says:

Aisha says: "When one of us menstruated, the Prophet, may God's prayers and peace be upon him, ordered her to gird herself with a loincloth, then he had intercourse with her."

This hadith explains that Prophet Muhammad used to have intercourse with Aisha whilst she was on her period, but not through vagina because that is haram during menses.

Which means Prophet Muhammad did the mufa'khathath with Aisha's thighs.

We can see the same message in Bukhari number 31245.

This is the English translation of the hadith: "On the authority of Maimuna, she says that the Messenger of God, may God's prayers and peace be upon him, 'If he wanted to have sexual intercourse with one of his wives, she should wear a garment while she was menstruating.'"

How could the Prophet had intercourse with his wife during menses? By doing the mufa'khathat.

Legal Permissibility

This is Fatwa number 777718, also about the mufa'khathat:

"If the question refers to the thighing of a minor wife by her man then this is permissible. But if the question refers to the thighing of a non-wife then it's forbidden whether it's the thighing of a minor or an adult, a male or a female."

Contemporary Expert Analysis

Let's see the explanation from Ghada Jamshir about the practice of mufa'khathat in the middle east countries. Ghada Jamshir was a Bahraini women's rights activist and an ardent campaigner for the reform of Shari'a courts in Bahrain and the Arab Gulf states.

According to Ghada Jamshir, there several practices done by adult husband to their underage wives:

- altamatu'a bil almufakhaza (pleasure from sexual contact with her thighs)
- altamatu'a bil almuka'aba (pleasure from sexual contact with her breasts)
- altamatu'a bil alsagirah (pleasure from sexual contact with a baby girl)
- altamatu'a bil alradi'ah (pleasure from sexual contact with a suckling female infant)

Can it be crazier than this? And this is all related to Islam and what Muhammad did to Aisha.

So before the age of 9 Muhammad did everything except inside vagina.

Ayatollah Khomeini's Teachings

Ayatollah Khomeini, the founder of the Islamic republic of Iran, wrote in his book Tahreer al-Waseelah, vol. 2, page 216 about this practice with pre-pubescent children:

"A man can carry out all the sexual pleasures he desires on his bride, even if she is just a baby. He is entitled to thigh her, that is placing his male member between her thighs, heavily kiss her, grope her body with full of lust, and so on."

Does this sound like a religious guidance or satanic perversion?

Aisha's Experience

So, when Prophet Muhammad visited Ayesha in every day twice, you know what he did to her. If he could do something like that every single day to a little girl, he would not hesitate to go further and rape the child before she was a mature adult. This is exactly what Muhammad did to Aisha when she was yet a child of nine. Before she reached puberty, he began to have intercourse with her.

Evidence She Was Still a Child

Sahih Bukhari Volume 8, Book 73, Number 151:

"I used to play with the dolls in the presence of the Prophet, and my girl friends also used to play with me. When Allah's Apostle used to enter (my dwelling place) they used to hide themselves, but the Prophet would call them to join and play with me."

According to Ibn Hajar al-'Asqalani in his hadith explanation, Fateh al-Bari, page 143:

"The playing with the dolls and similar images is forbidden, but it was allowed for 'Aisha at that time, as she was a little girl, not yet reached the age of puberty."

Cultural Defense Refuted

Muslims usually argue that Muhammad was just following his culture and tradition at his time, and that marrying a girl as young as nine years old was an accepted norm of the Arab culture.

If that is true, then Muhammad was a product of a sick society. If he was as a genuine Prophet of God, he would have guided his people to abolish that sick tradition, instead of participated in it.

Marrying children was not part of the culture of any nation. It is actually contrary to human nature. Healthy grownup men only have parental feelings toward young children.

The point is that Muhammad was not mentally healthy.

Sahih Bukhari Volume 7, Book 62, Number 90 Narrated Aisha: When the Prophet married me, my mother came to me and made me enter the house and nothing surprised me but the coming of Allah's Apostle to me in the forenoon.

Abu Bakr wanted to marry Fatima (Muhammad's daughter), but Muhammad declined because 'Fatima is too young for Abu Bakr'. What about he himself with Aisha???
Sunan an-Nasa'i 26:3223 Narrated 'Abdullah bin Buraidah: It was narrated from 'Abdullah bin Buraidah that his father said: "Abu Bakr and 'Umar, may Allah be pleased with them, proposed marriage to Fatimah but the Messenger of Allah said: 'She is young.' (إِنَّهَا صَغِيرَةٌ, inna-haa sagheera) Then 'Ali proposed marriage to her and he married her to him."

Reference : Sahih al-Bukhari 5230
In-book reference : Book 67, Hadith 163
USC-MSA web (English) reference : Vol. 7, Book 62, Hadith 157

Narrated Al-Miswar bin Makhrama:
I heard Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) who was on the pulpit, saying, "Banu Hisham bin Al-Mughira have requested me to allow them to marry their daughter to `Ali bin Abu Talib, but I don't give permission, and will not give permission unless `Ali bin Abi Talib divorces my daughter in order to marry their daughter, because Fatima is a part of my body, and I hate what she hates to see, and what hurts her, hurts me."

To be sure that Prophet Muhammad wasn't the only one who is allowed to marry a prepubescent girl, Allah revealed Qur'an, Surah Al-Talaq, verse 4:
"And if you are in doubt as to the prescribed period for such of your women as have despaired of monthly courses, then know that the prescribed period for them is three months, and also for such as do not have their monthly courses yet. And as for those who are with child, their period shall be until they are delivered of their burden. And whoso fears Allah, he will provide facilities for him in his affair."

Background Story from Tafsir Tabari

The following story is from Tafsir Tabari, about the event behind the revelation of Qur'an, Surah Al Talaq, verse 4.

One day, Prophet Muhammad chatted with his companions. As usual, the topic of conversation was about women and sexual intercourse.

This is Allah's law regarding Iddat, which is waiting period of a female must observe before she can remarry.

Allah said in Qur'an that a Muslima has to wait for three months before she can remarry. This is important to be sure that she is not pregnant with her previous husband when she remarry.

One of Prophet's companions named Ubay ibn Ka'b asked a question:

"O Rasul Allah, there are some females that you do not mention about their Idda such as old women, small girls, and pregnant women."

Here is Qur'an, Surah Al Talaq, verse four:

"And as for those of your women (1) who have despaired of menstruation which are old women, if you have a doubt, their prescribed time shall be three months, (2) and of those too who have not had their courses, which are little girls who are too young to have menstruation; their waiting period shall also be three months. (3) And those who are pregnant, their term the conclusion of their prescribed waiting period, if divorced or if their spouses be dead, shall be when they deliver. And whoever fears God He will make matters ease for him in this world and in the Hereafter."

Interpretation and Implications

From Prophet Muhammad's explanation, we understand that the sentence "for such as do not have their monthly courses yet" is about little girls who are too young to have menstruation.

This means, a Muslim can marry a girl at any age, from a day old to older. Yes, with Qur'an, Surah Al-Talaq, verse 4, the Prophet declared that there is no age limit to marry a girl in Islam.

Sharia Law References

This information is emphasized in Sharia Law book titled "Reliance of the Traveler" or Umdat al Salik, one of the most renowned classical manuals of fiqh, in page 567, law number n9.2:

"A waiting period is obligatory for a woman divorced after intercourse, whether the husband and wife are prepubescent, have reached puberty, or one has and the other has not."

Number n9.9 reads: "The waiting period for a woman who does not menstruate, whether prepubescent or post-menopausal, is 3 months."

We can clearly see here that, in Islam, marriage to prepubescent girls is allowed and regulated, with divorce rules for such little girls in operation.

Physical Implications and Medical Concerns

The implication of this law can be very damaging physically for underage girls, and this is acknowledged in the same book, page 592.

The Indemnity for Bodily Injuries: "A full indemnity is also paid for injuries which paralyze these members, or for injuring the peritioneal wall between vagina and rectum so they become one aperture."

What does this mean? See a medical anatomy model of a girl's lower body part. The forced penetration by an adult man to the underage girl causes her small vagina to rupture and rip apart up to her rectum.

You can imagine the pain that the little girl suffers because of this action.

Additional Sharia References

This is another Sharia book titled "Heavenly Ornaments" or Bahisti Zewar that also mentions this type of injury. The paragraph talks about ghusl or ritual washing after having intercourse:

"If a woman is under age but not so small that if one has intercourse with her there is a fear of the vaginal tissues tearing to such extent that the vagina and anus will virtually come together; then by the insertion of the glans of the penis into her vagina ghusl will become fardh on the man if he has reached the age of puberty. However if there is the aforementioned fear in a very minor girl, then mere insertion of the penis does not render ghusl obligatory."

This means that if the man is an adult and he is worried that inserting his genital to a prepubescent, or an infant or a baby girl can cause the tearing of the vagina to the anus, then just insert the head of his penis.

This is really sick!

Further Legal Documentation

We can read a similar explanation from another Sharia book titled "A Digest of Moohummudan Law, Part II," translated by Neil Baillie. This is about the Marriage Law in Islam, page 26:

"When a man has had sexual intercourse with a girl under the age of nine years, and has ruptured the parts."

You know what parts we are talking about here. It is her vagina, tearing apart because of what the adult man did to her.

"It is unlawful for him to have further connection with her, but she is not released from her ties, if connected with him by marriage or slavery."

This means that if the vagina ruptures, then the man should not continue the coitus. But that doesn't mean that the girl can divorce the man, if the man is her husband, or that the girl is free if the man is her slave master.

"If no rupture has taken place, the prohibition is not incurred according to the most valid opinion."

This means that if no rupture happens, then the man can go ahead to continue with the coitus.

Conclusion

The fact that the rupture incident is mentioned repeatedly in many Sharia books, means that such horrific accidents happen often during child marriages. Islamic law doesn't protect the safety or uphold the honor of little girls. Qur'an, Surah Al-Talaq, verse 4 opens up opportunities for sexual predators to destroy numerous small girls, morally and physically since 1400 years ago up to now.

■Abu Bakr and Umm Ruman (his wife)

It has been three years, but the Prophet hasn't consummated his marriage yet with Aisha.

Yeah, I wonder why.
I think because Aisha is too skinny.
I see.
Should we fatten her up then?
Yes, that's a good idea.

Aisha's Account:

Sunan Abi Dawud, Hadith: 3898, Sunan Ibn Majah, Hadith: 3324 Aisha says, “My mother wanted me to gain some weight before going [to the home] of Rasulullah (sallallahu ‘alayhi wa sallam). Nothing [benefitted me] until she fed me cucumber and fresh dates which [helped me] gain weight nicely.”

■Islamic Jurisprudence on Child Marriage

This is from Commentary on Sahih Muslim, Volume 3, page 577 — regarding the time for a child bride to withstand intercourse:

As for the time a young married girl goes to her husband to engage in sexual intercourse, it is permissible at any time, provided there is no harm to the girl and both the husband and the girl's guardian approve.

According to Ahmed Hanbali, if they disagree, then she is forced to join her husband at nine years old.

This means that when Prophet Muhammad and Abu Bakr agreed that Aisha was ready to have coitus, the Prophet could proceed immediately — regardless of her age or whether she consented or not.

> This is nothing but rape.

■From Fiqh Literature:

A fiqih book titled Radd al-Muhtar ala al-Durr al-Mukhtar, Volume 5, page 283, states:

> "Withstanding penetration means being able to withstand it from a penis or another object in breaking the hymen. This cannot be determined by a minimum age — for example, fat girls can withstand intercourse even if they were very young."

How do they know about this?
Did they do some tests with some fat and not-so-fat very young girls?

This is also the reason why Abu Bakr and his wife fattened up Aisha, so she could withstand the first intercourse.

Abu Bakr and his wife became bad parents because they blindly followed the very bad, perverted Prophet.

■Aisha's Puberty and Consummation

Had Aisha already reached her puberty when Prophet Muhammad consummated his marriage with her?

In Islam, a girl who has reached puberty is considered a mature person and must comply fully with Shariah law.
She would no longer be allowed to play with dolls, since dolls resemble images, which are haram in Islam.

■Primary Hadith Sources

Sahih Muslim 1422c – Book 16, Hadith 83

> Aisha reported that Allah's Apostle (ﷺ) married her when she was seven years old, > and she was taken to his house as a bride when she was nine, and her dolls were with her.
> When he (the Holy Prophet) died, she was eighteen years old.

Reference : Sunan Abi Dawud 4932
In-book reference : Book 43, Hadith 160
English translation : Book 42, Hadith 4914
Sunan Abi Dawud 4932

Narrated Aisha, Ummul Mu'minin:

When the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) arrived after the expedition to Tabuk or Khaybar, the draught raised an end of a curtain that was hung in front of her store-room, revealing some dolls that belonged to her.

Muhammad asked:
What is this?

Aisha replied:
You know, my dolls.

He asked:
What is this I see among them?

She answered:
That's a horse.

He asked:
What is this that it has on it?

She said:
Two wings.

He responded:
A horse with two wings? Have you not heard that Solomon had horses with wings?

Thereupon the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) laughed so heartily that she could see his molar teeth.

■Conclusion

The ahadith from Sunan Abi Dawud and Sahih Muslim explain that even while living in the Prophet's house, Aisha still played with her dolls.

This indicates that Aisha was still a prepubescent girl when the Prophet began consummating his marriage with her.

Wonder where the female headed donkey called Burak came from when Muhammad was sleeping at Umm Hami's house?

Was Muhammad waiting for Ayesha to grow up? Is that why he raped at 9 not on 6? No. Muhammad had no money to pay her bride for vaginal sex:

After the Hijrah, Abu Bakr (RA) said to the Messenger of Allah, "O Messenger of Allah! Why have you not brought your wife to your home?"
The Beloved Prophet replied, "At this moment, I do not have the means to pay the dower (mahr)."
Abu Bakr (RA) then requested, "If only you would accept my money."
The Prophet then took a loan from Abu Bakr (RA) and sent it to Aisha (RA).

Al-Tabari, Vol. 39, pp. 171-173:

A'ishah, daughter of Abu Bakr.
Her mother was Umm Ruman bt. 'Umayr b. 'Amr, of the Banu Duhman b. al-Harith b. Ghanm b. Malik b. Kinanah.
The Prophet married 'A'ishah in Shawwal in the tenth year after the (beginning of his) prophethood, three years before Emigration. He consummated the marriage in Shawwal, eight months after Emigration. On the day he consummated the marriage with her she was nine years old.
According to Ibn 'Umayr (al-Waqidi)- Musa b. Muhammad b. 'Abd al-Rahman- Raytah- 'Amrah (bt. 'Abd al-Rahman b. Sa'd): 'A'ishah was asked when the Prophet consummated his marriage with her, and she said:
The Prophet left us and his daughters behind when he emigrated to Medina. Having arrived at Medina, he sent Zayd b. Harithah and his client Abu Rafi' for us. He gave them two camels and 500 dirhams he had taken from Abu Bakr to buy (other) beasts they needed. Abu Bakr sent with them 'Abdallah b. Urayqit al-Dili, with two or three camels. He wrote to (his son) 'Abdallah b. Abi Bakr to take his wife Umm Ruman, together with me and my sister Asma', al-Zubayr's wife, (and leave for Medina). They all left (Medina) together, and when they arrived at Qudayd Zayd b. Harithah bought three camels with those 500 dirhams. All of them then entered Mecca, where they met Talhah b. 'Ubaydallah on his way to leave town, together with Abu Bakr's family. So we all left: Zayd b. Harithah, Abu Rafi', Fatimah, Umm Kulthum, and Sawdah bt. Zam'ah. Ayd mounted Umm Ayman and (his son) Usamah b. Zayd on a riding beast; 'Abdallah b. Abi Bakr took Umm Ruman and his two sisters, and Talhah b. 'Ubaydallah came (too). We all went together, and when we reached Bayd in Tamanni my camel broke loose. I was sitting in the litter together with my mother, and she started exclaiming "Alas, my daughter, alas (you) bride"; then they caught up with our camel, after it had safely descended the Lift. We then arrived at Medina, and I stayed with Abu Bakr's children, and (Abu Bakr) went to the Prophet. The latter was then busy building the mosque and our homes around it, where he (later) housed his wives. We stayed in Abu Bakr's house for a few days; then Abu Bakr asked (the Prophet) "O Messenger of God, what prevents you from consummating the marriage with your wife?" The Prophet said "The bridal gift (sadaq)." Abu Bakr gave him the bridal gift, twelve and a half ounces (of gold), and the Prophet sent for us. He consummated our marriage in my house, the one where I live now and where he passed away.

She was so tiny at 6:

Description of ʿĀʾishah's Menstruation

Those of you who have studied Islamic history are surely aware that after migrating to Madinah, the Prophet (peace be upon him) came to perform Hajj for the first time in 629

CE, that is, in the 7th year after the Hijrah. ʿĀʾishah was born in either 613 or 614 CE. That means she was around 15 years old at that time. From this hadith, it becomes clear that this was around the time ʿĀʾishah had her first menstruation (ḥayḍ). This is because girls typically experience more pain and emotional responses such as crying at the beginning of their menstrual cycles. Notably, there is no prior information indicating that ʿĀʾishah had menstruated before this. [Sahih al-Bukhari 294]

Dear readers, please pay close attention to the name of the chapter under which this hadith is found. In Arabic, the chapter title is:

بَاب كَيْفَ كَانَ بَدْءُ الْحَيْضِ
Which translates to: "How menstruation began."
Now tell me, whose menstruation is being described here?

Sahih al-Bukhari (Islamic Foundation edition)
Volume 6: Menstruation
Chapter 203: The account of menstruation

> And the word of Allah (Qur'an 2:222):
> "They ask you concerning menstruation. Say: It is a discomfort and impurity. So keep away from wives during menstruation, and do not approach them until they are purified. When they have purified themselves, then come to them as Allah has commanded you. Truly, Allah loves those who repent and those who purify themselves."
> The Prophet (peace be upon him) said:
> "This is a matter Allah has decreed for the daughters of Adam."
>
> According to some, menstruation began first among the women of Banu Israel. Abu ʿAbdullah al-Bukhari (rahimahullah) said:
>
> "The hadith of the Prophet (peace be upon him) is what is to be accepted."

ʿAli ibn ʿAbdullah narrated from ʿĀʾishah (RA):

"We had set out with the intention of performing Hajj. When we reached a place called Sarif, I began to menstruate. The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) came to me and found me crying. He said: 'What happened to you? Have you started your period?' I replied, 'Yes.'
He said: 'This is something Allah has ordained for the daughters of Adam. So, do everything that a pilgrim does, except that you should not perform the ṭawāf (circumambulation) of the Kaʿbah.'
ʿĀʾishah (RA) said: The Prophet (peace be upon him) then sacrificed a cow on behalf of his wives."

*At the same time, you are surely aware that the Battle of Khaybar took place in May or June of 628 CE. The Battle of Tabuk occurred even later. Hadith evidence shows that even at that time, ʿĀʾishah was still playing with dolls—meaning, she had not yet begun menstruating. [*Sunan Abi Dawud 4932 ]
This implies that until 628 CE, at the age of about 14, ʿĀʾishah had not yet had her period. Based on the earlier narration, we can be certain that her first menstruation occurred around the time of the first Hajj in 629 CE, at approximately age 15.

Why Muslims Should Reject the Quran

THE APPROVAL OF GOD

At about the age of forty, Muhammad was convinced that he had received a revelation from Allah. And for the remaining twenty-three years of his life, he continued to receive such revelations. Well, what evidence did Muhammad provide to validate the Quran as the inspired Word of God? Centuries earlier when Moses was chosen to deliver the message of God, Jehovah empowered him with powerful miracles to validate his appointment as a Prophet of the true God:

Exodus 4:2-9: Then Jehovah said to him: "What is that in your hand?" He answered: "A rod." He said: "Throw it on the ground." So he threw it on the ground, and it became a serpent; and Moses fled from it. Jehovah now said to Moses: "Reach out your hand and seize it by the tail." So he reached out and seized it, and it became a rod in his hand. God then said: "This is so that they may believe that Jehovah the God of their forefathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you."

Jehovah said to him once more: "Put your hand, please, into the upper fold of your garment." So he put his hand into the fold of his garment. When he drew it out, why, his hand was stricken with leprosy like snow! Then he said: "Return your hand into the upper fold of your garment." So he returned his hand into his garment. When he drew it out of the garment, it was restored like the rest of his flesh! He said: "If they will not believe you or pay attention to the first sign, then they will certainly heed the next sign. Still, even if they will not believe these two signs and refuse to listen to your voice, you will take some water from the Nile River and pour it out on the dry land, and the water that you take from the Nile will become blood on the dry land."
Seeing these powerful miracles, the people believed:

Exodus 4:30-31: ". . . and he performed the signs before the eyes of the people. At this the people believed."
These powerful miracles proved that Moses was indeed a true Prophet of God. But more importantly, they validated the authenticity of the Scriptures which God revealed through Moses. The Quran acknowledges that God empowered Moses to perform many outstanding miracles. (Surah 26:10-67) Centuries later when Jesus came, the question of authenticity was once again answered through the demonstration of powerful miracles. With Jehovah's divine backing, Jesus performed many powerful signs to authenticate that he was indeed sent by God. The following are some of his outstanding miracles:
Matthew 11:5: The blind are seeing and the lame are walking, the lepers are being cleansed and the deaf are hearing, the dead are being raised up and the poor are being told the good news.
The Quran acknowledges these powerful miracles of Jesus. Confirming this undeniable truth, the following Quranic verse cites the testimony of Jesus:

Surah 3:49: "I heal the blind and the lepers and bring the dead back to life, by the permission of God. I can tell you about what you eat and what you store in your homes. This is a miracle for you if you want to have faith." (Sarwar)

On account of the powerful miracles, Jesus could say to the religious leaders of his day:

John 10:37-38: "If I am not doing the works of my Father, do not believe me. But if I am doing them, even though you do not believe me, believe the works."

God chose Moses and Jesus to introduce *"a new system of things" for the outworking of his divine purpose to save mankind from sin and death. God assigned Moses to introduce *"a new system of things" by instituting the Law Covenant. Centuries later when the time came to replace the Law Covenant, God assigned Jesus to introduce *"a new system of things" by instituting the New Covenant. It is vital to note that to validate the authenticity of the *"new system of things" which God established through each of them individually, he empowered both Moses and Jesus with miracles. But what signs did God provide to prove that he is now introducing *"a new system of things" in Arabia through Muhammad? None!

In view of the fact that the earlier Messengers of God performed many powerful miracles to validate the authenticity of their message, the contemporaries of Muhammad demanded divine evidence to validate his message. However, since there were no signs or miracles to authenticate the Quran, they rejected his message:

Surah 21:5: They have said: "It (the Quran) is only the result of some confused dreams. He is only a poet. He should show us some miracles as the ancient Prophets had done." (Sarwar)

Muhammad openly confessed the reason for his inability to perform miracles:

Surah 17:93: "Glory be to my Lord. Am I any more than a human messenger?" (Rashad)

This is a lame excuse by Muhammad. The other messengers of God who performed miracles are they not humans? As a result, his contemporaries viewed him not as a messenger of God but as a madman:

Surah 15:6: And they say, "O you upon whom the Message has been sent down, indeed you are mad." (Sahih International)

Furthermore, when the contemporaries of Muhammad demanded miracles as evidence to authenticate the legitimacy of his message, Allah dodged them by saying:

Surah 17:59: What stopped us from sending the miracles is that the previous generations have rejected them. (Rashad)

Contrary to this false claim of Allah, multitudes of Jews and Christians who lived before the time of Muhammad did believe in the miracles performed by both Moses and Jesus. The Quran itself admits that even the magic practicing priest of Egypt repented and abandoned their demonic practices when they witnessed the powerful miracles performed by Moses. (Surah 7:113-122) It is hard to imagine how Muslims can put faith in this lame excuse of Allah. In contrast, Jehovah performed many powerful miracles through Moses, Jesus and many other prophets. These powerful miracles validated the authenticity of the messages they were commissioned to deliver. And the miracles also validated their appointment as Prophets of the true God. In fact, the Quran substantiates this vital truth as one of the reasons why God empowered Jesus to perform miracles. In the following Quranic verse, Jesus testifies:

Surah 3:49: "I have brought you Signs of my appointment from your Lord." (Farook Malik)

The powerful miracles of Jesus validated his appointment as a representative of the true God. Yes! Jesus came with credentials. Muhammad had none. But more importantly, the powerful miracles of Jesus validated the legitimacy of his message. They proved that the Gospel is indeed the inspired Word of God. Unlike Jesus, Muhammad could not say to his contemporaries:

John 10:38: Even though you do not believe me, believe the works.

Neither Allah nor Muhammad provided any evidences to prove that the Quran is indeed the authentic Word of God. The Quran did not have the seal of approval from the true God. This provides a strong reason for Muslims to reject the Quran. Well, what about the claim that the Quran is a miracle?

IS THE QURAN A MIRACLE?

Muslims claim that the Quran is a miracle in itself. This claim must be analyzed objectively. For a miracle to be truly miraculous, it should be recognized as such no matter where a person may live. For example, when someone is raised from the dead, it will be recognized as a miracle in Europe, Africa, Asia or any other place on earth. Both the Bible and the Quran acknowledge that Jesus performed many powerful works. Both confirm that he cured the lepers, restored the sight of those born blind, and raised the dead. This is the true definition of a miracle. It does not need any interpretation, translation, education, explanation or above the average intelligence to recognize it as a miracle.

Coming to the Quran, Muslims claim that only when it is read in the original Arabic language, one can see the miracle in it. Today more than 80% of the world's population are not Muslims. As such, they simply cannot see the Quran as anything remotely close to a miracle as Muslims claim. As for the remaining 20% who are Muslims, most of them do not read or understand Arabic. This means that the great majority of the Muslims themselves cannot see it as a miracle. Furthermore, we must understand which Arabic is being discussed here? The Arabic of the Quran is Archaic Arabic which is totally different from the spoken Arabic of today. This means that even most Arabs today cannot see it as a miracle. And even those who knew the Arabic of the Quran did not view it as a miracle. The contemporaries of Muhammad who had thorough knowledge of the Arabic of his day were not impressed. Instead of viewing the Quran as a miracle as Muslims claim, this is how they responded:

Surah 8:31: And when Our Verses of the Qur'an are recited to them, they say: "We have heard this (the Qur'an); if we wish we can say the like of this. This is nothing but the tales of the ancients." (Hilali-Khan)

Now, try giving the Quran to a man who does not know Arabic and tell him: *"This is a miracle." What do you think would be his response? His response would very likely be something like this:

"What miracle? Are you kidding me? I don't understand this language. I cannot see any miracle in it. How could this be a miracle? It might be a miracle for you, but not for me."

Today many – including Muslims – express doubts when they read the Quran in the language they could understand. When they read the Quran with understanding, they realize not only does it contain numerous errors but also teachings that are morally unacceptable. For example, when they read verses such as the following, they become doubtful:

Surah 15:19: And the earth We have spread out (sutihat) like a carpet. (Yusuf Ali)

Tafsir al-Jalalayn is recognized as one of the most important exegeses of the Quran. It is an early classical Tafsir of the Quran. On page 509, al-Jalalayn stated the following:

"And the earth, how it was laid out flat . . . As for His words sutihat, 'laid out flat,' this on a literal reading suggests that the earth is flat, which is the opinion of most of the scholars of the revealed Law, and not a sphere as astronomers (ahl al-hay'a) have it."

In contrast, if you go to the inspired writings of the Bible, you will discover how it perfectly describes the shape of the earth with scientific accuracy:

Isaiah 40:22: "There is One who is dwelling above the circle of the earth."

The Book of Isaiah was written more than 700 years before Christ. Yet it accurately describes planet earth as a globe. Whereas the Quran which was revealed about 600 years after Christ believes that the earth is as flat as a carpet. Where is the miracle in this? Well, how does the Quran measure-up in its teachings on morality? Shockingly it contains numerous teachings that are morally offensive. We will consider just two examples:

Surah 33:50: O Prophet! Behold, We have made lawful to you your wives unto whom you have paid their dowers, as well as those whom your right hand has come to possess from among the captives of war whom Allah has bestowed upon you. (Asad)

Allah made it lawful for Muhammad to engage in sexual intercourse with the women captives of war. By authorizing Muhammad to engage in sexual intercourse with the female captives, Allah sanctions rape in the Quran. The above Quranic verse also reveals it is Allah who provides these captives for his Prophet to rape. Allah does not overlook the rest of the Muslims either:

Surah 4:24: Also forbidden are married women, except those who have passed into your hands as prisoners of war. This is a commandment of God to you. (W. Khan)

Tafsir Ibn Kathir on Surah 4:24:

*Imam Ahmad recorded that Abu Sa`id Al-Khudri said, "*We captured some women from the area of Awtas who were already married, and we disliked having sexual relations with them because they already had husbands. So, we asked the Prophet about this matter, and this Ayah was revealed, 'Also forbidden are women already married, except those whom your right hands possess*.* Accordingly, we had sexual relations with these women.'" This is the wording collected by At-Tirmidhi An-Nasa'i, Ibn Jarir and Muslim in their Sahih.

Muhammad's men were reluctant to engage in sexual intercourse with the captives because they were already married. They consulted Muhammad and Allah immediately revealed a Quranic verse authorizing them to rape these women. Whatever trace of decency they had just moments ago were now obliterated by this single verse in the Quran. And they began raping these women with an untroubled conscience. While Muslims are prohibited from engaging in sexual intercourse with married women, there is an exception to this rule if the married woman is a captive of war. Under such circumstances, Muslims are authorized to rape these married women. Rape is clearly sanctioned in the Quran. Can the Quran which contains such evil teachings be described as a miracle? The evidences we have provided is just the tip of the iceberg. There are many more damaging evidences against the Quran.

DOES THE QURAN CONFIRM THE PREVIOUS SCRIPTURES?

The Quran repeatedly claims to confirm the previous Scriptures of God. The following is just one out of the many that can be found in the Quran:

Surah 5:46-48: We caused Jesus, son of Mary, to follow in their footsteps, confirming that which was revealed before him in the Torah*, and We bestowed on him the* Gospel wherein is guidance and a light, confirming that which was revealed before it in the Torah – a guidance and an admonition unto those who ward off evil . . . And unto you We revealed the Scripture (Quran) with truth, confirming whatever Scripture was before it, and a watcher over it. (Pickthall)

One of the most outstanding attributes of God is his quality of consistency:

1 Corinthians 14:33: God is not a God of confusion, but of order.

Therefore, we would expect all his revealed Scriptures to be consistent with one other. This is certainly true with the Torah and the Gospel. The Gospel is thoroughly consistent with the inspired writings of the Torah. The Quran itself testifies to this undeniable truth:

Surah 5:46: Then in the footsteps of the prophets, We sent Jesus, son of Mary, confirming the Torah revealed before him. And We gave him the Gospel containing guidance and light and confirming what was revealed in the Torah. (The Clear Quran)

Consistency between the various Scriptures of God is mandatory to validate their authenticity. It would be impracticable to validate their claim of authenticity if they are inconsistent in any way with one another. Thus, the consistency between the Torah and the Gospel confirms their authenticity. Since the Quran claims to confirm the previous Scriptures, then it should be consistent with the teachings of the previous Scriptures. But is that true with the Quran? Let us consider an example.

The Almighty God revealed his divine name in the Bible. His divine name is Jehovah. This divine name is of paramount importance throughout the Bible. The significance of the name of God is emphasized in both the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament) and the Christian Greek Scriptures (New Testament). God revealed his divine name to Moses and to his chosen people:

Exodus 6:2-3: Then God said to Moses: "I am Jehovah. And I used to appear to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob as God Almighty."
2 Samuel 7:24: You established your people Israel as your own people for all time and you, O Jehovah*, have become their God.*
Psalm 83:18: May people know that you, whose name is Jehovah*, You alone are the Most High over all the earth.*
When a Scribe who was well-versed in the Hebrew Scriptures asked Jesus which is the greatest commandment, Jesus answered:
Mark 12:29-30: "The first is, 'Hear, O Israel, Jehovah our God is one Jehovah*, and you must love* Jehovah your God with your whole heart and with your whole soul and with your whole mind and with your whole strength.'" (NWT)
The above encounter between Jesus and the Jewish Scribe is recorded in the Christian Greek Scriptures. Yet, Jesus quoted word for word from Deuteronomy 6:4-5. This not only verifies the perfect harmony between the Hebrew and the Christian Greek Scriptures but it also testifies to the significance of the divine name of God. Both Moses and Jesus came in the divine name of Jehovah. (Exodus 3:15; Mark 11:9) On the night before his execution, Jesus declared to his Father in prayer:
John 17:6: I have made your name manifest to the men whom you gave me out of the world.
Like the ancient prophets of God, Jesus and his disciples also manifested the divine name of God to others. It is mandatory for the prophets who represent the true God to speak in the name of Jehovah. If a prophet who claims to represent the true God *"*speaks in the name of other gods," he will be put to death:
Deuteronomy 18:20: If any prophet presumptuously speaks a word in my name that I did not command him to speak or speaks in the name of other gods, that prophet must die.
According to this divine law of God, Muhammad should be put to death. He did not come in Jehovah's name but in the name of Allah. But who is Allah? Allah is the name of a pagan deity in Arabia. The pagans worshipped Allah long before Muhammad came onto the scene. Allah was one of the deities worshipped at the Ka'ba. Allah was the chief deity of the Quraysh tribe to which Muhammad belonged.

Muhammad's father died long before the arrival of Islam. In fact, he died before Muhammad was even born. He was a pagan. Yet, he carried the name of Allah. His name was Abd Allah (Abdullah) which means *"Slave of Allah." This proves that the pagans worshipped Allah long before the time of Islam. Muhammad's grandfather was named Abdul Muttaleb, meaning slave of Muttaleb. Not only does this confirm that Allah was a pagan deity but it also proves the pre-Islamic origin of Allah. Allah was part of the polytheistic system of worship which existed in pagan Arabia. Muhammad belonged to the pagan religion of his parents. He grew up as a pagan and remained as a pagan until his alleged calling as a prophet at the age of forty. The Quran verifies this irrefutable truth:

Surah 42:52: And thus We by Our Command sent Revelation to you (O Prophet): You did not know before what was Revelation, and what was Faith. (Syed Vickar Ahamed)

Muslims will find it difficult to accept the fact that Muhammad was a pagan. However, the great scholars of Islam recognize this truth about Muhammad's pagan origin. The renowned Arab scholar and historian, Hisham ibn al-Kalbi (737 C.E. – 819 C.E.) confirmed the pagan origin of Muhammad in his scholarly work known as Kitab al-Asnam (The Book of Idols). And he documented the following:

We have been told that the Apostle of Allah once mentioned al-Uzza saying, "I have offered a white sheep to al-Uzza, while I was a follower of the religion of my people." (p. 17)

Al-Uzza was one of the female deities worshipped by the Quraysh pagans. Muhammad who belonged to this tribe was once a worshipper of this pagan idol. And he made sacrifices to this idol. In contrast to Muhammad, both Moses and Jesus knew the true God from infancy. From infancy they worshipped Jehovah – the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Would the true God who after choosing every single one of his prophets from among those who were true worshippers, now choose a prophet from among the pagans? Muhammad not only came from a pagan family but he himself was an idol-worshipper?

The Bible clearly identifies Jehovah as the only true God. He is the true Author of the Scriptures that were revealed to the Jews and the Christians. The divine name of God appears in both the Hebrew and the Christian Greek Scriptures. However, we cannot find a single reference to this divine name in the entire Quran. The Quran does not confirm the divine name of God. Thus, the claim that the Quran confirms the previous Scriptures is a preposterous lie. However, to justify this lie, Muslims claim that the Quran does confirm the previous Scriptures but as they were originally revealed. In other words, they claim that our Bible has become corrupted. We will now expose their deception.

IS THE BIBLE CORRUPTED?

Muslims claim that our Bible has become corrupted. But since when? The Scriptures of the Bible could not have become corrupted either before or during the time of the Quran's revelation. If they were, it would falsify the Quran's claim to confirm the previous Scriptures since this would now mean that the Quran is confirming corrupted Scriptures. Thus, if at all the previous Scriptures were corrupted, it has to be after the time of Muhammad. We will now prove why it is impossible to corrupt the Bible after the time of Muhammad. In fact, the Quran itself rules out such a possibility. To begin, it repeatedly testifies that the previous Scriptures of the Bible were revealed by Allah:

Surah 5:44: Lo! We did reveal the Torah*, wherein is guidance and a light. (Pickthall)*
Surah 4:163: ". . . and to David We gave the Psalms." (Yusuf Ali)
Surah 5:46: We sent after them in their footsteps Jesus, son of Mary, verifying that which was before him of the Torah; and We gave him the Gospel containing guidance and light. (Maulana)

All the above mentioned Scriptures can only be found in the Bible that we have in our possession today. Therefore, if the Bible has become corrupted, then it means that Allah has failed to preserve his Scriptures which he revealed to the Jews and the Christians. Moreover, when Muslims reject the Bible, all these Scriptures of Allah simply disappear into oblivion. Are Muslims willing to accept this? Now read the following Quranic verses carefully:

Surah 6:115: None can change His Words. He is the All-Hearer, the All-Knower. (Hilali-Khan)

Surah 10:64: None can change the Words of Allah. This is indeed the Supreme Triumph. (Pickthall)
Surah 18:27: There is none who can change His Words. (Pickthall)
Since *"none can change the Words of Allah," then this proves that the Bible which contains the Scriptures of Allah cannot be changed or corrupted as Muslims falsely claim. Honest Muslim scholars recognize the fact that it is absolutely impossible for the previous Scriptures to become corrupted. Among them is none other Fakhr al-Din al-Razi (1149 C.E.–1209 C.E.), a well-respected Sunni Muslim Theologian and Philosopher of Persian origin. In his Tafsir (Commentary) which is based on the authoritative works of Ibn Abbas – a paternal cousin of Prophet Muhammad – he stated the following:
"The Jew and early Christians were suspected of altering the text of the Tawrat and Injil; but in the opinion of eminent doctors and theologians, it was not practicable thus to corrupt the text, because those Scriptures were generally known and widely circulated, having been handed down from generation to generation. No interpolation could therefore be made in them*, although it is admitted that some people used to conceal their true sense and interpretation." (Sayyid Ahmad, THE MOHAMMEDAN COMMENTARY ON THE HOLY BIBLE, 7th discourse, p.81)*
Fakhr al-Din al-Razi provided solid evidences to substantiate why it is impossible for the previous Scriptures to become corrupted. His conclusions are based on the documented evidences of the *"eminent doctors and theologians of Islam." According to these scholars, it is impossible to corrupt the previous Scriptures after the time of Muhammad because by then these *"Scriptures were generally known and widely circulated." Therefore, it is impossible for any individual to clandestinely corrupt them. Any alterations can be easily detected. They also testified that *"it was not practicable to corrupt the text." In other words, no intrusions of any sort can be made by the deliberate insertion of foreign or unauthorized words into the written text of the previous Scriptures. Therefore, no textual corruption is possible.
All these evidences clearly disprove the Muslim claim that the previous Scriptures were corrupted after the time of Muhammad. Muslims beware!

Each time you claim that the Bible has become corrupted, you falsify the Quran at the same instance. And each time you claim that the Bible has become corrupted, you accuse Allah of failure to preserve his previous Scriptures as he had guaranteed in the Quran:

Surah 5:48: And to you We have revealed the Book containing the truth, confirming the earlier Revelations and preserving them from change and corruption. (Ahmed Ali)

Since the Quran testifies that none can change the words of Allah, this means that the divine name Jehovah as it is revealed in the previous Scriptures is the true name of God. Yet, this divine name does not appear in the Quran – even once. All these evidences prove that the Quran does not confirm the previous Scriptures as it claims. In desperation, Muslims try to justify this obvious error by falsely claiming that the Bible has become corrupted. As proven, the error lies with the Quran. As such, the Quran simply cannot be the Word of God!

Of course, it is not Allah but Jehovah who inspired the Scriptures of the Bible. He is the true Author. However, our reason for presenting the claim of Allah as evidence is merely to prove to the Muslims how their very own Quran confirms the integrity of the Bible.

IS THE QURAN CONSISTENT WITH ITSELF?

If the Quran is truly inspired by God, it must be consistent with itself. However, a careful study of the Quran exposes serious contradictions within its teachings. The Quran not only acknowledges these contradictions but it also tries to explain away the reason for such discrepancies in it:

Surah 2:106: None of Our revelations do We abrogate or cause to be forgotten, but We substitute something better or similar*: Know that Allah has power over all things? (Yusuf Ali)*

How can a perfect verse of Allah be substituted with a *"better" verse when all his verses are supposed to be perfect from the start? How can one perfect verse be *"better" than another perfect verse? Also, what logical reason is there for Allah to replace a verse with another *"similar" verse? Moreover, why should Allah cause his own verses to be *"forgotten" after revealing them? This is even more damaging when we realize that the entire Quran was revealed within a short period of just twenty-three years. The fact that some of its verses were abrogated within such a short period of time clearly disproves the claim of divine inspiration. According to Islamic sources, some verses were even abrogated within a day after they were revealed.

Jalaluddin Al-Suyuti (1445–1505 C.E.) is an esteemed Muslim scholar who was given the title, *"Son of Books." He clarified the circumstances for the revelation of Surah 2:106. Quoting the words of Ibn Abbas on the subject of abrogation in the Quran, he revealed the following shocking truth.

Al-Suyuti, Asbab al-Nuzul, p. 19:

*"Ibn 'Abbas himself said, 'Sometimes the revelation used to descend on the prophet during the night and then he forgot it during daytime, thus God sent down this verse: Surah 2:106.'"

What justification is there for Allah to reveal a Quranic verse in the night only to abrogate that verse the following day? How can the forgetfulness of Muhammad be taken as an indication of abrogation? How could circumstances change so drastically during the course of the night to justify the abrogation of the Quranic verse the following day? Why did not Allah know that? How could the eternal Book of Allah have such time-bound revelations in it? Why does Allah find it necessary to abrogate his verses so soon after they were revealed? Does not this nullify the claim of divine authorship? Either Allah is an impostor or Muhammad is faking inspiration. Either option disqualifies the Quran as the eternal Word of God.

Let us consider now a clear evidence of contradiction in the Quran. On the one hand, Allah strictly forbids Compulsion in Religion in the Quran:

Surah 2:256: Let there be no compulsion in religion. (Yusuf Ali)

Surah 10:99: Will you then compel mankind against their will to believe! (Yusuf Ali)

Surah 13:40: Your sole mission is to deliver the Message. It is We who will call them to account. (Rashad)

And Allah commanded Muhammad to say to the unbelievers:

Surah 109:6: You shall have your religion and I shall have my religion. (Shakir)

All the above Quranic verses harmonize with the principle of justice. However, Allah abolishes all these peaceful verses and replaces them with verses that command Muslims to violently subjugate all those who reject Islam. Carefully note the abrupt change of Allah's position:

Surah 4:89: But if they turn back from Islam*, take hold of them and* kill them wherever you find them. (Hilali-Khan)

Surah 8:7: But Allah wished to confirm the truth by His words, and wipe the unbelievers out to the last. (Samira)

Surah 8:12: I will cast terror into the hearts of those who disbelieve. Therefore strike off their heads and strike off every finger-tip off them. (Shakir)

Surah 9:5: Then, when the sacred months have passed, slay the idolaters wherever you find them*, and take them captive, and besiege them, and prepare for them each ambush. (Pickthall)*

Surah 9:123: O you who believe! Fight those of the unbelievers who are near to you and let them find in you hardness. (Shakir)

Surah 47:4: When you encounter the unbelievers, strike off their heads, until you have made a great slaughter among them. (Sale)

Muslims claim that the commandments to fight and kill the unbelievers are defensive in nature. This is another lie. The following Quranic verse clearly exposes their deception:

Surah 9:29: Fight those who believe not in Allah nor the Last Day, nor hold forbidden which have been forbidden by Allah and His Messenger, nor acknowledge the religion of Truth*, even if they are the People of the Book, until they pay the Jizya with willing submission and feel themselves subdued. (Yusuf Ali)*

Surah 9:29 is not commanding Muslims to fight those who attack them but to fight all those who believe not in Allah nor acknowledge Islam as the religion of Truth. This is an unmistakable commandment to wage offensive wars against all those who do not accept the religion of Islam. Though the peaceful verses still exist in the Quran, they are no longer relevant today. All these peaceful verses are abrogated by the sword verses which were revealed later to Muhammad. Muslims subtly use these peaceful verses to elevate Islam as a religion of peace. The standing order of Allah for Muslims today is the violent verses. Allah contradicted his own teachings in the Quran by shifting his position from non-compulsion to compulsion in religion.

Another clear contradiction is the teaching of Predestination in the Quran. On the one hand, Allah clearly teaches that man has the freedom to choose his own destiny:

Surah 18:29: And say: "It is the Truth from your Lord; wherefore let him who will, believe, and let him who will, disbelieve." (Sherali)

Surah 25:57: Tell them, "I ask no recompense for my preaching to you, except the fact that whoever wants should choose the way of God." (Sarwar)

Surah 73:19: This is a Reminder. Let him who will, then, choose a way unto his Lord. (Pickthall)

The above Quranic verses harmonize perfectly with the principle of divine justice. It would be absurd if God on the one hand predestines the actions of men and on the other hand punishes or rewards them for their actions. Without free will, the whole concept of man's religious accountability would be unjust and meaningless. However, Allah contradicts his own teachings in the Quran:

Surah 10:100: No soul can believe, except by the will of Allah*, and He will place doubt on those who will not understand. (Yusuf Ali)*

Surah 76:29-31: All this is an admonition and reminder, and so let him who wills, take a path to his Lord. You cannot will unless Allah wills. Surely God is All-Knowing, All-Wise. He admits whom He wills into His mercy. (Ali Unal)

The claim of free will in Islam is illusory. As the above Quranic verses clearly testify, the will of Allah prevails over the free will of humans. The overpowering will of Allah supersedes and decimates the free will of humans. As such, the human free will does not have an independent reality on its own. The claim by Muslims that free will exists in Islam is refuted by none other than Allah himself. Carefully digest the words of Allah in following Quranic verses.

Surah 76:30: You cannot will unless Allah wills. (Ali Unal)

How can there be free will when you do not have the free will to exercise your free will. No one is exempted. Allah seals the fate of every single individual. Listen to Allah:

Surah 54:49: Verily! We have created everything according to Our predestination. (M. Usmani)

There are many more verses that completely destroy the claim of free will in Islam. They are far too many to be included in this article. The Quran repeatedly teach that man is created without the freedom to choose and all his actions are predestined by Allah. Even the salvation of an individual is predetermined by Allah. To understand the overpowering authority of predestination in Islam, carefully digest the words of Allah in the following Quranic verses:

Surah 9:51: Say: "Nothing shall ever happen to us except what Allah has ordained for us." (Hilali-Khan)

This is why Muslims use the expression "Insha Allah" which means "If Allah Wills" so often in their conversation. The Quran clearly teaches that every misfortune that befalls a person is ordained by Allah:

Surah 57:22: Every misfortune that befalls the earth, or on your own person, is ordained before We bring it into being. That is easy for Allah. (Dawood)

Even the timing of a person's death is predestined by Allah:

Surah 3:145: No soul can die without Allah's Will at the destined time. (The Clear Quran)

The concept of fatalism which is common in many pagan religions is also taught in the Quran:

Surah 3:154: Say: Had you remained in your houses, those for whom slaughter was ordained would have gone forth to the places where they would be slain. (Maulana)

Every good and every evil deed are predetermined by Allah. Since the entire life course of an individual is decided upon by Allah, there is no such thing as free will in Islam. One of the most damaging effects of predestination in Islam is that it nullifies the function of the prophets to save sinners from their sinful course. Reflect carefully on the damaging effects of this teaching in Islam. Allah asks Muhammad:

Surah 4:88: Do you want to guide those whom Allah has caused to go astray? You cannot find guidance for those whom Allah has made to go astray. (Sarwar)

No prophets – not even Muhammad – can guide those whom Allah has caused to go astray. And Allah confirms this yet again in the following Quranic verse:

Surah 5:41: And the one whom Allah wills to send astray, you will never be able to help him in the least against Allah; they are those whose hearts Allah did not will to cleanse; for them is disgrace in this world, and for them is a great punishment in the Hereafter. (Faridul Haque)

Provided below is another damaging verse in the Quran:

Surah 16:93: And had Allah willed, He could have made you all one nation, but He sends astray whom He wills and guides whom He wills. But you shall certainly be called to account for what you used to do. (Hilali-Khan)

Allah decides the salvation of every single human. No one has the freedom to determine his or her own destiny. As the following Hadith reveals, Islam completely eliminates any hope for an individual to work out his or her own salvation.

Sahih Muslim, Book 033, Number 6436:

Aisha, the mother of the believers, said that the Messenger was called to lead the funeral prayer of a child of the Ansar. She said: "Allah's Messenger, there is happiness for this child who is a bird from the birds of Paradise for it committed no sin nor has he reached the age when one can commit sin." He said: "Aisha, per adventure, it may be otherwise, because God created for Paradise those who are fit for it while they were yet in their father's loins and created for Hell those who are to go to Hell. He created them for Hell while they were yet in their father's loins."

The expression *"while they were yet in their father's loins" actually refers to the time before the child is even conceived by its mother. How can Allah pass a judgement of condemnation on someone before that person is even conceived? This controversy regarding predestination has given rise to various sects within Islam and much blood was shed over it in the past. In contrast, Jehovah is consistent in upholding his principle of divine justice. Jehovah lovingly stated the following:

Deuteronomy 30:19: "I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the curse. You must choose life so that you may live."

Yes! We have the freedom to determine our salvation. We have the freedom to work out our own salvation by choosing to live in harmony with the teachings of the true God. Jehovah guarantees that:

Philippians 2:12: Keep working out your own salvation with fear and trembling.

Unlike Allah who contradicts himself, the true God is consistent in all his ways. Thus, the teachings of Jehovah are dependable:

James 1:17: Every good gift and every perfect present is from above, coming down from the Father of the celestial lights, who does not vary or change like the shifting shadows.

There are many more discrepancies in the Quran involving a wide variety of subjects. However, the above evidences are sufficient to prove that the Quran cannot be the inspired Word of God. Ironically, Allah himself passed the verdict of guilt on the Quran in the following verse:

Surah 4:82: Do they not ponder over the Quran? Had it been from other than Allah, surely they would have found many contradictions in it. (Abdul Hye)

Allah himself provides a strong reason for Muslims to reject the Quran.

IS THE QURAN PROPHETIC?

Muslims claim that the Quran is the inspired Word of God. For this to be true, the Quran must be trustworthy in every way. Well, what about the prophecies of Allah in the Quran? Are they trustworthy? Are they true and accurate in every detail? We will let the Quran answer these vital questions. We will examine an interesting prophecy of Allah. Please read the prophecy carefully:

Surah 8:65: O Prophet! Rouse the Believers to the fight. If there are twenty amongst you, patient and persevering, they will vanquish two hundred: if a hundred, they will vanquish a thousand of the Unbelievers. (Yusuf Ali)

It is vital to understand that Surah 8:65 was not revealed as a Commandment but as a Prophecy. It does not say: *"If a hundred, they MUST vanquish a thousand of the Unbelievers." Had Allah stated this, then this Quranic verse can rightly be construed as a Commandment from him. However, it is different when Allah proclaims: *"If a hundred, they WILL vanquish a thousand of the Unbelievers." This means that the success of the victory is prophetically guaranteed by Allah. The victory is assured even before the Muslims venture into battle. Thus, the success of the battle depends not on the Muslims but in the mighty hands of Allah. Allah was so sure of its fulfillment that he engraved the prophecy permanently in the Quran. Surah 8:65 is clearly a Prophecy from Allah.

Allah prophesied in no uncertain terms that from now on – from the time this prophecy was revealed – a single Muslim warrior *"will vanquish" ten enemy fighters. In other words, Muslims will be able to now defeat their enemies ten times more numerous than them – a ratio of 1 to 10. Allah guarantees this stunning victory at every encounter between the Muslims and their enemies. He clearly revealed: *"If a hundred, they will vanquish a thousand of the Unbelievers." Can it be expressed any clearer than this?

Since no amount of obstacles is insurmountable for Allah, the victory will be achieved, not by the strength or the fighting skills of the Muslims, but by the mighty power of Allah. To substantiate the reliability of his prophecies, Allah testifies that not a single sentence that comes from him can be changed. This means every inspired prophecy of Allah will be fulfilled to the letter:

Surah 50:29: The sentence that cometh from Me cannot be changed. (Pickthall)

Did the prophecy in Surah 8:65 come true? Divine bombshell for Muslims! Just one verse later, Allah abrogated his prophecy in the Quran. He abolished his own divine prophecy in which he specified the exact ratio of the number of enemies that the Muslims would defeat in battle. Allah guaranteed this much and Allah failed. As a result, Allah had to substitute his earlier prophecy with another contradictory prophecy in the very next verse:

Surah 8:66: For the present, Allah hath lightened your task, for He knows that there is a weak spot in you*: But even so,* if there are a hundred of you, patient and persevering, they will vanquish two hundred, and if a thousand, they will vanquish two thousand*, with the leave of Allah: for Allah is with those who patiently persevere. (Yusuf Ali)*

Even though Allah guaranteed in Surah 8:65 that the Muslims *"*will" be able to defeat enemies ten times more numerous than them, they did not trust Allah with their lives. Upon receiving this prophetic message, they became afraid and complained bitterly at the impossible odds they would have to now face when they fight their enemies. As a result, Allah abolished his prophecy without delay and substituted it with a contradictory prophecy in Surah 8:66. Allah changed the ratio from 1:10 to 1:2. Lack of faith led to the abrogation of Allah's prophecy. To gain the support of faithless men to fight his battles, Allah abolished his eternal prophecy in the Quran. What a shame!

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 6, Book 60, Number 176:

Narrated Ibn Abbas: When the Verse: – "If there are twenty steadfast amongst you (Muslims), they will overcome two-hundred (non-Muslims)." was revealed, it became hard on the Muslims when it became compulsory that one Muslim ought not to flee (in war) before ten (non-Muslims). So Allah lightened the order by revealing: "But now Allah has lightened your task for He knows that there is weakness in you. So if there are of you one-hundred steadfast, they will overcome two-hundred *(non-Muslims)." (S. 8:66)*

Ishaq: 326

Abdullah told me that when this verse came down it was a shock to the Muslims who took it hard. They were afraid as the odds were too great. So Allah relieved them and cancelled the verse with another: 'Now has Allah relieved you and He knows that there is a weakness among you, so if there are 100 (rather than 20) they will vanquish 200.' (Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah – The Life of Muhammad – Translated by A. Guillaume, Oxford University Press)

Even though the fault lies with Allah, he blamed the Muslims for the changes:

Surah 8:66: Now Allah has lightened your burden for He knows that there is weakness in you. (The Clear Quran)

Why did not Allah know their weakness when he revealed his prophecy in Surah 8:65 – just one verse earlier? If Allah is truly All-knowing, he would have known their weakness before revealing Surah 8:65. Since he did not, he had to dishonorably abolish his failed prophecy and replace it with a contradictory prophecy in Surah 8:66. Allah knew about the weakness of the Muslims only after they openly complained to Muhammad. One of the strongest evidences for the authenticity of the Bible is the fulfillment of numerous prophecies in it. The ability to foretell the future is a distinctive quality of the true God. Thus, Jehovah challenged the false gods to prove their divinity by prophesying the future:

Isaiah 41:21-23: "Present your case," says Jehovah. "Bring forth your proofs," says the King of Jacob. "Produce evidence and tell us the things that will happen. Do tell us about the former things, So that we may reflect on them and know their outcome. Or declare to us the things that are coming. Tell us what will happen in the future, So that we may know that you are gods."

Since the false gods of the nations were unable to foretell the future, Jehovah exposed their true worth:

Isaiah 41:24: You are nothing. Your work is nothing. Anyone who chooses you is detestable.

The irrefutable evidence of a failed prophecy in the Quran proves that Allah is a false god. He failed the challenge of Jehovah to prove his divinity. According to the verdict of Jehovah, Allah is nothing. As such, the Quran cannot be the divine Word of God. This provides Muslims with another valid reason to reject the Quran.

DOES THE QURAN STAND THE TEST OF TIME?

For the Quran to be divinely inspired, it must stand the test of time. The teachings therein must be true for all eternity. Is this true of the Quran? There are numerous teachings in the Quran that conflict with established scientific facts which are easily verifiable. The following account is one out of the many which confirms the failure of the Quran to stand the test of time:

Surah 18:83-86: And they ask you about Zulqarnain. Say, "I shall recite to you something of his story." Verily We established him on earth, and We gave him the means to everything. So he followed a way. Until when he reached the setting place of the sun, he found it setting in a spring of black muddy water. And he found near it a people. We said by inspiration: "O Zulqarnain! Either you punish them or treat them with kindness."

Surah 18:89-90: Then he followed another way, Until when he came to the rising place of the sun*, he found it rising on a people for whom We had provided no covering protection against the sun. (Hilali-Khan)*
Most Islamic scholars identify Zulqarnain as Alexander the Great. According to the Quran, Zulqarnain traveled on until he reached the setting place of the sun. And he found the sun setting in a muddy spring. This is a gross scientific error. We know for a certainty that the sun does not set in a muddy spring. However, Muslims try to explain away this error by claiming that the Quran was narrating the account from the visual perspective of Zulqarnain. Is this true?
Note the language articulated in this account. The Quran states: "Until when he reached the setting place of the sun." The word "reached" denotes a place and not the visual perspective of someone. Thus, the Quran is clearly testifying that Zulqarnain actually "reached" the "setting place" of the sun. Moreover, the Quran does not say that he "saw" but rather he "found" the sun setting in a muddy spring.
Of course, it is acceptable to speak of the sun as rising or setting when it is expressed from the visual perspective of someone who is observing the event from a distance. However, it is different when the Quran speaks of a specific place where the sun rises and sets. The Quran clearly states that Zulqarnain reached the setting place of the sun. Since such a place does not exist on this earth, the Quran has a serious error in it and stands to be corrected. It is also vital to note that the story is related from the perspective of Allah and not from that of Zulqarnain. Allah is narrating the story. This is confirmed by the reference of Zulqarnain in the 'third person pronoun' in this account:

"So he followed a way. Until when he reached the setting place of the sun, he found it setting in a spring of black muddy water."

Therefore, to claim that the account is narrated from the visual perspective of Zulqarnain is dishonest to the Quranic text. If Allah is truly describing the setting of the sun from the visual perspective of Zulqarnain, he would have said so as he did in the case of Abraham:

Surah 6:78: "When he (Abraham) saw the sun rising in splendour, he said: "This is my Lord; this is the greatest of all." But when the sun set, he said: "O my people! I am indeed free from your guilt of giving partners to Allah." (Yusuf Ali)

When Allah described the event from Abraham's visual perspective, he clearly stated that Abraham "saw" the sun rising. However in the case of Zulqarnain, Allah chose words which clearly suggest that Zulqarnain literally "reached" the "setting place of the sun" and "found" it setting in a muddy spring. Thus, Allah was actually describing the very place where the sun supposedly sets and rises. Otherwise, it makes no sense for Allah to single out that particular sun set and sun rise as something special in the life of Zulqarnain since the sun rises and sets every day and on every nation. Now note how Allah describes the next phase of the journey where Zulqarnain "reached the rising place of the sun."

Surah 18:85-90: So he followed a way until when he reached the setting place of the sun, he found it setting in a spring of black muddy water. He found near it a people . . . Then he followed another way until, when he reached the rising place of the sun, he found it rising on a people for whom We provided no shelter against the sun. (Abdul Hye)

Do the above verses express the idea that the following morning Zulqarnain saw the sun rising? The Quran clearly states: "Then he followed another way until when he reached the rising place of the sun." In other words, after so many sunrises and sunsets, he finally "reached the rising place of the sun." Another vital piece of evidence can be found in the last part of the above Quranic verses which state:

*". . . he found it rising on a people for whom We provided no shelter against the sun."

Why does the Quran specifically mention that Allah *"provided no shelter against the sun" for this particular people? This would only make sense if the rest of mankind is given shelter from the sun by Allah. Since this is not the case, the Quran is clearly suggesting that because of the close proximity of the sun to the place where they live, this particular people needed shelter from the sun. However, for some unknown reason Allah did not provide them with the needed protection. The need for protection from the sun will not be an issue if the Quran is simply describing the sun rising and setting from the visual perspective of Zulqarnain. Muslims can deny all that they want but what is important is how the Prophet of Islam understands this teaching of Allah in the Quran? Let's find out.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Hadith Number 3991:

*Abu Dharr said: I was sitting behind the Apostle of Allah who was riding a donkey while the sun was setting. He asked: Do you know where this sets? I replied: Allah and his Apostle know best. He said: It sets in a spring of warm water.

If the Quran is truly inspired by God, it will stand the test of time. But it does not. One single error is one too many since God does not make such mistakes. However, there are not one but multiple errors in the Quran. This clearly proves that the Quran is not the inspired Word of God. As such, it will be wise for Muslims to reject the Quran.

THE DARK BEGINNING OF THE QURAN

All the evidences verify that the Quran could not have originated from the true God. While there are undeniable evidences proving the involvement of human elements, there is however a more sinister force behind the inspiration of the Quran. To identify the true source behind the origin of the Quran, we must begin at the beginning. We must examine how the Quran came into existence. The writings of the Quran began with the revelation Muhammad first received in the Cave of Hira. This is where it all started. This is the seed from which Islam sprouted. Islam began with the person of Muhammad. Therefore, to identify the source behind the inspiration of the Quran, we must examine the calling of Muhammad as a prophet of Allah. Let's go back to the time when Muhammad began receiving his revelations. We will now examine the most authentic Hadith in Islam to discover the truth.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 1, Book 1, Number 3:
Allah's Apostle used to go in seclusion in the Cave of Hira where he used to worship Allah . . . till suddenly the Truth descended upon him while he was in the Cave of Hira. The angel came to him and asked him to read. The Prophet replied, "I do not know how to read."
The Prophet added, "The angel caught me forcefully and pressed me so hard that I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read and I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Thereupon he caught me again and pressed me a second time till I could not bear it any more. He then released me and again asked me to read but again I replied, 'I do not know how to read.' Thereupon he caught me for the third time and pressed me*, and then released me and said, 'Read in the name of your Lord, who has created all that exists, has created man from a clot. Read! And your Lord is the Most Generous.'"*
Then Allah's Apostle returned with the Inspiration and with his heart beating severely. Then he went to Khadija bint Khuwailid and said, "Cover me! Cover me!" They covered him till his fear was over and after that he told her everything that happened and said, "I fear that something may happen to me." Khadija replied, "Never! Allah will never disgrace you. You keep good relations with your Kith and kin, help the poor and the destitute, serve your guests generously and assist the deserving calamity-afflicted ones."
Muhammad was physically abused by the spirit who delivered the revelation of Allah to him. He fled the cave in terror. Not wanting to see the cause of that terror again, he pleaded to his wife: *"Cover me! Cover me!" Fearing for his life, he told her: *"I fear that something may happen to me." The supernatural confrontation in the cave was more demonic than divine. There is not a single instance in the entire Bible where an angelic messenger physically abused the one chosen by God to receive his revelation. Ironically, Muhammad was the first person to doubt the genuineness of the revelation which he received from the spirit in the Cave of Hira. Thus, began the revelation of the Quran. This terrifying encounter is also documented in the earliest biographical record of Muhammad.

Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah, p. 106:

So I read it, and he (Gabriel) departed from me. And I awoke from my sleep, and it was as though these words were written on my heart. Now none of God's creatures was more horrible to me than a poet or a man possessed*: I could not even look at them. I thought,* "Woe is me poet or possessed – Never shall Quraysh say this of me! I will go to the top of the mountain and throw myself down that I may kill myself and gain rest."

Yes, you read it right. After this terrifying and violent encounter with the spirit, Muhammad became suicidal. Muhammad believed he was possessed by a demon. Of course, the spirit is not the angel Gabriel as Muslims claim but a wicked spirit. When Jesus drove out the demons from a man, they entered into a herd of swine. And like Muhammad, they became suicidal. The herd of swine committed suicide just as Muhammad had contemplated to do.

Matthew 8:32: Jesus said to them, "Go!" The demons came out and went off into the swine. Suddenly, the whole herd rushed down the cliff into the sea and died in the waters.

It is absolutely outrageous that someone could be pushed towards suicide following a revelation from God. Islamic scholars avoid speaking about the suicide attempts of Muhammad since it destroys the authenticity of his appointment as a prophet of God. Can a calling such as this come from the true God? In the final assessment, we can see that the very first revelation that Muhammad received began amidst a dark and violent encounter with some sort of a spirit creature in the darkness of a cave. And the Quran was built on the foundation of this dark and fearsome encounter. As such, the Quran cannot be the inspired Word of God. It will be wise for Muslims to turn to Jehovah – the only true and living God. Muslims should reject the Quran and turn to the true Word of God – the Holy Bible.

The Authorization of Genocide in Islam

Muslims often accuse the God of the Bible of committing Genocide. To validate their claim, Muslims deceitfully point to the passages in the Bible where God commanded the extermination of the Canaanite men, women and children. Of course, their accusation is a preposterous lie when we consider all the facts related to these passages in the Bible. The reason why Muslims raise this objection is simply to silence the Christians. This is a devious tactic by Muslims to divert the discussion away from all the violent verses that are engraved in the Qur'an. The purpose of this article is not only to refute this false accusation of the Muslims but also to turn the tables on them.

In the preceding article we provided irrefutable evidences to prove why the accusation of Genocide against the God of the Bible is utterly false. It will be beneficial to study the preceding article since this will equip you to have a comprehensive well-grounded knowledge on this vital issue. To access the preceding article, please click the following link: DID GOD COMMAND GENOCIDE IN THE BIBLE?

Having clarified this, let's begin our discussion. In this article, we will provide irrefutable evidences from the Qur'an itself to prove it is not Jehovah but Allah who actually authorizes Genocide in the Qur'an. We will also provide evidences from authentic Islamic sources to prove how Muhammad personally carried out Genocide against the Jews. We will begin by first considering a well-established teaching of Jesus Christ:

Matthew 5:44: However, I say to you: "Continue to love your enemies and to pray for those who persecute you."

When an armed crowd came to arrest Jesus, one of his disciples tried to defend him with a sword. Even though the reaction of his disciple was to defend him, Jesus did not condone this violent act. Instead, he strongly rebuked that disciple:

Matthew 26:52: Then Jesus said to him: "Return your sword to its place, for all those who take the sword will die by the sword."

This sets the precedence for all true worshippers of Jehovah. This is the standing order for the worshippers of Jehovah ever since. The teachings of the Bible strictly forbid Christians to engage in warfare or in any acts of violence. Instead, Christians are commanded to love even their enemies. However, the same cannot be said about Islam. The commandments of Allah in the Qur'an clearly authorize Muslims to fight and kill the enemies of Islam. Let us consider now the standing order of Allah for Muslims in the Qur'an. Allah authorizes Muslims to completely annihilate all those who do not submit to Islam. Read the following Qur'anic verses carefully:

Surah 2:191: "And kill them wherever you find them." (Shakir)

For how long is the above commandment of Allah valid for the Muslims? In other words, until when will this commandment to fight and kill the enemies be in force for the Muslims? Is this commandment restricted to a specific place and time in the history of Islam as Muslims claim? We will let Allah answer:

Surah 2:193: And fight them until there is no more Fitnah (disbelief and worshipping of others along with Allah) and all and every kind of worship is for Allah Alone*. (Hilali-Khan)*

Surah 8:39: And fight them until there is no more Fitnah (disbelief and polytheism: i.e. worshipping others besides Allah) and the religion will all be for Allah Alone *(in the whole of the world). But if they cease (worshipping others besides Allah), then certainly, Allah is All-Seer of what they do. (Hilali-Khan)*

The above Qur'anic verses reveal that all those who do not submit to Allah are judged as enemies of Islam. And Muslims are commanded to fight the unbelievers until Islam remains as the sole existing religion in the entire world. It is either conversion to Islam or Death. This is clearly an authorization to commit Genocide on a global scale against all those who do not accept Islam. This authorization comes from Allah and it is engraved in the Qur'an. If this is not Genocide, then nothing else is. Sadistically, Allah desires the slaughtering of the unbelievers than taking them captive:

Surah 8:67: "It is not for any Prophet to have captives until he hath made slaughter in the land." (Pickthall)

In order to mislead us, Muslims claim that all the verses in the Qur'an that commands warfare against the unbelievers are defensive in nature. The following Qur'anic verse exposes their lies:

Surah 9:29: Fight those who believe not in Allah nor the Last Day, nor hold forbidden which hath been forbidden by Allah and His Messenger, nor acknowledge the religion of Truth*, even if they are the* People of the Book, until they pay the Jizya with willing submission and feel themselves subdued. (Yusuf Ali)

The commandment in Surah 9:29 is crystal clear. It does not say that Muslims should fight only those who attack them but to fight against all those *"who believe not in Allah" nor *"acknowledge the religion of Truth." This is an unmistakable authorization to wage offensive wars against all those who do not acknowledge Islam as the *"religion of Truth." The authorization to wage war against the unbelievers is not because they are attacking the Muslims but simply for not accepting Islam. Thus, Muslims are commanded to initiate the attack against the unbelievers. It is a unilateral declaration of war against non-Muslims. And this declaration of war is open-ended. The Arabic word *"Qatilu" which is translated as *"Fight" is another deception by Muslim translators to soften this violent commandment of Allah in the above Qur'anic verse. The true meaning of this Arabic word is to fight with the intention to *"kill" the unbelievers. Allah's determination to fight the unbelievers is also emphasized in the following verse:

Surah 2:216: Warfare is ordained for you*, though it is hateful unto you; but it may happen that you hate a thing which is good for you. (Pickthall)*

Warfare is ordained for Muslims and Genocide is clearly on the agenda in Islam. The following Hadith testifies unambiguously that the only option left for an unbeliever to escape death is to accept Islam.

Sahih Muslim, Book 1, Hadith 31:

It is reported on the authority of Abu Huraira that he heard the Messenger of Allah say: I have been commanded to fight against people, till they testify to the fact that there is no god but Allah, and believe in me that I am the messenger from the Lord and in all that I have brought. And when they do it, their blood and riches are guaranteed protection on my behalf except where it is justified by law, and their affairs rest with Allah.

It is either Islam or Death. If this is not Genocide against all those who reject Islam, then what is it? There are many more verses in the Qur'an which similarly authorize Genocide against the unbelievers. What is vital for us to bear in mind is the fact that all these violent verses that call for Genocide are still the standing order of Allah today. No Qur'anic verses were revealed later to abrogate these violent verses. The only reason why we are still alive today is because the infidel nations are still strong. The outcome will be different if and when Muslims have the upper hand over us:

Surah 47:35: Do not slacken and call for peace when you have the upper hand and Allah is with you, and He will not stint your works. (Ali Quli Qara'i)

The above commandment of Allah needs no explanation. And the Prophet of Islam faithfully lived by this principle when he had the upper hand over the Jews of Medina. Read the following historical accounts carefully. Since these historical accounts are provided by Islam itself, Muslims cannot deny these historical facts.

THE GENOCIDE OF THE JEWS

Authentic sources from Islam itself reveal that Muhammad committed Genocide against a Jewish tribe who lived in Medina. Muhammad attacked and laid siege to the Jewish settlement of Banu Qurayza. After 25 days they surrendered. A total of between 800-900 men and boys were massacred. Muhammad beheaded them even though the Jews had surrendered unconditionally. Ibn Ishaq (704 C.E. – 767 C.E.) who documented the earliest biography of Muhammad, recorded this tragic event in his esteemed historical work known as "Sirat Rasul Allah." Please read and digest this historical account carefully.

Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah, p. 464:

Then they surrendered*, and the apostle confined them in Medina in the quarter of d. al-Harith, a woman of B. al-Najjar. Then the apostle went out to the market of Medina (which is still a market today) and dug trenches in it.* Then he sent for them and struck off their heads in those trenches as they were brought out to him in batches*. Among them was the enemy of Allah Huyayy bin Akhtab and Ka`b bin Asad their chief.* There were 600 or 700 in all, though some put the figure as high as 800 or 900*. As they were being taken out in batches to the apostle they asked Ka`b what he thought would be done with them. He replied, "Will you never understand? Don't you see that the summoner never stops and those who are taken away do not return? By Allah it is death!"* This went on until the apostle made an end of them.

Another great Islamic scholar and historian, Al-Tabari (838 C.E.–923 C.E.), also recorded and confirmed this tragic event in his historical works.

Al-Tabari, Volume 8, p. 38:

The Messenger of Allah commanded that all of the Jewish men and boys who had reached puberty should be beheaded*. Then the Prophet divided the wealth, wives, and children of the Banu Qurayza Jews among the Muslims.*

The women and children were enslaved. The women who were young and attractive were kept as personal sex-slaves by the Muslims while others were sold to purchase weapons and horses to equip the soldiers of Allah.

Al-Tabari, Volume 8, p. 39:

Then the Messenger of Allah sent Sa'd bin Zayd with some of the Qurayza captives to Najd, and in exchange for them he purchased horses and arms.

The Banu Qurayza tribe lived peacefully for centuries in Medina before the arrival of Islam. However, they ceased to exist as a tribe after the coming of Islam. The Banu Qurayza is not the only tribe massacred by Muhammad. He also attacked without warning the Jewish settlement of Khaybar. Amongst the captives was Safiya, a young girl of seventeen. Muhammad took her for himself after murdering her husband. Muhammad made widows out of the captives so that he could sexually assault them. This is legacy of the Prophet of Islam.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 5, Book 59, Number 512:

Narrated Anas: The Prophet offered the Fajr Prayer near Khaibar when it was still dark and said, 'Allahu-Akbar! Khaibar is destroyed, for whenever we approach a (hostile) nation to fight, then evil will be the morning for those who have been warned.' The inhabitants of Khaibar came out running on the roads. The Prophet had their warriors killed, their offspring and woman taken as captives*. Safiya was amongst the captives. She first came in the share of Dahya Alkali but later on she belonged to the Prophet. The Prophet made her manumission as her 'Mahr'.*

The term *"*hostile" in parenthesis in the above Hadith is not in the original Arabic. It is deceitfully added in the English translation to justify the unprovoked attacks of Muhammad against the Jews. This is how Muslims deceive us. Can we ever imagine Jesus committing such atrocities as Muhammad did? Muhammad was an extremely violent and cruel man. The definition of Genocide reads as follows:

The systematic destruction of a people, in whole or in part, of an ethnic, racial, religious, or national group.

Genocide is the deliberate destruction of a people on the basis of their racial, religious, or national affiliation. As proven in the preceding article, the commandment to destroy the Canaanites was not based on any of the above reasons but because of their excessive depravity. This is confirmed by the fact that Jehovah spared those Canaanites who turned away from their sinful course. Now let us apply the above definition of Genocide to Islam. In addition to the acts of Genocide against the Jews by Muhammad, are there solid evidences to prove that Islam does indeed authorize Genocide on the basis of race or religion? In other words, does Islam specifically authorize Genocide against a nation of people on the basis of their race or religion? We will let Islam answer. According to Islam, the Day of Judgment (Qiyamah) will not come until all the Jews are exterminated at the hands of the Muslims. And Allah supernaturally assists the Muslims to ensure the complete annihilation of the Jews.

Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 52, Hadith 177:

*Narrated Abu Huraira: Allah's Apostle said, "The Hour will not be established until you fight with the Jews, and the stone behind which a Jew will be hiding will say. 'O Muslim! There is a Jew hiding behind me, so kill him.'"

Sahih Muslim, Book 41, Hadith 6985:

Abu Huraira reported Allah's Messenger as saying: The last hour would not come unless the Muslims will fight against the Jews and the Muslims would kill them until the Jews would hide themselves behind a stone or a tree and the stone or the tree would say: Muslim, or the servant of Allah, there is a Jew behind me; come and kill him.

Allah specifically targets the Jews for Genocide. And he also ensures that there is no place on earth for the Jews to hide from the massacre of the Muslims. He wants to completely wipe them off from the surface of the earth. This substantiates the indisputable truth that it is not Jehovah but Allah who is determined to commit Genocide against an entire nation of people. When Muslims committed Genocide against the Jews of Medina during the time of Muhammad, it was just the beginning. As we can see, the authorization to commit Genocide against the Jews continues to be in force until the Day of Judgment. It will cease to be in force only when the Jews cease to exist. The standing order to annihilate the Jews is a permanent feature in the theology of Islam. If Muslims only had the upper hand over the Jews, they would have by now exterminated the Jews. They would have already achieved this genocidal ambition of Allah. There would be no more Jews left on earth today. It will be wise for Muslims to stop their baseless accusation against the God of the Bible and instead focus on the authorization of Genocide against the Jews in Islam. Like Allah, the Prophet of Islam also commanded Muslims to carry out Genocide against the Jews.

Al-Tabari, Volume 7, p. 97:

The morning after the murder of Ashraf, the Prophet declared: "Kill any Jew who falls under your power."

Ashraf was a Jewish poet. The above commandment of Muhammad does not say: *"*Kiss any Jew who falls under your power." It says: *"*Kill any Jew who falls under your power." This is clearly an authorization to carry out Genocide against every single Jew. What many are unaware of is the fact that Allah specifically inspired a verse in the Qur'an commanding Muslims not to take *"*the Jews and the Christians as friends." In other words, Muslims are commanded to treat all Jews and Christians as their eternal enemies. The only reason why Muslims do not openly display their hostility against the Jews and the Christians is because they still need these infidels for their survival. And Allah indiscriminately judges all Jews and Christians as evildoers:

Surah 5:51: O Believers! Take not the Jews and the Christians as friends*; they are friends of each other. Whosoever of you makes them his friends is one of them.* Allah guides not the people of the evildoers*. (Arberry)*

Allah's hatred does not stop here. His ambition is to completely exterminate the Jews and the Christians. This determination of Allah to destroy the Jews and the Christians is revealed in the following Qur'anic verse. Speaking his mind, Allah stated:

Surah 9:30: Jews say, "Ezra is the son of Allah" and the Christians say, "The Messiah is the son of Allah." That is their statement from their mouths, they imitate the saying of those who disbelieved before them. May Allah destroy them. How deluded they are. (Sahih International)

The reason given here for the determination of Allah to destroy the Jews and the Christians is because of their allegedly false beliefs. This means that when the time comes for Allah to destroy the Jews and the Christians, it would include every men, women and children who believe in these teachings. If Muslims find it justifiable for Allah to annihilate the Jews and the Christians simply for believing in some false doctrines, why do they then hypocritically condemn the God of the Bible for punishing a nation which not only submitted to the false teachings of paganism but was also excessively immoral?

Of course, the claim of Allah in Surah 9:30 is absolutely erroneous. Never in the history of the Jews did they ever claim or believe that Ezra is the son of God. They esteemed him as nothing more than a faithful priest of God. In fact, the Old Testament (Jewish Scriptures) provides the genealogical record of Ezra which traces his ancestry all the way back sixteen generations to Aaron who was the high priest of Israel and the brother of Moses.

Ezra 7:1-5: After these things, during the reign of King Artaxerxes of Persia, Ezra returned. He was the son of Seraiah, son of Azariah, son of Hilkiah, son of Shallum, son of Zadok, son of Ahitub, son of Amariah, son of Azariah, son of Meraioth, son of Zerahiah, son of Uzzi, son of Bukki, son of Abishua, son of Phinehas, son of Eleazar, son of Aaron the high priest of Israel.

As such, will the Jews really believe Ezra is the son of God? This is the first error of Allah. The second error of Allah is his denial of Jesus as the Son of God. We firmly believe that Jesus Christ is the unique Son of God. There are solid evidences in both the Bible and the Qur'an to substantiate this truth. However, it is outside the scope of this article to discuss these evidences. Those interested to know what these evidences are, we invite them to click the following link: SURAH 19:19 – JESUS CHRIST IN THE QUR'AN

As we can clearly see, not only does Allah authorize Genocide against the Jews but he also ensures the successful accomplishment of it at the hands of the Muslims. It is time for Muslims to stop deceiving us. Let us continue on with our discussion.

THE ABSURDITY OF MUSLIMS

We will now expose the absurdity of the Muslim mind. When God executed the entire world of wicked mankind during the time of Noah, he was exercising his divine right as the Sovereign of the universe. His divine execution against the wicked was accomplished by means of a global Flood. Faithful Noah and his family survived. The Bible explains why God had to take such a drastic action:

Genesis 6:5: Jehovah saw that the badness of man was abundant in the earth and every inclination of the thoughts of his heart was only bad all the time*.*

And the Qur'an agrees:

Surah 71:25-26: For their sins they were drowned*, then they were admitted to the Fire, and they could not find beside God any victor. And* Noah said: "My Lord, do not leave on the Earth any of the rejecters at all." (The Monotheist Group)

Likewise, Jehovah also executed the wicked population of Sodom and Gomorrah during the days of Lot. In addition to their immoral religious rites, the inhabitants in those cities also engaged in gross unnatural sexual acts. (Genesis 19:4-5) In fact, the term "sodomy" derives its name from Sodom. As a righteous God, Jehovah could not allow such evil doers to go unpunished:

Genesis 19:24-25: Then Jehovah made it rain sulfur and fire on Sodom and Gomorrah. It came from the heavens. So God overthrew these cities, yes, the entire district, including all the inhabitants of the cities and the plants of the ground.

The Qur'an also acknowledges the justification of this divine execution against the "depraved" inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah:

Surah 29:33-34: So, when Our messengers came to Lot*, he was worried on their account as he was unable to protect them. They said: "Have no fear or regret. We will certainly save you and your family except your wife, for she is one of those who will stay behind.* We have to bring a scourge from the heavens on the people of this city as they are depraved." (Ahmed Ali)

Those annihilated during the great Flood and in the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah consist of men, women and children. Since the Qur'an itself justifies the extermination of both women and children in the above judgments of God, Muslims do not object to the execution of women and children in these instances. In both executions, God used natural forces to carry out his divine judgment. By contrast, God assigned the Israelites with the sacred duty to execute the Canaanites. Nonetheless, all these executions are divine judgments of God against the wicked. Therefore, what rational reason is there for Muslims to object when God employed human agencies to carry out his divine execution against the Canaanite women and children? Why do Muslims become pretentiously traumatized when human agencies are used but not when natural forces are used?

Does it really matter if God had chosen to destroy the Canaanites by some natural forces or through human agencies? The outcome is nonetheless the same. The fact that human agencies were used does not in any way diminish the righteousness of that divinely ordained judgment. However, the hypocrisy of the Muslims is that they find no fault when Allah uses human agencies to carry out his executions. Please read the following Qur'anic verses carefully:

Surah 9:14: Fight them, Allah will punish them by your hands and bring them to disgrace*, and assist you against them. (Shakir)*

Surah 8:17: It was not you who killed them, but it was Allah Who killed them*. And it was not you who threw when you threw, but it was Allah Who threw. (Mohammad Shafi)*

The above Qur'anic verses prove that it is absolutely justifiable for God to use human agencies to execute those deserving of death. The accounts of the global Flood and the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which are recorded in both the Qur'an and the Bible, prove an indisputable fact which Muslims cannot deny. These accounts prove the undeniable truth that God did exterminate both women and children when he executed his divine judgment against the wicked.

The fact that Muslims do not object to the extermination of women and children in these instances proves that their criticism against the execution of women and children of the Canaanite nations has no legitimate basis whatsoever. Furthermore, this double-standard of the Muslims exposes their hypocrisy. Both the Bible and the Qur'an clearly substantiate the fact that God has every right to execute both women and children when there is a justifiable reason to do so. This fact alone is sufficient to invalidate the accusation of the Muslims against the God of the Bible. We can easily rest our case now.

Nonetheless, since Muslims persistently focus their criticism against the execution of women and children in the Bible, we will pursue this matter further. We will now take the Muslims to task. We would like to ask the Muslims: According to the Qur'an, is it lawful to kill an innocent child if one has the power to know in advance that this child would grow up to become an evil person? We will let the Qur'an answer.

The Qur'an narrates an account where Moses encounters a mysterious Servant of Allah who was granted with the gift to discern the future. Some of his actions were shocking to Moses. One such act was the murder of an innocent boy for no apparent reason. However, upon clarification by this mysterious Servant of Allah, his actions made sense and became justifiable. He explains that this boy would grow up to "grieve" his parents through "disobedience and ingratitude." And it is for this reason he was killed. He had to be killed to avert the sorrow he would cause his parents in the future. Let us now read this account directly from the Qur'an. Only the relevant quote is cited here:

Surah 18:65-81: "Then they found one from among Our servants whom We had granted mercy from Us and whom We had taught knowledge from Ourselves*. Moses said to him: Shall I follow you on condition that you should teach me right knowledge of what you have been taught? He said: Surely you cannot have patience with me and how can you have patience in that of which you have not got a comprehensive knowledge? Moses said: If Allah pleases, you will find me patient and I shall not disobey you in any matter. He said: If you would follow me, then do not question me about anything until I myself speak to you about it." " . . .* So they went on until, when they met a boy, he slew him. Moses said: Have you slain an innocent person otherwise than for manslaughter? Certainly you have done an evil thing. He said: Did I not say to you that you will not be able to have patience with me? Moses said: If I ask you about anything after this, keep me not in your company; indeed you shall have then found an excuse in my case."

Finally, the Servant of Allah said to Moses:

" . . . This shall be separation between me and you; now I will inform you of the significance of that with which you could not have patience*."*

" . . . And as for the boy, his parents were believers and we feared he should make disobedience and ingratitude to come upon them. So we desired that their Lord might give them in his place one better than him in purity and nearer to having compassion." (Shakir)

This account in the Qur'an delivers a death blow to the accusation of the Muslims against the God of the Bible. According to Allah, it is absolutely justifiable and legitimate to kill an innocent child if one has the ability to know in advance that the child would grow up to become a wicked person. Yet, Muslims deny this very same right to the all-knowing Creator. They argue that it is wrong for the Almighty God to execute those whom he knows for a certainty will grow up to become evil. And that is exactly what happened with the Canaanite children. Each new generation of children grew up only to persist in the same cycle of evil. Even though Jehovah gave the Canaanites more than 400 years to repent, the evil continued with each succeeding generation. And their wickedness only intensified with time. This cycle of evil has to be stopped. If Muslims still persist in their accusation, then they must admit that the above teaching of Allah in the Qur'an is not only unjust but also false. When God executed the children of Noah's day, he exercised his foreknowledge to discern the mental disposition of the children in advance. He foresaw their continuance in the same cycle of evil. Why are Muslims silent on the execution of the children in Noah's day? Why is there no outrage? This is because the Qur'an claims that it was Allah who destroyed the men, women and children during the great Flood of Noah's day. We would like to ask the Muslims: According to the Qur'an, did Allah exterminate women and children when he carried out his judgments against the wicked in the past? If it is justifiable for Allah to exterminate both women and children in Noah's day, is it not equally justifiable for Jehovah to execute the Canaanite women and children*?* Of course, it was not Allah but Jehovah who carried out the divine execution during the time of Noah. We simply had to go along with this claim of Allah to prove that even according to the Qur'an, the Muslim criticism against the execution of the Canaanite women and children is not only inconsistent but also contradictory with their own teachings. Allah who could not and did not perform even a single miracle during the time of Muhammad is simply trying to steal the thunder from Jehovah by claiming to be the executioner of the divine judgment during the time of Noah.

Before we proceed on, let us consider an incident that took place during the time of Muhammad. It reveals how Muhammad actually values the lives of the children of the unbelievers. This incident is recorded in both Sahih Bukhari and Sahih Muslim. We will consider just one of the Hadiths.

Sahih Muslim, Book 19, Hadith 4322:

It is narrated by Sa'b b. Jaththama that he said to the Holy Prophet: Messenger of Allah, we kill the children of the polytheists during the night raids. He said: They are from them*.*

In other words, since they are the children of the unbelievers, it does not matter if they are killed in the process. This proves that it is permissible in Islam to kill children when the circumstances justify it.

WHY WOMEN ARE SPARED IN ISLAM

Muslims take pride in saying that in Islam the women were spared during the wars initiated by their Prophet. But why were the women spared in Islam? Is it because Allah is more merciful towards women? We will consult Muhammad for the answer.

Ibn Hisham (d. 833 CE) was an esteemed ancient Muslim scholar who edited the authoritative biography of Muhammad by Ibn Ishaq. In his esteemed work known as Al Rod Al Anf, Volume 2, page 182, he recorded the following words of Muhammad. Addressing the Muslims, Muhammad said:

"You see Allah will soon make you inherit their land, their treasures and make you sleep with their women." (Lit: make their women beds for you).

For Muslims who say that they only believe in the Qur'an, we have news for them. We will let Allah testify why the women were spared:

Surah 33:50: O Prophet! We have made lawful to you your wives whom you have given their dowries, and those whom your right hand possesses out of those whom Allah has given to you as prisoners of war. (Shakir)*

The above Qur'anic verse exposes the true identity of Allah. Revealing his true character as an immoral deity, Allah authorizes Muhammad to rape the women captives of war. Allah even compares this shameful criminal act as lawful as engaging in sex with one's legal wife. He justifies both acts as equally legitimate. Thanks to Allah, Muhammad can now rape the captives with an untroubled conscience. The above Qur'anic verse also says that it is Allah who provides the women captives for Muhammad to rape. Will the true God act like a common pimp? Of course, Allah does not overlook the carnal desires of the ordinary Muslims either. Even married captives are fair game for Muslims:

Surah 4:24: "Also forbidden are married women unless they are captives of war. Such is the decree of Allah." (Ahmed Ali)*

The following Hadith describes the circumstances that led to the revelation of the above Qur'anic verse.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Volume 2, Book V, Chapter 711, Hadith 2150:

*Abu Sa'id al-Khudri said: The Apostle of Allah sent a military expedition to Awtas on the occasion of the battle of Hunain. They met their enemy and fought with them. They defeated them and took them captives. Some of the Companions of the Apostle of Allah were reluctant to have intercourse with the female captives in the presence of their husbands who were unbelievers. So Allah, the Exalted, send down the Qur'anic verse: "And all married women are forbidden unto you save those captives whom your right hand possess." – Surah 4 An-Nisa 24.

While a Muslim is prohibited from engaging in sex with a married woman, there is an exception to this rule if the married woman is a captive of war. Under such circumstances, Muslims are authorized to rape the married captives. Of course, this includes both married and single captives. The women are spared from execution because no woman means no sexual incentive for Muslims to fight the next Jihad. And Allah knows that sex sells. This is the primary reason why Islam spares the women victims of war. These women are turned into sex-slaves. There is nothing noble about sparing the women in Islam when the objective for keeping these women alive is to rape them at will. Many a woman would rather die than suffer such humiliation.

It is vital to note that Allah is complicit in this sexual crime of the Muslims. In fact, he is the architect of this disgusting crime against the women captives of war. He shamelessly sanctioned the raping of these helpless women. This is pure evil! Sexual intercourse with the captives of war is judged as Statutory Rape by the International Criminal Tribunal since captives are in no position to resist the sexual assault by an invading army. The following Hadith describes a typical raid during the *"Golden Days" of Islam. It describes how a group of women and children were captured as they attempt to flee the Muslims.

Sahih Muslim, Book 19, Number 4345:

" . . . and then we attacked from all sides and reached their watering-place where a battle was fought. Some of the enemies were killed and some were taken prisoners. I saw a group of persons that consisted of women and children escaping in the distance. I was afraid lest they should reach the mountain before me, so I shot an arrow between them and the mountain. When they saw the arrow, they stopped. So I brought them, driving them along."

The Muslim narrator in the above Hadith is none other than Muhammad's adopted son. The Hadith goes on to narrate that Muhammad personally demanded one of the captured women for his own sexual use. Let's continue with our reading of the Hadith:

*"I drove them along until I brought them to Abu Bakr who bestowed that girl upon me as a prize. So we arrived in Medina. I had not yet disrobed her when the Messenger of Allah (pbuh) met me in the street and said: "Give me that girl."

Sexual predators from Prophet to foot-soldiers! Captive women are considered as nothing more than sex objects in Islam. The words of Muhammad's adopted son confirm this sickening reality in Islam. Without shame or fear he openly stated: *"I had not yet disrobed her." The above evidences are sufficient to prove why women are spared in Islam. Allah not only authorized Genocide but also Rape in the Qur'an. And Muslims have the gall to find fault with the God of the Bible.

Another reason why women and children are spared is because Islam sanctions the institution of slavery. War captives served to provide a steady flow of supply for the Islamic slave trade. The purchase of female slaves for sex is lawful under Islamic law. And this was the prime incentive for the purchase of slaves throughout Islamic history. The Islamic Legal Manual "Umdat al-Salik," which carries the endorsement of Al-Azhar University, states the following:

When a child or a woman is taken captive, they become slaves by the fact of capture, and the woman's previous marriage is immediately annulled." Why? So that they are free to become the concubines of their captors. The Qur'an permits Muslim men to have intercourse with their wives and their slave girls: "Forbidden to you are . . . married women, except those whom you own as slaves. (Surah 4:23-24).

"When a child or a woman is taken captive, they become slaves by the fact of capture." Period! Muslim slave-owners are authorized by Allah to engage in sexual intercourse with their slave girls. The Qur'an refers to these slave girls as *"those whom your right hand possess." In the following Qur'anic verses, Allah reveals who will be qualified to receive his blessings. Among them are:

Surah 23:5-6: Those who abstain from sex, except with their marriage mates, or those whom their right hands possess, for in their case they are free from blame. (A.L. Bilal)

The Qur'an clearly teaches that Muslims who rape their slave girls will be blessed by Allah. Even though Islam clearly admits that captive women and children are turned into slaves, Muslims deceive us by saying that Islam does not promote slavery. In the same deceptive way, they also deny the authorization of Genocide in the Qur'an. All the evidences that we have provided here are from authentic Islamic sources. They are not recorded by the enemies of Islam but by the very defenders of Islam. Well, was Muhammad ever guilty of killing women? Absolutely! Islamic sources reveal that Muhammad and his men murdered a number of women. One of them was Asma bint Marwan. She was targeted for speaking out against the crimes of Muhammad, in particular his murder of an old man named Abu Afak. In his vicious hatred towards her, Muhammad commanded one of his men to murder her. She was killed while suckling her infant. Ibn Ishaq, who documented the earliest biography of Muhammad, recorded this event in his historical work known as *"Sirat Rasul Allah."

Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah, pp. 675-76:

Umayr Ibn Adi came to her in the night and entered her house. Her children were sleeping around her. There was one whom she was suckling. He searched her with his hand because he was blind, and separated the child from her. He thrust his sword in her chest till it pierced up to her back. Then he offered the morning prayers with the prophet at al-Medina*. The apostle of Allah said to him: "Have you slain the daughter of Marwan?" He said: "Yes." (Ibn Sa'ds Kitab al-Tabaqat al-Kabir)*

Let us consider another account. Umm Qirfah was an old Arab woman and the leader of her clan. Muhammad and his men killed her by brutally splitting her into two. This incident took place in 622 C.E.

Al-Tabari, Volume 8, Page 96:

Allah's Messenger sent Zayd to Wadi Qura, where he encountered the Banu Fazarah. Some of his Companions were killed, and Zayd was carried away wounded. Ward was slain by the Banu Badr. When Zayd returned, he vowed that no washing should touch his head until he had raided the Fazarah. After he recovered, Muhammad sent him with an army against the Fazarah settlement. He met them in Qura and inflicted casualties on them and took Umm Qirfah prisoner. He also took one of Umm's daughters and Abdallah bin Mas'adah prisoner. Zyad bin Harithah ordered Qays to kill Umm*, and he killed her cruelly.* He tied each of her legs with a rope and tied the ropes to two camels, and they split her in two*.*

Muhammad then ordered his men to display the decapitated head of Umm Qirfah on the streets of Medina. Muhammad also beheaded a Jewish woman who belonged to the Banu Qurayzah tribe. The wife of Muhammad, who was with this woman before she was executed, narrated the following account.

Sunan Abu Dawud, Book 14, Hadith 2665:

Narrated Aisha: No woman of Banu Qurayzah was killed except one. She was with me, talking and laughing on her back and belly (extremely), while the Apostle of Allah was killing her people with the swords*. Suddenly a man called her name: Where is so-and-so? I asked: "What is the matter with you?" She said: "I did a new act."* The man took her and beheaded her*. I will not forget that she was laughing extremely although she knew that she would be killed.*

Though there are others, the above examples are sufficient to prove our point. Action speaks louder than words. And the actions prove that women were indeed killed by Muhammad and his followers. Before we move on to the next subsection, there is an interesting episode in the life of Muhammad that is worth mentioning here. Please read the following historical account carefully.

Sunan Abu-Dawud Book 38, Hadith Number 4348:

Narrated Abdullah Ibn Abbas: A blind man had a slave-mother who used to abuse the Prophet and disparage him. He forbade her but she did not stop. He rebuked her but she did not give up her habit. One night she began to slander the Prophet and abuse him. So he took a dagger, placed it on her belly, pressed it, and killed her*.* A child who came between her legs was smeared with the blood that was there*. When the morning came, the Prophet was informed about it. He assembled the people and said: I adjure by Allah the man who has done this action and I adjure him by my right to him that he should stand up.*

Jumping over the necks of the people and trembling the man stood up. He sat before the Prophet and said: Apostle of Allah! I am her master; she used to abuse you and disparage you. I forbade her, but she did not stop, and I rebuked her, but she did not abandon her habit. I have two sons like pearls from her, and she was my companion. Last night she began to abuse and disparage you. So I took a dagger, put it on her belly and pressed it till I killed her. Thereupon the Prophet said: Oh be witness, no retaliation is payable for her blood.

What cruelty! What injustice! Muhammad not only approved the cold-blooded murder of a pregnant mother and her unborn child but he also let the murderer go free. Why? Simply because the murderer claimed that she had insulted Muhammad. Does not the murder of an innocent child matter to him? A double murder has been committed and Muhammad did not even bother to investigate to ascertain whether the murderer was lying to escape punishment. Muhammad was quick to give his verdict which was based solely on the murderer's word. Even if she had truly insulted Muhammad, is her offense serious enough to warrant her death? Is it justifiable to kill her? By decreeing that "no retaliation is payable for her blood," Muhammad believed that it is perfectly justifiable to kill her.

Why is there no outrage from Muslims? Why are they not complaining against Muhammad for justifying such a serious crime against a pregnant mother and her unborn child*?* Can Muslims really ignore such wickedness? In contrast to Muhammad, Jesus even prayed for the forgiveness of his executioners:

Luke 23:34: "Jesus prayed: 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they are doing.'"

This is Christianity! Muhammad set an evil precedent for Muslims. That is why it is justifiable in many strict Islamic countries to kill anyone – including women – who insult the Prophet of Islam.

THE THREAT OF GENOCIDE TODAY

The seeds of Genocide are sown in the soils of warfare. Therefore, to know which religion today poses the greatest threat to mankind, it is crucial to study the authorization of warfare in its theology. There are major differences between the authorization of warfare in the Bible and the Qur'an. Of course, it is not possible to enumerate all these differences within the scope of this article. However, the information provided below highlights some of the most significant differences. It is vital to pay attention to these differences.

Those so-called "Christians" who engage in warfare will find no justification for their actions in the teachings of the Bible. If someone today decides to study the entire Bible from beginning to end – from Genesis to Revelation – with what message will he come away with? In other words, what will be the take away message from his study of the Bible? Will his reading of the entire Bible from cover to cover persuade him in any way to engage in aggressive warfare to spread Christianity? Will it in any way influence him to take up arms against non-Christians? The answer is obvious! In the final analysis, the only message that remains in the Bible for the worshippers of Jehovah today is the message of love. A message which strictly condemns all acts of violence. And the only form of warfare that is sanctioned in the Bible for the worshippers of Jehovah today is not carnal but spiritual warfare:

2 Corinthians 10:3-4: For though we walk in the flesh, we do not wage warfare according to what we are in the flesh. For the weapons of our warfare are not fleshly*, but powerful by God for overturning strongly entrenched things.*

All the above evidences prove that the teachings of the Bible pose no threat whatsoever to mankind. The world is safe with the teachings of the Bible. The opposite is true of Islam. The Qur'an was written within a time-period of 23 years. It begins with verses that are peaceful and tolerant. However, it progressively becomes more aggressive with time. Finally, the Qur'an concludes with verses calling for the violent subjugation of the entire world. It is important to note that the verses of the Qur'an are not arranged chronologically. Therefore, the Hadith and the Tafsirs are required to ascertain which Qur'anic verses were revealed earlier and which were revealed later. The progression of the Qur'an from peaceful to violent is outlined below:

610 CE – 622 CE: In the beginning, Allah commanded restraint in consonance with the time when Muslims were weaker and smaller in number. As such, the verses were tolerant, gentle and conceding.

622 CE – 626 CE: As the Muslims relocated to Medina and gained the support of the locals there, Allah permitted Muslims to fight in defensive wars.

626 CE – 632 CE: In the final years of Muhammad's life when Islam grew strong, Allah authorized Muslims to initiate offensive wars against the infidels. With this authorization to kill and to conquer, Muhammad began a ruthless campaign of violent Jihad in the name of Allah.

Theologically, all the peaceful verses in the Qur'an are abrogated by the more aggressive verses that were revealed later to Muhammad. Though these peaceful verses still exist in the Qur'an, they are no longer relevant for Muslims today:

Surah 2:106: Whatever verse we shall abrogate, or cause thee to forget, we will bring a better one than it*, or one like unto it. Dost thou not know that God is almighty? (Sale)*
The Quran's take away message for Muslims is the violent subjugation of the entire world through violent Jihad. That is the final marching order in the Qur'an for Muslims. Islamic scholars do not dispute this fact. In fact, they constantly preach this message to remind Muslims of their sacred duty to fight for the Cause of Allah. Muslims who engage in acts of violence against the disbelievers can find ample justification for their actions from both the life example of Muhammad and from the teachings of the Qur'an. Muslims who fight against the disbelievers are not only following the example of their Prophet but also fulfilling their sacred duty towards Allah:
Surah 9:123: "O you who believe! Fight those of the disbelievers who are near to you*, and let them find harshness in you, and know that* Allah is with those who keep their duty unto Him." (Pickthall)
The primary theme of the wars in the Hebrew Scriptures is the holiness of God. Thus, the basis for the wars in the Bible was to remove wickedness. In contrast, the historical records of the early wars in Islam show that the theme of divine holiness as the aspiration for these wars is totally non-existent. In fact, the wars of Allah promote wickedness. For example, Allah even inspired a verse in the Qur'an authorizing Muslims to rape the captives of war – including married ones. Muslims are also authorized to engage in banditry with the blessings of Allah.
Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah, p. 288:
"Allah divided the booty stolen from the first caravan after he made spoils permissible. He gave four-fifths to those He had allowed to take it and one-fifth to His Apostle."
Sahih Bukhari, Volume 4, Book 52, Number 276:

"By Allah, we saw the Meccan women running, revealing their leg-bangles. So, we cried out, 'The booty! O Muslims, the booty! Our Companions have become victorious. What are we waiting for? By Allah! We will go to the pagans and collect our share of the war booty.'"

Many other acts of wickedness are also sanctioned in Islam to satisfy the carnal desires of the Muslims. Furthermore, unlike the wars in the Hebrew Scriptures, the wars of Allah are open-ended. Therefore, the wars of Allah will continue until the entire world of mankind comes under the rule of Islam and Islam reigns supreme.

The primary reason for the authorization to destroy the Canaanites is not because they were Pagans but because of their extreme depravity. The fact that Jehovah spared other Pagan nations such as Egypt substantiates this fact. However, it is different with Islam. One of the final verses in the Qur'an which is also known as the *"Sword Verse" is Surah 9:5. Let's read this Qur'anic verse:

Surah 9:5: But when the forbidden months have passed, fight and slay the Pagans wherever you find them. And seize them, surround them, and lie and wait for them with every strategy of war. But if they repent, establish prayer, and give zakat, then open the way for them, for Allah is Oft-Forgiving, Mercifully Redeeming. (A.L. Bilal)

*"Slay the Pagans wherever you find them." This is an undeniable commandment to wage genocidal warfare against the Pagans. However, since this commandment comes from Allah, Muslims will somehow justify the killing. Surah 9:5 states that the Pagans would be spared from death if they were to *"repent, establish prayer and give zakat." What does Allah mean by this? It means that the only option for the Pagans to escape death is to become Muslims. It is either Islam or Death. This is Genocide to the core. The commandment in Surah 9:5 is the final word of Allah for all those who do not submit to Islam – not only to those in the past but also the present. And the Qur'an clearly testifies that the only religion which is acceptable to Allah is Islam:

Surah 3:85: And whoever seeks a religion other than Islam, it will never be accepted of him, and in the Hereafter he will be one of the losers. (Hilali-Khan)*

One of the most destructive ideologies of Islam is the division of the entire world into two conflicting factions. One faction is Dar al-

Salam (House of Peace)* and the other is Dar al-Harb (House of War). What do these terms mean? Dar al-Salam (also known as Dar al-Islam) refers to those lands which are ruled by Islamic regimes where the laws of Allah prevail. The outside world which has yet to be subjugated is called Dar al-Harb. In other words, it refers to the lands ruled by the infidels. The very title – House of War – which Islam designates to the infidel nations shows the hostility of Islam towards the non-Muslim nations.

This division of the entire world into two conflicting factions reveals the shocking reality that Islam is in a perpetual state of war against all non-Muslim nations. And this hostility will continue until the complete eradication of Dar al-Harb. The aim of Islam is to ensure the sole existence of Dar al-Salam without rivalry. This is the objective of Allah and the goal of Islam. And this is dangerous ideology.

Actually, Islam tried to achieve this objective during its early history. It went on a conquering spree. Countries after countries fell in its path. However, the infidels finally stopped the tide but not until millions of lives were lost. The wars in the Bible that Muslims love to bring up in debates are nothing in comparison to the bloodshed of Islam. And Islam still thirsts for blood. The terrorists who have not forgotten the teachings of Allah are the beacons of Islam – the true Muslims. As long as one remains a Muslim, he has to fight for the Cause of Allah:

Surah 4:76: Those who believe, fight in the Cause of Allah. (S. V. Ahamed)

And Allah loves those who fight for his Cause:

Surah 61:4: Indeed Allah loves those who fight for His Cause. (Farook Malik)

Right from the very beginning when the commandment to fight for the Cause of Allah was revealed to the Muslims, the Qur'an clarifies exactly what this would mean for the unbelievers. It clearly testifies that Allah desires nothing less than the total annihilation of the unbelievers:

Surah 8:7: But Allah wished to confirm the truth by His words, and wipe the unbelievers out to the last." (Samira)

It is death for the unbelievers. This is a call for Genocide on a global scale. And it comes from Allah. This proves that as long as Islam exists, there will be wars. And the wars will continue until there is no one left for Muslims to fight. As usual, Muslims will deny all this. But we have Allah to expose the lies of the Muslims.

It is an indisputable historical fact that Islam was spread by the sword in its early years. The opposite is true in the history of early Christianity. Many of the early Christians were persecuted and martyred for their commitment to spread the message of the Bible. In a sense both Islam and Christianity were spread by the sword. However, the difference is that in the case of the Christians, the swords were pointing in their direction. They sacrificed their lives to spread Christianity:

Romans 8:36: For your sake we are being put to death all day long. We have been accounted as sheep for slaughtering.

It is absolutely vital to remember that the verses in the Qur'an which authorizes Genocide against non-Muslims are open-ended. This means that the authorization of Genocide against the non-Muslims is not confined or limited by time or space. Therefore, the call for Genocide is just as relevant today as it was in the time of Muhammad. Islam is not a religion of peace, it has never been.

Ibn Ishaq, Sirat Rasul Allah, p. 992:

"Fight in the way of Allah and kill those who disbelieve in Allah."

We hope this article will be beneficial to Christian in defending the teachings of the Bible. We earnestly hope that the information provided here will also be of value to sincere Muslims. We pray that this knowledge will help sincere Muslims to break free from the Cult of Death.

Did God Command Genocide in the Bible?

Whenever Muslims engage in discussions or in debates with Christians, very often they try to silence the Christians by accusing the God of the Bible of committing Genocide. To validate their claim, Muslims deceitfully point to the passages in the Bible where God commanded the Israelites to destroy the Canaanites – including men, women and children. This is a devious tactic by Muslims to divert the discussion away from all the violent verses that are engraved in the Qur'an. Their motive for raising this objection is simply to silence the Christians. They raise questions such as: How can the Christian God command the killings of women and children? How can you worship such a God?

Any attempt to respond to this Muslim objection would be futile if we ourselves fail to understand why God authorized the extermination of men, women and children of the Canaanite nations. The failure to understand this commandment in the Bible can also give rise to doubts concerning the righteousness of God's moral judgment. Of course, the accusation that God commanded Genocide is a preposterous lie when we consider all the facts related to these passages in the Bible. This article will conclusively prove this vital truth about our Creator. This article is a must for Christians. We must avoid the pitfall of evaluating an issue based on partial knowledge. To know the truth, it is absolutely essential to understand the whole truth. And this is especially true when it involves our eternal salvation.

To deal with this subject objectively and comprehensively, we will address this issue in two separate articles. Part One is the article that you are now reading. The purpose of this article is to fortify Christians to understand the true meaning and function of these supposedly difficult passages in the Bible. It is vital for Christians to see beyond the surface and recognize the depth of God's love in these passages. A deeper understanding will reveal how the eternal salvation of mankind is salvaged through these uncompromising actions of our loving Creator. The overwhelming evidences in the Bible reveal the immense love and wisdom of our God. Please read through to the end of this article to understand this issue clearly. Did God Command Genocide in the Bible? The Authorization of Genocide in Islam(Part Two) is written specifically to expose the lies of the Muslims. This article will equip Christians to effectively deal with the accusation raised against the God of the Bible by Muslims. We will provide evidences from Islam itself to refute their claim. These evidences will prove why their accusation against the God of the Bible is absolutely false. But more than that, we will provide evidences to prove that it is not Jehovah but Allah who is actually guilty of authorizing Genocide in the Qur'an. A large number of Muslims are converting to Christianity today. It is therefore vital to equip these ones to answer the critics who raise this objection to cast doubts on their new found faith in the God of the Bible. To access Part Two, please click the following link: THE AUTHORIZATION OF GENOCIDE IN ISLAM

Having clarified these basic points, we will now begin our discussion. In this article, irrefutable evidences will be provided from the Hebrew Scriptures (Old Testament) to substantiate the fact why we can be absolutely confident that Jehovah is truly a God of love who is morally just. It will be proven why it became absolutely necessary and essential for a loving Creator to authorize the annihilation of the Canaanites. What many fail to understand is how this commandment to exterminate the Canaanites is crucial to the outworking of God's divine purpose for the eternal salvation of mankind. This may seem a paradox to some but it will become evident as you consider the facts.

We will start at the very beginning. Jehovah God promised to give the land of Canaan as an inheritance to Abraham. God is the rightful owner of this land before the Canaanites established temporary residency there. And God promised to deliver that land over to the descendants of Abraham. However, the Israelites had to wait for more than 400 years before inheriting the Promised Land. Why did not Jehovah eliminate the Canaanites right away? He could have done so without any difficulty. Yet, Jehovah told Abraham:

Genesis 15:16: But in the fourth generation they (the descendants of Abraham) will return here, because the error of the Amorites has not yet come to completion.

The term Amorites is often applied collectively to describe the entire seven Canaanite nations. Jehovah waited for more than 400 years for the "error of the Amorites to come to completion." The Canaanites had more than 400 years to repent but they did not change their evil ways. The Israelites were not authorized to inherit the land until the "sin of the Amorites" reached the limit where divine execution became mandatory. This means that prior to their execution, God adjudged that the sins of the Canaanites have yet to reach the limit where they can be justly punished. This proves that when the time came for God to execute the Canaanites, it was an absolutely righteous judgment. This demonstrates the extent of Jehovah's mercy. He did not execute them instantaneously, but waited patiently for more than 400 years after which God's justice demanded the complete eviction of such evil doers from his land.

The sins of the Canaanites cannot be left unchecked. Yet, Jehovah stayed the execution until the sins of the Canaanites reached their full measure. In fact, Jehovah permitted his own chosen people to suffer in servitude for centuries in Egypt, so that the Canaanites could have the opportunity to repent and change their wicked ways. Ample time was given before it was determined that the sins of the Canaanites can no longer be exempted from punishment. Such is the justice of Jehovah. This demonstrates that Jehovah does not take pleasure in executing even the wicked. In fact, he lovingly pleads with the wicked to turn away from their evil ways so that they may continue living:

Ezekiel 33:11: Say to them, "As I am alive," is the utterance of the Sovereign Lord Jehovah, "I take delight, not in the death of the wicked one, but in that someone wicked turns back from his way and actually keeps living."

It is truly amazing to learn that our loving Creator is willing to overturn his judgment even after the verdict had been sentenced upon the wicked if that individual repents. Such is the desire of Jehovah to spare the wicked. Read the following verses carefully:

Ezekiel 33:14-16: "And when I say to the wicked one: 'You will positively die,' and he actually turns back from his sin and carries on justice and righteousness, and the wicked one returns the very thing pledged, pays back the very things taken by robbery, and actually walks in the very statutes of life by not doing injustice, he will positively keep living. He will not die. None of his sins with which he has sinned will be remembered against him. Justice and righteousness are what he has carried on. He will positively keep living.'"

It is vital to note that the cruelty of the Egyptians which they manifested against the Hebrew slaves was not considered evil enough to warrant their extermination. Egypt was only punished. This proves that the "sin of the Amorites" must have exceeded far beyond than that of Egypt. During those intervening years when Jehovah held back his punishment, the evil practices of the Canaanites only intensified with time. Their form of worship was extremely wicked and immoral. Instead of questioning why God commanded the destruction of the Canaanites, we must ask ourselves why did he not do so sooner.

Halley's Bible Handbook states:

"Canaanites worshipped, by immoral indulgence as a religious ritual in the presence of their gods; and then, by murdering their first-born children, as a sacrifice to these same gods. It seems that, in large measure, the land of Canaan had become a sort of Sodom and Gomorrah on a national scale . . . Did a civilization of such abominable filth and brutality have any right longer to exist? . . . Archaeologists who dig in the ruins of Canaanite cities wonder why God did not destroy them sooner than he did." (p. 161)

Let us now read the verses in the Bible that authorize the destruction of the Canaanites. Before entering Canaan, the Israelites were given the following commandment:

Deuteronomy 7:1-2: "When Jehovah your God at last brings you into the land to which you are going so as to take possession of it, he must also clear away populous nations from before you, the Hittites and the Girgashites and the Amorites and the Canaanites and the Perizzites and the Hivites and the Jebusites*, seven nations more populous and mighty than you are. And Jehovah your God will certainly abandon them to you, and you must defeat them.* You should without fail devote them to destruction."

This commandment calls for the destruction of the entire Canaanite population – including men, women and children. Was this a ruthless campaign to annihilate the Canaanites? Was this an act of Genocide on the part of God? In a word, the answer is an emphatic NO. It will be inconsistent on our part to acknowledge the validity of this commandment in the Bible and not accept the Bible's own explanation of what this commandment actually means. Therefore, to understand the full significance of what this commandment actually means, it is vital to study how it was implemented in the Hebrew Scriptures. In other words, how this commandment was put into force in real life. Consider now the following verses:

Exodus 23:23: "For my angel will go ahead of you and will bring you to the Amorites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Canaanites, the Hivites, and the Jebusites, and I will annihilate them."

Jehovah clearly testifies that he will *"annihilate" the entire Canaanite nations. Yet, just a few verses later he explains how he will enforce this commandment to *"annihilate" them:

Exodus 23:27-30: "I will send the fear of me ahead of you, and I will throw into confusion all the people you encounter, and I will cause all your enemies to flee from you in defeat. I will send the feeling of dejection ahead of you, and it will drive out the Hivites, the Canaanites, and the Hittites from before you. I will not drive them out from before you in one year, so that the land does not become desolate and the wild animals of the field multiply against you. Little by little I will drive them out from before you*, until you become fruitful and take possession of the land."*

We can clearly see that when Jehovah decreed that he will annihilate the Canaanites, it basically means that he will drive them out of the land. This fact is substantiated and reinforced yet again in the very next verse. It informs us exactly how this divine commandment of Jehovah is to be enforced by the Israelites. Take careful note of Jehovah's instruction to the Israelites:

Exodus 23:31: "I will set your boundary from the Red Sea to the sea of the Philistines and from the wilderness to the River; for I will give the inhabitants of the land into your hand, and you will drive them out from before you."

There are many more verses such as these in the Bible which similarly testify that this is exactly how Jehovah intended the Israelites to carry out his divine commandment. Here is another example:

Numbers 33:50-53: Jehovah spoke to Moses on the desert plains of Moab by the Jordan at Jericho, saying: "Speak to the Israelites and tell them, 'You are crossing the Jordan into the land of Canaan. You must drive away all the inhabitants of the land from before you . . . And you will possess the land and dwell in it, because I will certainly give you the land as a possession.'"

Only by obeying this commandment precisely as instructed, the Israelites would be working in unison with the divine will of Jehovah. Compare the above instruction of Jehovah to the Israelites with his own participation in it:

Deuteronomy 11:23: Jehovah will drive away all these nations from before you, and you will dispossess nations greater and more numerous than you are.*

A careful study of all the passages in the Bible where God commanded the annihilation of the Canaanites shows that this commandment is used interchangeably with the command to drive them out of the land. This is significant because there are more verses that command the Israelites to drive out the Canaanites than the ones that call for their annihilation. What this essentially substantiates is that the prime objective of God is to isolate the Israelites from the death-dealing influence of the Canaanites. This segregation is crucial not only for the salvation of Israel but also for the salvation of the rest of mankind. However, this does not mean that the Canaanites are not in line for destruction. They deserve it and rightly so. But the evidences show that only those who stayed back to fight and those who refused to flee came under the executional sword of the Israelites.

In reality, the threat of a foreign army would naturally alert individuals to remove themselves from harm's way. The noncombatants would be the first to flee. It would be utterly irresponsible for one to stay behind just to be killed. The migration of thousands of refugees from war-torn countries confirms this natural instinct in humans for self-preservation. This fact is clearly acknowledged in the Bible:

Jeremiah 4:29: Because of the sound of the horsemen and bow shooters the entire city is running away. They have entered into the thickets, and into the rocks they have gone up. Every city is left, and there is no man dwelling in them.

Therefore, those who stayed behind are responsible for their own lives. It will be shown later why it was inexcusable for the Canaanites not to flee. The claim that God commanded Genocide is absolutely false. Before we move on, it will be beneficial to understand the true meaning of Genocide. It is defined as:

The deliberate killing of people who belong to a particular racial, political or cultural group.

Genocide is defined as the intentional destruction of a people on the basis of their race, culture, or religion. However, Jehovah did not command the destruction of the Canaanites on the basis of any of the above reasons but because of their excessive depravity. The fact that God spared those Canaanites who turned away from their sinful course confirms the truthfulness of this fact. Moreover, the commandment to "drive out" the enemies is not the same as Genocide. If the claim of Genocide is true, no one will be permitted to escape intentionally. It is vital to note that the commandment to destroy the Canaanites was confined to a specific period in the history of God's people. It was given to a specific people – the Israelites – for a specific purpose. And it was limited to a precisely defined region. Israel was never commanded to expand its borders. It was not an open-ended declaration of war. Neither were these wars fought with the intention of forcibly converting the Canaanite population. Once this commandment accomplishes its intended purpose, it will cease to be in force for the Israelites. These wars were divinely sanctioned to execute God's righteous judgment. The purpose of these wars is no different from the divine executions which God carried out against the wicked generation of Sodom and Gomorrah, and upon the people of Noah's day.

It is equally vital to understand that Christians are not under subjection to this commandment which was authorized in the Hebrew Scriptures. This commandment was specifically given to the nation of Israel and it is not binding on the Christians. As for Christians, they are forbidden to engage in any form of carnal warfare. Instead, they are commanded to love even their enemies:

Matthew 5:44-45: "However, I say to you: 'Continue to love your enemies and to pray for those who persecute you, so that you may prove yourselves sons of your Father who is in the heavens, since he makes his sun rise on both the wicked and the good and makes it rain on both the righteous and the unrighteous.'"

When a crowd with swords and clubs came to arrest Jesus, one of his disciples tried to defend him with a sword. Follow now this account in the Bible:

Matthew 26:51: With that, one of the companions of Jesus drew out his sword and struck the slave of the high priest and took off his ear.
How did Jesus react? He did not condone this violent reaction of his disciple. Instead, he strongly rebuked that disciple:

Matthew 26:52: Then Jesus said to him: "Return your sword to its place, for all those who take the sword will die by the sword."
This is the standing order for Christians ever since. Therefore, the commandment in the Hebrew Scriptures to wage war against the enemies is not the final marching order for either the Jews or the Christians today. However, the same cannot be said about Allah's commandments in the Qur'an which authorize Muslims to fight and kill the enemies of Islam. More on this in Part Two.

THE DEPRAVITY OF THE CANAANITES

*"Will the Judge of all the earth not do what is right?" (Genesis 18:25) With that question, Abraham expressed his confidence that Jehovah would always render perfect justice. As the Judge of all the earth, God is morally responsible to inflict capital punishment on all those meriting it. The execution of the Canaanites found full justification in the conditions that prevailed in Canaan. God's verdict upon the Canaanites was in proportion to their sins. Their culture was grossly immoral and decadent to the core. The land itself became defiled. Even before they took possession of the land, Jehovah had to strictly warn the Israelites not to imitate the evil ways of the Canaanites:
Leviticus 18:2-3: "Speak to the Israelites and say to them, 'I am Jehovah your God. You must not behave as they do in the land of Egypt, where you were dwelling, and you must not do what they do in the land of Canaan, where I am bringing you. And you must not walk in their statutes.'"
And God enumerated some of the evil practices of the Canaanites that the Israelites must strictly avoid:

Leviticus 18:6-7: "No man should approach any of his close relatives to have sexual relations. I am Jehovah. You must not have sexual relations with your father or with your mother. She is your mother, and you must not have sexual relations with her."
Leviticus 18:9: "You must not have sexual relations with your sister*, either the daughter of your father or of your mother, whether she is born in the same household or born outside of it."*
Jehovah also warned the Israelites against imitating the unnatural sexual practices of the Canaanites:

Leviticus 18:22: *"You must not lie down with a male in the same way that you lie down with a woman. It is a detestable act."*
And also the depraved acts of bestiality that was commonly practiced by both men and women of Canaan:

Leviticus 18:23: "A man must not have sexual intercourse with an animal to become unclean by it; nor should a woman offer herself to an animal to have intercourse with it*. It is a violation of what is natural."*
In summary, Jehovah reinforced the reason why the Canaanites had to be driven out before the Israelites could settle in that land:

Leviticus 18:24-25: "Do not make yourselves unclean by any of these things, for it is by all these things that the nations that I am driving out from before you have made themselves unclean*. Therefore, the land is unclean, and I will bring punishment on it for its error, and* the land will vomit its inhabitants out."
The land itself became defiled. Incest, Sodomy, Temple Prostitution, and Bestiality was the way of the Canaanites. We have only cited some of the vile practices of the Canaanites. We encourage you to read Leviticus Chapter 18 in its entirety to understand the full extent of their depravity. Other detestable practices include Divination, Spiritism and the Ritualistic Sacrificing of their own sons and daughters in fire to their gods:
Deuteronomy 12:31: You must not do that way to Jehovah your God, for everything that is detestable to Jehovah is what they have done to their gods, for they even burn their sons and their daughters regularly in the fire to their gods.

Deuteronomy 18:9-12: When you are entered into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you, you must not learn to do according to the detestable things of those nations. There should not be found in you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through the fire, anyone who employs divination, a practicer of magic or anyone who looks for omens or a sorcerer, or one who binds others with a spell or anyone who consults a spirit medium or a professional foreteller of events or anyone who inquires of the dead*. All those doing these things are something detestable to Jehovah, and on account of these detestable things Jehovah your God is driving them away from before you.*

Renowned scholar Merrill F. Unger gave the following details regarding child sacrifices in Canaan:

"Excavations in Palestine have uncovered piles of ashes and remains of infant skeletons in cemeteries around heathen altars, pointing to the widespread practice of this cruel abomination." (Archaeology and the Old Testament, 1964, p. 279)

Please read the following verse carefully:

Deuteronomy 9:5: "It is not for your righteousness or for the uprightness of your heart that you are going in to take possession of their land; in fact, it is for the wickedness of these nations that Jehovah your God is driving them away from before you*, and in order to carry out the word that Jehovah swore to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob."*

It was not because the Israelites were righteous that God commanded the extermination of the Canaanites but because of their gross wickedness. Israel only served as an instrument to carry out God's divine judgment. The primary theme is the issue of God's holiness. We should avoid the mistake of measuring the Creator with the measurement that we measure humans. For example, why is murder wrong in the first place? It is because humans have no authority to take the life of another human being. However, God does. God has the moral authority to determine whether one deserves to live or to die. He has the authority not only because he is our Creator but also because what is morally right or wrong originates with him. Thus, God cannot be charged with murder.

Since it is God who gave us the gift of life, we are by definition his property. And God requires us to use our lives for good and not for evil. Therefore, God has the moral right to forfeit the life of an individual when it is used in violation of his divine purpose. As the only one who truly possesses the moral authority to take the life of a human being when he sees fit, God cannot be accused of committing Genocide. This was certainly true in the case of the Canaanites. And God assigned the Israelites to carry out his divine judgment.

It is mandatory for Jehovah to remove all traces of uncleanness from the land that he designated as an inheritance to the descendants of Abraham. During their formative years as a nation, it is crucial for Israel to remain uncontaminated from the influence of the surrounding nations. The Canaanites were a threat to the purity of God's people. If the sanctity of Israel was compromised in any way, it would endanger the outworking of God's divine purpose for the eternal salvation of mankind. What is at stake here is more than just the spiritual welfare of Israel as a nation. What is at stake here is of universal importance and it involves a much broader issue. We will provide more details on this in the latter part of our discussion. However, the question still remains: What about the women and children? Why were they executed? Who is responsible for their deaths?

WOMEN AND CHILDREN

The utterly sinful way of life of the Canaanite society had a corrupting influence on the children. Raised in an atmosphere where degrading sexual practices are sanctioned both culturally and religiously, the children viewed such debased conduct as acceptable behavior. And the children grew up mirroring the same immoral characteristics of their parents. It deeply affected their perception of what is morally right or wrong. Thus, the morality of the children became affected beyond redemption. And to further deteriorate the situation, the practice of incest which was prevalent among the Canaanites resulted in the sexual exploitation of children within the family unit. These children grew up morally and psychologically scarred for life. They, in turn, perpetuated the same cycle of evil as their predecessors.

As a result, wickedness permeated the entire Canaanite society. Each succeeding generation continued in the same cycle of evil. And their wickedness intensified with time. It must be remembered that Jehovah mercifully stayed the execution for more than 400 years in order for the Canaanites to repent. It never came! What would it take for God to stop this cycle of evil? What would be the cost if the Canaanite women and children were spared and permitted to live in the midst of the Israelites? Would this concession jeopardize God's divine purpose for the salvation of mankind? Would it endanger the nation that is designated to produce the Messiah? These are extremely vital questions. It is essential to consider the promise that God made to Abraham:

Genesis 22:18: "By means of your seed all nations of the earth will obtain a blessing for themselves because you have listened to my voice."

Who is this Seed that will bring blessing to the entire world of mankind? We do not have to guess. Centuries after this promise was made to Abraham, God revealed the identity of this Seed in the Bible:

Galatians 3:16: Now the promises were spoken to Abraham and to his seed*. It does not say: "And to your seeds," as in the case of many, but as in the case of one:* "And to your seed," who is Christ.

The preservation of the sanctity of Israel is crucial for the appearance of this Seed. God knew that it would take more than the destruction of the older generation to stop this vicious cycle of evil. Instead of being swayed by our emotions we must come to terms with reality. And this is the reality. If the Canaanite children were spared, the older ones who were raised under the care of their parents will continue in the same debased practices of their parents in secret. In time, they would influence their younger siblings. And the cycle of evil would continue unabated. God simply cannot risk the salvation of billions by allowing this cycle of evil to continue in the land where this Seed is designated to appear.

The commandment to destroy the children along with the older generation may come as a shock for many. However, the rationale lies in the truth of a well-known saying: "The apple does not fall far from the tree." Each new generation pursued the same sinful course as that of their parents. Since the evidences confirm that each succeeding generation emulated the same sinful characteristics of their parents, it would not take long for a fresh crop of adults to emerge just like their predecessors. The Canaanite children were annihilated and rightly so not only because of their great potential to imitate the sins of their parents but also because of the danger they would pose to the nation of Israel.

If the Canaanite children were spared, this would be potentially dangerous for the Israelites. The older ones who remember the execution of their parents at the hands of the Israelites would recount this incident to their younger siblings. In all likelihood, they will grow up harboring deep-rooted hatred for the Israelites. And this can lead to serious repercussions. Once they become strong and numerous they will not only attempt to avenge the death of their parents but also get in the way of true worship. What would this result in? God will have to command once again the annihilation of the Canaanites but this time against the very same children whom he spared before. Does this make sense to you? Additionally, there is also the danger of intermarriages with the Canaanites. God knew that such marriage alliances would in time lead the Israelites astray:

Deuteronomy 7:3-4: "And you must form no marriage alliance with them. Your daughter you must not give to his son, and his daughter you must not take for your son. For he will turn your son from following me, and they will certainly serve other gods."

In a society where moral corruption abounds, the corruption of a child can begin at a very early age. Living now in the midst of the Israelites, the older children who worshipped the immoral Canaanite gods and goddesses may continue to do so in secret. This would defile the nation of Israel. Let us not forget the Canaanite city of Sodom. The unnatural sexual acts that were prevalent in that city were not only committed by the adults but also by the young among them. When the angelic messengers visited Lot, both boys and men wanted to rape them. This proves that corruption can begin at a very early age:

Genesis 19:4-5: Before they could lie down to sleep, the men of the city, the men of Sodom, from boy to old man surrounded the house in one mob. And they kept calling out to Lot and saying to him: "Where are the men who came to you tonight? Bring them out to us so that we may have intercourse with them."

Without a doubt, the Canaanite children were adversely influenced by the immoral ways of their parents. Since the Israelites are the chosen people from whom the Messiah would emerge, they must be preserved both morally and spiritually. It is vital not to let our emotions cloud our judgment. Unlike us, God knows the thoughts and intentions of humans. He knew exactly how these children would turn out as adults. He knew of the dangers these children would pose for the Israelites. And he knew their hidden traits even before these traits became evident:

Psalms 58:3-4: The wicked go astray from birth. They are wayward, liars from the time they are born. Their venom is like the venom of serpents.

We will now use an actual historical setting to illustrate why God had to initiate the extermination of the Canaanite children. From historical records we know that Adolf Hitler was born in Austria on April 20, 1889. If you were living in Austria during that period, what would you do if you knew in advance all the atrocities that this new-born infant would commit when he grows up? What would you do if you knew that millions would die as a result of the wars initiated by this infant? And not to forget the thousands of children who would lose their lives in these wars. What would you do if the only solution to stop this evil from happening is to extinguish the life of this infant? What would you do if it was within your power to stop this evil? Would you spare the infant and let millions die? God acted decisively!

Just as the men, the Canaanite women were also participants in the violence, bestiality, child sacrifices, and other immoral activities. Temple prostitution cannot function without the participation of women. This religiously sanctioned practice validated both adultery and fornication as acceptable behavior. As such, these Canaanite women deserved the same adverse judgment as the men. Exempting them would be a travesty of justice since they are equally guilty as the men. More seriously, if these women are spared they would seek vengeance for the execution of their men in more subtle ways. To understand the danger, we have to compare an incident that took place long before the Israelites settled in the land of Canaan. The Bible tells us that in order to turn away the Israelites from serving Jehovah, the Moabite women seduced the Israelite men to commit sexual immorality:

Numbers 25:1-3: When Israel was dwelling in Shittim, they started to commit sexual immorality with the daughters of Moab*.* The women invited them to the sacrifices of their gods*, and they began to eat and to bow down to their gods.* So Israel joined in worship of the Baal of Peor, and Jehovah became enraged with Israel.

As a result, the Israelite men were executed for engaging in sexual immorality and in false worship:

Numbers 25:9: And those who died from the scourge amounted to twenty-four thousand.

Sparing the Canaanite women will only result in a repetition of the above tragedy. In spite of all the effort on the part of God to protect the nation that was chosen to birth the Messiah, the Israelites still succumbed to the influence of the Canaanites. This was because of their failure to follow God's commandment to completely drive out the Canaanites. The outcome was shocking to say the least:

Jeremiah 7:30-31: "For the people of Judah have done what is bad in my eyes," declares Jehovah. "They have set up their disgusting idols in the house that bears my name, in order to defile it. They have built the high places of Topheth, which is in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, in order to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, something that I had not commanded and that had never even come into my heart."

Now it was the Israelites who burned their sons and daughters in sacrificial fire to the idols. This tragedy was a direct result of their failure to act decisively upon God's commandment to completely remove the Canaanites from their God-given land. However, because of God's strong measurement against the Canaanites, a sufficient number of faithful Israelites were preserved from contamination. As a result, a measure of sanctity still remained in Israel to birth the Messiah. We shudder at the thought of the outcome had Jehovah chosen a less drastic course of action. It would have resulted in the entire nation of Israel becoming just like the Canaanites. The Messiah cannot be born in a pagan nation any more than a nation that succumbs to paganism – even if that nation happens to be Israel. Thus, instead of questioning the righteousness of our loving Creator, we should thank him fervently for acting the way he did.

The call for total destruction was not only necessary but also crucial to prevent any assimilation of paganism into the nation of Israel. God knew of the danger that the Canaanite women and children would pose if they were allowed to remain in the land that is now occupied by the Israelites. It would result in total ruination of Israel. It was not only sensible but also loving on the part of Jehovah for taking such strong measurements against the Canaanites. He had to for the salvation of the entire human race. There is nothing immoral about the Creator of life taking away a life when it endangers the eternal salvation of mankind. He acted as such to save billions. Jehovah is truly a God of love.

A GOD OF LOVE

Many are unaware that Jehovah lovingly secured the lives of the Canaanites who abandoned their wicked ways. Mercy was shown to those who turned to him in faith. Let us consider two examples. We will consider the examples of Rahab and the Gibeonites.

Rahab lived in the Canaanite city of Jericho. Before the Israelites crossed the Jordan into Canaan, Joshua sent out two men to spy out the land. When the spies ran into trouble, Rahab came to their aid. She hid the spies and later helped them escape. In return, she pleaded with these men to save her household. She had faith that Jehovah would deliver the cities of Canaan into the hands of the Israelites:

Joshua 2:9: And she went on to say to the men: "I do know that Jehovah will certainly give you the land, and that the fright of you has fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land have become disheartened because of you."

Joshua 2:12-14: "And now, please, swear to me by Jehovah that, because I have exercised loving-kindness toward you, you also will certainly exercise loving-kindness toward the household of my father, and you must give me a trustworthy sign. And you must preserve alive my father and my mother and my brothers and my sisters and all who belong to them, and you must deliver our souls from death." At that the men said to her: "Our souls are to die instead of you people! If you will not tell about this matter of ours, it must also occur that when Jehovah gives us the land, we also shall certainly exercise loving-kindness and trustworthiness toward you."

The account of Rahab proves that even at this late stage, it was still possible for individual Canaanites to escape the divine execution of God. And one family did escape. Jehovah is ever willing to extend mercy to all those who turn to him for deliverance. Rahab's faith resulted in the preservation of her own life as well as the lives of her household:

Hebrews 11:31: By faith Rahab the harlot did not perish with those who acted disobediently, because she received the spies in a peaceable way.

This proves that individual Canaanites had an option to escape death. They could escape the divine execution of God if they truly choose to do so. The salvation of Rahab and her family confirms this vital truth. It clearly demonstrates that Jehovah is truly a God of mercy. Moses declared:

Exodus 34:6: "Jehovah, Jehovah, a God merciful and compassionate, slow to anger and abundant in loving-kindness and truth."

Jehovah never fails to show mercy to those who leave their wicked ways and submit to his righteous moral standards. It does not matter whether they are Canaanites or from any other nation. Consider now the example of the Hivites who lived in Gibeon. While other Canaanite cities prepared themselves to fight against the Israelites, the Gibeonites refrained. This was because they believed that God was fighting for the Israelites. To escape death, they devised a plan. They made it appear as if they were living in a distant land. Some of the men put on ragged clothes and worn-out sandals. And they loaded their donkeys with worn-out sacks. They also took some dry old bread with them. Then they went to the Israelites and said:

Joshua 9:9-11: "We have come from a very distant land because we heard about your great God, Jehovah*. We heard all the things that he did for you in Egypt . . . So our elders told us, 'Take provisions with you for the journey and go to meet them and tell them: We will be your servants.'"*

Joshua and the other leaders believed the Gibeonites. So they promised not to harm them in any way. But a few days later they learned that the Gibeonites were actually living in Canaan. Joshua then inquired:

Joshua 9:22: "Why did you tell us that you came from a distant land?"

And the Gibeonites explained why they lied:

Joshua 9:24: "We did so because we were told that Jehovah your God had promised to give all this land of Canaan to you. So we were afraid that you would kill us."

Though the Israelites discovered that they had been tricked, they still honored their promise not to harm the Gibeonites. Of course, Jehovah knew the truth. Yet, he lovingly spared their lives. This was because not only did the Gibeonites refuse to fight against the Israelites but they also turned to Jehovah for their salvation. They knew that Jehovah was fighting for the Israelites. And they had faith that he would deliver the land of Canaan into the hands of the Israelites. In fact, Jehovah later protected the Gibeonites from five Amorite kings who came with their armies to attack them. The Amorite kings wanted to destroy the Gibeonites for making peace with the Israelites. (Joshua 10:1-11)

The preservation of Rahab and the Gibeonites proves that the command to "devote the Canaanites to destruction" is neither absolute nor irreversible as far as individuals are concerned. The examples of Rahab and the Gibeonites show that God spared the lives of those who took refuge in him. The rest of the Canaanites could have done the same and lived. But they did not. Thus, they brought the punishment of death upon themselves. These two examples prove why the accusation of Genocide against Jehovah is utterly false.

Jehovah made powerful headlines in the land of Canaan long before the time of its conquest. Thus, the Canaanites have no valid reason or justification not to seek refuge in Jehovah. Consider carefully the words of Rahab which she confessed to the Israelite spies:

Joshua 2:9-11: "All the inhabitants of the land have become disheartened because of you. For we heard how Jehovah dried up the waters of the Red Sea when you came out of Egypt and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites, Sihon and Og, whom you devoted to destruction on the other side of the Jordan. When we got to hear it, then our hearts began to melt and no one has any courage, for Jehovah your God is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath."

Even though Rahab lived in Canaan, she was aware of all the powerful works which Jehovah performed to deliver the Israelites from Egypt and other hostile nations. Consider also the words of the Gibeonites:

Joshua 9:9: "We have come from a very distant land out of regard for the name of Jehovah your God, because we have heard about his fame and about all he did in Egypt."

The Gibeonites who lived in Canaan were also aware of the mighty acts of Jehovah which he performed in Egypt. Thus, the rest of the Canaanites had no excuse. They were neither ignorant of the powerful acts of Jehovah nor of the fact that Israel was the chosen instrument of God to execute his divine judgment. By staying back in defiance to fight against the Israelites, they placed themselves in line for destruction. By refusing to flee when the opportunity presented itself to leave the place designated for destruction, they brought death upon themselves. And unlike the Gibeonites, they refused to seek the mercy of Jehovah:

Joshua 11:19: There was no city that made peace with the Israelites except the Hivites inhabiting Gibeon. They conquered all the others by war.

Jehovah is ever willing to preserve those who leave their sinful course. And this includes not only individuals but also nations and kingdoms. Read the following assurance of Jehovah carefully:

Jeremiah 18:7-8: "Whenever I may speak against a nation or against a kingdom to uproot it and pull it down and to destroy it*, and that nation* actually turns back from its badness against which I spoke, I will not cause the calamity that I have intended upon it."

The above assurance of Jehovah is not a lie. This is substantiated by his dealings with the ancient city of Nineveh. The story of Nineveh reveals the depth of Jehovah's mercy and justice. Because of the extreme wickedness of its inhabitants, the prophet Jonah was sent to Nineveh to pronounce what appears to be an unconditional judgment of condemnation against that city:

Jonah 3:3-4: Jonah got up and went to Nineveh in obedience to the word of Jehovah . . . Then Jonah entered the city, and walking a day's journey, he kept proclaiming and saying: "Only forty days more, and Nineveh will be overthrown."

What was the response of the Ninevites when they heard the denunciation of Jehovah? Instead of becoming obstinate and defiant, they humbly acknowledged their sinful ways and repented:

Jonah 3:5-6: And the men of Nineveh began to put faith in God, and they proceeded to proclaim a fast and to put on sackcloth, from the greatest one of them even to the least one of them. When the word reached the king of Nineveh, then he rose up from his throne and put off his official garment from himself and covered himself with sackcloth and sat down in the ashes.

And addressing the inhabitants of that city, the king of Nineveh issued the following decree:

Jonah 3:8-9: "Let them be covered with sackcloth, both man and beast; and let them call out earnestly to God and turn from their evil ways and from the violence they practice. Who knows whether the true God may reconsider what he intends to do and turn from his burning anger, so that we may not perish?"

How did Jehovah respond when the Ninevites displayed such genuine repentance? He lovingly showed mercy and spared their lives:

Jonah 3:10: When the true God saw how they had turned back from their evil ways, he relented and did not bring the calamity on them which he had spoken.

What seemed to be an irreversible judgment of total annihilation was halted when the Ninevites repented from their sinful ways. The Canaanites could have done the same and kept living. But they did not. Thus, the Canaanites brought the calamity upon themselves. They and not God is responsible for their destruction.

When God wanted to destroy Sodom, Abraham asked if he would destroy that city if there were 50 righteous people in it. Jehovah said he would not. Then Abraham asked the same question if there were 45 righteous people. Each time Abraham lowered the number, he received the same answer. As a God of Justice, it is impossible for Jehovah to destroy the innocent along with the wicked. Only after securing the lives of the righteous ones who dwelled in Sodom, that city was destroyed. (See Genesis 18:23-32) This proves that when Jehovah destroys a nation, we can be absolutely confident it is just. God's judgment is anything but capricious. Jehovah will never destroy the innocent along with the wicked. Thus, all those who are destroyed by Jehovah, must be truly wicked.

Jehovah is not a vindictive God. The account of Nineveh confirms the truthfulness of this fact. It is vital to recognize the truth that God has the moral responsibility to judge and control sin. Even in comparison to other nations who were not worshippers of Jehovah, the Canaanite culture shows itself to be exceedingly wicked and immoral. The result is a malignant force that had to be eradicated.

A MATTER OF PERCEPTION

God destroyed the ancient world by means of a global Flood. Only eight souls survived – Noah and his family. The Bible explains why it became necessary for God to take such a drastic action:

Genesis 6:5: Jehovah saw that the badness of man was abundant in the earth and every inclination of the thoughts of his heart was only bad all the time.

Similarly Jehovah destroyed the wicked population of Sodom and Gomorrah. The inhabitants in those cities engaged in gross unnatural sexual acts. (Genesis 19:4-5) As a righteous God, he could not allow those practicing such sinful acts to go unpunished:

Genesis 19:24-25: Then Jehovah made it rain sulfur and fire on Sodom and Gomorrah. It came from the heavens. So God overthrew these cities, yes, the entire district, including all the inhabitants of the cities and the plants of the ground.

Those annihilated in the Flood of Noah's day, and in Sodom and Gomorrah consists of men, women and children. Yet, Muslims acknowledge the justification of these executions without objection. In fact, both these executions are recognized in the Qur'an as divine judgments of God. More on this in Part Two. In executing the ungodly people in Noah's day and in Sodom and Gomorrah, God used natural forces to accomplish the task. In contrast, Jehovah assigned the Israelites with the sacred duty of serving as his divine executioners. The result is nonetheless the same. Does it really matter if God had chosen to destroy the Canaanites by some natural forces or through human agencies? The fact that human agencies were used does not in any way diminish the righteousness of that divinely ordained action.

The execution of the Canaanites was purposed for the very same reason as that which was brought upon the people of Noah's day and the inhabitants of Sodom and Gomorrah. And that is to remove wickedness from earth. But why do we question only the legitimacy of the execution of the Canaanite women and children but not the execution which God carried out against the women and children of Noah's day or Sodom and Gomorrah? Is it because human agencies were used? Moreover, the scope of the destruction of the Canaanite population is nothing in comparison to the magnitude of the destruction during the time of Noah. Should it be of any concern to us how God carries out his divine judgments against the wicked? What matters is that that justice has been served. Ironically, when humans observe some acts of wickedness, they are quick to complain why God does not act. Yet, these very same humans complain when he does.

Well, why did not Jehovah use natural forces? The reason is because the land of Canaan was promised as an inheritance to the descendants of Abraham. The Israelites had to wait for more than 400 years before God allowed them to take possession of the land. Now that the time had come for the Israelites to occupy that land, would it make sense for God to ruin the land by executing the Canaanites through the forces of nature? Moreover, since the Israelites had already spent a considerable number of years in the hostile wilderness after leaving Egypt, would it be loving for God to give them a land ruined by the forces of nature as their inheritance? Hence, God wisely used human agents to remove those wicked inhabitants of his land. Another vital reason is that by authorizing their participation in the destruction of the Canaanites, God provided a powerful reminder to the Israelites that the same outcome awaits them should they follow the wicked example of the Canaanites.

AN INEVITABLE REALITY

An inevitable reality about the structure of human society is that the actions of one member of a faction can affect the others for good or for bad. The decisions of a ruler will have consequences on the citizens for good or for bad. The decisions of an army commander will have consequences on his soldiers for good or for bad. Likewise, the decisions of parents will have consequences on their children for good or for bad. A good example that confirms this reality is the example of Rahab. Her wise decision saved both her life and the lives of her household. When the time came for the Israelites to conquer the land of Canaan, Joshua remembered the loving kindness that Rahab exercised towards the Israelite spies. And he gave the following instruction to the spies:

Joshua 6:22-23: Joshua said to the two men who had spied out the land: "Go into the house of the prostitute and bring out the woman and all who belong to her*, just as you swore to her."* So the young spies went in and brought out Rahab, along with her father, her mother, her brothers, and all who belonged to her; yes, they brought out her whole family*, and they brought them safely to a place outside the camp of Israel.*

Take note of the consequence. The wise decision of Rahab saved her entire family. Similarly, the Gibeonites who acted wisely and independently from the rest of the Canaanites not only saved their own lives but also the lives of their children. Thus, the children benefited from wise decision of the Gibeonite parents. While a child's dependence on his parents may result in his best interest, it may also turn out to be potentially harmful if the parents decide on a wrong or foolish course of action. As for the Canaanite parents who decided to stay back in defiance instead of fleeing the approaching calamity, their children paid with their lives. The following example demonstrates how parents can become accountable for the lives of their children:

Ezekiel 33:6: "If a watchman sees the sword coming and he does not blow the horn and the people receive no warning and a sword comes and takes the life of one of them, that person will die for his own error, but I will ask his blood back from the watchman."

Note the principle of accountability in the above verse. The watchman becomes accountable for any loss of lives for his failure to sound the warning. When we apply this principle to the Canaanite family-heads, it implicates the parents for the death of their children. If the father knew that it is safer to flee, then his failure to do so would have brought the blood of his children upon himself. It would be as if it is he who killed his children – regardless of who the actual executioner was. What this basically means is that the Canaanite father who refuses to take his family out of harm's way is responsible for their deaths. In other words, he is the perpetrator.

Although we have discussed why the execution of the Canaanites was necessary for the salvation of mankind, let us analyze this issue further. This is vital because herein lies the core reason why God found it absolutely necessary to destroy the Canaanites.

THE SALVATION OF MANKIND

The salvation of mankind is very much dependent upon the sanctity of the nation that God had chosen to birth the Messiah. Therefore, to save the world, God had to first save Israel. He had to save Israel from the deadly contamination of the surrounding nations. This is extremely crucial since it is impossible for the birth of the Messiah to occur in a nation who are not worshippers of the true God. That is why Jehovah had to prepare a people to become a holy nation.

This preparatory work began when God made his promise to Abraham. And it progressed right through to the time of Moses when Jehovah gave his holy Laws to the nation of Israel. In addition, God also revealed hundreds of Messianic prophecies so that his worshippers can clearly identify the Messiah when he arrives. One such prophecy is the virgin-birth of Jesus Christ. God had to ensure not only their precise fulfillment but also the precise timing of these prophecies to be fulfilled. This would involve the divine intervention of Jehovah for centuries in the history of mankind – especially that of Israel. Think of the consequences for mankind if the nation that God has chosen to birth the Messiah becomes defiled?

That is why the destruction of the Canaanites became mandatory. God had to preserve Israel to save billions through the redemptive work of the Messiah. What may seem as acts of cruelty are in fact acts of love on the part of God. While the Qur'an recognizes Jesus as the Messiah, it fails to understand the full significance of this title. It fails to understand the purpose behind this title. Only Jesus is identified as such in the Qur'an. Interestingly the Qur'an also records the virgin-birth of Jesus. However, it fails to understand the full significance of this miraculous birth. And it offers no explanation!

The decision of Jehovah to annihilate the Canaanites is comparable to that of a caring surgeon who carefully removes the cancerous cells before they invade and destroy the entire body. To prevent a relapse, it is crucial to destroy every single one of the cancerous cells. Similarly, the removal of the Canaanites has to be equally meticulous even if this means the destruction of women and children. God had to completely destroy the cancerous-like Canaanite population in order to save the rest of the world. The salvation of mankind rests on the birth of the Messiah. And the host nation chosen to birth the Messiah must be free from the cancerous-like contamination of the surrounding Canaanite nations. It was God's love for mankind that moved him to act in such a strong decisive manner:

John 3:16: "For God loved the world so much that he gave his only-begotten Son*, so that everyone exercising faith in him might not be destroyed but have everlasting life."*

It was never the objective of Jehovah to save only the nation of Israel. His divine purpose is to save God-fearing individuals from every tribe, nation and tongue. This undeniable truth is evident right from the very beginning. It is evident in the promise that God made to Abraham:

Genesis 22:18: "And by means of your seed all nations of the earth will certainly bless themselves due to the fact that you have listened to my voice."

Thus, from the very beginning the divine will of Jehovah is to save all those who are righteously inclined for everlasting life. This means the salvation of millions of righteous men, women and children from *"*all nations of the earth." The salvation of these righteous ones from among the nations became a reality after the arrival of the Messiah. Writing after the arrival of the Messiah, the inspired Scriptures state:

Acts 13:48: When those of the nations heard this, they began to rejoice and to glorify the word of Jehovah, and all those who were rightly disposed for everlasting life became believers.

The foundational reason for the sanction of wars in the Hebrew Scriptures is to ensure the salvation of mankind through the birth of the Messiah. In fact, the primary reason for the birth of the nation of Israel itself was to prepare the way for the Messiah. Since Israel must remain holy, it must be protected at all cost from the influence of the Canaanite nations. God knew of the danger. Please read the following verses carefully:

Deuteronomy 20:16-18: It is only of the cities of these peoples that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance that you must not preserve any breathing thing alive, because you should without fail devote them to destruction, the Hittites and the Amorites, the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the Hivites and the Jebusites, just as Jehovah your God has commanded you; in order that they may not teach you to do according to all their detestable things, which they have done to their gods, and you may indeed sin against Jehovah your God.

The authorization to destroy the Canaanites does not mean that God is cruel any more than a responsible government can be considered cruel for executing those deserving of death. The willingness of Jehovah to intervene in human history shows his great love for mankind. In fact, he does not delight even in the death of a wicked person. That is how far-reaching is his love for mankind:

Ezekiel 18:23: "Do I take any pleasure at all in the death of a wicked person?" declares the Sovereign Lord Jehovah. "Do I not prefer that he turn away from his ways and keep living?"

Yet, as a righteous God, Jehovah cannot remain complacent in the face of evil. While the Bible recognizes that we are all inherently sinful, the sins of the Canaanites were exceedingly evil. If the nature of their sins were comparatively similar to those of ordinary humans, God would not have prevented them from dwelling in the midst the Israelites. How do we know? Jehovah repeatedly commanded the Israelites to show compassion for the alien residents who lived in their midst. The Israelites were never authorized to exterminate them but rather to love and care for them. Consider carefully the following commandment of Jehovah:

Leviticus 19:34: "If a foreigner resides with you in your land, you must not mistreat him. The foreigner who resides with you should become like a native among you and you must love him as yourself*, for you were foreign residents in the land of Egypt. I am Jehovah your God."*

And the inspired Scriptures of Jehovah also make it explicitly clear how the Israelites should treat the alien resident who dwells in their midst. Like Jehovah, they too must love the alien resident*:*

Deuteronomy 10:17-19: For Jehovah your God is the God of gods and the Lord of lords. Great, mighty, and fear-inspiring is he, who treats none with partiality nor accepts a bribe. He executes justice for the fatherless child and the widow and loves the alien resident, giving him food and clothing. You too must love the alien resident*, for you became alien residents in Egypt.*

This proves that the existence of the Canaanites were a serious threat to the sanctity of Israel. God's salvation plan requires a purified nation to birth the Messiah for the liberation of mankind from sin and death. Jehovah had to act to remove the cancerous obstacle that stands in the way of salvation of the entire human race.

THE RIGHTEOUSNESS OF JEHOVAH

The wars that King David fought were sanctioned by Jehovah. God sanctified these wars since they were fought for the preservation of Israel both physically and spiritually for the arrival of the Messiah. Yet, when King David wanted to build the temple of Jehovah, he was prohibited from doing so. Why? Let King David himself explain to us the reason why:

1 Chronicles 28:2-3: Then King David rose to his feet and said: "Hear me, my brothers and my people. It was my heart's desire to build a house as the resting-place for the Ark of the Covenant of Jehovah and as the footstool of our God, and I made preparations to build. But the true God told me, 'You will not build a house for my name, for you are a man of wars, and you have shed blood.'"

It is really amazing to learn the reason for the prohibition. God revealed to King David that it was because he was a *"man of wars" who *"have shed blood." Even though the wars that King David fought were for the cause of Jehovah, it still disqualified him from building the temple of God. It is vital to note that it was Jehovah who disqualified him. What do we learn from this? It reveals the true position of Jehovah towards war. And it also proves that Jehovah does not glorify war. Wars were an inconvenient necessity in the hands of our loving Creator.

The authorization to wage wars was unique in the history of God's people. And it was never to be repeated again. This is clearly evident by the fact that after the arrival of the Messiah, the commandment to wage wars was no longer in force for the worshippers of Jehovah. Christians are not only forbidden to engage in warfare but also commanded to *"love their enemies." Even before the coming of Christianity, Jehovah clearly revealed in the Old Testament his ultimate objective for his worshippers regarding warfare. He prophetically spoke of the time when true worshippers will neither engage in wars nor learn warfare anymore:

Isaiah 2:2-4: In the final part of the days, the mountain of the house of Jehovah will become firmly established above the top of the mountains. And to it all the nations will stream. And many say: "Come, let us go up to the mountain of Jehovah, to the house of the God of Jacob. He will instruct us about his ways and we will walk in his paths*. He will render judgment among the nations and set matters straight respecting many peoples.* They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning shears. Nation will not lift up sword against nation nor will they learn war anymore."
This is the objective of Jehovah. And true to this prophecy, genuine worshippers of Jehovah live by this divine standard today. They do not engage in warfare, no matter in which part of the world they live. And they remain completely neutral in worldly conflicts.

Wars became a harsh necessity to protect the nation of Israel until the arrival of the Messiah. Everything hinges on the coming of the Messiah. In fact, the very first prophecy that Jehovah proclaimed after the first human pair sinned against God highlights the vital role of the Messiah. Addressing Satan, Jehovah uttered the following prophecy:

Genesis 3:15: "And I will put enmity between you and the woman and between your seed and her seed*. He will crush your head, and you will strike him in the heel."*
The salvation of mankind rests entirely upon this promised Seed. And as we have learned, this Seed is none other than Jesus Christ. For God to send his Holy Son into this world there must be a Holy Nation to receive him. Canaan was clearly a threat to the purity of Israel. Thus, the annihilation of the Canaanites was crucial for God to send his only-begotten Son into the world so that we might gain life through him:
1 John 4:9-10: By this the love of God was revealed in our case, that God sent his only-begotten Son into the world so that we might gain life through him*. The love is in this respect, not that we have loved*

God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as a propitiatory sacrifice for our sins.
Of course, all these divine truths make no sense to Muslims. Why? To answer this, let us consider a vital condition that is absolutely mandatory to worship the true God acceptably:

John 4:24: God is a Spirit and those worshipping him must worship with spirit and truth*.*
To worship God acceptably we must worship him with *"*spirit and truth." This is only possible if we truly become a spiritual person. Only a spiritual person will be able to discern the deep divine truths of God. Lovingly, God has provided his inspired Scriptures to guide us to attain this divine quality. Well, can the Qur'an guide a Muslim to become a spiritual person? In other words, can it guide an individual Muslim to become a spiritual person so that he or she will be able to understand and perceive the deep divine truths of God?
How can the Qur'an do so when the very word *"*spiritual" or *"*spirituality" does not appear even once in the entire Qur'an? Can a book as deficient as this help Muslims to understand the deep spiritual truths of God? To understand the absurdity of this, imagine buying a book that is supposed to teach you how to play Tennis. Yet, not once does the word *"*Tennis" appear in the entire book. This is the same with the Qur'an. This is precisely the reason for the inability of Muslims to understand deep spiritual truths such as why the coming of the Messiah is vital for our salvation. They simply cannot understand why the redemption of mankind from sin and death is only possible through the shed blood of Jesus Christ. Such teachings are foolishness to them:
1 Corinthians 2:14: But a physical man does not receive the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him and he cannot get to know them, because they are examined spiritually.
Please read the following verses carefully to understand why Muslims are simply unable to perceive the deep things of God:

1 Corinthians 2:10-13: For it is to us God has revealed them through his spirit, for the spirit searches into all things, even the deep things of

God. No one has come to know the things of God except the spirit of God. Now we received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit that is from God, so that we might know the things that have been kindly given to us by God. These things we speak, not with words taught by human wisdom, but with those taught by the spirit, as we explain spiritual matters with spiritual words.

In order for Muslims to escape this mental darkness and appreciate the divine teachings of God, it is absolutely mandatory for them to leave the cult of Islam. They must turn to Jehovah for their spiritual enlightenment. They must turn to Jehovah for their eternal salvation. We conclude this article by expressing how blessed we are to worship Jehovah the God of Justice:

Romans 9:14: What are we to say, then? Is there injustice with God? Certainly not!

We must be extremely thankful to Jehovah for everything that he has done for our salvation. Amen and Amen.

A Guide To Quranic Contradictions

Sura 2: Al-Baqara (The Cow)

2:21
Allah created the mankind; they should worship Him.
Contradiction: 3:97, 35:15 say Allah does not need mankind and the jinns; He is free of all want.

2:29
Allah created the earth (first) then He perfected the seven firmaments (heavens); He has the perfect knowledge of all things. (This verse indicates that Allah started creation by creating earth, and then He made heaven into seven heavens. This is how building usually starts, with the lower floors first and then the top floors—ibn Kathir).
Contradiction: 79:27-30 says Allah created the heavens first.

2:34
All the angels bowed to Adam except Iblis. He was haughty and a disbeliever.
Contradiction: 16:49 says every creature in the heavens and in earth prostrates to Allah.

2:35
Allah forbade Adam and his wife to approach the tree of knowledge. (Allah spoke directly to Adam—ibn Kathir.)
Contradiction: 42:51 says Allah never speaks directly to a human; He speaks either from behind a veil or through a messenger.

2:37
Adam learned the words of inspiration from Allah. Adam was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 2:131 says Abraham was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 6:14 says Muhammad was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 7:143 says Moses was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 26:51 says some Egyptians were the first Muslims.

2:38
Allah ordered Adam and his wife to descend on earth and to preach on people whatever message they received from Allah.
Contradiction: In verse 20:123, before sending Adam on earth, Allah told him humans on earth would be enemies of one another. This means there were already people on earth when Adam descended on it. So Adam was not the first human created by Allah.

2:47
Allah blesses the Children of Israel more than other believers; He has preferred them above all beings.
Contradiction: 3:33-34 says Allah preferred Adam, Noah, the house of Abraham, and the house of Imran above all beings.

2:50
Allah parted the sea (Red sea); saved the Children of Israel (i.e., Moses' people), and drowned Pharaoh in front of the eyes of the Children of Israel.
Contradiction: 10:90 says Pharaoh submitted to Islam.
Contradiction: 10:92 says Allah saved Pharaoh.

2:52
Despite their sins of idolatry, Allah forgave the people of Moses.
Contradiction: 2:63 says Allah raised the Mount Sinai above the Children of Israel and threatened them to submit to Him.
Contradiction: 7:152 says Allah punished them.

2:58
Then Allah asked the people of Moses to humbly enter a city (Jerusalem or Jericho—ibn Kathir) through its gate so that they could find all the provisions they needed for their sustenance.
Contradiction: Allah says in 7:137 He let Moses' people inherit the land east and west, that is, the land of greater Syria.

2:62
Muslims/Jews/Christians/Sabians—anyone who believes in Allah and the last Day and does a righteous deed will get rewards.
Contradiction: 9:17 says unbelievers will go to hell.
Contradiction: In 3:85 Allah says He only accepts Islam.
Contradiction: 4:150-151 says Allah will severely punish those who deny Allah and Muhammad and those who separate Allah from His messengers.
Contradiction: in 5:33 Allah commands Muslims to Crucify or behead those who criticize Islam and Muhammad or do not convert to Islam.

2:79
Those Jews wrote their Book with their own hands, and faked that as the Book from Allah, Allah curses them.
Contradiction: 6:34, 6:115 say none has the power to change the words of Allah.

2:106
Whatever verses Allah abrogates or causes Muhammad to forget, He replaces them with similar or better verses (Muhammad did forget some Qur'anic verses—Walker, p. 166).
Contradiction: 6:34, 6:115 say none can change the words in the Qur'an.

2:107
The dominion of the heavens and the earth belongs to Allah; there is no protector besides Him.
Contradiction: In 13:11, 41:31, 50:17-18, and 82:10 Allah says angels are our protectors and guards.
Contradiction: 5:55 says Allah's messengers are our protectors.

2:116
The Christians belief that Allah had begotten a son is untrue; Allah possesses everything in heavens and on earth, everything worships Him.
Contradiction: 3:180, 15:23, 19:40, 19:79-80, 21:89, 28:58 say Allah inherits from infidels/other creatures.

2:117
Allah creates instantly, by decree; He says 'be' and it is.
Contradiction: 7:54, 10:3, 11:7 and 25:59 say six days of creation.
Contradiction: 41:9–12 say eight days of creation.

Contradiction: 6:101 says Allah could not create a son for himself because He does not have a consort (a wife or a concubine).

2:131
Allah asked, and Abraham cheerfully submitted himself to Allah (Abraham was the first Muslim—ibn Kathir.)
Contradiction: 2:37 says Adam was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 6:14 says Muhammad was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 7:143 says Moses was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 26:51 says some Egyptians were the first Muslims.

2:139
The Islamic, the Jewish and the Christian Allah is the sameAllah, do not argue on this. Allah will reward each group according to their deeds.
Contradiction: 9:30 says Jews and Christians are idolaters.
Contradiction: 3:118, 5:51, 5:57, 58:14 and 60:13 say not to be friendly with unbelievers, including Jews and the Christians.

2:148
Every nation has a qibla; Allah has given each group of people a law and a way of life.
Contradiction: 25:51 says if willed Allah could have sent messengers to every nation to instill fear; but He didn't.

2:167
Those who plead for another chance, Allah will disown them and send them to hell to dwell there forever.
Contradiction: 6:128 says as long as Allah wishes, not forever.

2:185
As a guide to mankind, Allah sent the Qur'an in the month of Ramadan (the ENTIRE Qur'an.)
Contradiction: 17:106, 25:32 say Allah sent the Qur'an in stages.

2:219
Wines and gambling are Satan's handiwork—there are some good but great sins.
Contradiction: 47:15 and 83:25 say Allah will serve Satan's handiwork, wine, in Islamic Paradise.

2:221
Do not marry idolatresses until they believe. A believing slave woman is better than a non-believing free woman; do not get your girls married to unbelievers until they (the unbelievers) convert to Islam.
Contradiction: 9:30 says the Jews and the Christians are idolaters, but Allah allows Muslim men to marry their women without converting to Islam. According to ibn Abbas, 'I do not know of a bigger Shirk than her saying that Jesus is her Lord!' This means that the Christian women are idolaters.

2:253
Some apostles (messengers) are above others; to some of them Allah spoke (i.e., Allah has graded His messengers, He had spoken directly to a few of them); to Jesus, Allah gave clear signs and the Holy Spirit.
Contradiction: Allah says in 4:152 He makes no distinctions among prophets.

2:254
Unbelievers (non-Muslims) are the real wrong-doers; they will have no intercession on the last day.
Contradiction: 2:255 says Allah might appoint intercessor for anyone He wishes, including some unbelievers.

2:255
Allah sustains and protects all that exists. His throne extends over the heavens; no one can intercede without His permission.
Contradiction: see 2:254.

2:259
Allah caused a man to sleep for a century, then raised him up, and questioned the man how long he thought had been in sleep (in this verse Allah is directly speaking with an ordinary person).
Contradiction: 42:51 says Allah speaks only through a veil or through a messenger.

Sura 3: Al-Imran (The Family of Imran)

3:2
Worship none but Allah; He is the ever-living, and the sustainer of all things.
Contradiction: 12:100 says Allah allowed Joseph's brethren and his parents to prostrate before Joseph.

3:3
Allah sent the Qur'an to Muhammad (the ENTIRE Qur'an).
Contradiction: 17:106, 25:32 say Allah sent the Qur'an in stages

3:7
Allah has sent down the Book. Only men of understanding will grasp the messages of the Qur'an; some verses are basic some are allegorical; perverse hearts follow allegorical verses to find hidden meanings to make discord; only Allah knows the hidden meanings of the Qur'an
Contradiction: 16:103 says the Qur'an is in clear Arabic.

3:18
Allah, His angels, and the knowledgeable people bear witness that none is to be worshipped except Him. Maintaining His creation is justice.
Contradiction: 12:100 says Allah allowed Joseph's brethren and his parents to prostrate before (worship) Joseph.

3:20
Muhammad's duty is only to convey the messages of Allah (Allah has sent Muhammad to the illiterate Arabs—ibn Kathir).
Contradiction: Allah says in 8:39 if the unbelievers do not convert to Islam fight them.

3:33-34
Allah chose the families of Adam, Noah, Abraham, and Imran above all people.
Contradiction: 2:47, 45:16-17 say Allah favored the Children of Israel above all beings.
Contradiction: 3:42 says Allah preferred Mary above all women.

3:41: The angel (Gabriel) instructed Zachariya to remain silent for three days, communicating only through signs, and offering two prayers—in the evening and in the morning.
Contradiction: in 19:10 Allah commanded Zachariya to remain silent for three nights.

3:42
Angels told Mary that she is chosen above women of nations.

Contradiction: 19:17 says one angel, as a man, spoke to Mary Contradiction: 2:47, 45:16-17 say Allah preferred the children of Israel above all beings.

3:45
The angels told Maryam (Mary) that she would give birth to Jesus, a Word (manifestation) of Allah and Jesus will be held in great honor, and he will be nearest to Allah.
Contradiction: 19:17 says an angel, in the shape of a man, visited Mary.
Contradiction: in 21:98 Allah says all objects worshipped by men besides Allah will be in hell, i.e., Jesus will burn in hell.

3:59
Allah created Adam from dust, Allah said 'be' and Adam was there; Jesus looked like Adam (as Allah made Jesus without a father He made him look like Adam, and because Adam had no father or mother, Allah created Adam from dust—ibn Kathir).
Contradiction: 38:71 says Allah created Adam out of wet clay.
Contradiction: 15:26 says Allah created Adam out of sounding (black burnt) clay and mud.
Contradiction: 38:75 says Allah created Adam with His two hands.

3:67
Abraham was not a Jew, nor a Christian, but a Muslim (Hanif), and Muhammad is the nearest to Abraham.
Contradiction: Allah says in 6:14 that Muhammad was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 7:143 says Moses was the first to believe in Islam.
Contradiction: 2:37 says Adam was the first Muslim.
Contradiction: 26:51 says some Egyptians were the first Muslims.

3:78
Some Jews and Christians twisted Allah's scriptures and passed them as Allah's messages.
Contradiction: 6:34, 6:115 say none can alter the words of Allah.

3:85
Allah will not accept any religion other than Islam.
Contradiction: 2:62 says Allah will reward Christians, Jews and the Sabians.

3:97
Mecca is the station of Abraham: if you can afford then perform pilgrimage (hajj) in Mecca; Allah does not need 'Alamin'(mankind and jinns).
Contradiction: in 2:21 Allah says He needs mankind to worship Him.
Contradiction: 51:56 says Allah needs humans and jinns to worship Him.

3:125
In Badr, Allah made a terrific onslaught with five thousand angels (the angels wore white wool and had special markings distinguishing their horses—ibn Kathir).
Contradiction: 8:9 says in Badr, Allah helped the Muslims with one thousand angels.
Contradiction: 3:124 says Muhammad requested Allah to send three thousand angel fighters.

3:144
Muhammad is no more than an apostle; apostles before him had died.
Contradiction: 4:157 says Allah raised Jesus up; Jesus did not die.

3:169-171
Those slain in Allah's way (in Jihad) do not die; they live in the presence of Allah (in Islamic Paradise), and enjoy His provisions.

Contradiction: 19:70-71 says every soul, including that of a Muslim, at least for some time, will be in hell.

3:180
Allah does not like stingy people; Allah will tie the covetous articles like twisted collars in the necks of unbelievers. Allah is the inheritor of the heavens and the earth.
Contradiction: 2:116, 3:189, 20:6, 21:19, 57:2 say Allah is the owner of all things in the heavens and in earth.

3:189
Sovereignty of the heavens and the earth belongs to Allah.
Contradiction: Allah says in 3:180 15:23, 19:40, 19:80, 21:89, 28:58 He inherits from other infidels and other creatures.

Sura 4: An-Nisa (Women)

4:5
Take care of the minor orphans' property and do not handover their property to them while they remain minor (until they are marriageable).
Contradiction: 65:4-5 says prepubescent girls (minor girls) can be married.

4:6
Test the orphans for their maturity; release properties to orphans when they are capable of sound judgment (i.e., have attained maturity or puberty, usually taken as fifteen years of age. It is the marriageable age—Jalalyn. The age of puberty is the marriageable age—ibn Abbas).
Contradiction: 65:4-5 says prepubescent girls can be married.

4:15
If a woman is lewd confine her in house till death (basis of honor killing in Islam); four believing male witnesses are required to prove a woman's innocence.
Contradiction: in 24:2 Allah prescribes one hundred lashes for both men and women who perform lewdness.

4:16
Allah prescribes unspecified punishment for lewdness by men; (homosexuality, gays—ibn Kathir); if the perpetrators repent then leave them alone.
Contradiction: in 24:2 Allah prescribes one hundred lashes for both men and women who do acts of homosexuality.
Contradiction: 4:15 says permanent house arrest, until they die, for women.

4:18
Inflict the most grievous punishment for dying rejecting faith (i.e., those apostates who die as apostates.)
Contradiction: 10:90 says Pharaoh submitted to Islam when flood engulfed him.

4:46
Majority of the Jews distort the meaning of words by a twist of their tongues; Allah condemns them.
Contradiction: 6:34, 6:115 say none can alter the words of Allah.

4:48
Allah forgives every sin except idolatry (shirk).

Sura 60: Al-Mumtahan (The Woman to be Examined)

60:10
Test the believing women refugees; believing women are not lawful wives of the unbelievers; believing men are not lawful husbands of unbelieving women (i.e., Muslim, male cannot marry non-Muslim women.)
Contradiction: 5:5 says Muslim men can marry women of the people of the Book, i.e., Christian and Jewish women.

60:13
Do not be friendly with the disbelievers; they are Allah's enemies.
Contradiction: 5:82 says closest in friendship are Christians.

Sura 63: Al-Munafiqun (Hypocrites)

63:5
The hypocrites turn back even when Muhammad tells them he will seek Allah's forgiveness for them.
Contradiction: 4:107 says Allah does not like disloyalty; He will not forgive the hypocrites.

Sura 65: At-Talaq (Divorce)

65:4-5
For menopause women, the waiting time for divorce is three months, same for women who are yet to menstruate. A child-girl who is yet to menstruate, her waiting period is three months, same as for a menopause woman; for the pregnant women, the waiting time is until she delivers the child.
Contradiction: 4:5-6 says orphan girls must reach marriageable age, which is taken as fifteen years, before they could be married.

Sura 66: At-Tahrim (Prohibition)

66:8
If you repent then Allah will remove ills and will send you to Islamic Paradise under which rivers flow; the believers' light will radiate in front of them and on to their right side.
Contradiction: 19:71 says every soul has to pass through Islamic Hell.

Sura 69: Al-Haqqa (The Sure Reality, Catastrophe)

69:6-7
Allah destroyed the Ad people with a furious wind, which lasted seven nights and eight days; they were left as headless bodies.
Contradiction: 41:16 says the furious wind lasted several days.
Contradiction: 54:19 says the furious wind lasted one day.

69:25-32
Those who receive the records on their left hands will regret their past actions; their wealth was of no use. They will be in hell; they will be seized, bound, and marched in a chain of seventy cubits (each cubit will be the forearm's length of an angel—ibn Kathir) long; then burnt in a blazing fire. (It will be entered into his buttocks and pulled out of his mouth. Then they will be arranged on this chain just like locusts are arranged on a stick that is being roasted—ibn Kathir. Insert the chain in his anus and extract it from his mouth—ibn Abbas.)
Contradiction: 84:10 says they will receive their records behind their backs.

69:35-37
For the unbelievers their only food in hell will be bitter ones: filth and pus.
Contradiction: 37:62-66 says unbelievers in Islamic hell will only eat fruits of Zaqqum trees.
Contradiction: 88:6 says they will eat only bitter Dari.

Sura 70: Al-Maarij (The Ways of Accent, the Ladders)

70:4
The angels and the spirits ascend to Allah in a day; one day equals fifty thousand human years in Allah's reckoning.
Contradiction: 22:47, 32:5 say one day of Allah equals 1,000 human years.
Contradiction: 50:16 says Allah is closer than the jugular vein.

Sura 76: Ad-Dahr (Time) or Insan (Man)

76:21-22
The serving boys (Ghilmans) will wear green garments of fine silk and heavy brocade, adorned with bracelets/ bangles of silver; Allah will give everyone to drink a pure holy wine (Sharaban Tahura); these will be the rewards for the dwellers of Islamic Paradise.
Contradiction: 5:90 says wine is the handiwork of Satan.

Sura 78: An-Nabaa (The Great News, the Tidings)

78:23
The unbelievers will remain in Islamic Hell for ages (Huqb is seventy or eighty years, and every day of it is like one thousand years according to your reckoning in this life—ibn Kathir.).
Contradiction: 2:167, 20:101, 32:14, 98:6 say the dwellers of Islamic Hell will stay there for eternity.

Sura 83: Al-Tatfif or Mutaffiffin (Dealing in Fraud, Unjust)

83:25
In Islamic Paradise, Allah will quench the thirst of its dwellers with pure, sealed (expensive), exclusive wine.
Contradiction: 5:90 says wine is Satan's handiwork.

Sura 88: Al-Gashiya (The Overwhelming Event)

88:6
For the dwellers of Islamic Hell the only food will be a bitter, thorny, smelly plant, Dari.
Contradiction: 37:62-66 says the inmates of Islamic Hell will eat only the fruits of Zaqqum tree.
Contradiction: 69:36 says they will eat only pus and filth.

88:12
In Islamic Paradise, there is one bubbling spring.
Contradiction: 18:31 says multiple gardens with rivers flowing underneath.

Sura 90: Al-Balad (The City)

90:17-19
The believers are the companions of the right hand (paradise); the unbelievers are the companions of the left hand (hell), (two distinct groups of people).
Contradiction: 56:7 says three distinct groups.

Sura 91: Al-Shams (The Sun)

91:14
Allah obliterated the Thamud people for rejecting their prophet, and for hamstringing Allah's she-camel.
Contradiction: 54:29 says one person killed the she-camel.

Sura 99: Al-Zilzal (The Convulsion, the Earthquake)

99:6-8

Allah will sort out people according to their deeds—good or evil deeds (two distinct groups of people—the people of paradise and the people of hell).
Contradiction: 56:7 says three distinct groups.

Sura 109: Al-Kafirun (those who disbelieve)

109:6
To you be your way (means disbelief—ibn Kathir), to me is mine (means Islam—ibn Kathir).
Contradiction: In 3:85 Allah says He only accepts Islam.
Contradiction: 9:5 says kill the non-Muslims wherever they are found.

An Analytical Examination of Critical Arguments Concerning the Prophethood of Muhammad

Introduction

This article is a systematic and scholarly analysis of five critical arguments, or "litmus tests," concerning the prophethood of Muhammad. Each of the five arguments will be meticulously examined by locating and verifying the primary Islamic sources cited—including the Quran, Hadith collections (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim), biographical literature (Sīrah), and exegesis (Tafsīr)—and providing internationally accessible English translations and references.

I. An Inquiry into the Motivations of the Prophet: Spiritual Mission or Worldly Ambition?

A primary line of inquiry into the authenticity of any prophetic claim involves an examination of the founder's motivations. The argument posits that if a prophet's actions are demonstrably aimed at achieving worldly power, wealth, or empire, the spiritual claims of the ideology become suspect. This section analyzes the contention that Muhammad's mission was driven by such temporal ambitions, specifically the acquisition of wealth and the establishment of an empire, rather than purely spiritual objectives.

■1.1 The Argument from Early Sira Literature

From the nascent stages of his mission, Muhammad harbored ambitions to conquer the great empires of his time, Persia and Rome. This claim dismisses the traditional narrative that he rejected offers of wealth and power from the Quraysh of Mecca, reframing it not as an act of piety but as a strategic decision to pursue a far greater prize. The evidence for this grand ambition is drawn from early biographical accounts.

A key piece of evidence is a narration found in the comprehensive historical work of Ibn Kathir (d. 1373 CE), Al-Bidāya wa-l-Nihāya ("The Beginning and the End"). According to Volume 3 page 53 of the book published by Islamic foundation Bangladesh, this account involves a merchant named 'Afif al-Kindi who travels to Mecca during the pilgrimage season for business.[1] There, he stays with Abbas ibn Abd al-Muttalib, Muhammad's uncle. 'Afif witnesses a man, a woman, and a boy emerge from a tent to perform a novel form of prayer facing the Kaaba. Puzzled, he asks Abbas about this unfamiliar religion. Abbas identifies the man as his nephew, Muhammad ibn Abdullah, the woman as his wife, Khadija, and the boy as his cousin, Ali ibn Abi Talib. Abbas then reportedly explains Muhammad's claim: that God has sent him as a messenger and that the treasures of Kisra (the Shah of Persia) and Caesar (the Emperor of Byzantium) will be opened for him.The narrator ʿAfīf Rāh later lamented, saying:
"Alas! If only I had believed that day, then I would have been the second among men to embrace faith."

Ibrāhīm ibn Saʿd narrated a similar report from Muḥammad ibn Isḥāq.

In the commentary of that ḥadīth [Sunan Abī Dāwūd, ḥadīth 1161 (graded ṣaḥīḥ by al-Albānī), Ibn Hishām, Sīrat Rasūl Allāh (narration through Ibn Isḥāq)], it is mentioned that suddenly a man came out from a tent, looked up towards the sky, and when he saw that the sun had slightly declined, he began to pray. After him, Lady Khadīja (raḍiyallāhu ʿanhā) stood behind him in prayer, as this ḥadīth reports.

This narration is significant for its timing. It is set at the very beginning of Muhammad's public ministry, when his followers numbered only two. From a critical perspective, Abbas's statement is interpreted as a clear declaration of a geopolitical and material ambition that predates the establishment of any significant political or military power, and even non-believers of that time knew it (told by Muhammad himself). It suggests that the goal was not merely spiritual reform in Arabia but the conquest of the world's superpowers.

■1.2 Prophecies of Conquest in Sira and Hadith

The Prophecy at the Battle of the Trench

A second prominent example, also cited from Ibn Kathir's *Al-Bidāya wa-l-Nihāya (*volume 4, page 196 from Islamic foundation Bangladesh) occurs during a moment of extreme crisis for the Muslim community in Medina: the digging of the trench in preparation for the siege of the city in 5 AH (627 CE).[6] According to the narration, the Muslims encountered an impossibly hard rock that their tools could not break. Muhammad was called, and he struck the rock with a pickaxe. With the first strike, a bright spark was emitted, and he declared, "Allahu Akbar! I have been given the keys of Syria. By Allah, I see its red palaces at this very moment." With the second strike, another spark appeared, and he announced, "Allahu Akbar! I have been given the keys of Persia. By Allah, I see the white palace of Mada'in." A third strike produced a final spark, and he said, "Allahu Akbar! I have been given the keys of Yemen. By Allah, I see the gates of Sana'a from my place here."

From a critical viewpoint, this event reinforces the argument of a consistent, long-held imperial ambition. The prophecies are seen as a political tool, a calculated means of boosting the morale of a starving and terrified community by promising them future glory and riches. Academic analysis of such prophecies in religious texts often considers the possibility of vaticinium ex eventu, or prophecy after the event, where predictions are written into the historical narrative after the prophesied events have already occurred, thereby legitimizing them as divinely willed.[7]

The Hadith of the "Keys to the Treasures of the Earth"

This theme is further solidified in a widely authenticated hadith narrated by Abu Huraira, found in the canonical collections of Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī and Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim. In this report, Muhammad is quoted as saying:

> "I have been sent with the shortest expressions bearing the widest meanings, and I have been made victorious with awe (cast into the hearts of the enemy), and while I was sleeping, the keys of the treasures of the earth were brought to me and put in my hand." [8]

Book of Masājid and Places of Prayer (Kitāb al-Masājid), Hadith no. 523

Jāmiʿ al-Tirmidhī

- Book of Knowledge, Hadith no. 2662

This statement is often interpreted critically as a direct admission of a focus on worldly wealth and dominion. The "keys of the treasures of the earth" are seen as a metaphor for global power and material riches. The fact that the Prophet himself lived a luxury life and died with wealth of 20% of the war bounty for his own gain (1/5 of the war bounty was Muhammad's wealth dictated by Allah).

Musnad Aḥmad ibn Ḥanbal (Hadith no. 23942, 24530) and other sources mention:

> "If a man were to say to a woman: 'I contract mutʿah with you for two dates or a handful of flour,' she would accept."

In a country where Muslim women would do temporary marriage/sex/mutah/prostitution for hours or days for handful of flour or two dates Muhammad had a high demand in the desert:

Musnad Aḥmad – Hadith no. 23962
The Prophet ﷺ said:

> "Among your worldly life, women and perfume have been made beloved to me, but the coolness of my eyes is in the prayer."
> (Arabic: حُبِّبَ إِلَيَّ مِنَ الدُّنْيَا النِّسَاءُ وَالطِّيبُ، وَجُعِلَتْ قُرَّةُ عَيْنِي فِي الصَّلَاةِ)

■Besides he married 36 times in total. The purpose for marriage is simply entertainment, if you read all the Islamic literature you know that very well. His wives wasn't poor, 11 wife had 96 maids.

Academic Analysis of the Early Conquests

Historians like Fred McGraw Donner argue that a key factor was the ideological coherence and mobilization provided by the new Islamic state, which successfully united the historically fractious tribes of Arabia under a single banner.[15] This newfound unity, directed outward, was a potent force.

Other scholars emphasize the confluence of motivations. The conquests were likely driven by a complex mixture of factors: a religious ideology that sanctioned the expansion of the "domain of Islam" (dār al-islām); powerful economic incentives, including the acquisition of booty (ghanīmah) and the control of lucrative trade routes that the Quraysh had long managed; social pressures to maintain unity among the Arab tribes by providing a common enemy; and immense political opportunism.[16] The Byzantine and Sasanian empires were militarily and economically exhausted from decades of devastating warfare against each other, leaving them vulnerable to the highly mobile and motivated Arab armies emerging from the peninsula.[15]

II. The Promise of Divine Protection: An Analysis of Surah Al-Ma'idah 5:67

A second critical test applied to Muhammad's prophetic claim involves the examination of a specific divine promise of protection and its perceived fulfillment. The argument centers on whether the proclaimed divine guarantor of the Prophet's safety was consistently effective, or if historical events demonstrate a failure of this protection, thereby undermining the divine origin of the promise itself. This section scrutinizes the Quranic promise, "Allah will protect you from the people," by juxtaposing it with three historical instances where Muhammad experienced significant physical harm or death.

■2.1 The Verse of Protection: Quran 5:67

The foundational text for this argument is a verse from Surah Al-Ma'idah:

يَاأَيُّهَاالرَّسُولُبَلِّغْمَاأُنزِلَإِلَيْكَمِنرَّبِّكَوَإِنلَّمْتَفْعَلْفَمَابَلَّغْتَرِسَالَتَهُوَاللَّهُيَعْصِمُكَمِنَالنَّاسِإِنَّاللَّهَلَايَهْدِيالْقَوْمَالْكَافِرِينَ

"O Messenger, announce that which has been revealed to you from your Lord. And if you do not, then you have not conveyed His message. And > Allah will protect you from the people. Indeed, Allah does not guide the disbelieving people." (Quran 5:67)

To understand the scope of this promise, Islamic exegetes turn to the asbāb al-nuzūl, or the historical circumstances surrounding the verse's revelation. According to traditional commentaries, this verse was revealed to reassure Muhammad, who harbored fears about the hostile reactions of the Meccan polytheists, as well as the Jewish communities, to the message he was commanded to deliver.[19] Prior to this revelation, it is reported that companions would stand guard over him. Imam Ahmad and al-Tirmidhi record a narration from Aisha in which she states that after this verse was revealed, the Prophet dismissed his guards, telling them, "O people, you can leave, for Allah has protected me".[19] This context establishes the classical understanding of the promise: it is a divine guarantee of physical security. The critical argument proceeds by testing this guarantee against the historical record.

■2.2 Case Study 1: The Injuries at the Battle of Uhud (3 AH / 625 CE)

The first challenge to the promise of protection is the Battle of Uhud, a significant military setback for the early Muslim community. During the fighting, Muhammad was severely wounded.

This is not a matter of historical dispute; the canonical hadith collections provide vivid and detailed accounts of his injuries. A narration from Sahl ibn Sa'd, recorded in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, states:

> "When the helmet broke on the head of the Prophet and his face became covered with blood and his incisor tooth broke... 'Ali used to bring water in his shield while Fatima was washing the blood off his face." [22]
> (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, no. 4075, Kitāb al-Maghāzī)

8. Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim

5. Book: Jihād wa'l-Siyar

6. Hadith:

> “The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) was wounded on the day of Uḥud. His front teeth were broken, his face was injured, and his helmet was broken on his head...”
> (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim, no. 1791)

→ Some narrations in Muslim mention the attack but do not always name ʿUtbah explicitly. Al-Bukhārī's version specifies him.

3. Sīrah References

3. Ibn Hishām's Sīrah (vol. 3, p. 99) also mentions that ʿUtbah ibn Abī Waqqāṣ threw the stone that broke the Prophet's teeth.

Another narration in Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim from Anas ibn Malik adds that Muhammad, while wiping blood from his face, questioned how a people who had wounded their own prophet could prosper.[23] These accounts present an apparent contradiction: if God had promised to protect him from "the people," how could he have been so grievously injured by them in battle?

> Anas b. Malik reported: The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) was wounded on the day of Uhud, and his front teeth were smashed. He was wearing two coats of mail. He fell into a pit which had been dug by Abu ʻAmir (the polytheist). The Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) said:
> "How can a people who wound their Prophet prosper, when he calls them to Allah?"
> Then Allah, Exalted and Majestic, revealed:
> "Not for you (O Muhammad, peace be upon him) is the decision whether He should turn in mercy towards them or punish them..." (Āl ʿImrān 3:128).

📖 Reference:

3. Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim, Kitāb al-Jihād wa'l-Siyar, Hadith no. 1791 (in Dar al-Salam numbering; sometimes 1790 depending on edition).

The classical Islamic theological response resolves this by defining the scope of the promised protection, known as 'iṣmah. Scholars like Ibn al-Jawzi argue that the guarantee was not against any and all forms of harm, injury, or hardship, but specifically against being killed, captured, or otherwise prevented from fully delivering the divine message.[24]

■2.3 Case Study 2: The Bewitchment of the Prophet

The second case study involves an incident in which Muhammad was reportedly the victim of magic, or sorcery. The source text presents this as a violation of divine protection that affected not just his body but also his mind.

The most detailed account of this event is narrated by Aisha in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī. She reports that a Jewish man from the Banu Zurayq tribe named Labid ibn al-A'sam cast a spell on Muhammad using a comb, hair, and the spathe of a male date palm, which he hid in a well.[27] The effect of the magic was that the Prophet "began to imagine that he had sex with his wives but he had not actually done," for more than a year.[27] Aisha narrates that after a period of suffering, Muhammad prayed intensely to God, after which two figures (interpreted as angels) appeared to him in a dream, revealed the nature of the sorcery, who had performed it, and where the magical items were hidden. The Prophet then sent companions to the well, retrieved the items, and the spell was broken.[27]

This incident raises profound critical questions about the Prophet's vulnerability. If an enemy could successfully manipulate his mind and perception of reality, it casts doubt on the integrity of the divine protection promised in Quran 5:67. The argument is that if his mind could be clouded in his personal life, the possibility of it being affected in his prophetic duties cannot be dismissed. Again he delivered satanic verses. Again he tried to commit suicide from falling from mountain.

■2.4 Case Study 3: The Poisoning at Khaybar and the Prophet's Death (7 AH - 11 AH)

The final and most serious challenge presented is the claim that Muhammad's death was the direct result of a failed assassination attempt by poison, indicating an ultimate failure of the divine promise to protect him from "the people."

The historical basis for this claim is well-established in the Sira and hadith literature. After the conquest of the Jewish oasis of Khaybar in 7 AH (628 CE), a Jewish woman named Zaynab bint al-Harith offered Muhammad and his companions a roasted sheep that she had poisoned.[29] One of the companions, Bishr ibn al-Bara', died immediately after eating it. Muhammad took a morsel but, according to most narrations, spat it out after being divinely informed that it was poisoned. However, he had apparently ingested enough for it to have a lasting effect.

The critical argument connects this event directly to his death some three to four years later. The key piece of evidence is a hadith in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, narrated by Aisha, in which she reports the Prophet saying during his final illness:

> "O 'Aisha! I still feel the pain caused by the food I ate at Khaibar, and at this time, I feel as if my aorta is being cut from that poison." [30]

This statement is seen as a deathbed confession that the poison was the cause of his death. This is then linked polemically to verses in Surah Al-Haqqah (69:44-46), which state that if the Prophet had fabricated revelations, God would have seized him and "cut off his aorta" (al-watīn). The argument concludes that Muhammad's death, by his own description, matched the very punishment God prescribed for a false prophet.[31]

The entire argument concerning divine protection hinges on the definition of the key term 'iṣmah. A literalist reading assumes an absolute, unconditional shield from all physical harm, a premise that the historical record clearly contradicts.

III. The Nature of Revelation: Divine Will or Personal Fulfillment?

This section investigates the argument that Quranic revelations were not purely divine communications but were, at times, influenced by or created to serve the Prophet's personal desires, the suggestions of his companions, or the evolving needs of the community. This critique challenges the core Islamic doctrine of the Quran as the unadulterated, eternal Word of God (kalām Allāh), suggesting instead a significant degree of human co-authorship. The analysis focuses on three key areas: a remark by Muhammad's wife Aisha, the "concurrences" of his companion Umar, and the theological doctrine of abrogation (naskh).

■3.1 Aisha's Remark: "Your Lord Hastens to Fulfill Your Desires"

A central piece of evidence for this argument comes from within the Prophet's own household, from his wife Aisha. The source text quotes her famous remark, made in response to the revelation of a verse in Surah Al-Ahzab that granted Muhammad unique flexibility in his marital arrangements.

Sahih al-Bukhari, Hadith 5113:

> Narrated Hisham's father:
> Khawla bint Hakim was one of those women who presented themselves to the Prophet (ﷺ) for marriage.
> Aisha said, "Doesn't a lady feel ashamed for presenting herself to a man?"
> But when the verse: "You may postpone (the turn of) any of them (your wives) that you please..." (33:51) was revealed, Aisha said, "O Allah's Messenger! I do not see, but that your Lord hastens in fulfilling your wishes and desires."

تُرْجِيمَنتَشَاءُمِنْهُنَّوَتُؤْوِيإِلَيْكَمَنتَشَاءُۖوَمَنِابْتَغَيْتَمِمَّنْعَزَلْتَفَلَاجُنَاحَعَلَيْكَ

> "You can postpone (the turn of) whom you will of them (your wives), and you may receive any of them whom you will; and there is no blame on you if you invite one whose turn you have set aside." (Quran 33:51)

Sahih al-Bukhari, Hadith 4788:

Upon hearing this revelation, Aisha responded directly to Muhammad, saying:

> "I feel that your Lord hastens in fulfilling your wishes and desires (hawā)."[36]

From a critical perspective, this statement is interpreted as a "smoking gun." It is presented as the candid observation of an intimate who perceived the revelations as being conveniently tailored to her husband's personal inclinations. Her use of the phrase "Your Lord" (rabbuka) instead of "Our Lord" (rabbunā) is sometimes highlighted as a subtle distancing, a sign of potential skepticism about the divine source of this particular ruling.[37]

■3.2 The "Concurrences of Umar" (Muwāfaqāt 'Umar)

A second line of argument suggests that revelations were not only shaped by the Prophet's desires but also by the proposals of his influential companions, most notably Umar ibn al-Khattab. This challenges the idea of a top-down, purely divine revelation by introducing a collaborative, human element.

The evidence for this is a well-known hadith, also in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, in which Umar himself states, "My Lord agreed with me in three things" (wāfaqtū rabbī fī thalāth). He then lists the instances:

- The Station of Ibrahim: Umar suggested to Muhammad, "O Allah's Apostle! Would that you took the station of Abraham as a place of prayer." Subsequently, the verse was revealed: "And take you (people) the Maqam (place) of Ibrahim as a place of prayer" (Quran 2:125).
- The Veil for the Prophet's Wives: Umar said, "O Allah's Apostle! Good and bad persons visit you! Would that you ordered the Mothers of the believers to cover themselves with veils." Soon after, the verses concerning the hijab were revealed (e.g., Quran 33:53, 33:59).
- A Dispute with the Prophet's Wives: During a period of marital strife, Umar admonished the Prophet's wives, warning them that if Muhammad divorced them, "his Lord will give him instead of you, wives better than you." This exact phrasing was later mirrored in a divine revelation in Surah At-Tahrim (Quran 66:5).[39]

Sahih al-Bukhari 4483, 402

Narrated Anas:

> Umar said, "I agreed with Allah in three things," or said, "My Lord agreed with me in three things. I said, 'O Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)! Would that you took the station of Abraham as a place of prayer.' I also said, 'O Allah's Messenger (ﷺ)! Good and bad persons visit you! Would that you ordered the Mothers of the believers to cover themselves with veils.' So the Divine Verses of Al-Hijab (i.e., veiling of the women) were revealed. I came to know that the Prophet (ﷺ) had blamed some of his wives, so I entered upon them and said, 'You should either stop (troubling the Prophet (ﷺ)) or else Allah will give His Apostle better wives than you.' When I came to one of his wives, she said to me, 'O `Umar! Does Allah's Messenger (ﷺ) not have what he could advise his wives with, that you try to advise them?' Thereupon Allah revealed: 'It may be, if he divorced you (all), his Lord will give him instead of you wives better than you Muslims (who submit to Allah)' (Quran 66:5).

The critical view sees these "concurrences" as clear evidence of human influence on the content of the Quran. The revelations appear to be post-facto divine endorsements of Umar's sound political or social judgments.

■3.3 The Doctrine of Abrogation (Naskh) and Evolving Rulings

The most systematic challenge to the idea of a static, eternal divine law within the Quran comes from the doctrine of abrogation (naskh) itself. Naskh is the theological principle, based on Quranic verses like 2:106 and 16:101, which holds that God can reveal a later verse that modifies, suspends, or replaces the legal ruling of an earlier one.[40] While theologically explained as a sign of God's wisdom and mercy, critics point to instances of abrogation as evidence of inconsistency and human adaptation, suggesting a process of trial and error rather than infallible divine command.

Case Study 1: The Gradual Prohibition of Alcohol

The prohibition of wine (khamr) in Islam was not immediate but occurred in several distinct stages, a process that critics argue reflects a deity changing its mind.

Sunan Abu Dawood, Book 20, Hadith 3670:

Narrated Umar ibn al-Khattab:

When the prohibition of wine (was yet to be) declared, Umar said: O Allah, give us a satisfactory explanation about wine.

So the following verse of Surat al-Baqarah revealed: "They ask thee concerning wine and gambling. Say: In them is great sin..." Umar was then called and it was recited to him.

He said: O Allah, give us a satisfactory explanation about wine.

Then the following verse of Surat an-Nisa' was revealed: "O ye who believe! approach not prayers with a mind befogged...." Thereafter the herald of the Messenger of Allah (ﷺ) would call when the (congregational) prayer was performed: Beware, one who is drunk should not come to prayer. Umar was again called and it was recited to him.

He said: O Allah, give us a satisfactory explanation about wine. This verse was revealed: "Will ye not then abstain?" Umar said: We abstained.

The progression, as traced through the Quran and supported by hadith, is laid out in the following table.

Stage	Quranic Verse (with citation)	Ruling/Implication	Contextual Notes
Stage 1: Neutral Mention	"And from the fruits of the palm trees and grapevines you take intoxicant and good provision..." (Quran 16:67)	Alcohol is presented as a provision from God, alongside "good provision," without condemnation.	This verse is from the Meccan period, when the Muslim community was small and such social regulations were not a priority.[42]
Stage 2: Acknowledgment of Harm	"They ask you about wine and gambling. Say, 'In them is great sin and [yet, some] benefit for people. But their sin is greater than their benefit.'" (Quran 2:219)	A moral dissuasion. While not an outright prohibition, it establishes a clear negative judgment on alcohol.	This verse was revealed in Medina in response to questions from companions. According to tradition, Umar prayed, "O Allah, give us a clear ruling on wine".[43]

Stage 3: Partial Prohibition	"O you who have believed, do not approach prayer while you are intoxicated until you know what you are saying..." (Quran 4:43)	A practical prohibition limited to the times of prayer, effectively banning daytime drinking for observant Muslims.	This was reportedly revealed after an incident where a companion, intoxicated, led the prayer and misrecited the Quran. Umar again prayed for a more decisive ruling.[43]
Stage 4: Total Prohibition	"O you who have believed, indeed, intoxicants, gambling, [sacrificing on] stone alters [to other than Allah], and divining arrows are but defilement from the work of Satan, so avoid it that you may be successful." (Quran 5:90)	A final, unequivocal, and total prohibition, classifying alcohol as a "work of Satan."	Upon this revelation, Umar is reported to have declared, "We have abstained" (intahaynā). The community of Medina responded by pouring out their stores of wine into the streets.[42]

The critical question arising from this sequence is how something once described as a divine "provision" could later be reclassified as "Satan's work." It suggests a mutable divine will, responding to social problems and the lobbying of figures like Umar.

Case Study 2: The Ratio of Fighters

An even more immediate example of revision is found in Surah Al-Anfal, concerning the rules of engagement in battle. Verse 65 sets a high bar for steadfastness:

> "O Prophet, urge the believers to battle. If there are among you twenty [who are] steadfast, they will overcome two hundred. And if there are among you one hundred [who are] steadfast, they will overcome a thousand of those who have disbelieved..." (Quran 8:65)

This establishes a required steadfastness ratio of 1:10. However, the very next verse immediately revises this command:

> "Now Allah has lightened [your burden], and He knew that there is weakness in you. So if there are from you one hundred [who are] steadfast, they will overcome two hundred. And if there are from you a thousand, they will overcome two thousand by permission of Allah..." (Quran 8:66)

The ratio is instantly reduced to 1:2, with the verse itself stating the reason: God knew of a "weakness" in the believers.[44] A critical reading presents this as a stark example of on-the-spot revisionism, a pragmatic adjustment made when an initial command was deemed too difficult or unrealistic for the followers.

Ibn ‘Abbas said “When the verse “If there are twenty amongst you patient and persevering, they will vanquish two hundred” was revealed. It was heavy and troublesome for Muslims when Allaah prescribed for them that one (fighting Muslim) should not fly from ten (fighting Non-Muslims). Then a light commandment was revealed saying “For the present Allaah hath lightened your (task).” The narrator Abu Tawbah recited the verse to “they will vanquish two hundred.” When Allaah lightened the number, patient and perseverance also decreased according to the number lightened from them.”

Case Study 3: Christians once are Foe in Quran then Friend

Quran 5:51-52

5:51 – O you who have believed, do not take the Jews and the Christians as allies. They are [in fact] allies of one another. And whoever among you takes them as allies – then indeed, he is [one] of them. Indeed, Allah does not guide the wrongdoing people.

5:52 – So you see those in whose hearts is disease [i.e., hypocrisy] hastening into them, saying, “We are afraid a misfortune may strike us.” But perhaps Allah will bring victory or a decision from Him, and then they will regret what they were concealing in themselves.

Quran 5:82 –

You will surely find the most intense of the people in animosity toward the believers to be the Jews and those who associate others with Allah; and you will surely find the nearest in affection to the believers to be those who say, “We are Christians.” That is because among them are priests and monks, and because they are not arrogant.

IV. The Challenge of Miracles and Gnosis

A traditional criterion for prophethood across many religious traditions is the ability to perform supernatural acts (miracles) and to possess divinely granted knowledge of the unseen (ghayb). This section evaluates the argument that Muhammad failed to meet these standards, particularly when challenged by his contemporaries. The critique focuses on his refusal to produce miracles on demand and his allegedly incorrect or evasive answers to questions designed to test his access to divine knowledge.

■4.1 The Demand for Miracles

The Quran itself documents that Muhammad's opponents in Mecca repeatedly demanded that he perform tangible miracles similar to those attributed to earlier prophets like Moses and Jesus. The source text points to a key passage in Surah Al-Isra:

> "And they say, 'We will not believe you until you cause a spring to gush forth for us from the earth. Or you have a garden of palm trees and grapes and make rivers gush forth within them in force... Or you cause the heaven to fall upon us in fragments as you have claimed or you bring Allah and the angels before [us]... Or you have a house of gold or you ascend into the sky. And [even then], we will not believe in your ascension until you bring down to us a book we may read.'" (Quran 17:90-93)

Muhammad's divinely instructed response to this litany of demands was not a performance, but a declaration of his status:

> "Say, 'Exalted is my Lord! Was I ever but a human messenger?'" (Quran 17:93) [47]

This pattern is repeated elsewhere in the Quran. When asked why signs are not sent down upon him, he is told to say, "The signs are only with Allah, and I am only a plain warner" (Quran 29:50).[49]

■4.2 The Three Questions from the Jewish Scholars

A more specific test of Muhammad's claim to divine knowledge (gnosis) is narrated in the Sira and Tafsir literature. The Quraysh of Mecca, seeking to stump Muhammad, consulted with Jewish scholars in Medina (then Yathrib). The scholars advised them to ask Muhammad three questions about ancient matters, which only a true prophet would know: (1) the story of some young men in ancient times; (2) the story of a man who traveled to the ends of the earth; and (3) the nature of the Spirit (Rūḥ).[50]

From Surah Al-Kahf (Chapter 18), Verses 9-15, tafsir al-Kathir

Sirat Rasul Allah, by Ibn Ishaq, p. 137,139

According to the narrative, Muhammad confidently promised to answer the next day but failed to add the caveat "if God wills" (in shā' Allāh). As a result, the revelation was withheld for fifteen days, causing him great distress and giving his opponents cause for mockery. Eventually, the answers were revealed in Surah Al-Kahf (Chapter 18).[50] The critical analysis focuses on the content of these answers, arguing that they were not only delayed but also incorrect and derived from extant human sources.

1. The Youths of the Cave (Quran 18:9-26)

This question, originating from Jewish scholars, most likely referred to the story of Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah (Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the Christian tradition), who were miraculously saved from a fiery furnace as recounted in the biblical Book of Daniel, chapter 3. Where it describes Daniel's three companions who, after refusing to bow to an idol, were cast into the fire by the king, yet emerged miraculously unharmed. Muhammad's answer, however, is a version of a well-known Christian legend, the "Seven Sleepers of Ephesus".[52] This story, which exists in various Syriac and Greek versions dating from before the 7th century, tells of a group of young Christian men who fled the persecution of the Roman Emperor Decius (c. 250 CE) and were sealed in a cave, only to awaken centuries later during the reign of the Christian Emperor Theodosius II (c. 408-450 CE).[53] The parallels between the Quranic account and the Christian legend are striking, including the youths' flight from a persecuting king, their refuge in a cave, their long sleep, and their eventual reawakening. The critical conclusion is that Muhammad, after a two-week delay to gather information, mistakenly recounted a Christian folktale instead of the relevant Jewish scriptural story.

2. The Traveler Dhul-Qarnayn (Quran 18:83-98)

The second question concerned a great traveler. The Jews raised this question, citing Daniel chapter 8 (verses 5-21). Muhammad identified Alexander as Dhul-Qarnayn. He adapted the entire story of Dhul-Qarnayn from a contemporary Syriac legend, a narrative filled with many unrealistic and exaggerated elements. The Quranic answer speaks of a powerful, righteous ruler named Dhul-Qarnayn ("The Two-Horned One") who travels to the setting and rising places of the sun and builds a great barrier of iron and copper to protect a people from the depredations of Gog and Magog (Ya'jūj wa Ma'jūj).

Academic scholarship has demonstrated extensive and compelling parallels between this Quranic narrative and the legendary accounts of Alexander the Great, particularly the Syriac "Alexander Romance" and related legends that were popular in the Near East in late antiquity.[55] These legends transformed the historical, polytheistic Alexander into a monotheistic champion who travels the world and builds a gate in the Caucasus mountains to contain the apocalyptic hordes of Gog and Magog.[57] The critique is that the Quranic account does not reflect historical reality or Jewish scripture but instead incorporates a popular, mythologized folktale, treating it as divine history.[58]

To know about this Dhul-Qarnayn read the article titillated Dhul-Qarnayn.

3. The Spirit / Rūḥ (Quran 17:85)

To the third question about the nature of the Spirit, the Quranic answer is brief and, critics argue, evasive:

> وَيَسْأَلُونَكَعَنِالرُّوحِقُلِالرُّوحُمِنْأَمْرِرَبِّيوَمَاأُوتِيتُممِّنَالْعِلْمِإِلَّاقَلِيلًا
> "And they ask you, [O Muhammad], about the Spirit. Say, 'The Spirit is of the affair of my Lord. And mankind has not been given of knowledge except a little.'" (Quran 17:85)

This response is interpreted as a failure to answer the question, a deflection that conceals a lack of knowledge with a platitude about the limits of human understanding. Neither he referenced Gabriel nor the Angel of the Lord.

Sahih Bukhari 1:3:127, See also: Sahih Bukhari 6:60:245, Sahih Bukhari 9:92:400, Sahih Bukhari 9:93:548:

Narrated 'Abdullah
While I was going with the Prophet through the ruins of Medina and he was reclining on a date-palm leaf stalk, some Jews passed by. Some of them said to the others: Ask him (the Prophet) about the spirit. Some of them said that they should not ask him that question as he might give a reply which would displease them. But some of them insisted on asking, and so one of them stood up and asked, "O Aba-l-Qasim ! What is the spirit?" The Prophet remained quiet. I thought he was being inspired Divinely. So I stayed till that state of the Prophet (while being inspired) was over. The Prophet then said, "And they ask you (O Muhammad) concerning the spirit --Say: The spirit -- its knowledge is with my Lord. And of knowledge you (mankind) have been given only a little)." (17.85)

■4.3 The Slander of Aisha: A Test of Divine Immediacy

A final case study challenges the immediacy and utility of the Prophet's divine knowledge. The incident of the "Slander of Aisha" (ḥādithat al-ifk) is presented as a moment where, if Muhammad were truly a prophet, he should have received an immediate revelation to resolve a crisis that deeply affected his honor, his family, and the stability of his community.

The detailed account, found in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī and elaborated upon in the Tafsir of Ibn Kathir for Surah An-Nur 24:11, describes how Aisha was accidentally left behind by the army's caravan and was escorted back to Medina by a young soldier, Safwan ibn al-Mu'attal.[59] This led to a vicious rumor of adultery, spread primarily by some Muslims. The narrative emphasizes that for over a month, no revelation came. During this period, Muhammad was distant and cold towards Aisha, and his distress was palpable. He consulted his senior companions; Ali ibn Abi Talib suggested he could find other women, while Usama ibn Zayd defended Aisha's honor. He even went so far as to interrogate Aisha's servant girl, Barirah, asking if she had seen anything suspicious.[59] Only after this prolonged period of human investigation, doubt, and anguish did the revelation of Surah An-Nur descend, proclaiming Aisha's innocence in the strongest terms.[61]

The critical argument focuses on this delay. Why would a prophet with a direct line to God endure a month of uncertainty and resort to mundane methods of investigation? This is presented as evidence that the revelation was not an external, divine intervention but a product of Muhammad's own mind, which arrived at a conclusion only after a period of deliberation and emotional turmoil.

Al-Ifk means “the untruthful talk” or “the great lie” (Qur’an 24:11). The incident refers to the events behind the revelation of Surah al-Nūr (24:11–26), where accusations of adultery were made against ʿĀʾisha bint Abī Bakr, Prophet Muḥammad’s wife.

The Ghazwah of Banū al-Muṣṭaliq

During the fifth year after Hijrah (627 CE), Prophet Muḥammad launched a ghazwa (military expedition personally led by him) against the tribe of Banū al-Muṣṭaliq (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 5:59:462; Ibn Hishām, Sīrah, vol. 3, p. 290). Such expeditions were frequent, partly to sustain the community through booty (ghanīmah), of which the Prophet received one-fifth (Qur’an 8:41).

It was customary for the Prophet to take one of his wives along, and in this expedition he chose ʿĀʾisha (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 6:60:274).

The campaign was an easy success. According to Ibn Isḥāq (Sīrah, p. 495), the Muslims launched a surprise attack while the Banū al-Muṣṭaliq were watering their cattle. Many men were killed, and the women and children were enslaved.

Among the captives was Juwayriya bint al-Ḥārith, the daughter of the slain chief al-Ḥārith ibn Abī Ḍirār. Described as "a woman of striking beauty" (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim 19:4292; Ibn Saʿd, Ṭabaqāt, vol. 8, p. 116), she was initially enslaved but later married the Prophet. Reports in Musnad Aḥmad and Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim state that her marriage led to many of her tribesmen being freed, since the Muslims said: "They are now relatives of the Messenger of Allah."

ʿĀʾisha later admitted her jealousy toward Juwayriya, saying: "As soon as I saw her, I disliked her, for I knew the Prophet would see in her what I saw" (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 3:46:717).

ʿĀʾisha's Necklace and Being Left Behind

On the way back to Medina, the army camped overnight. ʿĀʾisha went out to relieve herself but lost her necklace and spent time searching for it (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 6:60:274). When she returned, the caravan had already left, assuming she was in her howdah (litter). It implies that she spent more time in that desert 'loo' than the time it took the army to prepare to move and actually leave the place and completely disappear from sight.

When she realized she had been left behind, she waited until Ṣafwān ibn al-Muʿaṭṭal al-Sulamī, who was traveling behind the army, arrived. Recognizing her, he offered his camel, and together they returned to Medina (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim 36:6593).

The sight of ʿĀʾisha and Ṣafwān entering Medina together caused shock, as their culture strongly opposed the idea of unrelated men and women traveling alone.

The Rumors of Adultery

The leader of the Khazraj, ʿAbdullāh ibn Ubayy ibn Salūl, the so-called "chief of the hypocrites," seized the opportunity to slander ʿĀʾisha (Ibn Kathīr, Tafsīr, on 24:11). He claimed she had committed zinā (adultery) with Ṣafwān.

Other Muslims, including the poet Ḥassān ibn Thābit, Mistah ibn Uthātha, and Ḥamnah bint Jahsh, repeated the accusation (al-Ṭabarī, Tafsīr, 24:11). This was a grave charge, since the punishment for zinā was stoning (rajm), according to ḥadīth (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim 17:4194).

The Prophet's Doubts

When the Prophet heard the rumors, he was disturbed and uncertain of ʿĀʾisha's innocence (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 5:59:462). He even reduced his visits to her while she was sick at her parents' home.

Seeking advice, he consulted ʿAlī ibn Abī Ṭālib and Usāma ibn Zayd. Usāma defended her innocence, saying he knew nothing of her but good. ʿAlī, however, suggested divorce, saying, "Allah does not impose restrictions on you; there are plenty of women besides her" (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 6:60:274).

The Prophet also questioned ʿĀʾisha's maid Barīra, but she testified that she had seen nothing suspicious (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 5:59:462).

Conflict in the Mosque

The Prophet gathered his followers in the mosque and asked: "Who will help me punish the man who has hurt me by slandering my family?" (Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī 5:59:462).

This almost led to violence between the Aws and Khazraj tribes, as Saʿd ibn Muʿādh offered to execute Ibn Ubayy, while Saʿd ibn ʿUbādah (a Khazraj leader) defended him. The Prophet had to calm the escalating dispute.

The Revelation of Qur'an 24:11–26

After nearly a month with no revelation, after Ayesha had her menstruation the verses were revealed clearing ʿĀʾisha's name:

- Qur'an 24:11: "Indeed, those who brought the slander are a group among you. Do not think it bad for you; rather it is good for you…"

- Qur’an 24:13: introduced the law requiring four male witnesses for accusations of adultery. Failure to provide them results in 80 lashes for slander (ḥadd al-qaḍhf).

Thus, ʿĀʾisha was declared innocent, and those who repeated the slander — Ḥassān, Mistah, and Ḥamnah — were flogged (Ibn Kathīr, Tafsīr 24:4). Ibn Ubayy escaped punishment due to his political influence.

The Verse of Stoning and Its Disappearance

Despite Qur’an 24:13 establishing the four-witness rule, reports in ḥadīth indicate there was once a stoning verse that later disappeared from the muṣḥaf:

- ʿUmar said: “Allah sent down the verse of stoning, and we recited it, and the Messenger of Allah carried out stoning, and we stoned after him” (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim 17:4194; Sunan Ibn Mājah 3:9:1944).

- ʿĀʾisha said: “The verse of stoning and of breastfeeding an adult ten times was revealed, and the paper was under my pillow. When the Messenger of Allah died, we were preoccupied with his death, and a sheep entered and ate it” (Sunan Ibn Mājah 3:9:1944).

Some later scholars argued that the verse was abrogated in recitation but not in ruling, which explains why rajm remained in Islamic law despite its absence in the Qur’an.

Others speculated that ʿĀʾisha herself may have destroyed the verse to protect her future from accusations (see al-Suyūṭī, al-Itqān fī ʿUlūm al-Qurʾān, vol. 2, p. 25).

He killed those who fought and imprisoned others."

V. The Integrity of the Revealed Text: The Case of the Apostate Scribes

The final section addresses the most direct challenge to the divine origin and textual integrity of the Quran: the claim that its content was subject to human alteration by the Prophet's own scribes. This argument moves beyond questions of motivation or interpretation to the very process of the text's formation. The evidence is drawn from the accounts of two scribes who recorded the revelation, became disillusioned, and apostatized. In the book Al-Sirah, Al-Iraki wrote Muhammad had 42 scribes.

■5.1 The Account of Abdullah ibn Sa'd ibn Abi Sarh

The first and most prominent case is that of Abdullah ibn Sa'd ibn Abi Sarh, a foster-brother of the future Caliph Uthman ibn Affan. He was an early convert and one of Muhammad's scribes in Medina. The commentaries of al-Tabari and al-Qurtubi alleges that Ibn Abi Sarh was able to influence the wording of the revelation.

According to this account, as Muhammad would dictate a verse ending with a phrase like "...and Allah is All-Knowing, All-Wise" (ʿalı̄munḥakı̄m), Ibn Abi Sarh would sometimes suggest an alternative with a similar meaning, such as "...and Allah is All-Forgiving, Most Merciful" (ghafu¯runraḥı¯m). Muhammad would allegedly approve the change, saying something to the effect of "it is all the same" or "write as you please." This experience purportedly led Ibn Abi Sarh to doubt the divine nature of the text, concluding that if he could amend it, it must be of human origin. He subsequently apostatized and fled to Mecca, where he told the Quraysh that he could write scripture just like Muhammad.[63]

What is historically verified in the canonical sources is the aftermath. At the conquest of Mecca in 8 AH (630 CE), Muhammad ordered a small number of individuals to be executed, even if they were found clinging to the curtains of the Kaaba, and Ibn Abi Sarh was on this list. He was given refuge by Uthman, who then brought him before Muhammad to plead for his life. The Prophet remained silent and turned away three times before finally accepting Ibn Abi Sarh's renewed pledge of allegiance. Afterward, Muhammad reportedly said to his companions, "Was there not among you a wise man who would have stood up and struck off his head when he saw me withhold my hand?".[66] This incident confirms the seriousness of his crime in the eyes of the Prophet.

Al Sira Al Nabawiyah, by Ibn Hisham, chapter IV, p. 57, 58:

يقطعنَ كل ساعد وجُمجُمة ضَرْباً فلا يُسْمَع إلاّ غمغمة[١]

لهم نَهيتُ خلفَنا وهَمهَمة لم تنطقِي في اللوم أدنى كلمة[٢]

أهل العلم بالشعر قوله «كالموتمه»، وتروى

Allah's Prophet commanded the Muslim army leader: "If you enter Mecca, do not fight or kill anyone, except those who fight against you." But the Prophet gave a list of the Meccans who must be killed, even if they sought refuge behind the Kaaba curtain. One of the listed individuals was Ibn Sarh.

ف

ﷺ يوم فتح مكة وحُنين والطائف، شعارُ

المهاجرين: يا بني عبد الرحمن، وشعار الخ

بني عُبيدِالله.

Why did Allah's Prophet command the killing of Ibn Sarh and how did Ibn Affan save his life? Allah's Prophet commanded the killing of Ibn Sarh because when he was still a Muslim, he was one of the scribes of the Quran. He then left Islam and became a disbeliever, and later returned to the Quraysh community in Mecca. Ibn Affan saved his life by seeking protection for him. Ibn Affan was his foster brother who provided protection to Ibn Sarh, so he escaped from being killed.

In the year 630 CE (8 AH), Prophet Muhammad entered Mecca at the head of an army of 10,000 men. According to Islamic historical sources, he instructed his commanders not to kill anyone unless they resisted. Yet alongside this general order of clemency, Muhammad secretly handed down a list of individuals whom he commanded to be killed regardless of circumstance—even if they sought sanctuary in the holy precincts of the Kaʿbah. Ibn Saʿd records in al-Ṭabaqāt al-Kubrā that these included ʿAbdullāh ibn Saʿd ibn Abī Sarḥ, ʿAbd Allāh ibn Khatal, and several others (Ibn Saʿd, al-Ṭabaqāt, vol. 2, p. 174). The Prophet's order was explicit: "Find these ten people, and kill them."

Appendix A — The "Ten to Be Killed Even If Clinging to the Kaʿbah"

- ʿAbdullāh b. Saʿd b. Abī Sarḥ — apostasy/claims re: revelation; pardoned after ʿUthmān's intercession; later rejoined Islam. (Ibn Saʿd 2:174; al-Ṭabarī 9:148.)
- ʿAbd Allāh (ʿAbd al-ʿUzzā) b. Khatal — apostasy, satire; killed while clinging to the Kaʿbah. (al-Ḥalabī 3:91; Ibn Saʿd 2:174.)
- Miqyās (Miqyas) b. Ṣubābah — apostasy and murder; executed. (Listed in sīrah/ṭabaqāt.)
- al-Ḥuwayrith b. Nuqaydh — hostility in Mecca; killed. (Listed in sīrah/ṭabaqāt.)
- Ḥabbār b. al-Aswad — implicated in harming Zaynab; targeted but later pardoned. (Variant outcomes reported.)
- ʿIkrimah b. Abī Jahl — fled by sea, returned and pardoned.
- Sārah (Sarah), a freedwoman associated with Banū ʿAbd al-Muṭṭalib — ordered killed (variant reports on outcome).
- Fartāna — one of Ibn Khatal's singing-girls; initially ordered killed, later converted and pardoned; died at al-Abṭaḥ in ʿUmar's time after being trampled. (Ibn Kathīr 5:82.)
- Quraybah — the other singing-girl; killed.
- (Variant 10th in later listings) ʿAbd Allāh b. al-Zubʿarā (the poet) or Rabiʿah b. Aswad are sometimes mentioned in extended lists; many reports state Ibn al-Zubʿarā ultimately sought pardon and was forgiven. (Variant/late reports noted in sīrah commentaries.)

Ibn Abī Sarḥ: The Foster-Brother of ʿUthmān

One of the ten named for execution was ʿAbdullāh ibn Saʿd ibn Abī Sarḥ. He was from the noble Qurashī Umayyad family and the foster-brother of ʿUthmān ibn ʿAffān, who would later become the third caliph, since both had been nursed by the same woman. Ibn Abī Sarḥ had embraced Islam and migrated to Medina. Muhammad appointed him as one of his scribes due to his literacy (al-Ṭabarī, Tārīkh al-Rusul wa-l-Mulūk, vol. 9, p. 148).

At first, Ibn Abī Sarḥ was convinced of Muhammad's claim to prophethood, reciting the shahāda—Lā ilāha illā Allāh, Muḥammadur Rasūl Allāh—and living among the Muslims. But he grew skeptical when he witnessed the process of "revelation." Muhammad once dictated the verse of embryonic development in Sūrat al-Muʾminūn: "Then We made the sperm-drop into a clinging clot, and We made the clot into a lump, and We made from the lump bones, and We covered the bones with flesh; then We developed him into another creation." At this point Muhammad paused, and Ibn Abī Sarḥ added: "So blessed be Allah, the Best of creators." To his surprise, Muhammad approved: "Write it! That is how it was revealed to me." (al-Ṭabarī, Tārīkh, vol. 9, p. 148).

This emboldened Ibn Abī Sarḥ to make other "minor changes." Each time, Muhammad accepted them. Concluding that such alterations would not be possible if the Qurʾān truly came from God, Ibn Abī Sarḥ renounced his belief, fled Medina, and returned to Mecca. He declared publicly: "I manipulated Muhammad as I pleased. If he said 'All-Wise,' I would suggest 'All-Knowing,' and he accepted it." The Qurʾān itself may reflect this episode when it condemns: "Who does more wrong than one who invents a lie about Allah, or says: 'It has been revealed to me,' when nothing has been revealed to him, or who says, 'I can reveal the like of what Allah has revealed'?" (Qurʾān 6:93).

Ibn Khatal: Sanctuary Denied

Another man marked for death was ʿAbd Allāh ibn Khatal. He had once converted to Islam, and Muhammad renamed him "ʿAbd Allāh." But he apostatized, renouncing Islam and returning to his original name, "ʿAbd al-ʿUzzā," in honor of the Qurashī goddess al-ʿUzzā (Ibn Hishām, al-Sīra al-Nabawiyya, vol. 4, p. 55).

When the Muslims entered Mecca, Ibn Khatal fled to the Kaʿbah, clinging to its curtains in the traditional plea for sanctuary. His companions hesitated to kill him on sacred ground. They asked the Prophet what to do. Muhammad replied: "Kill him! The Kaʿbah has never been used to protect a rebel." (al-Ḥalabī, al-Sīra al-Ḥalabiyya, vol. 3, p. 91).

The execution was brutal. According to Ibn Saʿd, Saʿd ibn Ḥārith, Abū Barza, al-Zubayr, Saʿd ibn Zubayr, and Saʿīd ibn Zayd all participated in killing him, with Abū Barza "ripping open his belly" (Ibn Saʿd, Ṭabaqāt, vol. 2, p. 174).

The Singing Girls

Ibn Khatal had two slave girls, Fartāna and Quraybah, who had mocked Muhammad through song during his years in Mecca. Both were ordered to be killed. Quraybah was executed, but Fartāna escaped, later converted to Islam, and received a pardon. She lived into the caliphate of ʿUmar ibn al-Khaṭṭāb, when she was accidentally trampled to death by a horse at al-Abṭaḥ (Ibn Kathīr, al-Bidāya wa-l-Nihāya, vol. 5, p. 82).

The Attempted Execution of Ibn Abī Sarḥ

Ibn Abī Sarḥ, terrified after hearing of Ibn Khatal's fate, sought refuge with his foster-brother ʿUthmān ibn ʿAffān, who hid him until the situation calmed. ʿUthmān then brought him before Muhammad to plead for his life. The Prophet remained silent for a long time before finally granting him pardon. Afterward, Muhammad remarked to his companions: "I kept silent so that one of you might strike off his head." When asked why he had not given a sign, he replied: "A prophet does not kill by pointing." (Abū Dāwūd, Sunan, no. 4359; Ibn Hishām, al-Sīra, vol. 4, p. 56).

Thus Ibn Abī Sarḥ was spared—not out of clemency, but out of Muhammad's reluctance to offend ʿUthmān. Later, Ibn Abī Sarḥ rejoined Islam and rose to prominence as governor of Egypt (the most lucrative position) under ʿUthmān's caliphate (al-Ṭabarī, Tārīkh, vol. 9, p. 148).

Other Names on the List

The ten names appear with variations in different sīrah and ḥadīth sources. Besides Ibn Abī Sarḥ, Ibn Khatal, and his two singing girls, reports include Miqyas ibn Ṣubābah (executed), al-Ḥuwayrith ibn Nuqaydh (killed), Ḥabbār ibn al-Aswad (later pardoned), ʿIkrimah ibn Abī Jahl (later pardoned), and Sārah, a freedwoman of Banū ʿAbd al-Muṭṭalib (ordered killed). Some lists add the poet ʿAbd Allāh ibn al-Zubʿarā, who ultimately sought forgiveness and was pardoned. Sources differ on whether the list contained eight, ten, or even twelve names (Ibn Hishām, al-Sīra; Ibn Saʿd, Ṭabaqāt, vol. 2, p. 174; al-Ḥalabī, Sīra, vol. 3, p. 91).

Muhammad's "Sublime Character" and the Harsh Orders

The Qurʾān describes Muhammad: "Truly you are of a sublime character" (Qurʾān 68:4). Yet the execution orders of Mecca, especially against apostates and singers, demonstrate the severity of blasphemy laws in early Islam. Ibn Abī Sarḥ was spared only because of ʿUthmān's intercession, not because Muhammad refrained from seeking his death.

Personal Bereavements and Theological Reading

Some critics have connected Muhammad's harshness to the many bereavements in his own life. His father died before his birth, his mother when he was six, and his grandfather when he was eight. His three sons—al-Qāsim, ʿAbd Allāh (al-Ṭayyib/al-Ṭāhir), and Ibrāhīm—died in childhood. His personal hopes for a male heir were cut short (Ibn Hishām, Sīra; Ibn Saʿd, Ṭabaqāt; Ibn Kathīr, Bidāya). From this perspective, one might argue, as some critics do, that Muhammad's loss and grief shaped his attitude toward divine will and violence.

Conclusion

The Conquest of Mecca is often celebrated in Islamic tradition as a moment of great mercy, with Muhammad forgiving most of his enemies. Yet alongside this general amnesty, the Prophet ordered specific individuals to be killed—even within the sacred precinct of the Kaʿbah. Ibn Khatal and his slave-girl Quraybah were slain, while Ibn Abī Sarḥ narrowly escaped execution only through ʿUthmān's intervention. The episode remains one of the more controversial episodes of Muhammad's life, raising questions about the balance between mercy, politics, and retribution in early Islam.

■5.2 The Unnamed Christian Scribe of Sahih al-Bukhari

A second, and in some ways more compelling, case is cited from Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, the most authoritative hadith collection in Sunni Islam. This makes the account impossible to dismiss on the grounds of a weak chain of transmission. The hadith, narrated by Anas ibn Malik, tells of a Christian man who converted to Islam, learned Surah Al-Baqarah and Al

'Imran, and served as a scribe for the Prophet. He, too, later apostatized and returned to Christianity. After his apostasy, he would publicly claim:

> "Muhammad knows nothing but what I have written for him." [67]

Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī, Book 65: Book of Tafsīr (Kitāb Tafsīr al-Qurʾān), Hadith no. 3617, 4672, 6939 (depending on numbering editions).

This is a direct claim from a scribe that he was the author, or at least a significant editor, of the text he was tasked to record. From a critical perspective, the scribe's claim is the core of the narration—an early testimony, preserved in an impeccable source, that challenges the Quran's divine origin.

■5.3 Context: Quranic Compilation and Preservation

The claims of the apostate scribes strike at the heart of the Islamic doctrine of the Quran's preservation (jamʿ al-Qurʾān). The traditional Sunni account describes a meticulous, multi-stage process designed to ensure the text's absolute purity.[69] During Muhammad's lifetime, revelations were memorized by numerous companions (ḥuffāẓ) and written down by scribes on various materials like palm leaves, stones, and animal bones. After the Prophet's death, and following the Battle of Yamama where many memorizers were killed, the first Caliph, Abu Bakr, commissioned the scribe Zayd ibn Thabit to collect all the scattered written materials and compile them into a single volume (muṣḥaf). This master copy was later entrusted to Hafsa, a wife of the Prophet. During the reign of the third Caliph, Uthman, variations in recitation began to appear as Islam spread to diverse regions. To prevent discord, Uthman ordered the creation of several official copies based on the original muṣḥaf of Abu Bakr and Hafsa. He then sent these copies to the major centers of the empire and ordered that all other personal or variant codices be burned.[70] This Uthmanic recension is held to be the definitive text of the Quran used by Muslims today.

But arabic diacritical marks were not used at that time. There were no vowels too. Only consonants existed (16). Vowels were created 8th-9th century and was canonized in 9th century. Today in Arabic there are 28 letters. So burning Quran for pronunciation variation was a lie. Uthman was killed for corrupting the Quran.

Despite Qur’an 24:13 establishing the four-witness rule, reports in ḥadīth indicate there was once a stoning verse that later disappeared from the muṣḥaf:

- ʿUmar said: “Allah sent down the verse of stoning, and we recited it, and the Messenger of Allah carried out stoning, and we stoned after him” (Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim 17:4194; Sunan Ibn Mājah 3:9:1944).

- ʿĀʾisha said: “The verse of stoning and of breastfeeding an adult ten times was revealed, and the paper was under my pillow. When the Messenger of Allah died, we were preoccupied with his death, and a sheep entered and ate it” (Sunan Ibn Mājah 3:9:1944).

Some later scholars argued that the verse was abrogated in recitation but not in ruling, which explains why rajm remained in Islamic law despite its absence in the Qur’an.

Others speculated that ʿĀʾisha herself may have destroyed the verse to protect her future from accusations (see al-Suyūṭī, al-Itqān fī ʿUlūm al-Qurʾān, vol. 2, p. 25).

Conclusion

This report has systematically translated and analyzed five principal arguments questioning the prophethood of Muhammad, using the critical framework provided by the source text. The examination of each "litmus test" has revealed a consistent pattern: for every point of contention raised, the primary Islamic sources themselves contain the foundational evidence for both the critical argument and the traditional theological response. The data is not in dispute so much as its interpretation.

Now that you overthrown devil's deception, it's time to open the Bible. To better understand you should check the references of the verse and may read commentary. A translation might not have all the references of a verse so you have to check online or use ChatGPT to mention all the references of a verse from all bible translations. If you don't understand a verse you can ask ChatGPT app to explain the context of it according to most Christian scholars. First learn how to attain salvation and then how you can earn 5 crowns of heaven. Later you can check the old testament for research.
